MARY PICKFORD SUPREME
 Surpasses Herself in Famous Player Screen Version of Madame Butterfly

Mary Pickford in "Madame Butterfly" at the Star Saturday

It is rarely that motion picture spectators are privileged to witness so exquisitely artistic a performance as that of Mary Pickford in "Madame Butterfly," the Famous Players Film Company's magnificent adaptation of John Luther Long's classic, which has already become familiar through the medium of opera, novel and play. All the poetic beauty of this sad tale has been preserved and enhanced in the film production which is the Paramount Picture at the Star Saturday.

The pathetic story of Cho Cho San, "Madame Butterfly," as the heroine, American Captain Frank Pinkerton's wife, is a masterpiece of art. There is no pretense of show, the actress in the staging of the picture is so perfect that she is pushed with the assistance of a superbly casted supporting cast, to the very limit of her dramatic powers.

Hulda From Holland, the heroine of the new Triangle-Ince feature play, "Civilization's Child," which will be shown at the Lyric Theatre Friday, old Peter Saramoff, in the city of Kiev, Russia, decides that his little grand niece, Beina, who has been left an orphan up in the mountains should be brought to civilization; but barely has his little bird arrived in Kiev when a massacre of Jews takes place and Beina is left alone again.

Old Peter had planned to send her to America to an uncle, and Beina goes to New York to the home of Jacob Weil, a sweatshop worker. Weil has risen to affluence through the favor of McManus, a political boss; and when McManus casts his evil eye upon pretty Beina, Weil has naught to do but give her up.

lightful little episodes in which three adorable children are seen with the star "Hulda From Holland" that she will undoubtedly rank as one of Mary Pickford's greatest contributions to motion picture humor.

Opening in picturesque Holland, the action shifts to New York when, on the invitation of her uncle—a typical Pennsylvania Dutchman—Hulda brings her three little brothers to the land of opportunity. But a of Hulda's opportunities are not showered upon her at once. In fact her uncle has barely met her when he is injured and taken to the hospital, where he lies without any means of identification. Hulda alone in New York with three little children and not a soul that she knows.

But the brave little girl finds a counselor and friend in the keeper of a boarding house with whom she finds temporary employment. The injury to Uncle Peter is almost as serious a blow to President Walton of the New Central Railway for he has been trying to force a right of way through the obstinate old man's farm, and now when he has only three more days in which to bring matters to a head, Uncle Peter has suddenly disappeared.

Hulda, meanwhile, has interested an Italian organ grinder by her eccentric dances and while rehearsing, she falls through a skylight, arriving very unceremoniously in the studio of young Walton, the son of the railway man. The unconventional meeting results in a deep friendship between the pair and when the elder Walton hits upon the scheme of using his son as a means of getting the right of way through the beloved niece, the son goes no further than his parent had out-portrayed in New Triangle Drama.

In the new Triangle-Ince feature play, "Civilization's Child," which will be shown at the Lyric Theatre Friday, old Peter Saramoff, in the city of Kiev, Russia, decides that his little grand niece, Beina, who has been left an orphan up in the mountains should be brought to civilization; but barely has his little bird arrived in Kiev when a massacre of Jews takes place and Beina is left alone again.

Old Peter had planned to send her to America to an uncle, and Beina goes to New York to the home of Jacob Weil, a sweatshop worker. Weil has risen to affluence through the favor of McManus, a political boss; and when McManus casts his evil eye upon pretty Beina, Weil has naught to do but give her up.

As McManus has done to many another maid, he ruins Beina and throws her to the street to live a life of shame. But as time goes on Beina meets Turgenev, a young Russian musician who is struggling to get along, and they fall in love. They go to live together. And when the baby comes she persuades him to marry her.

In due course and with Beina's unwavering aid, Turgenev rises to fame and position. There he meets the beloved daughter of McManus. Learning that divorce for Turgenev is all his daughter wants to complete her happiness, McManus, now an honored jurist, undertakes to secure it. With a man "planted" in her rooms, he secures the necessary evidence and Turgenev is freed

When Beina tries to fight the case in court she finds the presiding judge is McManus; and for her effort she is sent to the "island," while her baby is placed in a home with persons alleged to be better fitted to bring it up.

What is there left for Beina? Just a revenge—which brings one of the most thrilling moments in an intensely interesting film.

"Still Waters"
 Famous Players' Feature tells dramatic tales of circus and canal-boat life.

Marguerite Clark in "Still Waters" at the Star Thursday

Though there have been many songs extolling life on the ocean wave and innumerable plays that picture the deeds and misdeeds of the socially elect, life on our inland waterways has seldom aroused the interest of the playwright. Hence, "Still Waters," the story of canal-boat life and of the circus, in which Marguerite Clark is featured by the Famous Players Film Company on the Paramount Program at the Star

Thursday will prove of special interest.

A company of players spent three weeks on the banks of one of our great canals in order to get the scenes which show little Neta (Marguerite Clark) and her old grandfather on the canal boat, which is their home. An entire circus was leased for the purpose of getting the action which transpires in and around the tent, when the ring master, having marked Neta for his prey attempts to force his attentions upon her.

In this remarkable combination of pastoral romance and gripping drama, Marguerite has the best opportunity yet afforded her of displaying her wonderful versatility. Already acknowledged as superb in the art of screen coquetry and generally recognized as one of the most winsome little misses in motion pictures, Miss Clark, by her tremendous powers as a dramatic actress will add to her laurels as a photoplayer. It is seldom that a young actress who gains popularity as a ingenue rises to any considerable heights in emotional expression. Therefore the performance of Miss Clark in "Still Waters" is one of the most notable of recent screen achievements.

For the scenes which transpire in and about the circus, an entire traveling show was leased by the Famous Players and Harry La Pearl, one of the most celebrated clowns that ever appeared at the New York Hippodrome was especially engaged to play opposite Miss Clark. These circus scenes, many of which combine daring performances with thrilling dramatic action, are the best that have ever been obtained in any tent show.

Wm. H. Thompson as a Ward Boss
 Triangle Star has forceful part in New Drama, "Civilization's Child"

For the first time he scored such a marked success in support of Hulda From Holland. William H. Thompson, the dean of the American stage will be seen in a Triangle feature play, which has been produced by Thomas H. Ince as to star with Anna Lehr in "Civilization's Child." The story of the play is the tale of a ward boss who is responsible for the wrecking of a young girl's life.

Others in the cast are Jack Standing as Nicola Turgenev; Dorothy Dalton, as Ellen McManus; Clyde Brinson as Jacob Weil; J. P. Chappin as Peter Saramoff; and the production was directed by Otto Ludwig.

In the character of Boss McManus of the underworld power, Thompson has a part totally different from that of Andrew Cameron in "Peggy," but although he is a wide-eyed villain, he is a very human one. He is a man who has been through the mill of life and has the scars to prove it.

Others in the cast are Jack Standing as Nicola Turgenev; Dorothy Dalton, as Ellen McManus; Clyde Brinson as Jacob Weil; J. P. Chappin as Peter Saramoff; and the production was directed by Otto Ludwig.

Harold Lockwood and May Allison tonight

Harold Lockwood and May Allison have after considerable persuasion and large offers signed long time contracts with the Metro Pictures Corporation and will appear exclusively in their productions. Manager Herndon of the Star holds the contract for the use of Metro Pictures in Sanford will grace his program with these noted characters as they appear and their first picture will be the "Masked Rider" which will be exhibited at the Star tonight. This feature which is in five interesting acts differs from most of the pictures by having some unusual incidents and some very exciting situations.

MISS FLORENCE ROSE

In Fashion Film Showing All the Latest Styles that Will be Worn This Season Lyric Thursday

As fashion films these are good. They show everything from silk nightgowns and satin negligees to street and evening wear. Head gear is exhibited too, sometimes on very pretty heads, and for that matter the wearers of the clothing are attractive, so the pictures may be of slight interest to men if they are not married. The married fellows will instinctively start to count their spare bills.

The poses were done under the supervision of Miss Rose, who evidently knows her business. A personal touch is put in here and there for slight relief, and these are almost always good for a laugh, even though not intended for such. The photography is not specially distinct but good enough to answer the purpose.

In concluding; women like to look at clothes and as the picture theatre relies heavily on women for existence, these films should easily get over and add to the popularity of the theatre showing them.

PARALYSIS TAKING TOLL IN NORTH

HOT WEATHER MAKES INCREASE IN INFANT MORTALITY

New York, Aug. 9.—The epidemic of infantile paralysis broke all previous death records here today. The plague killed 57 children during the 24 hours' period ending at 10 a. m. One hundred and eighty-three new cases were reported.

Philadelphia, Aug. 9.—Efforts of the Pennsylvania health authorities to enforce a rigid interstate quarantine against possible cases of infantile paralysis are being nullified by the lax methods of officials in adjoining states, some of whom, it is said, are issuing health certificates to all who apply, without making an investigation.

All that is required to get a certificate in Camden, N. J., according to statements made here today, is the furnishing of the name, residence and point of destination to the health authorities.

Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, state health commissioner, declared that "if the Camden authorities continue the promiscuous issuance of the certificates he probably would be forced to order the Pennsylvania inspectors not to honor any certificates issued by the Camden department of health."

Three deaths from the disease and 15 new cases were reported today during the last 24-hour period, making a total of 26 deaths since August 1 and 104 cases. Eight new cases were reported in the state capital of Philadelphia, increasing the total to 84.

Funeral of Mrs. Rand

The funeral of Mrs. Frederick H. Rand was held yesterday at 4 p. m. from St. Luke's cathedral. Dean Remsen conducting the service.

The impressive and beautiful service was attended by a large number of friends, those of Sanford and Longwood uniting with others in this last tribute of esteem and affection. Two favorite hymns were used, "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Abide With Me."

Quantities of exquisite flowers bore their message of love for her, of deepest sympathy for her family, with also their note of the resurrection, light and peace and triumph that "Death is swallowed up in victory."

The pallbearers were Messrs. H. F. Whitner, F. P. Forster and Randall Chase of Sanford, and John C. Jones, C. B. Robinson, Dr. A. B. Whitman, Dr. Hal Beardall and Dr. J. W. Estes of Orlando. The interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Rev. L. A. Spencer spent yesterday here, having obtained a brief leave of absence from his duties as chaplain of the Second regiment to attend the funeral of Mrs. Rand. Reporter-Star.

Print Paper Famine

Newspaper publishers of this country are faced with a crisis that is imperiling the very existence of hundreds, if not thousands, of the smaller publications of the country, and there is no indication as to when, if ever, there will be any relief.

Within the past few months there has been an increase in the price of print paper from thirty to fifty per cent, and the country is actually threatened with a famine of paper.

Conflicting opinions were given this week before the federal trade commission as to the cause of the rapid and disastrous increase in the price. Publishers charged, before that commission, that manufacturers had entered into a combination to control prices. These charges were, of course, denied by the manufacturers, who were virtually defendants before the commission.

Manufacturers claimed that they are making paper practically at a loss, and that no new mills have been constructed in this country since a Republican congress placed print paper on the free list. They declare that as the Dominion of Canada has prohibited the exportation of the wood used in the manufacture of paper, they have not been able to obtain an adequate supply of this raw material. They insist, too, that an increase of 25 per cent in the demand has contributed to the shortage.

Publishers showed that while the cost of manufacture had really decreased 5 per cent, yet the manufacturers had consistently and persistently boosted the price.

Whether the federal commission will be able to obtain relief for the harassed publishers is not known, but it is certain that many of the smaller publications are going out of business because they cannot afford to pay the prices now demanded for print paper.

One effect is already felt in New York City and even among the greatest of dailies, who have had the advantage of the lowest prices obtainable. They have taken action looking toward the decreasing of the number of pages they will issue, hereafter. They will decrease their weekly output an average of one hundred and twenty-one pages in an attempt to relieve the situation.

Smaller dailies over the country will be compelled to follow their example, besides being obliged to cut every possible extra copy, complimentary, exchanges and the like.

Many an anxious publisher is wondering what the future will bring forth. Miami Herald.

THE RAILROAD PRISONERS CONTROVERSY IN EUROPE TAKING PLACE

LIKELY TO BE SETTLED IN FEW DAYS IS THE HOPE

New York, N. Y., Aug. 10.—A crisis in the strike situation involving virtually all the railroads of the country and about 400,000 employes thereof, is forecasted today. The outcome hinges on the question whether the national conference committee of the railroad managers make a proposal to the representatives of the four brotherhoods at the joint conference which meets here today that will be satisfactory.

The managers met yesterday, but refused to say at the conclusion, whether they had any counter proposal to submit to the men. The joint conference today will be preceded by another meeting of the employes to consider what reply to make to the warning of the men that they would strike if necessary to enforce their demands for an eight-hour day and pay at the rate of time and a half for over time.

The substance of the situation was contained in the notification to the managers by A. B. Garrison, president of the order of Railway Conductors, who said: "I am to say to you that the members of the United Brotherhood of Carriers and Helpers are ready to accept any proposal that will give them an eight-hour day and pay at the rate of time and a half for over time."

PRISONERS IN EUROPE DOUBLE ARMY

OVER FIVE MILLION MEN ARE HELD CAPTIVE

New York, Aug. 10.—More than 5,000,000 prisoners, double the number of men engaged in any previous war that the world has known, now are confined in prison camps of the belligerent nations, according to Dr. John R. Mott, general secretary of the international committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, who arrived here today on the Danish steamship Oscar II from Copenhagen. Dr. Mott has visited the prison camps of nearly all the countries at war since May.

Dr. Mott said that of the prisoners, Germany has the greatest number, approximately 1,750,000. Russia, with about 1,500,000 comes next, then Austria with one million, followed in order by France, Italy, Great Britain and Turkey. Russia's prisoners, he added, are rapidly increasing more than 100,000 have been added to the camps since the beginning of the last Russian drive in 1915. Dr. Mott added 200,000 passed through Kiev.

"I found," Dr. Mott said, "that reports as to the treatment of prisoners of war received here have been greatly exaggerated. In all of the countries the prisoners are being treated with the same care and attention as the army of the belligerent countries in Europe. It is possible to do for their comfort and health."

affair, only the immediate family and a few intimate friends witnessing the ceremony.

The rooms of the lower floor were prettily and appropriately decorated with garden flowers and ferns. In the living room where the ceremony took place an arch of roses and asparagus ferns was erected, beneath this the young couple were married.

The bride was very sweet and attractive in her traveling suit of blue silk taffeta. It was made coat effect and worn with a white crepe de chine blouse. A modish hat in blue completed the pretty costume. The bride was attended by her two sisters, Misses Lucille and Agnes Anderson. They wore dainty white lingerie frocks.

ITALIANS VICTORIOUS

Capture Gorizia and Many Austrian Prisoners

Rome, Italy, Aug. 10.—Notwithstanding the desperate fighting around Gorizia, the city was not burned by the Austrians or destroyed by the Italian artillery, nor was the Italian army repulsed. The number of 20,000 having previously left the city, General Cadorna, by the capture of Gorizia, has won a strategic victory. After taking the mountain tops of San Michele and the bridgehead of the city, the Italian army entered the city and the Austrians fled.

When the Italian army entered the city, the Austrians were in a state of confusion. The Italian army captured many Austrian prisoners and the city was in the hands of the Italian army.

CHILD LABOR LAW PASSED BY SENATE

DEMOCRATIC OPPOSITION ALL CAME FROM THE SOUTH

Washington, Aug. 11.—The senate late on Tuesday passed the bill to prevent interstate commerce in products of child labor, by a vote of 52 to 12. The measure, which already had passed the house, was brought to a vote in the senate upon the insistence of President Wilson after the Democratic senate caucus once had decided to defer its consideration until next December.

Senators who voted against the bill were: Bankhead, Alabama; Bryan and Fletcher, Florida; Overman and Simmons, North Carolina; Smith and Tillman, South Carolina; Smith and Hardwick, Georgia; Williams, Mississippi (Democrats), and Oliver and Penrose, Pennsylvania (Republicans).

Opposition to the measure had come chiefly from southern cotton mill owners, and the group of southern Democrats who voted against it had fought it in caucus and maintained their opposition during the senate debate on the ground that the regulation proposed is unconstitutional and would interfere with the rights of the states. Eleven Democrats from the south, Senators Swann, McPherson, Underwood, Venable, Vandenberg, Misner, Campbell, Jones and Benjamin, Kentucky, Callahan and Sheppard, Texas, Russell, Louisiana, Robinson, Arkansas, and Shields, Tennessee, were absent.

Senator Bankhead, of Alabama, declared that the measure would be unconstitutional and would interfere with the rights of the states.

GAME CALLED WITH SCORE TIED--2 AND 2

J. MOORE AND SELFE LEADS THE HITTERS

Before a large sized crowd of some 500 people Sanford and Orlando played to a tie score, 2 and 2. The game being called at the beginning of the eighth inning on account of too much rain. It looks as if the bad weather follows up the local club, no matter if it is a special occasion or not.

ting star of the game was Meself of the Orlando club. Meself delivered with two healthy doubles and one came at the right time, while his one he hit two right center found him stranded on the bag. His team mates failed to bring him home.

The game was played on a muddy field and several costly errors were made by both clubs. Sanford had many a chance to score in several innings but the necessary wallop was not there. The writer believes that after Dillinger had reached second on his double the inning should have been finished and not called. It would have been all right to have called the game before the inning had started and not after a runner had reached second. But the Orlando players, as a whole, were willing for the game to be called and it seems as if that being the case it was fair, but to look at it in the other light we believe a mistake was made. It looked bad on our part, and always believing in fair play the game should have been continued.

PIG IRON BOYS OF EUFAULA MAKING GOOD WITH TEAM

The Pig Iron Boys of Eufaula Ala. are making quite a showing in the Orlando Sanford Sandspur League. The Celeryites consist of John Robinson pitcher and outfielder, extraordinary Jimmie Moore, another one of those real hitters Charley Bell the lad that knocks the shins off the infielders, "Skeete" Brinson considered by many as the Walter Johnson of infielders on account of his wonderful arm, Ray Chapman the peerless catcher of the Dixie League and next to Jimmie Archer when it comes to catching crooks stealing the bases. And last but not least "Slat" Wilson, better known as "Mutt" who will in time show his value to the local club. These players were the cream of the Dixie League as well as the Eufaula team, and why they failed to win the pennant in the League is a mystery to the local fans. Eufaula, while not as big as Sanford deserves great credit for gathering together such a valuable array of base ball talent. Manager Robinson and his Pig Iron Crew failed to win the old flag. They will be back again next season with a much better club for several new players will be brought in for the season of 1917. Here it is that the Pig Iron Boys will start off with flying colors next season and may they get so far and in the end that it will take the machine to catch them.

Oldring has been fading and isn't as good as he was in the bygone days, but Connie feels that he is far better than any of the youngsters picked up since last season. BOARD OF TRADE RESULTS
If there are any men in Sanford who have not become members of the Board of Trade, they are those who are not interested in the progress of the city. The Board of Trade is the only organization in Sanford that is interested in the progress of the city.

The very latest is the establishment of a factory that will manufacture products from orange and grapefruit rinds and the following from the Orlando Sentinel tells the story.

"Capitalized at $200,000 and financed by both Orlando and northern men, a corporation will be formed within the next few days for the establishment of a plant in Orlando for the utilization of the waste from the fruit of orange and grapefruit, and the manufacture therefrom of high grade paper.

Following thorough investigation of many propositions, many of which had merit, the industrial committee of the Orlando Board of Trade has by its continuous efforts agitated the question so thoroughly that the new development is a direct consequence.

Orlando will not be asked to donate a site or a single red cent in the way of a bonus to secure the locating of the plant. The city wins on its merits as the capital of the citrus fruit territory. The achievement will go down as one of the greatest accomplishments of the re-organized Orlando Board of Trade.

ONE WAY TO KILL A TOWN

Tuesday was the first day of August, 1916, and as is the custom all the up to date business concerns in the city sent out statements. We got our share, as usual. One of these came in an envelope "made in Jacksonville," another came made on a statement also "made in Jacksonville." Many good dollars of our money has passed through the hands of these two business concerns. We have done our best to sustain them in business. We have been willing they should make a profit on each transaction, we have never failed to give them a boost when possible to do so, and yet, they take our business, make money off of it, and send their business to a Jacksonville print shop that never had a dealing with them beyond taking their order for a little job printing and sending a bill for the account due. We run a print shop, and spend the money we make out of it at home to help others along in business. We could buy our groceries in Jacksonville and do our banking in Jacksonville, and spend our money in Jacksonville, but if everybody did this our business houses would have to close their doors. That is the way to kill a town. How can a home business concern ask home people to patronize it when it goes to Jacksonville or some other center to get what it can get at home.

It is only by sticking together and patronizing each other in various lines of business that business can be built up and the town made to prosper.

Many people do not think. A solicitor comes through with something to sell and without a thought they buy. The policy should always be to buy just as near home as possible.

This is the only way to build up a community. Any other policy is one of tearing down.

Stick to your home town first, last and all the time. Overlook its shortcomings and boost its advantages. Prize its virtues and forget its faults. Patronize its merchants, its banks and its industries, keep every dollar at home that can be kept at home, and in time the policy will tell in increased business and a larger measure of prosperity and happiness for its people. Green Cove Springs.

RAISING CAMPAIGN FUNDS

The call has been made for the Democrats of Florida to contribute to the campaign fund to be used in the reelection of President Wilson. It is usual to send out such appeals every four years and there is always a considerable response, but it is to be doubted if a popular campaign fund ever yet elected a President. We do not remember ever to have seen a public appeal from a public headquarters. It is probable that the Republican party also so does fund, but if so it is not done so publicly. There is a feeling rather prevalent in Democratic states that the Republicans have plenty of money and can carry on an expensive campaign without expense to them. The Democratic party has always been looked upon as the party of economy, hence the sign of poverty is on its undertakings. There is a popular feeling that the Democrats are the party that support the poor, and that the Republicans are the party that support the rich. It is probable that the Democrats will be the party that will contribute to the poor wage workers and other representatives of the proletariat. But there is much of popular belief which will not stand the test of truth. As a matter of fact the Democrats are just about as extravagant as the Republicans and the Democrats are just about as generous as the Republicans.

SAW GRASS AND PALMETTO PRODUCTS

The hitherto despised saw grass and saw palmetto are coming into their own. For many years they have been looked upon as worthless and it took the great war in Europe with the attendant shortages of various commodities to bring the United States to a realization of the many good products that were going to waste.

GREAT INDUSTRY IN FLORIDA REACHES SANFORD SECTION

A Jacksonville company now has a large force of operatives here getting out grass and palmetto and they have a plant on the river above this city close to Shell Mound. It is said that the new company are making many products out of the saw grass and palmetto fibre and the industry in time will reach large proportions. The following article explains the industry fully as it is now progressing in Miami.

Proven by expert analysis to be exceeded in value by only two other fibrous and pulp plants, the saw grass which grows so plentifully in the Everglades and the ever present palmetto are worth money to the manufacturers of gun cotton, photographic films, paper, etc. $60.00 per ton now being the market price of the fibre and pulp made of one ton of the saw grass or the palmettoes. One ton of saw grass will make 1,200 lbs. of fibre worth $60.00, and one ton of palmettoes, 1,200 lbs. of pulp worth $63.00 and 400 lbs. of fibre worth $40.00, or $100.00 per ton of palmettoes. North Dakota wheat straw, 1,290 lbs. of pulp to a

WHAT TRAINMEN DEMAND

The railway managers are flooding the country with publicity regarding the "increase in wages" that is being demanded by the members of the four railway brotherhoods who are engaged in actual handling of trains. It seems the railroad managers cannot make an honest presentation of this issue any more than they can of the rate question, the question of their valuation, or their inside financing.

The railway employees are not asking for an advance of wages. In fact they are asking for the adoption of a plan that will decrease the income of many of them. They are asking for an eight hour day, instead of being compelled to stay out on the road from 12 to 16 hours.

Their argument in favor of this change is reasonable. They say that passenger trainmen and fast freight trainmen wouldn't be materially affected by such a rule as few of them are now on the road more than eight hours. The men who would be affected are the trainmen who handle "dead" freight trains. These men are on the road usually the limit permitted by the federal laws—16 hours—and often longer than that when they get back to their homes. Their expenses on the road must come out of their own wages.

The greatest evil, however, is the physical and mental effect upon men working that length of time. It needs no argument to prove that after eight or ten hours' continuous strain, one's physical and mental activities get sluggish. It is during these periods, say trainmen, that wrecks most frequently occur; and then the railroad managers blame it on to the "carelessness" of the railroad employees.

Even the traveler in the Pullman gets tired after a 10-hour ride during the day. But the man in the engine cab must keep fresh, he must keep his mental activities keen for he must see every signal, keep in mind every order, and when he enters a railroad yard must know just what every one of all the way from 50 to 300 switch, signal and block lights mean, and if they are as they should be to guarantee him a clear track. Yet eye-fatigue is one of the first symptoms and results of long hours of work, and mental dullness comes a close second. "Safety first" for the traveling public demands that men on the railroads be not overworked.

There is yet another side to which affects the commercial side of railroading. Why are some freight trains handled with such speed that men who handle them are not on their runs over eight hours, while other freight trains hauled with the same class of motive power and over the same right of way are 14 to 20 hours coming from New Orleans to St. Louis City, while a carload of other freight is three to four weeks?

Trainmen say the railroads so overload "dead" freight trains that they cannot make their time. This is done in order to increase the railroad's profit. This is why the trainmen who handle these trains must be overworked and at the same time they are not paid for the extra work.

The new law which will be put into effect, if it will solve the freight car famine to a great extent. Railroads will then speed up their freight schedule in order to avoid overtime wages and freight cars will be resorted to their destination and unloaded, instead of being idled for weeks.

SAW GRASS AND PALMETTO PRODUCTS

The hitherto despised saw grass and saw palmetto are coming into their own. For many years they have been looked upon as worthless and it took the great war in Europe with the attendant shortages of various commodities to bring the United States to a realization of the many good products that were going to waste.

GREAT INDUSTRY IN FLORIDA REACHES SANFORD SECTION

A Jacksonville company now has a large force of operatives here getting out grass and palmetto and they have a plant on the river above this city close to Shell Mound. It is said that the new company are making many products out of the saw grass and palmetto fibre and the industry in time will reach large proportions. The following article explains the industry fully as it is now progressing in Miami.

Proven by expert analysis to be exceeded in value by only two other fibrous and pulp plants, the saw grass which grows so plentifully in the Everglades and the ever present palmetto are worth money to the manufacturers of gun cotton, photographic films, paper, etc. $60.00 per ton now being the market price of the fibre and pulp made of one ton of the saw grass or the palmettoes. One ton of saw grass will make 1,200 lbs. of fibre worth $60.00, and one ton of palmettoes, 1,200 lbs. of pulp worth $63.00 and 400 lbs. of fibre worth $40.00, or $100.00 per ton of palmettoes. North Dakota wheat straw, 1,290 lbs. of pulp to a ton is worth $64.00; and New Zealand phormium, 1,300 lbs. of pulp to the ton is worth $65.00. No other fibrous or pulp plants are worth as much, not even flax straw, sugarcane or rice straw.

The railway managers are flooding the country with publicity regarding the "increase in wages" that is being demanded by the members of the four railway brotherhoods who are engaged in actual handling of trains. It seems the railroad managers cannot make an honest pres-

F. L. Stewart of Murrysville, Pa., who has led in the investigation of saw grass and palmetto as articles of commercial value, has organized the "Stewart International Pulp and Fibre Company," and has designated Miami as the location for one of a half dozen plants to be erected and this city as the shipping point for Florida.

The New York Paper Trade Journal has the following to say of the new pulp and fibre process and the articles of commercial value which can be made from the Florida saw grass and palmetto.

Among its regular products will be high grade writing and book paper, such as is producible at present only from the best pulped and bleached linen and cotton rags, but at less than one-half its present cost, bank note bond and "India paper," transparent tissues and photographic films, pure cellulose solutions, artificial silk, viscose and varnishes and sizings, incandescent light filaments, gun cotton, common dynamite, celluloid, a new high explosive, celluloid, enameled table ware, cellulose staff composition, utilizable for the reproduction of statuary, architectural ornaments, etc., and a new absorbent quality of cellulose for surgical use and for the production of compound nitro cellulose and nitro glycerine explosives.

Also, a new structural cellulose composition has been produced which is light, elastic, resistant to fracture, fire and water proof, which when laid rolled into sheets for sheathing or made in the form of a fabric is capable of being used in the construction of light boats, airplanes, etc., etc.

"The new spinning fibre processes have opened up the way for the ready production of more than a score of entirely new textile fibres, two of which are the products of two species of our native wild plants, which under cultivation have proved to be remarkably superior to all other native and foreign cotton.

From the others a great variety of woven fabrics are producible grading down from ordinary cotton and flax goods to coarser sorts, such as for men's summer satings, either bleached or unbleached khakis, nankeens, sailcloth, burlaps, gunny sackings, sugar and wheat sacks, etc.

Others yield coarse fibres for cordage and twines of high value, and in the present dearth throughout the world of fibres for that use, those from the sunflower, Jerusalem artichoke and corn stalk would serve a good purpose and give relief to our wheat growers, if converted into harvest twine which could be sold at less than half its present exorbitant speculative price, at a good profit.

"As an industry, this business is not only new in itself, but new in the sense that it deals with an entirely new commercial product. Cellulose itself is now for the first time offered to the world in a commercial form—its true, distinguishing, natural form—perfectly pure and isolated from all the organic matter with which in the living plant it has previously been combined or associated.

The fact that such waste need no longer be incurred, appeals to the most conservative sentiment of the country, as just now scarcely else could for the utilization of these resources which bountiful Nature is without stint putting into our hands—its all the more remarkable and opportune and beneficent because we find her renewing them to us every year."

Baptist Temple Notes Services at the Temple were well attended Sunday, as it was the first service with the regular pastor after his vacation.

There was an unusually large attendance at Sunday school, and every one seemed to be filled with that spirit that it takes to move a Sunday school on and on to the point where it becomes so interesting that the people just will not stay away.

Dr. Hyman's service Sunday night "Just a Little Further" could very well be considered a masterpiece. The Doctor used appropriate Scripture, and had for the inspiration of key word, the old childhood saying, "One to make ready, two to be sure, three for no cheating and four to go." This was characterized as representing the three years that Dr. Hyman has been pastor of the church, and as characterizing the entering of his fourth year of service. He put especial emphasis on the fact that it was now time to say "Four to go," and he wanted every person to use his every effort to push both church, town and community "Just a Little Further." Dr. Hyman spoke of the Sanford Board of Trade, stating that it was his opinion that every worker of the church should also be a worker in the Board of Trade.

A series of special Vesper Services will be a feature of the Baptist Temple during the months of August and September. A special committee has this work in charge and they have promised something very attractive and entertaining.

The telegram to Mr. Rose this morning from the clerk of the court merely stated that the decision in the Ashley case has been reversed and that the case would be sent back for a new trial.

British Force Is Almost Completely Annihilated in Battle in France.

CORPORAL TELLS THE STORY

English Gunners Aims Badly, Dropping Shells in Comrades' Trenches, Which Become So Filled With Dead That Retirement is All but Impossible.

New York.—It is doubtful if since the beginning of the war there has come to New York a discharged soldier in any of the armies engaged, whose record of actions and experiences qualified him to give as clear insight into the great struggles as can Corporal David Robinson Williams of the Second Royal rifles. Corporal Williams recalled at the beginning of the war and served in some of the most important battles up to last August. During that time he suffered three serious wounds and finally was discharged after months of suffering from gas poisoning. He has seen practically all there is to see for the men of the ranks in the land fighting and he is able to tell a splendid and connected story of his part of the fighting.

Another factor in Mr. Williams' ability to tell what he saw is that he served in the British army for three years up to 1902 and that his observations are those of a soldier who knows the routine of army life and who is interested in nothing but the real action of a war and has an idea about when his own commanders are doing well or ill and what the caliber of the enemy is. In this connection it may be stated that he believes that the Germans can fight, that they have been guilty of some frightful atrocities and that among them are thousands of fellows who are heartless of the war, not for lack of courage but because of supreme good sense. Incidentally some Germans he has met in conflict are as fine as any men he ever cares to meet.

Battle of the Alsne.

Mr. Williams left New York, after working here for three years, on August 5, 1914, and after enlisting was sent to a mobilization camp on August 29. His regiment was immediately sent to the front, and the first action they took part in was the battle of the Alsne. Mr. Williams was in Company C of the Third Division of the Seventh brigade, and the sector in which they were stationed was a mass of chalk hills and caves. For fourteen days after they made the trenches they were exposed to a drenching rain, and as there was evidence of confusion in the handling of the forces they remained hidden away from an intermittent fire without advancing or taking definite action.

In the heaviest downpour of rain they would occasionally see Taubes floating high above them, making observations and since guns unsuited for the work were turned upon them only one of the scores they saw was brought down. That one landed within two hundred feet of where Corporal Williams was stationed, and he saw it burn to ashes over the mangled crew, which fell with it. Soon after this incident the order to advance was given, with the arrival of reinforcements, but the Wiltshire Fusiliers and the Irish rifles could make no impression against the German position. They were confronted with a heavy fire and nearly three hundred men went out of action.

On October 3 the Rifles altered their position and were ordered to Bethune, where they waited for reinforcements and then advanced to Richebourg. It was here that Corporal Williams says he saw the first indication of the atrocities which refugees at all points complained tearfully of. He and a party of soldiers came to a farmhouse as five German Uhlans left it. The party opened fire and killed all but one of the Uhlans, and upon entering the house found a young woman who had been subjected to frightful atrocities for six days in the enforced presence of her aged mother.

Moved to Neuve Chapelle. The Rifles devoted two weeks to digging trenches in the village of Richebourg and then went to Neuve Chapelle and got into the hardest kind of a fight. They found trenches already dug for them as they had left trenches for others at Richebourg, and as they were exhausted they fully expected that a real rest awaited them.

"We got no rest, though," said Corporal Williams. "As soon as it was dark we were put at work stringing barb wire entanglements—and the word passed around that the Germans were making ready and that our observers had reported that we were to be attacked in force that night. It was October 26, and I have good cause to remember it. At ten o'clock the artillery fire began and it was clear at once that the Germans had the range on the first try. We could hear the screams in the reserve trench as the big shells exploded, and we were crazy to advance or be killed or something. Inactivity becomes torture in the steeple of the English church. After that I found that she did not come around to the club and I had no more automobile rides. I was always waiting for a four-inch submarine gun to bluff that church.

"We were going to be interned, so the Greeks told us, if we retired within their gates. Perhaps we might have been, except for the presence suddenly of ten British warships. They cleared for action and after that there was no more talk about interning us.

An Ignorant "Doctor." "It was in Saloniki that I came across another German spy. I was accosted in a store by a man who wore a uniform of the Royal Army Medical corps. He asked me where I had been wounded and I gave him the medical name for the thigh bone. I soon saw that he did not know whether I had been hit in the head or the foot. He came from Yorkshire, he said. But he lacked the accent. I went to a cafe with him and sent an urgent request for the provost marshal and soon the man was escorted away.

"On another occasion a spy in Saloniki got within our lines and lit a bonfire. This was against orders and at dawn we realized from the dropping of shells that the spy had given the enemy our position. The enemy guns were behind a ridge. We waited for them and worked out their position carefully, but could not exactly determine their distance until an unexploded shell arrived. It was set for 4,000 meters and marked by the Krupp firm. That night we waited until they were firing again and then suddenly, knowing all their men were at the guns, we let them have three battery salvos of high explosive shells. We heard their ammunition boxes blow up, and afterward we heard nothing from that direction.

"You talk about fights and battles and ask what I remember. I'll tell you what impressed itself on my mind more than anything else. It was a giant killer. He must have been clumping at the bit before they let him out of the trenches by the way he went for the Germans. He was so strong that he drove part of the barrel of his gun with the bayonet into one of the enemy. He could not extricate his gun. I then saw this Scot reach down and pick up the German's weapon and with that he killed the man who was working to avenge the death of the first German.

"I don't know how the bayonet went in too far. Nothing but this bayonet knife grabbed a third man's gun. After that my attention was distracted by something near me.

A Discard of Fighting. "We got a present of a piano for our mess in Gallipoli. We did not get much of a chance to try it out, because the first night it was trampled over for the evening a high explosive shell swung right into it and the next month we were continually picking up keys.

"It is hard to have any conception of the amount of shell that fell upon us. It is being shot into the ground and the shells are being scattered. An idea of this can be gathered when it is realized that solely through allied buyings, copper has risen from a normal 13 and 14 cents to 28 cents. And lead, which has a normal price of 3 to 4 cents, now is up to 8 1/2 cents. Remember that Germany requires just as much of the allies, which she is unable to get because of the British fleet, and it is only a question of time before she begins to feel the pinch.

I should say that the greatest strategical masterpiece of the war was that the allies had not tried 'a Verdun.' There it is common knowledge that four Germans have been killed for every Frenchman. The Germans are bound to do something for a moral effect. We don't require that. It's merely a question of time before the German's waste of human element is going to beat him. The Kaiser is suffering enormous losses for purely spectacular reasons. Our public does not require to be humored.

"People don't realize what Great Britain has had to do. First she sent over an expeditionary force of 160,000, and while fighting she has simultaneously increased her army to 5,000,000 men to terminate the war. I have never yet met an officer of one of our allies who has not told me that Great Britain would be keeping up her end on the sea alone and that she really was not counted upon for land fighting.

"As to the outcome of the conflict I have not the least doubt. My only fear is that we'll settle too cheaply. We should remember to keep studiously in mind the debt we owe to the fellows lying under the sod."

Fish Ran Down Tree. Sugar Creek, O.—Dell Fulk, a Canton fireman, has been fishing here for several days. The other day Fulk caught a perch. The line pulled hard, he says, and the fish was jerked into a tree. "And when I climbed up to get the prize the fish got away, ran down the trunk and leaped into the water."

Will Open Coffin Daily. Los Angeles.—Every day for two months the caretaker of Forest Lawn cemetery will open the coffin containing the body of William C. Kipp, retired Los Angeles capitalist. This ceremony will take place in accordance with the will of Mr. Kipp, who was haunted by the fear of premature burial.

AMONG THE THEATRES

Chit-Chat of the Play Houses in Sanford

Fate's Hand Heavy in "Children of the House"

In "The Children in the House," Triangle Fine Arts play to be seen at the Lyric Theatre Wednesday, the principal parts are in the hands of Norma Talmadge, as a neglected wife, Eugene Pallette as her husband, and Jewel Carmen as the siren who has enthralled the latter.

There has been a real love in the life of the wife, Cora Vincent. She wanted to marry Charles Brown, a young man who cared as much for her as she did for him. But Brown was only an employee in the bank owned by the father of Arthur Vincent, and Cora was influenced to marry for money and position instead of for love. She has paid bitterly for her mistake. She and her two children see little of Vincent, who spends much of his time with Jane Courtenay, a cabaret dancer.

Brown, forgiving Cora for her mistake, lives in loneliness with his brother, whose wife is Cora's sister. There are three children in the household. Soon after the play opens, Cora with her two children comes to take dinner with Alice, the sister. Brown, made sorrowful, by the sight of his lost sweetheart goes out of the dining room after dinner, and is followed by all the children, who beg their uncle for a fairy story.

So Brown tells them of Sweetheart, a fairy, who loved, but was led by wicked elves to wed for selfish motives. Cora enters and hears the story. Returning to her home she finds her husband still away. She knows he is with the "other woman," and in desperation calls him up and asks him to come and see her. He comes and begs her to elope. While they are talking a thunder storm frightens the children, who come tumbling into the room in their nightclothes—and the elopement is off.

Meantime an underworld pal of the siren has induced Vincent to aid in robbing his father's bank. The crime is committed at the very hour when Brown is with Mrs. Vincent. When the robbery is discovered, Brown refuses to offer an alibi and goes to jail. The robbers, when their automobile breaks down, takes refuge in a shanty on the outskirts of town, near the homes of Cora and Alice. The children going there to play next morning, fall into the hands of the desperadoes who bind them and set the house afire, leaving them to their fate when Vincent and Jane come with an automobile to take the band away—Vincent and the woman being in ignorance of the children's presence in the building.

Then comes a speedy and thrilling finish. Police in an automobile pursue the other car containing Vincent, the woman and the crooks. A bullet ends the guilty husband's life, and the rest of the occupants of the car plunge with it over a precipice. One alone, who has fallen from the automobile tells of the burning house and its occupants, and the police dash back for a rescue just in time.

With the promise of the fulfillment at last of the broken romance of Brown and Cora, as she learns her husband's fate in the jail where she has gone to visit the man who refused to betray her, the story ends.

In none of the pictures she has made for the Triangle program does Miss Talmadge appear to better advantage than in "The Children in the House." Hinckley and Brown are ideally cast for the parts entrusted to them, and the "Triangle kiddies" are as appealing as ever.

Mary Pickford a Dutch Girl

Starred by Famous Players in "Hulda From Holland"

Mary Pickford in wooden shoes! Clumping and bumping about the Famous Players' studio, the celebrated little star was a delightful and amusing sight, but not so uproariously funny as she will be on the screen of the Star Theatre when she appears in the Famous Players production "Hulda From Holland," with E. H. Thompson and Dorothy Dalton, who are to be the Paramount Feature tonight.

For the scenes in this fascinating combination of comedy and pathos which transpires in Holland, the studios created a complete Dutch village and transported hundreds of villagers to the spot where several days were consumed in photographing the action. When Hulda and her three little brothers leave Holland and come to America the action is transferred to Pennsylvania where Hulda's uncle resides. Of course he is a typical Pennsylvania Dutchman and there is only one place where they are to be found. So John R. O'Brien, who directed the production for the Famous Players took his company to the heart of the Pennsylvania Dutch country in order to get just the proper flavor.

Those who are accustomed to connect the name of Mary Pickford with delicate comedy and real pathos will not be disappointed when the popular favorite appears in "Hulda From Holland," for this delightful romantic comedy drama embodies all the heart appeal for which Miss Pickford is celebrated. But it is all dressed up in a new form of presentation and in a new guise that is so original in treatment that even those who have seen the star in every one of her great successes will find much that is new and more that is irresistible in this production.

Story of "Madame Butterfly"

The photoplay adaptation of John Luther Long's great classic, "Madame Butterfly," in which Mary Pickford is starred by the Famous Players Film Company is a pathetic, human interest story. This latest Paramount attraction at the Star Saturday tells how Cho-Cho-San, a maiden of the Flowery Kingdom has been wed to Lieut. Pinkerton, an American naval officer. Two months after the wedding Pinkerton sails away, promising his wife, "Madame Butterfly," as he calls her to return when "the robins nest again."

To the officer the marriage has been but a love affair of the moment, to be forgotten with his departure. But to Madame Butterfly it was a real and lasting contract. In her loving, trusting heart she had no doubt that he would return. So in the little house at the foot of the hill where their joyous honeymoon had been spent, she waited for him to come back to her.

A baby was born and the mother thought with happy anticipation of the time when her husband would see his child. Two years pass and still the little wife is waiting, waiting for the "robins to nest again." She is deaf to the proposals of the wealthy Yamadori, an Americanized Japanese, who would marry her though the people about her even her own parents look upon her as an outcast. So when the American consul comes to her to tell her that Lieut. Pinkerton, whose ship is due to arrive soon has taken an American wife, the sweetheart of his youth, the ingenious faith of Madame Butterfly so touches him that he cannot perform his task. But Cho-Cho-San learns that the ship is due and, instead of making the home road, for its lord and master, the house is decorated with cherry blossoms and at the doorway the wife, the little one and the old servant await the Lieutenant's arrival. Night comes and the lamps are lit. The servant and the baby fall asleep, but Madame Butterfly continues her vigil, while the lights, like her hopes die out and only one remains when the morning comes.

"The Purple Lady"

Ralph Herz, the popular stage star will make his debut in the silent drama here at the Star on Tuesday in "The Purple Lady," a five part Metro-Rolle wonderplay. Irene Howley, the beautiful and vivacious little actress who has been seen in many elaborate Metro pictures is featured with Mr. Herz in this production.

"The Purple Lady" is a picturization of the play of the same name written by Sydney Rosenfeld. It was selected by Metro for Mr. Herz's debut because of the many possibilities it offered for screen production. Besides the humorous side of "The Purple Lady" there are many thrills in this feature, for there is a strong and absorbing mystery and a love story told in a new and novel manner. The scenes are laid in and around New York, including scores of interesting glimpses of Coney Island, on shipboard in the harbor, and the interior of one of the most famous restaurants on Broadway. George Lessey produced "The Purple Lady."

Mr. Herz, in the part of Silas Gilworthy, the reformer, which is the part he portrayed in the original stage production, repeats his former success with many added laughs. When he succumbs to the advance of the dazzling Fifi Melotte, the part played by Miss Howley, situations are developed which, for high drama and big laughs have rarely been equaled on the screen.

Cleo Ridgley and Wallace Reid

Founded on an old fairy story of two children who climbed from their little cottage to the house on the hill only to discover that the golden windows were made of nothing but the sun shining on broken window panes, and looking back they could see the same golden effect on the panes of the windows in their own little home. E. V. Jefferson and Charles Sarver have constructed a splendid melodrama, "The House of the Golden Windows," a Paramount picture which will be seen at the Star on Monday with Cleo Ridgley and Wallace Reid, the lucky star in the leading roles.

The story is a modern version of this old fairy tale and the scenes are laid in the green fields of California and show in a striking manner how true happiness is really at one's own feet.

The cast supporting the two artists include James Neil, Mabel Van Buren, and Little Red Jacobs.

Better Health Regulations

The question has been revived by the present menace of infantile paralysis against which the most careful supervision on travel has been established by the State Health authorities at every point and port of entry. Many petitions from various parts of the state have come to the Health Officer, asking for instructions for action in the possible emergency of the appearance of the disease in a Florida city or town. And under the existing law of the state, the Health Officer is limited only to giving advice for certain communicable diseases. The responsibility for a prompt and proper test and must rest upon local health authorities and physicians.

The record of the State Board for almost twenty-eight years, since it was established in 1889, has proved its willingness, its desire, to act and advise for the good of all Floridians and even to stretch the rigid interpretation of law where it may seem to be for the general welfare, but it has always avoided the overstepping the bounds of its legal jurisdiction or any interference with any city health boards. Excepting in the three diseases already named, its functions are entirely advisory and educational.

Whether this limitation of its duties is wise or conduces to its widest usefulness is a matter more or less speculative. An enlargement of its functions, by giving it original jurisdiction or authority in the occurrence of other diseases, can be accomplished only by a change of the law of the state, and such change made by the wish or the demand of the people of Florida.

The present fight against the invasion of Florida by infantile paralysis is being made by the local health authorities in the various cities through which such invasion would come. As the plague rages with increasing severity in New York, Florida presents a solid front against the menace, and although summer travel from New York by rail and water direct into Florida, probably has never been greater than during the present season, not a single case of the infection, so far as is known at the present, writing has passed within the bounds of the state from the infected areas to the north of us.

If the season shall pass without such invasion it will be a tribute to the faithful watchfulness, the undering efficiency and the skill of the local boards of health, and of the physicians and nurses on whom the actual responsibility rests.

STATE TROOPS ORDERED TO THE BORDER

FLORIDA TROOPS WILL MOVE WITH OTHER UNITS

A Washington dispatch, under date of Sunday says:

All the National Guard units included in President Wilson's call of June 18, not yet on the Mexican border, were ordered there today by the War Department.

Between 20,000 and 25,000 additional troops will thus be added to the border forces. National guard troops there will number approximately 125,000 and the total of all troops on the border or in Mexico will be 175,000.

Secretary of War Baker made a formal announcement that the troop movement had nothing whatever to do with the Mexican situation as such and was solely to relieve thousands of troops now held in mobilization camps only because they lack a few recruits to bring units up to fixed minimum strength.

War Department officials decided on their action because the troops are restive in camp and there seemed to be no stimulus to recruiting while there was no prospect of movement to the border. They now expect most of the regiments will be filled before the troops leave.

Modern Woodmen of America

Seminole Camp held another interesting meeting Thursday evening. When the camp fire was lighted there was found in our forest several "strangers" seeking further knowledge concerning the "Mysteries of Modern Woodcraft." After they had been instructed, Clerk C. D. Couch delivered Certificates of Insurance to them which totaled $111,000. He announced the good news that we now had 100 members, with several applications yet to be passed on by the Supreme Board of Examiners.

Several members have asked whether or not their insurance would be good if they were called to the front in Mexico. YES, your certificates will be in full force. Head Consul, A. R. Talbot has issued a dispensation setting aside that part of the By-Laws that made it a prohibited risk to engage in war, so that all of our members who are now enlisted or who may hereafter enlist in service against Mexico will have the full protection of their certificates.

New Departure at Baptist Temple

No need of saying that the Baptist Temple is a place for the people on Sunday evenings. One of the greatest crowds of people that have filled a church in Sanford during any of the summer months was present at the Baptist Temple Sunday evening for the first of a series of special Vesper services that are being conducted at the Temple by Dr. Hyman.

There was what might be determined as a new departure at the services Sunday evening, the first, and probably the most notable for the unusualness of the use of the instrument, as an instrument of church service, was the fact that a great Victrola, furnished by Hills Hardware Store was operated at stated intervals during the service, playing among other selections one of Billy Sunday's rally songs—"Brighten the Corner Where You Are," and later a solo by Rody Heaver, "Christ Remembers When the World Forgets." Although the Victrola was very much in evidence, nevertheless the human voice was employed, and Dr. Hyman leading the mass of people entered into having the congregation learn and sing the rally song as sung by the quartet.

Special music and song was arranged, Miss Margaret Davis playing as an offertory selection, creation by Carrie Jacobs Bond, "Love and Sorrow," after which Mrs. Jas. Taylor rendered a solo.

Just before he began his sermon Dr. Hyman announced that he was a suffragist, and that right then and there, he would let the ladies vote on the great question, "Whether or not the gentlemen should remove their coats." The ladies, seizing the opportunity to become popular voted that all men should remove their coats, whereupon and without further ceremony the gentlemen present, including the pastor removed their coats and were cool for the evening.

Dr. Hyman's sermon was one of the unique variety, one of a series that he intends to deliver at the special Vespers, and was entitled "One Thing Thou Lackest." This was a word picture of what would happen to a person that lacked that everlasting Spirit in his makeup.

The public is cordially invited to attend the remaining special Vesper services. Next Sunday evening there will be a reading by a noted reader—one who has won five gold medals for her excellent work, therefore if you would be with the people on Sunday evenings go to the Temple Vespers—the people will be there.

HAD A FINE STRIP

Sanford Party On Cate Tour Saw Much Of Interest

Miss Edith Stewart, Miss Maude Jenkins and Jno. D. Jenkins who were members of the Cate Tour party have returned to Sanford this week. They report a great trip, having taken in the interesting things at Chattanooga, Mammoth Cave, Niagara Falls and up into Canada to Toronto, Montreal and Quebec, returning by Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Washington and Baltimore.

Much to their surprise they encountered very hot weather in Quebec, horses were falling on the streets and babies reported dying from the heat. They were in New York when the terrible explosion occurred, caused by a large amount of ammunition for the allies catching on fire and exploding. Doors were jarred open and plate glass windows smashed all over the city.

In Washington the Florida party found Reginald Holly right on the job, and looking mighty prosperous. On account of his brightness and efficiency he has received a deserved promotion from head of the pages to a higher position. The Florida party is also indebted to Hon. Joe Sears for an evening's pleasant entertainment.

A few of the most interesting places visited not mentioned above were West Point by a trip up the Hudson river from New York, the old state House, Fort Belvoir, Old House and the U. S. Marine Corps. Money seems to be made so easily in Philadelphia, Mt. Vernon by a trip down the river from Washington, the National Capitol, the White House, the Congressional Library, and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing where all the postage stamps and all paper money are printed for the United States and the District of Columbia. The party went to Annapolis to hear the weekly concert of the U. S. Marine Band, said to be the finest band in this country. The great academy at Annapolis was visited and is a marvel of efficiency in training our naval officers.

The party took the M. & M. T. steamer Merrimack at Baltimore for Jacksonville, with the exception of Mr. Jenkins, who returned via Waynesville, N. C., for a visit with his family who will remain there until October. He found Seminole county well represented in Waynesville by Mr. Luther and wife of Oxnado, Mr. Baker and family, and Mr. Pattishall and family of Geneva.

Mrs. R. E. Tolar and baby, Mrs. Perry of Sanford being there for the summer. Mr. Luther and Mr. Pattishall are each building summer homes in one of the best locations in the place. Mr. Pattishall's will be called "Seminole Cottage."

Prof. W. B. Cate of the Normal School at Madison, who had charge of the party knows exactly how to conduct such trips and make it pleasant for every one. The entire party enjoyed the trip immensely and returned more fully convinced than ever that Florida is the best state in which to live.

House Boat Party

The following party have returned from a delightful cruise on the St. Johns river in the house boat Badger: Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Brady and children, Mr. and Mrs. Matheson and sons, Miss Lillian Jones of Orlando, Mrs. Huddinnott of DeLand, Allen Jones and J. D. Woodruff, and cook.

ARBITRATION CITY COUNCIL ONLY HOPE IN THE STRIKE OF INTEREST

SPECIAL BOARD WILL INVESTIGATE THE RAILROAD TROUBLES

Washington, Aug. 15.—Railroad managers and Brotherhood leaders, dead-locked in negotiations which threaten a nation-wide strike, today laid their case before President Wilson.

First came thirty-five representatives of the Brotherhoods who conferred with the President shortly after ten o'clock. They were followed by the committee of managers.

The Brotherhood men went into the conference firm in their determination not to accept arbitration under the Newlands act, which they contend always has furnished arbitrators before whom the men did not have an unprejudiced opportunity.

There were some indications that the President, recognizing that view, might propose a special arbitration before a board of twelve members on which the four great Brotherhoods could be represented.

The President's plan was to appeal to managers and men on the highest patriotic grounds to find a way to compose their differences without a strike.

A. B. Garretson, speaking for the Brotherhoods said the men were through with the proposition of arbitrating under the Newlands act. Previous arbitrations under that law, he reiterated, had demonstrated that the neutral arbitrators held the balance of power. He declared that any special arbitration into which the men might agree to enter would have to make provision for an extension of those arbitrations to give the men what they considered a fair chance.

"The chief objection to the existing form of arbitration on the part of the Brotherhoods," said Garretson today, "centers on the difficulty that has been experienced in selecting neutral arbitrators who could do justice to the cause of the men. In the past there have been mutual arbitrators of high standing and intelligence such as John H. Finley of New York and Seth Low, former mayor. No matter how honest their intentions they could not bring to bear on the questions at issue the interest and the direction of our great industries, while Low, though honest, was surely influenced by the fact that he is a large owner of stocks and bonds."

The appointment of neutral arbitrators in the past under the provisions of the Newlands act have damned arbitration as a practical proposition in the minds of the men.

Judge Chambers conferred with President Wilson for some time and arranged for the conferences.

President Wilson cancelled a long list of engagements in order to give all his time to the situation.

Mayor Sperry Dead

Mayor E. F. Sperry died at his home on East Pine street Sunday, August 13, at 3 p. m. He had been unconscious for several days. The cause of his death was Bright's disease. The funeral will be held from the residence Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and will be conducted by Dean Henry R. Remsen of St. Luke's cathedral. For more than a year the mayor had been in a poor state of health and recently had suffered several severe spells which confined him to bed. His last illness was of about three weeks' duration, and followed his return from a trip to Demorest, Ga., whither he went in hope that the change would prove beneficial. His only surviving blood relatives are nieces and nephews, children of a sister who lived in Connecticut. He is survived by his wife. They had no children.

Red Davis, the efficient sporting editor of The Herald has lost his job as umpire but is now keeping the score where he can also keep an eye on the players and give The Herald a more detailed account of how Orlando lost the game.

ANOTHER FLOOD

Sweeps Parts of North and South Carolina

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 15.—Daylight found the inhabitants of the Knoxville and Seneca valleys in South Carolina still awake, anxiously awaiting the onset of the flood waters.

boomed last night by the breaking of the great dam at Lake Toxaway, N. C. War signs of the floods are seen in the form of a great army of broken trees, walls, chimneys and Anderson counties, enabling dwellers in the lowlands to prepare to move if necessary.

The collapse of the dam released a lake which covered 550 acres to an average of thirty feet in depth, but so far as known no lives were lost. At Lake Toxaway village, a noted summer resort, only minor damage was reported. A spring seeping the foundation of the stone and earth structure is believed to have caused the collapse. The water's course through North Carolina ran through an almost uninhabited section of Transylvania county. Early today no reports of damage had been received, but there was little doubt that crops suffered severely. Preparations were made by industrial plants in South Carolina to combat the force of the flood. Gangs were busy strengthening dams and otherwise preparing for high waters.

The known property damage today was $50,000—the cost of the dam. This, however, is certain to be greatly increased when full reports are in.

Anderson, S. C., Aug. 15.—Water released when the Toxaway dam broke last night reached Portman dam on the Seneca river ten miles west of here at 9:30 o'clock this morning. An hour earlier flood struck the Blue Ridge Railway crossing and continued to rise for some time afterward. No great damage has been done or is expected in this section.

H. A. Morrison of DeLand was in the city yesterday greeting his many friends. Mr. Morrison was formerly in the meat business here and thinks there is no place just like Sanford.
