CLYDE LEE... Alive in prison

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

A convicted robber from Tampa with reported Mafia connections and convicted Central Florida Crime Czar Harlan "The Colonel" Blackburn have been charged with two 1971 assassination attempts on Clyde Lee, Blackburn's one-time bolita lieutenant.

The asthmatic 37-year-old nephew of Tampa underworld figure Santo Trafficante, authorities said, remained in Seminole County jail this morning under $100,000 bond on charges of assault to murder Lee in a telephone booth assassination attempt June 11, 1971 on SR 434 at Interstate Four.

Sam Cagnina was arrested late Tuesday night at his 1618 Snow Ave. home in Tampa by Florida Department of Law Enforcement agents accompanied by Seminole state attorney's investigator Jack Fulemwidder. When Cagnina was unable to post the bond at Hillsborough County Jail he was allowed to pick up asthma medicine at a drug store before agents whisked the six-foot, 270 pound suspect to the Seminole jail at Sanford.

Blackburn, serving a federal prison sentence at a Springfield, Mo., hospital facility, is charged also with assault to murder Lee and conspiracy.

Authorities said Cagnina is tentatively scheduled for arraignment in circuit court at Sanford Monday. It is not yet known when Blackburn will be brought to Sanford by federal agents.

State agents were reported today to be forwarding warrants on Blackburn to federal authorities.

President Will Speak At FTU

President Nixon

By CHRIS NELSON
Herald Staff Writer

FTU—President Richard Nixon will definitely address the 1973 graduation class here Friday morning, it was announced today by the FTU President Charles Millican.

However, Millican said, it is not known whether the President will arrive in time for the 9 a.m. procession of graduates, as White House sources indicated an 11 a.m. arrival time from the nation's capital.

Millican, who said he was "delighted to be bumped" as the scheduled commencement speaker, said he had no indications what the President will talk about to the graduates.

Millican would not comment on reports from Washington that the President is seeking a forum to comment on his Administration's troubles, saying "I have not talked with the President, and his people have not indicated anything to me of his subject."

Millican made his announcement at an 11:30 a.m. press conference behind the FTU administration building, noting his remarks constitute the official announcement of the President's decision to visit the six-year-old university.

Although U.S. Rep. Lou Frey announced Tuesday the President would be flying to Central Florida, Millican said the only notice to be issued in Washington today would be a typewritten one on the White House press bulletin board.

Millican said the President's surprise decision to make the commencement address apparently stemmed from an invitation issued two years ago, but rejected at the time because of the President's heavy schedule.

County Schools Get Food Talk

By JEAN PATTISON
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole school officials and the school board met Wednesday morning to hear a report on a proposed central food preparation facility for Seminole county schools.

Responsible for the investigation into existing facilities and recommendations for alternative planning is Project ANSER, (Advanced Nutrition Services and Educational Research) under the direction of Bob Avril. Five Central Florida counties are participating in Project ANSER, including Seminole.

Project consultants were Food Science Associates, New York, directed by Guy E. Livingston, who presented a progress report and recommendations for Seminole's facility at the meeting.

County Supt. Bud Laver said a decision will have to be made soon on the type of facility required in the county, because it must be known whether kitchen facilities should be included in the new Lake Howell high school, expected to be completed by February 1974.

Two alternatives are available: system 'A' would involve a central food preparation facility (CFPF) distributing frozen and chilled food directly to all schools. Preservers, refrigerators and ovens would have to be present in all schools under this system.

System 'B' will mean sending food from a CFPF to schools that already have kitchen facilities. These schools would then heat food and distribute it to satellite schools.

The menu was of primary importance in determining the kind of facility required, said Livingston.

The proposed menu meets the one-third daily nutrition requirement for school age children, said Livingston, and would be organized on a six week menu cycle.

Costs of labor, equipment and food had been carried out; consideration given to how food would be prepared; and a selection of equipment made, reported Livingston.

Project ANSER is sponsored by the State of Florida Department of Education Food and Nutrition Services, Washington, D.C. Participating counties are Seminole, Putnam, Flagler, St. Johns and Volusia.

Religious Suit Sent Back To Florida

By GUY COATES
Associated Press Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A group of parents in Orange County contend that religion is trampling their constitutional rights. But a federal appeals court says there isn't enough information on hand to rule on the contention.

The 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals Tuesday sent the case back to a U. S. district judge in Florida, asking him to gather more details.

The case involves 39 parents who complain that daily opening exercises conducted in the public school system constitute a religious observance, thus infringing on their guarantees under the First Amendment.

In addition, the parents contend that the system has participated in the distribution of Gideon Bibles to students on campuses.

The parents also claim that the Florida statute requiring the teaching of "Christian virtues" is unconstitutional.

The lower court had dismissed their claims, concluding that the school's activities are not inconsistent with constitutional standards and that a three-judge panel was not required on the issue of the state statute.

But, said the 5th Circuit, the judge made no findings of fact as to the nature of the opening devotional nor did he furnish any guide as to the extent of the school system's participation in distributing Bibles.

"Thus, on the record before us, we cannot determine whether or not the practices are prohibited by the Constitution," said the 5th Circuit.

In the course of their appeal, the parents also asked for a three-judge panel to rule on the constitutionality of requiring the teaching of Christian virtues.

But the 5th Circuit said that the lower court was correct in denying the request.

"...the complaint does not raise a substantial constitutional question requiring the convening of a three-judge court," said the 5th Circuit.

The appeals court gave the lower court directions "to bring the record up to date and make additional findings of fact and conclusions of law."

Porno Ordinance Slapped By Lawsuit

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Owners of an Altamonte Springs bookstore and two clerks arrested on charges of promoting obscene material filed a civil suit in circuit court at Sanford Tuesday against Sheriff John Polk and the county commission seeking to have portions of Seminole's new obscenity ordinance declared unconstitutional.

Robert W. Pope, St. Petersburg attorney for Arno Enterprises Inc., owners of Olympiad Book Store at Semoran Boulevard and Brewer Street, alleges two sections of the ordinance enacted May 15 lack clarity, are unreasonable, arbitrary, capricious and not reasonably related to the public health, safety, morals or general welfare.

The suit asks two sections of the ordinance be declared unconstitutional in its application to the book store owners, clerks and their patrons. If the court finds the sections unconstitutional the suit asks for temporary or permanent injunctions to prevent "proceeding further in prosecuting the plaintiffs or their customers."

Friday and Saturday sheriff's vice agents arrested Terry Allen Gillin, 25, Altamonte Springs and Reldon Lee Moore, 21, Casselberry, for promoting obscene materials. The clerks posted $100 each and were released from county jail. They are scheduled for arraignment in county court June 15, according to the court clerk.

The lawsuit alleges Polk threatened to continue arresting the plaintiffs and subject the plaintiffs to a "multiplicity of suits."

County Atty. Thom Rumberger said Tuesday he has 20 days from time Polk and county commissioners are served with the complaint to file answer with the court.

The civil action says this is "causing irreparable harm to a lawful business and unless the circuit court grants relief will subject the plaintiffs to a 'multiplicity of suits.'"

Wilson said Tuesday "an investigation is going on at the housing authority but it's not of me or the operation of the authority since I've been here."

He declined further comment.

City and county investigators have been seen frequently at the SHA office in recent weeks.

Friday the Rev. G.M. Eubanks, chairman of the Tenants Council, was arrested by Sheriff's Sgt. Oscar Redden Jr. at the office and charged with disorderly conduct.

Eubanks said he had been asking SHA personnel why officers were at the office and Redden told him he (Eubanks) was interfering with an investigation.

Eubanks posted $100 bond and was released from county jail shortly after his arrest.

While Eubanks was being booked at the jail the Housing Authority Board met in special meeting and voted to evict Eubanks from a low-rent public housing apartment.

SHA chairman John Smith said Eubanks is being notified to vacate the apartment by June 30. Eubanks said he'll fight the eviction.

State Inspector Killed By Insecticide Spray

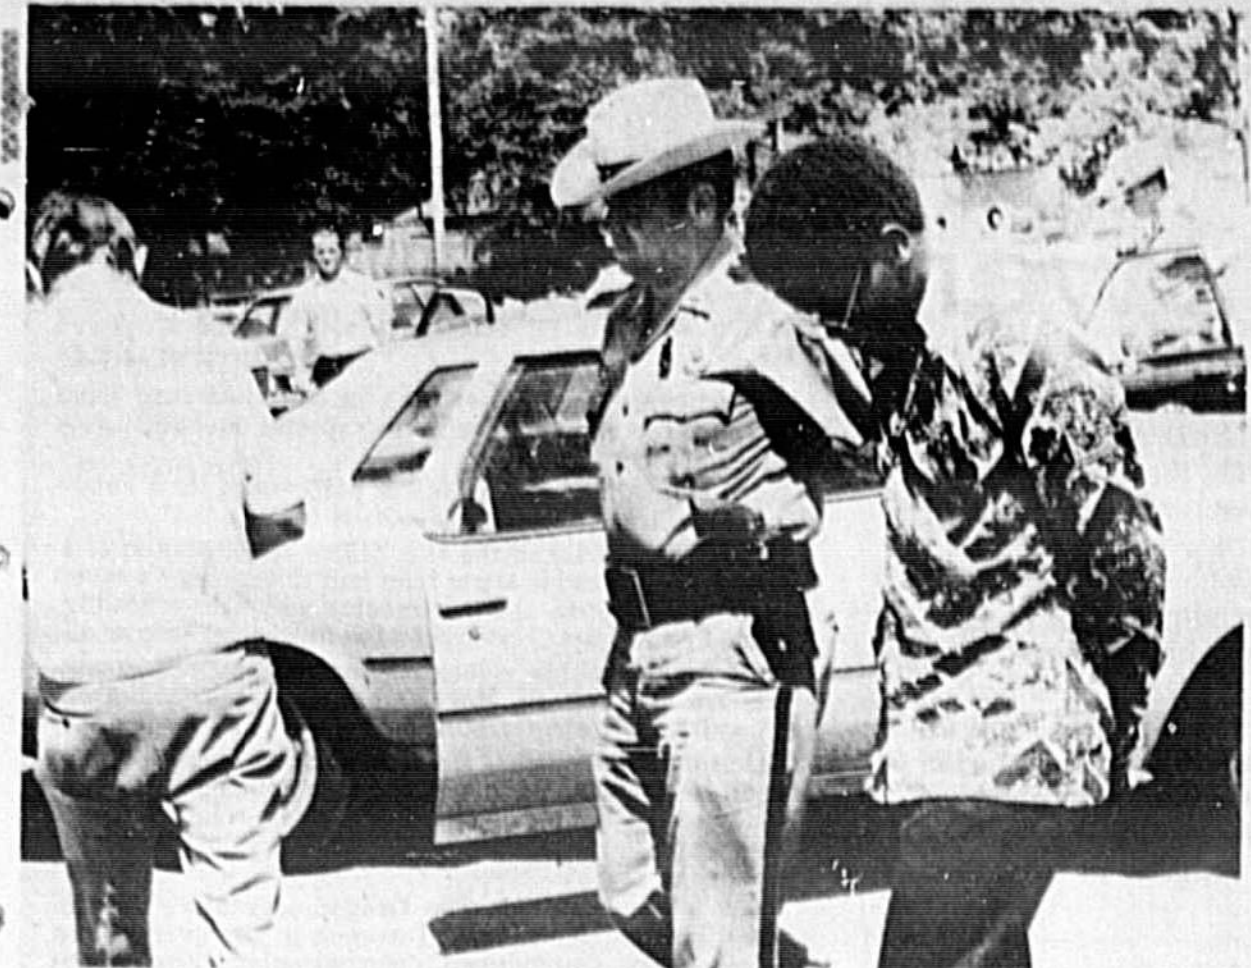

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A physician says a state fruit and vegetable inspector with emphysema died from breathing pesticide sprayed from an airplane on the celery field where he was working.

Warner, who signed the death certificate at Ocala's Monroe Memorial Hospital, said he diagnosed pesticide poisoning. He had been confirmed by Dr. John Davies of Miami from autopsy samples.

Warner said another inspector working with Reitz also became ill but did not require hospitalization.

"Both had emphysema and should not have been around pesticides," she said, adding that she would turn her final report over to the state auditor.

Four Arms, Four Legs Birth Defect Is Defeated

MIAMI (AP) — Baby Joe was born with four arms and four legs, a monstrous condition so rare that just 23 cases have been documented since 1860. But today, at 16 months of age, Joe, with his fluffy blond hair and bright brown eyes, is nearly normal, doctors say.

The two, alias Joan and Mike, were just 21. But they had planned for the baby since their mother wanted to be awake for the baby's birth.

Guard Told To Probe Cross-Burning Incident

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Reubin Askew has asked the Florida National Guard to investigate a cross-burning incident that four black guardsmen say was part of harassment by white soldiers during training exercises last week at Camp Blanding.

A Guard spokesman originally termed the incident "horseplay." "I wasn't any horseplay," said Pfc. Alan Gaines, one of the black soldiers. "No way. You don't horseplay in that manner."

The four black guardsman, the only blacks in the 149-man company, told authorities some white soldiers said they were members of the Ku Klux Klan. Following the incident, the four, three of them Vietnam veterans, were moved to a nearby motel for three nights. Gaines said the other three men, who were not available Tuesday for comment, were Spec. 4 Larry Adams and Nathaniel Devoe, both of Cocoa, and Parnell Irwin of Lake Wales.

$10 Million Tax Liens Hit Turner

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Tax liens totalling $10 million have been filed by the Internal Revenue Service against businessman Glenn W. Turner, his wife, brother and a company he founded, Kosco Interplanetary Inc.

Federal agents Tuesday filed $1 mill. on worth of liens in Orange County Circuit Court against Turner, 38, and his wife, Alice, for back taxes for the years 1969, 1970 and 1971.

Blackburn Charged With Try On Lee's Life

Blackburn is in federal prison at Springfield, Mo., serving a total of 22 years on interstate gambling, income tax evasion and conspiracy convictions. Lee, known in Seminole during the last decade as a swinging bolita figure, is serving a five-year state prison sentence for a 1971 gambling conviction. Lee was released from jail at Jacksonville March 18, 1971 on a $100,000 appeal bond. Charges filed by Seminole-Brevard State Atty. Abbott Herring Tuesday allege that Blackburn hired Cagnina the next day to murder Lee, and that the trio met in a parking area adjacent to the Semoran North Apartments in south Seminole. Herring said Blackburn left and Cagnina "fired a pistol repeatedly at Lee."

HUNDREDS TURN OUT TO PAY LAST RESPECTS TO GILBERTS

OVER 100 LAW enforcement officers from a dozen departments around Central Florida paid final respects to Hirschel and Evonne Gilbert Tuesday, a Sanford policeman and his wife who died in a Saturday night accident south of Sanford when their car was hit by another car being chased by police. Police are shown in salute position as mourners leave the funeral home after services. Shown walking through the line of officers for three counties are Mr. and Mrs. Pete Knowles, Knowles, city manager, was one of several city officials at the services.

Jacksonville March 18, 1971 on a $100,000 appeal bond. Charges filed by Seminole-Brevard State Atty. Abbott Herring Tuesday allege that Blackburn hired Cagnina the next day to murder Lee, and that the trio met in a parking area adjacent to the Semoran North Apartments in south Seminole. Herring said Blackburn left and Cagnina "fired a pistol repeatedly at Lee."

Authorities weren't notified of gangland assassination attempt and Lee denied later to reporters that he had been wounded. However, reliable sources told the Herald Tuesday that Lee was grazed on the head by one of the bullets and his clothing riddled with bullet holes before he rammed the gunman's car with his own and fled the parking lot.

The charge filed in circuit court by Herring Tuesday, five days before the statute of limitations expires negating prosecution, alleges Blackburn, between March 19 and June 11, 1971, procured a rifle from an associate, William A. "Willie" Fox, to be used in another attempt to murder Lee.

Herring said June 11, 1971 Blackburn contacted Lee and told him to call him (Blackburn) from a telephone booth at a service station on SR 434 near the I-4 interchange west of Gainesville.

Authorities have been mum on identities of two other men who were seen in the car with the man who shot Lee.

Witnesses said at the time a rifle was pointed out the car window at Lee but wasn't fired.

Sources today told The Herald that the rifle, allegedly the one Fox furnished Blackburn, was jammed and wouldn't fire.

Lee's $100,000 appeal bond on the January 1971 lottery conviction was revoked after the

Legislative Lobbyists Are Paid By Taxpayers

SEMINOLE Junior College art student Randy Smith (r) presents his prize winning drawing to Dr. Earl Weldon, college president. The drawing, utilizing the technique of pointillism, won best-of-show in the annual juried student art exhibit and will become a part of the college permanent collection.

By TOM RAUM Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — If you're wondering who pays the salaries of most legislative lobbyists, wonder no longer — you do.

Lobbyists for governmental agencies this year clearly outnumbered lobbyists for the traditional special interests. And in the dying days of the 1973 session, they proved fairly successful.

For instance, lobbyists for Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Comer managed to have rushed through both houses a bill transferring all milk inspection duties to him. In the past, milk inspections had been conducted jointly by the Agriculture and Health Departments and it was one of those perennially controversial issues.

However, this year supporters of Comer's bill waited until the last minute, then slipped it through both houses virtually unnoticed in the hectic final days when votes fly and debate is scant.

Gov. Reubin Askew's lobbyists were also busy during the last week of the session. Sometimes as many as four separate Askew aides were seen standing outside the Senate office building, lobbying lawmakers. Some members of the state Cabinet were seen talking to lobbyists during the session. Howard Friedman, a lobbyist for the Department of Education, says the only reason that governmental lobbyists seem more prolific this session is because "it's a coasting session" for the lobbyists representing big business, race tracks, liquor interests, banks banks and the other special interests.

"They're all here," he said. "They're just not as visible. They're not running around making a lot of noise because it isn't a taxing session."

Named last week as an "honorary" member of the Dade County legislative delegation because of his "liberalism," Sen. W.D. Childers, D-Pensacola, says one of the first things he'll do is bring his new constituency to his hometown.

"I'll put them on display in the county fair," he said. "People will come from miles around to see what they look like."

The attempt by Dade senators to have Childers designated as a delegations mate was a practical joke. Childers is probably the most conservative Democrat in the Senate.

AROUND THE CLOCK

I've heard it all, now... A local businessman called to tell of the irate woman who wanted to clear a delinquent bill with a check, providing he submitted a detailed written account of all the approximate $15 check would cover.

He declined.

She threatened to call the police and "sue him" cause he refused to accept the check under those circumstances. (I don't blame him...)

My how the times have changed.

Had a woman caller tell me that she tried to get an appointment with a local dentist and was told "unless you have your own phone we cannot schedule you."

Excuse me, but I don't get it! What does having a phone got to do with whether or not you can get your teeth repaired?

How many times have you heard others talk of going to Australia?

Since World War II, three million people from 60 countries have migrated to Australia. But one million of these have not yet become citizens, and in the last six years, between 21 and 24 per cent have departed.

Allocation Of Fuel Mandated

By JOHN LENGEL Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spurred by reported fuel shortages, the Senate has passed legislation requiring President Nixon to develop a mandatory national fuel-allocation formula.

By an 85-0 vote Tuesday, the Senate adopted Sen. Henry M. Jackson's proposal and rejected the administration's voluntary guidelines for oil and gas distributors.

The bill is the first major energy-crisis legislation to pass the Senate.

Jackson, D-Wash., said the vote "represents a new mood of urgency in the Congress that recognizes that there are critical shortages."

The bill was fought by the Nixon administration, but even many conservative and consistent White House supporters deserted party ranks.

The measure is designed to ensure that all parts of the country and all groups of consumers receive fair shares of available fuel products. It also aims to prevent major oil companies from shutting off all fuel supplies to independent refiners and distributors.

The administration has issued guidelines following the same principles, but those to give them on a voluntary basis.

Sen. William Saxton, R-Ohio, said he doubts the effectiveness of even a mandatory allocation formula. Congress itself may "have to establish priorities," he said.

That could mean determining who gets fuel—the Air Force or private planeowners, commercial barge captains or pleasure boaters, farmers or commuters.

Meanwhile, Jackson said he hopes the House will act on the bill before the August recess.

Other energy measures pending before Congress would create a national fuel reserve, accelerate energy research, lax our horsepower, lower highway speed limits, and speed up pipeline construction.

In a related development Tuesday, the American Automobile Association said its survey of 1,439 gasoline stations showed that the Southeast and Northwest have the tightest fuel supplies. The AAA reported after the first of a series of weekly polls of stations along major U.S. travel routes.

Low Fat Recipes That Also Cut Your Meal Costs

Copley News Service

(1) TUNA RING OR LOAF
 2 cans (7 oz) Tuna
 1 cup water
 1/4 cup dry bread crumbs
 1/4 cup cooked green peas
 One-third cup nonfat dry milk solids
 1/4 cup sliced almonds
 2 egg whites
 2 Tablespoons finely chopped onion
 2 Tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
 2 Tablespoons finely chopped pimiento
 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Combine tuna, water, crumbs, peas, dry milk, almonds, egg whites, green pepper, pimiento, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper. Spoon into a well oiled 8-inch ring mold or loaf. Bake in 350 degree oven for 45 minutes. Turn out at once. Makes 6 servings.

(2) CHICKEN POT PIE
 1 1/2 cups skim milk
 4 Tablespoons flour
 1 teaspoon salt
 2 Tablespoons polyunsaturated oil
 1/4 teaspoon tarragon
 1/4 teaspoon parsley
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 3 cups cooked chicken, cubed
 1/4 cup (8-oz. can) cooked white onions
 1/4 cup cooked carrot slices
 1/2 cup cooked lima beans
 1/2 cup cooked green peas
 1/4 cup flour
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 3 Tablespoons polyunsaturated margarine
 2 Tablespoons water

Combine milk, 4 Tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 tarragon, parsley and pepper. Beat until smooth. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil. Fold in chicken, onions, carrots, beans and peas. Pour into a 1 1/2 quart casserole. Combine 1/4 cup oil with salt. Cut in margarine with pastry blender, or w/ knives. Add water and blend in with fork. Roll out to over casserole. Place over casserole; pinch edges firmly edge of casserole. Prick pastry top with fork. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 20 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

(3) CORN MUFFINS
 1 cup flour
 1/4 cup yellow or white corn meal
 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1 egg
 1 cup skim milk
 1/4 cup polyunsaturated oil
 2 Tablespoons sugar (optional)

Preheat oven to 400-425 degrees. Sift the flour, corn meal, salt, baking powder and sugar together into a mixing bowl. Add the egg, milk and oil. Stir quickly and lightly until mixed. Do not beat. Dip 1/2 batter from the bowl into lined muffin tins. Fill each up two-thirds full. Bake for 10 minutes, or until golden brown. Yield: 12 muffins.

(4) NO EGG MUFFINS
 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1 cup buttermilk
 3 Tablespoons polyunsaturated oil

In a bowl thoroughly mix flour, sugar, baking soda and salt. Add buttermilk and oil and stir just until dry ingredients are moistened. Fill oiled medium-sized muffin cups about two-thirds full. Bake in 400 degree oven for 25 minutes or until done. Immediately remove from muffin cups; serve hot. Yield: 12 muffins.

JELLY MUFFINS
 Fill greased medium-sized muffin cups about one-third full. Place 1 teaspoon jelly in the center of each, then fill cups about two-thirds full with remaining batter. Bake as directed above.

It's What We Don't Know About Food That Hurts Us

By GAYNOR MADDOX
 Good health is not a right. It is a shared responsibility. That responsibility begins with the individual's own health behavior. And food, C. A. Hoffman, M.D., president of the American Medical Association emphasizes, plays an important role. "The health habits of most Americans are so poor that this nation is suffering from an acute case of 'people pollution,'" he says. "If all Americans could be convinced to adopt a healthful style of life-eating correctly, not smoking, controlling pollutants and driving safely-the effect on the nation's health would be far more dramatic than an increase of thousands of new physical education teachers." In line with such thinking, The Blue Cross Food and Fitness Association has just produced a fat booklet that should sharpen the public's awareness of how we have flouted our food, why we're failing to take advantage of physical education, why we don't take care of ourselves. Frederick J. Stare, M.D., of Harvard's School of Public Health, asking why we are flunking food, comments: "The average homemaker's first interest is in pleasing her family. Next comes keeping expenditures down (yet in practice, she spends more each year on expensive convenience and novelty foods). Unfortunately, nutritional considerations rank as a poor third of her interests."

Jean Mayer, also a Harvard nutritionist, says in the booklet that we are in the grip of a worldwide epidemic of cardiovascular disease. He points to diets high in saturated fats and also to lack of exercise in making one susceptible to heart disease. "Obesity seems to increase the risk of heart attack, particularly obesity in combination with high blood pressure, high levels of cholesterol in the blood or heavy cigarette smoking," he warns.

The typical American mother today doesn't know what her family is eating. Actually she has ceased to manage the household. She just restocks supplies and fixes the meals that account for only one-third to one-half of her family's daily intake. Responsibility for providing food is shifting from the family to the food service institution and the manufacturer. It will take a great deal of nutrition education before the average housewife can judge what nutritional value is in the myriad convenience, snack and "junk" foods. Yet from these foods, mostly, will come the elements from which her children, her own and her husband's well-being and strength must come.

"Food and Fitness" awakens people to their carelessness or ignorance about the influence of food and exercise on their bodies. It illustrates, in color, "Food and Fitness" can be ordered free from your local branch of the Blue Cross Association. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Brunch Features Muffins

By CECILY BROWNSTONE, Associated Press Food Editor

When we noticed that Schraft's restaurants were featuring an interesting brunch recipe, it's called Canadian Sunrise and Schraft's obliged by giving us the directions for it. Here they are in home-style size.

CANADIAN SUNRISE

- English muffins
- Pimento Cheese, see below
- Butter
- slices Canadian bacon, cooked according to package directions
- eggs, fried sunny side up

Split English muffins with fork tines and gently pull apart; toast. Spread each top half of muffins with 2 tablespoons Pimento Cheese; set aside.

Spread each bottom half of muffins with butter, then top with 2 slices of Canadian bacon and a fried egg; keep warm.

Broil pimento-cheese-topped muffin halves 4 inches from high heat until cheese melts. Serve at once, placing the bacon-egg-topped muffin half and the pimento-cheese topped muffin half side by side. Makes 4 servings.

PIMENTO CHEESE

- cup grated (medium-line) sharp cheddar cheese
- tablespoon minced canned drained pimiento
- teaspoons real mayonnaise
- teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Mix together all the ingredients. Makes about 1 cup. Refrigerate leftover Pimento Cheese for later use.

400 recipes are given in "Cecily Brownstone's Associated Press Cook Book" available by sending $4.95 (check or money order made payable to "The Associated Press") in care of AP COOKBOOK, Box 64, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.

To blanch almonds just cover them with boiling water and let them stand for a few minutes. Drain the nuts and then slip off the brown skins by pressing each nut between thumb and forefinger.

Lemon juice and butter make a good baste for broiled chicken. But if you want to vary the basic mixture, add a little soy sauce and a pinch of sugar.

Highlight Chicken With Seedless Grapes And Peaches.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Seedless grapes benefit chicken. So here's an easy-to-make skillet dish that you might like to try. Fresh peaches are added to the grapes and so much the better.

There are two kinds of seedless green grapes. One is called Pezette and is on hand from late May through June. These grapes are round and have a frosty-white color, and it's from their shape and color that they get their name. The other variety is called Thompson and is available from June to October. These light green grapes are medium to large and their flavor is sweet and delicious.

CHICKEN WITH GRAPES AND PEACHES

1/4 cup dry white wine
1 teaspoon sugar
1 cup seedless green grapes
2 large fresh peaches, peeled and pitted and halved
2 tablespoons flour

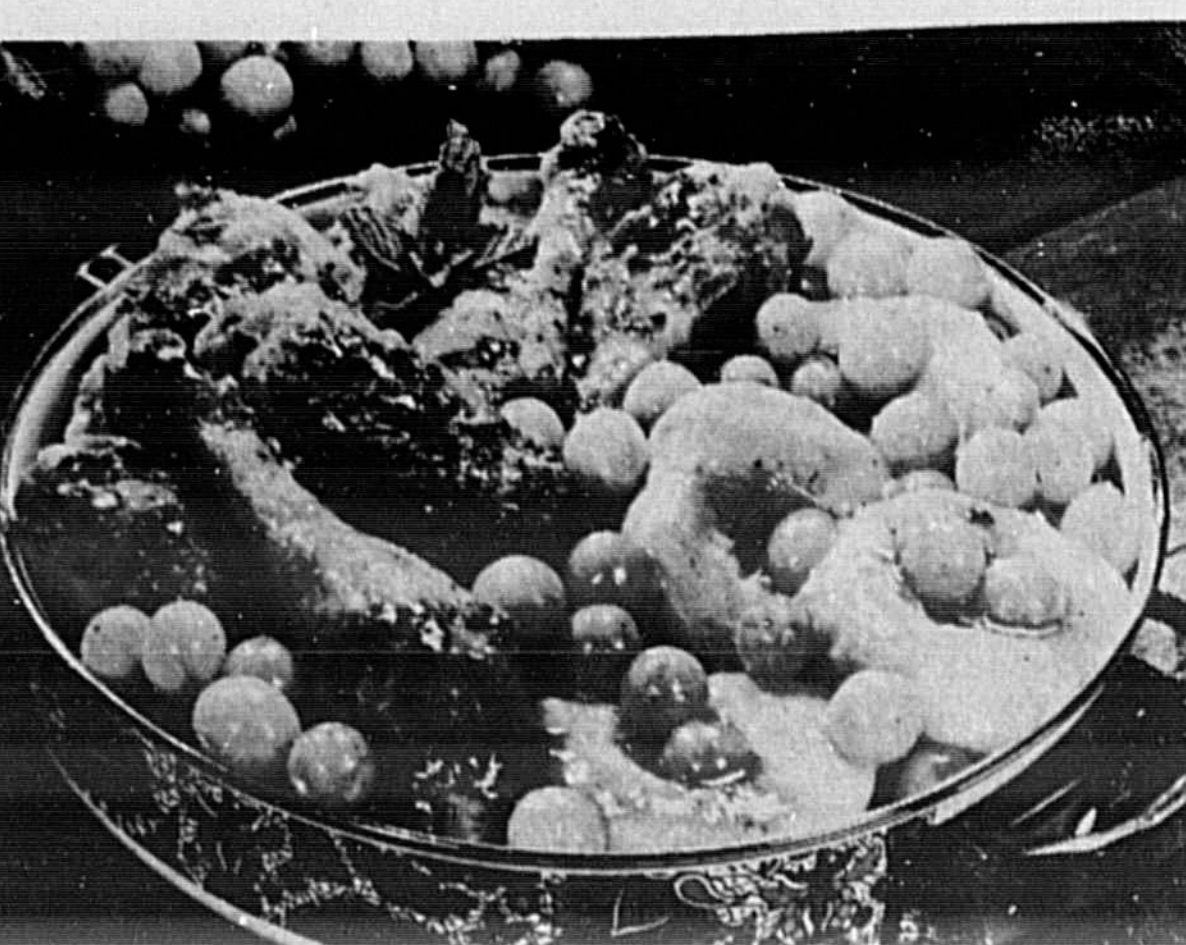

1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1 small broiler-fryer chicken (about 2 1/2 pounds), cut up
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 clove garlic, peeled and halved
Pour the wine into a bowl;

add the sugar and stir to dissolve; add grapes and peaches and let marinate.

On wax paper stir together the flour, salt, paprika and ginger; roll chicken in flour mixture.

In a 12-inch skillet heat butter, oil and garlic; discard garlic. Add chicken, skin side up; cover skillet and continue frying until bottom side is brown and chicken is tender—another 15 minutes. Remove chicken.

Pour marinade from fruit into skillet; with a wooden spoon over low heat stir to get up drippings. Return chicken, skin side up, to skillet and add grapes and peaches; simmer, covered, until fruit is hot. Makes 4 servings.

DINNER FARE—Seedless green grapes and peaches are added to chicken that is cooked in a skillet.

'Expensive' Means Quality

By MARY LESTER
Copley News Service

Any fruit that advertises "Make the most expensive wine in America" is certain to get my curiosity aroused—if only in the expectation of being around personnel who aren't perpetually penny-pinching.

Inglenook is the winery that makes this expensive "most expensive" statement, and after looking into the matter, I can assert that quality-wise there are the strongest of facts backing up the claim. Price-wise, I know of other wineries charging more per bottle.

I purposely hadn't visited Inglenook for nine years. I thought the wines had lost their magic, the extraordinary attributes that had made Inglenook, since the 1880s, a winery that produced liquid elixir.

Driving from the highway into Inglenook's estate is an experience in itself; there is a fantastic entrance with acres of vineyards on both sides. The posted signs say five miles per hour, which is still too fast to enjoy nature's beautiful vista.

Definitely I took the tour and, like anyone else who has already taken it about 100 tours of different wineries, found it to be a tour; I wasn't expecting otherwise.

The wines were a different story; in fact, they were a revelation. Most all of Inglenook's wines are Estate Bottled and Vintaged. (Estate Bottled means that all of the wine in the bottle was produced from grapes grown at the winery named and bottled by the vineyard owner. In Europe this would denote chateau bottled. Vintaged means that all of the wine in the bottles must come from grapes 100 per cent grown and fermented in that year.)

Many of the so-called premium wines sold in today's market are given an average aging of one year for whites and two for reds and sell at about the same price as Inglenook wines. When tasting the wines, it is obvious that Inglenook follows through with their belief in giving approximately four years of aging to the reds and two to the whites.

Inglenook has half gallon Vintage labeled bottles and, of all things, they sell their less expensive wines (blends of fine grapes), called Naville wines, in magnums. Frankly, the container alone is a collector's piece.

For Good Health, Keep Blood Sugar On The Level

By MARION WELLS
Copley News Service

Have you been completely tired out? Are you plagued with such symptoms as sharp hunger, uncontrollable yawning, a numbness or tingling in lips and fingers, jumpiness, trembling, excessive perspiration and rapid heartbeat? Do you find it hard to stay awake during the day and difficult to fall asleep at night? If you're feeling "low," maybe you are. These are just a few of the signs which may accompany the condition known as "low blood sugar" (hypoglycemia).

Because hypoglycemia can mimic so many other conditions, its sufferers have frequently been treated for other problems by mistake, point out Alan Nittler, M.D. Yet hypoglycemia can be reversed if it is identified and properly treated.

It takes a trained physician and special tests to determine whether or not you have hypoglycemia, and to find out whether it is due to some disease or defect in organs or glands which affect blood sugar levels or it has been brought on by environmental factors. Charles Weller, M.D., suggests that you help your physician by noting on paper what symptoms you have, what food you consumed before you felt ill and what, if anything, you ate that relieved the discomfort.

You can decrease your chances of getting hypoglycemia by taking preventive measures to deal with such potential precipitating environmental factors as diet, stress and lack of sleep.

Dr. Nittler feels that malnutrition is often at the heart of the problem. He points out that malnutrition may trigger metabolic and glandular disturbances. It's interesting that historically, hypoglycemia has been associated with wartime conditions when food was hard to get and defeat seemed close at hand. Crash dieting has been blamed as a precipitating factor in hypoglycemia.

Paradoxically, although glucose is vital for body metabolism and is needed to turns. John Yudkin, M.D., points out that eating a lot of sugar, particularly at a time when there's nothing else in your stomach, to slow its absorption, may make you secrete too much insulin to metabolize it and send your blood sugar down below normal.

Some evidence indicates that if you keep eating large amounts of sugar, your pancreas may at least temporarily become "trigger happy" in secreting insulin.

Since many processed products contain sugar and have a long way to go before they reach your table, it's wise to emphasize fresh foods in your daily diet. Dr. Yudkin claims that our requirement for sugar can be met by what occurs naturally in food. Slow-burning carbohydrates will not cause the rapid shifts in blood sugar levels produced by synthetic sweets.

Since coffee, strong tea and cocoa are all capable of triggering a hypoglycemic attack and don't promote health, you may want to leave them out of your diet, especially if you are experiencing hypoglycemic symptoms.

There is a definite connection between alcohol and hypoglycemia, although the exact relationship has not yet been established. Alcohol, even in small amounts, can start a serious hypoglycemic reaction. If the victim is mistakenly looked upon and treated as though he is merely intoxicated, it may in some cases prove fatal, according to Dr. Weller. He suggests that if you or someone else reacts to alcohol by showing symptoms of low blood sugar, orange juice or some other sugar-containing substance should be administered. Unless a favorable response occurs within a few minutes, a transport oxygen to our brain and nervous system, under certain conditions sugar triggers hypoglycemic symp-

How to Beat the High Cost of Food

By AILEEN CLAIRE

Are you throwing money away when you clean and trim vegetables? Most of us do. Next time you have carrots, celery, lettuce, spinach, tomatoes don't throw the leaves or trimmed off parts away. Toss them into a soup pot with leftover bones saved from a meal of chicken, ham or steak. If you've squeezed a lemon or orange or grapefruit don't throw the skins away. Also toss them into the soup pot. Of course, wash all these ingredients thoroughly. By adding two or three bay leaves, some basil, salt and pepper to taste you have a hearty, beautiful clear soup once it is strained. For variety add rice, noodles or macaroni.

Confectioners' sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup ground blanched almonds
1 1/2 cups (about) flour
1/4 cup rum
Cream butter with 6 tablespoons confectioners' sugar and the salt. Add almonds and beat well. Gradually stir in enough flour to make a stiff dough. Mix in rum. Chill the dough about 20 minutes or use firm dough to shape. Using 1 tablespoon of the dough for each, roll into balls. Place balls, a few inches apart, on a lightly floured cookie sheet; bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until golden-brown on bottom—15 to 18 minutes. Cool slightly, then roll in confectioners' sugar—twice if necessary—to coat generously. Makes about 3 1/2 dozen.

First Impeachment Speech In House

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first House speech on possible Watergate-based impeachment proceedings against President Nixon lasted just six minutes before it was shot off by a quorum call. Rep. Paul N. McCloskey says he won't try to make the speech again.

But the debate will go on, the California Republican said. "It is going to take place across the country and in the Congress until this is resolved."

Rep. Earl F. Landgrebe of Indiana, a conservative Republican, silenced McCloskey's speech Wednesday night by forcing the House to adjourn for a day of a quorum.

McCloskey said the time for formal inquiry into House impeachment proceedings "seems almost at hand unless the President makes a full and fair disclosure of everything he knows and when he learned it."

If the President lays out the facts, said McCloskey, a liberal who tried to wrest the GOP nomination from Nixon last year, "I suspect that none of us wish to impeach the President or even inquire into the matter."

Landgrebe triggered a 40-minute parliamentary tangle by demanding a quorum for McCloskey's speech. That came near 9 p.m. after the House had finished its regular business and most members had gone home.

Only 152 members were still in the House, far short of the 218 quorum needed to stay in session.

When Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., moved that the doors be locked and members hauled back to the House chamber by the sergeant-at-arms, McCloskey himself moved to adjourn. That passed by voice vote.

His speech will be printed in full in the Congressional Record.

Landgrebe said if impeachment was going to be discussed, he wanted a majority there to hear it.

"I don't think any member of Congress—Republican, Democrat or Socialist—should be on the floor talking about impeachment without a quorum present," he said.

Recording Industry Bracing For Scandals

NEW YORK (AP)—The record industry is shuddering as reports surface of payola, drugs, an organized crime connection and misuse of funds.

A federal grand jury and offices of district attorneys in Manhattan and Los Angeles are looking into the music business. One recording industry figure has fallen, and people in the field see troubled days ahead.

"The reports say all record companies are being quietly investigated. I believe that is going to happen," said Herb Helman, head of public relations for RCA Records. "At this point, I think every company should take a very low profile."

The payola scandals of the late 1950s rocked the music world with public revelation that record company promotion men used money, liquor and free vacations to convince disk jockeys to play their records. Such exposure can increase sales.

The record companies and broadcasters insist such practices have ceased. But some reports indicate they persist with a new twist: cocaine and marijuana are sometimes the inducement now.

How widespread such activities are cannot be stated. But payola on a grander scale was reported this week by sources close to a federal grand jury meeting in Newark, N.J.

Those sources said David Wynshaw, until two months ago director of artist relations for Columbia Records, told members of a federal Organized Crime Strike Force that the company budgeted $250,000 a year for payoffs to promote Columbia's stable of black pop and rock singers.

Herald Survey

Due to the continuous controversy concerning the so-called "hot pursuit" (law enforcement officers chasing a speeding car at high speeds) the editors are asking our readers for their opinions.

Let your voice be heard. Check the appropriate box below and return to The Sanford Herald, 30 N. French Ave., 32771.

Police officers should purge a speeding car whenever they see someone violating the law, regardless of the speed involved.

Police officers should not pursue speeding cars, and should rely on roadblock or other tactics to apprehend the violators.

Watergate Committee To Question Sloan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Watergate committee today resumed questioning Hugh Sloan Jr., the former Nixon campaign treasurer who testified that he refused to lie or keep quiet about the money that paid for the wiretapping.

Also on today's witness list was Herbert L. Porter, who had been director of campaign scheduling. Sloan testified that he paid $100,000 in cash to Porter but Porter refused to tell him the purpose of the money, which allegedly went for political espionage.

As the committee resumed its televised hearings, special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox was seeking to block news coverage of future proceedings, a move likely to be opposed by committee Chairman Sam J. Ervin.

Cox has filed a motion asking U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica to order the Senate

Teachers' Pay Hike Bid Killed

By JEAN PATTESON

The request for a 24 per cent increase in base salary index for Seminole County teachers was termed "utterly ridiculous and insane" by School Board Chairman Allan Keeth at Wednesday night's meeting.

About 50 Seminole teachers, stunned with disappointment at the board's refusal to enter into collective bargaining negotiations, heard Seminole Education Association (SEA) spokesman Amadeo Nazario request the salary increase.

Nazario said the proposed $300 increase in base salary for 1973-74 was in no way compatible with soaring inflation and cost of living rates. "I don't see how we can attract qualified teachers if we won't pay them a decent salary," he said. "I am ashamed to say that even Lake County pays better than Seminole."

Nazario's charge that Seminole has a 50 per cent turnover of teachers annually was described as "impossible" by Ernie Cowley, assistant director of personnel. "I would estimate it to be between 15 and 20 per cent," said Cowley. "At most, 25 per cent."

"I don't feel we are asking for the moon," said Nazario. "We could have asked for 30, or even 100 per cent increase."

Keeth replied that if the board received any additional money he would not be reluctant to give a portion of it to teacher salaries. "It's a matter of establishing priorities," he said. "We expect a 35 per cent increase in utility rates from FPL, which will eat up some of our monies. We have to keep the schools open, first of all."

Keeth promised the board would "go back to the drawing board" with the problem and come up with a solution.

The question of collective bargaining, kicked back and forth between school board and SEA representatives for several months, was resolved for the time being in a position statement delivered by board member Mrs. Jean Bryant.

"After which neither we nor the school board will have any choice," he added.

The education system's policy on controversial issues also was amended after a proposal by Sims was accepted that all material concerning abortion and birth control be reviewed and approved by the board before being presented in schools.

The board accepted educational specifications for the board was seen willing to "establish policies and regulations which provide more acceptable avenues for employees to resolve grievances and to recommend more desirable working conditions."

Board Member Davis Sims proposed the statement be adopted in its entirety, emphasizing, "I want it to be clear our intention is to leave everyone open."

Board Member Bud Feather stressed he would "help establish a policy to have better rapport with personnel."

The feelings of many teachers present were contained in one teacher's comment, "A rip-off just another in a series of rip-offs."

Nazario said that because the collective bargaining bill did not pass the legislature, the supreme court would now set guidelines. "After which neither we nor the school board will have any choice," he added.

The statement concluded that the board was seen willing to "establish policies and regulations which provide more acceptable avenues for employees to resolve grievances and to recommend more desirable working conditions."

Sanford Schools Reap Lion's Revenue Share

By BOB LLOYD

Wednesday centered on another new elementary school and updating and repairing older schools, the majority of them in the Sanford area.

School Board Vice-Chairman Mrs. Jean Bryant proposed the money be used for a new central elementary facility in Sanford and a new county school administration building.

Board Member Davis Sims said there is a "dire need" for a new administration building. He said also another middle school is needed badly in southwest Seminole and this should be considered along with a new central elementary school in Sanford.

School Supt. William Lyster and W.A. Teague, assistant supt. and finance officer, agreed the "one shot" boost in state funds for school construction would be welcomed for additional repairs and possibly construction of a new elementary school.

"It's too early to say where the new elementary school would possibly go," Teague said.

The $1.3 million will be added to $5 million from the 4 mill school tax recently approved for the next two years by voters and $6 million the county will receive from a State Education Bond issue.

"We'll put the $1.3 million in next year's budget," Lyster said, "but its still too early for recommendations on where it will be spent."

Teague said he hopes to have more information on the state funding of Seminole schools for the 1973-74 fiscal year by next Wednesday's school board meeting.

Seminole is receiving $12.92 million in state school funding this year. Teague said, and his Tallahassee sources indicate state year funding will be $18.4 million for school operations under the new appropriations act.

The school board has already allotted the $11 million from the local tax and state bonds over the next two years for seven new schools and air conditioning of 12 schools, most of them in the Sanford area. The board set aside $300,000 for maintenance to bring old schools to good repair.

"With a new central elementary facility in Sanford we could consolidate Sanford Grammar, Southside and Hopper Elementary Schools and give the students the same advantages and type of facilities we now have in south Seminole," Mrs. Bryant said.

She said neither of the two projects she proposes are on the current priority list for capital outlay. "But if we built the new elementary in Sanford, used the old facilities for other uses and sold unneeded small parcels of property the board owns in the Sanford area I believe we could come out ahead."

School Chairman Allan Keeth and members Stuart Culpepper and R. G. Feather were not available to comment on the plan. "I believe we want to use the additional $1.3 million in capital outlay funds."
