Teen in serious condition

LONGWOOD - A teen-ager hurt in a three vehicle traffic accident Saturday night on S.R. 434 and Hwy 17-92 is in serious but stable condition at Orlando Regional Medical Center. David Hagan, 17, who was a passenger in a Toyoto truck that flipped over in the accident was thrown out of the vehicle and sustained head injuries. He was not wearing a seat belt. He had not regained consciousness as of late Tuesday afternoon. The teen driver of the truck has been cited for violation of right of way. Police said the driver had only had the standard transmission truck a week and lift the clutch instead of the brake at the intersection. The truck hit a car turning on to 17-92. The truck climbed over the rear of the car and flipped. skidded sideways and struck a third vehicle in a turning lane, according to Longwood Police Officer Chuck Kochanowski.

More prisoners may be released early; local police are concerned

By NICK PFEIFAUF Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Local law enforcement leaders are concerned over early prison releases for persons convicted of drug and property crimes.

In an effort to keep more dangerous criminals in prison, Corrections Secretary Harry Singletary said 5.241 lesser offenders must be made eligible for early release

Acting Sanford Police Chief Ralph Russell, Lake Mary Police Chief Richard Beary and Seminole County Sheriff Don Eslinger voiced their disapprovals this morning.

"It's time our whole prison system was reexamined," sald Russell, "The way this looks, punishment no longer fits the crime."

"When a person is put in fail," he said, "they should lose their rights, but they are ending upwith more rights than their victims."

Russell said between 80 and 85 percent of the people arrested by Sanford police, especially in connection with drug cases, have already been convicted of numerous offenses. "It's the people they are letting out of prison who are causing a great deal of the crime," Russell said, "and now they want to release even more. It just doesn't make sense."

Lake Mary Police Chief Richard Beary believes the problem could be alleviated by housing excess prisoners in tents and camps rather than releasing them. "It only makes sense that if it's good enough for our military forces, whom we are paying, it should be good enough to house criminals.

"We spend a great deal of time and effort in fighting crime," Beary said. "It's counter-See Release, Page 5A

Jury clears state officials

WEST PALM BEACH — A jury has cleared state transporta-tion officials of negligence in a 1988 crossover accident on Interstate 95 that spotlighted the debate over median barriers.

The panel deliberated for 80 minutes Monday following a weeklong trial to find the Department of Transportation was not responsible for the Palm Beach County accident that sent Eileen DeLong. 70, to the hospital with a ruptured artery in her DeLong's suit claimed the department failed "to correct a known defective and hazardous condition" by not installing median guardrails or barriers.

Her attorneys asked for $1 million in damages. DOT officials knew these kinds of accidents were happening on I-95, had done studies, and knew exactly what to do to minimize crossover accidents," Delong lawyer Charles Powers told the

Judge lifts curiew on girl

WEST PALM BEACH — A judge lifted the curfew imposed on a 16-year-old girl as part of her sentence for a car crash that killed five teen-agers.

Palm Beach Circuit Judge Robert-Parker said Tuesday he canceled the last six weeks of the curfew for Jamie Bardol because he cannot legally force a minor to serve that part of her sentence.

A private detective hired by the parents of some of the students killed had observed Bardol breaking the curfew, which required her to stay home at nights. She denied the charge.

In addition to the curfew, Bardol was fined $250, given 200 hours of community service and had her driver's license revoked for two years. She pleaded no contest to a charge of reckless driving.

The managers said they would try again Wednesday, but the tribe's spokesman, Bruce Rubin, said the response will be the U.S. District Judge Shelby Highsmith has twice ordered the tribe to comply with his ruling and said Monday he would begin levying civil contempt fines of $10,000 a day if the hall was not open Tuesday.

The tribal business council refuses to obey that order, Rubin

Reservation officers used squad cars and yellow police tape to block the driveway leading to the 57,000-square-foot bingo hall, which seats 2,000 people.

The tribe has attempted to cancel the management contract of Tamiami Partners Ltd. by claiming owners Mandel and Sisto have unspecified organized crime ties that prevent them from being licensed under new federal rules.

FBI planned for possible mass suicide in Texas

By CAROLYN SKORMECK Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON - The FBI planned for the possibility of mass suicide as it devised ways to end the 51-day standoff between federal agents and a religious cult near Waco, Texas, even though experts thought such a tragedy was unlikely to occur.

"We planned for possible suicide from the moment we developed a plan," FBI criminal division chief Larry Potts said Tuesday. But efforts to prevent massive self-inflicted deaths were complicated by the cult's armaments and its willingness to use them against federal agents who used tanks to fire tear gas into the Branch Davidian compound early Monday.

An estimated 86 cult members, including two dozen minors, died in a devastating fire hours later. Authorities said the Davidians ignited the inferno.

President Clinton on Tuesday ordered the Justice and Treasury departments to jointly investigate "whether anything could have been done differently" to avoid the flery end of the siege.

FBI officials said numerous experts had concluded that a imass suicide was unlikely reliances Attorney General Janet Reno used as she approved the FBI's tear-gassing plan late Sat-urday. But the agency was prepared for it anyway. Potts told a reporter.

"So the plan is, put (tear) gas in, open up exit places around that compound with the tanks so you start the confusion in there," he said. "If there is a mass suicide under way, you develop exits for people who tion't really want to participate."

That's ultimately quite close to what the FBI did Monday. At one point, it deliberately knocked down the front door that had appeared barricaded to ensure that people who wanted to leave could do so.

But the agents said they still were shocked when cult members set their compound ablase.

'We were all stunned," PBI Director William Sessions said in an interview Tuesday.

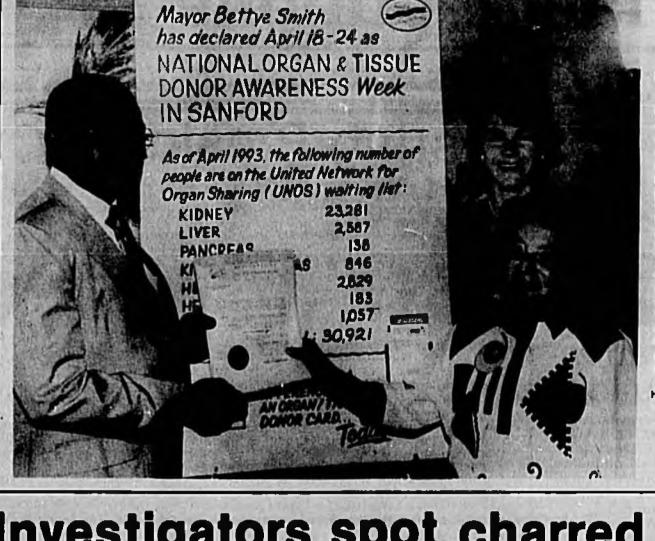

Every single indicator we had, people coming out, the letters of (cult leader David) Koresh himself, his utterances, those of his lawyers, those of our psychologists, our behavioral science people, of psycholinguists, of a psychiatrist maybe more than one psychiatrist — none of them felt that he was suicidal," Sessions said.

Clinton referred not to suicide but to murder Tuesday as he blamed Koresh for the mass deaths that concluded a standoff that had begun in bloodshed when federal Treasury agents tried to raid the compound Feb.

Koresh "killed those he controlled," said Clinton, while the FBI "made every reasonable effort to bring the pertious situation to an end without bloodshed and further loss of life."

Sessions said there was no evidence yet to confirm allegations that some cult members may have killed others as the compound went up in flames. either by gunfire or by poisoning children. He noted, however, that much of the compound remained too hot to investigate closely until mid-day Tuesday.

The government had sought experts' views about the likely reactions of Koresh and his followers to various law enforcement actions, and they "concluded further negotiations would not help," said Justice Department spokesman Carl Stern.

Investigators spot charred bodies

By JAIME ARON Associated Press Writer

WACO, Texas - Investigators spotted the charred bodies of children and adults in their first foray into the doomsday cult's funeral pyre but couldn't get a full look because of exploding ammunition in the smoldering ruins.

Meanwhile, federal agents whose attempt to arrest David Koresh nearly two months ago started the 51-day standoff said in court papers unscaled Wednesday that Koresh's dis-ciples had stockpiled vast amounts of weapons for a "milltary-type operation" that he By TOM RAUM warned would dwarf the Los An AP News Analysis Angeles riots.

Koresh and 85 others, including 17 children 10 or under, were believed to have died in the fire Monday, which broke out after agents used armored vehicles to break holes in the walls and pump in tear gas. Nine cultists survived.

The FBI said Tuesday that some cultists who tried to escape the flames may have been shot, shadows east by limmy Carters to death by fellow members of ill-fated mission to rescue the the Branch Davidians.

One survivor said Tuesday that the cult had "no plan for suicide" and that the fire was started by federal agents. But the PBI repeated that its agents had spotted cultists setting fires and said that fuel containers were found at the scene.

'There's no question in our mind that that's how the fire started," FBI agent Jeff Jamar

The Houston Fire Department's chief arson investigator, Paul Gray, said Tuesday night he saw "lots of dead people in there," including children, but didn't know how many. He also saw "a very large number of guns of various calibers, an enormous stockpile of ammunition and food."

Live ammunition and other debris prevented a closer look.

"The legitimate fear they have is that if they try to move a body right now, something might blow up," said Mike Cox. spokesman for the state Department of Public Safety. Two eruptions were reported Tuesday, including one that shot debris 5 to 6 feet high, Cox said.

One body with a gunshot wound was found in the ruins. but it was uncertain when that person was shot, Jamar said. "There might have been people killed who were trying to get out of the compound," he said. The FBI admitted in Washington that it planned for the possibility of mass suicide as it devised ways to end the standoff but that experts thought such an outcome was unlikely.

The standoff began when a Peb. 28 weapons raid by the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms erupted in gun battles that left four agenta dead. Koreah had said aix cuitists also died.

The search warrant outlining the reason for the raid was unscaled Wednesday, and it said that Koresh told a social services worker last year that he was a messenger from God and that 'when he 'reveals' himself the riots in Los Angeles would pale in comparison to what was going to happen in Waco."

The documents said the Branch Davidians spent nearly $200,000 accumulating a high-powered arsenal in just 16 months and were preparing for "a military-type operation" in Waco in which "all 'nonbelievers' would have to suffer."

One surviving cultist denied the group had a death wish.

White House puts distance between Clinton and Waco

WASHINGTON - White House strategists, mindful that high-profile mistakes can undermine a president's authority in other areas, are working hard to put distance between President Clinton and the deadly finale to the siege near Waco,

They remember well the long hostages in Iran and John F. Kennedy's disastrous Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba.

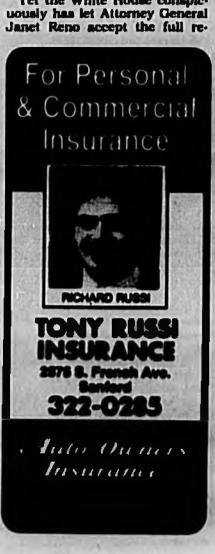

And the last thing that Clinton needs right now — after the flap about gays in the military and his inability to get his jobs bill through the Senate - is to be identified with another failure.

The president was quick at first to shoulder responsibility for the FBI decision to end the 51-day standoff. But the White House has been working hard to make it clear the fateful decision was made by others. Clinton and other White House officials clearly were suggesting that there is a difference between having overall responsibility and making the actual decision.

Many analysts suggest the administration has done as good a public relations job as possible in handling the aftermath of the

"It is not possible for a president to distance himself from things that happen when the federal government is in control," Clinton said Tuesday as he announced an investigation into the flery conclusion to the drama at cult leader David Koresh's compound.

Yet the White House conspicsponsibility with her assertion that "the buck stops with me."

'We certainly didn't object" to Reno's often-repeated statement that she, and not the president. made the decision for the FBI to move against the compound, Clinton spokesman George Stephanopoulos said. White House aides said Reno scored points in her handling of the situation - in fact helping to livert criticism away from her book — even as some privately suggested she may have even ne her mea culpa.

As she went from one live television program to another Monday night, she may have showed an eagerness to take the blame that could come back to haunt her when she faces congressional investigators.

But if there was any question that Reno's job might be in jeopardy. Clinton put it to rest Tuesday when he scoffed at the notion that she might be forced to resign.

"I was, frankly, surprised would be a mild word, to see that anyone that would suggest that the attorney general should resign because some religious fanatics murdered themselves." Clinton said during a Rose Garden appearance.

Clinton took responsibility for the FBI decision to move against the compound before the fires broke out that would eventually claim the lives of more than 88 cult members, including 17 children.

But from that point on, the administration worked hard at drawing the distinction between being responsible in the overall sense and not tying the president to operational details.

There is a "little contradic-tion" in the White House trying to both accept responsibility and deny that Clinton was involved in the final decision, conceded one senior administration official who spoke on the 'condition of anonymity. "The White House is in an awkward position."

By Tuesday, White House aides were playing down the degree of advance knowledge Clinton had of the operation.

Stephanopoulos suggested that Clinton might not have known federal agents planned to pump tear gas into the compound - although the president later said he did know.

Stephanopoulos referred to the flery end to the drama as "a law enforcement incident" at one point. And he said that, while Clinton supported the operation, "as a matter of fact, it was her (Reno's) decision" to move in.

"It was a typical Clinton response - first he says 'I'll take responsibility," but then he blames it on someone else," suggested Lyn Nofziger, a former top aide to Ronald Reagan.

Still, Nofziger said he did not see any major political damage to the administration and he praised Reno for "handling herself very well."

Standing ovation for Ballet Guild

Seminole should rise and applaud, in a standing ovation, Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole. During these depressed times. numerous cultural groups across the nation have folded while Ballet Guild has been on its toes for a quarter of a century bringing cultural enrichment to the community.

It has been more than 25 years since the Rye sisters (Miriam Doktor and Valerie Weld) moved to Sanford from Jacksonville to open a dancing school. Their ultimate dream, a ballet dance company in the tranquil community, was met with skepticism, and raised eyebrows. In their quest for support, the sisters approached civic and community leaders who met them with a battery of negative responses. Sanford would never awaken to the ballet alarm, the sisters were told, nor dig into its pockets to finance the expense involved.

Not to be outdone, the sisters choreographed and put together "Nutcracker," a Christmas ballet, at Seminole High School. Only a sprinkling of dedicated fans turned out. But parents and several interested professionals knew a good thing when they saw it and immediately banded together to form and charter Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole in 1968.

It was not too long before Ballet Guild was recognized in performing arts circles and was invited to join the prestigious Southeastern Regional Ballet Association. The sledgling dance company members were off and strutting their stuff all over the southeast. Ballet Guild has received numerous awards of excellence and scores of dancers have attained success in the bigtime.

Ballet Guild is a not-for-profit organization. Auditions, held annually, are open to qualifled community dancers who do not pay for training; nor are the artistic directors and m (Mrs. Doktor and Mrs. Well remunerated for their services. Dancers selected for the company are required to get sponsors at $10 each. These funds are used in staging productions. Thousands of dancers and sponsors have kept the guild alive through the years.

This weekend, Ballet Guild's silver anniversary performance, "Young at Heart," will be held at Lake Mary High School. A number of alumnae dancers are returning to perform as well as Mayor Bettye Smith and Dr. Frank Cionts. Performances are at 8 p.m., Saturday, and 2 p.m., Sunday.

We applaud, with pride, the dancers. artistic directors, board of directors, sponsors, patrons and a corps of volunteers for their outstanding efforts in promoting and supporting the cultural climate of the community through Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole.

And we extend our best wishes for continued success.

Health care reform

The recent passage by the Florida Legislature of major health care reform legislation that safeguards the right of patients to choose their own health care plan is good news for all Floridians.

The Legislature acted wisely on behalf of the citizens of Florida in passing a health care reform bill that will build on the strengths of our current system and effectively address the problems of cost and access. We are pleased that a key element of the reform package is the patient's right to choose his or her health care plan and provider, a right that the FMA vigorously advocated during the recent Legislative session.

By its actions, the Legislature demonstrated its belief that patients must have a voice in determining the best health care plan for them and

The legislation contains a number of insurance reform provisions similar to the FMA's "Health Access Florida" plan such as "guarantee issue" (health care plans must accept new employees) and "modified community rating" (everyone in a community would pay similar rates).

Other areas of the bill reflect FMA recommendations that physicians have input into the quality of care delivered through the Community Health Purchasing Alliance (CHPA) system and that as small employer alliances, the CHPAs disseminate information to help health care purchasers make more informed decisions.

This bill represents the broad consensus and cooperation of the Republican and Democratic leadership of the Legislature, the PMA and others. We look forward to working with the Legislature, the governor and the agency for health care administration as we move forward to implement and further refine various aspects of the law. Our only goal is to preserve and protect the finest possible system of health care delivery for all the citizens of Florida.

Testing President Clinton on crime

Crime Time: tension about riots in Los Angeles: a drive-by killer in Washington, D.C.; a prison revolt in Ohio; a loco in Waco; terror bombing in New York City. And on an average day, 70 homicides. It's America's biggest 100,000 more cops, problem.

roblem. whose total costs run
Are the rates for crimez of violence going up? about $100,000 per Some of the data are ambiguous, but mostly the year each, equals answer is ves. Three items are not ambiguous: $10 billion, every The violent crime rate is obscenely high, the fear year rate is way up, and so are tensions between blacks and whites.

We have a new president with a fistful of remedies for crime: "community policing," 100,000 more police, a "Police Corps," "bootcamps" for first-time non-violent offenders, more UCLA - America's drug rehabilitation, a gun-control law, a "safe leading thinker on schools" proposal, $2.5 billion more for federal e r i m e . a n d n o schools" proposal, $2.5 billion more for federal erime, and no crime programs in the next budget cycle, the Clinton booster — "Community Partnership Against Crime" - and believes the 100,000 the list can go on.

In some large measure it should be crime, and the social issues like it (welfare for another ideas are solid. If he example), by which we should judge Clinton. thinks so, so do I. But Those are the items that allowed him to portray by 1996, the evidence himself as a "different Democrat," and which made him a winner.

So how shall we evaluate Clinton on this issue? Four ways come to mind:

to enact what he says he wants to enact? It's expensive:

2) If the programs pass, will they work? The ideas sound nice. Professor James Q. Wilson of more cops and the community-policing by 1996, the evidence should be apparent on the street. Maybe the emphasis should have been on still-more prisons and still-longer sentences.

blacks and crime rate is high, the fear rate is way up,

3) Does Clinton get the rhetoric right? Presidential words can count as much as programs. Voters want to know: "Does he see the world the way we do?"

There are two ways of describing the nature of the crime situation. The first (standard liberal) is that crime mostly comes from "root causes" (like poverty). Therefore the principal solutions run to job training, moving jobs into the inner city, more money for education and more subsidized

The second view is that the appalling criminality we now see has come mostly from a moral breakdown, in part brought about by govern-mental soft-headedness. That's what is eroding the cities of America. It's why businesses wouldn't dream of moving into those areas; why blacks and whites leave those neighborhoods: why there are guns in the classrooms; why many housing projects are combat zones. It is what is driving the race issue in America (a black crime rate more than 5 times the white average).

Public policy should be a blend of the two points of view, I believe the second view is more accurate. And it is certainly the more popular one in America. This is so among the "Reagan Democrate" who gave Clinton his victory, and whose votes he needs in 1998, but also true among many who live in or near the combat

ELLEN GOODMAN

One gun at a time is a start

BOSTON — I bought a gun today. I bought another one for my husband. And one for my daughter. And one for my mother.

I can't say that I feel safer than I did yesterday. Not yet. But there are times when it seems important to do something, to pursue some protection in a violent world. But let me explain. I'm not suddenly joining the National Rifle Association. I'm not contributing to the handgun sales figures that jumped in the anxious atmosphere after one Los Angeles riot and in fear of another. You won't find me standing in line at the Shooter's paradise range.

I have not become a gun owner. Just a buyer.

I made my purchase at a small office on a busy Boston street that is housing a program called Buyback Boston. A group of people. working down the hall from a Fred Astaire Dance Studio and one floor below a Kung Fu teacher, are collecting money to buy back guns from the streets and the homes of the city.

Retail, one by one, $50 a pop.

They are hoping to raise between $25,000 and $50,000 by mid-June. That would take and $50,000 by mid-June. That would take about 500 to 1,000 guns out of circulation.

This is not their original idea. Buyback Boston is modeled after programs in St. Louis, Minneapolis, Phildelphia, New York, and San Francisco, Altogether buybacks have removed some 25,000 guns — and that's not counting the toy guns they bought for 50 cents apiece in one city. The Brookings Institution has recommended a federal buyback to the new administration. administration.

I can't say how much difference my small purchase will make. There are two hundred million guns in this country. There were 24,000 handgun murders in 1991 alone. Hardened criminals are not about to turn in the tools of their trade. A gun can always be replaced. But it seems to me that there are many ways to measure a "difference."

Katherine Mainze, who is helping run the Boston buyback through Citizens for Safety, has chosen to measure it in small increments. She knows how easy it is to get overwhelmed thinking about violence. When a 14-year-old boy was shot in her daughter's school playground, she remembers, "I flipped out. I think it is outrageous that I have to worry that my child might be killed by taking a bus to

But when you consider violence in all its gore from child abuse to mass murder, anyone can become paralyzed. "It's one example of a problem that looks so big," she says, "you have to break it down to one step at a time." Two weeks since the buyback was announced. the group has collected over $10,000, much of it tucked into notes that read. "If it saves one

No one knows how many lives a buyback will save. Other cities have reported a drop in homicides during or after their buyouts, but there is no rigorous research.

As Deborah Prothrow-Stith, the Assistant Dean of the Harvard School of Public Health and author of "Deadly Consequences," says:
"The buyback is not the solution to violence." But it should be considered, she adds "not just in terms of fewer homicides, but by its impact on attitudes and the sense of helplessness."

And maybe that's the way you measure "difference."

Today, feelings of helplessness are pervasive. Some people fight the feeling by buying guns. Others fight it by buying them back. To buy back a gun is to place yourself squarely with those who see weapons as part of the problem. not the solution. It's to choose sides with violence prevention.

That's no small step. It took 30 years for professionals to have an impact on smoking. It took just a handful of years for ordinary citizens to have an impact on drinking and driving. Maybe these things grow faster when they start at the grass root.

safer than I did yestemay.

In public health, they say that you can try to save the bodies floating down the river, but at some time you have to move upstream to deal with the cause. In violence you can watch the victims floating across the television screen and the front page or you can move upstream.

Sooner or later you have to go further upstream from thinking about the gun to thinking about the seller, the manufacturer, the lawmaker. You have to go upstream to the family, the neighborhood, the television, the culture.

But first you have to begin. This is one way. One gun at a time. One less gun at a time.

Agriculture chief goes extra mile

WASHINGTON - "Aren't you Mike Espy. the agriculture secretary?" asked an overweight man sitting next to Espy in the coach section of an airplane.
"Yeah," replied Espy from the middle seat.

He was scribbling on a yellow legal pad en route to one of the 13 states he has visited in less than three months.

"Can you tell me why you are sandwiched between two fat guys who are slobbering all over you while you're trying to rewrite a speech?" the man inquired.

"Ask the president," Espy shot back with a big

Such is life for the most jet-lagged Clinton Cabinet perhaps the first agriculture necretary to log more miles in the early months of an administration than even the secretary of trying to rewrite & speech? state. Espy, a former member of Congress, is pursuing his own brand of shuttle diplomacy: trying to sow peace between the oftenwarring constituencies of American agriculture who have been eyeing this champion of the catfish industry with intense skepticism.

To his credit, Espy has converted some of the traditional constituencies to his cause. despite the fact that he's been flying virtually solo at the United States Department of Agriculture. President Clinton's foot-dragging on political appointments has forced Espy to run a department - which is normally led by a few hundred appointees — with just a handful of top aides, so far. That's why his good natured rejoinder to the man on the plane was two-pronged: it referred to Clinton's war on perks, which has landed Cabinet secretaries in coach, and Clinton's molasses-like speed in putting the government together.

Espy has had one-third the speechwriting staff of his predecessor even though his travel schedule has required that he make about three times as many speeches a day - hence the yellow legal pad scenario on the plane.

Some cabinet secretaries were welcomed as conquering heros when they were appointed by Clinton. When Lloyd Bentsen was tapped to head the Treasury Department, for exam-ple, Wall Street amiled. Oil and gas lobbyists dreamed of the tax breaks that might come from the man known in the Senate as "Loophole Lloyd."

The agriculture establishment, however, was wary of Eapy because his appointment brought a lot of firsts for an agriculture secretary: he's young (39), African-American and from the South. This makes America's breadbasket states about as jittery as a summer drought.

Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., vented those fears during Espy's confirmation hearings: "I am also pleased to learn ... that you do raise wheat (in Mississippi)." Dole said. "That is WHEAT."

While wheat is just a tiny slice of the agricultural pie in Espy's home state, the money crop is King Catfish. Ninety percent of America's catfish is farmed in Espy's old congressional district, and he did everything in his power to promote it.

Espy's first piece of legislation was a bill to establish National Catfish Day. And he once tucked an amendment into a disaster-relief bill for farmers that did wonders for catfish farmers stricken by a flood.

But his catflah crusade has helped make the traditional constituencies skittish about the little experience he has with the bread and butter issues affecting middle America. They fear that someone who knows more bout whiskered fish than winter wheat can't look out for all farmers.

SANFORD - Two men indicted for first degree murder in separate cases and the man accused of armed robbery and false imprisonment at the Sanford Burger King entered not guilty pleas during their arraignments Tuesday.
The court entered not guilty pleas on behalf of San Francisco Guongo, 42, and Chad Garrison, 27. The two men both face first degree murder charges after being indicted by the grand jury earlier this month. As a point of law, their attorneys stood mute and the pleas were entered by the court on behalf of the men. A July 6 trial date was set for Guongo, who is charged with first degree murder and attempted first degree murder. He is charged with killing his exwife, Matilda Ferrer, in the Lake Mary Shopping Centre Feb. 11 and shooting at Hector Rulz. Quongo was arrested in false imprisonment.

Chad Garrison, 27, is scheduled for trial June 22 after not guilty pleas to the murder charge and armed robbery were entered for him. Carrison is charged in connection with the murder of Michael Angelo Rodriguez in Altamonte Springs Feb. 24. Garrison was arrested in Virginia.

Kevin Renard Brown, 25. pleaded not guilty to armed robbery and one count of false imprisonment in connection with a holdup at the Sanford Burger King March 23. His case was set for trial June 22. Originally, Brown was arrested for armed robbery and five counts of false imprisonment along with firearms-related charges after allegedly taking the restaurant employees hostage. Afterward, the state attorney filed the formal charges of one count of armed robbery and one count of Volunteers are needed to make this program a success. They will be asked to help the parents in reaching their goals by providing transportation, tutoring and possibly child care.

"We are also in search of mentors to adopt one of the families in the project," said Nelson. "They will work with me as a go between in helping with problems that might occur. They would be there for extra support for the family."

The long term goal of the project is that when the V.I.S.T.A. volunteer is removed, the parents of the core group will continue to serve as a support group for themselves. They will train and work with new families that become involved in the process.

"We want the parents in the program to be advocates for other parents." said Nelson. "They will help others with parenting skills, show parents their rights in the school system and hold tutoring programs."

The largest of the two properties is 196 acres owned by Lake Jesup Trust. The property lies immediately west of Lake Jesup and is bordered on the north by Soldier's Creek. The county and sellers agreed to a price of $307.577, which includes payment for $7,577 in delinquent taxes.

The selling price represents less than $1,600 per acre. The county had appraised the property at $234,000. The state had appraised the property at $438,400 and $632,000.

Logan said the more critical of the two properties is 31 acres located west of U.S. Highway 17-92. The owners, George and Enid Chen, sought to develop the property for commercial uses but environmental constraints restricted development of the alte. The county "downzoned" the property in 1989.

"Because of its location on 17-92, we considered it real important," said Logan.

The county paid $350,000 for the property. A 1987 state as-sessment placed the value at 8832,000. The county's assessment placed a value of $454,000.

Health policy makers: Cover illegal aliens?

By JENNIFER DIXON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON - The White House is trying to decide whether President Clinton's health reform plan should provide the same medical benefits to illegal aliens as it would to low-income Americans.

Congressional aides and Hispanic advocates, speaking on condition of anonymity, say the task force staff favors extending health care coverage to the 5 million undocumented immigrants living and working in the United States.

Health and Human Services Secretary Donna Shalala also told USA Today last week that illegal allens are now helped through the country's public health care system "and we need to continue to do that."

But Hillary Redham Clinton, who heads the task force, told a group of Hispanic advocates last week that illegal aliens would not be protected under the president's plan, several of the advocates said Tuesday.

One said the White House was considering a range of options — from covering illegal aliens to eventually, excluding them from even the basic health care coverage they now receive.

that the next few weeks will be critical," the

Clinton is expected to introduce his health reform package in mid-May, and his decision on illegal aliens is sure to arouse passions on all

"Serving all people is a public health issue, but I'm concerned that it's getting caught up in the xenophobia running amuck across the country," says Jane Delgado, president and chief executive officer of the National Coalition of Hispanic Health and Human Services Organizations.

The Center for Immigration Studies, a research organization, estimates that undocumented immigrants cost the government $5.4 billion in health care, housing and energy assistance, education, welfare and prison expenses in 1990,

A leading Hispanic organization says it would oppose any plan that cuts medical benefits for immigrants, especially if it also calls for a national health identification card that uses Social Security numbers.

But supporters of tougher immigration laws say any improvement in health care benefits for the undocumented is an invitation to Third World immigrants to sneak across U.S. borders for their medical care and run up a bill that many taxpayers will refuse to pay. Public health specialists on the task force believe there are public health benefits to providing medical care to undocumented workers living and working in the United States, such as controlling the spread of tuberculosis, cholera and hepatitis, congressional sources say. "Tuberculosis does not discriminate. People who are carrying these kinds of communicable diseases can infect all of the population," says

Advocates of extending health care to allens also say that a system based on citizenship would be an administrative nightmare for health care providers who would have to sort through complicated immigration regulations to decide whether a person was eligible.

"Look at the various labels given to immigrants - it's an absolutely unmalicable morass of complications for the health care provider," says

Rep. Ron Coleman, D-Texas.

Clinton not perfect, but better than all before him, say gays

By JILL LAWRENCE AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON — Bill Clinton was hardly the dream presidential candidate of the gay and lesbian community.

He had reservations about a gay civil rights bill. He outright opposed gay marriages and domestic partnerships. And in 12 years as Arkansas governor. he never had ordered civil rights protections for homosexuals.

But gay activists decided early on that Clinton was their best hope, and for the most part he hasn't let them down.

Still short of 100 days in office, the new president has already made history - not to mention waves. He embarked on the politically combustible process of ending the military ban on homosexuals. He invited gay leaders to a White House meeting. He's named several openly gay people to high-level ad-ministration posts, and there are more to come.

"He's been a hero," says Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass., who is openly gay. . Some in the gay community are unhappy about Clinton's slow progress in naming an AIDS caar and his suggestion last month that he'd consider restricting assignments for homosexuals in the military.

But those criticisms pale next to the sea change in attitude at the White House, apparent even in small things such as a list of prospective gay and lesbian appointees aubmitted to Clinton's personnel aides.

"It's unprecedented. Previous administrations would never even have accepted a list," said Andrew Barrer, director of a gay transition group called Coalition '93. "He believes in equal Justice, equal opportunity and civil rights for all people. He believes in diversity." Gay and lesbian political activists began to coalesce behind Clinton last May, after a Los Angeles fund-raiser. He gave a speech about their role in the country's future and made a number of pledges, many of which he already has filled or started toward.

Among them are ending the military ban, inviting HIVpositive speakers to the Democratic National Convention, proposing more money for AIDS services and delivering a major AIDS address to a non-gay audience. He did the last in Jersey City, N.J., just a few days before the election.

"It was the last thing his staff wanted him to do at that time," said Gregory King, spokesman for the 70,000-member Human Rights Campaign Fund. "They wanted him to focus on the economy. But he felt it was a commitment he really wanted to

A major exception to Clinton's good reviews is his failure to find an AIDS czar and launch an AIDS task force he has said should resemble the World War Il Manhattan Project that created the atomic bomb. One candidate for exar turned down the job; Clinton told gay leaders he hoped to offer it to someone clac by the end of this week.

BRIEF

Magic stay alive

ORLANDO - Shaquille O'Neal had his seventh 20-20 game of the season and the Orlando Magic stayed in contention for its first playoff berth with a 105-86 win over the Washington Bullets Tuesday night.

O'Neal had 20 points and 25 rebounds — his second straight 20-20 game — and Nick Anderson scored 30 as the Magic, chasing Indiana and Atlanta for a postseason berth. never trailed against the Bullets.

The victory moved the Magic within one game of eighth-place Indiana in the race for the last Eastern Conference playoff spot.

UCF signs Portee

ORLANDO - The University of Central Florida signed guard Ted Portee of Bradenton's Manatee Junior College to a basketball letter-of-intent, interim coach Ben DeVary said

DeVary also awarded a scholarship to guard Eddie Foster, who competed for UCF as a walk-on last season.

AROUND THE STAT

Braves hold off Marlins

MIAMI - Greg Maddux pitched well until the ninth inning, and helped himself with an RBI single as the Atlanta Braves hung on to beat the Florida Marlins 5.4 Tuesday night.

He carried a 5-1 lead into the ninth, but Benito Santiago followed a leadoff double by Orestes Destrade with the first homer ever by a Marlin at Joe Robbie Stadium. Alex Arias hit his first career homer one out later to finish Maddux. Mike Stanton came on to get his sixth save.

Knicks outslug Heat

MIAMI - Charles Smith scored a season-high 36 points, and the New York Knicks limited the Miami Heat to 34 percent shooting in a foul-filled 109-97 victory Tuesday night.

The win kept the Knicks in first in the Eastern Conference. They began the night with a one-game lead over Chicago, which plays at New York in the final regular-season game Sunday.

Miami coach Kevin Loughery and assistant Bob Staak were ejected after each received two technical fouls for arguing calls by the officials.

Harris, FSU blank Mercer

TALLAHASSEE - Bryan Harris allowed one hit over six innings to lead Florida State to a 9.0 victory over Mercer Tuesday night.

Grady Jordan and Doug Mientkiewicz blasted two-run homers in the fourth inning for FSU.

Dolphins sign Heller

MIAMI - Rather than wait until the NFL draft to acquire an offensive lineman, the Miami Dolphins signed one Tuesday - free agent tackle Ron Heller of the Philadelphia Eagles.

Heller became the Dolphins' best-paid offensive lineman when he accepted a three-year contract. The amount of the deal wasn't disclosed; but the Dolphins reportedly had offered him $950,000 per year.

Suns jump on Mudcats

ZEBULON, N.C. - Darren Bragg and Ruben Santana hit back-to-back home runs to start the game Tuesday night, sparking a five-run burst and leading the Jacksonville Suns to a 9-2 victory over the Carolina Mudcats.

Kevin Foster (1-0) pitched six innings for Jacksonville to get the victory.

Antonelli leads Hornets past Silver Hawks

From Staff Reports

ORLANDO - Dan Antonelli singled home Mike Grenon with the game-winning in the bottom of the sixth inning Tuesday, lifting the Bishop Moore Hornets to a 4-3 win over the Lake Howell Silver Hawks in high school baseball action.

Eddie Pita led off the inning with a single but was forced at second when Grenon hit into a fleider's choice. After advancing to third on Brian Krot's ground ball, Grenon scored on Antonelli's Lake Howell had taken a 1-0 lead in the top of the fourth inning, only to see Bishop Moore strike for three runs in the bottom half of the inning. The Silver Hawks used single runs in the fifth and sixth innings to knot the score, setting the stage for Grenon and Antonelli.

The game matched a pair of pitchers making their first starts of the season, Bishop Moore's Mike McGurk, who lives in Longwood, pitched seven strong innings, giving up three runs on six hits while striking out four and walking three. Lake Howell's Rich DiTore also struck out four but walked just two.

For the Silver Hawks, Mike Knorst hit a solo home run in the fifth inning. Glambalvo doubled and scored on the front end of a double steal. Randy Proulx singled and scored on an error. Rob Stanton, Monty Mathias, and Mike Ganci each hit a single.

Pita was 2-for-2 with a one run for Bishop Moore. Grenon added two runs scored, two RBI. and a single. Antonelli had his run-scoring single. Luis Cotronco, Brian Krot, and Kevin Delaroza each hit a single for the Hornets. Charlie Niemiec scored a run.

Lake Howell (11-10) hosts Seminole in a key Seminole Athletic Conference contest this afternoon at 3:30 p.m. Bishop Moore (6-16) won't play again until Saturday, when the Hornets will host Lyman in a 1 p.m. contest.

SANFORD - What had been shaping up into one of the best campaigns in several years for the Seminole Community College baseball team suffered a sudden reversal last week.

Larry Castle, Athletics Coordinator for Seminole Community College, confirmed Tuesday that the Raiders would have to forfeit eight games against Mid-Florida Conference opponents because an ineligible player appeared in those games.

The player, whose name will not be released, became ineligible when he was dropped from a class because of nonattendance. When he was dropped from that class, he fell below the minimum of 12 credit hours required to be considered a full-time student and be eligible to participate in intercollegiate athletics.

"Every athlete, while they're participating during their season.

must maintain a full class load," athletes carry 15 or 16 hours. At any moment that they drop below 12 hours, they are ineligible to play.

"There are two ways to drop a closs: student-initiated, when a student decides to drop a class because he or she isn't doing well or has missed too many classes, or Instructor-initiated. If a student misses more than 10 percent of classes, he can be dropped without notification by the instructor."

In this case, this player was dropped from the class roll on March 22 and fell below the 12-hour minimum. Despite safety nets designed to prevent such incidents from happening, this went undetected until last Tuesday, April

During that span, the Raiders went 8-1 in M-FC games with this player in the lineup.

"This happened during a time when we had a lot of games," said Castle. "We had to make up several rainouts, so we were playing five and six games a week. Not only that, but the team was hot and explained Castle. "Most of the Gee Forfeits, Page 3B

Lake City holds off Raiders From Staff Reports

LAKE CITY - Greg Granger pitched out a ninth inning jam with a pair of strikeouts as host Lake City Community College held off Seminole Community College im a Mid-Florida Conference baseball game Tuesday afternoon.

The Raiders had the potential tying run on third base with only one out in the ninth inning, but Granger came back with the two strikeouts, including a called third strike to end the game.

Granger scattered eight hits to outduel SCC ace Robert Franklin (10-4), who failed in his second try to get his 11th victory of the

The Timberwoives improved to 36-14 overall, while the Raiders fell to 14-24 overall and 5-16 in the MFC.

Ponder, unbeaten this far during the 1993 VCB track points sesson, kept that streak going one more week while seising a quick lead in the Winston points race.
"This old car, it's not too fast.

but it will run lap after lap," said Ponder of his veteran Buick Steel and Poet No. 15. "(Hunter) made one little alip up there and I took advantage of it. This old car will run just about anywhere on this track."

Ponder and Hunter started in the third row (Hunter on the inside), but it didn't take too long for the pair to filter their way to the top, Hunter taking the lead and Ponder moving into third behind pole sitter Cam Gibson on the seventh lap.

Two laps later, Ponder moved past Gibson and moved up on Hunter. After a few laps of door-to-door racing, Ponder took Hunter on lap 19 and made the lead stand up.

Following the lead pair on the 11-car race were Gibson, David Browning Jr., and Wayne turned and made a perfect relay to third baseman Carolyn Crager to nail Tossie and end the game.

"It was ugly, but we'll take it and run with it," said Lyman coach Christy Tibbitts. "We went from 22 hits the other day against DeLand to seven hits today. We just weren't hitting the ball. Defense is what's keeping us in these games."

The Greyhounds (12-5 overall, 7-2 in the SAC) now lead sec-ond-place Lake Mary (6-2 in the conference) by a half-game. Oviedo, which was in first place on April 13, drops to 10-10 overall, 5-4 in the SAC, with its third consecutive conference loss.

Lyman took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Bishop and Beland led off with consecutive singles. Jennifer Forston then hit into fielder's choice, forcing Beland at second and sending Bishop to third. Jamie Beland followed with a sacrifice fly to scoring Bishop.

Jill Mendelsohn gave the Greyhounds a 2-0 lead in the third inning when she reached base on an error, advanced on a single by Wendy Acey, and scored when a ball hit by Bishop was misplayed by the Lions.

Oviedo got one run back in the fifth. With one out, Beth Pratt walked but was crased when Andrea Sparrow hit into a fielder's choice. After Bellamy singled and Tossie walked to load the bases, April Zorn hit into a fielder's choice. But Lyman threw the ball away on the play, allowing Sparrow to score.

The Greyhounds went back up by two runs in the seventh inning. With one out, Crager singled, Stacey Ritter walked, and Kacey Sneed singled to load the bases. Jill Mendelsohn then hit a sacrifice fly to score Crager.

Acey led the Lyman effort with two singles. Mendelsohn singled. scored a run, and had an RBI. Bishop and Crager each hit a single and scored a run. Jill Beland and Kacey Sneed each hit a single. Jamie Beland had an RBI.

For Oviedo, Tossie doubled. singled, and had an RBI. Bellamy hit two singles and scored a run. Carrie McAuliffe. Barbie Bartels, and Michelle Field each hit a single.

game for two innings, then quit hitting."

The score was 4-3 Lake Howell after the first inning, but the Silver Hawks scored four in the second, two in the third and one in the fourth to build the advantage to 11-3. The visitors then put the game away as all 10 batters in the Lake Howell batting order reached base and scored in the fifth inning.

"We went through a lull there for a while, but we're back into it now," said Lake Howell head coach Jo Luciano. "We're just preparing for the districts and we're playing OK now. But we're going to have to play super to win the districts, because it's so competitive this year."

Contributing to the Silver Hawks' 18 hit attack were Cheri Green (triple, two singles, two runs). Jamie Iwanzyck (three singles, three runs, two RBI). Cara Lee Dowling (three singles, three runs, RBI), Keri Shahinian (triple, single, run, three RBI). Cory Roberts (two singles, three runs, two RBI) and Yira Segarra (two singles, two runs, two RBI).

Also contributing were Tina Leman (single, run, five RBI). Rachel Hallett (single, two runs), Shannon McDowell (single, run). Brittany Scott (two runs) and Rhianon Mack (run).

Doing the damage for the Tribe were Nicci Cliett (two singles, two RBI), Jill Jasewic (two singles), Val Wilks (single, run, RBI), Shelia Gillins, Melanie Maniatis and Diane Holden (one single each) and Sha Brown and Brooke Baker (one run each).

"We got a few hits today, but couldn't capitalize," said Bloomer. "Nicci (Cliett) has really been playing well and Sha (Brown) has really surprised us with her play."

Lake Howell improved to 10-7 overall and 4.5 in the SAC, while Seminole fell to 3-14 and 0-9. The Silver Hawks will host Lyman in an important SAC battle on Thursday, starting at 4 p.m. The Tribe will travel to Lake Brantley on Thursday to close out their SAC schedule. Game time is set for 7:30 p.m.

include wins over Santa Fe (on March 23 and April 8), Valencia (March 24 and 30), Lake City (April 1 and 7), Central Florida (April 3), and St. John's River (April 6) community colleges.

Including the Raiders' 4-3 loss to Lake City Tuesday, SCC is now 14-24, 5-16 in the confer-

While Castle is disappointed that the baseball team had to forfeit those games, he is disturbed by the fact that an ineligible player could have played for three weeks without being detected.

"Upon the teacher's discretion, the student can be reinstated," said Castle, "Had we known, it might have cost us one or two games. For some reason, this slipped through.

"There are three different ways we check up on the athletes' academic progress. There's an academic counselor for athletics and the coaches do weekly grade checks. But the ultimate responsibility is up to the student. They're told and counseled from the time they get here that they have to maintain a class load of at least 12 hours to be eligible."

It's a system that's worked well for the 26 years that SCC has participated in interscholastic athletics. Other players have lost eligibility, but it was always caught before becoming a problem.

While he preferred not to discuss how the situation was discovered this time. Castle admitted that it was "a fluke." Next year, Castle said that SCC will implement a computer program designed to assist in the tracking of students.

"No question, I'm very disappointed for our baseball team." sald Castle.

Spring Tune-Up Basics You Can Still Do it

Yourself With more and more cars featuring advanced electronic systems, many consumers think a basic tune-up is either unnecessary or too hard to do. Not true, according to automotive experts at AlliedSignal Auotmotive Aftermarket. A basic tune-up is as necessary - and as easy - as ever before. In addition, a tune-up can help maintain peak engine performance and gas mileage from season to season and contribute to a cleaner environment.

According to an Autolite Elec-tronics study (Telenation Omnibus Survey), ardent do-ityourselfers (DIYers) prefer to tune-up their own cars because it is easy to do and saves them

Spark plug wear
If you are a DIYer - or ready to become one - your spring tuneup should include checking or changing spark plugs and spark plug wires, according to Bill Tucker, senior engineer for Autolite spark plugs.

A heavy deposit which is either sooty or oily, however, indicates the plugs could foul soon and should be replaced.

Lastly, if your car takes longer to start, or if it stalls, misfires, or runs sluggishly, It's probably time to change your plugs. Check wire sets

While working on spark plugs, Tucker recommends also checking your wire sets. Inspect wires carefully for cuts, cracks, brittleness or signs of oil satura-tion. Another sign that new wires may be needed: your car won't start or stalls in wet weather.

"It's easy to change plugs and wire sets at the same time because you have to remove the wires to get to the plugs," ex-plains Tucker. "You just stick to on cylinder at a time." When preparing to change your plugs and wires, the first thing to do, recommends Tucker, is line up the tools you'll need: a screwdriver to remove wires from the loom or holder and a spark plug wrench with a universal and extension to remove and replace the old plugs. Tucker also suggests using a rag to clean around the spark plug hole and silicone grease/lube for the spark plug boot connection.

Changing plugs and wires step by step To change plugs and wires, simply follow these steps:

• Beginning with the longest wire, carefully remove the spark plug wire from the spark plug. (Hint: Don't grab the wire and yank. Use your fingers or pliers to grip the boot and twist.)
• Clean in and around the plug hole with a clean rag. You can also use a straw to blow loose dirt away from the hole.

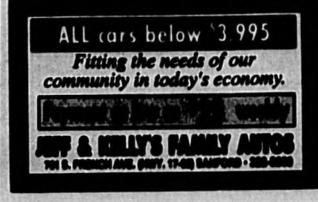

• Remove the old plug with the spark plug wrench. If your plugs are difficult to access, you may have to use the universal and extension piece.

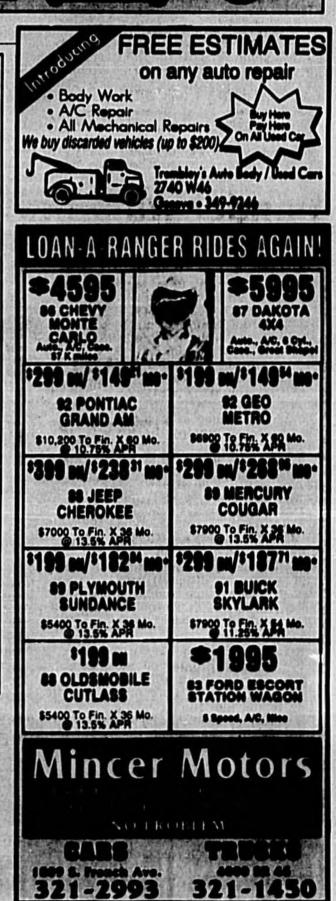

• If using a spark plug torque wrench, check your owner's manual for the correct torque. • Install new plug.
• Remove the other end of the wire from the distributor cap, if applicable, and attach the new

· Apply silicone grease to the inside of the boot. · Route the wire and attach it

Search is on for outstanding mom

It's that time of year again when we at the Sanford Herald are searching for our annual outstanding mom. We are asking the assistance of readers to help us find this special woman.

Who is your outstanding mom? She doesn't have to be your mother, but any mother in north Seminole County is eligible in the competition.

Three winners will be selected and stories and photos about them and their families will be published in the Herald on Mother's Day.

Please follow the instructions carefully. Write us letter, telling us why your candidate for mom is so out-standing. At the top of the page, write the mom's name, her address and her day and evening telephone numbers. At the bottom of the letter, write your name, and age if under 18, your address and day and evening telephone mumbers. Also, let us know the relation of this person to you (sister, neighbor etc.)

Letters must be postmarked no later than April 27 or be in the Herald office by April 29.

Cook of the Week

Homemaker likes to fish, cook her catch of the day

By REMEE KEITH Herald Correspondent

Proper diet is the main focal point for Cook of the Week Aline Beaver. The fact that she is a diabetic and her husband, Charlie, recently found out that he has high blood pressure, have brought about a whole new meaning to food preparation in the Beaver home.

Aline and Charlie have been married for 23 years. Their family is lovingly referred to as yours, mine, and ours which all totaled comes out to nine children and 14 grandchildren. Originally, they hall from North Carolina and moved to Sanford over 20 years ago. "We've been right here in the same house all these years." "I guess we always will be," says Aline. Aline is a homemaker who also has the great joy of having one of her grandsons living with her. Jeffery, also known lovingly as "Spud" is a wonderful help to his grandmother. Spud's mother, Crystal, also lives at home with her mom and dad. Crystal feels very fortunate to have her parents to turn to, thus allowing a safe haven for not only herself, but for Spud, as her job oftentimes demands odd working hours.

Charlie has been employed with C.A. Myers Company in Orlando for 15 years. He works as one of their heavy equipment drivers. Although he works some pretty long hours, he still finds time for some of his hobbies. His passion is building and flying remote controlled airplanes. "It can be an expensive hobby, but I manage to keep that part within limits," says Charlie.

One of the many ways Aline and Charlie can be found spending time together is fresh-water and deep-sea fishing. In fact, one of today's recipes from Aline is

Salad takes on Chinese flavor

With its roots in Chinese cookery. 'Sweet & Sour Springtime Salad' breaks new ground. Tender strips of stirfried pork are combined with mandarin oranges, romaine let-tuce and cucumber for a refreshing change of pace entree. The sweetly tangy dressing is created by uniting sweet and sour sauce with mandarin orange syrup, plump raisins and vegetable oil. Bottled sweet and sour sauce, a spirited blend of traditional ingredients accented by naturally brewed soy sauce, tomato paste, pineapple, onion, green bell pepper, garlic and spicy red pepper, is a delicious shortcut to producing the exciting taste of this hearty salad.

Readers sound off on ransacking boss's trash

DEAR READERS: Yesterday I published some responses to this question: "If you saw a co-worker going through the boss's wastebasket after hours, would you inform the boss?" Today's column is a continuance of that discussion.

DEAR ABST: Shame on you! No one should go through another person's wastebasket without his knowledge. Executives often just "drop" things of a confidential nature into the wastebasket, assuming that only the Janitorial staff handles that material. A loyal employee should certainly let the boss know that his/her wastebasket is being monitored by someone. You don't have to identify yourself or the "snoop," If you don't want to...just write a note and let the boss know what you ob-

H.G. FROM N.Y.C. DEAR ABBY: I work for a high-powered executive in a large corporation, and I can think of many legitimate reasons why I would go through my bosa's trash: to retrieve somerefrigerate until raisins are thing he has thrown away and shouldn't have, or to get the correct spelling of a name from a letter he has answered and tossed.

I've heard of secretaries getting blamed for something their boss has thrown away more times than I care to remember.

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT IN OMAHA

DEAR ABBY: I agree with you. Don't tell. Butt out, and if the person who was going through the boss's wastebasket is doing wrong, she will get caught eventually.

BEEN THERE IN OREGON

DEAR ABBY: "Witness" should keep her mouth shut. If she thinks she can curry favor with the boss by ratting on a fellow employee, she's not very smart. Nobody likes a snitch. NO SNITCH IN SACRAMENTO

DEAR ABBY: If I thought a co-worker was undermining my boss for any reason, I would not hesitate to tell the boss especially if I saw it with my own eyes. That's the way I would want to be treated if I were the boss. I do not answer to my co-worker. I answer to my boss!

MB. C.J. BMITH, C.P.S., SECRETARY TO CHERYL LAU, NEVADA SECRETARY OF STATE

DEAR ABBY: Your answer, 'No," was right on the mark. Witness" is too suspicious. Did she ever consider that the typist was going through the boss's wastebasket to check the spelling of a name or address the boss had inadvertenly tossed out? I would hate to have Witness" on my staff.

water fish. As with everything that Aline cooks, olive oil is the only oil she uses. When preparing her fresh water catch she makes sure she has a good coat of olive oil rubbed on the entire fish. You'll find that the cornflakes that you roll the fish in will stay on better and this combination makes for some moist and tasty fish.

Among some of Aline's hob-bles is one that has become a real favorite, and that is reading cookbooks. Of course, most of this has come out of necessity due to the major health changes in the Beaver's household. With her own imagination and the help of these cookbooks, Aline has found or created many different ways to serve up something delicious and healthy at mealtime or for a snack.

"Diet has become a number one priority in our home. It doesn't take long at all before your family realizes that proper cating can taste good. Less salt, less sugar and less fat is how we look at what we cat now," Aline

Keeping within these guidelines will also help you lose weight, give you more energy and contrary to what most people believe, your food can taste wonderful, she added.

"Red meat is an absolute no-no." she said. Aline's Slim Jim Chili demonstrates just that. She uses ground turkey, fresh vegetables and spices whenever possible.

"A person can eat healthy, and vet feel satisfied and full."Aline concluded.

Something for dessert, or maybe even that little extra for guesta? Try Tropical Fruit 'n Yogurt. This dessert just can't be beat.

Attacks of sleep signal narcolepsy

DEAR DR. GOTT: I believe I have narcolepsy and am interested in any information you can

DEAR READER: Narcolepsy is a rare neurological syndrome of unknown cause that is marked by recurring attacks of sleep. which often occur at inappropriate times, such as while driving. The sleep attacks are frequently associated with sudden weakness and vivid visual illusions, resembling dreams.

Patients with narcolepsy are otherwise normal, except that they may sleep poorly at night. After awakening from a narcoleptic sleep attack, they may feel refreshed, only to fall sound asleep a few minutes later. They can easily be awakened from these attacks, which may appear infrequently or many times in a single day. The diagnosis is established by the characteristic pattern of inappropriate sleep.

Stimulant drugs, such as amphetamine and methylphenidate, when given during the day, usually reduce or eliminate the sleep attacks. In my opinion, patients with narcolepsy should be diagnosed and treated by neurologists.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Sleep-Wake Disorders." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, selfaddressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the

DEAR DR. GOTT: Can you provide information on cellulitis?

DEAR READER: Cellulitis, a spreading and diffuse infection, usually affects the skin, but has the potential to spread to underlying tissues. There are no boils or pimples associated with this painful affliction, which is commonly caused by strep-

Englishman Danny Roth has written another of his interesting quiz books, "Hand Reading in Bridge" (Gollancz, $24.95, 800-274-2221). Most of the 55 problems are of intermediate difficulty, and occasionally Roth introduces a realistic quirk. Instead of asking what you do next at the critical moment, Roth stops the play after the moment when the key play had to be found - after the fact, as it were. You have to be able to backtrack and spot the error he has 'forced' on you.

Today's deal from the book typifies the genre.

West leads his singleton spade. East wins with the king, cashes the spade ace and gives his partner a ruff. Back comes the club jack. How do you continue?

Your first two bids showed a balanced 23 or 24 points.

If the remaining trumps are splitting 2-2 or 3-1, you are safe. So you know they must be 4-0, If West has them all, you are dead. So assume East has them all.

At trick five, play a low heart to dummy's ace. West's discard is to be expected. Now lead a low heart. After East splits his honors, you win with the queen.
You have the K-9 of hearts

You nave un hovering over East's J-8. But how do you get back to the dummy to take the finesse? You don't - unless you unblocked the spade queen at trick three. Did you?

Leading a singleton with only one trump isn't recommended, and here the play is much trickier after, say, a club lead. But, of course, authors often do these things to produce a pro-

By Bernice Bede Ocol YOUR BIRTHDAY April 22, 1993

Do not give up on things that, despite your hard work, have failed to come to fruition. This is a new ballgame, and happy surprises could be in the offing in the year ahead.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Occasionally, it is essential to focus on personal interests to the exclusion of others. If you want to help those you love today, you must first help yourself. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you to understand what to do to make the relationship work. you're likely to be.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Associates might be intimidated by challenges today, but this is not likely to be the case in your instance. The re are indications that you'll welcome develop-ments that test your mettle.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Critical developments can be dealt with effectively today if you keep your cool and trade on successful, past experiences. What worked in the past could also work now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
You're likely to fare better at managing the circumstances of others today than you will be at handling your own. This is also where you could personally derive the greatest benefits.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're not apt to be indifferent or wishy-washy where critical decisions are concerned. Everyone will know exactly where you stand, and this could
