Realtors Have 'Pet Project

The Humane Society animal shelter is located on property owned by the Sanford Airport Authority, which has given notice the society and animals will have to move. Sometime later this year the property will be needed as the site for the new airport freight terminal. Since the society is a nonprofit voluntary group of dedicated persons, it does not have the money to just go out and purchase a piece of land for a new location. They are looking for a convenient spot somewhere centrally located with about 10 acres of land. "The Longwood area would be just perfect," according to Humane Society President Joanne Prager.

The Board of Realtors Public Relations Committee chaired by Homer Sewell III are heading up the board's efforts to raise money for the Humane Society's building fund by selling 30,000 five ounce chocolate candy bars. They are also endeavoring to

Townhouse Project Opened In Sanford

Co., builder and developer of The Oaks two-and-a-half-bathroom energy efficient development, has announced the opening of model townhouses at his new $4.5 million project now under construction on Ridgewood Avenue in Sanford.

Known as The Terrace, the development will consist of 80 townhouse units when completed in 12-18 months. There will be four separatelyowned units in each building with common maintenance of storage and landscape area. The attractive townhouses have exteriors of brick on the lower floor and cedar shingle mansard on the upper floor. They were designed by the Evans Group of Orlando.

Each unit has 1,500 square-feet of living area

Robert E. McKee, of McKee Development and a fenced private patio. The two-bedroom, units will sell for $55,000 each.

> They have been certified under the Florida Power and Light Watt-Wise program and received 203 points on its energy saving features (only 100 are required for certification), McKee said.

> Some of the special features include wood burning fireplaces, kitchens fully equipped with General Electric Appliances including refrigerator, dishwasher, range, garbage disposal and a built-in microwave oven, wallto-wall carpeting, tinted glass and sungarden window in kitchen.

Reagan Enlists Ford

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Reagan is stepping up a campaign to promote his economic recovery program, enlisting former President Gerald Ford and others to tout his plan around the country, a spokesman said

Reagan arranged to telephone Ford today "to discuss his economic program," said acting press secretary Larry Speakes. Ford was in Texas on a speaking tour.

Speakes also said Cabinet members speaking outside of Washington are being asked to focus on the economic package of spending and tax cuts.

Reagan, he said, will make more calls to key congressmen today, and Tuesday he will confer with eight governors, most from the South, as part of his campaign. Wednesday Vice President Bush will talk to 180 county officials about the program.

There were indications the new blitz may be an effort to compensate for the sidelining of Reagan, considered his own best salesman, as a result of the attempt on his life March 30. But Speakes insisted the administration is confident it has the votes to win passage of the package.

"We don't anticipate compromising on the budget or tax bill," he added.

The costs of promoting Reagan's package will be picked up by the Republican National Committee, which also has a lobbying effort under way, Speakes said. "The White House is well aware of the laws governing lobbying by the White House. They are picking up the full tab for travel."

Reagan, recuperating from a bullet wound in the left lung, was "feeling well" and had no outside appointments today, he said. Reagan met with his three top aides in the morning and was to meet with them again later in the day in an expansion of his daily routine.

Speakes said he did not expect Reagan prisingly strong performance, the American economy grew more in the first three months of 1981 than it has in any other quarter in almost three years, the Commerce Department reported

The market value of the nation's goods and services - the gross national product, adjusted for inflation - grew 6.5 percent in the January-March quarter. That is the best showing since a 9 percent growth in the second quarter of 1978.

At the White House, Murray

Recalling An Italian Hell: Survivors Of Anzio To Gather

Old men forget, but once each year they get together to eat and drink and tell great thumping lovely lies about their

It was always that way: The men at Salamis or the ones at Shiloh used to twist ears and wheeze out memories, and some of them were true. They are stories good men teach their sons. So will it be this weekend when 300 or so of the men of Anzio are expected to get together at the Holiday Inn off Interstate 4 in Atlamonte Springs and recall an Italian hell. There will be no ceremonial parades, but there will be some elbow-bending and some fellowship that even strangers can Anzio is a small town of about 18,000 people on the Tyrrhenian coast south of Rome, a nice little spot to have an out-of-the-way European vacation. There, 37 years ago, near the close of World War II, men fought and died, and some have lived to tell about it.

William Bland is one of them. At 58, he is not so gung-ho as when he was blasting the Germans from a tank and receiving a Bronze Star for his gallantry. He is retired now, living at 403 Willow St. in Sanford.

Bland organized the Anzio reunion, first held in Sanford last year, to bring old buddies back together.

"It's not the battle you want to remember," he said, "but the commaraderie.

"Your life depended on your buddies, absolutely." At the reunion, he said, each person will probably see three or four buddies he wouldn't ever see again if not for the Undoubtably, there will be a lot of stories retold. Every man who was there has a different one.

Bland has his own. As a platoon leader he commanded five tanks from his own. He remembers they were called "Hot Boxes" because when they were hit by an armor-piercing shell they had a tendency to blow up quickly - with all the gasoline and ammunition and the buddies who didn't make it. Those with a taste for figures can compute how more than 47,000 American, Canadian, and British troops were killed. captured or wounded in the fourth-month battle. Those fond of pictures can still dig up old photographs of the 7-by-12-mile battleground which was chewed up and charred by the relentless shelling. But the plain truth is, one splintered tree is much like another, and broken men look pretty much alike. Pictures don't tell you much. Men do:

"The significance of Anzio," Bland said, "is that it was the largest battle the U.S. was involved in during the war. We won it and then marched into Rome on June 6, 1944 - the day of the Normandy invasion.

"You know, one day on that beachhead was like weeks anyplace else because there was nowhere to get away from the shelling," he said. "We were backed up to the sea."

Bland will tell you, if you ask him, about the men he saw die. "I left a lot of good buddles over there," he recalls somberly. These will be remembered well in flowing cups this weekend, and in some guarded allusions, and in a minute when everyone bows his head, a reunion custom. When all the men, most with their wives, have eaten a good meal and laughed at each other's jokes, they'll think, each one alone, of his old companions.-BRITT SMITH

Richard Goranflo of Altamonte Springs and the Cadillac he claims gets 65 miles per gallon. Is Goranflo's revival of an old high mileage caburetor the coming thing or just a fuelish dream?

New (Old) Carburetor: 100-Miles-Per Gallon?

Herald Staff Writer

It may be just a fuelish dream, but Richard Goranflo thinks he can milk 100 miles from a gallon of gasoline . . . in a Cadillac. Who knows? He says he is already getting 65 mph in his 1977 Coupe

Goranflo is no world renowned scientist who has come up with a major energy breakthrough. He is a simple stadetree mechanic - Altamonte Springs' verson of Ralph Nader with greasy hands - who is part of a growing movement in this country bent on reinventing the car. An immodest proposal perhaps, but one Goranflo feels is worth trying nontheless.

His strategy: getting more go from

Toward that end, Goranflo, a 46-yearold computer systems analyst, has come up with a new kind of carburetor. Well, actually all he has done is take a design that has been around for over a halfcentury and made a few modifications.

It's called the Nay carburetor, named for its originator, Elmer Nay who devised the high-mileage device back in

It's really quite simple. Basically, what the Goranflo-Nay carburetor does is spray gasoline through a heated chamber, thus turning the fuel to vapor. The vaporized gas is then injected into

All this is based on the premise that gasoline vapor, as opposed to liquid, is much more volatile and explodes more readily in the pistons, thereby using less fuel to produce as much power as that developed in an engine equipped with a conventional carburetion system.

Of the fuel pumped into an engine by a stock carburetor, Goranflo says "only about five percent is vapor, but it provides about 90 percent of the energy. The remaining fuel is mist or liquid and provides very little explosive energy, just heat when it catches fire. That's a tremendous waste."

Goranflo would like to take credit for rediscovering Nay's concept, but he can't. He admits to being a disciple of a California group called "New Energy World" whose representatives travel around the country teaching folks how to make their gas-guzzlers sip. Goranflo attended one of the group's seminars back in October and was hooked.

"I came out thinking that this was the greatest thing since right turn on red or the biggest put-on in history," he recalls.

So, he decided to find out. He chose the Nay design as the most practical discussed at the seminar, tinkered with it a bit and came up with a crude-looking gizmo that he claims works. Made of galvanized steel and some copper tubing, the carburetor is about three times the size of a conventional model and weighs roughly eight pounds.

"I'm no mechanic engineer," Goranflo concedes. "Someone who really knows what they're doing could probably make one smaller."

Sitting not atop the engine as is customary, Goranflo's carburetor is wedged up front next to the radiator of his Caddy's big 425-cubic inch engine.

The vaporization chamber is heated by engine coolant, which means that the car's conventional carburetor has had to be retained so it can be used until its high-mileage cousin warms up to the necessary 170 degrees. The chamber could be heated much quicker, Goranflo says, by an electric charge or heat from the exhaust.

All in all, one needs only "some sheet metal, copper fittings, a temperature gauge to tell you when the high-mileage carburetor is hot enough to kick in, a twoway switch to change from one carburetor to the other, and an extra fuel pump," he says.

Goranflo estimates one can build and install one for $150. Of course, you have to know how to arrange all the parts, knowledge he will impart to you in one of the six-hour seminars he holds periodically around central Florida.

But before you get all excited, you should know that you're going to have to See CARBURETOR, Page 2A

Queen Sells Wedding Souvenirs

LONDON (UPI) - Even the queen has begun cashing in on the July wedding of her son, Prince Charles.

A gift shop at Sandringham owned by queen Elizabeth opened its 6-month season with 700 people waiting to go inside and choose from 60 royal wedding souvenirs ranging from 22-cent pencils to $77 goblets.

Proceeds from the shop defray the costs of maintaining the royal estate at Sandringham.

Bombs Kill 13, Wound 177 In Philippines Church

By United Press International

Three terrorist grenades hurled into a packed church in the Philippines killed 13 Easter worshipers and injured 177 others, and terrorist sympathizers invading churches in four West German cities marred the holiday set aside to remember the resurrection of the prince of peace.

The violence spilled into traditionally strife-torn Northern Ireland, where Catholics and Protestants marched and rioted, leaving two people dead when a British army jeep rushing troops to an outbreak of rioting slammed into a crowd.

In Lebanon, Israeli-armed Christian militia of Maj. Sand Haddad pounded the Lebanese port city of Sidon with long-range artillery, killing 16 people and wounding 40 other to shatter the solemnity of Easter

But in the worst incident - on a day Pope John Paul II made a fervent appeal for world peace before 250,000 people in Vatican City - suspected leftist rebels in the southern Philippines city of Davao hurled three grenades into the San Pedro Cathedral. It was the worst terror episode in a decade in Asia's only Catholic

Castro Praises Soviets

HAVANA, Cuba (UPI) - President Fidel Castro commemorated the 20th anniversary of the destruction of the CIA-led Bay of Pigs invasion by blasting U.S. "Imperialism," hailing Cuba's "magnificent" ties with the Soviet Union and taunting the Reagan administration about El Salvador.

Before a packed audience in the 5,000-capacity Karl Marx Center in northern Havana, Castro Sunday denounced the 1961 invasion by 1,500 CIA-trained Cuban exiles. The invasion, a flasco for the late John F. Kennedy, is halled in Cuba as the first defeat of U.S. imperialism in Latin America.

The 54-year-old Cuban leader who crushed the April 17, 1961, invaders scoffed at the thought of a new U.S. attack, saying "Cuba is a hard nut to crack that could stick in the throats of the aggressors."

Dressed in his traditional military garb and flanked by his brother and head of the armed forces, Raul Castro, the Cuban president seized the opportunity to declare Cuba's strong Soviet ties.

Israel Shells Lebanese City

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) - Israeli and Christian militia gunners bombarded the Lebanese port of Tyre today and Lebanese leaders held emergency talks to prevent an outbreak of Christian-Moslem fighting in reaction to the Easter burning of two churches in Sidon.

The government-run Beirut radio said Israell gunners, assisted by their Christian militia allies, fired 10 shells into Tyre, 13 miles north of the Israel-Lebanon frontier. Homes and offices were damaged, but there were no immediate reports of casualties.

Police in Beirut reported heavy artillery and machine gun exchanges between Syrian peacekeeping troops and Christian Phalangist militiamen along the "Green Line" dividing predominantly Moslem west Beirut from Christian east Beirut.

In Zahle, 33 miles east of the capital, Phalangist radio reported sporadic machine gun duels between Syrian peace-keeping troops ringing the city and Christian militiamen inside Zahle.

GOLDILOCKS REVISITED

Rarely does a cop find someone curled up in his patrol car taking a nap. But that's just what happened Thursday night to off-duty Lake Mary policeman John Wright.

Wright found his drowsy passenger around 11:30 p.m. when he went to check on his cruiser which was parked at a construction site on Lake Mary Boulevard and Lake Emma Road.

"Goldilocks" turned out to be 24-year-old Kristin V. James, address unknown, who had apparently been drinking and proved less than cooperative.

So, Wright and Seminole County sheriff's deputy H.R. Lewis found James a better place to sleep - the county jail. She was arrested for disorderly intoxication and held under $525 bond.

Cuban Refugees Identify Four Suspects In Fort Chaffee Rioting

FORT CHAFFEE, Ark. (UPI) - Cuban refugees turned in four men they said were ringleaders of a riot at the resettlement center and promised to help federal officials round up additional suspects.

"You simply can't escape the fact that there's a tremendously high frustration level out there, and the shooting was just a catalyst," Mike Sweeney, a spokesman for the federal Health and Human Services Department, said Sunday.

About 150 rock-throwing Cubans injured 39 security officers and four refugees Saturday evening, but none were seriously hurt. The riot began when a Federal Protection Service officer shot and wounded a machete-wielding Cuban to keep him from slashing another refugee, officials said.

The refugees — many who have lived behind the barbed wire fences at Fort Chaffee for nearly a year - began throwing rocks again Sunday morning and Army troops were put on alert. But officials learned the man leading Sunday's disturbance thought his brother had been arrested in connection with the riot, when in fact the man was arrested for violating curfew. The disturbance was quieted and the jailed man was released at noon.

The mood at the camp calmed Sunday after four refugees were turned over to authorities, Sweeney said. They were locked in the camp stockade with a fifth man who had been arrested after the riot, he said.

Yamani Vows No Hike In Oil Price

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Saudi Arabian Oil Minister Skeikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani says his country will not raise prices and will keep production at the current high level to force other OPEC nations to drop their fees to attain one price for petroleun.

Yamani, speaking on NBC's Meet the Press news show, said the Saudis increased production last year to 10.3 million barrels a day from 8.5 million to force a glut that would cause a price weakening before the next May 25 OPEC meeting in Geneva, Switzerland.

"We engineered the glut ... in order to stablize the prices," the minister said. "If we reduce our production to the level before we started raising it, there will be no glut."

Further, Yamani also said that the Saudi price of $32 per barrel, $4 cheaper than the next price level in OPEC, will not rise until the 13-nation oil cartel agrees on a unified price.

Yamani, however, said he was "not that optimistic" that a unified price for crude would come from the May 25 OPEC ministers meeting, saying he did not expect a unified price "until sometime in '82."

Crime Needs Punishment

Attorney General William French Smith took over the Justice Department with a promise to give top priority to the problem of violent crime in America. That he picked the right target has been confirmed with the release of the annual FBI crime reports.

The Uniform Crime Index for 1980 shows a 13 rercent increase in violent crime — murder, rape, assault and robbery. That's the sharpest increase in a single year since 1975. When crimes against persons are lumped in with crimes against property, such as burglary and theft, the overall crime index shows an increase of 10 percent.

What the Justice Department can do about these frightening statistics remains to be seen. Smith told a congressional committee in March that a task force within the department is working on an anti-crime strategy.

Although the annual crime statistics are reported by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, they are gathered from 12,000 separate law enforcement agencies, mostly local police departments. This serves to emphasize that the federal government is a limited participant in a war on crime that is fought principally at the community level.

An increased investment of federal funds in fighting crime does not appear likely. The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, which poured billions into grants to local police departments in the last decade with few measureable results, was largely dismantled by the last Congress. Nor have the FBI and the Drug Enforcement Administration been spared from the budget squeeze by the Reagan administration.

Experience is suggesting that our society will not make headway against a rising crime rate by arresting more criminals but by figuring out what to do with them after they are arrested. Make the law mean what it says in terms of punishment is a burden for the courts, not the police, and it is in the courtroom where the significant battles of the war on crime remain to be fought.

Teamster Fund Probe

The Senate Labor Committee voted 15-0 recently to subpoena all the files and reports of the Labor Department relating to an investigation of the Teamsters Union pension fund abuses. The files go back 15 years.

It is clear that the Labor Department has maintained a slow pace and encountered many problems in its long inquiry.

Some investigators who have worked in the Labor Department on the probe have said their superiors refused to allow them to subpoena important records of the pension fund. There have been allegations of misconduct and imcompetence on the part of some investigators. It has not been clear that higher-ups in the department have fully supported and encouraged the investigation.

The fund is worth $2.2 billion in money largely contributed by employers and dedicated to support Teamster members in their retirement or in case they are disabled. There have been allegations that millions of dollars in fund assets have been invested in enterprises controlled by organized crime and that large loans were given to associates of known criminals.

We commend Sen. Orrin G. Hatch, R-Utah. chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, for aggressively pursuing the inquiry started by Senate Democrats who held hearings last sum-

Senators should be discreet in their use of confidential information. There must be no circus or witchhunt. But a thorough review of the Labor Department's handling of this matter is overdue.

Should Youth Programs Inc. now operating a youth home at the Seminole Youth Ranch in Winter Springs give up its lease because of insufficient funding later this year, The Edgewood Boys Ranch, Orlando, would like to take over the facility. Edgewood wants Seminole Youth Ranch Inc. to turn the ranch over to it to operate as a Seminole arm of its Orange County facility, according to Jim Lynd.

Lynd was director of the Seminole Youth Ranch for three years until a severe heart attack forced him to resign in 1978. He is now associated. with his brother, Jack Lynd, founder and director of Edgewood since 1966. The Seminole Youth Ranch was originally organized by a group of Seminole Christians sparked by a dream of a former Longwood Baptist minister Jack Lindsay. Its charter is patterned after that of Edgewood calling for the youth home to be operated with a Christian atmosphere.

Prior to Youth Programs Inc., the ranch was leased to Seminole County Mental Health by the directors for use as a facility for emotionally disturbed youngsters.

Lynd said Edgewood, which receives no government funds, currently has nine Seminole boys and girls and has had as many as 20, "We average three calls a day asking to put a child in our facility. We have a total of 62 kids from 6-17 years and as many on the waiting list," he ad-

Edgewood has 13 buildings on its rural campus in West Orange County and no debts. "We live from day to day out of the mailbox, but the Lord provides," Lynd said. Edgewood staff works with the families as well as the children and has its own school on campus.

Although in the past Seminole Youth Ranch, Inc. had financial difficulties in operating the youth facility on its own from private donations. Lynd feels Edgewood could do it more economically because some administrative costs and positions would not have to be duplicated.

Because of the similarity in the two charters, Lynd feels Edgewood could operate the Seminole facility in line with the original intent of the donors and founders.

Britain: A Lesson For Reagan

LONDON (NEA) -- To the tourist strolling through the crowded public parks or observing the national mania over the upcoming royal wedding, the British seem to be enjoying a rather happy and tranquil spring. But the ugly rioting between black youths and white police in South London has illustrated that great tensions lie beneath the placid

Most observers agree that race relations in Great Britain are worsening rapidly; the atmosphere in South London is not unlike that in the Los Angeles ghetto of Watts at the time of its 1965 riots. At the root of these tensions is the continuing deterioration of the British economy.

There are some lessons here that could be useful to the Reagan administration.

Unemployment is epidemic in Britain. As in the United States, those hardest hit are the non-whites, some 2 million of whom inhabit the kingdom's inner cities.

One recent government report estimated unemployment of more than 70 percent among the West Indians, Africans and Asians who inhabit the Brixton area of Long's South End. Even those Brixton residents who have jobs are usually at the lowest end of the economic scale.

Unemployment stands at more than 40 percent among the lowest classes of whites in Britain's major industrial cities. The white lobless look upon the non-whites as direct economic threats because of their willingness to work for lower wages and under harsher conditions.

This competition for scarce jobs has led to growing racial tensions in almost every major city in Britian. The South London riots may only be the start of a long hot summer for the British.

This unhappy situation has particular significance on this side of the Atlantic because the Conservative government of Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher has tried to solve its economic woes with strategies that are in great favor among the supply-side economists in the Reagan administration. It is fair to question whether those policies will be any more successful in the United States than they have been in Britain.

Take, for instance, the tax cut that is currently pending before the U.S. Congress. The administration argues that a massive reduction in taxes will strengthen the economy and reduce inflation to greatly help those on the lowest rungs of the economic ladder.

The same argument was made by the British Conservatives. But so far there is scant evidence that those below the middle class have gained at all from the sizable tax cut enacted at the urging of the Thatcher government. In fact, most of the evidence points in exactly the opposite direction.

A new study published by the Labor Party shows that the lowest 10 percent of Britain's taxpayers has received only about 2 percent of the benefits from the tax cut while the highest 10 percent has received more than 35 percent of the benefits.

BUSINESS WORLD

Time For Shareholders

By GARY KLOTT UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) - Around executive suites these days the corporate brass is busy boning up for the traditional spring rite — the annual stockholder meeting.

Some 10,000 of these gatherings will be held across the country over the next several weeks. And even though only a fraction of the nation's 30 million shareholders will attend and the business conducted will be largely mundane and dull, management is expecting some tough and pointed questions this year from the shareholders who do show up.

"Stockholders who attend annual meetings are more concerned, more alert and better informed than ever," said Steven J. Golub, a partner in the accounting firm of Deloitte Haskins & Sells. The company each year compiles a list of likely stockholder questions to help its corporate clients prepare for their annual meetings.

Golub, whose job it is to predict those questions, says the burning issues likely to emerge this year are Iran, takeovers, foreign imports, inflation, and high interest rates.

Many shareholders are sure to ask what the expectations are for a company's recovery of its investment in Iran. Hundreds of U.S. companies have filed billions of dollars in claims against Iran for goods sold or work done prior to the revolution. Under terms of the agreement for the release of the American hostages, companies are going to have to go through a joint U.S.-Iranian tribunal to collect.

In the aftermath of several well-publicized takeover attempts, some less than friendly, questions are likely to pop up about a company's attitude should there be a takeover proposal and what steps have been taken to make takeover more difficult.

A sure topic at shareholder meetings of auto, steel and electronics companies will be the challenge of foreign imports and how a company is meeting it.

With interest rates at still lofty levels, shareholders are going to be wondering how much of the company's total debt is tled to the prime rate. Or, what effect will continuance of the current high interest rates have on the company's operating results.

Burning in many shareholders' minds will be the question: Why haven't cash dividends increased proportionately with inflation?

What will the "corporate gadflies", those self-appointed crusaders for shareholder rights who often dominate the question sessions, be asking this year?

Lewis Gilbert, a 40-year-veteran gadfly who, along with his brother, John, will attend 125 annual meetings this year, has a whole batch of questions starting with how much a company may be owed by Chrysler Corp.

In the aftermath of the multimillion dollar computer embezzlement at Wells Fargo, Gilbert plans to ask bankers what measures they have taken to prevent a similar fraud from occurring.

Gilbert will also be pressing again this year for cumulative voting in the election of directors, the annual election of directors rather than the stagger system, and the establishment of nominating committees for selecting board candidates.

Among other questions Gilbert will be asking at a number of meetings are: -What were the auditor's fees for the year?

And why did they go up so much?

-Why were certain executives paid so much? (There's a limit to what any one man should get," Gilbert says.)

-How come executive pension benefits are

Eyeing Foreign Phonies

If you can tear your attention away from autos, steel and electronics for a minute, there's yet another long-established domestic industry that has reason to be worried about foreign competition.

Counterfeiting.

The makers of foreign phony money are now responsible for 20 percent of all counterfeit bills going into circulation in the United States by the reckoning of experts who know this field best - the Secret Service.

In addition to the protection of presidents, the Treasury Department agency is charged with responsibility for policing the purity of the American money supply.

That job is, however, becoming tougher because of the increasingly serious import problem that the Secret Service is unable to attack at its source - the foreign plants where the presses are turning out the lookalike greenbacks.

These are located in a number of countries, but by far the most prolific producer is Colombia, so much so that the Secret Service has sought authorization for an official presence there.

Colombian-printed notes accounted for about a million of the $5.5 million in foreign counterfeits that got into the country last year. Much more - $60.8 million in face value - was confiscated abroad by local authorities, which is good news in its way but somewhat less so when you consider what it says about the magnitude of the foreign operations. The operators, both foreign and domestic, like everyone else these days are having to adjust to inflation. Given their way of making money, it's easy - just raise the face value of bills. Largely for that reason, the take in counterfeit money during 1980 had a face value 20 percent above that of the previous

The long-established favorite phony — the $20 bill -- was down by 5 percent while $100 notes were up 69 percent.

That is not necessarily all bad from the Secret Service point of view. A counterfeiter managing to pass $100 gets away with much larger profit than in the case of a $20. But the beauty of a $20 for counterfeiting purposes has always been its familiarity - so many handled so frequently that few people bother to scrutinize them for authenticity.

Benjamin Franklin's portrait, on the other hand, isn't seen by most of us all that often.

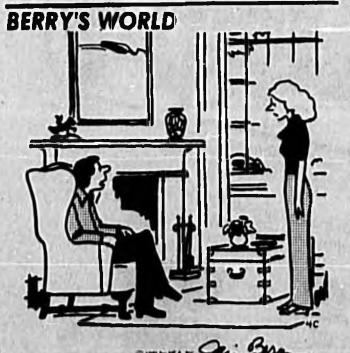

Which means it is more likely to prompt a second look, thereby increasing the chances of detection.

On the other hand, inflation may end up solving this problem for the counterfelter.

The way things have been going, they could come to the point where precious few of us will be able to keep a $100 bill in hand long enough to take a second look.

WASHINGTON- The long line of Land Rovers pulled up at the rim of a natural amphitheater formed by huge drifts of sand. The scores of visiting dignitaries stepped out of the vehicles, dusted themselves off and stared in disbelief at the spectacle spread out below them.

In the desolate wastes of the Sahara. without a tree or man-made structure visible for miles, the military display arranged by the Polisario guerrillas seemed unreal, like a scene from an old Alexander Korda movie. But the "props" were ummistakably, grimly real.

The occasion for the theatrical production was the fifth anniversary of the Polisario's declaration of independence; they had proclaimed the Western Sahara to be an independent nation. In celebration, the guerrillas were now showing off the booty they had won in their hit-and-run war with Morocco.

On either side of the desert arena were long lines of captured Moroccan tanks, jeeps and troop carriers, in the center was a gruesome display - hundreds of identity cards taken from dead Moroccan coldiers. And at the far end stood 400 mizerable-looking prisoners of war, squinting uncomfortably into the windblown sand.

My associate Peter Grant was there. He has spent a month covering the little-known war between troops of Morocco's King Hassan and the rebel forces of the Polisario's Saharan Arab Republic. Though the guerrillas have uncontested control of the largely worthless desert that constitutes most of the former Spanish colony, Morocco occupies the few population centers and the Western Sahara's rich phosphate mines.

Grant reports that the three-day independence celebration was a diplomatic success. Delegations showed up from most the 45 nations that have recognized the guerrilla regime.

But it was also evident that the Polisario's support is heavily auti-American in orientation and that radical political ideology is being pushed on the recels by such allies as Libya, which is the desert tribesmen's biggest financial backer, and Cuba, which provides medical and military aid.

Large delegations at the festivities came from Iran, Nicaragua, Mozambique and Ethiopia, as well as Palestinian groups and communist parties of several Western nations. Though the Soviet Union doesn't recognize the Saharan Arab Republic, presumably because it needs Moroccan phosphates, a camera crew from Soviet television was on the scene.

Grant spoke to many of the delegation members and concluded that several of the nations supporting the Polisario are doing so because they oppose Hassan's pro-Western regime, not from any dedication to Saharan independence as such.

Iran, for example, recognized the republic only after Hassan allowed the late shah to stop in Morocco after he was overthrown. And a West German communist candidly admitted that he is far more interested in destabilizing the West than in furthering selfdetermination for the Sahraoui tribesmen.

Morocco has long complained that the United States doesn't seem to understand that the Saharan war is part of the East-West struggle. The Moroccans don't see why the United States doesn't provide them with the weapons they need to crush the Polisario.

During lunch with Lt. Col. Louagli Mustapha of the Moroccan Royal Army, Grant learned how bitter the Moroccans are. Over a steaming plate of couscous in the officers' mess, Mustapha rattled off a long list of American weapons and vehicles he could use against the guerrillas. He spoke in French. "Why can't I respond to you in English?" he asked, jabbing a fork at my reporter. "It's because I never have to talk to any American military officers."

Whichever side is "right" in the desert struggle, one thing is clear, Grant reported: The Polisario guerrillas, who started off as nationalists of no strong political ideology, are in danger of falling increasingly under the influence of the anti-American radical regimes on whom they rely for their survival.

While their American League neighbors to the north, the Oakland A's, have started the season 11-1, the Dodgers have been almost as impressive losing only once in nine games.

Landreaux hit a home run and added a two-run single

Bob Welch, 1-0, went 6 1-3 innings and received relief help from Steve Howe and Bob Castillo, who earned his third save. John Curtis, 0-2, absorbed the loss but it was scarcely his fault. Expos 4-2, Mets 3-7

At New York, Andre Dawson had three hits including a home run and former Met Ray Burris, 1-1, led Montreal in the opener. Craig Swan threw 80 pitches in his first appearance since suffering a torn rotator cuff last July. In the second game, Dave Kingman hit his first home run of the season, igniting a five-run third with a tape measure, three-run shot in support of Pat Zachry.

Sanford's Tim Raines collected two hits in eight trips and stole a base in the twin bill.

Raines is leading the National League with five steals. The former Seminole three-sport star is seventh in the circuit in hitting with a .385 average. Phillies 7, Cubs 3

At Philadelphia, Keith Moreland doubled home the tiebreaking run to highlight a four-run eighth. Nino Espinosa picked up the victory, his first since August 14 of last year, as the Phillies extended their winning streak to six games. Braves 4, Glants 3

At Atlanta, Biff Pocoroba singled in two runs with one out in the ninth to help the Braves avert a sweep of a three-game series. Rick Camp, 2-0, was the winner while Greg Minton, 0-1, took the loss. Dale Murphy added a two-run homer for Atlanta while Jim Wohlford hit a solo shot for San Francisco. Phil Niekro struck out four to move into 12th place on the all-time strikeout list with 2,587.

Reliever Bobby Castillo saved the Dodgers victory over San Diego. LA has won 8-of-9 games.

At Houston, Omar Moreno lofted a tie-breaking sacrifice fly in the eighth and Rod Scurry sparkled in his first major-league start to help Pittsburgh complete a sweep.

Fighting A's Set Record, Fall 3-2

By United Press International

The Oakland A's won't forget Sunday's double-header with the Seattle Mariners for quite some time.

They will remember setting a major-league record for season-opening victories (11) with a 6-1 triumph in the first game. They will remember having the dream come to an end with a 3-2 loss in the nightcap.

But most of all they will remember Lenny Randle.

He was at the center of two bench-clearing brawls - including one in the second game that Oakland Coach Billy Martin implied had a lot to do with the A's losing for the first time this

After the A's went up 2-0 in the fourth inning, Randle, playing third base, put a hard tag on Tony Armas during a rundown play. As Randle, who had charged the mound to spark a brawl in the opener, completed a double play to end the inning, Armas went after him and the benches cleared for the second time of the day.

Play was delayed because fans littered the Seattle players and coaches with debris and Oakland starter Rick Langford then walked Randle to start the next inning. Seattle went on to score two runs and tie the game.

"Rick was still upset about that (incident) when he went out, and I know it bothered his concentration," said Martin. "He lost his concentration for that one inning and it cost us." Actually, it was Richie Zisk's tie-breaking home run off

Langford in the eighth inning, which made a winner of rookie Bryan Clark, 1-0, that ended Oakland's perfect start. Rangers 4, Yankees 0

At Arlington, Texas, Jon Matlack, who had given up 12 runs in his first two starts, pitched a four-hitter and retired 15 straight batters from the fourth to the ninth to help Texas beat New York for the second consecutive day.

Red Sox 9. White Sox 4 At Chicago, Gary Allenson hit a three-run homer, knocking out Ross Baumgarten, 1-1 in the fourth and powering Boston past the White Sox. Carlton Fisk collected two Chicago RBI on a bases-loaded walk off winner Bob Stanley, 2-1, and his fourth homer of the year.

Blue Jays 9, Tigers 1

At Toronto, Al Woods knocked in three runs with two doubles and Lloyd Moseby hit a two-run homer to help the Blue Jays snap a four-game losing streak and halt Detroit's winning streak at five. Mark Bomback pitched 7 2-3 innings to earn his first American League victory.

Royals 3, Orioles 2

Big Surprise! 'Dolly' Shows Up For Birthday

Arnold Tindel received an early "Surprise" birthday greeting at the Longwood Lincoln Mercury Showroom on Saturday afternoon...a Dolly Parton look-alike, a "Creatogram" sent by his wife, Margaret, called him into the showroom for a special "Happy Birthday" greeting.

"I just had to do something really special for this birthday, his 55th, Margaret said. We had a family celebration planned for Sunday, his actual birthday, but I felt he needed something really extra special, so I sent him "Dolly" while he was at work."

After Arnold recovered from his surprise, the family gathered at the Tindels' Lake Monroe home on Sunday for an informal poolside birthday party, including an Easter Egg hunt for the grandchildren, swimming and feasting on the fine food prepared for Arnold's special day.

Celebrating with Arnold were his mother. Mrs. Lorena Tindel, sons, Ronnie, with his wife, Evelyn, and their four children, and Mitch with his wife, Kim, and their two children; two daughters, Susan and Robin; and daughter-in-law, Susan with her three children.

Unable to attend was the couple's son, Michael, who is in Tallahassee attending the Highway Patrol Recruit Academy. The Tindels plan to attend his graduation on May 29.

Robert F. Karns of Karns Insurance Agency was honored with a luncheon Thursday at the Holiday Inn, Sanford Marina. Bob has spent 35 years as an agent for the Travelers Insurance Companies in Sanford.

Don McIntosh and 14 other representatives of the Orlando State Office of Travelers Insurance Companies met Bob and his wife, Dottle, at his office, then escorted them to the restaurant for an informal, friendly luncheon.

"We had a good time reminiscing," Bob said. "When you have been an agent for that many years, you have met a lot of people. Some have moved to others areas, some are now executives with the company, and some are retired."

He continued, "I remember April 16, 1946 very well. . . it is a date that stands out in my memory. I had returned from the service just a short while before and wasn't sure what I wanted to do. That day, April 16, I signed the contract with the Travelers Insurance Company, and my future was sealed. I married Dottie a couple of years later, and with her help, here I am, and it has been a good life."

Dr. Richard H. Dougherty, optometrist, has just returned from honing his professional skills at the Southern Educational Congress of Optometry.

Dr. Dougherty and his assistant, Anna Herbst, attended educational courses at the congress designed to enhance his proficiency as an optometrist and as a primary health care provider.

They also were aimed at bringing the doctors and their staff members up-to-date with the latest developments in the field of optometry and the whole sphere of eye care.

While at the congress, they took courses from among more than 170 hours of continuing education that covered everything from recognition of eye disease conditions to special care of people wearing contact lenses.

The courses were taught by recognized experts in vision health from colleges and universities, not only throughout the United States, but from abroad as well. The congress, one of the largest in the country, has been held

The Congress is sponsored by the 4,000-member Southern Council of Optometrists, a 12-state regional group whose purpose is the advancement of optometric professionism and was centered around the theme, "Excellence in Education...Proficiency in Practice."

Historian Squelches Rumor About Artist

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column you stated that Michelangelo was a homosexual. Abby, that was only a rumor, not an established fact! It was started by Pietro Aretino, a columnist and professional blackmailer who had hounded Michelangelo for some free drawings and was ignored. To get back at the artist, Aretino stated that Michelangelo was a homosexual, a rumor that has come down through the ages.

Ask Irving Stone, the author of "The Agony and the Ecstasy." He probably knows more about Michelangelo than anyone living today. Stone spent years researching Michelangelo's life, and had there been any proof of his homosexuality, I'm sure it would not have been omitted from his book.

CLARA STUART DEAR CLARA: I forwarded your letter to Irving Stone, world renowned historian and blographer, together with my own urgent "Help" message. His prompt reply (in part):

DEAR ABBY: Your correspondent, Clara Stuart, is entirely right, and quite knowledgeable in the bargain.

During the three years that my wife, Jean. and I lived in Italy researching the life of Michelangelo, we conferred in considerable length with all the authorities among the Italian historians, art critics and medical doctors who had made biographical studies of the time. In not one case did we find a scintilla of evidence to support the accusation that Michelangelo was a homosexual!

It is important to note that no one else alive at that time in Florence or Rome, either in correspondence, diaries, journals or published accounts, ever made such accusations against Michelangelo, Nevertheless, because of Aretino, the charge continued to be repeated by published authors who had made no attempt to verify it.

This charge of Arctino troubled me greatly, and I spent endless time trying to track down the truth. As Clara Stuart suggests, had I been able to prove Michelangelo's homosexuality, I would have felt oblied to include it in his life's story. I don't need to assure you, Abby, that I evaded nothing. However, there are still some few people who continue to perpetuate this charge against Michelangelo, but they offer absolutely no proof except the Arctino slander.

I do hope that you will find a few lines in your column to quote Clara Stuart, and you may, of course, use anything in this letter that you may want or need for confirmation.

YOUR BIRTHDAY April 21, 1981

Examine carefully investment proposals brought to you this coming year by persons who are lucky and successful. Some of their good fortune could rub off on you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) There are opportunities around you today for material gains from a source which you seldom tap. It produced for you before, so try it again now. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're a very good negotiator today. If there is an agreement which you would like to rework more to your benefit, bring it up for discussion.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're very productive today and capable of dealing with several important tasks simultaneously. Much can be accomplished if you heed to industrious impulses.

3 Prison Escapees Caught

STARKE, Fla. (UPI) - Three men, including one convicted murderer, who escaped from the Florida State Prison Monday were recaptured today. Guards, deputies and dogs continued the search for two other fugitives.

The five inmates cut through the fence and raced into the woods as tower guards fired at them.

Still at large were Dennis Pickle, 30, serving 30 years on robbery and assault with intent to commit a felony in Volusia and Orange counties, and Raymond Depres, 32, sentenced to five years in 1971 for breaking and entering in Duval County and serving extended terms for three escapes — two from Union Correctional Institution and one other from Florida State Prison.

Recaptured at 12:20 a.m. in a wooded area about four miles west of the prison was Ralph Magna, 28, serving a life plus five-year term for first degree murder and breaking and entering in Broward County. An officer spotted him on a road and, after he ducked back into the woods, he was flushed out.

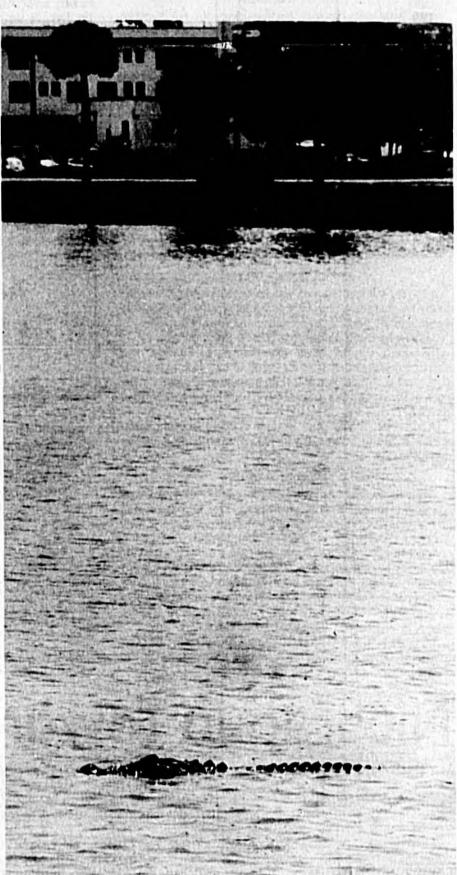

Shortly before 6 a.m. today search dogs found Manuel Talavera, 38, and Louis Ayendez, 34, in a swamp in the same general area. Talavera is serving 120 years for robbery and false arrest in Broward and Ayendez is serving 10 years for robbery in Hillsborough.

About 100 guards and Bradford County deputies, with dogs and 40 vehicles, were searching for the inmates, all clad in white kitchen-workers garb, prisons spokesman Vernon Bradford sald.

Bradford said the five, all kitchen workers, somehow reached the prison grounds and snipped through the fence with some kind of wire-cutters Monday night.

'They cut through the fence at the one place where we don't have razor ribbon, which is like coiled concerting wire,' and fired. We don't know if we hit any of them. They didn't stop."

As the guards fired, the men disappeared into woods about 200 yards from the fence, he said.

Bradford said. "Tower guards saw them CAPTAIN HOOK, BEWARE

County Approves Prisoner Work

By BRITT SMITH Herald Staff Writer

By a unanimous vote, the Seminole County Commission this morning attempted in one fell swoop to solve two nagging problems: 1) overcrowding at the county jail, and 2) the local manpower shortage resulting from cutbacks in a federal jobs program. Their solution: putting prisoners to work.

The first group of inmates is scheduled to be cleaning, painting, repairing, and mowing county property by May 1.

The new work-release program will focus initially on the increasing number of persons serving jail sentences on weekends. The county's new 226-bed facility is filled to overflowing during the week, but Friday through Sunday, when anywhere from 30 to 50 convicts show up at the jail to do their time, the problem grows even worse, forcing many inmates to sleep on mattresses on the floor.

> 'What the prisoners will be doing also depends on what type of skills they have."

As a result, Seminole County Sheriff John Polk has asked the commission to enlarge the fail, less than a year after the $4.9 million facility opened its doors. He wants a 100-bed dormitory-style addition that would house persons serving weekend sentences, trustees, and other minimum security inmates. Price tag for the project has not been determined.

The work-release program will "ease a bad situation, it won't solve it." Polk said. "We'll still have too many prisoners. We'll still need the jail ex-

Although "things will vary from week to week depending on what kind of work we need done," commissioner Sandra Glenn said most of the work-release prisoners probably will be used in the county's parks and recreation department which has been hit hard by cuts in the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) program.

"What the prisoners will be doing also depends on what type skills they have," Mrs. Glenn said, "If we have a welder or a heavy equipment operator in jail and we need that type of work done, we could make use of them."

Initially, the new work project will be aimed at primarily getting weekend prisoners out of crowded cells and into useful activity. Weekenders will spend their first Friday-Sunday behind bars so they get a taste of prison life. On subsequent weekends, they will not report to the jail, but will instead go straight to their assigned job site, put in a full day's work and go home.

Steve Saunders, jail administrator, said weekenders will require no special supervision. "There will be no guards." he said. "They will work under regular county department supervisors. Reports will be kept on them to make sure they're showing up and doing the work. If they don't, they go back to jail," Saunder said.

The second phase of the program will be geared toward trustees (minimum security inmates serving 'straight time' who could perform various tasks during the normal Monday-Friday work week.

While the only incentive for weekenders would be to avoid being locked up, trustees could qualify for 'good time' off, up to 11 days per month of their sentence, according to Saunders.

Persons who will be excluded from work-release will be inmates convicted of violent crimes or crimes against property. Preference will be given to persons involved in misdemeanors such as drunk driving or other traffic offenses. possession of small amounts of controlled substances, simple battery, forgery, or passing worthless checks

Saunders said a "careful look" will be taken at those charged with selling or dealing in illicit drugs.

Stuck-Up Burglar Takes Vow

Glenn Clark tried to break into a clothing store but got caught in a chimney for six days.

"I'll never steal again," vowed Clark, 24. "Now I know there's a God."

Clark at first told authorities he climbed onto the roof of Reiss' Men and Boys Shop April 13 to commit suicide, and wound up in the store's chimney. But police said Clark was one of two men who tried to break into the store that night. They caught one bail.

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) - Police say suspect. Another was last seen running across rooftops. A woman walking her dog past the store Easter Sunday heard muffled calls for help and notified police. Clark was found on his knees, stuck inside the chimney.

He was taken to the Mercer Medical Center, where he was given a meal his first in nearly a week - and treated for cuts and bruises.

He was arrested, charged with burglary and ordered held on $7,500

You May Lose Only Half Home's Value

Can't Pay Your Property Taxes?

By TOM HILLSTROM

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) - A homeowner losing title to his property for non-payment of taxes would get at least half of the house's assessed value under a bill approved today by the House.

The measure was passed 82-11 and sent to the Senate.

The bill (HB 607) by the House Finance and Tax Committee would require speculators to bid at least the back taxes, interest, certain fees and one-half of the value listed for the property on tax rolls before a tax deed sale.

House members defeated an amendment Monday that would have left existing law largely as it is with the minimum bid requirement applying only to homes with unpaid tax bills of less than

Finance and fax Chairman Steve

Palcic, D-Jacksonville, said the bill is intended as a "clean up" of the Kenon Law which was passed in December 1979 but opponents contended the measure would expand the law in a way that could hamper counties in cracking down on tax delinquents. The 1979 law was prompted by the case of Hattie Mae and Fedo Kenon, an elderly couple who lost their modest Quincy home to a speculator because they owed $3.05 in property taxes. A court later returned title to the Kenons in the interest of justice and the Kenon Law was intended to prevent

The Finance and Tax Committee, however, said the law contains a loophole because its key protection applies only to tax debts of less than $100. This provision requires a minimum bid of the back taxes, interest, certain fees and one-half a home's assessed value before its title can be taken from the owner.

Reps. Barry Kutun, D-Miami Beach, Tom Gallagher, R-Coconut Grove, and Ron Richmond, R-Holiday, offered the amendment to limit the minimum bid requirement to tax bills of less than $100.

House members killed the amendment homeowners from losing their property requirements to other tax deeds involving commercial, agriculture and fulltime residences. Pajcic said this proved the bill would have little effect on counties but the three amendment sponsors contended the measure would open the door to lawsuits extending the minimum bid of 1,011 tax deeds sold in fiscal year 1978-

79, only three were for homes used as investment properties. "There is an equal protection argument," said Kutun, adding: "I haven't heard a hue and cry in this state that we need this."

Casselberry Says 'No' Again To Builder Planning Condo

Herald Blaff Writer Casselberry City Councilmen rejected

in a work session Monday the final compromise building plans submitted by the Bonaire Company for its 44-acre tract in the Lake Howell area.

In a letter addressed to City Attorney Kenneth W. McIntosh, attorneys representing Bonaire, Inc. asked commissioners to consider revised building plans which reduce the density and height of the original buildings to comply with planning and zoning requirements.

Casselberry citizens in a previous public hearing had denounced Bonaire's plans to construct residential units adjacent to Lake Howell, contending the complex would add to already congested city traffic.

Bonair attorney Gene H. Godbold, who has filed suit against Casselberry on the company's behalf, asked council members to consider the project again since revisions now call for 6-story $12,686.30 for "earth work," the Orlando buildings adth 695 units Frank Schutte, council members told Godbold they could not consider approval of the revised plans because zoning requirements specify a maximum of 12 units per acre. Litigation against the city was filed several weeks ago by Bonaire principles who are appealling to the courts for approval of their construction plans. According to Godbold, the case has been complicated by the nature of the legal action. City ordinances are involved he told council members.

Godbold appealed to city officials after the plan rejection to draw up plans themselves which they deem acceptable and let the company consider them.

On another matter, McIntosh received permission from the Council to fight a suit recently filed against the city by Mason, Inc.

Claiming that the city owes them company mas their suit in the Seminole Following the lead of Councilman County Circuit Courts to force payment, In a series of change orders which were contracted with the city, Mason was hired to remove a layer of muck in th Lake Triplett Drive area and replace It with new earth.

> This process, called "import fill," is designed to upgrade the soil's quality. According to Ray Mason, owner of Mason, Inc., the import fill orders which were originally agreed upon did not sufficiently cover the area which had been designated for muck removal. But the company proceeded until the entire project had been completed, thereby incurring the additional cost.

City Engineer Ken Ehlers, who contracted several hundred thousand dollars In earth work with Mason in several change orders for the Lake Howell project, said the $12,686,30 had not been paid because it represented work which exceeded provisions of the contract.
