ATLANTIC FLEET WAS WELL PREPARED SAYS ADMIRAL MAYO

Personnel On Peace Basis But Well Trained CONVOY WAS POOR

FOR TRANSPORT ANTILLES HAVING BEEN WEAKENED BY RETURN OF ESCORTING SHIP.

Washington, March 31.—The Atlantic fleet never was better prepared for water than when it came from Cuban waters late in March, 1917, after its winter battle practice, Rear Admiral Henry T. Mayo, commander of the Atlantic battle fleet, today told the senate investigating committee looking into the navy's conduct of the war.

The personnel was on a peace basis and was somewhat inadequate the admiral said, but officers and men were confident and well trained and target practice in southern water had shown gratifying results.

No written plan or policy for the participation of the fleet in the war was given him when the United States joined the allies Rear Admiral M. Mayo testified but in conversations with Admiral Benson, chief of naval operations and other department heads informed him of what was expected.

Rear Admiral Wm. B. Fletcher continued as the witness today in the naval court investigation of the circumstances which led to Admiral Sims' removal of the officer from the short command in October 1917, shortly after the transport Antilles was torpedoed and sunk by under convoy of his forces. The officer faced cross examination by his counsel, counsel for Admiral Sims having finished with the witness yesterday.

Admiral Fletcher testified during cross examination that the main difficulty in assuring the safe escort of troops or transports arriving off the French coast, lay in the absence of dependable information as to when they would arrive.

The escort of the convoy, which included the transport Antilles, had been weakened the night before that vessel was sunk by the return to fleet of one of the escorting yachts on account of a heavy sea.

"The escorting yacht Kanawha left the convoy on the night of October 16 because of the rough weather," Admiral Fletcher testified, leaving the Antilles and two other transports with only two yachts as an escort. The Antilles was sunk about dawn the next morning.

Admiral Fletcher previously had testified that operation of his escort forces composed entirely of converted yachts up to that time had been seriously handicapped on several occasions by rough weather, which destroyers, he said, could have faced without trouble.

FLORIDA ELKS WILL MEET IN LAKELAND

STATE ASSOCIATION B. P. O. E. WILL BE ROYALLY ENTERTAINED IN "CONVENTION CITY."

The annual meeting of the State Association, B. P. O. E., to be held in Lakeland on April 8 and 9, bids fair to be the largest attended and most important meeting that the association has ever held. From all parts of the State where Elk Lodges are situated word is being sent that they are coming in goodly numbers and in most instances the delegations will be augmented by the wives and daughters of the members.

The local committees have matters well in hand and are arranging for the entertainment of all who come. Special entertainment in the way of card parties, auto sightseeing tours and luncheons and the meet will end with an Elks' hop on the night of April 9th.

There are many questions of importance to the Order that will come up for discussion at the meetings of the association and as there are many able speakers among the regular delegates as well as special speakers slated for addresses, a real treat is store for those who attend.

The session will be opened on the morning of the 8th with an open meeting, to which the public are invited, at which an opportunity will be afforded to hear a number of very able speakers on topics of interest to Elks and others as well.

Lakeland is getting to be known as a "Convention City" and is fast getting a reputation for putting things across in such a way as to make people feel like coming again. Lakeland has never had the opportunity to manifest her spirit of hospitality to a better bunch of people than she will have on the occasion of this annual meeting of the "Bill" and it is up to Lakeland folks to send each visitor home at the conclusion of the meet with a feeling that they have been given a better time in Lakeland than they have ever had in any other town. —Lakeland Telegram.

FEAR YANKEE SLANG

British Afraid Youth of Land Will Be Corrupted.

Film Subtitles Seen as Menace to Vaunted English Purity of Speech.

London.—England is apprehensive lest the vocabularies of her youth become corrupted through incursions of American frequency with which resort is made to "Yankee talk" by British song and play writers seeking to enliven their productions. Bands and orchestras throughout the country when playing popular music, play American selections almost exclusively. American songs monopolize the English musical hall and musical comedy stage.

It is the sub-title of the American moving picture film which, it is feared, constitutes the most menacing threat of vaunted English purity of speech. "The child at the pictures is picking up a new language from the slummy American films," says a critic in a contribution to the London Daily News headed "The Vulgar Tongue."

"I visited two picture theaters to day for the express purpose of collecting slang phrases and of noticing the effect of the new language on the child as well as on the adult. When the villain said to the hero, when the latter started to argue with him was 'Cut out that dope,' and a hundred pling voices repeated the injunction. The comic man announced his marriage to the belle of Lamberton by saying, 'I'm hitched.'

"Of course, the American child can comprehend these things much better than the British child, who is quite unfamiliar with such phrases. Imagine a child going home to mother and asking the meaning of 'dope.' We may admire the terseness of the phrase 'forget it,' but does the sub-title 'The Bun's Gone Daffy' convey anything to a theater full of cockneys?"

"In another picture a man trafficked secretly with Indians, exchanging bottles of 'fire water' for beaver skins. The picture was subtitled 'The Bootlegger.'"

Candlemas Day.
On Candlemas day the Christmas decorations are taken down in the churches, as it is the Feast of the Purification, or the Presentation of Christ in the Temple. The term "Candlemas" is used owing to the practice of the early church, when lighted candles were carried in the procession in memory of Simon's words at the presentation of the infant Saviour: "To be a light to lighten the Gentiles."

Unknown Influences.
The rhythmic law of nature merits wide study. But we have collected enough evidence to show that body growth in children, body weight in adults, appetite for food, fitness for work, the recurrence of illness, periodic mental depression, tendency to crime, impulsion to suicide, rise and fall of blood temperature, and falling in love are all influenced by a mysterious vibration.

Jury Says Wiretappers Are Not Guilty

Clearwater, March 30.—"We the jury, find the defendants not guilty." Such was the verdict rendered late Saturday afternoon by the circuit court jury which for three days has heard evidence introduced by the state to prove the five men who conducted what was called the "Turf Exchange" at Tarpon Springs were guilty of attempted grand larceny. The verdict caused a great deal of surprise and there was much indignation expressed by citizens.

The defense offered no testimony but confined itself to the arguments by defense attorneys. The jury retired at 1:25 o'clock after being charged by Judge O. K. Reeves, but filed back into the court room soon afterward with a request that some of the exhibits produced in evidence be sent to the jury room. Judge Reeves explained that all the paraphernalia was in the court room and might be examined there. The jury again retired and in less than an hour returned with a verdict of not guilty. This, was at 2:30 o'clock. "The jury is discharged," said Reeves grimly.

Trial of the defendants on another indictment was set for Thursday next at 9 a. m. This will be under the indictment for operating a gambling place. The men were returned to jail in default of bond.

Lake Is Running

The Star Advocate of Titusville in speaking of the many candidates who had come into the editorial sanctum in the past few days has the following about Forest Lake: "The next day a keen-looking gentleman with a crash hat (and, of course, other things on) came rambling in. It was Forest Lake, and he was so breezy he reminded us of both. He is running for Congress, and to judge from his quick way of doing things he is some runner. "Print this announcement," he said, as his coat-tails disappeared down stairs."

Will Meet in Lakeland

The auxiliary of the St. John's Presbytery will be entertained here Thursday and Friday of this week by the ladies of the First Presbyterian church. There will be three meetings each day to which the general public is cordially invited. Delegates from the entire Presbytery which includes all of South Florida are expected and the local women are arranging for their entertainment. A feature of the first evening is a beautiful pageant which is being prepared.

Out-of-town speakers who have been procured for the meetings include: Rev. E. D. Brownlee, of Sanford, chairman of the Presbyterian progressive program; Dr. L. Ross Lynn, president of Thornwell orphanage; Miss Carrie Lee Campbell, of Richmond, Va., and Rev. Daffin, a missionary recently returned from Brazil.—Lakeland Star.

Ranchers Fight To Keep Vast Army Of Worms From Crops.

El Centro, Cal. March 30.—A vast army of worms traveling toward the green fields of the Imperial valley from the desert west of Dixieland in this county, were met and fought by ranchers who were prepared today to place poison on the bridges across the irrigation ditches and prevent the entry of the worms.

Where the worms came from is not known. The desert is reported covered with them over an area of several square miles. They are moving in what those who have seen them declare seems a never-ending migration toward the growing crops of the valley.

Where the worms cross a paved highway motorcars skids as on a greasy track.

GERMAN SOCIALISTS MAKE DEMAND

THAT GOVERNMENT SUSPEND MILITARY OPERATIONS OR STRIKE WILL BE CALLED.

Berlin March 31 (By Associated Press) The Socialist leaders sent an ultimatum to the government demanding the immediate suspension of the military measures in the Ruhr district under the threat of renewing the general strike. Three o'clock Thursday was the time set as the limit.

No Trace Of Aviators Lost In Everglades

Miami, March 30.—No trace has been found of Lieutenant Omar Niergarth, army aviator, who has been missing from Catstrom field, Arcadia, this state, since Tuesday. Searching parties from Arcadia reached Miami late yesterday afternoon, and these planes and others from Curtiss field are out over the Everglades again today in an endeavor to gain some information as to the fate of the lost aviator.

It was reported yesterday afternoon that a plane had been sighted off Miami westward, and two of the three de Havilland planes left at once to follow up the clue. However, they were not able to see anything that looked like a plane.

The three planes stayed at Curtiss field last night, and about 9 o'clock this morning left again to continue the search. They will return to Curtiss field after several hours of flying, it is expected. One of the de Havilland planes is having motor trouble and was not in shape to leave this morning.

Florida Girl Breaks World Discus Record

Tallahassee March 31.—The Florida State College for Women held its annual field day last week, and the events were brought to a close Thursday and the honors awarded in the auditorium before the student body and many interesting friends of the contestants.

A large group of spectators were present on both days of the contests and rapturous enthusiasm was displayed. The Odds and Evens showed true class spirit, and stood behind their men till the last. This field day is considered the most successful one in the entire history of the college.

Miss Helen Warlow, president of the athletic association, presided at the meeting when the honors were announced, and she was assisted by rent.

She is the first woman to be elected to the position and succeeds Dr. W. F. Blackman, who has held the place for five years.

Mrs. Tippetts was unofficially notified of her election at the annual meeting held at Winter Park in a letter from Dr. Blackman and later officially notified by W. Scott Way, of Winter Park, secretary and treasurer of the state organization.—St. Petersburg Times.

WILL WOMEN VOTE

Suffrage May Be Ratified Today, Giving Women Votes.

Miss Elizabeth Skinner of Dunedin who represented Mrs. J. T. Fuller in Atlanta at the recent conference of Suffrage Leagues, has returned and is the guest of Mrs. Fuller for the day. Miss Skinner is the vice president of the State Equal Suffrage League and also vice president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs. Both Mrs. Fuller and Miss Skinner are eagerly watching the action of Delaware which today votes on the ratification of the equal suffrage bill. There are necessary 36 states to ratify to make the bill constitutional, and there are 35 which have already signed the bill onceore being needed to make equality of suffrage a law.

If Delaware fails to ratify, Tennessee stands next in line, and will without a doubt, sign the bill, so the fact of the establishing of the law seems almost a foregone conclusion. When this last needed state ratifies all the states of the union, and of course Florida is included, will automatically merge into the Equal Suffrage League and all the women who are eligible under the same rule which effects the man voter will be full and accepted citizens with the power of casting a ballot, not only in state matters, but national as well. —Reporter Star.

One Way To Get Umbrella

"That's a fine umbrella you carry, isn't it?" "Yes." "Did you come buy it honestly?" started to rain the other day and I stepped into door way to wait till it stopped, then I saw a young fellow coming along with a nice large umbrella, and I thought if he were going as far as my house I would beg shelter of his camp. So I stepped out and asked, "Where are you going with that umbrella, young fellow?" and he dropped the umbrella and ran." —London Highbly.

Labor Candidates Win In Election

Dex Moines, Ia. March 31.—Returns compiled today for municipal elections throughout the state yesterday, show that the labor party candidates were, for the most part, successful in most of the larger towns.

In Waterloo, all but two union labor candidates were elected by a comfortable majority.

Cedar Rapids, under commission form of government, re-elected the present mayor.

In Burlington, the labor candidate for mayor was successful.

At Clinton, labor party candidates won in all but two instances.

CAR SHORTAGE CONTINUES

Truck Growers Are Using Common Box Cars For Petishables

Miami, March 31.—Tomato growers are facing increasing car shortage the situation becoming worse instead of better as the days go by, according to reports made this morning by leading shippers. Dozens of cars of tomatoes were shipped out last week in common box cars which provide so little protection for the vegetables that it is almost impossible to get them to the market in decent shape so that they will sell for enough to pay the freight charges and give the growers a profit. The situation is much worse than one week ago, it is said.

About 300 carloads left the coast last week, it is estimated, which was probably the biggest week's movement of the season. From now on the movement will drop off a little each week, it is expected. Thomas A. Peters is moving from 12 to 15 carloads a day, and the Florida East Coast Growers' association from 18 to 20 carloads a day. The Hardie farms are also shipping heavily.

Chuck Steaks Good As Substitute For Costly Porterhouse

Washington March 31.—"Those persons interested in the economics of the campaign to 'Save Money on Meat' by utilization of the less costly cuts, particularly those of the forequarter, should note the following excerpts from a statement on the subject by the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture:

"If the people in general could realize the value of meat from the forequarter as compared with that from the hindquarter and would use more of it, prices of meat as a whole would be greatly reduced and would be more stable.

"People should use more forequarter meats and reduce prices of living. Any of the forequarter meat is good for making meat loaves or liberty steak, while in some markets, steaks are cut from the rib and sell as short cut steaks."

"In the same statement, the Bureau of Markets has said: "Because of its reputation as the choicest cut, the people ask for porterhouse steak, whereas if they would try a chuck steak, the chances are it would prove to be satisfactory and it would cost much less. The reputation of porterhouse steak with the consequent large demand for it coupled with the fact that this cut forms only a very small per cent of the carcass causes it to sell at a higher price than any other cut."

CARY A. HARDEE IS OPPOSED TO COMPULSORY MILITARY TRAINING IN TIMES OF PEACE

In view of the fact that a number of my friends in different sections of the State have written me to know what my attitude is in regard to compulsory military training in times of peace, I wish now to answer those inquiries, and to define for the benefit of these and any others who may be interested in the subject, exactly where I stand on that question. When we were at war with Germany, and when the very existence of civilization, (as we understand civilization), was threatened with destruction, I advocated publicly compulsory military training, so that we might better equip our army with trained men to match the German military machine. At that time our unpreparedness was conceded by all who were superficially acquainted with the facts and the urgent need for better trained men was universally advocated and demanded. No one could tell how long the war would continue. Some military experts prophesied that it would not end for ten years, and if we continued to send green men to France to cope with the trained veterans of Germany, it was unreasonable to expect a speedy termination of the strife. But now that the war is happily over, and there is no further need for a large standing army, I am uncompromisingly opposed to compulsory military training or to any other military system, that would tend to convert our country into an armed camp in times of peace. I might add, however, that the Congress of the United States, and not the Governors of the States, determine the military policy of this country.

Yours very truly,
CARY A. HARDEE.

IS WOMAN'S RIGHT

Leap-Year Privilege Has Long Been Accorded.

Custom by Which She Is at Liberty at That Time to Choose Her Life Partner is Ancient and Honorable.

According to an old myth, a girl aspiring to matrimony in leap year is at liberty not only to choose her life partner, but should the man of her choice by any chance feel indisposed to wander by her side he is under obligation to soften her disappointment by proffering a silk gown and a kiss.

In these days, when the prices for valment of any material, not to mention silk, have soared to such inaccessible heights, it might be advantageous for a man "to cherish and obey" repent and rue, for the rest of his quota on earth rather than produce the price for an all-silk gown.

An old law, said to have existed in Scotland in the year 1288 may afford additional comfort to skeptical spinners of today, even to the extent of rejuvenating their hopes for securing during the coming year a spouse, a silk gown, a kiss, or all three; at all events, it will doubtless instill further assurance as to the veracity of this timeworn but none the less tender privilege. This law reads:

"It is statut and ordaint that during the rein of her mast blissit Megeste, for ilk yeare knowne as lepe yeare, ilk mayden layde of bothe highe and lowe estait, shall hae liberte to bespeke ye man she likes, albeif he refuses to talk her to be his lawful wyfe, he shall be mulcted in yo sum'ane pundis or less as his estait may be; except and avif gif he can make it appeare that he is betrothit ane lither women, he then shall be free."

A few years later a similar law in France received the approval of the king. It is also said that before Columbus sailed on his famous voyage a like privilege was granted to the maidens of Florence and Genoa.

A curious little book entitled "Love, Courtship and Matrimony," published in London in 1006, contains the following contribution apropos to the subject:

"Albeit it nowe become a part of the common lawe in regard to social relations of life, that as often as every leap yeare doth return, the ladies have the sole privilege during the time it continueth of making love, either by wordes or looks, as to them it seemeth proper, and, moreover, no man will be entitled to benefit of clergy, who doth in any wise treat here with slight or contumely."—New York Evening Sun.

seum with her mother. Both were newcomers in the town and were taking their first sightseeing tour. Nelli glanced up at the sign in front of the museum: "Man-eating shark. Fifteen cents admission." So the two passed on.

Two or three hours later mother and daughter came back by the same route and again passed the museum. The sign, of course was still there. Nelli could not be silenced. "Is that man still eating the shark?" she asked. "I should think he would get tired."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Air Parcel Post.

Among the national requirements voiced by delegates to the late Pan-American financial congress in Washington was the suggestion by the Brazilians that there be established an international training ground for development of an aviation service between the Americas, to be used for parcel post services. The conference voted to request the governments of the United States and Brazil to appoint a joint commission to study possibilities of communication.

Some Nut.

Gasser was at his club and had held forth on the League of Nations for a full hour.

"That is the situation in a nutshell," he declared at the close.

"Heavens!" exclaimed one of the members: "what a nut!"—Boston Transcript.

Couldn't Stand It.

A little boy in Frankfort refused to go with Christmas baskets this year. He remembered his last year's experience.

Following her usual custom last year, his mother sent a basket to one of her husband's employees. In the basket were placed candy, nuts and, on this occasion, some candy animals she found which had been given her own children on the previous Christmas. The little daughter and son were dispatched with the basket and on arriving were invited in. Following their childish inclination, they eagerly looked on while the contents of the basket were opened and admired.

Especially did the children seem to appreciate the candy animals. They were in the act of eating them when the little boy to whom, the year before this pleasure had been denied, could stand it no longer.

"Oh," he exclaimed pathetically, "these are the ones mamma gave us last Christmas."—Indianapolis News.

MONDAY NOT POPULAR DAY

Through the Ages It Has Had an Evil Repute, Kif for Various Good and Foolish Reasons.

Monday has always had a bad reputation. It began with one when it was first called Monday, or moonday, the day on which people felt moony, which is to say loony. The day before was sun-day, and the primitive Saxons having probably suffered from being too much in the sun thought it was time to worship the moon and to name a day in her honor.

Out of that original insult have grown innumerable others as Black Monday, Blue Monday, Monday Land, Mondayish and kindred variations which you will find in the dictionary, says the San Francisco Bulletin. And seeing that this is Monday, and that you are probably afflicted with its psychological associations, let us save you the trouble of turning to Webster.

There is quite a lot about Monday in the dictionary. After puzzling through the derivations you come to: Black Monday—Easter Monday, 1300; a remarkably dark day on which there were violent hailstorms; hence any Easter Monday. At boys' schools the first Monday after the holidays. Blue Monday—in Bavaria, the first Monday before Lent, so named from the blue color of the church decorations. A time and occasion when the spirits are depressed.

Monday Land—Land whose possession by a cottager depended upon his laboring for his lord one day in the week, usually on a Monday.

Mondayish—Like a clergyman on Monday; tired out.

With boys returning to school after the holidays, congregations faced with blue church decorations, cottagers working a dead horse, and clergymen recovering from their Sunday sermons on that day, is it any wonder that Monday has an evil reputation?

Fishing in Hawaii.

The boat which the Hawaiians use for fishing and porpoise hunting is very long and narrow, pointed, and curved upwards at either end, and capable of holding five or six men

By an ingenious system of "outrigger," the terrific surf is rendered almost powerless to upset the craft; for standing out from one side of the boat are two light poles, across the ends of which is lashed a beam similar in shape and length to the boat's keel, so that at a distance you might think you saw two boats fixed parallel to each other. The outrigger forms a stay to the boat on the side wherever it is fixed, and the other side is equally supported because only a very great strain could possibly weigh up such a contrivance.

The paddling is done from the stern, and fishing begins as soon as the little vessel is clear of the reefs; and in a very few hours she has as many fish as she can hold. The catch is taken ashore alive in pots, and skin buckets, and disposed of at the public market, many of the islanders consuming it not only uncooked, but still living.—New England Fisheries.

Hunting Alaskan Bear.

The Alaskan bears have been hunted with perfect safety from boats among the coastal islands, and they are also comparatively easy to kill along the streams where they come in the fall to catch salmon. In this hunting the hunter lies in wait, and pots brail from a safe distance. But at that time of the year the fur is not prime. The true sportsman goes up into the mountains in the early spring, still hunts his bear and kills him often at close quarters—unless he gets killed himself.

The Chipmunk.

The chipmunk is a prodigious quantity of food; sometimes a peck or more of nuts and grain, and when staidly hidden in his winter burrow the mouth of which he closes when the cold season arrives, a hard winter has no terrors for him. His enemies, the hawks, owls and weasels, may go hungry, but safe in the bosom of mother earth, with the warm mantle of snow above him, the chipmunk passes a cozy winter, in the midst of comfort and plenty, dreaming of the time when the south wind will blow and the squirrel cups shall open once more.—Boys' Life.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The former Kaiser is becoming useful in his days of isolation. He spends practically all of his time in sawing wood.

Ambassador Martens representing the soviet government of Russia will be deported. Not so smart as he thought himself.

The weather is warming up and the candidates will proceed to warm up and between now and June 8th there will be something doing.

The census reports so far show that the boys from the country are filling up the various cities and the boys and the farms will suffer thereby

Just to let us know that they are still at the old stand the Southern Utilities Co., cuts off the power every day or so for an hour or so and so the old story goes.

Every one who visited Sanford this year has been charmed with the city, with the people, and with the hotels. And next year we will charm them with better facilities in every way, also a White Way.

Melbourne Times refers to the "popular tax collector" in that county, and we wonder if there is really such a thing.—Times Union. Yes, we have one in Seminole county also. He is so popular that he never has any opposition.

The Tampa Tribune says people are "knocking on Wood" in Pinehills county and we also learn that Fletcher is skinning a cat in Live Oak and other candidates are doing other and sundry things in different parts of the state.

Next Sunday is Easter Sunday and Sanford merchants should be informing their customers of this fact by breaking out with some choice Easter advertising. Easter Time is Dreas Up Time all over the world and especially is this true of Florida where one can be assured that the beautiful snow will not fall on the spring suits.

OUR CONGRESSMAN.—The St. Augustine Record the other day had a fine article about Hon. Walter Corbett describing him as a thorough business man who had been at the head of affairs during his active life and thought he would make a good congressman. So he would, but the requisites called for by the Record fit Hon. Forrest Lake of this city who has already shied his castor into the Congressional arena and if the St. Augustine people want a thorough business man who has been at the head of big things in the state, one who has had years of legislative ability, one who has served his city as mayor and one who has risen from the ranks of the workman to be a leader in thought, and action they have the right man in Forest Lake. Look him over, Harry, before you bring out any more candidates. You know him and know what a great big place he has filled here and in Tallahassee and other places.

UNCLE SAM'S LONG ARM. You can't get away from your Uncle Samuel and no matter whether you are a malefactor or a draft dodger the long arm of the federal law will get you in the end. Grover Cleveland Bergdall, the wealthy Philadelphia youngster who thought he would rather have a good time than to serve in the American army slipped out from home and travelled all over the world dodging the draft. After the war he came back home and was caught in the cellar of his mother's home and all of his money would not keep him from coming to trial last week and he was sentenced yesterday to serve five years in prison. Rich and poor look alike to Uncle Sam when it comes to dodging the draft. It is not often that America calls for her sons but when she does the sons had better all come running.

THIS ONE GOT CAUGHT. The conviction of Senator Newberry of Michigan brings to mind the old days when Senator Lorimer of Illinois was expelled from the senate for having purchased his seat. Lorimer was caught and paid the penalty. Newberry was caught, and is in process of sharing Lorimer's fate, with a prison sentence added if the supreme court sustains the verdict of the lower court. If Mr. Newberry is tried before the bar of the senate will his judges all be of clean hands and minds and hearts?

Will there be none among them who has spent more than the law allows in securing his election? Will a halo of spotless purity wreath the brows of these distinguished gentlemen who must pass judgement upon the acts of their fellow senator? We wonder—yes we wonder!

FLORIDA'S WONDERFUL WATERWAYS. The announcement was made the other day from West Palm Beach that McCoy Brothers were planning to establish a regular line of steamers from Jacksonville to Palm Beach to carry passengers and freight and connect with their line from Palm Beach to Moore Haven, on Lake Okeechobee and to make further connection there with the line to be operated from Moore Haven to Fort Myers and Tampa.

If this is accomplished and the inland waterways are kept open in good shape it means that we can have water transportation to a score of important points between the two largest cities in Florida, covering a distance of nearly 500 miles. It is not so much that through freight will be carried that distance but local shipments can be made from all points to connect with the through freights and passengers will be given an opportunity to enjoy a beautiful ride and see the country at its best. This line will also help to develop many new sections and prove great assistance to new settlers in marketing their products.

The possibilities of inland water transportation in Florida are almost unlimited and are really surprising to those who have not given the matter any particular study. Look at our wonderful St. Johns river waterway from Jacksonville to Palatka, Crescent City and Sanford, with its fine steamers plying daily and providing a scenic route for passengers and a convenient shipping line for producers and business houses. This magnificent waterway could easily be developed to its source and with a short canal could be made to connect with the Indian river at a point near Melbourne, providing another route that would be attractive and beneficial.

The beautiful Ocklawaha river from Palatka to Silver Springs has been a noted scenic route for years and this could easily be extended to pass through the wonderful chain of lakes in Lake county and on into the Withlacoochee river, through a fine section to the gulf. The Suwannee river, which has been famous in song and story for a century, with its many tributaries, could be developed to form a chain of commercial and tourist waterways through the northern portion of the state and these could be made beneficial to the producers and would serve to introduce these sections to the tourists, who would be glad to make these trips if passenger boats were provided. The Apalachicola river is already a navigable stream from the gulf to the junction of the Chattahoochee and the Flint river and regular lines of boats are operated on these rivers now and could be increased, especially if a connection could be made along the gulf between the Withlacoochee and the Suwannee and the Apalachicola, so tourists could make a continuous trip through this wonderfully fertile section.

The canals leading from the Atlantic ocean and the inland waterways along the coast into Lake Okeechobee from Stuart, Palm Beach, Fort Lauderdale and Miami area, or will, all be navigable for boats drawing not over five feet of water and the canal and the Caloosahatchee river form an outlet for these to the gulf and on these regular lines are now being operated and hundreds of private yachts are passing through them, viewing the wonders of the famed Everglades and the big inland lake.

There are many other waterways in the state that could be developed into commercial and tourist routes and the hundreds of beautiful lakes would have a charm for the visitors that would and new best to their stay in the sunshine state and provide entertainment and recreation for them. A state inland waterways association might be organized for the furtherance of these projects and an educational campaign would undoubtedly have the effect of arousing an interest in this plan to assist in the development of the state in every section.—Times Union.

WHAT TALLAHASSEE HAS DONE

Some time ago Tallahassee, the State Capital, adopted a city manager form of municipal government, with three commissioners. This form of managing the city's affairs has been in progress for about a month, and so pleasing has it been to that city that the Tallahassee Democrat publishes a list of accomplishments, which, to our mind, indicates that no city should hesitate a moment in following suit. We will await with interest a report of the cost, per capita of conducting the city government.

Palatka's cost at present, for a city government, is approximately $11.00 per capita. In the list of sixteen cities which have adopted the city manager form of government the cost conducting the city's affairs is averaged at eighty cents per capita.

Following is the summary printed in the Democrat, of Tallahassee's experience:

The commission-manager form of government has been in operation in Tallahassee exactly one month and the commission has accomplished the following things in that time. city clerk and auditor, chief of fire department, two firemen, chief of police, two policemen, abolished six paid officers by failing to elect when their terms expired, thereby saving more than the cost of the city manager's salary.

Consolidated the utilities book-keeper, city clerk, auditor, treasurer, assessor and collector of taxes, who with two assistants does the entire work.

Advertised for bids from banks to act as city depository, received bids from all of the banks, awarded the contract to the highest bidder, the exchange Bank, which pays 3 1/4 per cent. on daily balances, whereas nothing was paid previously.

Opened city tax books and collected over half the taxes, advertising that all would be delinquent after April 1.

Adopted a voucher system requiring the names of the city manager, city clerk and two out of three of the commissioners to appear by signature on each voucher and cheque before the depository will pay out the funds.

Put the city clerk and treasurer under bond to the city and his assistants under bond to him—no other officer or employe is allowed to handle cash.

Put the depository under bond as required by the charter to hold the trust funds (interest and sinking) intact.

Rejected all bids for $212,000

and FALLING HAIR For Sale By BOWER & ROUMILLAT

bond issue because they were estimated to be too low, the best being ninety-five, eighty-five and accrued interest.

Has inaugurated a campaign to get a price for the bonds in keeping with the credit and resources of the city.

Opened bids for new electric and gas plants, with nineteen machinery bidders present or represented.

Purchased electrical and steam machinery to amount of $180,000.

Purchased an entire new gas plant on the water gas principle guaranteed to make four times the gas produced by the old plant. Price to be paid $46,000.

Found the city had a floating indebtedness of $30,000 over and above any funds in the treasury.

Found the public utilities costing more than $1,500 per month over the total gross receipts.

Found the water rates being collected quarterly while all other utilities were collected monthly.

Found the rates inadequate to meet the cost of operation, unjust to the small consumer and greatly favoring the large consumer at the expense of the taxpayers, who must meet the deficit; abrogated the contracts and re-adjusted the rates on a business basis.

Consolidated the street, sanitary and cemetery working forces of the city under one head.

Elected a municipal judge, whose court has paid expenses.

Held night sessions during the month attending to your business, of them lasting till near midnight. The commission draws no salary.—Palatka News.

Two tables of bridge was enjoyed during the evening. Invited to meet Mrs. Roumillatt were Mrs. F. L. Miller, Mrs. Wiegand, Mrs. W. C. Hill, Mrs. Chas. Britt, Mrs. Archie Betts, Mrs. Ed Lane, Mrs. J. The Isle of Dogs. The Isle of Dogs, facing Greenwich hospital, as flat a bit of land as one could wish to see, is to be made to blossom again, if not as the rose, at any rate as much as it lies within the power of a garden city to make it. In the days when Greenwich was the royal residence, the kings of England ferried across to the north shore to visit their farms, or, as with Henry VIII, the kennels in which his hounds were kept. Since then the face of the land has been covered with wharves and warehouses, while the West India docks have severed it from Poplar and mainland. The new garden city is to cover nine acres by the old Mill-wall football ground. The houses and flats will have gardens of their own, the roads are to be lined with trees, and the number of modern appliances is to make the Isle of Dogs' new residential quarter the envy of the whole of the east end. On the west of the Isle is Limehouse reach, with its favor of Rogue Riderhood and the undentifiable Mill Pond bank, Chink's basin, and the Old Green Copper ropewalk.

It Stops Them. In the western part of Brown county a farmer has found a plan to keep autoists from speeding by his home. Last summer several of his chickens were killed by automobiles, and when one of his pigs, weighing almost 100 pounds, was crushed under the wheels of an auto, he decided it was time to do something to stop them. He did.

He dug small ditches, one foot wide and eight inches deep, across the road about ten feet apart, and this plan proved successful. He says that after a machine going at 35 miles an hour strikes one of these ditches and the occupants of the machine are almost thrown out, the machine always slows down to a very slow gait.—Indianapolis News.

Mr. Growcher's Idea. Mr. Growcher admits that all men are born equal, but thinks most of them get over it in the course of time.

Earth Still Growing. In the early days of its history the earth grew rapidly by the addition of meteoric matter. It is still growing in the same manner, though scarcely to an appreciable extent, for the mass of meteoric matter added yearly is reckoned to be only 20,000 tons.

One of the many reasons why we are glad to represent this line in Sanford is because they believe just like we believe in this respect, that is, they remember that the house that makes Men's Clothes must make a profit, the store that sells them must make a profit, BUT NEITHER MUST FORGET THAT SOMETHING IS COMING TO THE CUSTOMER.

"THE STORE THAT IS DIFFERENT"

Daily Thought. Pity and need make all flesh kin.—Edwin Arnold.

Cause for Gladness. Helen had not seen her grandmother since the child was a wee tot. Grandma came to them on a visit and proved to be quite young looking and stylish. After greetings were over Helen, standing at a distance, looked at her grandparent and appraisingly said: "Grandma, I is so glad you is so full of youngness."

Reflection. All the world used her ill, said this young person, and we may be pretty certain that persons whom all the world treats ill deserve the treatment they get. The world is a looking glass and gives back to every man the reflection of his own face. Frown at it, and it will in turn look sourly upon you; laugh at it and with it, and it is a jolly, kind companion; and so let all young persons take their choice.—Thackeray.

COLLEGES ASK FOR MILLIONS

Nearly 75 Institutions of Learning in the Country Now Seek Funds.

LARGEST SUM IS $25,000,000

Northwestern Wants $10,000,000 for Buildings Alone—Higher Pay for Professors Promised by All Campaign Committees.

New York.—Nearly seventy-five colleges throughout the country are conducting campaigns for endowment funds to increase the pay of their professors and to provide new buildings and facilities. It is estimated that the total sought is more than $200,000,000.

Five of the largest institutions in the country—Harvard, Princeton, Cornell, Northwestern and New York university—are engaged in campaigns, and the total sought by these five universities alone is $70,700,000. Northwestern seeks $25,000,000. Harvard already has promised of $12,000,000, toward her desired fund of $15,250,000. Cornell's goal is $10,000,000, Princeton desires $14,000,000, and New York university has set $6,450,000 as her minimum in a campaign to be launched late this month.

Pittsburgh Wants $16,000,000. Other large sums sought by some of the smaller colleges carry the total above $100,000,000 before the first ten campaigns are enumerated. Boston university also wants $10,000,000. The University of Pittsburgh intends to raise $16,000,000 in the next five years. Oberlin college of Ohio is to raise $5,250,000, and ten other colleges are campaigning for individual funds of $3,000,000 each.

Although Columbia university here has announced no plans for a campaign for funds, her president, Dr.

Nicholas Murray Butler, has indicated that money might be sought for the completion of the institution's building program. Two of Columbia's associated institutions, Barnard college and Teachers' college, are appealing for funds. Teachers' college seeks $3,000,000, $1,500,000 of which is to be used for a new library building, and the alumnae committee of Barnard asks $900,000 to complete the $1,000,000 endowment fund.

All of the large eastern colleges have committees at work in this city, and Hunter College for Women and New York university intend to push their campaign for funds in the guerrilla warfare way because most of their graduates live in the city. Hunter college is seeking $150,000 for an alumnae hall, and is running its campaign as part of the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of its foundation. Organizations of graduates of the various colleges have been requested to subscribe certain quotas, and the campaign has been carried directly to the purse of each graduate.

Varying Amounts Sought. Sums sought by the smaller and specialized institutions range down from the $8,000,000 sought by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to the $10,000,000 to be raised by Fordham university of this city for a memorial to its graduates who perished in the war. Joining, too, in the campaigns are some of the women's colleges, including Mount Holyoke, Bryn Mawr and Smith college. Phillips Exeter academy and Andover academy also are on the list.

Three of the institutions that had planned elaborate campaigns for large endowment funds received large sums under the will of Henry C. Frick. To Princeton was left $10,000,000. Harvard received $5,000,000, and $5,000,000 also was bequeathed to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Massachusetts "Tech" also has received in its campaign promises of large sums from T. Coleman Dupont on condition that specific additional sums be subscribed by others during the campaign. By far the largest sum is sought by Northwestern university in Chicago. Her goal is $25,000,000, including $10,000,000 for new buildings and an endowment fund for their maintenance. Intended expansion of work is to be covered by a fund of $11,000,000, and the remaining $4,000,000 is to be used in carrying on the present curriculum. According to information furnished to the Vanderbilt Alumnae the publication of the graduates of Vanderbilt university, the scale of professors' pay at Northwestern also will be increased.

School of Fish in Tender. Ossawatimie, Kan.—Water and fuel famines develop strange occurrences in railroading and occasionally require strenuous incidents to discover them. The which is by way of saying that J. R. Sturges, hollermaker foreman at the roundhouse here, discovered a school of small minnows in the tender of engine No. 123 the other day. The tender was brought into the shop for repairs after colliding with a coal car at Lane. It is certain the fish had been in the tender for several weeks and that many of them had been dead for some time.

Want Fresh Meat Ban Lifted. Berlin.—Provincial authorities in frontier and coast districts have been requested by the Prussian minister of agriculture to revoke any order issued by them prohibiting importation of fresh meat from the United States.

Ostriches Biggest Birds. Ostriches are the largest feathered creatures existing and one of these birds will sometimes measure eight feet in height and weigh 300 pounds.

Relics of Long Ago. A clothes chest of King Charles I. bearing the initials "C.I.C." and crown valued $200 at Rutbrooke hall, near Bury St. Edmunds, at a sale of the contents of this Elizabethan mansion. Two cambric day shirts and a night-cap worn by Charles I. realized $52. A silk brocade suit, consisting of coat, waistcoat, with sleeves, and a pair of knee-breeches, also worn by King Charles, brought $185. A pair of silk stockings of the same period, with colored zigzag stripes, made $20, and a jester's coat of painted leather, $35.

RAILWAY THIEVES INCREASE ACTIVITY

Master Crooks Believed to Be Operating Sort of International Organization.

Wholesale looting of merchandise in transit upon the railroads of the United States caused a loss of approximately $45,000,000 during 1919, according to United States railroad administration statistics. This is estimated as more than double the total of any previous year, but it is pointed out that the increased cost of commodities must be taken into consideration. Nevertheless, there is said to have been a steady increase in the number of packages stolen.

Organizations combating these thieves have been called upon during the past year to meet an increased ingenuity exercised in diverting goods from their owners. Thefts now are planned and carried out upon about the same basis in the United States, France, England, Italy and Argentina, indicating that master crooks are operating a sort of "international organization."

Substitution is the usual method followed by the robbers. Sometimes boxes supposed to contain velvet are found to contain calico and other cheaper grades of cloth, but as a rule waste paper is found. These thefts are extremely difficult to trace.

Silk, because of its great value, is a favorite prey for thieves. The thefts have mounted to such a total that the railroad administration has even considered excluding raw silk from freight shipment. Jewelry also is a prey for thieves. However, virtually every commodity shipped appears in the losses tabulated by the railroad administration.

ALASKA HAS SEAL CENSUS

Count Shows That the Herd is Increasing Rapidly.

The herd of seals, controlling the supply of seal skins for garments, has doubled since 1911, when the United States government assumed control of the seal fisheries in Alaska. The seals continue to increase at a rate which promises that in a few years seals will be restored as the distinctive American fur of general use.

"The last census showed 525,000 seals," said Dr. H. M. Smith, United States commissioner of fisheries. "It was taken in 1919 just after we had killed 24,000 of the animals. The herd is increasing at the rate of from 10 to 12 per cent a year. As it stands now it would be capitalized commercially at about $60,000,000."

CAPTURED MANY GUNS

Took Enough German Weapons to Supply Every County in U. S.

So many cannon and heavy machine guns were captured by the American army that congressmen could distribute one to each county. Representative Kahn, California, chairman of the house military committee, says, "The army captured 1,300 cannon and 4,000 heavy machine guns," Kahn said, "and there are only 4,000 counties in the country."

MAKE BILLIONS OF PINS

Factories Each Year Turn Out "Crop" Valued at $13,000,000.

American factories each year produce 14,000,000,000 ordinary toilet pins. Safety pins totaling 720,000,000 are purchased by American mothers every year. The yearly crop of metal hair-pins is 1,250,000,000. Needles of all kinds aggregate 235,000,000 every 12 months.

The value of this pin and needle crop is $13,000,000 at the factory. Forty-nine factories are engaged in the manufacture of the articles.

"We're always meeting friends"

—Chesterfield

OVER three million smokers—over three million friends—know the "satisfying" goodness of Chesterfield's expert blend of fine Turkish and Domestic tobaccos.

These smokers know that such richness of flavor, such mellowness of taste, can only come from the choicest tobaccos, bought and blended by experts.

And they know that the Chesterfield blend is an exclusive blend, that it cannot be copied or even closely imitated. They know that only Chesterfields can "satisfy."

But—how about you?
