

EIGHT LABOR LEADERS INDICTED IN CHICAGO ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Will Have Preliminary Hearings Today Before Justice Criminal Court ASK HABEAS CO'PUS

CHICAGO, May 15.—Eight labor men indicted on murder charges in connection with Chicago's labor war, will have their preliminary hearings today, before Chief Justice of the criminal courts. Their attorneys have been instructed to ask for writs of habeas corpus thus forcing the state to produce evidence upon which hanging verdicts will be asked for the "big three" labor leaders, Big Tim Murphy, Con Shea, and Fred Mader.

CHICAGO, May 15.—While the police were attempting yesterday thru the reported confessions of three men to determine the actual slayers of two policemen shot to death during Tuesday night's labor bombings, steps were taken by both the prosecution and defense to bring about the speedy trial of those already indicted in connection with the slayings. These included "Big Tim" Murphy, head of the gas workers' union; Fred Mader, president of the building trades council; "Con" Shea, who directed the teamster strike in 1904, and five others.

Meanwhile police had rounded up more than a dozen suspects and added them to about one hundred now in custody. The latest arrests, it was reported, resulted from statements made by Harry "Smash" Hanson, who Saturday refused to accept his freedom on a habeas corpus writ, it being intimated he feared violence if given his liberty. Landore Braverman and Robert M. McLeod, both under indictments, are others reported to have furnished the police with valuable information.

While police were reticent about the latest arrest it was reported that recent developments involve Murphy, Mader and Shea in the actual labor warfare. Shea was taken from the custody of the police yesterday and turned over to the sheriff, being placed in the county jail where Murphy and Mader are held.

HIGH STOCK OF GAS ON HANDS EVERYWHERE BUT PRICE GOES UP.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—A new high record for the national stock of gasoline, increases in the price of which have been ordered investigated by the senate, was established April 1, according to statistics made public by the federal bureau of mines showing supplies of commodity on that date aggregated 854,232,000 gallons.

The stocks on hand April 1, were approximately 47,000,000 gallons greater than on March 1, when the previous high mark of 807,000,000 gallons in storage was made. The official figures confirmed statements made in the senate that present supplies and those of recent months were greater than ever before in the U. S.

PUBLIC HEARING AT TITUSVILLE ON TUESDAY, MAY 16

EVERY BUSINESS MAN IN SANFORD SHOULD BE AT THE MEETING TOMORROW

The long cherished hopes for an inland water highway from Jacksonville to Miami via the St. Johns river are about to be realized. The War Department has served notice of a public hearing to be held in the court house at Titusville on Tuesday, May 16th, at 10:30 a. m. in connection with the preliminary examination of this project. This notice was sent to all sections from Jacksonville to Miami located on the St. Johns river east coast canal and Indian rivers, and also to sections in the territory tributary to these waterways. The question to be decided at this hearing is whether the government is to purchase the East Coast Canal or construct a canal parallel thereto.

The call for this public hearing is in accord with the River and Harbor Act which was approved by congress June 5th, 1920, and while the act directing this preliminary examination does not define the location of the waterway to be reported upon, the briefs of the different sections disclosing tonnage, reclamation projects, etc., will in the final analysis, be the means of the government engineers recommendations.

Data on this section has been prepared by the Chamber of Commerce and information from other sections on tonnage has also been secured and forwarded to the Central Florida Water Traffic League, who in turn are compiling a brief for the sections interested in the development of the St. Johns-Indian river project. There are those who will recall the survey made in 1913 and the adverse recommendation of the U. S. engineers which was prompted by the lack of tonnage available at that time. In other words, tonnage is the vital question point that can be made in presenting a brief to the government on behalf of the St. Johns river highway. With this fact in mind, those who have had the responsibility of preparing this brief have embodied therein all data available on tonnage resources of 12 counties which are directly served by or tributary to the proposed route. It is believed that the data secured on this tonnage will be the means of the government engineer immediately recommending the construction of a natural water highway that will mean the saving of millions of dollars in freights, to farmers and growers and reclaim hundreds of thousands of acres of the most fertile land in the state of Florida. It is very gratifying to note the interest that sections other than Sanford have taken in this hearing. The Sanford Chamber of Commerce has been advised that at least 100 of Orlando's prominent business men will drive to Titusville and

WITNESSES HAD LEFT STATE, CONTINUANCE IN SHIELD CASE ASKED BY STATE'S ATTORNEY

The Defendant Would Be Required to Stay in Jail Until Fall

DELAND, May 15.—Discovery at the last moment that important witnesses had left the state, and would not return till fall resulted in State's Attorney DeCottes asking for continuance in the case of Mrs. Alice E. Shields, charged with the murder of her husband, formerly of Moline, Ill., near DeLand the night of February sixth. Counsel for the defense protested and asked for immediate trial. Judge Perkins heard argument on the motion. The venire of 78 had been summoned and the jury was already being chosen when absence of witnesses was discovered, resulting in the sudden change of plans of the prosecution. Should the court grant the continuance Mrs. Shields will be forced to remain in the county jail as she was charged with first degree murder.

Court recessed for lunch, without decision on motion. Judge Perkins, however, told the state's attorney that he would grant a continuance at the end of the argument which means the trial goes over until the fall term of court.

SANFORD WON THE DEBATE AT ORLANDO AND WON THE REPORTER-STAR GOLD MEDAL

ORLANDO, May 15.—The Sanford debaters won the inter-high school debate which was contested Friday night by a trio of Orlando's best high school operators, the honor for the best delivered speech going to Miss Margaret J. Gallagher, of Sanford, winner of the Reporter-Star gold medal prize. The debate gathered momentum as it progressed and when the open forum hour came there was just enough interest in the audience, who took part in the discussion as to whether "The Philippines Should Be Given Their Independence Now" to make it exciting.

Miss Florence Henry, of the Sanford High School opened the debate for the affirmative. She was followed by Stanley Gosswein for the negative, who in turn was followed by Miss Alice Runyan. Jas. Bailey was the second speaker for the negative, Miss Margaret J. Gallagher closing for the affirmative and Clyde Ramsey for the negative. Donald Flowers acted as chairman of the meeting.

It had been understood the debate was to be waged by six young men, three for the Orlando High School and three for the Sanford High School. It was therefore a surprise when the speakers were called to the stand to see three of Sanford's most attractive young ladies take their seats to send to defeat Orlando's prize speaker. It has been the practice of the Evening Reporter-Star each year to award a gold medal to the best young lady and young man speaker, so while Sanford won the high school honors, Orlando also captured one of the medal prizes, it going to Clyde Ramsey, who was decided by the three judges, Mrs. Hart and Professor Rose, both of the Rollins College faculty and Dr. Ingram, pastor of the Methodist church of Winter Park, to be the best orator on the negative side.

It was a hard matter for the judges to decide just who to declare the winner, each handled his or her subject so masterly. When the final decision was made Sanford lead by a margin of twenty some points.

Jas. Bailey threw the first local color or into the debate when he said in rather an aggressive but dignified voice, "You tell me the Philippines are now ready for independence. In 1916 before our governor general left there they had the best roads in the world, when Governor Woods was sent there not so very long ago these roads had deteriorated to a condition not much better than the roads about Sanford." This produced quite a rattle of laughter among the audience but the Sanford debaters took no notice of the remark. Then later when the contest had ended and the audience was invited to participate in the discussion a little cotton-headed fellow yet in knee trousers rose and asked to be recognized by the chair. "Mr. Chairman," he said, "When the United States gets ready to give the Philippines their independence, they will do it, just as we did for Sanford, (his remarks calling to mind the fight which had been waged between Sanford and Orlando when Seminole county was created out of the northern portion of Orange.) This was a bit too much for the visitors and with quick repartee Miss Florence Henry sprang to her feet. "Mr. Chairman, permit me to say, if you please, when the United States does give them their independence it will be with considerable more grace than Orlando has accorded Sanford." This brought the house down, so to speak, for the Sanford young lady, and ended the discussion.

That these debates are growing in popularity, and that the people of Orlando are showing an increased interest in children school activities is evident from the large attendance of Friday night. The speakers would do credit to any city and both Sanford and Orlando may well be proud of the team who waged for the Reporter-Star prize.—Orlando Reporter-Star.

An experimental section will be constructed with a view to the electrification of all trunk railroads radiating from Budapest.

CATTS AT LAKE BUTLER, PEONAGE TRIAL HOPEFUL ACQUITTAL

LAKE BUTLER, Fla. May 15.—(By the Associated Press).—Sidney J. Catts, former governor of Florida, under indictment in this county in connection with charges that while governor he accepted money to influence his vote in pardon cases, is here today for the opening of the trial tomorrow of the Union county circuit court. The case was postponed from last fall. The former governor expressed hope that the case would be disposed of at this term. Attorneys for Catts filed a motion with the court this afternoon asking that indictment be quashed. Argument for motion will be made this afternoon.

WE ARE INVITED

TO TAKE PART IN HAGUE MEETING AND STRAIGHTEN OUT TANGLES

GENOA, May 15.—What the Genoa conference has failed to do—solve the Russian question—is hoped to accomplish at another meeting if the United States will participate. Formal invitation to new conference to be held at the Hague was handed to American Ambassador Washburn Child last night, and today all eyes are on Washington, for upon the question of American participation the change of an agreement with the Russians is believed to depend. All powers now represented here will be asked to send delegates to the Hague meeting probably on June 15th.

FIRST DEGREE GRAND LARCENY AGAINST CHASE

WHO ALLEGED TOOK BONDS FROM CHASE NATIONAL BANK

NEW YORK, May 15.—First degree grand larceny indictments returned today against Arthur Chase, Mr. and Mrs. John Vardeman charging theft of $500,000 in bonds from the Chase National Bank. Chase, a former Texas ranger, is alleged to have substituted torn paper for package of bonds while employed as a guard in the bank. Police say he confessed implicating Vardeman's who recently were arrested in Savannah.

EXPENSE STATEMENTS MAILED IN TIME SAY THE CANDIDATES

TALLAHASSEE, May 15.—(Special).—Congressman Herbert J. Drane is a qualified candidate for renomination before the June primary. When it became known Saturday day morning that Congressman Drane's first statement of campaign expenses had not been received at the office of the secretary, it seemed that perhaps his failure had disqualified him. However, the secretary of state received the statement in this afternoon's mail. The postmark on the envelope showed that the letter was mailed at Lakeland, May 11, and but for the fact that it was transmitted by registered mail, would have been received in Tallahassee yesterday.

The same applies to J. H. Swink of Miami, candidate for state attorney for the eleventh judicial circuit. His statement was also received this afternoon and was postmarked May 11. J. H. Jones of Orlando, candidate for state attorney of the seventeenth judicial circuit, wired the secretary of state that he had mailed his statement, at Orlando, on the eleventh, but had heard that the same had not been received. In reply the secretary of state telegraphed him to mail a duplicate, together with his affidavit that the original was properly mailed on the eleventh.

This disposes of all delayed statements except Judge Charles O. Andrews of Orlando, candidate for renomination as circuit judge of the seventeenth circuit. Attorneys point out that section 5933, Revised General Statutes, provides that a candidate failing to file the required statement forfeits his right to have his name on the official ballot at either the primary or the general election, but since Judge Andrews is without opposition, his name would not appear on the primary ballot and since he is a candidate for an appointive office, as a matter of course, his name would not appear on the general election ballot. His statement has not been received.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Communication from American Ambassador Child reporting the United States had been invited to participate in the newly planned economic conference at the Hague received by the State Department but officials indicated no immediate decision be reached.

MORVICH WINS THE KENTUCKY DERBY

LOUISVILLE, May 15.—Morvich won the $50,000 Kentucky Derby here Saturday afternoon before a record breaking crowd of 70,000 persons.

Bet Mosie was second and John Finn third. The time was 2:04 3-5. Morvich won by two lengths from Bet Mosie, while John Finn was a head back of the first two horses. A $2 ticket on Morvich in the pari-mutuels paid $4.40 to win.

The race was worth $40,775 to the winner.

The great Morvich won as he pleased and never was in danger of defeat. Jockey Albert Johnson shot Morvich into the lead at the flag lap and retained it to the finish.

This was Morvich's first start as a three year old. He has never been beaten, having won eleven races as a two year old. Jockey Johnson never extended the horse during the punishing mile and a quarter race. A great crowd swarmed around the victor and Trainer Fred Burley rushed to the animal and tenderly patted him on the head.

FLORIDA IS ALL RIGHT

Ignorance says: "Wouldn't give an acre of Illinois dirt for the hull state of Florida." You've either heard that remark or have read of some fool making it. In the Tampa Tribune of Monday of this week appears an item from Palmetto which states that the tomato crop of that section will bring in a million dollars this season. More than 10,000 acres were planted to tomatoes in that section, which includes Terra Cien, Bradentown, Ellington, Manatee, Manasota and Manavista, Palmetto being the gateway through which all these cars go and where they are counted. Another item published lately was in regard to strawberries from the Plant City section, 2,125,500 quarts having been shipped during the season just ended and which brought the growers $705,000 at the depot platform. Both of these sections also ship thousands of car loads of citrus fruit and ve-tables during the year, making them prosperous, ready money communities. U. S. Comptroller of Currency Crissinger recently stated to the assembled bankers of Florida that Florida was better off financially than any state in the Union and now E. A. Poole, national bank examiner for the Atlanta district says that Florida conditions are better than in any state in the Union. "The citrus and truck crops have been splendid, with satisfactory prices, and therefore, the situation in that state is probably the best of any state in the country," were his words, yet countless fools will in time to come make the above remark. At the same time the wise men are gathering in the orange groves at such a rate that prices are bound to go skyward. The catastrophe in California and the resulting high prices for Florida oranges this year and the probable continuance of such prices because of California's continued crippled production is the reason for the great demand for orange groves.

WHAT A REAL NEWSPAPER SHOULD BE.

The editor of the Herald may have peculiar ideas about how a newspaper should be conducted but our ideas have always been for a clean newspaper with friendship toward all and malice toward none. We never believed in throwing mud, in taking up personalities, in publishing scandal that would wreck families, in taking sides in local politics. Daytona civic club has been taking up the subject of journalism lately and the newspaper men of Daytona have read some good papers on the subject. The Journal has the following extracts that should be read as they carry out many of our own ideas of a real newspaper:

One of the problems discussed by the speaker was that of politics. "Personally," he said, "I care not whether a paper is a fairly consistent party supporter or is independent; the vital concern to the public is whether it places party, or partisan, or selfish personal plans above that of its service to the community. * * * Frankly, I do not conceive it to be the province of the newspaper to nominate candidates for office. It is not good for either the paper or the candidates. A newspaper has enough to do in making its business successful, publishing the news in an attractive and readable form, holding itself in readiness to be of the utmost service to the community."

As to the problem of getting personalities in the paper, following some of his own experiences, the speaker said:

"It goes without saying that personalities between two newspaper men serve no good purpose. Few people are interested and the personalities have no place in newspaper columns. Fortunately, they are getting fewer every day. * * * "While in one sense the newspaper is a private institution, it is also semi-public in its nature, and no newspaper man worthy of the name has any moral right to make personal attacks on a man who does not own a newspaper, except perhaps, in cases where the public emergency requires. "Sometimes," he said, "a newspaper may not be able to please because of poorly written copy. On a Monday morning, several years ago, a preacher dropped into the office with a brown taste in his mouth because he said he had made a mistake in the subject of his sermon. Looking it up the announcement read: "A Blossom on a Mule." He said it was ridiculous. I agreed with him, but on looking up the copy sure enough it read, "A Blossom on a Mule." He said that "blossom" was spelled with 'ss' and he had written it with one 's' and that the subject should have been 'Absalom on a Mule.' As it happened both the local papers had the subject announced that way, and he was convinced that the papers had agreed together to set up a job on him.

"But a newspaper is something more than a mere purveyor of news. It is personality, a living thing, that has an influence in the home in the way that the news is displayed. If it panders to a lower taste, as in the repetition of the nauseating details of the Arbuckle case, careful parents would have to hide the paper to keep their young children from reading it." In this connection he gave President Harding's Newspaper Creed, it being the instructions given to every reporter and writer on the Marion, Ohio Daily Star.

"Remember, there are two sides to every question. Get them both. "Be truthful. Get the facts. "Mistakes are inevitable, but strive for accuracy. I would rather have one story exactly right than half a hundred wrong. "Be decent, be fair, be generous. "Boast—don't knock. "There's good in everybody. Bring out the good in everybody, and never needlessly hurt the feelings of anybody.

"In reporting the story of a political gathering, give the facts, tell the story as it is, not as you would like to have it. Treat all parties alike.

"If there is any politics to be played we will play it in the editorial column. "Treat all religious matters reverently.

"If it can possibly be avoided, never bring ignominy to an innocent man or child by telling of the misdeeds or misfortune of a relative. Don't wait to be asked but do it without the asking.

"Above all, be clean, and never let a dirty word or suggestive story get into type.

"I want this paper so conducted that it can go into any home without destroying the innocence of any child."

A TEST OF PROGRESSIVENESS

Florida, and particularly the central and southern portion of the state, is synonymous with progress. Each section prides itself, and justly so, on the large percentage of growth it has sustained during the past decade. The national press carries accounts of this progress as evidenced by building permits, outside capital invested, bond issues voted, etc.

Of all the factors entering into what is generally termed progressiveness in a community, bonded indebtedness for municipal improvements is without doubt the surest index of a desire on the part of the citizens of a community to keep pace with modern municipal growth as prescribed by the American standard of living.

Modern sewerage systems, well paved streets, and fine public buildings are essential to the growth of the small community, as they are to the prominence of the larger ones.

With an even greater development presaged for the Florida of the future, the benefits of this development will accrue only to the communities whose citizens have had the vision to secure those requisites which appeal to the outsider, who desires to become identified with a progressive community.

Providence helps those who help themselves is an old axiom equally applicable to the community as to the individual. Voting bond issues has been the method adopted by communities for securing needed improvements. Those communities which show the largest percentage of growth and are unquestionably the most progressive in Florida have voted large bond issues and secured for themselves the latest municipal facilities, and have long since realized on their investment.

Too often the error is made in assuming that bonds for municipal purposes are other than an investment. Experience has proven that they are not only gilt edge investment but also an insurance for the community for its future development. Occasionally we visit a community which prides itself that it is free from bonded indebtedness. The citizens of such a community consider well paved streets and modern conveniences superfluous, and as a result there is no desire on the part of a visitor in that community to linger any longer than his business requires.

The very fact that the majority of south Florida cities are voting municipal bonds denotes progress and in the great development of the state which is yet to come, it would be well for every community to take inventory of what it has to offer as a municipality to those who demand the best.

This question has been placed directly up to the citizens of Sanford and the election to be held Wednesday will be a test of the progressiveness of the City Substantial. The bond issue to be voted upon and which has been extensively advertised calls for an expenditure of $625,000 included in which are approximately 10 miles of street paving, extension of sewerage system and improvements to the water front. The City Commissioners advised every voter of full details of these contemplated improvements, which were decided upon after due consideration by a special committee of the Chamber of Commerce collaborating with the City Commissioners. Sanford must vote for these improvements if it is to share in the future development of Florida. From this date Sanford either goes rapidly forward or retrogresses, there is no standing still. A vote in favor of all the proposed improvements by a majority of our citizens will be sufficient proof that the City Substantial has passed the test of progressiveness.

FROM OTHER SANCTUMS

THE FRUITFUL EVERGLADES

In most parts of the country the merest mention of Florida Everglades lands brings a smile of derision to the face of the hearer.

Years before the state and the federal authorities combined to put the wild catter in Florida lands out of business and in the penitentiary, many a man and woman was induced to put their savings into acres of supposed richness, which proved to be under water, and valueless until drained.

Until drained! That was the key to the whole thing. A few long-headed men saw that it could be done. Some fewer attempted it on a small scale, and succeeded beyond their wildest dreams. When at last Napoleon B. Broward, as governor took up seriously the drainage of the 'glades it became evident that what had been a dream to most, was some day to be a reality of wealth to those who owned lands in that region.

Today, right around the lake itself, about and below Lake Okeechobee, around which it was believed that all kinds of horrible reptiles and animals had their home, and that miasmas, and yellow fever, and mosquitoes made it impossible for man to live there, is civilization, cultivation, happiness and contentment. Indeed, so fast is the settlement and development of the lower lake 'glades lands going on that the real problem the only thing happening progress, is the lack of sufficient transportation facilities to move the harvests of the acres.

Two cities on the east coast are competing for the first railroad across the 'glades. Miami and Palm Beach. It will be touch and go with them when they realize what such a railroad will mean. Indeed, the sooner they realize that both the roads are necessary and will get all the business they can handle, the better for them, and the quicker the roads will be built.

In the Palm Beach Post of recent issue is shown the amount of freight tonnage to date this season, from the acres immediately south of the lake. It is astonishing to read that the lands will have been cultivated there this year have yielded a carload of vegetables or farm products to the acre! That is something few if any other places in the country can show. The figures were collected by Captain Ben Johnson, the man who has had the handling of most of this tonnage in his boats down the canal to Fort Myers, or across the lake to Clewiston, with the aid of the engineers of the proposed railroads from the east coast. They found in actual cultivation around the lower part of Lake Okeechobee, 7,500 acres, and the production from that acreage was:

"Potatoes, 125,183 crates; Corn 71,051 bushels; tomatoes, 267,890 crates; beans, 171,360 hampers; peas, 8,730 hampers; cabbage, 7,008 packages; peppers, 8,270 packages; eggplant, 13,401 packages; onions, 12,769 packages; fish, 75 tons; chickens, 5,475; eggs, 1,800 dozen; hogs, 876; and only slightly less quantities of other produce. This is exclusive of the produce for which there was no transportation facilities. This report was from 276 land owners."

This is what the cultivated, drained land of the Everglades is doing. Not what "it will do." And that 7,500 acres in cultivation is so small a part of the whole area available and waiting for the settlers that it looks like the mere scratching of patch gardeners!

There is one railroad running down the state's center to the southern point of the lake. There are needed other roads to the region and to go all through it, for if the yield of produce is a carload to the acre, think of what will be required in the way of transportation equipment to handle the harvest from the more than three million acres soon to be brought in, in that region!

Hard roads for automobile travel are gradually being built in. From both sides the distance is being lessened each month between the terminal of the finished highways. Water transportation facilities are also provided, the canals from the east coast, and the one from the west side, being able to handle considerable freight, and some passenger traffic all the year round.

When the transportation facilities are adequate there will be such a rush and such an activity to secure lands in this garden of the world that the next hardest problem to solve will be housing the people as fast as they come. But the people who have settled in the 'glades regions have already shown themselves so resourceful, and have already reaped such harvests of success that when the time comes to build cities where now there are hamlets, there will spring up, almost in a night, even as the improved farms have appeared, cities, and towns, and villages, all built of the most excellent material, and all with the utilities and safeguards of the most modern city.—Tampa Tribune.

Press dispatches show interest with Mr. Lawrence Gentle, of Gentle Brothers, Orlando, Fla., placing the citrus fruit movement from Florida during the present season between 12,000,000 and 13,000,000 boxes. He estimates the present production at percent oranges and 40 per cent grapefruit, and thinks about 1,500 cars of fruit are still in the state for shipment. He also says the 1922-1922 season was profitable to the grower.

The Homeland Citrus Growers Association, at Bartow, Fla., closed its season the week prior to April 15th, making a settlement between $30,000 and $40,000 with its members, paying them more than $2.25 per box for fruit on the tree. Fruit on the tree means before it was gathered.

ABOLISH CLIQUES

In olden days, St. Petersburg was a village. Villages thrive upon small talk and the formation of cliques and crowds that run together and work together against other cliques and crowds.

There remains in St. Petersburg until this later day of its expansion into city some of these old cliques and enmities, born in the day when St. Petersburg was a village. Thank your lucky stars these cliques and enmities are few and of little effect on the civic life of the city. Thank your stars again that some of them are tottering on their last legs.

Today St. Petersburg has reached that stage of its development where men may disagree and oppose each other in organized effort upon this or that program of public activity and when its over and the fight is won or lost there remain no personal enmities and no iron-bound cliques, which never and a day must oppose whatever the other cliques propose or advocate.

No, St. Petersburg sees almost daily new alignments of men, thinking and acting independently or in groups, the personnel of which changes as the movements for public good change. It is well that this is true and that men can be men enough to forget the old fights and begin the new, regardless of who may be lined up with them or what they think right.

And that's the only thing St. Petersburg men ever battle for or about—the proper and best method to go ahead.

The men who do not want to go ahead have been left by the wayside and their influence is nil.

So long as we can disagree upon the basic idea of going ahead, there is no fear that these disagreements will be fatal. It takes just such things as these to bring about healthy growth instead of the rank weed kind that results when there is no opposing force to keep the growth directed toward the promising future.

Men of St. Petersburg, keep this in your spirit! Men of St. Petersburg, forget the practices of the village days!

Let's go ahead battling for what we think is the proper method of progress, but let's evade the cliques and crowds of the days of yesterday! —St. Petersburg Times.

WHY NOT MORE CANNERIES?

Waste is carefully eliminated in all large industries—waste of material, of labor and of time. It is by this means that many a business expands to huge proportions on a percentage of profits so small that it would ruin an enterprise conducted carelessly. The great stockyards are proverbial examples of flourishing business built up on minute savings of material, labor and time.

Only the farmer is careless of such wastes. The ripens, over-ripens and misshapen products of his fields have cost him as much effort, fertilizer, seed, etc., as those he sends to the market, yet return no profit. After prices for any crop decline below the level of profit he lets them lie and rot. He cannot help it, if he has not the means at hand to secure a profit from products of these classes—those which are unmarketable.

If he could send them to some cannery in or near his neighborhood they might add something to his profits from his fields. He would have only the cost of gathering and transporting them to the cannery. All the expense of raising the crop is paid for in the returns from his shipments to the market. He could send all of his products of that nature to the cannery after it had ceased to be profitable to send them to Northern markets and thus the continual ripening of his crops after that time would add to his profits.

The cooperative growers' associations might well consider the advisability of adding co-operative canneries to their activities. By this means many small neighborhood canneries might be established and a scheme whereby they might be united in one large marketing association would give them the benefit of the Florida name, which should be potent in the matter of canned vegetables and fruits as it is in that of fresh vegetables and fruits.

Such canneries might be run most of the year if our farmers would raise more truck crops during the summer. The writer has had a convincing proof that such crops are as much improved when grown under shade in the summer as tobacco is during its season of growth. This is something else that might be experimented with in this connection.—Farm and Live Stock Record.

FORD FAVORS A NATIONAL PARK IN THIS STATE

It became known Saturday that Henry Ford, the automobile magnate has signified his intention of offering the Government a large tract of land in Lee county, Florida, for use as a National Park, provided the Government is disposed to build roads in the park and make other improvements.

Mr. Ford recently spent several weeks at Fort Myers with Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, who has a winter home in that city, and while on this visit he became impressed with the possibilities of that section of the state and enamored of its natural beauties. The great manufacturer is said to have often made the remark that the giant cypresses in Lee county and other charms of the region cannot be equalled anywhere in the United States. And, being somewhat of a sportsman, Mr. Ford noticed that wild turkey and other game abounded in the proposed park.

Friends of Mr. Edison who reside at Fort Myers have discussed the matter from time to time and it was finally brought to the attention of United States Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, through W. N. Sheats, state superintendent of schools, and A. B. Johnson, Orange county superintendent, who became greatly interested in the magnate's proposal.

Senator Fletcher has agreed to take the matter with Mr. Ford and to collaborate with other members of the Florida congressional delegation in endeavoring to bring about a definite understanding as to the project. When this has been arranged Senator Fletcher has said that immediate efforts will be made to induce congress to develop the park.

Both Mr. Ford and Mr. Edison are agreed that Florida is fast becoming the playground of the country and it is only fitting, they say, that a national park should be situated within the state.

FLORIDA WANTS BUILDERS—HAS NO ROOM FOR PARASITES

William C. Freeman, nationally known in the advertising field, thinks Florida is missing the golden opportunity of the age if she devotes all her energies to the cultivation of the tourist trade, which at the present time is limited to the winter months, and does not enter into a broad program of development, utilization of the rich resources that nature has so bountifully buried in the soil of the state. In a recent advertisement in the Miami Metropolis, written in his characteristic style, Mr. Freeman pointed out that—

We must remember that Florida is the only frontier state left in the United States of America. We must tell the world what we know to be the fact—that there are wonderfully possibilities here; and we must let it be known how inadequate is the present population to cope with the development of Florida's resources. Even if the population is doubled in five years or trebled in ten years it will still be inadequate to cope with the 24,000,000 acres still undeveloped—acreage that is awaiting the touch of energy and progress to produce what the world expects and wants from Florida.

This is the truth. If we may judge the future by the past—and it should be a thousand times more wonderful—the next twenty-five years should see Florida an important factor in the economic condition of the country. The latent riches are merely "awaiting the touch of energy and progress." The task of "selling" Florida should not be a difficult one, because the undeveloped soil is actually bubbling with possibilities, possibilities that are evident even to the eye of one not familiar with such things in nature; and the chief need now is presenting the facts to the world in the most forceful and truthful manner. In the long run exaggeration never pays; furthermore it is not necessary, for the old saying "truth is stranger than fiction" is peculiarly applicable to Florida, where all the forces of nature have combined to make possible a modern Garden of Eden.

Looking into the future, Mr. Freeman says further:

I have lived in New York city for nearly 29 years. There are 6,000,000 people in that congested center. Thousands of them can be persuaded to live in Florida. There is plenty of elbow room in Florida; there is not in New York city. Half of the people now living there on $25 to $50 a week and having nothing at the end of the week could come to Florida and by doing real work they can live comfortably and save money, own their homes and be happy.

Florida has no room for those who are not willing to work. In sounding the call for developers this fact should be emphasized. While it is possible to live comfortably here by the fruits of one labors and enjoy life fully at the same time, there are already too many non-producers in Florida who are "trying to get by." These non-producers are liabilities in the state's economic system and the quicker the welcome sign is removed from their sight greater is going to be the general benefits resulting from the concentrated efforts of those dedicating their energies to the building up of the state.

Florida welcomes the builders, but offers nothing to the parasites.—Jacksonville Metropolis.

To the Ladies of SANFORD

Our lady representative will call at your home to show you what Calumet Baking Powder will do for you and why it is called the cook's best friend.

The demonstration and test she will make are interesting and instructive. The test is not a comparative test of the strength of different baking powders because the water glass test does not show the strength of baking powder that does not contain white of egg. The test will, however, show the superiority of Calumet in other respects and prove why it has solved all baking problems in millions of homes. Calumet is not only the best leavening agent possible to make, but it is sold at a popular price and is therefore an important factor in reducing the high cost of living.

Calumet is manufactured in the largest, finest and most sanitary baking powder plant in the world, by experts who make nothing but baking powder. Calumet received the highest awards for purity and efficiency at the world's greatest pure food expositions at Chicago in 1907, and at Paris, France, in 1912. Calumet contains only such ingredients as have been officially approved by the United States Food Authorities.

Calumet is guaranteed to be Pure in the Can and Pure in the Baking. Try Calumet once at our risk. Your money back without question if it isn't the best baking powder you ever used.

We thank you in advance for any courtesies shown our representative and earnestly solicit your valued patronage.

To the Purchasers of a 30 x 3 1/2 Usco for $10.90

WHEN the "Usco" Tire announced its new price of $10.90 it carried this understood contract with the buyer—

A price reduction made in good faith—using all the U. S. advanced art of tire making not only to get the price down, but to keep the quality up.

Today $10.90 is not the uncommon price it was last November.

But the "Usco" Tire is still the uncommon tire value it always has been.

Because in carrying out the "Usco" price reduction in good faith, we learned something about raising the quality, too.

CLOUDLAND PARK IS BECOMING FAMOUS RESORT FOR MANY FLORIDIANS

Ledbetter and Everett were here today calling on their friends and they stated that Cloudland Park was becoming one of the most popular summer resorts in the Blue Ridge mountains. There is a fine road winding over the mountains now from Atlanta through Rome and on to Cloudland Park and thence to Muscle Shoals and other points of interest also to Chattanooga through the historic battlefields and it makes Cloudland Park the very center of the most beautiful as well as the most historical spot in the mountains. Also you can leave Sanford in the afternoon and be at Cloudland Park the next afternoon, you can obtain fine accommodations at the Club House at Cloudland, have good fishing and swimming in the mountain stream that runs through the property and play golf and other sports. It is easily accessible to many large cities nearby and is one of the finest mountain resorts in this part of the south. Many Sanford people have purchased lots at Cloudland and expect to build cottages in the near future.

This question is of such vital importance that every business man in Sanford should make it his business to be present tomorrow in Titusville. Local arrangements are to have cars assemble at the Seminole Hotel at 6:30 a. m. and meet the Orlando motorcade on the Volusia county side of Osteen ferry at 7:00 a. m.
