The Sanford-Lake Mary area is no closer to having toll-free telephone service to Orlando now than it was six months ago when County Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff began his campaign for it.

Larry Strickler, Bell Telephone Co. district manager, told the Council of Local Governments in Seminole County Wednesday night that his company will not cooperatively initiate the extended service because the firm does not believe it is in the best interests of the public. He also said that if the service were expanded, it could cost each subscriber as much as $7 a month more on monthly phone bills.

And Kirchhoff, who represents the county on the council, challenged Strickler to tell the group how the service can be extended rather than why it will not. Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith, meanwhile, said she and other elected officials are also looking out for the best interests of the public but she and they had to be elected by the people to take on that role.

Invited to speak to the group which has as members representatives of each of the cities in Seminole and the county commission, Strickler used a series of charts purported to show that the actual cost to Southern Bell of providing residential service is $30 monthly rather than the average $10.50 being charged. He attributed the higher costs to the break-up of the Bell system, saying that in the past 37 cents of each $1 collected in long distance fees was used to subsidize local service.

To Kirchhoff's contention that telephone subscribers in the south end of the county can call both Sanford and Orlando toll-free and thus are getting a better deal at less cost from United Telephone, Strickler said the cost of providing local service by both companies is about the same.

As he had warned in Southern Bell's case, he said eventually United will also have to charge more.

"If United charges less, then United customers are getting more than a

Rezoning Get P&Z Nod

Contrary to staff recommendations in four out of nine cases, the Seminole County Planning and Zoning Commission voted to tell the county commission it approves rezoning requests. A fifth rezoning request will go to the county commission without recommendation due to a tie vote.

During public hearings Wednesday the advisory board voted for approval, against the county staff's advice, of industrial rezoning from agriculture on 10 acres on Jewett Lane near Airport Boulevard; rezoning from agriculture to residential of four acres off

Man, 20, Indicted For Sex Acts With Child

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Seminole County grand jury indicted a Sanford man Wednesday charging him with having sex for two years with a girl now 10-years-old.

Indicted was Melvin Leroy McMillan, 20, of 3011 E. 20th St. He is charged with sexual battery with a child under 11 and a lewd and lascivious assault on a child under 11. He was arrested April 12 after two girls reported being molested.

The alleged incidents were uncovered when a Sanford girl interviewed at her elementary school said she was molested in a man's home while she was visiting two girls who also live there, records show.

She said she stayed overnight and was sleeping on the sofa when she was awakened by a man fondling her. She said the man, nude from the waist down, was "rubbing" her. She said she got up and ran into the room where the other girls were staying. As she fled, the man asked her several times if she would have sex with him, she said. Once in the girls' room she got under the blanket and stayed there until the man left.

The other girls corroborated the child's story with one of the other girls telling investigators the man has had sex with her often since 1983, or about the time she entered the third grade. The indictment is related to the second girl's report. The allegations of the first girl are still being evaluated state attorneys.

The second girl graphically told the investigators about several sex acts she said happened from August 1983 until April 3. McMillan is being held without bond in the Seminole County jail.

E.F. Hutton Pleads Guilty To Fraud Charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — E.F. Hutton and Co. pleaded guilty today to federal charges involving 2,000 counts of wire and mail fraud and agreed to pay $2.75 million in criminal fines.

The federal government filed the charges against the Wall Street firm today in federal court in Scranton, Pa., today.

A clerk in the court said 1,900 counts of wire fraud and 100 counts of mail fraud were filed as criminal action 85-000-83.

Roughed-Up

A youth who apparently exchanged a few blows with some other kids receives a check out by a Sanford Fire Department emergency medical technician. The first officer on the scene thought the roughed up, semi-conscious youth beside the road had been hit by a car. The incident, at Third Street and Olive Avenue, happened around 3:23 p.m. Wednesday and drew a large crowd. The unidentified boy did not require medical attention, although three police officers, a rescue unit and an ambulance were sent to the scene before it was determined he was not injured.

Sanford Seeks Board Members

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford City Commission is trying to fill four vacancies on the city's Board of Adjustment and the Sanford Housing Authority board.

The 5-member Board of Adjustment has one seat available due to the resignation of Bob Karns. Only one person, former City Commissioner Eddie Keith, has expressed an interest in serving on the board, according to Mayor Bettye Smith. Keith presently serves on the Planning and Zoning Commission.

The commission is looking for other interested applicants. Each commissioner has been instructed to bring names of potential candidates to the May 13 meeting for discussion.

The board hears appeals from developers who cannot meet city building and land use requirements because of natural conditions of the property beyond their control, according to city building inspector Gary Winn. The board suggests ways the developer may comply or grants variances to the rules. Members on the board are not paid and serve 3-year terms. There are no specific qualifications for the post, Winn said.

Commissioner John Mercer said the commission was looking for "a very strong person who will give it (the board) a great deal of leadership and who will ensure the board does what it is supposed to do."

Commissioner David Farr said whomever is chosen for the seat should serve as a liaison to the P & Z board to ensure that communication between the two bodies is strong.

City Manager Warren "Pete" Knowles, who retired Tuesday, told the commission that the position needs to be filled quickly. He said a property owner threatened to sue the city last week because a decision from the board on his land was stalled by a 2-2 vote.

The commission is also looking to fill three seats on the Sanford Housing Authority board. Three of the 5 members on the board — Joseph Caldwell, Eliza Pringle and J. Wain Cummings — leave May 20, the last day of their 4-year terms.

The board sets policy for the authority, which runs all six public housing complexes in the city.

SHA Executive Director Elliott Smith gave the commission a list of six people who have expressed interest in the serving on the board. They are: Wayne Epps, principal of Seminole High

Road Agencies Idea Not Dead: Brantley

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

"Don't send the flowers or the hearse," says state Rep. Bobby Brantley, R-Longwood, because legislation creating agencies to build roads in Orange and Seminole counties is not dead yet.

Despite published reports that a superagency for roads proposal is "near oblivion," Brantley said from Tallahassee today members of the Central Florida delegations are still working on two bills and have high hopes of getting at least one passed before the Legislature adjourns in early June. The bill most likely to pass would enable a multi-county (in this case Seminole and Orange) transportation authority to build state and local roads if the county commissioners of each county vote to levy a 4 cents-per-gallon gas tax to provide funding for the work.

As for a bill authorizing the creation of a single expressway authority for the two counties, Brantley contends a major problem is being created by Orlando Mayor Bill Frederick.

"When the mayor is in Tallahassee he commits to one thing and when he gets back to Orlando and in front of the media he forgets that commitment," Brantley said.

The Longwood legislator suggested Frederick assumes a position at home that is most likely to get his name and picture in the newspapers and a live or taped appearance on television.

And state Rep. Carl Selph, R-Casselberry, agreeing with Brantley's assessment of the legislator's health, took to himself a quote from baseball great, Yogi Berra, "It ain't over till it's over."

Positions here (in Tallahassee) on legislation change from day to day and sometimes hour to hour," he said.

Reportedly, the state House of Representatives' leadership, especially Speaker James Harold Thompson, D-Quincy, opposes allowing local government the right to levy a one-cent sales tax to fund a beltway around Orlando into Seminole County because to do so might make it more difficult to raise the sales tax for other state needs later. "That also could change," Selph said.

Also being considered is permitting county government to levy a special $1 per $1,000 assessed valuation property tax to fund expressways. Brantley said he doesn't think this idea has any chance at all unless a referendum provision is attached and it is unlikely the voters would approve a tax of this sort.

Brantley said while the Central Florida delegation has thought several times it had agreement from Frederick for a nine-member expressway authority, Frederick has changed his mind and now would like an authority composed of five Orange County

Developer Asks Rezoning For Store

A Kissimmee developer wants to build a convenience store on the northeast corner of Sir Lawrence Drive and Lake Mary Boulevard in Sanford and is scheduled to appear before the city's Planning and Zoning Commission Thursday to ask that the property be rezoned to facilitate the project.

The meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the commission chambers at city hall.

Thomas Tompkins of Centex Homes of Florida is requesting that the property, zoned multiple-family residential, be rezoned to restricted commercial.

The commission is also expected to consider a site plan for a proposed 26-room hotel at 125 W. Airport Blvd. Andrew Kurtz, of Sanford, wants to build the hotel on the property presently zoned residential multiple-family, office and institutional. Apartments or professional buildings and offices may be built on land with that zoning, according to Bettie Sonnenberg, a city building official.

Another site plan the commission is scheduled to consider is for an addition to the Ideal Store, a convenience store and gas station at 1208 Park Ave. Carse Oil Co., which owns the store, is making the request.

Marblestone Leaving Prosecutor's Office

Don Marblestone, chief trial attorney in Seminole County for the State Attorney's Office, announced today that he is leaving that post to go into private practice.

His resignation becomes effective June 1.

"My career was at a crossroads. The time seemed right," Marblestone said. "You can only do so much in prosecution, (then) you've seen it all and done it all," he said.

Marblestone, 37, of Casselberry, has been a prosecuting attorney with the State Attorney's Office for nine years. Prior to joining the State Attorney's Office, he was a public defender for 1 1/2 years in Sanford.

Marblestone, who prosecuted the well-known torture-death case of Ursula Sunshine Assaid, left his mark on Florida law as the driving force behind a change in state

GOP Hoping To Hold Off Budget Rout

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republican leaders, who suffered a major defeat on Social Security in the first true test of the GOP-White House compromise budget, hope to stave off a feared unraveling of the whole package.

After several hours of sometimes heated debate, the Republican-led Senate Wednesday voted 65-34 to keep Social Security cost-of-living adjustments at full levels, rather than the 2 percent limit included in President Reagan's budget compromise.

Nineteen Republicans, 11 of who are up for re-election next year, joined 46 Democrats in voting for the amendment. Sen. John Stennis of Mississippi was the lone Democrat to oppose the move.

Although the vote was not final, it was seen as a serious defeat for the Reagan budget since the provision was a major element of the compromise.

The Senate then turned its attention to another key part of the plan — military spending — and took up an amendment that would allow the Pentagon budget to grow only with inflation next year. Reagan has pushed for a 3 percent increase above inflation.

That amendment is sponsored by Sen. Charles Grassley, R-Iowa, and supported by several other Republicans. With Democrats united in their efforts to defeat the Reagan budget, its chances for passage seemed good in the Senate, which the GOP controls by a slim 53-47 edge. A vote was expected today.

But Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., the head of the Armed Services Committee, complained the military was becoming the automatic whipping boy on Capitol Hill.

"Unfortunately, I predict that when all is said and done, this Congress will not have the political guts to make substantial reductions in anything other than defense," he said.

The Social Security amendment would add about $22 billion to the budget package during three years, while the defense provision would cut about $34.6 billion from what Reagan wants.

Senate Republican leader Robert Dole said he was not giving up on the compromise, which would cut about $52 billion from the more than $200 billion deficit.

Even if numerous changes are made through amendments in the next week, Dole could try again for the cuts by proposing a new overall budget package that included them.

"This senator is still very hopeful that in the final analysis we will return to this issue (Social Security) in an attempt to reduce the federal deficit," the Kansas Republican said.

But Dole agreed the budget plan "may take some hits" and some Republicans conceded the Social Security amendment could open the floodgates for other changes.

Conclusive Research

BOSTON (UPI) — Medical scientists have finally ended the age-old controversy over the best way to get cockroaches out of people's ears.

One faction of the medical community claimed mineral oil is the best method of removal. Another group argued a 2 percent solution of lidocaine, a local anesthetic, is the only answer.

Recently, the perfect opportunity arose for a comparative test. A patient who had managed to have a roach crawl into each ear arrived seeking emergency room help at a hospital affiliated with the University of Pittsburgh.

"We recognized immediately that fate had granted us the opportunity for an elegant comparative therapeutic trial," wrote Dr. K. O'Toole and co-workers in a letter to today's New England Journal of Medicine.

In one ear the doctors placed a few drops of mineral oil, after which they struggled, but successfully removed the insect.

In the second ear, the doctors sprayed lidocaine. The response was immediate: the roach exited the canal at a convulsive rate of speed and attempted to escape across the floor.

House GOPs Walk Out To Protest Recount

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House ended the bitter struggle over an Indiana congressional seat, giving it to Democrat Frank McCloskey by a 236-190 vote, but Republicans walked out in protest and say they aren't finished yet. Ten Democrats sided with the Republicans.

The GOP declared today as a cease-fire in the parliamentary war that has hobbled the House for more than a week.

Republicans slowly and pointedly walked out Wednesday when they ran out of ways to block a vote on seating McCloskey. It was the first mass walkout over a disputed election since 1890.

Indiana officials twice said Rick McIntyre was winner in the 8th Congressional District in southern Indiana. A House-run recount, the first in 24 years, declared McCloskey the winner by four votes out of 233,500.

Monkey Mess Hits The Fan

United Press International
Challenger's space zookeepers, concerned about a confused monkey and annoyed earlier by floating animal feces, continued experiments today and worked on plans to keep rat food from blowing into their laboratory.

William Thornton taped over small openings in the primate cages Wednesday to prevent another release of monkey feces into the crew cabin.

Flight surgeons on the ground said the monkey waste was not a health threat but the drifting dung bothered Commander Robert Overmyer, overheard on internal communications circuits Wednesday calling the incident "very disconcerting."

"Hey Bill, we got our first piece of monkey feces in the command module up here," Overmyer told Thornton at one point. "Positively identified as monkey feces. That's kind of concerning to me. If we got monkey feces up here we surely haven't got any health stabilization up in this area."

"How many years did we tell them that those cages weren't going to work? You know, that's really discouraging if we're going to get monkey feces up here. Son of a gun."

Unreported Income Cuts GNP

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Adjustments for unreported income will make huge changes in the dollar level of the nation's gross national product, Commerce Department officials said today.

But so far it is impossible to predict how the percentage differences between the three-month quarters and individual years will differ from what is being reported now, officials said.

The percentage changes are the growth rates of the economy, crucial information to businesses, Congress and a big influence on the political futures of presidential candidates.

For the January-March quarter the department said earlier that the economy grew just 1.3 percent, with a 4 percent rate considered necessary to keep unemployment from getting worse. The 1984 GNP was 5.7 percent.

Sewage Split Among Stalled Developers

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The Longwood City Commission needed the "wisdom of Solomon" to allocate the limited excess sewer capacity at the Skylark sewage treatment plant among developers who had been waiting a year or more.

Developments scheduled for connection to the Skylark facility have been stalemated while the plant was being upgraded to meet regulations of the state Department of Environmental Regulation. Problems at the city's two treatment plants necessitated the declaration of a sewer emergency and hiring a consulting engineer to design the improvements.

City Administrator Don Terry said a final inspection was made Tuesday on the two newly completed percolation ponds, a major part of the upgrading of the Skylark plant. He said inspection by Project engineer Rachel Christensen, the contractor Shannon and Whittle, plant operator Richard Kornbluh, and himself turned up three minor discrepancies. More grading is needed around the ponds, the monitoring wells need some minor repairs and the elevation of the flume needs to be checked, Terry said.

Mrs. Christensen, who works for the consulting firm of Dyer, Riddle, Mills and Precourt, Inc., told the commission Tuesday night that "the city has made a lot of commitments that can't be kept. Perhaps it would be more equitable to split them up."

She said that after deducting the present and projected use from the plant's 200,000 gallons per day capacity, about 28,000 gpd is available for allocation. Present use is at about 112,000 gallons per day with projected use among existing customers at about 16,200 gpd Longwood Green, now under construction, is to get 49,000 gpd.

She recommended that out of the 13 developers on the waiting list, South Seminole Community Hospital, Longwood Retirement Center, Oak Villa, and Fairmont Plaza, be given the lion's share of the available capacity. The hospital has paid for 100,000 gallons per day capacity, is using 44,200 gallons and is requesting an additional 6,200.

"I gave the city $11,500 in January 1984, because I thought I was getting sewage service," said J.E. Kirtley, owner of Longwood Retirement Village, 480 E. Church Ave. A site plan for the center was approved Dec. 12, 1983 and a sewer permit issued May 8, 1984.

"We all have money invested and all have problems," Kirtley said. "Let's not worry about dates of permits and letters, let's get everybody operating and get the banks off our backs."

Other developers present agreed. It was the consensus of the commission that the hospital's parent company, Hospital Corporation of America be allotted 6,200 gallons for a proposed medical office building.

Longwood Retirement Village, 4,500 gallons. Fairmont Plaza, 5,800 gallons; and Oak Villa, 6,300 gallons.

Haywood Industrial Park on county Road 427, which had formerly been allotted 5,000-gallon capacity, was eliminated from the list as it is on septic tanks and withdrew its request.

Mrs. Christensen said current sewage fees are insufficient and she recommended a rate study, would take three months to complete. In the interim, the commission advised City Attorney Gerald Korman to draw up individual contracts with those receiving the excess sewer allocation.

members, four Seminole County members and a 10th member, a representative of the state Department of Transportation, all appointed by the governor and perhaps an 11th member appointed by the other 10 members.

Meanwhile, the Seminole County delegation is getting mixed signals from Seminole cities on how they feel about a superagency, proposed early this year by a special governor-appointed committee.

The super transportation agency under the proposal would have had the ability to levy taxes, a combination of sales, property and gasoline taxes, plus impact fees to fund all road needs in the two counties.

The delegation received two resolutions sponsored by the Tri-County League of Cities — one from Lake Mary and another from Longwood — supporting a super transportation agency to build "super roads and local arterial roads" as long as the league has representation on the agency.

At the same time, the city of Sanford sent the delegation a letter, stating the city commission's concern about giving taxing authority, eminent domain authority and the use of sales tax revenue to an independent board that is not directly answerable to the people and the voters.

Sanford's letter encouraged the delegation to restrict the efforts of a multi-county transportation agency to addressing only the expressway needs of the area.

As far as the Tri-County League's resolution and those from Lake Mary and Longwood are concerned, Selph said apparently every governmental group will favor an authority as long as each one has members on it. He said if that should come to pass the agency would be bigger than the Legislature.

Minorities Doing Better On Teacher Certification Test

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The percentage of prospective teachers passing the Florida Teacher Certification test continues to climb with minority candidates in particular showing significant gains.

Education Commissioner Ralph Turrlington reported Wednesday that 84 percent of the candidates who took the test for the first time on Feb. 23 passed all four subjects, up from 83 percent in October 1984.

Among black candidates, 40 percent passed all four parts of the test compared to 33 percent a year ago. Hispanics also improved with 56 percent passing the entire test, up from 47 percent a year earlier.

Retiree Accused Of Assaulting Girl, 4

A 69-year-old retired Casselberry man has been charged with committing lewd and lascivious assault on a 4-year-old Casselberry girl.

Casselberry police and a Health and Rehabilitative Services counselor interviewed the girl at her home and she used drawings to show them where the man allegedly touched her, a police report said.

The girl said, "It hurt a little," and that the man had assaulted her on several occasions at her home starting in August 1984, the report said.

Joseph Zino, 69, of 519 Foot-hill Way West, was arrested at his home at 10:15 a.m. Wednesday. He was released on $8,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in court May 20.

ACCIDENT INJURES 2
An Altamonte Springs man was in serious but stable condition today following a two-car accident on Interstate 4 in Orlando Wednesday.

Injured was Dale Marvin Ward. He was listed in fair condition today at Orlando Regional Medical Center. Also injured in the crash was Cuong Lam, of Orlando. He also was in serious but stable condition at the hospital.

According to Orlando police, Lam lost control of his Datsun sports car, crossed the median, and slammed into a truck driven by Ward. The accident occurred at about 4 p.m.

The accident, near the Kaley Avenue exit, caused a two-hour, two-mile long traffic jam.

SEX FOR FEE
A 27-year-old Sanford woman has been charged with prostitution and possession of cocaine.

The woman was arrested on the prostitution charge after allegedly offering to have oral sex with two Sanford policemen for $20, a Sanford police report said.

The cocaine charge was added after the woman was arrested and a search of a paper bag in her possession turned up two foil packets of cocaine, the report said.

Gloria Allen of #3 Lake Monroe Terrace, was arrested at 3:52 p.m. Wednesday on Third Street at Olive Avenue, Sanford. She was being held in lieu of $4,000 bond.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS
William Von Herbales, 30, of 1711 Overlook Drive, Longwood, reported to deputies that $1,250 worth of items including five coolers, four antique chairs, two shotguns, two rifles, and fishing gear were stolen from his garage Monday or Tuesday.

A revolver worth $200 was stolen from the home of James David Jones, 42, of 301 E. Tulane Drive, Altamonte Springs, on Tuesday, a sheriff's report said.

Peggy Dixon, 43, of 524 E. Alpine St., Altamonte Springs, gave deputies the name of a suspect who may have stolen a $1,500 diamond ring from her bathroom on Sunday or Monday.

Cedar siding valued at about $800 was stolen from a building site at 1226 Bay Point Court, Longwood, on Monday or Tuesday, according to a report Clarence Alle, 59, of Gallimore Homes, of Altamonte Springs, filed with deputies.

About $650 worth of baseball gear was stolen from the car of Ronald Glenn Robinson, 25, of 3528 Holiday Ave., Apopka, around noon on Saturday, according to a sheriff's report.

A thief took about $2,000 worth of tools from the camper of Leon Ball, 54, of 432 E. Citrus St., Altamonte Springs, on Monday or Tuesday, a sheriff's report said.

Speakers worth $150 and binoculars valued at $100 were stolen from the car of Tom Loghram, 29, of 180 Tollgate Branch, Longwood, on Monday or Tuesday, deputies reported.

FIRE CALLS
The Sanford Fire Department responded to the following calls.

Tuesday
—8:48 a.m., 1911 Mellonville Ave., rescue. An 87-year-old woman who had a possible heart attack was taken to the hospital.

—4:23 p.m., 125 Club Road, rescue. A 20-year-old man was sickened by some medicine. He was taken to the hospital.

—7:23 p.m., 165 Bethune Circle, fire. A pot on a stove caught fire but was quickly put out. No damage or injuries were reported.

—8:06 p.m., 200 W. Airport Blvd (Howell Place condominiums), rescue. A man of unknown age, who was stuck in an elevator, was freed.

—8:56 p.m., 429 Summerland Ave., rescue. An 89-year-old woman who had a possible heart attack was taken to the hospital.

Wednesday
—1:23 a.m., Seminole County jail, rescue. An Altamonte Springs police officer was treated for injuries he received while making an arrest. Officer Harry Rupert was assaulted, according to the report, and received scratches on his arms, legs and neck.

—4:02 a.m., First Street and Persimmon Avenue, rescue. A 51-year-old man received a cut on his hand during an auto accident. He was taken to the hospital.

—11 a.m., 108 E. Woodland Court, fire. A power line fell on a camper top, causing over $100 worth of damage. The line was downed after a tree limb fell on it, a fire report said. The limb was felled by worker from a private tree service who was trimming a tree near the vehicle. There were no injuries reported.

—11:07 a.m., 18 William Clark Court, rescue. A 24-year-old woman who was assaulted was taken to the hospital with a broken hand and scrapes on her arms, neck and back.

Walkers Raised $4,000 For The March Of Dimes

The 115 walkers in the 12-mile Sanford WalkAmerica Superwalk Saturday raised approximately $4,000 in pledges, according to Central Florida March of Dimes spokesman Cathie Tynan.

Dennis Courson, president of Sun Bank of Seminole, was chairman of the Sanford event, which coincided with March of Dime walk-a-thons in Orlando and Kissimmee. More than 2,000 participants in Orlando raised $94,000 while in Kissimmee 300 walkers raised $9,000.

Proceeds will go for the prevention of birth defects, the nation's number one child health problem. March of Dimes works for the prevention and cure of birth defects through national and local research, education and medical services.

Ms. Tynan said this was the first Superwalk for March of Dimes for Sanford, at least in recent years, but the chapter hopes to make it an annual event.

She said the Superwalk is oriented to business teams, but participants also include students and individual adults.

Child Advocates Urge $55 Million Funding Hike

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A child-advocacy organization is urging Gov. Bob Graham to add $55 million for child welfare programs in his two-year state spending plans.

The Florida Center for Children and Youth Inc., a non-profit group that lobbies the Legislature for expanded pre-school daycare services, child-nutrition programs and juvenile shelters, made the request at the start of a two-day conference on "prevention strategies."

Jack Levine, director of the center, said the state has 28,000 children of poor families, waiting for safe daycare facilities so their parents can find jobs. He said the state is not meeting the needs of several thousand runaways, teenagers and small children lacking proper medical care, or some 8,000 pregnant girls who will have to drop out of school this year.

"Today in Florida, tens of thousands of our babies, young children and adolescents are on waiting lists for basic care," said Levine. "Florida is playing a waiting game with children who can't wait without suffering damage."

The child-advocacy group urged Graham to expand his 1985-86 budget plans by about $10 million in each of four categories — daycare services, maternal and child health care, community mental health programs and aid to families with dependent children. The center also proposed spending $1.9 million for protective supervision of battered or abandoned children, $5.2 million for raising salaries of case workers, $3.6 million for foster care and adoption, and $2.1 million for services to runaways.

Levine said the state also needs to spend about $1.4 million more on birth-control services for minors.

"Disease disability and distress are preventable, but prevention can't wait," he said. "To meet the growing needs of waiting children, we request an additional appropriation of $55 million targeted at the basic health, child care, economic, mental health, and shelter services for children and families."

Levine said the state is paying more than that for prisons, remedial education for dropouts, and medical care of young people whose ailments are not caught early.

From Bad To Worth

The concept of comparable worth has become the latest cause for feminists in their continuing quest for economic parity. Simply stated, the theory says that inasmuch as equal-pay-for-equal-work statutes have not closed the income gap between men and women, the state should impose a formula that guarantees that all persons are paid what they are "worth."

This so-called remedy for sex bias in the workplace was rejected by the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, which correctly concluded that government must not be permitted to "restructure our free-enterprise system into a state-controlled economy under the guise of fairness."

The commission acknowledged that a wage gap exists, but attributed that pay differential to other factors that have nothing to do with discrimination. In fact, Commission Vice-Chairman Morris Abram asserted that the main reasons women earn less than what men earn in this country are "that women work less hours, have less seniority, and work more intermittently."

But the comparable-worth advocates aren't interested in such facts. Rather, they insist that there is a conspiracy in this country to deny women their rightful place on the economic ladder. Such extremism appears to be gaining momentum nationwide.

Six states have already begun to adjust the salary scales of public jobs traditionally held by women to make them the equal of those jobs deemed comparable that are generally held by men. Some 25 others in California are seriously considering similar dictates.

The Pandora's Box of comparable worth was opened two years ago in Washington state where a federal judge ordered the state to pay back pay and raises for women paid less than men in "comparable" jobs. The judge's decision was based upon a study by a Seattle consulting firm that concluded that women in the public sector were being shortchanged.

Never mind that the formula by which the firm determined "comparability" was a hopeless jumble of social-scientific jargon that assigned arbitrary ratings to a wide range of positions. Or that the consultant who devised the formula later disowned the judge's decision and despaired that his findings were used to wreak havoc in the name of economic justice. The comparable-worth zealots are on the march.

Indeed, a bill has been introduced in the House of Representatives requiring a study of possible discriminatory wage practices in the federal civil-service system. If Congress eventually establishes a comparable-worth formula for federal employees, one wonders how long it will be before the entire economy is treated as a single firm with the government determining the proper salary for everyone.

Such a catastrophe can be avoided if state and federal lawmakers heed the U.S. Civil Rights Commission's conclusion, namely that the free-market system is the most effective means of determining what a job is worth.

Deaver Takes Top Blame For Bitburg Blooper

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House Spokesman Larry Speakes has been trying to say as little as possible about President Reagan's controversial decision to visit the cemetery at Bitburg, Germany where German soldiers of two world wars are buried.

When one reporter explained "he's stonewalling" in order to refrain from any comment, another newsman quipped: "He's grave stonewalling."

Aides agree there is a "cloud" over Reagan's 10-day European journey as a result of the uproar over his plans to place a wreath at the Bitburg cemetery where some Nazi SS troops also are buried.

And there is a lot of fingerpointing at who is to blame. The heaviest responsibility for the bloopers has fallen on deputy chief of staff Michael Deaver and William Henkel, Reagan's chief advance man.

"There's a lot of blame to go around," said one aide. "Someone didn't do their homework."

Deaver is leaving the White House in mid-May and although his last hurrah trip with Reagan is beset with unexpected headaches, he still has solid credentials with the president, whom he has served for some 20 years.

Deaver is the master of the "photo opportunity" but wags are now saying he, undoubtedly hopes that the pictures from Bitburg will be few and far between.

The president will walk around the cemetery. He also intends to visit Belsen-Bergen concentration camp, where he will speak and will attend worship services and a picnic with American and German military personnel and their families.

When Nancy Reagan invited the first ladies of the world to attend her international conference on drug abuse among youth, 17 of them accepted.

One reporter asked her press secretary, Jennifer Hirschberg, whether Dennis Thatcher, husband of British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, was invited.

Apparently he was not.

Dreams Substitute For Logic

The notion of a town declaring itself a "nuclear free zone" would be funny if it weren't so pitiful. It's sad that there are any communities in this country where people imagine that they can opt out of the real world. Indeed the "nuclear free zone" movement brings to mind the children's crusades of the Middle Ages — well-intentioned but absurd.

I was reminded of the movement in reading an article entitled "How One Town Is Saying No To The Bomb." It appeared in a recent issue of Northwest Review, a little magazine published at the University of Oregon.

The community is Ashland, a small town in southern Oregon, which passed a city ordinance in 1982 declaring itself a "nuclear free zone." According to the article, the ordinance "prohibits the production or storage of nuclear weapons, component parts, or products associated with nuclear weapons and the production of nuclear energy or the storage of nuclear waste."

Passage of the city ordinance followed "a Candlelight Vigil and Silent Procession for Nuclear Disarmament." After this, participants in the vigil heard a taped talk by a leading anti-nuclear activist. A group of local women then made a tape in which they recorded their feelings about the nuclear issue.

A "peace symposium" was held at which clergymen opposed to nuclear arms and nuclear energy were speakers. There also were dramatic performances on anti-nuclear themes. Members of something called the Affinity Group For Creative Non-Violence were active in Ashland in the effort to pass the ordinance. Finally, a "Peace House" was set up to serve as a center of anti-nuclear activity.

How nice it would be if the great problems confronting the free world could be solved by passing municipal ordinances. Why, if Ashland could escape the danger of living in the nuclear age, perhaps it could pass another ordinance saying "no" to poor economic conditions, high crime rates, marital discord, hay fever, or whatever. Only few people are likely to imagine that passage of a city ordinance is the way to deal with such problems.

One wonders: do the people of Ashland who supported the "nuclear free zone" ordinance seriously believe that their ordinance is read and respected by the commanders of the Soviet missile forces in Moscow? It appears so. Then, I suppose those who supported the children's crusades in the Middle Ages seriously believed that the children could drive the Turks out of the Holy Land.

No one in the United States will be much affected by what happens in Ashland, Oregon, but the article, unintentionally, does highlight the strange currents of emotionalism in our society. The proponents of "nuclear free zones" are simply substituting their dreams and wishes for the power of reason.

Drug Kingpins Get Wrist-Slap By Courts

WASHINGTON — The federal government has thrown all its law-enforcement agencies into the war against drugs. But the drug traffickers have some powerful friends on the federal bench.

Undercover drug agents have cracked the drug lords' security at terrible risk. Prosecutors have pressed their cases in the face of bribes and death threats. Courageous juries have rendered guilty verdicts against ruthless drug dealers and their minions.

But all of these efforts to sweep up the sleaze are frustrated by judges who treat the kingpins of the narcotics underworld like first-offense jaywalkers.

A statistical study prepared by the General Accounting Office for Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., and Rep. Bill Hughes, D-N.J., makes all too clear

JEFFREY HART

Counter-Revolution

CHICAGO — In a recent column, I reported on a meeting of the Philadelphia Society being held here in Chicago. The society three times a year brings together conservative activists and intellectuals from all over the world, and is a very useful marketplace of political analysts.

I myself was scheduled to address the meeting on the interesting subject of "the conservative counter-revolution" — what has been accomplished, and what still needs to be done. On the chance that my assessment may be of general interest, I here pass on my thoughts on the matter.

The idea that there has been a "counter-revolution" presupposes that there had been a "revolution" in America. What has happened to us does, I believe, justify that term.

The traditional pre-supposition of American society has been assaulted in many ways, and for the sake of brevity I list five of them: 1) the acceptance of the assumption that government has some sort of "right" to a large chunk of private income, not just for national emergencies, but for all sorts of purposes, and the concurrent assumption that the role of government in national life must inexorably expand; 2) a runaway Supreme Court, discovering, it almost seems, daily hitherto invisible meanings in the Constitution and steadily undermining the assumption that ours is a limited government; 3) a general assumption of impotence in the world arena, the former "arsenal of democracy" being transformed into a pitiful helpless giant; 4) the impact of the counter-culture on manners and morals; 5) and the re-definition of "civil rights" as "group privilege," as in quotas, affirmative action, and all the rest of it.

That, in my opinion, justifies the use of the term "revolution," even though no governments were overthrown here and no official guillotines in the middle of Pennsylvania Avenue. But what about the counter-revolution?

I see Ronald Reagan and the conservative movement behind him moving in at least eight important ways to attack the revolution: 1) the Kemp-Roth tax-cuts, and, even more important, indexation have challenged the assumption that the public sector should expand inexorably. Before indexation, inflation constituted an unvoiced tax, as we moved into higher and higher tax brackets without any increase in real income. This hidden tax fueled the public sector. Reagan and his allies have ended all of this.

Moving on, 2) there have been changes in the court. Reagan adding Sandra O'Connor to the conservative bloc, the intellectual leader of which is her Stanford classmate William Rehnquist. An all-out fight will develop in the Senate when Reagan names, say, Robert Bork to the next vacancy, but Reagan will win that fight, and the court will swing back to mainstream American traditions.

Furthermore, we have had 3) the Reagan rearmament, with the deployment of the Pershing II, the MX vote, Grenada, the shooting down of Qaddafi's planes in the Gulf of Sidra. The pitiful helpless giant is stirring.

And 4) we have seen the use of the large federal deficit to put pressure on federal spending, a masterful move even if it was not planned that way; no one is proposing vast new programs for this or that, and the prospect is for a contraction of a bloated federal spending.

And, of course, we have 5) seen a revival of a natural American patriotism, a justifiable pride in the oldest self-governing republic in history. And even 6), a valiant attempt to return to the idea of individual liberty, as against group privilege, on the part of the administration. The Civil Rights Commission, Clarence Pendleton, and Linda Chavez deserve a standing ovation.

But more needs to be done. Without a widespread revival of awareness of Western culture, its values and its strengths, there will be in the long run no effective national defense and no sound economy.

DON GRAFF

Low Profile Bonn

BONN, West Germany (NEA) — Forty years after the end of a war that left Germany almost leveled, part of the country is the most affluent and politically stable society in Europe and a world economic leader.

You don't get that impression from the capital, however.

As a power center, Bonn is distinctly low profile. Internationally, to a considerable extent.

This is a temporary seat of government. It was selected when the occupation zones of the Western Allies regained a degree of self-government because Germany's real capital was otherwise engaged. By the Russians.

As an interim substitute, Bonn had a number of things going for it.

It had been relatively lightly touched by the war — only about 30 percent destroyed.

As a university town, it contained numbers of large buildings that would serve the new government's immediate needs.

And it didn't hurt that it was on the home turf of Konrad Adenauer, West Germany's first — and some would say for too long the only — chancellor.

A lot of water has flowed down the Rhine since then.

Bonn has expanded. Once separate communities, such as Bad Godesberg, have been absorbed into greater Bonn. The population is approaching 300,000.

But if Bonn has grown larger, it hasn't made significant progress in growing up — to city status.

It is still a town in appearance and feel — and largely of the type it originally was, a university town. The 40,000 students count for a major chunk of the total population.

The government has long since outgrown the buildings it borrowed in getting started. But it hasn't necessarily improved its physical situation.

Clusters of not quite high-rise buildings have gone up to house the ministries. The style of architecture might be called grim modern — most look like public housing.

And that could be what they will become when the government goes somewhere else someday.

That won't mean it will be getting much quieter around Bonn.

That would be difficult, considering how quiet it already is.

Bonnians themselves say this is a town in which the sidewalks are rolled up at night. That isn't literally the case, of course, but a short stroll quickly reveals that after sundown they aren't in much use.

And then there is the joke Bonnians themselves tell, relayed in this case by a taxi driver — always a reliable source on what it's really like in any town.

It seems a visitor with some time to kill approached a local citizen with a question: "Where's the night life around here?"

Citizen: "What day is it?"

Visitor: "Wednesday."

Citizen: "Oh, she's in Cologne today."

been imposed are compared.

In an examination of 759 convictions involving offenders classified as Class I (the most important) by the Drug Enforcement Administration, the GAO found that the average sentence was five years less than the 15-year maximum that could have been imposed.

For example, a Thailand-based heroin dealer, Somchai Chaiwatanasarnuk, could have drawn 15 years in prison when he was sentenced in a 1979 case in California. Instead, his sentence was seven years.

In 247 Mafia cases examined by the GAO, four out of five sentences were six years shorter than the 10-year maximum for the offenses.

For example, Thomas Louis Ricciardi, a one-time bodyguard of the late Joseph Colombo, could have been sentenced to 20 years in prison for extortion and physical assault. Instead, the GAO report notes, "the court imposed a 14-month sentence."

Federal judges aren't the only slackers in the war on dope traffickers, according to the GAO's statistics. The U.S. Parole Commission also seems to have a soft spot in its heart for drug dealers. Even if they get a reasonably stiff sentence, the parole commission will let them back on the street early.

Out of the 1,044 cases examined by the GAO, 390 offenders have already had their sentences reduced by the parole commission. And of these, 314 were drug dealers who had served an average sentence of only four years and four months of their 10-year sentences.

The SAC Is Born County Schools Form Conference

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Like six expectant fathers in a hospital corridor, the Seminole County principals gathered Tuesday at Lake Mary High School. The nervousness was understandable. The new arrival would change and consolidate sports in the county.

When the nurse finally stuck her head through the door, she said, "Congratulations

Mr. Epps, Mr. Reynolds, Mr. Henley, Mr. Webb, Mr. Evans and Mr. Boothe — you're the proud fathers of a new league."

Thus, the Seminole Activities Conference (SAC) was born Tuesday as Seminole's Wayne Epps, Lake Mary's Don Reynolds, Lyman's Carlton Henley, Oviedo's Charlie Webb, Lake Howell's Dick Evans and Lake Brantley's Darvin Boothe took the preliminary steps to form the six-team conference.

"We got it off the ground," said Reynolds. "The county is now a conference."

Reynolds said the constitution will be finalized June 5 when the athletic directors will join the principals for another meeting. The board of directors will be made up of the principals and athletic directors of the six schools.

Intra-county conference competition will begin this fall with football.

Darvin Boothe, Lake Brantley principal, was elected president and Seminole's Wayne Epps was named president elect. Bob Peterson, Lake Brantley's athletic director, will serve as the secretary-treasurer. The AD of the president's school will assume that position each year. Boothe said the board is in search of an executive secretary.

Seminole, Lake Mary, Lyman, Oviedo, Lake Howell and Lake Brantley will make up the six teams. Oviedo, the lone 3A school, was a member of the Orange Belt Conference last year while the other five were all Five Star Conference schools.

Oviedo's Webb was probably the most elated of the principals. He said the conference ties will give the east Seminole County the identity it has been lacking in the past. "I think this conference is going to be great for Oviedo," said Webb of the county's fastest-growing school. "The rivalries are already established."

Oviedo, which had around 1,200 students five years ago is projected to reach 2,200 by next year.

Henley, the vice president of the Florida High School Activities Association, said a Seminole County conference had been a possibility for several years. "When the gasoline crunch hit a couple years ago was the first it was seriously

Brantley Trio Wings Toward Athletic, Academic Goals

Air Force Academy Signs Salmon, Emmons, Groseclose

By Rob Laris
Special to the Herald
ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — With an eye toward reaching new heights athletically and academically, Lake Brantley football standouts Scott Salmon, Steve Emmons and Dennis Groseclose will attend the United States Air Force Academy this fall.

All three were recruited by the Air Force football coach Fisher DeBary; and while the trio is anxious to take the field, they say their classroom chores will take first priority.

And all three will be missed at Lake Brantley, too. Coach David Tullis, who resigned several weeks ago, has watched all three develop since their sophomore season. "The Air Force Academy is getting the benefit," said Tullis. "They are three super kids. It was one of the bright spots of my coaching career to have all three of them on the same team."

Salmon, a 5-foot-9½, 170-pounder who played defensive back for the 7-3 Patriots last season, boasts a 4.1 grade-point average on a 4.0 scale. He's gained extra credit for advanced courses. Emmons and Groseclose, meanwhile, carry 3.6 grade-point averages. He was an All-Conference and All-County selection all three years.

"I really wanted to play football in college and get an education. I didn't want to compromise either," said Salmon, echoing his teammates. Salmon, who plans to major in some type of engineering, added that the three were recruited independently; there was no package deal. He did say, though, that having the others around makes him even more confident he'll fit in.

Emmons, a 6-foot, 160-pounder, talked to officials at the Naval Academy and West Point before choosing the Colorado Springs school. His choice wasn't too difficult; his grandfather retired as a three-star Air Force General, while his mother spent much of her time on Air Force bases. He plans to pursue a career as a pilot. Emmons won the Dave Jefferies as the player that comes back from a serious injury (arthroscopic knee surgery) and really contributes to the team.

Groseclose, 6-foot-3, 198, said the Air Force simply had the most to offer. He had considered schools in the Ivy League. He is hoping to attain a Aerospace Engineering degree and return to the Orlando area. He was an

All-Conference and All-County selection.

None of the scholar athletes expects instant stardom on the field or in the classroom, despite past successes. "If we get through the first half year, we'll be okay," said Salmon, who is ticketed for the defensive backfield.

Emmons says he'll probably play wide receiver for DeBary, whose teams have appeared in and won three straight bowl games. "I like to play football. It's something I've always wanted to do," he said. "But if you go there just to play football, it's a rude awakening."

He added that all players must try out for the team and freshmen usually don't play.

Groseclose hopes to crack the starting lineup by his junior year. He excelled for the Patriots at defensive end after being switched there from quarterback. He says roverback will likely be his position in college.

Crystal River Is Next For Torrid Lady Lions

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer
Crystal River, known best for its nuclear power plant, has put together quite a softball team in 1985. Oviedo's Lady Lions will try to melt down the Lady Pirates Friday in the 3A-2 Section Championship.

After beating up on defending 3A state champion and host Brooksville Hernando on Tuesday, Oviedo's torrid-hitting Lady Lions take their show on the road again Friday as they journey to Crystal River High. Game time is 5 p.m.

The Lady Lions advanced via a 6-1 victory over Hernando in the Region 4 playoff while Crystal River upended Live Oak-Suwanee, 5-1, in the Region 3 title game. Friday's winner advances to the state playoffs.

Judging from the two regional contests, Friday's game should be a close one. Both teams advanced with timely hitting and clutch defensive plays. Oviedo got a four RBI performance from Mikki Eby in its win over Hernando. Eby now has 42 RBIs for the season.

While Oviedo jumped out to a 6-0 lead, Crystal River and Live Oak were tied 1-1 going into the fifth when the Lady Pirates erupted for four runs. Tina Rogers, 2 for 3 with two RBIs, and Shannon Williams, 2 for 3 with a RBI double, were the hitting stars for the Pirates.

Coach David Soluri, who to the University of Central Florida and interned at Oviedo High, said his team has been a balanced club this season.

"We're averaging about one error a game defensively and 12 hits a game," Soluri said. "We played good defense against Suwanee. We only had one error and made two double plays."

Soluri also said pitcher Sandy Reighard has been instrumental to the team's success. She gave up just five hits in the win over Live Oak.

Softball

"Live Oak had trouble with our pitcher (Reighard)," Soluri said. "They weren't used to the high arch. She's within 11 to 12 feet (arch) on every pitch and is very accurate."

Crystal River stands at 15-4 for the season with two of those losses at the hands of Brooksville Hernando. After Tuesday's win, Crystal River's players were shouting. "We want Brooksville," but the Pirates won't get another shot at Hernando.

"We felt we would wind up playing them (Brooksville) again," Soluri said. "The girls were pretty surprised when they heard Oviedo won. It should be an interesting game Friday with their (Oviedo's) hitting and our defense."

Both teams claimed region titles for the first time Tuesday and Soluri said this is the first year Crystal River has won the district. The Lady Pirates defeated Inverness Citrus, who had won it the past four years, for the district title.

While Crystal River will try to keep up its balance, Oviedo is looking to keep its hitting streak going. The Lady Lions rapped out 14 hits Tuesday including three by Fran Foster and two by Eby. Eleven different players had hits for the Lady Lions Tuesday.

"We'll do well if we continue to hit like that," Oviedo coach Jackie Miller said. "The kids are pretty excited."

Tuesday's victory was particularly exciting for Foster, who is one of just two seniors on the team. The other, Candy Williams, played in her first game since early in the season Tuesday and got a hit in her only plate appearance.

Foster was a key player on the Oviedo volleyball team which went to sectionals this past season but was knocked off by Brooksville, one win away from state. She has been close, but has never made it to state in the four years she's been playing volleyball and softball for the Lady Lions.

"I told Mrs. Miller that we would win district my freshman year and state my senior year," Foster said.

Foster and the Lady Lions can take one step, further towards that goal Friday afternoon.

Barnett Chases Roberson Mark At Regional Track Meet Tonight

If you look at the 4A-3 Region track records you will see some marks that look almost impossible to break. But, remember, it is imperative that an athlete turn in an impressive performance at the regional because the next step is the state meet.

Although many of the region records will probably stay the same, there are some that could very well be broken.

For instance, three Seminole High performers will be going after their own records tonight in the 4A-3 Region meet at Showalter Field in Winter Park. Senior Frank Barnett shares the record in the 120 high hurdles with Winter Park's legend Mike Roberson. The record is 13.5 and Barnett's best time this season is 13.6. Barnett will be pushed by Lake Worth John I. Leonard's Courtney Hawkins who has run a 13.5 this season.

Senior sprinter Clifton Campbell has the record in the 440 at 47.6 and he is already ahead of that pace as he ran a 47.6 in winning the district title last week. Campbell was coming off a foot injury so look for him to be stronger tonight.

Seminole junior Leo Peterson, a senior by age, holds the record in the triple jump but he has already surpassed it this season. The record is 47-11 set last year while Peterson has gone 48-6 in 1985. However, that was early in the season and an injury along with inconsistency has kept him in the 47s and 48s the past few weeks. Junior teammate Alvin Jones has gone 47-7½ this season to give the Tribe the top two triple jumpers in the region.

Peterson is in his last season for the Tribe. Although he is a junior in school, he missed a year when he was young. Peterson recently turned 19 and no high school athlete can compete at 20 years of age. Coach Ken Brauman said Peterson missed a year of school because he was hit by a car when he was very young.

The record in the two mile is just as impressive as Roberson's sprint marks. In 1983, Winter Park's Brian Jaeger ran a 9:03.5. The top time in the region this season is 9:44 by Lake Mary's Matt Palumbo. The top time was 9:33.8 by Satellite's Bill Hibbard, but Hibbard is not running the two mile tonight. Instead, he will run the mile and 880.

With Hibbard out, Lake Mary's Rama have a chance to put three runners in the state meet in the two mile. They include Palumbo (a senior), junior Ken Rohr and senior Bobby Howard.

In the girls meet, Lake Howell sophomore Lisa Samocki has a good shot at the mile mark as she

Chris Fister

HERALD
SPORTS WRITER

will have intense competition from Winter Park's fine distance duo of Amy Gamber and Kim Bovis. Samocki (5:08.0), Gamber (5:08.8) and Bovis (5:08.9) are all going after the record of 5:07.0 set by Lake Brantley's Kathryn Hayward in 1983.

The two mile mark of 10:53.9 by Spruce Creek's Carmen Gardner in 1983 may stand for a while. The best time in the district meets was Samocki's 11:27.6.

However, the 880 record will most likely be broken unless the weather is bad. The mark is 2:16.2 by Lake Brantley's Leslie Sullivan in 1976 and is the oldest region girls record still standing. Seminole's Showrida Martin ran a 2:12.7 last week and could go even lower if she's pushed.

Turning to softball, Oviedo's Lady Lions are happy to come out of Brooksville with a win — in more ways than one.

Oviedo coach Jackie Miller was stranded in Brooksville Tuesday when one of her players, who shall remain nameless, ran off with her car keys. Luckily, Miller's husband is working in the area and had a spare set, but Miller had to stay in Brooksville that night because it was too late to drive back home.

"I said it was a good thing they won," Miller said of her players. "Because I would have been more than a little upset."

Speaking of the trip to Brooksville, I would like to thank Mr. Paul Coe for the ride in his van. While the journey to Brooksville was pretty peaceful, except for the car that caught on fire near Clermont, the ride back was, well, let's say interesting to say the least.

The van took on about five new passengers for the trip home and all five were players who were excited about just beating the defending state champs.

Some little known facts about sophomore outfielder Mikki Eby's sleeping habits were revealed but space limitations prohibit me from going into detail.

IN BRIEF

Morley Forges 2-Stroke Lead After 18 Holes At State Golf

SARASOTA — Winter Springs' Cheryl Morley is halfway home. The Oviedo High senior fired a 2-under par 70 for the first 18 holes of the Florida High School Girls Golf Tournament Wednesday at the Foxfire Country Club.

Morley.....the leader

Morley, a senior who will attend the University of Florida next year on a golf scholarship, leads Lisa Neboda (Fort Lauderdale Aquinas) and Lisa Merman (Boca Raton Pope Paul) by two strokes.

Despite her sub-par effort, Morley's coach, Dave Miller, said the round could have been much if she had gotten a few breaks on her putts. She missed birdie putts of 10 feet or less on three holes.

In the boys tournament at Bent Tree Country Club, district champion Lake Brantley is sitting in ninth place. Sarasota Riverview (307) leads Tampa Chamberlain (313) by six strokes.

Brantley (322) was led by Chris McManus, who had a 79. Chad Ibbotson (80), Todd Brown (81), Chris D'Marco (85) and Richard Brown (89) were next in line for coach Jim Estocin's Patriots.

Parker Gets 3 Hits, Astros Win

Bobby Parker cracked three singles as the Ocala Astros trimmed the Lakeland Tigers, 6-3, in Florida State League baseball Wednesday night at Kissimmee.

Parker, a Lyman High grad, also scored a run as the Astros picked up two runs in the first, added one in the second and three more in the fourth to maintain a 1½ game lead over Lakeland in the Central Division of the FSL.

In other baseball, the Huntsville Star walloped the Orlando Twins, 12-3, at Orlando's Tinker Field. Mark Funderburk slugged his seventh homer for the Twins.

Glieber Was Consummate Pro

DALLAS (UPI) — Frank Glieber covered the National Football League for 23 years and the Masters golf tournament for 18, but his favorite sports subject was the exploits of his son, Mitch, an all-district wide receiver at his suburban Dallas high school.

Glieber, who died Wednesday after suffering a heart attack while jogging, took pride in watching his son play football with the sons of Lee Roy Jordan, Billy Triux and Malcolm Walker — all former members of the Dallas Cowboys, whose games he called for CBS-TV for two decades.

Rams Make Scott No. 2 Choice

Chuck Scott, who played his prep football at Lake Howell High School before going on to All-America acclaim at Vanderbilt, was selected in the second round of the NFL Draft by the Los Angeles Rams.

Scott was the 22nd pick of the second round and the 50th choice overall. The 6-3, 200-pounder has played wideout and tight end with the Commodores. He was an All-SEC first-team performer the past two years.

Elks Nips Ball; Kiwanis Leads

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

What was once a one-team race has suddenly turned into a four-way traffic jam. Ball Motor Line seemed on its way to the first half title in the Sanford Junior League but it couldn't shake the likes of Kiwanis, Moose or Elks.

Ball Motor Line could have clinched at least a tie for the first half title Wednesday night but Elks refused to drop out of the race as it came away with a 7-6 victory at Chase Park.

Meanwhile, Kiwanis clinched at least a tie for the first half lead by routing winless Rotary, 22-9.

Kiwanis, temporarily, has the lead with a 7-3 record while Ball Motor Line, Elks and Moose are all 6-3. The first half ends Friday with Ball Motor Line facing Moose and Elks taking on Knights of Columbus. There will be at least a two-way tie and possibly a three-way bottleneck for the first half title.

Ball Motor Line took an early 2-0 lead Wednesday behind an RBI double by Ronald Cox and a run-scoring triple by Troy Rollins in the top of the first inning.

Cox held Elks scoreless for the first two frames and Ball Motor upped its lead to 4-0 with two runs in the top of the third. Both runs scored on bases-loaded walks.

Elks came back with a pair of runs in the bottom of the third, both scoring on a Ball Motor Line error. Elks scored three more times in the fourth for a 5-4 lead. RBI singles by Willie McCloud and Karl Carter led the way.

Baseball

Ball Motor Line evened the score with a run in the top of the fifth but Elks regained the lead, 6-5, in the bottom of the inning. Elks then took a 7-5 lead in the bottom of the sixth when Carter went all the way around on a Ball Motor Line error.

Ball came back with one run in the top of the seventh and had the tying run on third base with two outs but Von Eric Small struck out Kevin Nathan for the final out. Small went the distance for the Elks.

In Wednesday's second game at Chase Park, Kiwanis scored 12 runs in the first two innings to sew up the victory early over Rotary. Rotary fell to 0-10 with the loss.

A nine-run second was the big inning for Kiwanis. Sammy Edwards' inside-the-park homer led the way while Kiwanis took advantage of seven walks and stole 10 bases in the inning.

Bernard Mitchell put the finishing touches on for Kiwanis as he slugged a RBI triple in the fourth and an inside-the-park homer in the fifth. Mitchell had three hits for the game while Edwards had two.

Mitchell and Edwards combined to hold Rotary to just two hits, doubles by Paul Thomas and Henry Blanton.

DILLION DRIVES FEDERAL TO 7-0

Mike Dillon drove in four runs with two doubles and a triple and Joe Wiggins and Alonzo Brundidge combined for a one-batter as First Federal coasted to a 14-4 victory over D.A.V. in Sanford Little National League action Wednesday at Fort Mellon Park.

Dillon slammed an RBI triple in the first, a two-run double in the second and a run-scoring double in the fourth to lead the 11-hit First Federal attack. First Federal ran its league-leading record to 7-0 with the win.

Joe Sykes also rapped out three hits for First Federal while Elliot Brownley's fourth-inning double was the lone hit for D.A.V.

In Wednesday's first game at Fort Mellon Park, three big errors doomed Rinker as it dropped a 6-5 decision to Sunniland.

After two scoreless innings, Sunniland took a 4-0 lead in the bottom of the third. With one out, Tommy Hampton doubled and came around to score on a pair of wild pitches. Anthony Reid singled and scored on Ned June's triple. June scored on a wild pitch and KoJack Hunt, who had walked, later scored on an error.

Rinker came back with three runs in the top of the fourth with Bryan Grayson's solo home run leading the way. Rinker took a 5-4 lead in the top of the fifth with both runs scoring via wild pitches.

Three Rinker errors paved the way for two Sunniland runs in the bottom of the fifth. June reached on an error with one out, moved to third on an error on the same play and, with two outs, scored on Robert Redding's single to tie the score at 5-5. Redding went to second and third on wild pitches and scored the winning run on an error.

Mahler, Braves Slop Past Cincinnati, 17-9

United Press International

On a playing field more suitable for boat racing than baseball, base hits fell nearly as often as raindrops Wednesday at Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium.

Ultimately, the heavens were truly on the side of the Atlanta Braves.

The Braves rapped out 25 hits, including Dale Murphy's 10th home run, and whipped the Cincinnati Reds, 17-9. In a bizarre game in which Reds trainer Larry Starr was ejected for complaining too vehemently about poor field condition.

"Every once in a while you have a day like this," said Atlanta manager Eddie Haas. "Everything hit just finds a hole."

Every Atlanta starter had at least two hits, an RBI and a run scored. Five Braves collected at least three hits, including Murphy.

"I've seen big innings before, but I don't think I've ever seen 15 hits in two innings," said Reds player-manager Pete Rose, who has been playing 22 years. "Every player on their team had a hit in those first two innings."

with a walk off Scott Garretts, 0-1, and stole second. One out later, Bob Dernier was intentionally walked. With Dunston and Dernier double stealing, Brenly threw the ball past third base Winner Dennis Eckersley, 4-1, struck out 10 in a complete game.

Dodgers 2, Cardinals 1

At St. Louis, Ken Landreaux scored on a balk by Neil Allen, 0-2, in the 12th inning to win it for the Dodgers. Landreaux pinch hit a double and took third on a groundout before umpire John McSherry called the balk. Ken Howell, 1-1, was the winner, and Tom Niedenfuer pitched the 12th for his first save.

Expos 3, Phillies 2

At Philadelphia, Hubie Brooks broke a seventh-inning tie with his first home run of the season, and Jeff Reardon picked up his sixth save to lead the Expos. Brooks made a winner of David Palmer, 2-2. Shane Rawley, 3-1, took the loss.

Tim Lincecum missed the game because of a pulled hamstring he suffered in Tuesday's game while going for a fly ball. Raines will receive treatment today at Atlanta and

At Pittsburgh, Al Bumbry went 3-for-5 and Steve Garvey and Tim Lincecum each drove in two runs to lead the Padres. Eric Show, 3-1, pitched 5 2/3 innings for the victory with Rich Gossage earning his sixth save. Jose DeLeon, 0-4, took the loss. Jason Thompson homered for Pittsburgh

Key Is 1st Toronto Lefty To Start, Win Since 1980

United Press International

For the first time in five years, Toronto's starting rotation has something left.

Jimmy Key became the first left-handed starter to win a game for Toronto since 1980, helping the Blue Jays extend their winning streak to six games with a 6-3 victory Wednesday night over the California Angels.

"It really didn't bother me," said Key, referring to the drought. "It was getting old that's all. The guys kept teasing me about it. Now that's over with."

Key, who has never completed a major-league game, worked 7 2/3 innings and gave up a leadoff homer to Reggie Jackson in the fifth. Jackson's 425-foot shot to right field was the 507th homer of his career, 13th on the all-time list behind the 511 of Mel Ott.

The Blue Jays had gone 614 consecutive games since southpaw Paul Mirabella defeated Boston 3-1 on October 4, 1980. During that span Toronto had sent only 18 left-handers to the mound as starters before Key broke the hex.

A.L. Baseball

"Personally it's a relief to get a win as a starter," said Key. "I just want to get established as a starter. If I can win 10 games as the fifth starter I know we can get over the hump."

In halting California's six-game winning string, Toronto scored five runs in the seventh inning to snap a 1-1 tie. California starter Kirk McCaskill, in his major-league debut, surrendered just two hits and an unearned run through the first six innings.

George Bell doubled and took third on a passed ball. Len Matuszek beat out an infield hit with Bell remaining at third. With one out, rookie Lou Thornton singled to right for his first major-league hit and RBI.

Elsewhere, New York beat Texas 5-1. Minnesota downed Detroit 3-1 on October 4, 1980. During that span Toronto had sent only 18 left-handers to the mound as starters before Key broke the hex.

considered," said Henley. "The cost for bus drivers went up and all schools were looking to economize."

Henley was quick to point out, however, that the conference was not formed out of a need. "It really wasn't a necessity," he said. "It's more of a desire to add a new dimension. This gives a school two options competitively. If a team gets eliminated from district, it still has the conference race to consider."

Although the conference wasn't a necessity, the principals agreed that it was a wise and natural move. They also said the redistricting by the FHSAA last fall was the final push they needed to act.

"When we found out that they (FHSAA) were going to have five classifications in football, we knew the Five Star would probably be broken up," said Reynolds, who is also a FHSAA board member. "It was time to form our own conference."

With the realignment, the county was sliced three ways with Seminole and Oviedo joining Titusville, Daytona Beach Seabreeze and New Smyrna Beach to form a 4A district. Lake Mary and Lyman joined DeLand, Daytona Beach Mainland and Port Orange Spruce Creek to form a 5A district. Lake Howell and Lake Brantley joined Apopka, Winter Garden West Orange, Orlando Evans and Winter Park to form another 5A district.

The realignment is on a trial period for football only for two years only but some informed sources believe it will become standard after next year. The change was brought about by a push from the 2A schools who felt there was too much enrollment variance in their division and five classifications were needed.

All the principals were excited about their new baby but Boothe, in particular, was enthused about its potential. "This is a good size for a conference with good balance between conference contests and out of conference contests," said the first-year president. "That's what I like. A lot of our good (state-class) programs can pick up games with the leaders in the state."

Boothe said rivalries, which are already superb, will be intensified even more so. "Our rivalries will be better than ever," he said. "It will be a great advantage from that standpoint."

Epps agreed. "It adds even more importance to our county rivalries," said next year's president. "It's no longer a mythical championship" in some sports. It will be for the championship."

The county teams won't miss those drives to Daytona Beach either. "It will drastically cut down our travel costs," said Lake Howell's Evans. "We never drew very well from the Volusia schools. We'll be a lot healthier financially."

Henley said the union with the Volusia County schools has been a good marriage for the 11-year conference. He did point out that there were a few minor philosophical differences.

though "Volusia County schools do not have girls' soccer," he said. "That kept us from making it a conference sport." Lyman's girls won the state championship.

Reynolds said the format for the Five Star Conference constitution will be used as a guide. "We just have to make a couple of revisions," he said. "The Five Star was a good conference for Seminole County and there's no reason for any major changes."

"We'll just take the constitution of the Five Star and change the names."

The Five Star, meanwhile, will continue in Volusia County where the Daytona schools will keep it alive beginning in the fall.

The SAC will have a point system for all sports which will determine an All-Sports champion. It will also have All-Conference teams. Trophies, awards and a logo will be determined at the June 7 meeting, according to Boothe.

"Seminole County has come of age and needs its own conference," said Boothe. "It could be a great point of civic pride."

WORLD IN BRIEF

Nicaragua To Take U.S. To Court Over Sanctions

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — President Daniel Ortega pledged to send home 100 Cuban military advisers today despite U.S. economic sanctions against Nicaragua, which the government said it would protest at the World Court.

President Reagan, who was in West Germany for an economic summit, Wednesday ordered a ban on all U.S. trade with Nicaragua and a cutoff of air and ship service from the Central American country to U.S. ports.

"These measures have an illegal and arbitrary character," Vice President Sergio Ramirez said. "They are undoing international judicial order."

One opposition leader blamed the U.S. measure on Sandinista policies — particularly its growing closeness to the Soviet Union.

"This is a product of the rash journey of President Daniel Ortega to the socialist countries," said Erick Ramirez, vice president of the Social Christian Party.

Kiwanians Set Sale, Flea Market

The Sanford Sunrise Kiwanis Club is sponsoring a garage sale and flea market Saturday from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. under the old Sun Bank drive-in windows at the southwest corner of the Sanford Plaza.

Bob R. Douglas, chairman of the fund-raising committee for the Sunrise Kiwanis, said funds raised from the project will go to support programs for local unprivileged youth.

Douglas said among the items to be sold Saturday are writing desks, an electric stove, a hot water heater and a variety of new clothing donated for the event by local merchants.

Hamburgers and hot dogs will be sold during the sale.

Germans Laud Reagan's Bitburg Decision

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — President Reagan was roundly praised today by West Germany's leaders at the start of the annual economic summit for having the "courage" to go ahead with his controversial visit to a German war cemetery.

The president, smiling and appearing genial as he emerged from one-on-one sessions with West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl and Japanese Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone, played down Sunday's scheduled visit to the Bitburg military cemetery, where 49 members of the Nazi Waffen SS are buried.

Reagan was scheduled later today to meet French President Francois Mitterrand and British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher. A senior U.S. official told reporters Kohl and West German President Richard von Weizsaecker were effusive in praising Reagan because he "never wavered" in his decision to visit Bitburg, despite a still-rippling furor in the United States from religious leaders, veterans and Congress.

While posing for pictures with Nakasone today, Reagan said Kohl had "thanked me" for his determination to go ahead with the visit.

Kohl had invited Reagan to lay a wreath at the cemetery and "I said I never had any intention of doing anything other," Reagan said.

The senior official said Kohl told Reagan his decision "has sent a very powerful message to the German people." Weizsaecker expressed a similar feeling and said he "appreciated the president's courage," the official said.

West German government spokesman Peter Boenish also announced today that four members of the German resistance who fought against Adolf Hitler's regime will go to Bitburg for the wreath-laying.

Among the four is the son of Col. Claus Schenk von Stauffenberg, who was executed and suspended from a meat hook for his role in the failed 1944 attempt to assassinate Hitler.

The Bitburg visit, despite administration efforts to play it down during Reagan's 10-day European swing, overshadowed Reagan's primary goal for the 11th annual economic summit — persuading allied leaders to support a new round of trade talks and his "Star Wars" defense system.

bargain. It is a flat economic fact that a company that charges less for a service than it costs to provide that service will eventually go out of business," Strickler said.

He predicted that the cost of telephone service in Florida will slowly creep toward the $30 per month mark. Strickler also said that expanding the Sanford-Lake Mary service to provide toll-free calls to Orlando will mean that revenues of $1.5 million for the long distance calls would no longer be available to the company for subsidizing local service rates and subscribers who never call Orlando would in effect be subsidizing those who do.

Strickler said there are about 19,100 subscribers in Sanford-Lake Mary. Asked by Lake Mary Mayor Dick Fess how much revenue Southern Bell gets from long distance calls to Sanford-Lake Mary which originate in Orlando, Strickler said $12 million annually, but that there are 186,000 customers in the Orlando area and the majority have no interest in toll-free service to Sanford-Lake Mary.

Doing some quick math in his head — $2.8 million in toll revenues divided by 206,000 total customers — Altamonte Springs City Commissioner Lee Constantine, council chairman, said it would cost about $1 per month per subscriber in Orlando and Sanford-Lake Mary to make up the lost revenues to Southern Bell.

Strickler said the fact remains that the majority of Orlando subscribers have no wish to call Sanford and for every call made from Orlando to a Sanford-Lake Mary exchange, 10 calls are made from the two north Seminole communities and surrounding areas to Orlando.

Strickler also warned that small Sanford businesses would suffer from extended service. He said now an appliance as an example might now cost $50 more in Sanford than in the Orlando area and if subscribers could comparison shop by telephone it is likely they would buy in the Orlando area.

But Mrs. Smith argued that using an example that a Sanford businessman may be helped because there is no telephone toll-free service to Orlando is not good enough.

She said the time will soon be here when Sanford-Lake Mary is so large "Orlando will be dying to call us."

Strickler concluded, however, "Southern Bell will not voluntarily raise telephone rates unnecessarily. Without subsidies (from long distance calls) you are not going to see cooperative things like this."

To Fess's question about what the actual "hard costs" of expanding the service are, Strickler said there would be a "facilities charge" and a "central office wiring charge." He did not estimate what these actual costs are.

statutes that now allows prosecutors to charge suspects with first-degree murder in cases where abuse results in the death of the child.

Prior to Marblestone's efforts, prosecutors had to prove the accused intended to kill the victim to be convicted of first-degree murder and thus sentenced to life. Now if a child dies because of abuse, prosecutors can ask for a first-degree murder conviction without having to prove intent.

Marblestone, who made an unsuccessful first-time bid for a county judgeship in September, said he was going to go into general practice and had no plans to specialize.

He said he would not rule out the possibility of running for some elected office in the future.

As of yet, no replacement has been named to assume the post of chief trial attorney in the Seminole State Attorney Office.

Yard Of The Month

Sanora Homeowners Association has selected the home and grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Mitchell, 304 Sanora Blvd., for the Yard of the Month award for April. According to a SHA spokesman, the neatly landscaped yard meets the criteria that the association has established in making the monthly selection.

16 UCF Students Initiated Into National Honor Society

Sixteen area students at the University of Central Florida have been initiated into Phi Kappa Phi, national honor society for academic excellence. Among those honored at the traditional campus ceremony April 14:

From Altamonte Springs: Barbara Y. Eichelberger, Valerie L. Krise, Diana S. Roberts. From Casselberry: Karen Y. Landress, Joanna D. Reed, David W. Rindge.

From Longwood: Thomas A. Krizanosky, Shirley J. Maun Tuck, Annette F. McDaniel, Laurie A. Santulli, Vicki L. Youngman. From Sanford: Tina M. Sjoberg, Gayle E. Everhart. From Winter Springs: Vicki J. Myers, Cynthia J. Weiss. From Apopka: Susan D. Dike.

Episcopal Academy Barbecue
Sweetwater Episcopal Academy in Longwood will hold a barbecue and Imagination at 5 p.m. May 11 on the campus at 251 East Lake Brantley Drive. The barbecue and auction are sponsored by the Parents' Organization and all proceeds will be used to buy additional computers for the school. The auctioneer for the event is being provided by Jim Sheen Auctioneers of Orlando. The barbecue begins at 5 p.m. tickets are adults, $6; children, $3. The auction begins at 6:30 and there is no charge to attend. Many items have been donated and will go to the highest bidder. For example, one week at a condo in Ocean City, N.J. (near Atlantic City), a deep sea fishing excursion for four, two gallons of milk a week for a year, and many more items. For more information, call the school, at 862-1882.

Cypress Hotel on Orlando
Recognition Night is held each year to honor Orlando aerospace employees who demonstrate outstanding job performance. As top-ten honoree, Garland was recognized for his superior marketing effort and dedicated proposal support that significantly contributed to the Super-sonic Low Altitude Target (SLAT) program win. The award was presented by Orlando aerospace President Walter O. Lowrie. Garland and his wife, Christy, live at 640 Riverpark Circle, Longwood.

Fun Fair For Missing Children
The Missing Children's Center, 750 W. Highway 434, Winter Springs, will hold a "Fun Fair" on May 25 and 26 at the center. Volunteers are needed to help plan and man the event. Blocks of 10 family tickets will be sold for $2.50 for use at the fair. There will be rides, games, entertainment and food. Fair patrons can park at Winter Spring Elementary School. For information, call 695-4357.

Chocolate Fantasy Art Contest
Patterson & Taylor Public Relations and Advertising are staging a contest for local artists to design a logo for the sweetest event of the year — "Chocolate Fantasy." Scheduled for mid-September, "Chocolate Fantasy" is sponsored by Mutual Benefit Financial Group to benefit the Central Florida Chapter of the National Kidney Foundation. A set donation will allow the public to sample chocolate concoctions from the best restaurants and chocolatiers in the area. The deadline for the logo contest is June 1, 1985. The winning entry will be used on all promotional material for the event, including posters, advertising and PSA's. Help the Kidney Foundation by designing a logo. For more information on how to enter, call Lee Dibling at 305/644-5550. Mail or bring your entries to the offices of Patterson & Taylor, 1350 Orange Ave., Suite 240, Winter Park.

Audubon House Yard Sale
The Florida Audubon Society is cleaning out its attics, storage rooms and sheds and is holding a yard sale May 11 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Audubon House in Maitland. Tons of interesting items have been discovered including an iron stove, display racks, furniture, books, file boxes, lumber, doors, old magazines, and a potpourri of other prized junk. For more information call the Florida Audubon Society, 647-2615.

Outstanding Young Women
The Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Young Women of America awards program announces that two Seminole County women have been selected for inclusion in the 1984 edition of Outstanding Young Women of America. They are: Judy Leigh Oakley, 762 Ballard St., Altamonte Springs; and Evelyn Watts Clontinger, 652 Pine Ave., Oviedo.

Garland Top-Ten Award Winner
Joe Garland has been honored by Martin Marietta Orlando, at Recognition Night, held recently at the Hyatt Regency Grand

Freeloading Father Burden For His Self-Sufficient Son

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 23-year-old man with a problem: my father. Three months ago he quit his job and moved in with me. He didn't even let me know he was coming; he just showed up at my door — bag and baggage. He's been here for three months now, and still no job. I doubt if he's even looking. I asked him to take any kind of job for now, but he said he was too old to start at the bottom. (He's 47.)

Dear Abby

To top it off, his girlfriend is always here. They have sex in my bed, shower in my bathroom and have practically taken over my apartment. Dad got upset when I told him I didn't want her over here so much. She's married with two small children and is 10 years younger than my father.

Abby, I liked living alone. I work two jobs so I wouldn't need a roommate to share expenses. What can I do? Dad keeps telling me, "You owe me your life; it wasn't for me, you wouldn't be here." Should I feel guilty because I want him out of here. What should I do?

FED UP

DEAR FED UP: Reverse roles, and do what a loving parent should do with an able-bodied adult son who freeloads off his parents. Give him a deadline. He'll take as long as you're willing to give.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 48-year-old white male, and a child molester of pre-adolescent children, ages 5 to 12. I have a long history of non-violent sexual offenses. I am once again in jail awaiting sentence for a sexual offense.

Abby, please continue to tell your readers that all children, boys and girls, should be supervised when going to the bathroom at movies or any other public place. No one knows better than I how easy it is for a child to be accosted by a molester in a public restroom. Flea markets, county fairs and carnivals are a molester's delight. I am amazed to see so many small children wandering around alone at these places. Prevention of child molestation can come about only through educating parents as well as children.

Parents need to warn their children about molesters, and further protect them by never allowing them to roam around in public places unsupervised.

DEAR INMATE: Thank you for reaffirming some facts that many parents are already well aware of. But it never hurts to remind them.

Experiment Provides Proof Of Gullibility

On occasion, marvelously unique experiments not only tell us about ourselves, but may actually tell us more than we want to know. The design of one such experiment and its execution were flawless: the conclusions, shattering.

Three instructors were interested in how students rate teachers. They believed that all of us tend to judge educators on the basis of personality variables rather than informational content of what is taught.

The instructors hired an extremely distinguished-looking and charismatic actor, whom they trained to teach a subject about which he knew nothing. They named him Dr. Myron L. Fox and provided him with a substantial but entirely bogus set of credentials. He lectured on "Mathematical Game Theory as Applied to Physician Education."

The actor was coached to present his topic and conduct a question-and-answer period with the use of nonsense terms, double talk, neologisms, non sequiturs and contradictory statements. The talk was sprinkled with meaningless references to unrelated topics.

His first audience was composed of psychiatrists, psychologists and social workers who assembled for a teacher-training conference. After a one-hour lecture and a half-hour of discussion, the educators were given questionnaires to which they were asked to respond anonymously.

The responses were as funny as the performance itself. Many said the presentation was excellent. The teacher appeared to have a warm manner, a good flow of language and much enthusiasm. One respondent thought the presentation was too intellectual; another said he preferred a more practical lecture.

The first experiment was followed by another, which included mental-health educators. The favorable responses far outweighed the unfavorable answers. One educator indicated that he actually read some of the speaker's papers. Another listener wanted more visual materials. A third said there were too many gestures and not enough examples.

Isn't that a sad commentary on the abilities of our so-called professionals? It makes you wonder, doesn't it? In a world that worships the jargon and sanctity of law, science, politics, medicine, academics — indeed, all professions — many of us find it all too easy to accept the unacceptable. The burgeoning amount of available knowledge seems to force us into a blind reliance on authority sources. Nonetheless, reason and objective criticism must remain the cornerstone of intellectualism or we will cease to be in control of ourselves.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Serious bridge players remember their mistakes but are quick to forget their coups. Because today's East and West defenders are serious players, they have much to remember from today's deal. Don't try to figure out how they let four spades make. Let me describe it.

It was bad practice for West to make a two-club overall. Although West's hand contained only three cards in the other major, a takeout double tells the story and avoids the strain of introducing such a meager club suit.

East should duck the opening diamond queen lead. Doing so preserves communication between the defenders' hands and leaves West better placed later. Instead, East took the ace and returned a diamond. Declarer won the king and played a club, taken by West's ace. West cashed a diamond and then put declarer in dummy with the club king. West hoped to make his singleton spade king. However, when the jack of spades was called from dummy, East made the natural play of covering with the queen. One hundred honors all falling on one trick made a pretty picture, but did little for either the digestion or the blood pressure of the defenders.

Although there was no certain way for East to decipher declarer's trump holding, it was not likely that South had A-K-x-x of spades. With that holding, declarer would most likely have played the A-K in an attempt to drop the queen. And if South had some other holding, it could not help the defense for East to play the queen on the jack.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY MAYS, 1985

In the year ahead you will establish two distinct sets of friends. One will be for social purposes and the other for business, yet you will be equally fond of each.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) To maintain harmony in your partnership arrangements today, it's best you stand back and let your counterpart do the talking.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Praise from you will be all that's required today to rekindle the enthusiasm of a subordinate saddled with a boring chore.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Instinctively you'll know how to bring out the best in others today, even those who seldom smile and tend to take life too seriously.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you feel artistic today, use your talents to beautify your surroundings. Your imagination isn't running away wildly, it's working for you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Actions speak louder than words today, so instead of merely airing your ideas, take steps to actually show others how they work.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A hidden source may be revealed today that might be financially beneficial. It could develop into something quite substantial.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your determination and strength of character will be obvious to others today. You'll get your way without having to be aggressive.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) People apt to be most helpful today will be those who are compassionate. Avoid the hard hearts.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your club or organizational involvements will be the ones that turn out to be the most rewarding. Don't be a loner today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You are capable of outstanding accomplishments today. Don't pass the action just because a specific goal looks difficult to achieve.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You have a marvelous way of presenting things today. Even if you offer criticism, you'll know how to make it sound like a compliment.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Important changes can be made today so be sure that you're in control of events, rather than letting circumstances call the shots.
