Stop and go: Road projects set for county

By Bill Kerns

Staff Writer

SANFORD - In cities throughout Seminole County, road construction is paving the way for economic growth. Drivers may not like to face road construction, but improved transportation: will mean people — and their money can travel around the county with ease.

On the northern end of the busy Interstate-4 corridor, work on the 46-A Interchange is expected to be completed by the end of the year, according to Bob Turk, executive director of Economic Development for Seminole County.

"A strong economy requires good infrastructure," Turk said.

life in the city's economy.

Several key projects will begin this year. Construction of the so-called "missing link" GreeneWay is expected to begin in the latter part of the year. From Sanford to Winter Springs, the GreeneWay expansion is expected to bring new visitors and to breathe new Realignment of the I-4 and U.S. 17-92 interchange will also be underway this year. In Lake Mary, the I-4 Fly-over connecting Cross Seminole Trail to the Heathrow International Business Center is being designed.

Heathrow International Boulevard will become a four-lane road. International Parkway will be extended beyond 46-A, to SR 46.

In addition to the state projects, cities throughout the county are planning major road paving projects.

In Oviedo, the city's plan to ease congestion on SR 434 by diverting traffic along Division Street is drawing heated resistance from residents who say that their peaceful neighborhoods would be disturbed and that increased traffic in neighborhoods would endanger children. The Seminole County Convention and Visitors Bureau reports that several new hotels are springing up across the county. Two new bed and breakfast facilities in Sanford recently opened, the Cherry See Roads, Page 7A

Sanford OKs road work

By Bill Kerns Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Sanford City Commission on Monday approved an agreement with Seminole County to perform $5.8 million worth of road improvements.

The road improvements will be paid for through Sanford's share of Seminole County's 1-cent sales tax program, approved by voters in 1991.

The sales tax will fund construction of the East West Connector Road, also referred to as the St. John Parkway extension. The connector will be built in three portions totalling 1.25 miles. The sections include St. John Parkway to Upsala Road, Lockhard Smith Canal to Bevier Road, and Bevier Road to Airport Boulevard.

Airport Boulevard will be extended, with a 1.6 mile collector road from State Road 46 at Bevier Road to County Road 15. In addition, downtown Sanford will receive improvements to its circulation system.

The City Commission chose to work on the pro- See Sanford, Page 2A

jects in March, and the city is in charge of implementing the projects.

In other commission action Monday, retired Acting Sanford Police Chief Ray Bronson was given a Distinguished Citizenship Award, plus his badge and service revolver.

Born and raised in Sanford, Bronson retired from the police department on Friday. He is now a reserve deputy with the Seminole County Sheriff's Department.

"I just can't say how grateful we are for everything you've done," Sanford Mayor Larry Dale said. "I don't get lost for words often, but you've done more for this town than I can express."

The commission tabled for two weeks a proposal to assign the Marina Hotel lease to Jim Barggren. Barggren requested the item be tabled, so the lease can be assigned to a newly formed corporation under his control. Barggren owns 100 percent of the corporation. He wants to perform renovations to the Marina Hotel, and make it a Best Western hotel.

Sons follow in father's footsteps

Slain deputy known for volunteer work; sons continue work at youth ranch

By Bill Kerns

Staff Writer

SANFORD — The sons of slain Seminole County Deputy Sheriff Eugene Gregory are paying tribute to their father by becoming camp counselors this week at the Florida Sheriff's Youth Ranch in Barberville.

Deputy Eugene "Stetson" Gregory was killed on July 8, 1998, in a 13-hour standoff in the Geneva area. Known for his ability to help troubled kids, Gregory was a camp counselor at the Youth Ranch in the summer of 1996.

His son, Eugene Gregory, Jr. approached the camp in the fall of 1998 with the idea becoming a camp counselor with his brothers James Destry and Travis, to raise awareness of the Youth Ranch.

Travis Gregory is a Seminole County Sheriff's Deputy, James Destry is a Deputy with the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office, and Eugene, Jr. is a Baptist Pastor in Mississippi. Travis Gregory said gathering all three bothers together usually takes "an act of Congress," so this is a special occasion for the family.

Monday at the Seminole County Sheriff's Office in Sanford, the three sons boarded a bus for Barberville along with 25 troubled boys and girls from Seminole and Orange counties. See Footsteps, Page 7A

Longwood rocker lends a hand to Danny Joe Brown

LONGWOOD - Rock 'n' roll baby boomers with a dash of gray around the temples and a touch of arthritis in their knee joints will want to mark July 18 on their calendars.

A local promoter with deep Seminole County roots and deeper roots in rock in roll has put together a benefit concert for an ailing rocker that features participation of group members from a number of headline groups from the early 80's to present.

Riff West, a 1969 Lyman High School graduate and head of Go West Productions in Orlando, has organized a benefit for Danny Joe Brown, former singer of Molly Hatchet, at Club La Vela in downtown Orlando. Brown suffered a stroke shortly after Thanksgiving 1998 and has been hospitalized in Boca Ratton since. He is expected to attend the benefit concert that will feature a plethora of group See Rocker, Page 7A

He's supplying 'chamber' music for Sanford

Observing Ron Rose direct the city's Chamber of Commerce the past two years, Sanford Mayor Larry Dale is impressed and concerned about the man's

"It worries me that he may run out of gasoline," Dale said Tuesday. "But then I remember General Patton — he ran out of gasoline and still won."

Ron Rose and George Patton ... whoa, that may be a stretch.

Ron Rose is a Ron Rose, and that's good enough for Sanford, Fla. The guy's earning his salary by trying to project pride in the city.

"Each day I realize just how neglected Sanford has been," said Rose, a 40-something man who likes to tell people about when he dated Patsy (Paugh) Ramsey when the two attended West Virginia University. Yes, Rose dated, Jon Benet Ramsey's mother.

Rose said he helped organize the Miss West Virginia pageant, which Ramsey won. "Somewhere - in life - it's amazing how many people we bump elbows with," Rose said. From the time he was in college, Rose knew he wanted to be a promoter. First, it was tourism in West Virginia. He didn't coin, "Almost Heaven, West Virginia" but he used it in each quarter of the state. Rose believed West Virginia was heaven. Later, he decided heaven was Jensen Beach, Fla. He became that city's Chamber of Commerce Director in 1985. Quickly, he put together an event known as the Jensen Beach Pineapple Festival. He stayed eight years on the Treasure Coast.

It was an internet advertisement for the Sanford job that caught Rose's eye. The city was seeking a promoter to head the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

"I wanted the job, and I got it," Rose said. "I sincerely believed then - and still believe - I can make a difference in this community. This town has been neglected so long. Changes are happening, but the best is coming.

"There's prosperity all around us, and we'll be in the midst of this prosperity with transportation breakthroughs in the next five years. The St. Johns River Parkway, the GreeneWay and a direct 46A to the Interstate will turn things upside down. And lets not harm the charm. Good things are coming."

Rose staged a Heritage Festival in Sanford last November that attracted 20,000 people. Chubby Checker and Lover Boy were the entertainment.

"The festival is a musical event," Rose said. "Those who came last year liked the music. We haven't contracted anyone yet. We'll get someone good."

The $5 admission to last year's Festival shutout some families but Rose said it was necessary. The entertainers had to be paid, and it is expensive staging the Festival. One day, he promised, the Festival will be better than Jensen Beach's Pineapple Festival.

Sanford, Rose said, will change for the better when more people get involved in efforts to enhance the city.

"The community has to have more pride. We've got to clean up areas where there is litter. Fix up places like the Ritz Theatre. Sanford needs to get a lot clean-

From the window of his office across Palmetto Avenue, Rose pointed to the tall grass and weeds in a field he says is a disgrace to the city.

"We should be ashamed of this - right in the heart of the town, in front of the library," Rose said.

Perhaps, Patton would have driven a tank across the field.

Russ White's column appears Tuesday through Saturday in the Seminole Herald.

Volunteering for the needy

Volunteer Robert Roth pushes a buggy full of bread in preparation for a commodity day in Sanford. Seminole Volunteer Enterprises and the U.S. Department of Agriculture sponsored the event, which provided food for the needy.

Our View

Red, White and Who?

In media-hyped '90s, where rock stars and athletes dominate the national conscinense, are there any true-blooded patriots left?

Before you embark on whatever traditional activities encompass your traditional three-day Fourth of July weekend, tease your fellow workers, classmates or neighbors with this little brain game.

Ask them to think for a minute or two and then name five people they consider authentic American patriots from the last 10 years. They may surprise you with a quick list of nominees, naming persons they deem worthy of that designation. You may be equally surprised at their stumped silence. We indeed seem to be in short supply of modern day Patrick Henry's, Paul Revere's, Abe Lincoln's, and Thomas Jefferson's. Citizen-soldier-statesmen likewise appear lacking in our contemporary national inventory. But they are out there, often drowned out and obscured by the cacophony that has become mass media and the factionalization and fractionaliztion that has become our republic.

The denotative meaning of patriot according to Webster's dictionary is, "one who has a love of country, a devotion to the welfare of one's country; the virtues and actions of a patriot.

The concept of virtue according to that definition certainly rules out one group of national "leaders" while genuine devotion to the welfare of our country and not love of individual or group agendas rules out others considered national "leaders."

So where do we stand as fewer of us turn out for traditional parades, marching bands and fireworks? What becomes of our national consciousness as we drift farther away from the real significance of the Fourth of July in much the same manner that we've drifted away from the real meaning of Christmas?

As our national demographics continue to show signs of age, there are fewer and fewer of us left from generations that perceive patriotism in a far different light than most of us perceive it in

As you munch on your hamburgers and hot-dogs and enjoy the day off, ask a grandparent for their list of five names. Ask a 20something college student the same.

Chances are their respective lists will differ dramatically. Who is on your list of contemporary "patriots?"

Making the Grade

Seminole County has a reason to be proud of its school system, but for the poorest areas of the county, there's still lots of work to do

It appears Seminole County students are in good hands. If Florida Department of Education Officials accept new data from the achool system, Seminole County schools would rank second in state behind the Sarasota school system.

However, because the statewide report card gives six elementary schools "D's," including five in Sanford, serious questions remain. Each school receiving a "D" faces the common difficulty of trying to teach many students from families who are struggling just to put food on the table.

The district needs to look at what further efforts can be taken to help students whose families have economic problems, and are not fully ready to start school. Lowering class sizes and seeking state funding to improve education for students in schools with lower ratings are two of the options officials are considering.

Goldsboro Elementary School, for instance, received a "C" despite having many students whose families face economic challenges. The school also has a strong magnet program that enriches the curriculum and attracts students to the school.

The district is already pouring millions of dollars into programs at the schools with "D's" that are designed to improve skills in reading, writing and math, according to Superintendent Paul Hagerty.

Teachers at the schools are working with both students and parents. The schools have dedicated teachers and administrators with innovative programs to bring technology into the classroom.

The overall test scores of Seminole County schools speak for themselves about the quality of education being offered. County students ranked above state averages on all levels of the Florida Comprehensive Assessment Test and on Florida Writes!, according to scores released in May.

The 10th-graders ranked second in the reading and writing portions of the tests. The 10th-graders also tied for the top math score statewide. Eighth graders ranked seventh in writing, and the fourth graders ranked eighth in writing.

The FCAT measures statewide achievement in reading at grades 4, 8, and 10 and in mathematics at grades 5, 8, and 10. County students made gains in every portion of the test.

But, when six elementary schools in the county make "D's," this points to possible trouble later for middle and high schools. Elementary schools are the foundation for secondary schools.

Families and communities are the foundation for elementary schools. It is time for the communities near struggling elementary schools and school officials to come together with efforts to ensure that students are prepared to learn.

On-campus vs. off-campus

It's getting close to that time of year...colleges will be moving many new freshmen into the on-campus or sometimes off-campus housing to start the most memorable four (or more) years of their

Morn and Dad are either wiping the tears away or jumping for joy, but the one emotion all parents of new college students will face is worry. Will my child Safety issues, paired with social issues, are all part of the controversy that arises when the on-campus vs. offcampus housing debate begins.

hether the debate is between father and daughter or between the University and worried parents, the lack of on-campus housing for first year students is becoming a pressing issue.

Here in Central Florida, we can look in our backrard to witness the UCF conflict of on-campus housing shortages. Parents want their children to social interaction, but the available on-campus housing is scarce.

As a college student who spent two years in a tiny little dorm room, I can honestly say I would never want to live off-campus during those formidable first years.

The security appeaces parents, who relish at the idea of double locked doors and card only entries. But the students should not scoff at this new way of life. You can not begin to imagine the bonds you make while brushing your teeth with 10 other girls in a hall bathroom, creating friendships that last a lifetime and are unattainable through off-campus living.

The safety factor brings to mind the tragedy years ago at the University of Florida, the infamous Gainesville murders. Where did this killer find his helpless victims ... oh that's right in off-campus apartment complexes. I guess those dam locked doors to the girls' dorms were just too much trouble.

The schools in Florida need to realize that the first two years of college life are the most character shaping years a young adult will face. The colleges need to provide these newly independent students with a protected on-campus living environment that encourages interaction and overall

So in order for the Florida schools to stay current and competitive, they must provide on-campus housing for their incoming students. Come on guys, if your student body is growing, then let the University grow with them.

Shame on Reggie W

At the recent Atlanta meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention, delegates were blessed with the presence of the right Rev. Reggie White, retired Green Bay Packers defensive end, ordained fundamentalist minister and ardent gay-basher. White brought down the house with a recitation of Bible verses that he declared the word of God against gays.

"I've never criticized the gay lifestyle," White said. "I've only proclaimed what God himself said.

Having grown up in a Baptist church, I've read the same verses White has read, along with others that order that women be segregated during menstruation and that pro-hibit eating swans, shellfish, pork and rabbit. But since I'm no theologian, I lack White's absolute assurance that I know what God was thinking. So I'll stick to White: What was he thinking? How can he enthusiastically take up the mantle of bigotry with a group that only recently renounced its bigotry against him? A few decades ago, White, who is black, could not have gotten a seat in the audience at a convention of Southern Baptists, not to mention a place on the podium.

It was just four years ago, during another Atlanta meeting, that Southern Baptists acknowledged and apologized for their wrongheaded stance on slavery and promised to eliminate racism In their churches.

The convention was formed in 1845, partly in defense of the "right" to own slaves. Throughout the civil rights movement, many Southern Baptist churches staunchly opposed integra-

If the white conventioneers didn't see the connection, you'd think it might occur to White: The rhetoric he uses to support his gaybashing is early reminiscent of the Bible-based rhetoric the Southern Baptists and other fundamentalists used for so long to support racism. Just as Christian fundamentalists are now absolutely certain that the Bible supports their homophobia, they were, until recently, absolutely certain that the Bible supported their racial prejudices. Bryant: leave Bush alone

To the editor:

My fellow Floridians, leave Mrs. Bush alone. She's a wife. She lied to keep her husband from knowing how much she spent on clothes, she's paid a hell of a price. let it go. The "Good Book" talks about those "without sin" casting the first stone. I don't know many wives who haven't lied to their husbands about the cost of something they really wanted at least a couple of times over the years. She screwed up, has more than paid the price. Let it go. Let's not forget either that Governor Bush's father was a Navy Pilot rescued at sea after his plane went down in W.W.II. The Bush Family has personal understanding of the trauma of military families even if their wealth excludes their understanding of veterans benefit issues.

We have an impeached, draft dodging President, representing us all over the world sending our family and friends into combat without having once had the courage to do what they are doing for their country. If Bill Clinton were a CEO of any company his illicit affair with a subordinate employee would have him in jail, instead he is a serving, impeached President. His Vice President who never saw any military action thinks the VA Budget is just fine, so those who paid dearly for their service to our country can not be helped adequately.

The Land of the Free never ceases to amaze me. Somehow despite our deplorable treatment of them, we still have men and women ready to defend this country, to allow people like Bill Clinton to thrive on a system they know well enough to abuse. We cut the defense budget year after year, and send them to combat with equipment in deplorable condition as a direct result of the defense budget cuts, and scoff at the very real threat to biological warfare unleashed right here. Proximity to Orlando with so many foreign visitors makes ups a primary target folks.

Once upon a time there was a bug that was curious about everything. But one day the little bug saw a computer and went into it. He wandered around in the computer. Right when the bug was about to get out, a giant disc blocked the way out. Then all of a sudden a little girl turned on the computer and in back of him a computer appeared. Out of no where a giant, giant ape came and chased the little bug. When all of a sudden a loud voice shouted "time for bed!" The little girl turned off the computer and the jungle and the ape disappeared. The game was over. The bug got out of the computer and then flew away. The end, or is it?

Going Into Time By Randi Helland

One day I went into my garage and I saw my dad working on something. I asked him what it was. He said it was a TIME MACHINE!! I shouted, "Yippee! Yea!" and all those kinds of things. He said we could ride in midget could sleep in it.

it after it was done. I couldn't

That night, I sneaked into the garage. I climbed into the big red seat of the silvery machine. I read the buttons. One said Prehistoric another said Knights of the Round Table. I decided on the round table. I pushed the button. The garage started to shake. So did I! Then I saw all sorts of colors, squiggly lines, and stars. I felt a big shutter. I opened the doors and unbuckled my seat

You wouldn't believe what I saw. I saw a huge castle. It had pointy towers and a big brown, wooden drawbridge. I stood up and walked over to the door looking for a doorbell, but all I saw was a big golden knocker. I pulled it up and threw it down on the door. It made an enormous sound. Then the door started to open.

A large man came to the door. He had a silver suit on. He asked what I wanted to see the king for. I said, "I don't know." He said, "Come in. The king will with you in a few 'momentays'." I had no idea what he meant, but I think he said in a few minutes. Then the king came in. He said he would show me around the castle. First, he showed me the kitchen. It was very grody. Then he showed rooms that were very icky. Gag! One of the rooms looked like you just walked into a spaghetti factory. I mean it was ugly. The bed was so small a

After he showed me the rooms, I said, "I have to go home to my own world." I said bye-bye and pushed a button. I saw a lot of stars and different colors. I started to get dizzy! I thought I was going to throw up. Then before I knew it I was back in my garage and my daddy never found out. Yippeeee!

Mr. Forgetful By Corie J. Bay

One day at Winter Springs Elementary School long ago a forgetful student named Mike was having a dreadful day. He had been working on one math problem for the last 15 minutes for countless times. Every time he had it figured out, he kept getting distracted by something and then forgot his answer. Then he teacher, Mr. Perez, called on Mike.

"Michael, please tell the class the answer to number one." Mike was speechless. He didn't know the answer!

"I don't know the answer," he squeaked.

Well then," Mr. Perez said, "I suppose a little detention is in order."

After detention, Mike ran straight home. No friends, no playground, home. He went down to the basement and hid behind an old box. He did not want anyone to find him. After sitting there for a while, he fell asleep. When he woke up, he was in his bed. His mom came into his room.

"I heard what happened at school," she said, "Let's make a little settlement. You do your work and we could do some-

"Alright, I will." He said. His mom left the room and Mike looked out the window. It was night. He threw off his shoes.

"I guess I had a little enjoyment today," Mike murmured. "Oh thank goodness."

Mike felt the softness off the pillow as he dozed off to sleep. "I'll do my best mom," he will......zzzzzzzzzz."

How My Friend and I Got By Rick Fisher

One beautiful morning my friend Danny and I decided to take a trip in a limo. We wanted to go and visit the richest person in the world, Bill Gates.

Next, Danny and I asked our moms. I asked my mom if we could visit Bill Gates and if we could rent a limo also. So she rented a white one with purple tinted windows, a cellular phone, a T.V., a refrigerator, and

Then, Danny turned the T.V. on and he turned it to WWF. Quickly he ate a piece of cake the big brown doors. When I and I ate a piece of pie. Danny drank Coke and I drank the same. Then we went to sleep in Finally, we arrived at Bill Gates' house. He had lost a ring with a red ruby on it. Yahoo! We found it and Bill Gates gave us a million dollars each and we lived happily ever after.

That was a great visit in a great limo on a great day.

What Happened to Me By Russell Moore

One day I became famous by walking on stage by a microphone and I said a joke and people started to laugh. I didn't hear anyone say anything so I didn't know what was going on. I started to look around for a comedi-

First, I looked at them and they were laughing so bad at me I thought their eyes were going to pop out. I just guessed that they heard my joke. I started to walk to the other end of the stage. I walked off stage and people started to whisper something.

Next, I got on stage again and told the people one more joke. The people started to laugh some more. So before I knew it I was saying more and more jokes.

Finally, I told the people I was out of jokes. The people started to laugh some more because they thought it was a joke. I got off stage and went out through was going home I made some jokes up.

That was the day that I became famous on accident. Now at school I tell my friends jokes and make them laugh. Now when I grow up you know what I'm going to be.

Books and Computers Help the Most By Chris Ray

Schools are places that have strong effects and influences on people. Each day I do things that will effect and influence my life. Two things that positively make a difference to me are books and computers. Let me explain to you about these important things.

The first thing I want to tell you about is the books that help me improve. There are all kinds of books to help me improve, like books that inform me and books that help my imagination explore more places.

The next thing I want to tell you about things that help my life improve is a computer. I can do lots of things on a computer like type up stories and practicing my multiplication.

The reason I chose books and computers is because they are the two things that help the most. Like I said before books and computers can help me by informing me about interesting facts and also helping my imagination to explore farther.

Road to romance blocked by parents

DEAR ABBY: I am having a struggle with my parents. I am 25 years old and still living at home.

I started seeing a man about a year ago. My parents objected to this for many reasons. He is 12 years older than I am, and they say his limited educational background could bring me down socially, which would lead to a thousand other problems. They seemed to be very concerned about how we would be perceived as a "couple." Neither of these things has been an issue for this man or for me.

Well, my father began placing restrictions on the amount of time I spent with this man. I had to be home by 12:30, and if I wasn't, my parents would track me down via cell phone. I could not go to this man's apartment because what would people say? I finally got fed up and reminded my parents that I'm an adult, capable of making my own decisions

Abby, I have always been there for my family, always sacrificed my time for all of them. I went to college to uphold the family name and made something of myself so the family would be proud of me. Now I don't know what to do.

I love this man and want to see if we have a future. I see no harm in testing the water. But my parents are impossibly stubborn, and once they believe they are right, it would take an act of God to change their minds. I know it's hard for parents to let go, but I feel they won't even give me the benefit of the doubt. I would welcome any advice you can

If I were White, that would give me pause. I'd wonder if somebody would end up apologizing for my prejudices 150 years from now.

White, of course, is not the only black minister who has preached homophobia from the pulpit. Indeed, the Southern Baptists' apology for past racial sins was part of an effort to attract more members of color into their fold. They see an opportunity to bring white Christian gay-bashers and black Christian gay-bashers together in one color-blind campaign of infection is now growing faster among blacks than any other ethnic group. Of the new AIDS cases reported in American men in 1998, black men accounted for 40 percent, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Black women have been even harder hit, accounting for 61 percent of the new cases reported among women.

While most of the new cases are transmitted through heterosexual sex or intravenous drug use, the hysteria that surrounds homosexuality prevents a frank discussion of AIDS in black America. The black church, an institution that can reach large numbers of people quickly, has either been silent on the issue or, worse yet, contributed to the ignorance, fear and bigotry. In such a climate, there is little dissemination of information about AIDS prevention or treatment options for those already infect-

So as HIV spreads in black America, black fundamentalist ministers have joined their white counterparts in a campaign that will ensure that the death toll grows. Someday, surely, somebody will end up apologizing for that.

The Suburban Lodge recently opened in Casselberry, at 210 N. Oxford Road, and two new SpringHill Suites will be built, one on S.R. 436 at Douglas Avenue in Altamonte Springs and another at I-4 and SR 46 in Sanford. Also in Sanford, a new Holiday Inn Express will soon open on US 17-92, the Visitors Bureau said.

Jack Wert, director of the Visitors Bureau, said although the additional hotel rooms will strain the county's occupancy levels for a time, the county will quickly absorb the new businesses as demand continues to grow.

Seminole County has experienced consistent growth since 1990, with a 40 percent growth in employment from 1990-1998.

More than 2,500 new jobs are expected to be generated in the county this year, according to Seminole County's Economic Development Council, Most of the jobs can be found in the I-4 corridor of Lake Mary, particularly in high tech industries, the service sector and professional services such as insurance agents or attorneys.

West, once the youngest member of Foghat and a group regular with Molly Hatchet throughout the '80s, is the son of longtime Sanford residents Mr. and Mrs. R.E. West.

"Old rockers never die, they just go into promotions," laughed West from his Orlando

"We're trying to help out a guy who was once on top of the rock 'n' roll world, but has fallen on tough times," explained West. "The concert is a step in helping Danny Joe put his family back together. Not only did he have a major stroke, but his wife is currently ill as well, and we're trying to get the five family children back together. They've been spread among family relatives

"We have a few more surprise guests that I'm working on, so there may be even more of a

West said tickets ($20) are going fast for the 2,000-seat venue at Club La Vela, which is located at 5100 Adanson Street. Orlando.

He said Seminole County rock fans who would like to attend can secure tickets at any TicketMaster location or at Peaches Record Shop in

Kiss French, Eat Italian at: Mona Lisa Ristorante

When people think of Mona Lisa they think French. The famous painting does hang in the Louver museum.in France, but the artist was Italian.

So is Mona Lisa.

The restaurant, that is. Owners Licia and Franco Bonaduce opened the restaurant in 1995, hoping to bring real Italian cuisine to Seminole County.

They have accomplished their goal. Everything on the menu is cooked to order using only the freshest ingredients. Every day the sauce is prepared for that days entrees and specials, keeping the freshness locked in.

Not that you'll have any room for anything else, but the appetizers and soups on the menu are some of the best around. The Pasta Fagioli and Minestrone soups are made fresh daily.

There is a lot to choose from on the large menu at Mona Lisa's. Every type of pasta dish imaginable is offered at reasonable prices. From Spaghetti alla Bolognese (with meat sauce) to the Tagliatelle Marco Polo (fresh fettuccine with cream sauce, smoked salmon and caviar), there is a pasta dish to suit any appetite.

Classic entrees like Petto di Pollo alla Romagnola (chicken parmigiana) and Scallopine alla Marsala (chicken marsala) are always available for those tried and true fans. However, if you're feeling a little ambitious, try one of the house specialties like Scallopine alla Mona Lisa (chicken in fresh tomato, capers and oregano sauce with cheese and extra virgin olive oil) or Costolette d'Agnello (center cut lamb chops marinated in special herb sauce and grilled).

There is also a full compliment of seafood dishes offered at Mona Lisa's prepared with only the freshest available items. If there's room, try one of the homemade specialty desserts like Tiramuisu, or rum chocolate raspberry cake. One thing's for sure, you won't leave Mona Lisa's hungry. Or disappointed.

The Bonaduce's desire when they opened the restaurant was to serve each customer to a wonderful, Italian meal and treat them as if they were a guest in their home.

They have definitely succeeded.

Yesterday, we looked at ruffing losers in the shorter trump hand, which will usually be the dummy. In essence, it is a simple play because it generates an extra trick. However, there are occasionally hidden descent there are occasionally hidden dangers — as in this deal. You are in four spades. West leads the diamond three: five, 10, two. East cashes the diamond ace: six, four, nine. Then East plays a third diamond. How would you continue? Although South has only 19 highcard points, with two such powerful major suits and only three losers (one spade and two diamonds), he is worth the forcing two-club opening. East doubles North's negative response to show good diamonds.

With hindsight, West would lead the diamond eight because declarer would think West began with only a doubleton. Then, South might ruff the third diamond high, cash the heart ace, ruff a heart in the dummy, and lead a trump. But East goes in with the ace and plays another diamond, promoting West's spade 10 as the fourth defensive trick.

Let's assume you pitch a heart on the third diamond. Suppose you play a heart to the ace, ruff a heart in the heart to the ace, rulf a heart in the dummy, and lead a trump to hand. Now you will have to guess to continue with a low spade; otherwise, West gets that trump promotion. Much better is to lead a trump from the dummy immediately. After winning in hand, cash the heart ace, ruff a heart, and play a second trump through East. His ace falls on low cards, so you can His ace falls on low cards, so you can truff the next diamond high, draw West's final trump, and run the hearts. Nicely timed!

DEAR READER: I am certain that your comments reflect the concerns of generations of parents whose sons of generations of parents whose sons cracked their knuckles. As far as I know, knuckle-cracking does not have any significant long-term effects. The major problem may be that your son may perceive that you are nagging him. I have yet to meet a young man who is the slightest bit concerned about having big knuckles, and nothing you — or I — say will make the slightest difference. I suggest that you drop the subject altogether and concentrate on more germane issues. If you are going to go down in history as a "knuckle-nagger," you could more effectively expend your energy emphasizing more important issues. Your credibility can be put to better use. For example, how's he doing in school? Is he addicted to video

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My teen-age son has a habit of cracking his knuckles. I keep telling him that he's going to have big ugly knuckles if he continues this practice, but he dismisses this as an old wives' tale. Is there anything an old wives' tale.

wrong with cracking your knuckles, aside from the annoyance factor?

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been told that going on an all-protein diet for four weeks will enable me to lose a phenomenal amount of weight. Moreover, I've heard that this is a good incentive to continue a nutritious diet. How healthful is it to be on an allprotein diet for a month?

DEAR READER: I don't encourage anyone to go on an all-anything diet. While protein is essential for good health, so are other nutrients. Without any fat or carbohydrate in your diet, you'll lose weight, all right — about half of it fat and the rest muscle. You heard me correctly: You will burn about-equal amounts of fat and protein during a pure protein diet or a fast.

Here's a better plan. Keep up a gen-erous protein intake but, at the same time, eat some complex carbohydrates — such as grains and rice — to prevent muscle wasting. Also, include vegetables and fruits to provide bal-anced nutrition. The carbohydrate that you can eliminate is the "simple" type — in particular, sugar. This is easier than it sounds, though, because sugar is added to a great many processed foods. For example, even table salt has sugar (dextrose) added to keep it pouring in rainy weather. Check labels and, to the extent you can, avoid sugar.

Attention Seminole County

SANFORD - Once again Seminole County I am asking for your help.

With youth All-Star baseball and softball season underway I need for the coaches or league presidents to give me call or FAX with the players' and coaches names and when and where the tournaments will be held.

The reason I am asking for your help is because my partner in sports the past few years, Jeff Berlinicke, has left the Seminole Herald to go to work in Georgia and his last day was last Friday.

So if you are a coach, or are a parent who knows the name and phone number of the coach of a team, please call and leave a message where they can be reached because I cannot get out and visit every city in the county in hopes of running down who is playing where.

I know we do not cover your regular season games. but as usual, we would IN COACL BY LIMIT of your All-Star teams as possible.

Now I won't promise that I will get out to see all of your games, because I am flying solo right now, but I would try to see some of the games.

That is also why I need the phone numbers of the coaches, so maybe I can talk to them and set up a way for them to get us the information on their games when we can't be there.

I will let you know that a few coaches have contacted me over the last couple of weeks with results and pictures from some of the Little League Top Team and Babe Ruth District tournaments and it much appreciated.

But I know there are several more teams, both baseball and softball, that have won tournaments and there are parents or coaches that have pictures of those teams.

We would love to give those teams some credit in the paper, but we can't if we don't receive information about

If you can drop off a picture, a FAX picture will not work, please also leave a return address so we can, and I promise you we will, return it to you.

When you get us the information, we also need the name of every player on the team, all of the coaches and anyone else, like a team mother, but boy or scorekeeper, that had something to do with the team. Also maybe a little information on what the scores were and who they beat in the tournament and maybe who the leading players were.

A few organizations may be upset because they think we give the Sanford Babe Ruth League such great coverage. But as I have explained to acveral people, we do not cover those games live, the Babe Ruth people get us the score sheets and we write a story from them.

This past season, I saw TWO Sanford Babe Ruth games, the final two games in Pieces see Dean, Page 23

Bombats grab AAA lead

Liberty Mutual II keeps title hopes alive with upset of I.S.

By Dean Smith SPORTS EDITOR

LAKE MARY - The Bombats took care of their business in the first games of the evening. but I.S. could not follow suit and dropped out of a share of the lead in the City of Lake Mary Department of Parks and Recreation AAA Spring Slow Pitch Softball League at the Lake Mary Sports Complex last Wednesday evening.

The Bombats left little doubt as to the outcome of its game as nine of the first 10 batters scored runs in a nine run bottom of the first inning and the co-leaders cruised to a 17-2, 5-1/2 inning run rule victory over Liberty Mutual 1.

The late game turned out to be a real barn-burner.

Liberty Mutual II, the third place team in the league, took a 2-0 lead in the top of the first inning on a two-run triple by Skip Bowen.

I.S. got a run back in the bottom of the first on an RBI single by Steve Donovan, but Liberty Mutual II increased Its lead to 5-1 in the top of the second inning with Bill Powell's two-run single being the big

I.S. responded with three runs of its own in the bottom of the second inning with Ernest Dorsey's two-run inside-thepark home run capping the in-

Both teams scored two runs in the third inning and the difference remained one run, 7-8, in favor of Liberty Mutual II.

I.S. appeared that it would hang on to a share of the league lead as it scored seven runs in the bottom of the fourth inning to gain its first lead of the game. 13-7. A two-run triple by Wally Wiland and a two-run single by Lisa Campbell were the biggest blows in the inning.

But Liberty Mutual II answered in a big way, sending 16 batters to the plate in the top of the fifth inning, ripping nine hits and scoring 12 runs to take a 19-13 lead.

The inning started innocently enough with the first two batters making outs, but a single by Jason Proodian and an RBI triple by Steve Passwater opened the flood gates.

Five singles, including tworun safeties by Powell and Bowen, and three walks gave Liberty Mutual II a 14-13 lead. Mike McClelland followed with a two-run double and Proodian capped the amazing inning with a three-run home run.

1.S. did not quietly, however, as six singles and a double by the first eight batters in the bottom of the fifth inning brought in five runs to cut the lead to 19-18 and left runners on first and second with only one out.

But a grounder forced a runner at third base for out number two and a line drive to short ended the rally and the game with Liberty Mutual II on top, 19-18.

With the results, the Bombata improved to 6-1 and hold a slim lead over 1.S. (5-2) and Liberty Mutual II (4-3).

Completing the standings are Cross/Bones (3-4), Liberty Mutual I (2-4) and Map Attack [0-6]. No score was received from a scheduled game between Map Attack and Liberty Mutual I on June 18.

The league plays a triple-header every Wednesday night at the Lake Mary Sports Complex on Rantoul Lane, between Country Club Road and State Road 46-A. across from the Mayfair Country Club beginning at 6:30 p.m.

CBS Sports to broadcast Pepsi 400 live

DAYTONA BEACH - Television history will be made Saturday, July 3, when CBS Sports (WCPX Channel 6) telecasts the 41st running of the Pepal 400 at Daytona Inter-national Speedway. This marks the first ever broadcast of an auto race live in primetime by a major network.

This history making event was scheduled to take place with last year's inaugural nighttime running of the Pepsi 400. However, the race was postponed until October due to wildfire activity in the area and subsequently was broadcast live on TNN.

This year's Deytons 500 was the most watched U.S. motorsports event ever, reaching more than 9.5 million households," said John Graham, president of Daytona International Speedway, "Like the Daytona 500, we expect the CBS airing of the Pepai 400 will also attract a large tele-

"We at CBS are proud to be the first to broadcast NASCAR live in primetime," said Scan McManus, president of CBS Sports. "NASCAR continues to be one of the fastest growing television sports, with CBS leading the way in broadcasting the popular sport. This is another exciting milestone in the continuing relationship that CBS enjoys with NASCAR."

CBS Sports was the first to broadcast live coverage of auto racing with the 1979 Day-tona 500. The network will broadcast eight NASCAR events to 1999.

A limited number of tickets are still available for the Pepal 400, including three-day infield admission and Daytons Club hospitality packages.

A special value ticket gives fans the op-portunity to experience Bud Pole Qualifying under the bright lights of Daytona International Speedway, Thursday, July 1, and second round qualifying, Friday, July 2, for

OCALA - The Fourth of July Weekend is typically one of the busiest for law enforcement officers patrolling the state's riv-ers, lakes and coastal areas. As the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission

(GFC) and the Florida Marine Patrol (FMP) merge into the new Florida Piah and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) on July 1, the mission will be to provide the best conservation and boating safety enforcement possible throughout the state. That will be evident this weekend when officers from the FWC are out in force on the most heavily used fresh, sait and brackish water areas of the Typically FMP officers patrol saltwater areas while OFC officers patrol fresh waters. However, brackish and inland tidal waters are often patrolled by both, causing a duplication of

"Our plans are to coordinate the three-day holiday weekend work schedule to eliminate wasted effort in brackish estuaries and saltwater coastal counties," said Major Andy Love, law enforcement commander for the OFC's Central Region.

"If freshwater recreational activities slow down enough for us to engage saltwater users, we will be prepared, through coordinated planning, to patrol inland tidal waters during periods when FMP officers are not present. This will prevent dou-ble-patrol or wasteful overlap."

Inland enforcement efforts will be concentrated on the most heavily used waterways such as the St. Johns, Withlacoochee, Tomoka, Silver and Oklawaha rivers, the Harris, Clermont, Tsala Apopka, Con-way and Alligator chains of lakes; and lakes Weir, Kerr, George, West Lake Tohopoka-liga and East Lake Tohopoka-

But boaters using smaller, less-heavily used lakes might be surprised to see officers

there as well, checking to be sure they have all the required boating safety equipment. "All available personnel will be working this weekend to help ensure that boaters have an enjoyable holiday by fol-lowing the rules that are in place to keep them and other boaters safe," said Joy Hill, public information coordinator for the GFC.

The FWC officers will be using a variety of equipment in-cluding patrol boats, personal water crafts and even a helicopter for aerial aurveillance. They will be keeping a sharp eye out for those boating under the influence of alcohol or drugs, and reckless or careless

They will also be checking boats to be sure all of the required safety equipment is on board: properly fitted life jackets for everyone on board (children under the age of six must be wearing them); whis-ties or other sound-making devices; fire extingulahers; and flares or other visual distress signals.

Other equipment may be required depending upon the type of vessel. To be sure you have all that's required, call the FWC's Ocals office and request a free copy of the Florida Boater's Guide.
