CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your instincts and logic will be working harmoniously today. This will give you an edge to help fulfill a secret ambition.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A friend may be in need of a bit of encouragement today. You're just the one to help arouse his faith in himself. Take advantage of your opportunity.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Major accomplishments are possible today. What you are unable to do on your own, others will help you achieve. Except victory.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Although you are protective of your self-interests today, you're also concerned for the welfare of the other guy. Your honorable attitude wins admirers.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Be flexible in your commercial dealings today and things should work out to your liking. Don't be afraid of a bit of give and take.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're at your best today in situations where you can mix with creative thinkers. They'll learn from your ideas. The less said the better.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If your agenda is well organized and you pace yourself properly. Good planning pays off.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) One of the major reasons you're popular today is because you'll look for others' virtues, not their faults. Knowing that you've noticed will give them a boost.

Small Meals Ease A Hiatal Hernia

DEAR DR. LAMB—I was told by my doctor that my X-rays show that I have a hiatal hernia. Every day after a meal it's either heartburn or some pain. I take all kinds of antacids, liquids or wafers. I don't get much relief. I was told there was a reason for that sort of problem. It gets worse at times. Could you give me some advice on what this is and what kinds of medicine I should take to relieve the problem? I understand an operation is not advisable.

DEAR READER—A hiatal hernia refers to a rupture of the diaphragm. We all have the hole in the diaphragm that permits the esophagus (food tube) to pass through the diaphragm to join the stomach. When this hole becomes enlarged, a portion of the stomach slides through it into the chest. Now, the hernia isn't always there. The fact that it slides in and out is why it is called a sliding hernia.

Such a condition is often associated with leakage of the acid digestive contents of the stomach back into the lower esophagus. This can cause burning and pain in the pit of the stomach just at the lower tip of the breastbone. Individuals who have this problem and have symptoms with it can obtain a great deal of relief by eating small, frequent meals. It's important to avoid lying down after eating so the stomach will have a chance to empty. Most people who have symptoms at night have learned that if they prop the head of the bed up so they're not lying flat that will help, too.

There are many other things that you can do to minimize your problem. This includes not wearing a tight belt around the waist or anything that restricts your abdomen. I'm sending you The Health

Later on he rebelled to two clubs and was delighted to get a raise from his partner."

South was doing a little slow bidding on his own. He could well afford to jump to five diamonds after North raised two diamonds to three, or even to have cue bid either clubs or spades in an effort to get to a slam, but maybe South wanted to get doubled.

Lake Mary Horse Track Approved

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer
A fourth, part-mutuel, operating establishment will be operating in Seminole County by May 20.

The Pari-Mutuel Commission of the state Department of Business Regulation Monday, approved racing dates for a proposed new quarter-horse racing track in Lake Mary.

As announcements were being made that the quarter-horse track would be built in the Lake Mary, city officials and civic leaders expressed objections. The Lake Mary City Council and Mayor Ed Duerr urged that the city's zoning ordinance does not permit a horse-racing facility.

Robinson has said the horse track will be located off Lake Emma Road, south of the NCH plant.

"On the face of the law, it appears that Lake Mary will have the responsibility for serving the track with police and fire protection, but the law exempts the track from following city building codes and zoning," Cleveland said.

The conversion legislation was introduced by State Rep. Robert Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs. Hattaway said at the time a dog track in Casselberry would generate more revenue for the state than the former harness track.

Cleveland said his clients are attacking certain sections of the new law on pari-mutuel establishments.

Collins has claimed that, according to state law, another greyhound racing facility cannot operate in the county without an approving referendum of the people.

Cleveland said the portion of the law which Casselberry may wish to challenge pre-empts Casselberry or any city in the state from requiring a racing facility to abide by local ordinances including building and zoning laws when building a track. — DONNA ESTES permitted, Mrs. Warner had the satisfaction of having her commission vote Monday night to defend against the suit.

The commissioners' action, loudly applauded by the members of the audience, was taken despite the advice of City Attorney Martin Rooks, who has repeatedly given the opinion that the city would probably lose the case. Because of the wide-spread publicity given Rooks' opinions, a special attorney will be hired to represent the city on Rooks' recommendation.

Health Agency Approves Hospital

1st Step Toward 226-Bed Facility
The Hospital Corporation of America (HCA) cleared its first hurdle Monday in gaining approval for construction of its proposed new 226-bed hospital on Lake Monroe.

The Seminole Sub-area Council of the Health Systems Agency (HSA) of Central Florida voted 8-2 to recommend approval of the proposal were Sarah Bilderbeck and Ahmad Said.

Approval must yet be gained from a regional committee to meet later this week and the HSA when it meets in Orlando Sept. 22. The matter then goes to the State Department of Business Regulation for final approval.

The 226-bed facility, as approved by the sub-council, would have 200 medical-surgical beds, 10 beds for obstetrics patients and 16 for pediatric. Six of the obstetrical beds and three of the pediatric beds would be "swing beds" that could be used for other needs, if necessary, the council recommended.

Council staff member Dick Morrison recommended that only 221 beds be approved. Both Art Harris of Sanford and Edith Duerr of Casselberry, members of the council, disagreed with that recommendation. Morrison said the recommendation was based on the use of the Sanford hospital in the past year.

Mrs. Duerr urged that HCA plan ahead for growth asking whether the hospital is being built in a fashion where it can be expanded in the future at a reasonable cost. James T. Tesar, hospital administrator, said the hospital is being built so that it can be expanded to 350 beds in the future.

The conversion legislation was introduced by State Rep. Robert Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs. Hattaway said at the time a dog track in Casselberry would generate more revenue for the state than the former harness track.

Cleveland said his clients are attacking certain sections of the new law on pari-mutuel establishments.

Iran's Parliament Votes To Form Special Hostage-Crisis Committee

By United Press International
Iran's Parliament, in the first action by the full assembly on the 52 American hostages, voted today to form a special committee to review the 31-day delay.

Tehran radio said the committee was approved by a "decisive majority."

Mrs. Hashemi Rafsanjani said Iran has not dropped a key demand for the hostages' release, that the United States apologize for its actions during the shah's rule. Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini outlined that point in a list of four demands issued Friday.

With signs that Parliament was finally moving on the hostage issue, the families of the captive Americans offered to participate "directly and personally" in a settlement leading to the release of the captives.

The families of the hostages said they were willing to go anywhere the Parliament deemed suitable to help end the 11-month impasse.

The families of the hostages said they were writing "privately as parents, wives and children."

Rafsanjani said Monday two letters from U.S. congressmen asking the hostilities to end were taken up in today's session of parliament, Tehran Radio said in broadcasts monitored by the BBC in London.

Neither the congressman's letter — the second of two sent to parliament — nor the Majlis response have been released in Washington or Tehran. No congressman had acknowledged writing the second letter.

Carter said. But he noted there is a government in place in Iran and up to the present they had not had "anyone who could speak with authority."

"But we don't have any prospect for an early resolution of the issue at this time," he said.

At a town meeting at Corpus Christi Monday, Carter had held out the prospect of quicker solution of the crisis. He said in noting that Iran now has a government that "they are making statements in Iran that may very well lead to a resolution to this problem in the future."

Track-Conversion Suit To Be Filed This Week

The owner of the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club at Longwood plans to file suit this week to halt the conversion of the harness racetrack in Casselberry to a greyhound racing track.

Longwood track owner Jerry Collins, through his track's attorney Mack N. Cleveland Jr., announced today the law suit will be filed before the week is out in the Seminole County Circuit Court.

The suit challenges the constitutionality of the law allowing conversion of the harness racetrack in Casselberry to a greyhound facility. The law was passed in the 1980 session of the Florida Legislature.

Cleveland said the final decision to file the lawsuit was made Monday after the Pari-Mutuel Commission of the state Department of Business Regulation granted Seminole Greyhound Park Inc. a license to race greyhounds from May 4, 1981 to Sept. 1, 1981.

Cleveland said he will be representing the Kennel Club in the suit while Kermit Cobb of Daytona Beach will represent the track there.

Cleveland appearing before the Casselberry City Council Monday night, said the city could join in the suit if it wishes. The council voted 2-1 to instruct City Attorney Kenneth McIntosh to determine whether the city could join the suit without cost.

Cleveland said today he has not discussed this possibility with his client or the other attorney in the matter.

Volting to instruct McIntosh to make the determination were Councilmen Frank Schutte and Tom Embree while Councilman Carl Robertson Jr. was opposed.

Sticking With Helsinki Accords

Some influential voices have urged the United States and other nations to boycott the review of the 1975 Helsinki Accords by the European Security Conference this fall in Madrid...

The Soviet invasion of Afghanistan lay behind this reasoning, as with the recent boycott of the Moscow Olympic Games by the United States and other Free World nations...

Fortunately, the logic of this has not been lost on the signatories, all of whom have representatives preparing for the conference that will begin on Nov. 11.

There is no reason to believe the Madrid meeting will be spared the bitter, barren clashes that all but wrecked the first Helsinki review in Belgrade during the closing months of 1977...

The unexpected sting for Moscow at Helsinki five years ago was the treaty's spelling out of such rights as freedom of expression, of religion, of association, and of one's domicile...

The heart of the Sakharov message addressed to the Helsinki review in Madrid is that "international security and confidence are linked to respect for human rights."

The best hope, and perhaps the only chance, the West has for making the Madrid Conference meaningful is to stick, with obsessive purpose, to one theme: condemning the blatant violations of the Helsinki Accords by the Soviet bloc...

Why Did Civiletti Truly Delay?

WASHINGTON — Two Justice Department investigators assert that Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti, contrary to his Senate testimony, acted to delay the department's probe of Billy Carter's ties with Libya.

The investigators differ on why they think Civiletti attempted to roadblock the Billy Carter probe. One believes Civiletti was trying to protect the president for political reasons...

This is the background: By last February, Joel Lisker, head of the Justice Department's foreign-agent registration office, was sure but could not prove that the president's brother had received some compensation from the Libyans.

In April, U.S. intelligence agents obtained hard information that Billy had received $220,000 from the Libyans and had made a deal with Charter Oil that could make him rich if the Libyans sold additional crude oil to Charter.

Brzezinski reportedly responded by warning Billy that the Libyans might use their relationship with him for international political gain. Civiletti merely locked the report in his office safe.

On June 17, Civiletti warned the president about the consequences to Billy if he did not register as a foreign agent.

"Of course, Civiletti delayed the probe," says an investigator with a sad shake of his head. "He could have given the details of the financial information without detailing the source."

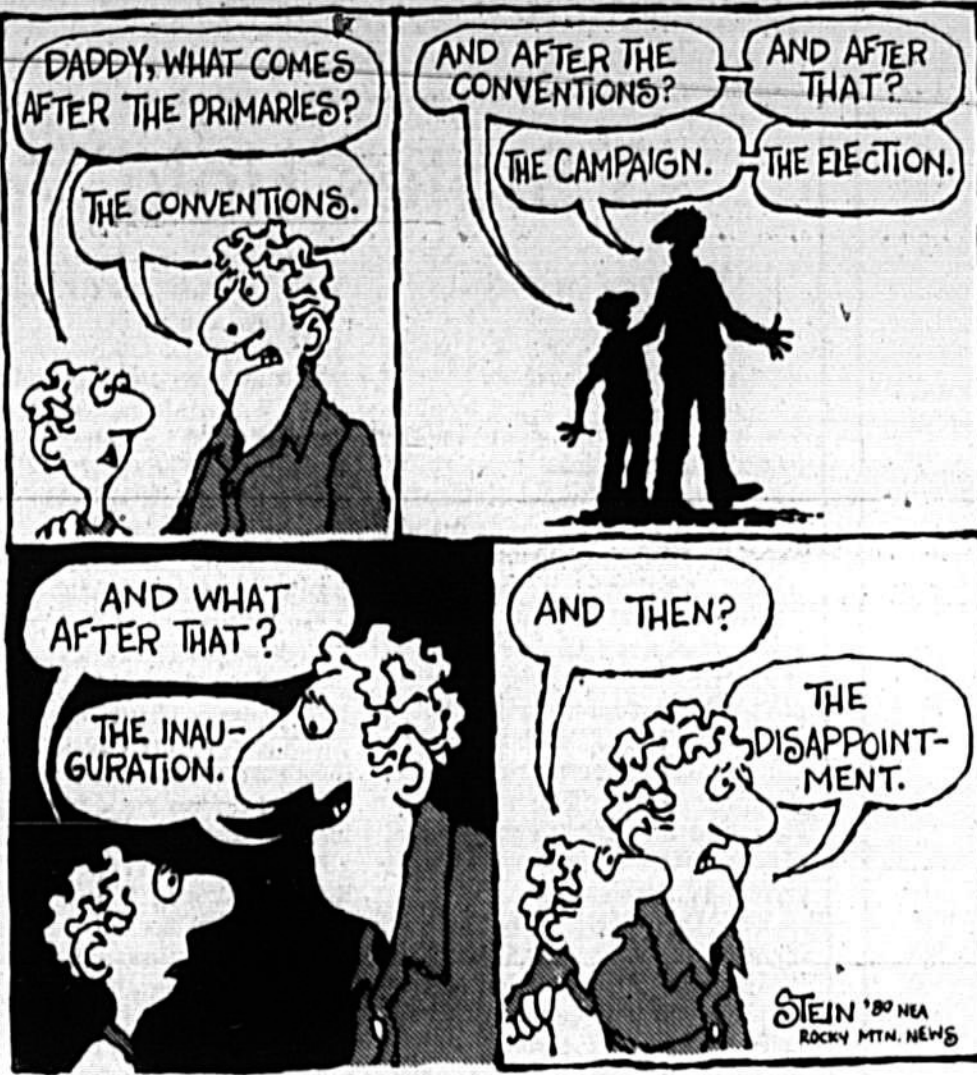

The heart of the Sakharov message addressed to the Helsinki review in Madrid is that "international security and confidence are linked to respect for human rights."

The best hope, and perhaps the only chance, the West has for making the Madrid Conference meaningful is to stick, with obsessive purpose, to one theme: condemning the blatant violations of the Helsinki Accords by the Soviet bloc...

WASHINGTON — Although it happened almost a year ago, the mysterious flash detected off the coast of South Africa by a U.S. spy satellite is still a matter of dispute among intelligence experts.

The Defense Intelligence Agency, as might be expected from its military orientation, is convinced the mysterious flash was a nuclear explosion of some sort.

On the other hand, a White House panel of experts from the Office of Science and Technology has been over the admittedly scanty evidence and decided the most likely explanation was that the flash was a natural phenomenon — in other words, a mystery.

Dummy Pills Can Work

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Doctors in years past, for lack of something better, often gave their patients sugar pills or other medicines containing no active ingredients and in many cases, they worked.

Three doctors from the University of New Mexico School of Medicine say such placebo pills work and should not be neglected by physicians who now have many active drugs in their armamentarium.

"Although countless specific remedies for illnesses or symptoms have been developed, placebo use is not obsolescent, ineffective or useless," said Albert V. Vogel, James S. Goodwin and Jean M. Goodwin.

Writing in the medical magazine American Family Physician, the New Mexico doctors said studies have shown that approximately 30 to 40 percent of patients with symptoms such as pain, anxiety, nausea, depression and cough receive relief from treatment with placebos.

In addition to their psychological effect on patients, the three doctors said placebos also can affect body functions. Research has shown that the information that a "sugar" pill can release natural pain-relieving substances in the brain and can increase or decrease gastric acid secretion in the digestive tract depending on what the patient is told.

The report said some doctors have suggested that the use of placebos is unethical because it involves deception, and that placebos lose their effectiveness if the patient is told he may receive a dummy drug.

The New Mexico researchers respond by saying that numerous studies which compared the use of placebos with active drugs found that a substantial number of patients will respond to placebos even when advised they may be receiving substances having no specific effect on their symptoms.

"If the physician-patient relationship has been carefully and correctly established, the use of a pharmacologically inactive agent with the patient's consent is both possible and effective," the report said.

The doctors cite as an example a hypothetical situation in which an anxious, restless patient is recovering reasonably well from a heart attack but is in danger of having abnormal heart beats because of anxiety.

Usual anti-anxiety drugs are actually making the situation worse because the patient is worried about becoming drug dependent.

The report said it may be possible to give the patient a placebo instead of the active drug.

"Such treatment could be introduced to the patient with the explanation that it may be effective in relieving or calming anxiety but that it will not produce physical dependence, addiction or a tranquilizing effect."

"If the patient asks exactly what the drug is, the physician can answer, 'If you permit, I would rather not tell you exactly what it is until after we see whether it works.'"

Cautious, Effective Diplomacy

Once upon a time — and not such a very long time ago — the matter probably would have been handled with the dispatch of a gunboat.

Today, Britain simply calls home its diplomats and closes the embassy. It is the low-keyed response to a typically key-voiced performance by revolutionary Iran.

With the U.S. hostage crisis on hold until the new Iranian parliament can decide who is supposed to be running the shop, the British have become a primary target for militant Iranian rage.

Things really heated up with the British reaction to August's anti-American demonstrations by Iranian students in London. Some 70 were arrested, prompting warnings from Tehran of a consequent jeopardizing of British interests in Iran.

That was enough for London, which responded with the embassy closure. It is also a diplomatic, and against which the use of force is all too likely to be counterproductive.

There wasn't much to close in Tehran; the embassy staff was down to four and the British wanted the Trojans, at least until the end of the year.

Friday night Posey's troops will take aim at locking up a ground oriented Buccaneer offense.

"They have a decent power offensive and a couple of quarterbacks that both played last week against New Smyrna," was Posey's scouting report on Mainland.

"Mainland likes the option play and they like to go to the power I on short yardage situations."

Speed and size was the Tribe's edge. Fleet-above force. Except that as it works out men appear to be more equal than women.

In the new atmosphere of limited freedom of expression in China, one publication not only does not approve of the situation, it feels called upon to denounce male factory managers who "run amok" imposing their personal will as law upon unhappy female workers who fear to protest.

"China Youth," according to a wire report of what looks suspiciously like an experiment in Western-style investigative reporting, has uncovered a situation at a Shanghai fish-processing plant in which women who make up two thirds of the work force were being denied promotion and — much worse — Communist Party membership.

The effect was predictably depressing to morale, dampening the women's interest in their work and Marxist studies.

Sexual harassment? Not quite, but certainly a serious case of male chauvinism.

Stabler Connects On 23 Of 28 Passes

Snake Bites Browns 16-7

CLEVELAND (UPI) — It got moving a week late, but the Houston Oilers' passing and running attack led by Jerry Stabler and Earl Campbell finally has combined to create the kind of bulldozer offense the Oilers hope will de throne the Pittsburgh Steelers this year.

In the case of Houston's 16-7 victory Monday night over the Cleveland Browns, statistics told much of the story. Stabler hit on 23 of 28 pass attempts for 187 yards, while Campbell ran 18 times for 106 yards and a 5.9-yard average.

It didn't add up to a lot of points. But the Oilers' dominating, ball-control offense and the ferocious Houston defense repeatedly frustrated Cleveland's efforts to get something going during much of the game — particularly in the second half.

"We needed to do what they did — keep the ball," commented Browns' Coach Sam Rutigliano. "They gave the ball to No. 34 (Campbell). We were trying to do the same thing with Mike Pruitt."

Pruitt gained just 59 yards in 12 attempts, while his rookie backfield mate, Heisman Trophy winner Charles White, carried just four times for 16 yards.

Stabler, an 11-year veteran in his attack against Houston, was in control until late in the contest. But for the second straight week, Cleveland's highly touted offense was unable to muster much in an attack against Houston.

"We did some things tonight that we didn't do last week — we caught the ball," said Houston Coach Bum Phillips. "We dropped too many passes against Pittsburgh."

The Browns opened the scoring early in the second quarter with Stabler taking his club on an eight-play, 57-yard drive that ended with a 3-yard pass to veteran running back Calvin Hill. Don Cockroft's extra point made it 7-0.

Cleveland's defense then kept Stabler and the Oilers bottled in their end of the first half, and Houston could only muster a 29-yard field goal by Tom Fritsch with 4:35 left in the half. The kick came after a 15-play, 56-yard drive by the Oilers.

The Oilers, who trailed, 7-3, at intermission, started to take control in the third quarter, however, when Campbell almost single-handedly got Houston's running game in gear. The Oilers took the second half kickoff and marched 67 yards in 10 plays, scoring on a 1-yard plunge by running back Tim Wilson with 9:08 left in the third quarter.

Fritsch's kick gave the Oilers a 10-7 lead. The Houston defense, meanwhile, held the Browns to a paltry 9 yards total offense in the third quarter.

The Oilers widened the lead early in the fourth quarter on a penalty aided, 15-play, 53-yard drive that set up another field goal from Fritsch — this time from 29 yards.

Fritsch sealed it with the game's final score — a 17-yard field goal midway through the last quarter, after the Browns had staged a goal-line stand.

In the game between the two AFC Central clubs, Houston evened its record at 1-1 and the Browns dropped to 0-2.

Tribe Faces Bucs In District Clash

The Seminole High gridiron game plan this week might turn into a case of "one by land and two by sea."

Mainland's Buccaneers will be the first conference battle for both squads. Thanks to a non-numbered runner set out by Mainland, it may just take the Oilers a play or two to figure out just who is who on the Buccaneer squad.

Once the hide 'n seek is over, the Fighting Seminoles will be trying to rebound from last week's 27-2 drubbing at the hands of now fifth-ranked Evans, while Mainland attempts to recuperate from a 14-15 loss to New Smyrna Beach.

The Tribe heads into the contest relatively healthy despite a very physical contest against the Trojans. And coach Jerry Posey feels a glimpse of the Evans game film wasn't all that much a horror show despite the final score.

"We saw a couple of key mistakes we made that prevented us from getting anything going on offense," observed the Seminole's skipper.

"We had some inexperience on the offensive line and we missed picking up the blocks on our wide pitches. Evans had the linebackers coming in pretty freely and they shut down the ground game."

Defensively the Seminoles often had Evans right where the Tribe wanted the Trojans, at least until the end of the year.

"We had some good hits but our linebackers weren't locking up to bring the runners down," pointed out the defending Five Star Conference champion coach.

Friday night Posey's troops will take aim at locking up a ground oriented Buccaneer offense.

"They have a decent power offensive and a couple of quarterbacks that both played last week against New Smyrna," was Posey's scouting report on Mainland.

"Mainland likes the option play and they like to go to the power I on short yardage situations."

Braves Holding Own In Pennant Chase

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Atlanta Braves have been the hottest team in all of major league baseball for nearly six weeks now. But, alas, they are running out of gas.

The numbers look great. Monday night's 9-0 rout of the Los Angeles Dodgers was the Braves fourth straight win; their 11th in their last 17 games; their 21st in their last 27; their 28th in their last 37.

But that 28-run margin since August 7 — a stranding, 756 pace — has enabled the Braves to gain only 4½ games on the Dodgers and 5 on the Houston Astros and those two National League West co-leaders are still 7 ahead of fourth-place Atlanta which has only 19 games left to play.

"I would like to believe that we're still in it, that the teams ahead of us (including third-place Cincinnati) which is 2½ ahead of the Braves) will knock each other off; that if we keep winning we can, somehow, catch up."

"But, realistically, we're running out of games."

However, even if the Braves can't catch the front-runners, they're excited about the way they've been playing all day. They haven't finished as few as 7 games back since 1969 (the only year they won a division title) and even fourth place looks pretty good to a club that was last the past four seasons and fifth, 4½, back, the year before that.

"With us, it's a numbers game," said Cox. "We've won 75 (when Atlanta won 88) and we've got a chance to top that for our best showing since '69."

"Right now, beating San Diego (the Braves swept three from the Padres over the week-end) is just as important as beating Los Angeles. If we had beaten Cincinnati (which took three straight from the Braves last week) and then lost to the Padres, we'd be no closer to the top than we are now."

The Braves lost the Dodgers again tonight, with knuckleballer Phil Niekro (14-14) who has been going well. They're still just three games with the Dodgers and five with the Astros so, like Cox hopes, they do have a shot at making up some ground.

"I'm certainly not counting the Braves out at this juncture although I agree their chances appear very slim," said Dodgers manager Tom Lasorda. "Any time a team still has a mathematical chance, you've got to take it serious."

Crimson Tide Rolls To Top On UPI Poll

NEW YORK (UPI) — Coach Bear Bryant thinks his Crimson Tide should have been ranked No. 1 from the outset but not necessarily because Alabama has the best team in the country.

"I've always felt like the defending champion should be first until they get beat," said Bryant on Monday, after learning Alabama had replaced Ohio State as the top-rated team by UPI's Board of Coaches. "I don't mean just us. I felt that way about Southern Cal, Texas, Oklahoma and others that have been champions."

Alabama, idle last week after soundly defeating Georgia Tech, 28-3, two weeks ago, was elevated to the top spot by virtue of equal points from the 42 coaches — six from each section of the country — that comprise UPI's panel of voters.

Although Ohio State received 21 first-place votes to 19 for Alabama, the Crimson Tide amassed 588 points to 585 for the second-ranked Buckeyes.

Oklahoma, which crushed Utah, 55-9, remained No. 3, followed by No. 4 Southern California, a 20-17 winner over Tennessee, and fifth-ranked Texas, both up one spot from last week.

Rounding out the top 10 are No. 6 Nebraska, seventh-ranked Pittsburgh, which dropped four notches after an unimpressive 14-6 victory over Boston College, No. 8 Notre Dame, No. 9 Georgia and 10th-ranked Florida State. Texas and Pittsburgh each received a first-place vote.

Georgia, on the strength of its recent 42-0 shellacking of previously ranked Texas A&M, made the biggest jump, climbing into the No. 9 spot, while Houston, ranked ninth last week, lost to Arizona State, 29-13, and dropped out of the top 10.

Now About Brett's 502 Times At Bat

NEW YORK (UPI) — George Brett can count. He knows time is running out. It isn't the walls so much that are crowding in on him, it's the numbers, but eager as he is to become the major leagues' first 400 hitter since Ted Williams in 1941, he's willing to let that go by the boards just so his still not perfect right hand is in good enough shape to allow him to participate in the playoffs with the Kansas City Royals.

Brett has been on the shelf since Sept. 6 when he injured his hand fouling off an outside pitch in a game with Cleveland. He visited Dr. William Benson in Kansas City Monday and told him the hand felt much better.

"His hand isn't that bad," says his older brother, Ken, who also is with the Royals. "It's just a question of whether it's good enough yet for him to play. He's anxious to get going again and hit .400, but it's more important to him to be ready for the playoffs. They mean much more to him than hitting .400. He doesn't care about the money he'd make if he did it. He doesn't need it. You know how he is. George puts the team's goals ahead of his own. He's always done that."

The Royals' magic number is two with 18 games left to play. They start a three-game series at home with the Angels Tuesday night. Any combination of one victory and one loss for the second-place Oakland A's assures them the American League's Western Division title and puts them up in the playoffs, against the Yankees most likely, beginning Oct. 8 in Kansas City.

With his batting average on hold at .306, George Brett's own magic number is 14. "I figure I have to play at least 14 more games and I think I can do it," he says. "I'd like to get back in there right away but I might have to wait a little longer, maybe until Thursday or Friday. It's one of those day-to-day things. I won't be able to tell until I get to the ballpark."

Brett's 14-game projection is right on target. Here's the way the arithmetic breaks down: He has 47 plate appearances so far and needs 502 to qualify for the batting title. If he doesn't win the title officially, he will not be certified as a 400 hitter, so the two go hand-in-hand. By playing in 14 more games, and assuming he gets up four times in each one, he would finish with 503 plate appearances, one more than he would actually need.

Even without that many plate appearances, Brett still can be certified as the official batting champ although it gets a bit complicated.

Say, for example, he winds up with only 480 plate appearances. They then tack on or "hypothesize" the 22 more necessary plate appearances he needs, without crediting him with a hit in any of those times up, and if his average ends up higher than that of the runnerup, Milwaukee's Cecil Cooper at the moment, then Brett is the official title holder. So oddly enough, Cooper, presently batting .357, conceivably could be the determining factor in whether Brett "officially" wins the batting crown and hits .400 — and when was the last time you ever heard of a situation like that? Quite likely never, because under a rule passed 24 years ago, this is the first time the possibility has ever come up in the majors.

This is the third time this season Brett has been hurt. Precisely how good a hitter he is can be gleaned from the fact that although he has missed playing in 46 games, he still ranks among the league leaders in nine different departments. He leads the league in average, on-base percentage (.467) and slugging percentage (.658) and is third with 100 RBIs; fifth in triples (9) fifth in games winning RBI (13); fifth in total bases (261); tied for eighth in doubles (31) and tied for eighth in hits (155).

Seaver Tosses 5th Straight Victory

By United Press International

A familiar face is riding to the rescue of the Cincinnati Reds, but it may be too late to save them. Tom Seaver, an old hand at saving pennants, is doing his best to keep the Reds in the thick of the National League West race. The 35-year-old right-hander notched his fifth straight victory Monday night, pitching a three-hitter in leading the Reds to a 6-2 triumph over the San Francisco Giants.

However, there may not be enough time to save the Reds. Seaver's victory did manage to shave a game off the lead shared by Houston and Los Angeles, but Cincinnati still trails by 4 1/2 games with only 18 games remaining. "We're really good ourselves in a hole," Seaver admitted. "We just flat out can't lose now and we're going to need some help from other teams to knock off Los Angeles and Houston."

Seaver, who helped send the Giants to their sixth straight loss, struck out eight and walked four in raising his record to 9-7. He had a one-hitter entering the ninth but gave up a solo homer to Darrell Evans and a two-out single to Rennie Stennett.

While Seaver was beating the Giants for his 24th career victory, the Atlanta Braves and San Diego Padres were giving the Reds some help. Atlanta, paced by Tom Boggs' five-hitter, crushed Los Angeles, 9-4, and San Diego, led by Bob Shirley's six-hitter, downed Houston, 6-3.

Boggs, 10-9, allowed only one hit — a bunt single — over the first 5 1/2 innings in blanketing the Dodgers for the second straight time.

"Boggs knows how to pitch to them," said Braves' Manager Bobby Cox. "He's got pretty good control."

Bob Horner and Gary Matthews each drove in three runs for the Braves.

"We played bad. No, make that terrible," moaned Dodger Manager Tom Lasorda.

At Houston, Shirley, 11-10, struck out four and walked three in posting only his second complete game in 10 starts. He shared the spotlight with Gene Richards, who had a two-run double in a four-run first inning and threw out two runners on the bases.

"Throwing the guys out was definitely more important than the double," Richards said. "That stopped both the Houston rallies."

Cardinals 5, Cubs 1. Andy Rincon pitched a five-hitter in his major league debut and drove in a run in a four-run sixth inning to spark the Cardinals. Rangers 2, A's 0. Al Oliver's 2,000th career hit snapped a scoreless tie in the sixth inning and enabled the Rangers to snap a five-game losing streak. Jon Matlack, 10-7, and John Henry Johnson combined for the shutout. Mariners 12, White Sox 1. Rod Craig hit a two-run homer and Danny Meyer and Mario Mendoza stroked two-run doubles to key a nine-run third inning that helped the Mariners end a four-game losing streak.

There Are 1,000 Reasons For Going To Mr. Muffler

There are 1,000 reasons for shopping at Mr. Muffler, located at 2621 S. French Ave., Sanford. Just add these up and you will see why: five highly skilled technicians, — four lifts (big or small, they raise them all), — two pipe benders (not one, but two to do better work quicker), — 286 tailpipes and exhaust pipes already bent and ready to install on most popular cars. (They know you're coming and they're ready!)

— 703 mufflers in stock in 400 different models. Always the right muffler for you whether you have a Rolls Royce or Honda, domestic or foreign or classic antique.) Don't entrust your car's safety and economy to part-timers who try to make a few mufflers and pipes fit any car, come to the professional muffler specialists at Mr. Muffler's shop.

Mr. Muffler recently installed the largest lift in Sanford. With a 25,000-pound capacity, it can lift any tractor or school bus. Mr. Muffler is equipped to bend and process pipe in diameters up to 4 inches for the largest vehicles with the largest engines.

The business is solely owned by Carl Vorpahl of Longwood. His son, Carl Vorpahl Jr. of Sanford, is the operating manager. Carl Sr. has been in the auto businesses most of his life, involved in the design, manufacture and marketing of automotive services. He purchased his muffler business in Sanford in 1974. Mr. Muffler gives free estimates and inspections with never any obligation. They offer a lifetime guarantee on the muffler itself for as long as the customer owns the vehicle.

We're the only people in Sanford who give a lifetime guarantee on foreign mufflers," said Vorpahl. "We install more mufflers under the warranty program every day at no charge than most other shops install in a week. We're set up for mufflers, where others consider it a sideline."

Mr. muffler has a complete inventory of the new turbo muffler, which reduces the back pressure in a car's exhaust system and increases miles per gallon and performance. Many customers request the turbo-duty system. In addition to mufflers, Mr. Muffler also offers complete brake and front end service with a large inventory of front end and brake parts. They also sell tires.

As a courtesy to customers, they will bring their car home or to work (locally) when they drive in their car for service.

Mr. Muffler's is open from 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. If you are on a tight schedule, phone 323-8811 for an appointment.

Heart Beat Skips Have Her Worried

DEAR DR. LAMB—Recently when I went to donate blood I was told my pulse is irregular and I was having skipped beats. I had no prior knowledge of this. I went to my doctor for a check up and had an EKG and blood tests, all of which were normal. My doctor told me that my pulse is irregular. It beats normally for a time and then skips a beat and then beats three or four times extremely fast. Since my tests were normal, he felt I didn't have anything to worry about. I saw another doctor and he told me the same thing. Nevertheless, I feel my heart pounding and I feel winded after no real exertion. I'm 5 feet 5, weigh 114 pounds and I'm a 26-year-old female. Do you think I have anything to worry about?

DEAR READER—I suspect you're already worrying and that may be part of the problem. Apparently, you've already had a fairly good examination and no evidence of underlying heart disease was found. These extra beats, skipped beats or flip flops as some people call them aren't all that uncommon. Most of us have an occasional skipped beat. They're just simply not frequent enough to be noticed. You, obviously, have them more frequently and possibly have short runs of maybe three to five at a time. Now that your attention has been directed toward them, you're aware of them and so you notice them.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 6-12, Heart Irregularities, Skipped Beats and Tachycardias, which will give you more information about these disorders. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1561, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10101. There are certain things you can do to prevent this irregularity or at least the irregularity of them. These are discussed in more detail in the issue of the letter. I'm sending you one but they include eliminating smoking cigarettes if you happen to do that, eliminating coffee, tea, cola, and all sources of caffeine. By the way, that includes chocolate, both in candy and as hot chocolate or cocoa. Being in good physical condition also helps.

If you continue to have trouble your doctor might want to give you a small amount of one of the medicines used to control heart irregularities to control your symptoms. Despite this, I think it's important for you to realize that you can have such irregularities and not have any underlying significant heart disease. DEAR DR. LAMB — Is exercising on a stationary exercise bicycle harmful for one who has varicose veins? Or would this type of exercise be beneficial? DEAR READER — It depends a lot on how severe the varicose veins are. In general, however, you contract the leg muscles they squeeze on deep down on deep veins inside the legs and help to milk the blood out of the veins and up to your heart. This, in turn, helps to empty the superficial veins that you see under the skin. This helps to decrease the pressure in the veins and helps to prevent overstretching of the vein. Actually, standing still is much more harmful to the veins in the legs than simple walking or exercising as you described.

Somoza Killed

ASUNCION, Paraguay (UPI) — United men with machine guns and a bazooka today killed Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza, his driver and a bodyguard in an attack in downtown Asuncion, police said.

No Dates Set For Proposed Horse Track

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer
No racing dates have been set for the proposed new Sunshine Park, a quarter-horse race track, to be constructed in Lake Mary, contrary to a report published in the Evening Herald Tuesday.

Mark N. Cleveland Jr., of Sanford, the source for the story, apologized today saying he misinterpreted an item on the agenda of the state Pari-Mutuel Wagering Commission Monday. He said he believed the commission had approved racing dates for the Lake Mary track, but he found later the dates were approved for Tourist Attractions Inc., which operates Pompano Park.

Marc Robinson, president of the corporation which would own and operate the proposed $18 million-to-$17 million Lake Mary facility, said an application has been submitted to the Pari-Mutuel Wagering Commission seeking a permit for the track.

John Lynn, a spokesman for the commission, said it usually takes less than 90 days to complete a review of the application and background review of personnel connected with a racing facility before a permit is considered by the state agency.

Robinson said he hopes the issue will come before the commission for consideration at its Oct. 20 meeting in Miami.

Meanwhile, State Rep. Bobby Brantley, R-Longwood, sent a letter to Gov. Bob Graham today requesting the governor to notify the pari-mutuel wagering commission not to approve any new racing facilities in the state until such time as the Legislature can readress the issue.

Brantley pointed specifically to a law concerning pari-mutuel wagering facilities which passed during the 1980 session. Brantley's major objection is an amendment to that law added by the state Senate exempting new construction at racing facilities located in cities from complying with municipal zoning regulations, building codes and other regulations.

Actors Reach Tentative Pay-TV Agreement

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Representatives of producers and striking actors worked out a tentative agreement on the issue of pay television early today, resolving the key obstacle in the nine-week strike that has paralyzed the television and film industry.

Federal mediator Tim O'Sullivan said, "After a 15-hour negotiating session which ended at 3 a.m. (PDT) today, the producers and the Screen Actors Guild and American Federation of Television and Radio Producers reached agreement on the critical issue of compensation for actors for performance in the home video market."

O'Sullivan declined to give details of the settlement until the 1700 unions could present the proposal to their members. He said the details will be presented later in the day.

He said negotiations on other issues in the strike would resume in the afternoon.

Men Spill Gas, Hijack Jet To Cuba

MIAMI (UPI) — Despite a stern warning from the Fidel Castro government, two Spanish-speaking men, believed to be recently-arrived Cuban refugees, hijacked a Delta Airlines jet to Cuba today.

The men carried out the hijacking, the 13th this year, by splashing gasoline over the rear compartment and a stewardess aboard the Boeing 727 and threatening to ignite the liquid.

The plane, Delta's flight 470 from Atlanta to Charleston, S.C., landed at Havana's Jose Marti Airport at 5:15 a.m. and returned to Miami International Airport at 8 a.m. The 104 passengers and eight crewmembers aboard were uninjured and, after questioning by federal agents, continued to Columbia, S.C., at 9:24 a.m.

FBI agents in Miami said the two hijackers, identified as C. Perez and J. Vega, were taken into custody by Cuban authorities in Havana. They were described as young, 20 to 25 years old. Both had dark hair and complexions, one was unshaven and wore a beige suit and the other a blue safari suit.

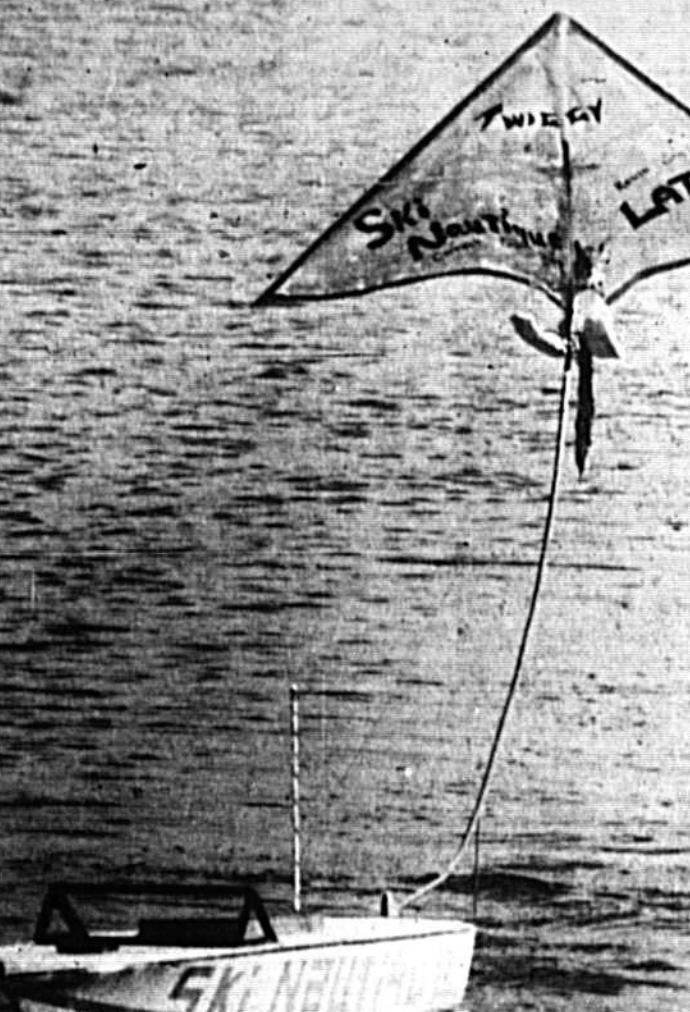

William Nettles, FBI assistant special agent in charge in Miami, said the two men took over the craft just before it was to make its regular stop in Columbia.

"They jumped up and started yelling, 'Viva Cuba, Viva Cuba' and spilled what appeared to be gasoline on parts of the rear cabin compartment, then threatened to ignite it with cigarette lighters," he said. "Some gasoline apparently also splashed on a stewardess."

The men spoke Spanish to the stewardess and "gave indication that they had been in this country for four months," Nettles said. He said there was no confirmation they were Cuban refugees but appeared to be so, probably arrived in the United States in the Madrid seiff that began in April.

Secretary of State Edmund Muskie said Tuesday Cuba has promised to punish airplane hijackers or send them back for U.S. prosecution.

Nine U.S. aircraft have been hijacked by disgruntled Cubans since August. Although they were arrested immediately, Cuba was doing nothing to discourage the hijackers' wish to return home.

Twiggy tries new sport

Twiggy, Sanford's own water-skiing squirrel, has broadened her range of interests and has taken up the sport of hang gliding. She is shown above taking an early morning practice spin around Lake Monroe behind her radio-controlled speed boat. After showing off her aquatic talents on national television and in several national publications, Twiggy's owner and trainer, Chuck Best, found she was equally at home in the air above the water as she was skiing on it. After a quick dip to cool off Twiggy dries off while lifting Lou Ann Best's shoulder (left).

Auto-Train Asks Workers For Help

More than 300 Sanford-based Auto-Train employees, who received their paychecks a day late have been asked to wait even longer before cashing them.

Company spokesman Tom Tucker said Auto-Train did not have the $341,000 needed to make the payroll Tuesday when the checks, due Monday, were finally delivered.

Local bank officials say they have refused to credit Auto-Train workers' accounts until checks clear for the past two months, ever since some payroll checks bounced.

On the payroll are 125 members of the Brotherhood of the Railway and Airline Clerks, and union spokesman Ronald Parrell said they are going along with the plan.

Proposed Marijuana Bill Could Cut Into Smuggling

about $7 billion annually, a majority of it marijuana sales, according to the Senator.

Under federal laws usually applied only to persons caught entering the country with drugs or moving large quantities around the country, marijuana is classified with heroin and cocaine as a Schedule I controlled substance, the most stringently controlled and banned, Dougherty said.

He said the new law would increase the risk for smugglers when balanced against the potential profits which amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars per plane-load.

Don Harper, head of the Orlando DEA office said he feels the tougher penalties would dissuade some pilots and other persons who have been engaged in smuggling from getting into the business.

WIN AT BRIDGE

and that one heart lead would clear the suit. South won the trick with the jack over East's 10, cashed his ace and king of clubs and led the three of spades to dummy's queen and East's king.

East led back a heart and West cashed four heart tricks and relaxed South was already down one, but the game happened to be match-point duplicate where every trick is important.

South had to make three discards on hearts and checked his three small diamonds to hang on to four spades and the diamond ace. West, who threw one spade away when South cashed the ace and king of clubs now led away from his 10 of spades and South was down only one.

That turned out to be a really good match-point score for South.

East was bitter about his partner's spade lead and rightfully so. He pointed out carefully that he had discarded two clubs on the long hearts and that those discards had been the five and nine to constitute a suit preference call for the lower suit (diamonds). If he had wanted a spade lead he could have thrown the jack and then the five. If he had not really cared he could have jettisoned the 10 and held jack nine. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)
