BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

MAKING HASTE TO BE RICH
 He that by easy and unjust gain increaseth his substance, he shall gather it for him that will pity the poor. A faithful man shall abound in blessings; but he that maketh haste to be rich shall not be innocent. Proverbs, 28, 8, 20.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

If you had reached the age of near forty—
 And there seemed to you but nothing more,
 Save a little more of hunger and of misery;
 And you were asked to take the scraps of charity, Unearned; but which, when you accept,
 You pay the price in lowered self-respect.
 This is the question I would ask of you,
 What would you do?

If all you ask is for someone to give

The chance to you the few more years to live;

To give the best you have to those you serve,
 And ask for only that which you deserve,

The right to life, the right of every man

Beneath our flag as an American,
 "Too old, too old"; You know
 that's true.
 What would you do?

If you had always given the very best you had,

To country, state, and ever glad To watch their growth; and proud to be

One of its many millions free;
 You gave your children; You gave your all

Your country asked; And now in life's fall

You're told, "Too old, too old! We can't use you!"
 What would you do?
 —C. H. Leonard.

Don't Buy Toys For Yourself

In the toy department of a local store a young man apparently thought he was picking out a toy that would please his four year old daughter.

In reality he was quite unintentionally selecting a toy, the ingenuity and perfection of which made an irresistible appeal to him, a man of forty or thereabouts. Not only was the toy top complicated for a child of his daughter's age, but it was distinctly masculine, something to thrill a boy. We watched this man not only with amusement but with a sympathetic feeling of kinship for we have done this same thing ourself in buying gifts for other small children, gifts which we have enjoyed before Christmas but which meant little or nothing to children after Santa had distributed them.

In shopping for children's Christmas presents, it would be a good idea to remember that even though it is desirable and pleasant to have a bit of fun with the toys ourselves, after all, the gift is primarily designed for the child and not for the adults in the family. When we stop to think how much a toy can mean to a child, we realize that the selection is important. Toys form a large part of his daily life, and often they are the bridges over which he crosses from his make believe world to learn about the real world around him.

One often hears parents say, "My children don't like toys. They had much rather play with the pans and spoons in the kitchen." This is often perfectly true, but if the children had some little play pans and some toy spoons to stir around in them and to make a comfortable noise, it would be a different story. Most children like toys that call for some active co-operation on their own part. A toy may have the fault of being too perfect, of leaving nothing for the children to do.

A child likes to push and pull, to drop things through holes, watch them disappear and come out again, to pull things apart and try to put them together again. There are many toys that answer some or all of these demands. Plain wooden building blocks have been found to be about the most popular toy for children of different ages and both sexes. So many things can be done with them and they may be had in all shapes and sizes. A strong little wagon, probably a red one, will give a child more lasting pleasure than any number of perishable toys that do not require initiative.

The Home Institute of the New York Herald Tribune suggests that it is important to remember to select baby playthings that can be washed, that do not have sharp corners, and that are too large to be put in the mouth. At the exhibition of the Toy Association in New York recently, a great many of the toys suggested careers for the future. There were grocery stores, doctor's medical kits, carpenter's benches and so on.

When you visit the toy stores, then, have a good time but remember to take your imagination with you and buy toys for the children and not for yourself.

Rats

The two worst enemies of mankind living in the tropics or semi tropics are mosquitoes and rats. The former are not only very annoying but also are carriers of yellow fever germs. The latter are equally dangerous in spreading the bubonic plague. Every possible means of the public should be directed toward the extermination of these vicious pests. According to the United States Biological Survey, all hawks, owls and weasels combined do not destroy one-sixth as much poultry and game as the common brown rat. Total losses from destruction of food and property by rats is estimated to amount to several hundred millions of dollars annually.

The extent of the rat problem is shown by figures of the Public Health Service. The Service estimates that there are approximately as many rats in the United States as there are people.

Besides carrying the fleas which spread the bubonic plague, the rats are also blamed for spreading pneumonic plague. It is possible they may be a factor in spreading infantile paralysis.

Three kinds of rats, the Norway, brown and black, are found in this country. The brown species is the most common; in most localities where it comes in competition with the black rat it drives the latter out.

Campaigns to eradicate rats in foreign countries, carried out in order to fight bubonic plague, have resulted in information of value in the problem of rodent control. Dr. C. R. Eskey, Surgeon, Public Health Service, who was instrumental in directing a campaign against rats in Ecuador in connection with an effort to stamp out plague there has now been sent to Honolulu to carry on work in eradicating rats.

Warm weather, Dr. Eskey found, was favorable to the spread of flea carrying bubonic plague. The incidence of plague in Ecuador decreased during colder seasons.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mrs. Bull and little son, Ernest, left today for their home in Dundee to spend the holidays after a pleasant visit with Mrs. Bull's sister, Mrs. C. H. Dungee of Sanford Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Miller are moving into their fine apartments over the store rooms recently erected on Magnolia Avenue next to The Herald office and will soon be at home there to their many friends.

Mrs. E. W. Peabody, who has spent some months in New Orleans with her son, Douglas Peabody, and his family, has returned to her home in this city.

Miss Amaha Takach has returned from a pleasant visit to her sister, Mrs. Ernest Holmar, of Gainesville.

The Clyde Line expects to put the new and elegant river steamer, Quonzo, in commission on Jan. 1, and the tourists that reach Jacksonville from the North will want to take the famous St. Johns River trip to Sanford, one of the finest trips in the state.

Although no definite announcement has been made on the subject, it is understood that Judge John W. Dodge will manage United States Senator Duncan U. Fletcher's campaign for re-election in which he is opposed by Hon. John N. C. Stockton. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ward have signed, it asked the procedure for qualifying others. "The committee will meet and prepare its regulations just as soon as it receives the necessary authority," said Mr. Fowler. Offices of the committee have been established at Lakeland and John S. Taylor, Largo, president of the Exchange, has served as temporary chairman. When the committee names its permanent officers it must also determine location of its headquarters, which probably will be at Lakeland or Orlando.

Under the agreement, shippers are licensed by the United States department of agriculture and they are required to operate under regulations of the control committee. A shipper is designated as anyone shipping citrus, other than lemons, lemons and satsuma oranges, in interstate or foreign commerce. Anyone handling fruit out of the state in a truck is regarded as a shipper. If a shipper violates the committee's rules, his license can be revoked, and he is subject to a maximum fine of $1000 a day for continued violations.

Inasmuch as packing houses will complete their shipments of fruit for the Christmas trade early next week, control of shipments probably will not be effective until after the holidays. Packing houses usually close down about ten days before Christmas and their shipments resume shipments in quantity before the first of the year.

First action of the control committee, it is believed, will be to restrict shipments to the more desirable grades, thus insuring that the quantity of fruit leaving the state. Accompanying this must be more government inspection of grade and pack of all shipments, including those by truck. A force of several hundred inspectors will be required for this work.

While the Florida agreement includes a national standardization plan, to coordinate the activities of the Florida, California and Texas control committees, the plan will not be made effective immediately. State committees will be expected to work out their local problems first, after which the national committee will make take the control of shipment from different producing areas if there is need for such regulation.

Members of the national control and grapefruit committees, who will be selected by the state control committees, will nominate a national citrus committee, who will assist and supervise all control matters. The appointment will be made by Secretary Wallace White, all of the citrus producing states have candidates for the job, it is believed that the appointment may go to a department of agriculture official.

There will be some expense in the administration of the agreement. The state control committee will employ a secretary, auditor and clerical help to handle the work. Records must be kept on all shipments. Federal inspection for grade and pack is expected to cost approximately $2 a case. A fee has not yet been decided. It is believed the committee is defraying its expenses.

Handlight drill will be given Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock at his church with M. T. Spivey as sponsor. The program will consist of a panorama and a candlelight drill by the choir. The public is invited.

Pardon Board Cuts Term Of Man Who Defended Keepers

PARADESSE, Dec. 14.—The state pardon board today granted a two-year term to a man who defended prison keepers in a recent riot.

George W. Steele, sentenced Nov. 2, 1932, to a term of 10 years for a riot in the prison, was granted a two-year term. Steele was one of the men who defended the prison keepers in a riot in the prison in 1932.

Steele's term was reduced from 10 years to two years. The board also granted a two-year term to another man who defended the prison keepers in the riot.

There has been so much said that in a hurry a regard to the camps that would lead people there to believe the camps are nothing but places of cruel treatment and inhuman conditions, which is not true and also unfair to officials of the camps.

"Of course there is punishment meted out to those who disobey the rules, but it is in the way of punishment to the health of anyone who also say truthfully that in the two years I have been in the camps I have never seen a man treated cruelly or punished unfairly or unreasonably."

"I am writing this of my own accord, and because for so long time that people from a northern town who has found the officials are willing in any way to help anyone who tries to help him."

"If some of them would make a visit to the camps they will see what I say is the whole truth, and all those other stories are untruthful."

ACROSS FRIENDLY COUNTERS

NO DOUBT you can remember the general storekeeper in some country village. A call on him was an experience in pleasant human relationship. In honesty and neighborliness. He discussed politics and crops with vigor and shrewdness. He told the truth about groceries and dress goods. His was a friendly counter, a comfortable place to trade.

But the fact is that today in towns and villages and cities everywhere hundreds of thousands of counters are honest and friendly in a way his could never be. They offer advertised merchandise! A manufacturer stands sponsor for this merchandise. On it he has put his name and brand. So sure is he of its usefulness, its purity and correct weight, or size, or strength, or delivery, that he talks to you about it on the pages of magazines and newspapers.

From coast to coast you can buy his product with confidence. Wherever you find it, and whoever sells it, you have the assurance that its quality will be what you expect and that the price you pay is fair.

In your home town and wherever you travel on business or pleasure, you may trade at friendly counters! You may buy advertised merchandise!

MAJOR LEAGUES ADOPT UNIFORM TYPE BASEBALL

Action Climaxes Most Important Meetings In Game's History

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—(AP)—The major leagues yesterday voted to adopt a uniform ball as a climax to one of the most important series of meetings in baseball history.

The new ball, livelier than the one used during the past few years in the National League and patterned almost exactly along the specifications of the American League sphere, will make its debut in next spring's training camps. It will be the only ball recognized or used in the majors.

The player mart, which set a record for wholesale trades and sales of stars during the past two days, was unusually quiet but a trio of yesterday's famous stars were released by the New York Yankees, Herb Pennock, 21 years in the American League; Joe Sewell, an American League veteran of 14 seasons, and Cy Perkins, one of the game's greatest backstops, were released by the Yanks.

A campaign also will be started at once to get all minor leagues to use the same ball. The Pacific Coast League already has voted to adopt it, while the International and Texas Leagues were almost certain to follow suit as they employed the National League ball last season.

As a compromise the two leagues also voted to ban all Sunday double-headers until after June 15 each season. Some club owners wanted them banned until July 4; others wanted the question of twin bills on the Sabbath left to each club owner.

Permission also was granted to John D. Shibe, vice president of the Philadelphia Athletics, to take an all-star team recruited from the American League ranks on a world exhibition tour after the close of the 1934 season. The National League turned down Shibe's offer to participate in the tour which will extend to almost every important city in the world.

An amendment also was added to the constitution, requiring any major league to guarantee the salary of a player sent to a minor league team. Thus, if a major league team sends a player to the minors and the minor league team disbands, the major league club must pay the salary stipulated in the contract.

Perkins, a coach last season, immediately signed up in a similar capacity with the Detroit Tigers. Pennock, wealthy in his own right, said he thought he could get an "old arm" and hoped to land another job. It was understood the Yankees would find a managerial or coaching job in the minors for Sewell. Until Roger Peckinpaugh signed to manage Kansas City of the American Association, Joey hoped to go there.

Most of the club owners and managers left Chicago but rumors of more deals buzzed around the hotel lobbies. The Chicago Cubs were reported dickering with the Braves in a deal that would send Pitcher Pat Malone and Infielder Billy Jurges to Boston for Third Baseman Pinky Whitney, and with Pittsburgh in an attempt to get Catcher Tommy Madden. The Pirates-Cub deal, Billy Herman for Gus Gahr, also was revived.

The White Sox also were reported completing a deal, sending Shortstop Luke Appling to the Yankees for Infielder Lynn Lary, Outfielder Sammy Byrd and Pitcher Charlie Ruffing.

Cincinnati still withheld announcement of its new manager, but the only man mentioned was Catcher Bob O'Farrell of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Fire!—Our First Adventure

ON BOARD THE BYRD FLAG—SHIP, JACOB RUPPERT:—Here we are still at Daytona and we've just had the first thrill of the Expedition.

After breakfast, a long day of back-breaking labor, but excellent meals at lunchtime and at dinner helped a lot. If I could only get some sleep. If I don't soon there will be nothing left of me to take to the South Pole.

It is 10 o'clock at night—see, it's Friday, the 13th! A loud explosion. Shooting from the dock. A sudden red glare in the sky. Our ship is illuminated as if by a gigantic red searchlight.

Dead silence on our ship for a few minutes. Then a shouting of orders. An oil tanker is on fire two docks away. We are in terrible danger because our holds and tanks are bulging with oil, gasoline and high explosives. If the fire is not controlled immediately the whole Expedition may be wiped out. I've only been aboard the Jacob Ruppert 20 hours and here is one of the greatest thrills of my life.

A breathless wait on our ship. The distant clanging of fire engines. A gradual darkening of the ruddy glare. The situation is under control. Two men are dead from burns in the original explosion. Grim reality only a stone's throw away from us. This is no tea-party we are setting out on.

All day equipment and supplies all kinds have been pouring over the side of our vessel. Here, for example, is a list of the automotive equipment for which I am the fuel engineer and all details of which I have to learn before we get to Little America:—a 1400 horsepower Curtiss Condor airplane with a wingspread of 82 feet; a 700 horsepower Pilgrim airplane; a 600 horsepower General airplane; a Kellett autogyro airplane; a Cleveland tractor; 2 French Citroen tractors; 2 Ford snowmobiles with caterpillar treads at the rear and metal skis at the front.

In addition there are two airplanes, one an immense Tri-motor Ford all-metal plane and the other a smaller scouting machine, buried in the snow down at Little America which Admiral Byrd hopes and believes are still in perfect condition.

In order to use all of this automotive equipment for our expedition and other scientific work, it had been necessary for us to carry along immense supplies of fuel and lubricating oils. Packed down in our holds are 16,450 gallons of aviation gasoline; 800 gallons of lubricating oil; 2,000 gallons of automobile gasoline; 1,500 gallons of kerosene; 25 pounds of aero rocker arm grease; 20 tons of Diesel engine fuel oil; 200 gallons of Diesel engine lubricating oil; 600 gallons of cylinder oil; 6,250 gallons of marine engine oil; 250 gallons of red swabbing oil and 400 pounds of cup grease. Some supply of petroleum products!

I shan't know for months how many of you people of high school age or over have joined the Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, through which Admiral Byrd hopes to build up a tremendous interest in American aviation among the young people of the land. I hope it is in the thousands because the club members and I are going to have some exciting times together and later I am going to send each of them a detailed map on which he or she can keep a daily record of our journeys and flights of exploration and other scientific significance while we are down at the bottom of the world. If you haven't joined yet, now is as good a time as any. There are no obligations whatever. All you have to do is send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and a note saying you want to join the club. Send it in my name to the New York headquarters of the Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, at the Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y., and the membership card will be sent you immediately and later the map and, perhaps, other communications.

Tampa Schools May Be Cut From Credited List

TAMPA, Dec. 15.—Principals of Hillsborough and Pinellas high schools were advised yesterday by M. S. Hale, supervisor of city schools, that unless the schools operate a full nine-month term this year they will be dropped next year from the accredited list of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Warning came from Winton W. Little, chairman of the Florida committee of the association, that Tampa's two senior high schools were in danger of being omitted from the accredited list.

Little said in his letter to Hale that the state committee had requested that an eight-month term in Florida be accepted as basis for inclusion on the accredited list, but that the request had been refused.

Mary Pickford Is Mad About Trouble With Her Husband

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Mary Pickford, who is on Broadway and a vacation from Hollywood, Mary Pickford passed through here yesterday.

Interviewed about her special car, she was willing to chat on any subject except one—the divorce suit she filed last Friday against her actor husband, Douglas Fairbanks.

"I'd rather not discuss the divorce, please," she said. "That's back of me now."

In the east, Miss Pickford said she will look for a play which might serve as a vehicle for her return to the stage.

"I think I would prefer something light—a comedy. And it must be something that no one has done. I don't want to follow in somebody else's footsteps. I've had several chances in the road with plays which have already been established, but Wanted Care for That If I Find a Play I Would Try It Out in a Few Small Places, Then Bring It to Chicago for a Couple of Weeks and Then Along with a Couple of Months on Broadway. No longer than that. After the novelty wore off it would be drudgery."

If she is unable to find the right play, she will look for a motion picture story, she said.

CHARGES GROUNDLESS

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Charges made by a group of citizens and taxpayers of Leon county and Tallahassee that capital city employees went to the century of progress exposition at Chicago at public expense have been found groundless by the Leon county grand jury.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Acting Secretary Morgenthau announced Wednesday, the Austrian government has notified the United States a Jan. 1 installment of $100,000 on its relief debt to this government will not be paid.

Fruit Handling Truck Operators In Protest

WINTER HAVEN, Dec. 15.—Truck operators handling Florida citrus have complained to the Florida Citrus Growers League, according to C. B. Reeves of this city, its secretary, that packers have been putting packed citrus on southern markets in standard pack boxes at prices barely covering packing and freight charges.

Reeves said that at Roanoke, Va., grapefruit in standard pack boxes was selling for $1.25 and the trucker hauling there on Nov. 15 paid $1 for field run grade in Florida. Reeves said most truck operators would welcome requirements by which only first and second grade fruit could be taken out of the state.

Reeves stated that this would be among a number of subjects to be discussed at district meetings of the league set for Dec. 15 to 19 at Fort Meade, Arcadia, Wauchula and Lakeland.

Professional Artists at Rollins

JOSEF HOFMANN Pianist, MARIE SUNDELIOUS Soprano, BENJAMIN LOACHE Baritone

WINTER PARK, Fla., Dec. 15.—Some of the most famous musicians and artists in the world are coming to Rollins College this year to demonstrate their art in the Annie Russell Theatre, according to an announcement of plans developed by Miss Annie Russell, director of the Theatre, and manager of the Professional Artists Series.

Heading the list of musicians engaged by Miss Russell for the current season is Josef Hofmann, the pianist, who will give his only recital in Florida on Feb. 5 at Rollins. Other artists engaged for the series include Louis Lully, French viola player, a member of the Curtis Institute of Music, who will be presented with the Curtis String Quartet in a recital on Jan. 29; Marie Sundelius, prima donna soprano, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera Company, who will present a recital on Feb. 9, after which she will be available to teach voice classes in cooperation with the Rollins Conservatory of Music for a period of six weeks; and Theresa, the dancer, former member of Isadora Duncan's company, who will give a dance recital on Feb. 15; Benjamin De Loache, young American baritone, and member of the Philadelphia Opera Company, who will give a recital on Mar. 5; Lea Lubchitz, the Russian violinist, and Boris Goldovsky, pianist, who will give a joint recital on Mar. 12.

Miss Russell will open her Professional Artists Series with a production of Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler" which will be presented by the Annie Russell Company Friday evening, Dec. 15. The leading female role will be portrayed by Mrs. Mancelair, professional actress and wife of Union U.S. court judge Constant, professor of law at Rollins. It is announced, as assistant Miss Russell in directing the production.

One of the leading male roles will be played by George C. Holt, son of President Hamilton Holt and now a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford Young Hall, who was graduated from Rollins two years ago, plans to spend the Christmas holidays with his parents here.
