Brantley: state is too soft on drug offenders

By Brad Church Herald Staff Writer

HEATHROW - Florida needs barsher penalties for convicted drug dealers and users, Lt. Gov. Bobby Brantley told a group of businessmen and state and federal legislators.

Brantley identified transportation, solid waste disposal and the abuse of children and older people as serious problems facing Florida, but said. "The amount of illegal drugs coming into our state is our most serious problem."

Brantley spoke at a Saturday noon luncheon of the Florida Congressional Partnership, a two-day gathering of Orlando area business and political leaders, state legislators and Flortda's congressional delegation, sponsored by the Greater Orlando Chamber of Commerce.

The luncheon, served in a tent behind the Heathrow Country Club, was co-sponsored by Gino Paulucci's Heathrow Land and Development Corporation and Duke Adamson's Rich Plan of

Brantley recently observed a reverse sting operation in Jacksonville, where law officers posed as drug dealers, and said he came away with a renewed commitment to severer puntshments for drug-law offenders

When I saw who was buying crack cocaine and how openly it was being bought and sold, it showed me that the penalties are not severe enough." he said. Some people have advocated legalizing some illegal drugs as a solution to the problem, but I will do my best to see that is never done as long as I have a voice in this state." he added.

"The Florida delegation in Washington supports a proposed law which would make it a capital offense to sell drugs which result in the death of another person." Brantley said. The lieutenant governor said he introduced similar legislation in Florida while serving in the state Legislature, but it was not approved. "I still think we need it." he said.

Brantley also said the Florida congressional delegation is leading the way in the fight to approve military intervention in the war against drug trafficking. which he said would be of benefit to Florida's drug importation problem.

Amos Jones ...Commission candidate

Amos Jones runs for county office

By Klonie Jordan Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Amos Jones, a 53 year-old Baptist pastor, is the first black in Seminole County to to seek election to the county commission this year.

Jones, who has BS certifications from Florida A&M in three areas and a Master's Degree from Yale University.

A lifelong resident of Longwood, he becomes the second Democrat and fourth overall candidate to announce for the fifth district seat on the board.

"Up until a few years ago, it was unthinkable for a black manto run for office in this county."

Jones said, "That was probably because of the long-standing traditions and customs of the people. This was a community based on farming and when there's farming, there are two kinds of people-masters and servants.

Jones, who has been the pastor of the St. Paul Missionary Baptist Church in Sanford for the past 10 years, will base his campaign on what he calls "maximum feasible participa-Hon" by the county populace. "Human resources are our most vital resources," he said. The way thing are now, when See JONES, page 12A

School scores high in contest

LAKE MARY — A team of 30 students at Greenwood Lakes Middle School placed second in the state and 16th in the nation in a Knowledge Master contest, according to Robert Jones, a math and algebra teacher at the school.

The Greenwood Lakes team scored 1.575 points, of a possible 2.000.

A team from Jackson Heights Middle School, Ovjedo, also participated in the contest and scored 1.347 points, placing we're still proud," Jones said, 15th out of 47 schools in the state, and 247 out of 814 in the nation.

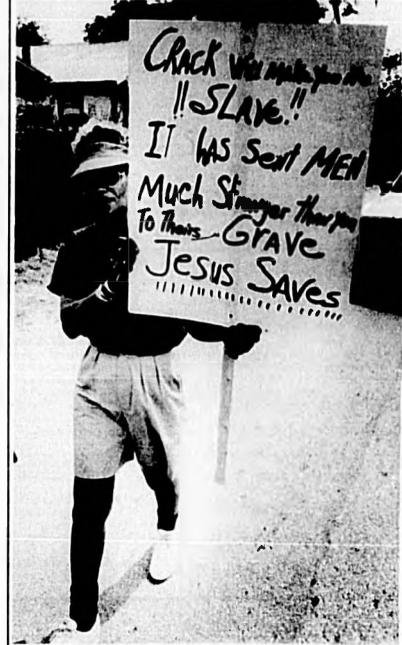

Jones explained that the contest is designed to challenge the students in "higher knowledge thinking." Participants must answer questions in the fields of mathematics. English, science, social studies and current events, he said.

"We were a little disappointed not to be first in the state, but

"We started off last year with a score of a little over 1,100, then the next time we scored 1,238. Last fall we scored a little over 1,300 points. Now, this is a jump of some 240 points, so we are continually improving." Jones

A Jackson Heights spokesperson said that team has improved its score by 250 points since the last game.

IN BRIEF Sibling charged with battery in hitting brother with hemmer

SANFORD - A 19-year-old Sanford man who allegedly hit his brother in the head with a hammer is scheduled to appear in court on May 16 on a charge of aggravated battery.

Sanford police report the victim. Luke Wooden, of 1900 W. 18th St., Sanford, refused medical treatment, and said he would see a doctor on his own following the beating which occurred at about 3:30 a.m. Sunday.

Luke Wooden suffered a deep cut in the middle of his head. Sanford police report the wound was allegedly inflicted by his brother Darrell Wooden, of the same address. The victim was reportedly hit once with a small hammer during an argument, police said.

Darrell Wooden posted $2,000 bond to be released from

Lurking leads to weapons find

SANFORD - A man who parked in a field early Sunday caught the eye of Sanford police, and today he faces a charge of possessing a concealed gun and possession of concealed brass knuckles.

Sanford police watched the truck parked in a field off Sanford Avenue until it moved onto the roadway at about 2:50 a.m. Police confronted the driver and reported seeing the butt of a handgun sticking out from under a pillow near the driver's seat of the truck.

The driver, Kenneth Wayne New, 34, of 2313 Summerlin Ave., who reportedly said he had stopped his truck because he felt sick, was searched. In one of his pockets police reported finding brass knuckles. Another weapons charge was added. He posted $1,000 and is scheduled to appear in court May 16.

Police check pocket find

SANFORD - A man whose pockets were checked after Sanford police thought they saw a razor blade and cocine in one pocket, remains jailed today on a charge of possession of crack cocaine.

Police said they confronted the suspect after seeing him outside a car occupied by two men on Seventh Street at Pine Avenue at about 1 a.m. Sunday.

Police saw what they thought was contraband in a pocket of James Campbell. 26, of 261 Sipes Ave., #204, Sanford, and searched him, a police report said.

They reportedly found a razor blade, a matchbox and

Campbell was being held in lieu of $2,000 bond.

Elsewhere the weather is rather definite.

Rain and a few thunderstorms extended today from northeast Texas to southern Kansas and showers were scattered along the Gulf Coast from southeast Texas to the Florida Panhandle.

Snow advisories were in effect today for the mountains of Montana east of the Continental Divide and the northern mountains of Wyoming, the National Weather Service said. Three to 6 inches of snow was expected in the mountains and foothills of Montana, Between 5 and 8 inches of snow was forecast in the northern mountains of Wyoming above 8000 feet.

Showers and thunderstorms will extend today from the lower Mississippi Valley across Tennessee and Alabama into South Carolina, Georgia and northern Florida, weather service spokesman Lyle Alexander said. Showers and thunderstorms will also be scattered over Utah, Colorado, Nebraska and eastern sections of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Clear skies covered the Great Lakes region and portions of the Ohio Valley early today. Alexander said. These clear skies will allow temperatures to drop to around the freezing mark in some areas. Freeze or frost advisories were in effect early today for lower Michigan. Northern Indiana. Ohio and northeast Kentucky.

Clear skies also prevailed this morning across the South Atlantic states. Tennessee and from western Texas to Southern California.

Temperatures early today were in the 40s and 50s across most of the nation. Readings were in the 30s in portions of the Ohio Valley. Temperatures were in the upper 20s and 30s from the Great Lakes across the northern Plains to the northern Rockies. Temperatures were in the 70s over Florida and along the Gulf Coast to southern Texas.

Thunderstorms were scattered Sunday night from western Oklahoma to south central Texas. Some of the thunderstorms in Texas were severe.

Several injuries were reported when strong thunderstorm winds destroyed two mobile homes near Whitt in north central Texas.

Stealth test flight confirms problems

WASHINGTON (UPI) - An Air Force announcement that the first test flight of its secret stealth nuclear bomber would take place this fall appears to confirm reports of problems with the high-tech aircraft, even though President Reagan says It's on schedule.

The Air Force said Wednesday the first flight of a prototype. designed with non-metallic materials to be virtually invisible to radar, will be held sometime this fall. No specific date was given.

Published reports several months ago said a scheduled spring test flight had been postponed until later this year because of technical problems.

Administration sources confirmed the first flight delay to United Press International and said because of technical problems Defense Secretary Frank Carlucci had agreed to delay up to a year the date the stealth bomber, officially known as the B-2, would become operational.

The Air Force has only given "the early 1990s" as a time when the plane would have an initial operational capability of one squadron or more.

But in a Springfield, Mass., speech Thursday to the World Affairs Council of Western Massachusetts, President Reagan said the B-2 is on schedule and "very shortly that plane will be in the air."

The president appears to be contradicting his friend, former Defense Secretary Caspar

Weinberger, who had said the first flight was scheduled for this spring or summer.

A spokesman, Capt. Jay De-Frank, said the Air Force would not discuss the B-2's development or production schedule on the grounds the information is classified.

The delay could be important because the B-2 is not just another weapon. It is considered critical to America's future strategic posture because it not only promises to make current Soviet aircraft defenses obsolete. but to neutralize any new defenses the Soviets may develop.

A bomber able to penetrate Soviet defenses undetected and deliver nuclear weapons will assume even greater importance if nuclear ICBMs are cut by 50 percent as proposed in a draft agreement that may be signed this year by Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

The stealth technology also is considered a key element of the Pentagon's new "competitive strategies" policy of getting a military leg up on the Soviets in areas where the United States has a technical edge.

Pentagon officials defend the stealth contractor, Northrop Corp. of Hawthorne, Calif., saying the firm is really plowing new technological ground promising to give the U.S. military an advantage for decades to

Bay awaits justice A year later: Palm

PALM BAY - A year after the massacre that stunned this coastal city south of Cape Canaveral, the accused sniper barely sustains life in his prison medical unit while Palm Bay residents await justice for the shootings that left six dead and 10 wounded.

Gaunt and gray and facing the electric chair, William Bryan Cruse Jr., 60, a retired librarian. eats just enough to endure isolation while awaiting trial that could come next fall.

Justice is "on hold," says State Attorney Norm Wolfinger, because of complicated legal issues before the Florida Supreme Court involving Cruse's mental competence and whether the state must pay lawyers to defend him.

No motive for the murders has been established, and Cruse's court-appointed lawyer. Burton Green, says he will argue his client is innocent by reason of insanity.

The slaughter, police say, began outside Cruse's tidy home on a warm Thursday evening. A neighbor boy playing basketball across the street was the first to fall, wounded by a gunshot. Police say Cruse, armed with a revolver, a shotgun and a semiautomatic rifle, then drove about a mile to resume his rampage.

Before dawn the next day, April 24. Cruse stumbled from a tear-gassed Winn-Dixte supermarket into the hands of police he had held at bay with hostages for at least six hours.

On the asphalt of the Sabal Palm Square shopping center parking lot and across Babcock Street outside the Publix grocery was the blood of four strangers shot dead without provocation and two rookie policemen killed trying to end the ganman's frenzy.

Two college engineering students from Kuwait, Nabil Al-Hamell, 25, and Emad Al-Tawakuly, 18, were the first to die. Ruth Green, 67, stopped at Publix to buy lettuce for the pet guinea pig she did not live to feed again.

Responding to reports of gunshots at the Winn-Dixle was the last act of duty for officers Ronald Grogan, 27, and Gerald Johnson, 28.

The sixth victim of the eight-hour shooting spree. Lester Watson, 51, was shot in the back and died behind the Winn-Dixie supermarket.

Ten others, including the neighbor boy, survived bullet wounds.

Cruse, facing the death sentence, is charged with six counts of first-degree murder, two counts of kidnapping his unharmed female hostages, and 28 counts of attempted first-degree murder for the people threatened by the gunman's shots.

For local residents, memory of the gunshots won't go away.

AN EDITORIAL Some optimism is warranted

The Soviet Union says it has adopted a new set of rules to prevent political prisoners from being confined and abused in psychiatric hospitals. There is much reason to question this promise, given the U.S.S.R.'s brutal track

Some optimism is warranted, inasmuch as the Soviet Union continues to smart from having to resign from the World Psychiatric Association in 1983 rather than be expelled for such abuses. No one knows for certain how many dissidents have been drugged and tormented in psychiatric hospitals, but Amnesty International and similar groups suggest that more than 100 are currently confinued against their will. The regimen in these horror chambers consists of the "pa-tients" being injected with powerful drugs which either paralyze them or leave them in a state of extreme mental distress.

This perversion of psychiatry was recently documented by Anatoly Koryagin, a prominent Soviet dissident psychiatrist, who was released from a labor camp and allowed to leave the country. Koryagin was sentenced to hard labor in 1981 after he refused to treat healthy persons who were declared to be insane for speaking out against the State.

It's remarkably easy to put these people away in a psychiatric hospital. In the past, virtually anyone with official standing had the authority to commit dissidents to the not-so-tender mercies of the Ministry of Internal Affairs, the national policy agency. Symptoms of schizophrenia were interpreted so broadly by compliant doctors that normal people were routinely assigned to asyluma for an unlimited stay.

Such Hitlerian methods are supposed to change with the advent of the new laws that will purportedly enable the families of dissidents to petition for their release. Another safeguard would place all psychiatric patients under the Health Ministry instead of letting the secret police determine their fate.

Indeed, the United States and U.S.S.R. recently reached a tentative agreement that would allow American and Soviet psychiatrists to visit respective mental hospitals to interview patients. Presumably, American doctors could request permission to speak with specific patients who are known to be confined because of their political views.

If the Soviet Union is serious, in fact, about regaining its place in the worldwide psychiatric community, it will stop torturing disaidents under the pretext of treating them for mental disorders.

Apartheid wans

is the enforcement arm of apartheid beginning to wither? Are there signs of atrophy in the muscle that is suppressing the black people of South Africa? There are faint but encouraging signs that the answer may be yes.

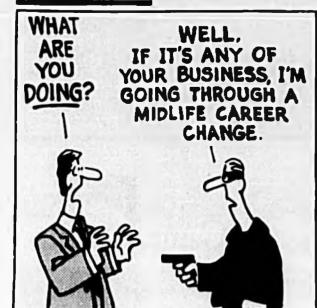

A small but growing number of white South Africans are resisting comspulsory service in South Africa's military, which helps enforce apartheid, that country's abhorrent policy of legalized racism.

Because this is a touchy issue, the South African government refuses to provide statistics in parliament on the number of whites who refuse conscription.

Unfortunately, apartheid still reigns supreme in South Africa. In fact, recent elections-from which the black majority was excluded—have given increasing political power to conservatives who have complained about even the limited reforms made in their country's strict racial laws.

Nevertheless, if South Africa's racial unrest continues—and it shows no sign of ending-more whites may become convinced that apartheid has no future, and that attempts to defend it militarily are therefore futile. In short, attempts to undergird the pillars of apartheid may actually undermine them. It can't happen too soon; racism is a phenomenon that has no place in South Africa or anywhere else in the world.

Relegated to press agent's purgatory

By Arnold Sewiciah UPI Senier Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) - One way to Interpret the Larry Speakes flap is that he was able to do his White House job satisfactorily while telling fibs, but had to resign from his Wall Street job when he told the truth.

Another more cynical view would be that Speakes, a veteran public relations agent, forgot the first imperative of his calling: No matter what happens, put a good face on it and make it look like your boss is a genius.

In his new book, Speakes wrote that while he was White House spokesman, he fabricated or appropriated the words of others and attributed them to President Reagan, including repartee with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

Marlin Fitzwater, Speakes's successor, called the revelation "a damned outrage," and White House reporters joined in with similar expressions at having been victimized by the Worse, Speakes was denounced by a number of colleagues, most of whom took the line that no ethical publicist would do such a thing. Only a few comments were heard to the effect

— perhaps even more cynical — that what Larry did wrong was to confess.

But, with one caveat, that may be close to the nub of the matter. Hundreds, perhaps thousands, of public and private officials are quoted daily as saying things that never came out of their mouths and they are perfectly content to have it happen. In fact, they pay people like Speakes good wages to issue statements in their names.

The scenario is something like this: A consumer group puts out a news release. written by a press agent, accusing a glue manufacturer of grinding up stolen pets to make

Reporters call the president of the glue factory for comment and are switched to the public relations department, which quotes the president as saying: "This charge is absolutely false. Our product does not, and never has, contained ground up stolen pets. I have instructed our counsel to look into the possibility of legal action in this matter."

Did the president really say that? Probably not. At best, he called in the head of the PR department and said: "Put out a statement denying this emphatically. We never stole anybody's pet; all the dogs and cats in our glue are strays. This nut group is in trouble: I'm going to sue their butts." More likely, however, he just said, "Deny everything."

In any case, that is the way the game is played, and most experienced reporters know it. That is one reason, for example, why reporters yell questions at the president as he departs and arrives at the White House. They don't often get answers, but when they do, they can be sure the words they get actually were spoken by the president.

The caveat in this is that words spoken by the president of the United States are supposed to have more policy and historical significance than the comments of any lesser government official or a private businessman.

Suburbia strikes back

HAUPPAUGE, N.Y. (NEA) - Two headlines in the same day's newspaper bespeak the anguish of Suffolk County on Long Island. "New Peaticide Rules Cause Outery." proclaims one. "Big Oil Spill Stirs Water Safety Fears," declares the other.

The first headline is atop an account of how upset the county's farmers, exterminators and lawncare companies are about new regulations that require them to post warning signs following all pesticide applications.

The second headline is over a story about the potential con-tamination of the subterranean aquifers, which provide all of the county's drinking water, resulting from an underground spill of 800,000 gallons of gasoline.

Like countless other suburban counties throughout the nation that have grown too far too fast. Suffolk faces the difficult task of balancing environmental concerns against developmental demands and commercial claims.

Occupying the eastern half of Long Island. Suffolk County had an agricultural economy as recently as 40 years ago.

But middle-class families began pouring out of New York City following World War II. in search of refuge in the suburbs. After adjacent Nameu County became filled with housing developments. Suffolk's farmland was sacrificed for tract homes.

Between 1950 and 1970, the county's population quadrupled, from 276,000 to more than 1.1 million. (The growth rate has abated in recent years, and the population now is slightly more than 1.3 million.)

Many of the county's most valuable natural resources were damaged or destroyed in that boom. For example, the Nissequogue River, one of Long Island's richest oyster grounds and a favorite source of shellfish for New York City restaurants in the 19th century, has been severely polluted.

County officials now have mounted a determined effort to reverse that trend - and they have selected as a primary target an ideal metaphor for an era in which consumption has outpaced common sense: plastic garbage bags and other plastic food containers.

Mobil. Amoco and other oil companies engaged in plastics production resisted the reform, but Suffolk County's legislators have set an example for others concerned about mindless consumption and environmental degradation.

Popular flier plans

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Frequent flier plans have become a doubled-edged sword for the airline industry.

On the one hand, they have spectacularly fulfilled their primary purpose - building consumer loyalty. According to industry sources. frequent flier plans now have more than 30 million members. Studies show that customers, especially business fliers, go to extraordinary lengths to fly on the airlines whose frequent flier plans they are members of.

But at the same time, the proframs have become so popular, and the millions of travelers who belong have racked up so many miles, that the plans could cost the airlines hundreds of millions of dollars.

Every time a frequent flier cashes an award and flies free, he theoretically takes a seat away from a paying passenger. Already on some airlines fully a third of the seats on popular routes, especially to vacation destinations, are filled with passengers flying free. On some airlines, if all the members of the frequent flier program were to cash in their accumulated miles for tickets, they would fill every available seat for months.

Meanwhile, a brisk secondary market has grown up around frequent flier certificates. Although most programs' rules are designed to try to prevent this, dozens of companies have sprung up to buy and sell discount coupons.

Often the buyers are travel agents who, armed with unsigned travel certificates, can offer steep discounts to customers. This has created tension between the airlines and travel agents, and between competing travel agents who accuse one another of stealing business by offering discounts using illegally obtained certificates.

Such a dispute has now led to litigation between New York-based 47th Street Photo, one of the nation's largest retail and catalog outlets of home electronics and cameras, and TWA.

In July 1986, TWA approached a number of the nation's premier catalog retailers, including 47th Street Photo, with an offer, TWA would sell to the catalog companies. for $12.50 each, certificates good for a 25 percent discount on travel on TWA. The catalog companies, in turn, could sell the certificates to its customers at up to $25 each, or could give them away as premiums.

For nine months, 47th Street thought the program was going well. It sold about 15,000 of the certificates. Then in April 1987 it suddenly received a letter from TWA saying that certificates in hulk were being redeemed by travel agents and intimating that 47th Street was somehow at fault.

"We couldn't get a straight answer from TWA as to what we were supposed to have done wrong," Marvin Wolf, 47th Street's lawyer. says. "It appears that what was going on was that travel agents were buying the certificates from brokers and then using them to offer clients discounts on tickets."

The certificates say they are void if "resold or bartered" and they require anyone redeeming them to sign them and to supply a proof of purchase from the catalog retailer. 'It appears though," says Wolf. "that TWA has been redeeming them without signatures and without proof of purchase."

The camera store hired private detectives who discovered a brisk secondary market in the certificates. Postng as travel agents, they have made purchases of blank certificates in packs of 10 for $99. Wolf says, "47th Street thinks its name and reputation is everything and this suit was filed to protect our reputation. All we wanted was for the court to order TWA to administer the program according to TWA's own rules and to give us an accounting."

TWA's response has been an $11 million countersuit against 47th Street. Although 47th Street has offered to submit the whole matter to binding arbitration,

Storms spread pollution

UPI Science Writer

TUSCON, Ariz. (UPI) - Afternoon thundershowers freshen city air. but they can also make air pollution worse by spreading smog across large areas, according to a professor of atmospheric chemistry from the University of Maryland in College Park.

Since 1985, Russell R. Dickerson and scientists from Colorado and Washington have sampled air pollutants in thunder clouds of 30 storms. "The carbon monoxide was highest up there." Dickerson said in a telephone into view.

"The conclusion we drew is that thunderstorms are very important in long range and global distribution of air pollution." he added.

Air currents in a storm front lift smog up to stx miles into the air. where wind carries the pollutants long distances. Higher up, there's more sunshine and less moisture, so the pollutants stay airborne much longer, said Dickerson Some pollutants, such as oxides of nitrogen, cause other gases in the air to react and form ozone. It takes just a few molecules of these oxides. to make lots of ozone. Because these gases last longer at such high altitudes, even more ozone can be produced, Dickerson explained.

Ozone in the very high layers of the atmosphere, more than 10 miles up, shields life on earth from damaging radiation from the sun-"But if you get any ozone in the lower atmosphere, then it's a noxious pollutant," said Dickerson, It irritates the eyes and lungs and damages plants, costing farmers billions of dollars from crop loss.

"It's also a greenhouse gas," he added. Like carbon dioxide, ozone traps sunlight and may contribute to global warming

When exhaust gases and hyproducts from power plant pollutants remain close to Earth. less than a half-mile from the surface, they do not travel very far or last very long before settling out or being washed out of the air by rain. Thus their effects are limited.

Storms that wash out pollutants away help dilute atmospheric acids and reduce acid rain. But when these particles catch a ride on the gusts of spring storms, they travel long distances and last much

The studies indicate that thunderstorms do play an important role in air pollution, and that oxides of nitrogen, which are not monitored or curbed through emission con-trols, need to be reduced. "The bottom line is that their importance as air pollutants is much greater than was expected," said Dickerson.

Banker wants price on leakers' heads

By Jack Anderson and Dole Van Atta

WASHINGTON — A senior official at the Federal Home Loan Bank Board has a proposal that would tickie George Orwell - a $20,000 bounty on the head of any bankboard staffer who leaks information to the press.

The have-gun-will-travel approach is the brainchild of James E. Boland Jr., the bank board's No. 2 man who serves as chief deputy to agency Chairman M. Danny Wall.

Boland raised the suggestion during an executive meeting where only about seven top bank-board officials were present. His idea was to offer $20,000 to agency personnel who unmask co-workers guilty of slipping stories to the press.

Several bank-board officials greeted Boland's proposal with horror. One said the idea would hurt employee morale and be counter-

News of the bounty idea was leaked to us. Boland declined to return our phone calls.

In an interview with our associate Michael Binstein. Chairman Wall said the plan was "DOA" or dead on arrival. He would not elaborate on his own feelings about the reward idea, but sources say that Wall has been deeply disturbed over leaks.

Since assuming the chairmanship last July. Wall has tried to "accentuate the positive" about the beleaguered thrift industry that the bank board regulates. But Wall has found it next to impossible to eliminate the negative when the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., which insures the deposits, is facing losses expected to exceed $50

Since the thrift industry was deregulated in 1982, savings and loans have become like federally insured casinos. Loans for wild land speculation, risky stock market deals and even Arabian horse sperm banks have often been substituted for the traditional mainstay of thrift institutions - home mortgages.

The result is that the FSLIC is flat broke and will have to limp from one ballout to the next until the inevitable occurs - a massive taxpayer ballout.

While others have been screaming fire. Wall has failed to smell the smoke. Last August, Congress passed a bill adding $10.8 billion to the depositor insurance fund. through the sale of bonds. At the time, Wall released a statement saying Congress had given him what he needed to do the job.

He must have been looking through rose-colored glasses. The fact is. Wall already had seen a secret report that showed the bank board needed nearly $16 billion to ball out only the 1,83 most hopelessly doomed thrifts. And one out of every five of the nation's 3,200 thrifts is insolvent.

Our associate Binstein obtained a copy of the same secret report. That was one of the leaks that drove Boland to suggest a $20,000 bounty on leakers.

The bank board is understandably eager to eliminate the negative. Among the facts that board bureaucrats are trying to sweep under the rug is this one: A ballout of the 40 most troubled savings and loans in Texas would cost every man, woman and child in that state $424 each and would wipe out the existing each reserves of the FSLIC twice over. On the average, each of the worst Texas thrifts would cost the FSLIC $173 million to bail out.

according to the secret report.

Community colleges carry a large responsibility in U.S. education

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK UPI Senior Belter

Community colleges, tuitions from $100 to around $1,700 a year, don't have a glossy image or, in most cases, very fancy buildings as found on campuses of many of the nation's 3,200 colleges.

But when it comes to getting the job done, the two-year schools-sometines known as people's or open door colleges—have something in common with "The Little Engine That Could." a report indicates.

The fabled little steam locomotive in the children's story, aided by determination as it struggled to pull a giant overload, made it to the top of a mountain.

The 1.224 mini-colleges, double the number around 40 years ago, somewhat in the same heavy load-considering their small stature on the higher education scene, according to the report: "Building Communities: A Vision For a New Centu-

The community college students account for 51 percent of all college freshmen and 43 percent of all college undergraduates, it was also noted in the report from the Commission on the Future of Community Colleges, a panel appointed by the board of the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges in 1986.

The report called for expansion of faculty and programs at the colleges, plus increased attention from public, corporate and private sectors to their financial needs and their role in helping to train a flexible. skilled workforce for the 21st century.

"These institutions are 'the people's colleges,' enrolling almost half the students who go on to higher education and providing, more than any other sector, lifelong learning for adults," Boyer said.

"During the past 40 years especially, community colleges have grown with our burgeoning economy. Their future and the future of the nation are interlocked.

"As we approach the year 2000, the role of the community college in our culture should be both redefined and reaffirmed."

1. There is a need to improve general education, the core curriculum. While preparing for careers, community college students also should become well informed, broaden their perspective, and be prepared to meet their social and civic obligations in the global context.

2. Community colleges should become first-rate teaching institutions. Students, in every classroom, should be active learners and the recognition of great teachers, with accompanying salary increases, should become a reality on every community college campus.

3. The transfer function at community colleges should be strengthened. While not every two-year student should move on to complete the baccalaureate degree, the need to keep this option open, especially for black

4. America's community colleges, which have captured the admiration of educators around the world, have a vital role to play in the continuing education of adults. 'Grapes of wrath' at market

MIAMI (UPI) - The Liberty City shopper who was arrested and jailed for petty theft because he snacked on a few white seedless grapes before paying for his groceries has been released on bail.

Arthur Culberth was doing the weekly grocery shopping with his wife and stepson at a Winn-Dixie supermarket Saturday evening. The Culberths filled their shopping cart with about $30 worth of food, they said.

As they moved through the produce section. Culberth picked up a plastic-wrapped package of grapes, priced at $1.65, punctured the plastic and popped a few grapes into his mouth.

Roger Smith, an off-duty Miami police officer moonlighting for store security, approached Culberth and told him to pay for the grapes right away. Culberth refused, was handcuffed and taken EWSY.

"They're taking me for eating grapes," he yelled as the patrol car pulled away. Smith said Culberth gave him no choice. "I wouldn't jeopardize my job to arrest someone for eating grapes," he said. "I had no other alternative."

Navy continues search for 3 missing sailors ships searched today for three sailors missing from the USS Bonefish, a diesel attack submarine crippled by an explosion and fire that injured 18 crewmen and forced the rest to evacuate.

The explosion erupted in the engine room about 4:30 p.m. EDT Sunday while the Charleston. S.C.-based submarine was on a training mission about 160 miles east of Cape Canaveral, Pla., said Navy Capt. Brent Baker, a spokesman for the Atlantic Fleet.

The blast ignited a fire that created toxic fumes and forcer the crew of 92 to flee to safety abourd a guided missile frigate that steamed to the aid of the submarine, Baker said.

The Barbel class patrol submarine, which left port April 16 on the training mission in the Caribbean, remained on the surface of the ocean early today.

Of the crew, 89 sailors had been accounted for and moved to safety, Baher anid. Three of the 18 injured men were in serious condition. The whereabouts of three other

"We've been searching the water around the Bonefish to find the missing crewmen but they are still unaccounted for." Navy Lt. Fred Henney said shortly after dawn.

The explosion apparently oc-curred in the battery compart-ment of the Bonefish, one of the last four diesel submarines still in service with the Navy.

The Navy guided missile frigates Carr and McCloy were on station sssisting the submerine. The Navy submarine re-scue ship, the USS Petrel, based in Charleston, was expected to arrive this afternoon to "assess the situation and take the submarine into tow," Baker said.

Shortly after 6 a.m. EDT, Henney said it had not been determined where the Bonefish would be towed, but "the hull integrity is good."

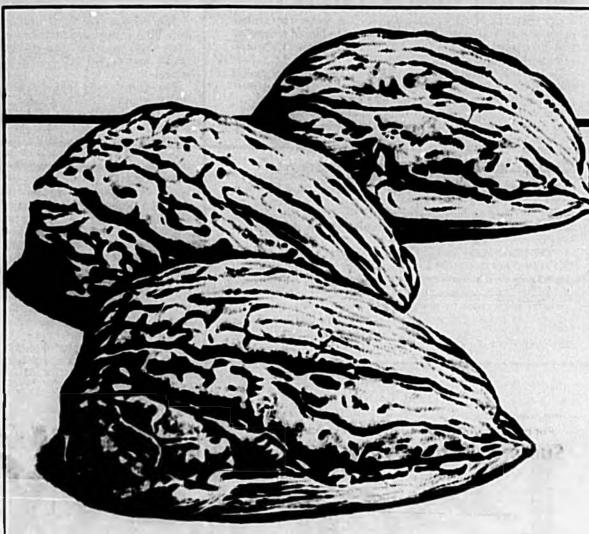

Baker said the 18 injured authors were transferred to the aircraft carrier John F. Kennedy, which was en route to the Mayport Naval Station, in Mayport, Fla., where the men will be taken to the Jacksonville Naval Hospital. Baker said many of the sailors suffered smoke inhelation.

The rest of the crewmen under the command of Cmdr. Mike Wilson were abourd the Carr early today.

The initial reports indicate the apparent cause of the fire was an explosion in the ship's battery compartment," Baker said. "Due to fires and toxic fumes the commanding officer ordered the sub to be evacuated."

"I don't know if they were submerged or on the surface (when the explosion occurred). Normally, they would be submerged," he said.

Baker said the Bonefish was used primarily as a training submarine and normally carries torpedoes.

Conever wins at Olympic trials

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (UPI) -Mark Conover turned inexperience into an advantage in the U.S. Olympic men's marathon trials.

Conover, running in only his second marathon, ran like a wizened veteran Sunday. making the right move at the right time to claim a victory in 2 hours, 12 minutes, 26 seconds.

Conover, whose only previous marathon was a 2 18.03 third place at the California International last December, said he never thought of his relative inexperience at the 26-mile. 385-yard distance as a handleap. The marathon is an event where lack of experience can be more beneficial." he said. "I just went out and ran. I wasn't intimidated by anyone else.

In fact, in his own mind at least, Conover, 27, of San Luis Obispo, Calif., came into Sunday's race with something of an advantage.

"The more marathons you run, the more your body starts to rebel on Itself," the former NCAA Division II cross country and 10,000 meter champ from Humboldt (Calif.) State said. "I've got, hopefully, one or two more before my body rebels."

Lewis fifth in first 100 of year

WALNUT, Calif. (UPI) - In the last eight months, it's taken only the first few meters of the 100-meter dash to undo Carl Lewis.

At last summer's World Championships, Lewis equaled the American mark of 9.93 seconds but lost to Canadian Ben Johnson, who used a lightning-quick burst out of the starting blocks to set the world record of 9.83. Lewis had trouble at the start again Sunday, this time in the 30th annual Mount San Antonio College Relays. In his first 100 of the year, he was slow breaking off the line — he later claimed his blocks slipped — and his customary late kick never materialized. Lewis finished fifth, his worst showing in quite some time, and then criticized the starting official for not noticing the faulty blocks and ordering a recall. Raymond Stewart of Jamaica won in 10.13 seconds, followed by Mark Witherspoon (10.17), Joe DeLoach (10.22) and Brian Cooper (10.26).

"It was a great cruise job. that's all it was," Lewis said of his 10.29 effort. "It's just that the starting official should have recalled the race.

"My training was excellent coming in. I was expecting a great race, but that's tough to do when you're on all fours. Eighty percent of your force is lost when you're going backwards. My first priority was not to fall. After that I just

SHS looks for strong district showing

High School today could be a good time to forget about what has happened the past couple months and recapture the brand of baseball it was playing the first two weeks of the

The Tribe, 9-15, will take on Bishop Moore, 8-16, in the opening round of the District 3A-6 Tournament today at 4 at Seminole High. Seminole, after winning its first six, has lost 15 of its last 18.

"The only thing we haven't done is hit, pitch and play good defense all in one game. Seminole coach Mike Ferrell said. "If we can put all three of those together we should be able to cause some trouble in the district playoffs."

Ferrell had pitched Jeff
Blake against Bishop Moore in the teams' first two meetings but will be going with James Joyce today. Blake pitched brilliantly in the first matchup as Seminole won 13-2. In the second game the Hornets got to Blake and took a 7-1 decision.

"Jeff Blake won't pitch against Bishop Moore unless we need him," Ferrell said. "It's do or die time, I can't save him or any one else, if we lose there's no tommorow."

Ferrell also feels a win over

Bishop Moore would be very meaningful to the Tribe, which has faced a lot of adversity this season. A victory would match Seminole up against Jones. a team it destroyed, 38-1, early in the year.

'James Joyce has looked really good in his last four or five outings and we want to go with him in the first game and hope to get through." Ferrell and. "If we get past Bishop Moore I'll just use a pitcher who can throw strikes against Jones and come back with Jeff Blake or Mike Senechek in the following game."

Ferrell, though, has the Seminole squad focused on beating the Hornets and not looking ahead to the Jones game. If Seminole should beat Bishop Moore, they will more than likely whip Jones, then comeback and play either Oviedo or St. Cloud in the semifinals of the tournament.

"We can't look past any-one." Ferrell said. "But if we win Monday I think we'll do real well in the tournament. and that alone would do a lot for this team."

Seminole's record does not indicate what type of team it has either. The Tribe competes in a tough conference, the Seminole Athletic Conference.

and beat champion Lake Mary while playing the conference's second place finisher. Oviedo. to a pair of one run games.

Things should start going in our direction," Ferrell said. 'We've been so close so many times it's incredible, we just have to start winning some of the close games. It's time we came up with some breaks.

"But like I said, we have not put all of the necessary things together to win," added Ferell. "We've had good pitching. we've hit the ball well and we've played good defense, but never all three in one game and if we can change that I think we'll be in for a successful week.

Receivers highlight NFL draft looking for quarterbacks in the NFL draft find slim pickings. They settle instead for gamebreaking wide receivers.

The Los Angeles Raiders, Green Bay Packers and Dallas Cowboys fell into that category Sunday. The Raiders and Cowboys started their rebuilding phases and the Packers opened the Lindy Infante era as coach by combining to draft half of the record six wide receivers in the first round.

The Raiders took Heisman Trophy winner Tim Brown of Notre Dame with the sixth pick. the Packers drafted Sterling Sharpe of South Carolina with the next selection and the Cowboys selected Michael Irvin of Miamt 11th.

The draft began with Atlanta's selection of Auburn linebacker Aundray Bruce, who signed a five-year, $4.1 million contract earlier this month. Kansas City followed by taking defensive end Neil Smith of Nebraska, Detroit selected Miami safety Benny Blades third, Tampa Bay drafted disconsin tackle Paul Gruber and Cincinnati selected cornerback Rickey Dixon of Oklahoma fifth.

The Raiders and Cowboys seemed to be among the best selectors through the first five rounds Sunday. The draft concludes today, beginning at 10 a.m. EDT with seven rounds.

"We had a number of calls from teams saying Tim Brown was a steal." Raiders Coach Mike Shanahan said, "Many wanted to make a trade with us.

"Not only is Tim Brown a quality person, he's a quality athlete. He gives us some exeffement in relation to punt returns and kickoff returns. Even though we had depth at that position, we felt Tim was the best available athlete."

State tennis tourneys this week

Lake Brantley's boys will look for a repeat of two years ago while Oviedo's girls look for their best finish ever as the two teams compete in the state championships this week at the University of Florida in Gainesville.

The Class 3A State Tournament will be held today through Tuesday. Oviedo's girls, under coach Louie Tulp. are making their fifth consecutive trip to the state tourney. Their best finish was a seventh, that coming a year ago. This time, Oviedo has a team that has played consistently throughout the year. going unbeaten in dual matches, winning the Seminole Athletic Conference and District 3A-4.

The singles players for Oviedo are Adrienne Wood at No. 1. Mandy Ehrhart at 2. Ashley Ehrhart at 3, Lisa Frangipane at 4 and either Jennie Wise or Jill Wise at 5 Wood and Frangipane are both unbeaten this season as are the Wise sisters who are only freshmen. In doubles, Wood teams with Frangipane at 1 while the Ehrharts are an excellent combination at 2.

The Class 4A State Tournament will be Wednesday and Thursday. Lake Brantley won the state two years ago and hopes to be in the running once again in '88.

Beck fired an 8-under-par 64 Sunday to capture the $750,000 USFAG Classic by seven strokes over Lanny Wadkins, setting a tournament record with his 72-hole total of 26-under.

'It's nice to have played well when the chips were down,' Beck said. "I was glad I was able to respond to my own talents.

'This game's easy once it gets rolling. I'm glad I was able to push forward today and move positively with that momentum."

Beck, who earlier this year won the Los Angeles Open for his first tour victory, picked up the winner's check of $135,000 and moved into second place on the 1988 PGA money list with earnings of $430,465. Masters champ Sandy Lyle sits atop the list with $603,821.

"Man it was fun." he said. "Playing with Lanny Wadkins was a real thrill. I knew I couldn't slack up. You can't when you're playing with Lanny.

Beck's 26-under total shattered the USF&G scoring record of 21-under set in 1974 by Lee Trevino, who took home just $30,000 for his win. Trevino tallied four bogie-free rounds in 1974, while Beck played the final 56 holes at Lakewood Country Club this year without a bogle.

Beck, whose previous second-place finishes included the 1986 U.S. Open and 1987 Nabisco Championships of Golf. became the third multiple winner on tour this year, joining Lyle and Steve Pate.

Baltimore plans big welcome for heroes

BALTIMORE (UPI) - Fans of the winless Baltimore Orioles plan to welcome home their star-crossed heroes after a two-week nightmarish road trip.

Hundreds of calls and letters are pouring into the team's offices, and tickets are selling like crazy for the May 2 return to Memorial Stadium, where fans want to start the season over.

The Orioles lost 3-1 in Kansas City Sunday, extending to 18 their major-league record for consecutive losses to start a season. Baltimore is already 14 games out of first place.

Manager Frank Robinson received a bouquet before Saturday's game.

"It's from a fan." he said. "It (the card) said. 'End this thing,' or something like that."

The Orioles are two losses from tying the American League record for consecutive losses in a season, shared by the 1908 Boston Red Sox and the 1916 and 1943 Philadelphia Athletics. The modern major-league record of 23 consecutive losses set by the 1961 Philadelphia Phillies.

But in Baltimore, who's counting?

Ticket sales for the next home game, against Texas, are nearly as brisk as they were for Opening Day. So far, 15,000 tickets have been sold, ticket manager Roy Sommerhoft said. He said the goal is a sellout of the 54.017-scat stadium.

There also will be prizes awarded during the game - a year's supply of beer and hot

County teams chase district titles PREP LEADERS: SOFTBALL

Only one year ago, five Seminole County teams com-peted for one district champion-ship. In 1988, though, the teams are spread out in three districts with two in each district. And it pears the chances of three district titles are pretty good.

Oln Class 4A District 4, Lake Howell will try to fight off some late-season injuries and bring home the crown. The Lady Hawks, 19-6 overall, will play Orlando Colonial in the first round. Lyman, Winter Park and Apopha are the other teams in the district.

Oin Class 4A District 5, Lake Brantley goes for at third con-secutive district title and is the top seeded team. Lake Mary is the top threat to the Lady Patriota while the other teams are DeLand, Spruce Creek and Oln Class 3A District 6. Oviedo looks to get its title back after falling short a year ago. The Lady Lions won the district the previous two years. Seminole, Edgewater, Gateway, Oaceola, St. Cloud, Leesburg, Bishop Moore and Jones are also in the district.

With the split districts in Class 4A, the possibility of a Seminole County team going to state is increased greatly. Lake Brantley has an excellent shot at winning its third district in a row with Lake Mary being the only real threat to upend the Lady Patriots. Brantley finished second in the state a year ago and has an even stronger team this year. Lake Howell also is in good position to win its district. The Lady Hawks were ousted from district play in the semifinals by Brantley last year and they have lost to the Lady Patriots twice in '88 so Lake Howell would like nothing better than a showdown with Brantley in the regionals.

Should Howell and Brantley win (or Howell and Lake Mary). it would set up an all-Seminole County regional matchup with a county team assured of a sectional berth. The county team would then play the Jackonsville-Orange Park area for a spot in the state tourney.

In Class 3A. Oviedo looks like a good bet to win its district and could go a lot farther if they continue to play the way they have in the late season. The Lady Lions made it as far as sectionals three years ago.

Spruce Creek knocks Rams out of top seed

By Mark Blythe

Herald Sports Writer

LAKE MARY — Port Orange Spruce Creek came up with a pair of big innings to knock off Lake Mary, 9-7. Saturday afternoon at Lake Mary High School in a game that cost the Rams the top seed in the District 4A-9 Tournament to be held this week in DeLand.

Lake Mary finished its season with a 19-7 overall record and will open the tournament Tuesday at 2 against Daytona Beach Mainland.

'We just had a mental let down after a big week." Lake Mary coach Allen Tuttle said. "We had two major games during the week and didn't look sharp Satur-

Lake Mary jumped out to an early two run lead with in the bottom of the first inning. Shane Stufflet led off the inning and reached first after being hit by a pitch. Jeff Hagen followed with a single up the middle and the runners advanced to second and third on a passed ball. Eric Birle then reached on an error by the Creek third baseman that allowed Stufflet to scored. Dave Fencik followed with a grounder to third that scored Hagen and gave the Rams a 2-0

The Hawks then erupted for five runs in the top of the third inning to take the lead for good. Dave Roberts opened the inning with a single followed by a walk by David Beach. Craig Swanson then drilled a run scoring single to right with Keith Edwards following with another single to tie the score.

Ron Taylor then reached on a fielders choice to score another run with Leon Colsent also hitting into a fielders choice that left Edwards on second. Jose Sifford then ripped a home run over the left center field fence to give Creek a 5-2

The Rama cut the lead to 5-3 in the bottom of the fourth with Fencik leading off with a single. Aaron latarola then hit into a fielders choice with the Hawks putting Fencik out. latarola then stole second and moved to third on a grounder by John Vallee. Todd Christensen

Spruce Creek then came up with its second big inning to take control of the game. Edwards led the frame off with a walk, stole second and after two outs moved to third on a single by Sillord. Ken McKelfresh then ripped a triple into the right center field gap for two runs batted in and scored when the relay throw home went sailing over the third base dugout.

Lake Mary came right back with four runs of its own in the bottom of the inning to keep itsself within striking distance. Stufflet led off with a walk, moved to second on a single by Hagen with Wes Weger drawing a walk to load Stufflet then scored on a passed ball with Hagen and Weger advancing to second and third. Birle then connected on a bomb that hit the top of the left center field fence to score both runners. After an out latarola singled to right to score Birle and narrow the lead to 8-7.

The Hawks used two errors to add their final run of the game in the top of the seventh. Lake Mary will open with Mainland and should advance to play either Spruce Creek or Lake Howell on Thursday.

ALL-BAC TEAM

The Seminole Athletic Confernce named its 1987 All-Conference players last week selected by the SAC coaches. Lake Brantley placed four players on the first team with Lake Mary adding three.

In the pitching department Brantley's Greg Ebbert led the way, Ebbert finished as the SAC's top pitcher with a 10-2 record, both losses came at the hands of SAC champion Lake Mary. Oviedo's Alan Greene and Lake Mary's Alex Birle. who both had excellent season's rounded out the first team pitching staff.

Lake Brantley sophomore catcher Jerrey Thurston, the only sophomore on the first team, led the SAC in hitting to make the first team. Brantley's Jim "Mongo" Morse also made the top squad as he led his team with 11 home runs. Morse was a big contributer to the Patriots state record of 34 homers in a season by a team. Lyman's Darren Holmquist took top honors at second.

Bucs get protection for Vinny in draft

TAMPA (UPI) - The Tampa Bay Buccaneers just entered the protection racket.

Troubled by nightmarish visions of million dollar quarterback Vinny Testaverde being undermined by a weak offensive line, Tampa Bay Coach Ray Perkins used the fourth pick in Sunday's NFL draft to select Wisconsin tackle Paul Gruber.

After choosing the Badgers' versatile lineman. Tampa Bay traded down 23 spots in the second round and accumulated two additional fourth-round choices in trades with Philadelphia and San Francisco. Picking No. 26 in the second round instead of No. 3, Tampa Bay took Georgia running back Lars Tate.

With no third-round pick, the Buccaneers added Auburn defensive end Robert Goff, Tennessee guard John Bruhin and punter Monte Robbins of Michigan in the fourth round.

William Howard, a running back from Tennessee, was chosen in the fifth round and the draft will continue this morning.

Gruber, 6-foot-5, 290, was timed in 4.8 at the combine workouts and has bench-pressed 450 pounds. With Rob Taylor sidelined by a knee injury midway through the 1987 season and veteran Ron Heller requesting a trade, the tackle position has developed into a top priority for the 4-11 Buccaneers.

Perkins has repeatedly asserted a reluctance to draft offensive linemen in early rounds, claiming players with average physical skills can be developed into starters with proper coaching techniques. Gruber's availability led to an exception to the Perkins rule.

"I like to play percentages and a guy with Gruber's talent doesn't come along very often."

really went out and did a good Job of rating these wide receivers," Braatz said. "They rated Sharpe the first player and I think one of the big differences reclever technique-wise and route-wise."

Cowboys General Tex Schramm said his team not only got the best wide receiver, but the best player in the draft.

"He was not just in our top five," Schramm said. "He was in the top of our top five. Yes, he was our number one."

No passers were drafted until the Phoenix Cardinals took punter-quarterback Tom Tupa of Ohio State with the 68th pick. That marks the longest any draft has gone without a quarterback selected. The first player drafted Chris Chandler of Washington. Southern Cal eighth.

taken with the 76th pick by Indianapolis.

Those two were the only quarterbacks out of 137 picks made Sunday.

The Raiders had three firstround picks, thanks to a trade with San Francisco for the 25th pick. The Raiders gave up wide "Our scouts and our coaches receiver Dokie Williams, and second- and fourth-round choices. They selected defensive end Scott Davis of Illinois. On their second pick - the ninth overall, acquired from Houston is that Sharpe is a better wide for defensive end Sean Jones last week - they selected Tennessee defensive back Terry McDaniel.

> The other wide receivers drafted in the first round were Anthony Miller of Tennessee, taken by San Diego 15th; Aaron Cox of Arizona State, taken by the Los Angeles Rams 20th; and Wendell Davis of Louisiana State, picked by Chicago 27th to close the first round.

The previous record for wide receivers in the first round was five in 1973.

After Brown and Sharpe were selected, the New York Jets solely as a quarterback was chose tackle Dave Cadigan of

Dolphins shore up defense with Kumerow

MIAMI (UPI) - The Miami Dolphins went for defense as promised Sunday, making little-known linebacker Eric Kumerow of Ohio State the NFL draft's 16th selection.

Coach Don Shula said Kumerow's selection "surprised some people that we passed up some players. From what I've seen, there weren't a lot of first round predictions on Kumerow. ut only time will tell.

Miami stayed with defense in the second round and drafted Jarvis Williams, a safety from Florida.

The Dolphins, who finished 26th in overall defense in 1987, switched to offense in the third round, taking 6-6, 245 tight end Ferrell Edmunds of Maryland.

In the fourth round, the Dolphins selected 315-pound tackle Greg Johnson of Oklahoma. Miami picked Brigham Young University cornerback Rodney Thomas in the fifth round and resume drafting

"We think we've taken some high character people - people who will come in here and compete for a job." Shula said.

Although Kumerow played outside linebacker at Ohio State, the Dolphins said he fit into their plans as a down lineman and a pass rusher. That was fine with the 6-6, 264-pound Buckeye. "I'm looking forward to coming down, working hard and rushing passers." Kumerow said from his Chicago home. "I'm unbelievably happy. This is the greatest thing in the world.

"We feel he has the bulk and size to line up as a defensive lineman." Coach Don Shula said after making Kumerow the 16th selection of the first round. "He can drop back as a linebacker, but also help us put pressure on the quarterback. He has the size to line up as a lineman and play

Padres' Hawkins one-hits Astros

San Diego's Andy Hawkins, who has been the subject of trade rumors for the past week. may have boosted his market value Sunday.

The righthander hurled a one-hitter in leading the San Diego Padres over the Houston Astros

"I wasn't counting on throwing a no-hitter," Hawkins said after pitching his first complete game since 1986. "I really wasn't expecting it. Maybe if I got into the eighth or ninth. I might've felt differently."

Hawkins, 2-1, who struck out four and walked three, has pitched three three-hitters in his six year career. His no-hit attempt was spoiled when Bill Doran led off the seventh inning with a single.

"I was just trying to get on base." Doran said. "It was a fastball. He pitched a great game. It's tough to figure."

Meanwhile, Roberto Alomar's RBI single in the fifth inning provided Hawkins and the Padres with the only run they needed.

Bulls thump Celtics, 115-108

CHICAGO (UPI) - The Chicago Bulls won their regular-season finale and earned a higher seed and a tougher opponent in the NHA playoffs.

Michael Jordan and the Chicago Bulls reached milestones Sunday by defeating the Boston Celtics 115-108.

Chicago set a franchise record by reaching the 50-win plateau for the fifth time. The Bulls clinched the third best record in the Eastern Conference, giving them Cleveland Cavalters as their opening round opponent Thursday night.

A loss against Boston would have meant a first round series against the Milwaukee Bucks, who Chicago beat in five of six regular-season meetings. The Bulls have split their six games Cavaliers.

Cleveland, who finished the season with a 42-40 record.enters the playoffs as the NBA's hottest team. The Cavallers have won eight of their last nine and 11 of their last 13 games. The 1987-88 season was the most successful in the last decade for the franchise.

Jordan, who scored 46 points in the game and won his second straight NBA scoring title, said things will be different in the postscason.

"If we took Cleveland lightly in the regular season, that won't be the case in the playoffs," Jordan said.

Chicago's Dave Corzine was guarded in assessing his team's next opponent. "I would have rather played Milwaukee," the center said. "Cleveland has confidence that it can beat us." Jordan finished the season with 2,868 points and a 35 points per game average.

Led by Jordan, the Bulls took control with an 18-7 run over the final 6:20 of the first quarter. Corzine contributed 6 points in the surge, which left Chicago ahead 30-23.

Charles Oakley and Jordan acored 10 points each in the second quarter as the Bulls extended their lead to 9 at halftime, 59-50.

Bostons' Reggie Lewis scored on a layup with 2:39 left in the fourth period and pulled Boston within striking distance at 106-103, but Sam Vincent answered with a steal and 3-point play to pull Chicago out of

The Celtics played without forwards Larry Bird and Kevin McHale, Guard Dennia Johnson and center Robert Parish, both nursing injuries, made brief appearances.

Danny Ainge led a balanced Boston attack with 20 points. Rookie Brad Lohaus added 18 points, while Fred Roberts had 17 and Jim Paxson 12.

Elsewhere, the LA Lakers trounced Golden State 136-100. Dallas dumped San Antonio 119-109, Detroit bested Philadelphia 128-118, Houston beat Phoenix 127-119 and Seattle downed the Los Angeles Clippers 109-100.

Lakers 136, Warriers 100 At Inglewood, Calif., reserve

Tony Campbell scored a career-high 28 points and Byron Scott added 20, helping the Lakers close the regular season with a 136-100 rout of the Warrans. The Lakers, the first team in NBA history to win 60 or more games four consecutive seasons, finished with a 62-20 mark.

Mavericks 119, Spars 109 At San Antonio, Roy Tarpley came off the bench to score 27 points and lead the Mavericks over the Spurs in the regularseason finale for both teams. Also in double figures for Dallas were Mark Aguirre with 25 points, Derek Harper with 21. Sam Perkins with 14, Brad Davis with 11 and Rolando Blackman with 10.

Pietone 128, 76ers 118

At Pontiac, Islan Thomas scored 25 points and Joe Dumars added 24 to lead the Pistons to a victory over the 76ers. Vinnie Johnson came off the bench to add 20 for the Pistons. Philadelphia's Charles Barkley led all scorers with 36 points.

Rockets 127, Suns 119

At Houston, Akeem Olajuwon scored 26 points and grabbed 18 rebounds and Eric "Sleepy" Floyd added 19 points to lead the Rockets and snap a threegame losing streak. Five other Rockets scored in double figures.

Bonies 100, Clippers 100 At Los Angeles, Michael Cage of the Clippers grabbed a career-high 30 rebounds to win the NBA rebounding title, but the SuperSonies used 20 points each from Tom Chambers and Russ Schoene to win the game, Cage needed 28 rebounds to tle Charles Oakley of Chicago for the title.

Jones wins LPGA event

ST. PETERSBURG (UPI) -Rosie Jones forced a playoff by gambling on the final hole of the $225,000 LPGA St. Petersburg for the birdle and the victory. Golf Classic and won the tourney with similar guesswork in sudden death.

Jones, who earned the $33,750 winner's check, hit a high shot that cleared towering pine trees and cut the corner of the dogleg left fairway on the par-5, 443-yard finishing hole.

That left her with a 180-yard 4-wood to the green and she two-putted from 45 feet to tie Kathy Postlewait at the end of 72 holes of regulation play at 13-under-par 275. The 18th had been determined as the first hole of sudden death f needed so Jones and Postlewalt returned to the tecwhere Jones won the draw for honors. She hit her drive to almost the same spot and nailed the 4-wood to within 35 feet of the pin.

Postlewait played it convenlional, driving straight down the fairway, then hitting over water toward the green. But her secand shot found a fairway bunker just short of the the green and she blasted to within 45 feet. Putting first, she came up about five feet short on her birdle altempt and Jones two-putted

"If it works, do it," Jones said. "I played it exactly the same way. You have less yardage that way. I had a pretty good idea about the speed and the break (of the putt)."

"It's a little disappointing, but I played well," Postlewait said. 'I lipped out the putt on 18 from about 6 feet. I made a good putt, but it just spun around the hole."

"I thought it was in." Jones said, "My knees were weak."

Postlewalt said she never considered trying to cut the dogleg on her drive on the playoff hole because she cannot get the ball high enough to clear the trees. "I"ve played here a lot of

way. Beck said he now wants "to keep pushing toward the caliber of play that will win tournaments and majors."

Beck just missed tying the tour record of 27-under-par set by Mike Souchak at the 1955 Texas Open. "I knew if I birdled the last three I could get it. I almost did it." he said. Beck, who began the day three shots ahead of second-round leader Wadkins, quickly doubled that margin with birdles at the par-3 fourth, par-4 fifth and 540-yard, par-5 sixth holes. Wadkins, who parred each of those holes, birdied the 165-yard eighth and trailed his playing partner by five strokes at the turn. "They're (birdies) real important to get early, especially on the front," Beck said. "The back side is a good test of golf."

Wadkins, winner of the 1988 Hawailan Open, bogted the 420-yard 10th and Beck carded his fifth birdle of the day at the 580-yard, par-5 11th to go up by seven shots. Wadkins birdied 13, 14 and 15 to cut the lead to five, but Beck followed with birdies at 16 and 17 to restore the 7-shot advantage.

Wadkins, who was 13th on the tour's money list with $281,608 coming into the USF&G, shot a 68 to finish 19-under and earned $81,000 for his second-place showing at Lakewood, where he won the 1970 Southern Ama-

The revolving door in our prison system due to overcrowded prisons is one of the things that hurts drug-law enforcement the most," he said. 'We have to re-examine what we send people to prison for, and make use of innovative methods of punishment such as house arrest with electronic surveillance."

He also said the federal government should work with states in relaxing jail and prison regulations "to free up more space in our existing facilities."

Moving on to another of Florida's perennial problems. Brantley said. "The Legislature has worked for many years to solve the state's transportation problems and has found solutions don't come easy."

To meet this cost through a gasoline tax would require increasing the state gasoline tax by 50 cents a gallon." he said. "There aren't many legislators willing to raise gas taxes this much, so we have to look for other ways to finance our transportation needs."

He put in a plug for Gov. Bob Martinez' proposal to use part of lottery proceeds to back bonds for the construction and repair of bridges, and for purchase of right-of-way for road projects. The proposal has been criticized by educators and House Democrats, who claim it would take lottery money way from education funding.

"The issue is not children versus roads, as House leaders say," Brantley said, adding "It is fronte that the House budget for education at the time Gov. Martinez made this proposal included the same amount as

The infrastructure fund was set up to help fund transportation and other public works projects.

"What the argument over bonding is leading to is an increase in the state gasoline tax." Brantley predicted. "It won't come this year-people are just not in the mood for more taxes this year-but it is down the road," he said.

Brantley said bonding is common at the local level for projects such as school construction and public works projects and could work just as well at the state level.

In answer to a question from Rep. Art Grindle, R-Altamonte. Springs, Brantley said he also supports giving local governments the authority to bond local option gasoline tax revenues for needed transportation is offering three summer academic programs for juntor high and high school students.

Stetson programs open to junior, senior high students this summer

The Stetson Academic Talent (SAT) program is for gifted students who will be in grades 8 through 14 this fall. The university's Pre-College Program is for gifted high school juntors and sentors, and the Summer Enrichment Program is for high school students at any level.

DELAND - Stetson University - through July 16, is an intensive study in one course of the student's choosing. This summer, students may elect to take mathematics. Russian, biology or writing. No college credit is earned by completing the course.

Classes of 10-15 students meet six hours daily Monday through Friday. Although the class work is the primary reason for the program, students will The SAT program, June 26 participate in recreational activities including cookouts, swimming and sports. Students are admitted on the basis of standardized test scores, classroom grades and teacher recommendations. A limited number of scholarships is available.

The Pre-College Program for academically talented high school juniors and sentors is June 12 through August 5. Students in this program select from among the regular summer session courses open to any Stetson student. Course credits that a student carns may be "banked" for future use at Stelson or for transfer to another college or university.

The Stetson Summer Enrichment Program, June 19 to August 5, is open to all high school students. This program is designed for any high school student even if they do not plan to attend college. They will study pre-college mathematics and Euglish, and participate in a college experience workshop and a reading a study skills workshop.

"prove your love." MRS. LIONEL J. CHAMBERS, NORTH OGDEN, UTAH Here's your letter: WHAT IS REAL LOVE?

Girls need to "prove their love" through illicit sex relations like a moose needs a hatrack. Why not "prove your love" by sticking your head in the oven and turning on the gas? And how about playing leapfrog in the traffic? It's about as safe.

Clear the cobwebs out of your head. Any fellow who asks you to "prove your love" is trying to majority? Today, more than take you for the biggest, most gullible fool who ever walked. That "proving" bit is one of the rottenest lines ever invented.

Does he love you? It doesn't sound like it. Someone who loves you wants whatever is best for you. But now figure it out. He wants you to: Commit an immoral act ... surrender your virtue ... throw away your self-respect . . . risk the loss of your precious reputation . . . and risk getting into trouble. Does that sound as though he wants what's best for you? That is the biggest laugh of the century. He wants what's best for him; he wants a thrill he can brag about at your expense. Love? Who's ktdding whom? A guy who loves a girl would sooner cut off his right arm than hurt her. In my opinion, this self-serving so and so has proved that he doesn't love you. The predictable aftermath of "proof" of this kind always finds Don Juan tiring of his sport. That's when he drops you, picks up his line and goes casting elsewhere. for bigger and equally foolish fish. If he loves you, let him prove his love—at the altar.

Hypertension may cause neck pain

DEAR DR. GOTT: There is a chronic pain in my neck and shoulders. Several times a day. the pain spreads and the back of my head becomes very sore and tender. These "attacks" are worse when I sit or lie down and when I have a bowel movement.

DEAR READER: I thought that you were suffering from common muscle- contraction pain. until I read the part about the bowel movements. Now I'm not

I think that you should check with a doctor to investigate the cause of your symptoms. Your neck and shoulder pain could be due to semething as ubiquitous as high blood pressure; straining during defecation can worsen the pain of hypertension when head and neck aches are caused by this treatable condition.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My daughter, 19, recently got married. She thinks she might be allergic to her husband's sperm is there such a condition? She itches terribly.

DEAR READER: Women can sometimes exhibit allergic reactions to their partner's semen. but your daughter's reaction is unusual. An allergy is less likely to cause itching than infertility because the woman's secretions inactivate the sperm if an allergy is present. I think that your daughter should see a gynecologist, because her symptoms are probably due to an infection or an allergy to some other component of her environment, such as birthcontrol devices.

DEAR DR. GOTT: exactly is a vegetarian? I've had people tell me they were vegetarians, but serve them fish or fowl and they gobble it right down. Others pig out on junk food but faint at the thought of eating eggs. Some of these folks sound pretty hypocritical to me.

DEAR READER: Vegetarians come in all doctrinary sizes and shapes. Some people choose to avoid meat, but cat dairy products, eggs and fish. Others eat no animal products at all. I think that the issue is not one of hypocrisy; it is, rather, a question of personal preference and ethical consistency.

Strict vegetarians will avoid any non-vegetable substance: most vegetarians are more flexible and will consume animal products, such as eggs, cheese and milk. In dealing with vegetarians, it is wise to determine the person's individual philosophy before making a blanket Judgment. (C)1988, NEWSPAPER EN-TERPRISE ASSN.
