WEATHER CONTINUES TO RIP COUNTRY

measured in minus quantities as south at Northwestern Tennessee, Northern Arkansas, Southern Alabama and the Texas Panhandle. Thermometer readings in the northern tier of states average 20 to 30 degrees below. In the east the temperature ranged from 26 degrees below zero in northern New York to 12 degrees above in the area continuous to New York city. Numerous fires were reported during the day from many points in the central section of the country, four persons losing their lives in one at Caddo, Okla., three in an Alton, Ill., blaze and one in Cleveland. Damage to the amount of $2,000,000 was wrought by a fire in Corinth, Miss., and a $200,000 loss was suffered in Canton, Ohio. In Chicago two cold and irate tenants, Leonard Olander and L. Jacobson, sought to remonstrate with their janitor in person. They are said to have backed up their demands with a revolver, but the janitor, James Alexander, negro, seized the weapon and shot the men. Neither was seriously wounded.

15 to 20 Per Cent Loss in California
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—The volume of loss to the Southern California citrus crop as a result of recent killing frosts, here by will amount to between 15 and 20 per cent, officials of the California Fruit Growers Exchange said, following a preliminary survey made public here. The crop damage, however, does not mean that the orange and lemon growers will suffer a 15 to 20 per cent financial loss it was said. Dana C. King, orange sales manager for the Fruit Growers Exchange, said that the low temperatures, which ranged in some instances as low as 22 degrees above zero, inflicted damage in virtually every section of the Southern California Citrus belt. Inasmuch as the price on citrus fruit is governed by the supply and other market conditions, Mr. King said no estimate of the financial loss the growers may suffer, could be made. In previous years, he said, growers have had 20 per cent crop losses.

The Titusville and Cocoa bands will play at the free barbecue to be given at Indian River City at 2 o'clock when the Chambers of Commerce of Cocoa and Titusville will be prepared to feed 4,000 people. The Orlando Fireworks Company will provide daylight fireworks at the noon ceremony at the bridge. There will include a great bomb to be discharged as the band plays the Star Spangled Banner. This bomb breaks in air and will release a great American flag to the breeze. This new road is distinctive in Florida cross-state roads, it is said, being the only hard surfaced cross-state road without a toll bridge, a toll road or a train transfer on which your car is placed and for which a charge is made. The road cost more than a million and a quarter dollars to construct and is said to be one of the best cross state-roads in Florida today. This cross-state connection between the east and west Dixie Highway into Florida makes Orlando, 38 miles from the East Coast. The public and especially the great company of winter visitors in the state are urged to attend the celebration and free barbecue on Dec. 31 and use the new road in their travels in the state.

Pension Money Of The United States Covers The Globe

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Government pension checks travel to the far corners of the earth, seeking out the more than 600,000 persons who have served the country in the wars that preceded the world war. Into every American state, territory, and possession and 48 foreign countries and dominions they went during the last fiscal year, bearing an aggregate value of $229,994,777. Pension checks issued during the last year were fewer by 14,217 than during the preceding year, going to 523,539 soldiers, widows, and dependents as compared to 539,756 in 1923. When the pension bureau closed its books June 30 it found an unexpended balance of more than $25,000,000 of its appropriation. This was turned back to the treasury. The steady shortening of the roll is reflected in the bureau's budget estimate for the new fiscal year which cuts approximately $25,000,000 from the total appropriated last year. Ohio retains its lead as the place of residence of the greatest number of pensioners with 48,792. Pennsylvania is second with 44,063; and New York third with 41,060. Only 332 pensioners reside in Nevada. There are 56 in Alaska, 617 in the Philippines, and but one in the Virgin Islands.

Canada, with 1,477 American pensioners within her borders, leads all foreign countries. England is next with 266, and Ireland third with 244. Germany is the residence of 229, and Australia 57. Among the countries sheltering but one are Algeria, Bulgaria, Jugoslavia, Seychelles Islands, and the Society Islands. There are two in Syria, four in Liberia, six in New Zealand, and seven in South Africa.

The total number of pensioners reached its peak in 1902, when 999,446 names were on the roll, and since that year the figure has declined steadily, with the exception of 1905, when the total rose to within 1,000 of the top.

The government, since the year 1790, has paid out $5,836,351,398.80 in pensions.

No statement was made as to division.

U. S. Enters To Extend Of Camera's

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—It is generally known that a manipulated camera can bring objects and aspects that defy detection by the naked eye. That the camera is being greatly extended by experimental work undertaken jointly by the department's section of aviation. Some of the results are covered military secrets, but it is more than possible that in the next few months the experimental work will be completed, protection of the military section of aviation. The camera's eye can give some unnamable power, piercing obscurity of that kind. Already, the experimental work in taking pictures of objects concealed by the water vapor which constitutes natural fog and cloud. It is like that the powers, barely eloped, can be carried a good deal further. Dr. G. Burgess, director of the bureau, believes the secret of the increased visibility for the camera—large in the photographic elements, which control the character of the sensitive plate and its development.

"Florida's Best Stunt"

Many of the commentaries invoked by the adoption of that constitutional amendment in Florida, providing against the imposition of income and inheritance taxes, showed some amusing traces of jealousy in the heart of good citizens of other states. Indeed some of the comments were rabid. The bid Florida has made so successfully for an influx of rich folks who have been paying the government bills of other states looked downright mean to numbers of newspapers reflecting public opinion in their communities.

But ever so often a newspaper in another state is honest enough to express an honest opinion, and we are given some appreciative opinions of Florida's clever system of enticing money, influence, and desirable citizens. One of these friendly editorials appeared recently in the News, published in Elizabethtown, Kentucky. That paper calls the adoption of the amendment, "Florida's Best Stunt", and so excellent is the handling of the subject, The Herald takes pleasure in passing the editorial on, in its entirety to the people of Florida. The Kentucky paper says:

Florida is the woodland of America. It has grown more rapidly in the last ten years than any state in the south and probably more than any state in the United States. It has advertised its climate and its oranges until hundreds of thousands of people go there for the winter and thousands have located there, both on account of the climate and the opportunities to make money. Recently, however, Florida pulled off the greatest advertising stunt of all its endeavors to attract people to the "Land of Sunshine and Flowers." An amendment was adopted to the state constitution which prohibits the levy of an income or an inheritance tax.

It has already started the greatest millionaire exodus for Florida ever known. It is almost equal to the exodus of the Israelites from Egypt. These millionaires, especially from New York, are going in droves to Florida to become citizens of that state and thus escape a large state income tax and an inheritance tax of fourteen per cent. They mean to live in Florida and do business in New York or elsewhere. They are buying great estates in Florida and building beautiful homes. They will save enough money in one year by escaping taxes in New York to build a Florida home. In a few years there will be more millionaires living in Florida than anywhere.

It was a great advertising scheme that Florida adopted by its constitutional amendment. It is working out just like it was planned and it won't be long before it will be impossible to turn a corner on any street in any town in Florida without running into a millionaire who has dodged high taxes by becoming a resident of that state.

That Fascinating Man-At-Work

A clever observation was made the other day by the Arkansas Democrat. It was to the effect that this nation "never will be really prosperous until the man at work ceases to draw a crowd of spectators on the street."

The Arkansas paper is assuming, of course, that the average spectator is not acquiring a lot of technical knowledge from his close study of the man at work. There are men who lean to lay bricks while they seem to be idly watching the bricklayer work. There are men who learn to mix cement, and even to spread the mixture just right for a smooth pavement. But the majority of spectators, as the Democrat infers, are killing time that ought to be used for quite as useful labor as they see on exhibition.

Even here in busy Sanford there are people who seem to have an amazing amount of spare time. They can stop and gaze and gaze at any piece of work. A laborer pushing a wheel-barrow can offer them entertainment for an hour at a stretch, while an automobile mechanic tinkering with a machine in a public place can draw a crowd any time in the day.

Some of this seeming interest in the man at work comes from lack of system in the lives of the spectators. So many people have no regularity in their habits. They go about in an aimless sort of way, believing apparently that manna still drops from heaven. They work as little as they can, and do not use even their plentiful leisure hours to any real advantage.

The next time you stop to look at the man at work, consider if watching that man at work is the most important and most useful thing you could be doing. If it is, by all means stand and watch him. If it is not, move on, Son, and get busy—get busy.

Do Not Anticipate Hostility

Don't suppose that people are hostile to you. You will rarely find anyone designedly doing you ill. You may feel often as if the whole world is obstructing you, more or less; but you will find that to be because the world is traveling in a different way from you and rushing on in its own path. Each man has only an extremely good will to himself—which he has a right to have—and is moving on toward his object. If you find many people who are hard and indifferent to you in a world that you consider to be inhospitable and cruel—as often, indeed, happens to a tender-hearted, stirring young creature—you will also find there are noble hearts who will look kindly on you, and their help will be precious to you beyond price. You will get good and evil as you go on, and have the success that has been appointed to you.—Thomas Carlyle.

Thought and existence are identical. I exist because I think, and think because I exist. As thou thinkest, so thou art. "Be ye transformed," says Paul, "by the renewing of your mind." From this established principle it surely follows that a change of thought changes and modifies our very existence.—Street.

LOVE AND DIVORCE

MIAMI HERALD

San Francisco has a judge who has a record of having granted a rather unusual number of divorces, but is even more noted for the number of divorce cases which have never come to trial in his court. He has become known as a reconciler, because he nearly always tries to reconcile the differences and bring about a restoration of better relationships between those who come to him seeking separation. Judge Graham, says that divorce rarely ends love. Most women, especially, he says, leave the divorce courts with heavy hearts. It is because of this that he always tries to prevent divorce. He goes on the theory that it is not a matter of love that leads couples to his court, but discontent that arises out of an inadequate expression of love. There is little doubt that many divorces are secured on the impulse

As Brisbane Sees It

A Good 1925. If We Looked Ahead. More Will Burn. Mr. President—Please. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1924)

MEN WITH money to spend, invest, speculate or gamble evidently believe that a good 1925 is coming. Just before the New Year men usually become conservative, hedge and "wait and see." But now the stock market dashes ahead, in spite of a 4 per cent charge for "call money," otherwise gambling money.

Some stocks are much too cheap. Others would break your neck, financially, if you should play with them. Invest, don't gamble.

THIRTY-FIVE children burned to death in a school in Oklahoma because the door opened inward. Thousands have been burned before for the same reason. Thousands will be burned hereafter. Millions will see this paragraph. Nine-tenths per cent of those responsible for other doors opening inward will say, "I must do something about that." They will forget it, and more people will be burned.

TO MAKE the dreadful disaster in Oklahoma complete, windows in the school were covered on the outside with heavy wire. When the glass was broken, it was impossible to escape, while the increased draft made the fire burn more rapidly. Men learn slowly, where danger to others is concerned.

YOUNG MR. Rhineland asks for an annulment, alleging that the young lady he married had colored blood. Ten thousand dollars, it is said, will be spent investigating the young lady's ancestry. Many Americans have bought fine ancestries ready made, with coat of arms and everything, for less than that.

AND ALL Americans would probably be seriously surprised if they could investigate their ancestry, with Darwin's help, all the way back. According to the latest scientific idea, instead of Adam, men, would find three different queer animals, one like a gorilla, one like an orang-outang, the third like a chimpanzee, ancestors, respectively, of the Ethiopian, Mongolian and White races.

AND WE should be just as much surprised if we could stare into the future and see our descendants of ten million years hence. They would make us shudder as much as would the sight of a chimpanzee ancestor, matching his wits against some tiger's big teeth. Our ancestor, all jaw and no forehead, would shock us less than our descendant, all forehead, no jaw. We're only 12,000 years from the stone age, 1,000,000 years from real civilization.

PRESIDENT Coolidge, you are working to give this nation the adequate air fleet and air defense that it needs, while others talk, and while army and navy apparently concentrate upon jealousy of each other.

It is respectfully suggested that you find out what, if anything, is being done about training air marksmen.

THE NAVY spends huge sums every year in marksmanship. Until recently that was necessary. Trained gunners on ships burn powder, fire real projectiles. An afternoon's practice costs a fortune.

Marksmanship from the air consists in dropping bombs accurately to kill. The power of gravitation takes the place of powder in aerial marksmanship and it doesn't cost anything.

CHEAP PROJECTILES of the size and weight of aerial bombs would cost little, not one per cent of what it would cost to use shells in big gun practice. Sand would do to supply the weight.

EUROPEAN news deals with the discovery that Germans had hidden "40,000 to 100,000 gun barrels" in Berlin. Anybody who imagines that Germany will NOT fight to get even at the first opportunity doesn't know much about human nature. Magnanimity, when the war closed, a little sincerity back of President Wilson's statement that we were fighting the German Kaiser and not the German people, might have postponed the next war.

THE MAIN hope for peace is NOT in human decency, but in the terrific danger of the latest fighting machinery. Two men facing each other, loaded gun in hand, might agree to throw their weapons overboard, knowing that both would be killed when the fight started. It is probable that if France and England went to war now, each country could within twenty-four hours destroy the important cities of the other country. That would not pay.

THE CART BEFORE THE HORSE

SECRET GERMAN WAR STORES

The discoveries of secreted German stocks of arms reported from both London and Paris are a natural sequel to the long interruption of the Allied Military Control Commission's activities. After Germany embarked on "passive resistance" to the Ruhr occupation the commission's task became exceedingly difficult. Great Britain did not sympathize with the occupation. Bitter hostility to the French and Belgians spread through the Reich. France was busy in the Ruhr enforcing reparations for the default on reparations. Supervision of the execution of the military disarmament sections of the Versailles Treaty went automatically by the board. This supervision was not resumed for many months. Germany, enjoying a free hand in that interval and envisaging for a time an actual break with the Allies, undoubtedly tried to get together military supplies greatly in excess of the treaty allowances, just as she feverishly trained excess forces through the use of thinly camouflaged non-military organizations. She has now available for military service many times the 100,000 men allotted to the regular army. She would think it foolish to drill and maintain these extra formations without supplying them with equipment and munitions. Some of the illicit stocks have been uncovered. It would be disregarding ordinary human nature not to believe that many such stocks remain to be unearthed. Germany has never submitted morally to disarmament; and if a great industrial nation like Germany does not wish to disarm it is a gigantic task to compel her to do so. It has not been practicable for the Entente, divided against itself on so many questions, to set up a thoroughly effective arms control agency inside the Reich. Had the Germans been less bold and open in their infractions of the treaty the Allies would probably now be cheerfully turning over an ungrateful task to the good will and possibly the much more limited capabilities of the League of Nations. After five years German disarmament is only partly completed and systematic payment of reparations has hardly begun. The treaty, however, makes Allied withdrawal from the Rhine bridge heads conditional on the fulfillment of Germany's obligations. Evacuation of the Cologne district, due provisionally on Jan. 10 next, has not been earned.

WILLIAM GREEN, NEW PRESIDENT

Whether he will lean to the conservative wing of the federation, so ably championed by Gompers, or show a radical tendency during the eleven months that lie ahead before another election, cannot of course be predicted by the records. That he was usually loyal to the Gompers regime, but recalcitrant in the matter of railway ownership, is the only suggestion that emerges at the beginning of the year. Green may be the man of the hour—the "one outstanding figure," as John L. Lewis believes him to be, "who can take upon himself the mantle of the revered Gompers and be assured of the co-operation and devotion of the great majority of the American Federation of Labor." Birmingham News.

THE SOUTH AND ITS PROGRESS

FROM the complete figures given in a recent special number of the Manufacturers Record are to be learned a lot of things that may be surprising to folks who as yet know too little about the South. Per instance— The South expended in 1922, $100,000,000 more on schools than the entire nation spent in 1907. Today the South has 1,200,000 automobiles than all the United States had in 1915. The South at present has two and a half times the amount invested in manufacturing than the whole country had in 1890. The value of the mineral products of the South is $383,000,000 more than the total value of the mineral products of the United States in 1900. The sulphur output of the South is eight times the production of the entire United States in 1910. The value of farm property in the South is one billion dollars more than the total for the country in 1900. The South produces 85 per cent of the total tobacco crop of the country and one-third the output of the whole world. The value of export from South in 1922 is only 12 per cent less than the total exports of the United States in 1910. More than 600 hotels are being built in the South this year, representing an outlay of $250,000,000. The figures of Florida's growth are even more impressive as given by this same publication. Florida's real property and improvements value increased 251 per cent since 1912. Its live stock 12 per cent, its farm implements and machinery 75 per cent, its manufacturing machinery 157 per cent, its railroad and equipment 23 per cent, its street railways and waterworks 113 per cent, and its stocks of merchandise 108 per cent. Truly there is no limit to the growth and development of the South and of Florida.

Germans Naming New Ship After Cities

BERLIN, Dec. 30.—Germany, building new steamships, has decided to name them after cities of the republic. In other days the names of royal personages were popular in this field and not a few vessels carried the appellations of famous authors. But old mariners reminded the shipbuilders that many steamers named after writers had come to untimely ends, and adherents of the republic are not interested in reminders of the monarchy.

DRY WEATHER TO BE HERE THROUGH 1925 IS BELIEF

British Weather Department Says Year Will Bring Driest Weather in Century; Unemployment Also Is Predicted

LONDON, Dec. 30.—The year 1925 will be the driest the universe has experienced this century, an official of the British Meteorological Department told The Associated Press in explaining a new discovery which departmental experts have made and which, it is declared, enables them to pick out the wet and dry years to come.

St. Switbin will have 12 months of large scale unemployment after Christmas, the department has emphatically predicted, and the drought to come will not only dry up these soggy islands, but extend to the rest of the world.

This statement was made after much study on the part of weather scientists and as the result of the discovery that a close connection exists between rainfall, particularly in Great Britain, and the frequency of solar prominences. The latter are explained to be the tongues of flaming gas that dart out from the sun's surface, sometimes to a height of 250,000 miles and at a speed of more than 150 miles an hour.

Experts have spent three years studying the relation of this phenomenon with the fall of rain and have learned that the interval between the dates when these giant fireworks are most active has grown progressively shorter during the last half century, while the periodicity of wet years in England has shown a corresponding change. The mathematical curves indicate a relationship that is too definite to be overlooked, say the department chiefs.

This relatively is nothing new. It was noticed about 1865 and for the next 25 years, every fifth year in England was wet, the other four being dry or normal. All this time the solar prominences were appearing regularly and normally. At the end of the 25 years the flames appeared oftener and continued to appear at regular periods for 20 years, when every third year was wet. From 1910 to 1921 the flames were more active and alternate years were wet and dry.

The droughty year of 1921 appears to have been the turning point, for now the department experts have figured out that for the next period of increased solar activity the years will be in cycles of three, two wet years and one dry one. The year 1925 is reckoned as the last year on the late period, therefore the years 1923 and 1924 have been the wet ones and 1925, if any faith can be placed in the consistency of the solar prominences of the sun, should be a dry one in England and a droughty one for the rest of the world.

American Pays One Penny Debt Made In Park 10 Years Ago

LONDON, Dec. 20.—Remittance of money long owed to various departments of the British government is not unusual, but M. W. Stanley, the chair king of London, who has placed thousands of chairs about the city's parks which he rents for two pence each, has received from America his first remittance money, a penny which an unknown American forgot to pay for the rent of a Hyde Park bench ten years ago. The penny and letter have been preserved in a special box in the park.

Mr. Stanley's business in the city is one of its kind in England, and was established by his father 10 years ago. Stanley now owns more than 150,000 chairs and employs a large force of men to go about collecting the twopenny rental. Receipt tickets are given, and the occupant may retain the chair the entire day for his two pence.

Approximately 2,000,000 loads of lumber of all kinds is used in the United States in a single year.

AMERICA IN 1924 LEAD THE WORLD IN SPORT EVENTS

Overwhelming Triumphs Are Scored Until Olympic Games Bring Setbacks; American At Top in 12 of 14 Sports

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—America's athletic forces swept overwhelmingly to triumph on fields of international rivalry throughout 1924, but in the Olympic Games at Paris, the chief event of the year, Uncle Sam's time-honored prestige sustained several distinct and stunning setbacks.

As the year's march of events reviewed, however, the memory of reverses encountered by the wearers of the Stars and Stripes on the track at Colombes cannot altogether be erased even by the weeping victories in seven other major Olympic competitions and the stirring triumphs scored otherwise in golf, tennis, polo, horse racing and boxing. A summary of more important fields of 1924 competition shows America at the top in 12 out of 14.

With the acid of its forces, the United States carried off all Olympic point honors of importance at the first time since 1908, the American colors were lowered at the coveted 100-metre championship, when the Cambridge student, Harold Abrahams, beat four Americans' best sprinters, while the distance runners fared disastrously in the events from 1,500 metres up where the Finns led in marvelous Paavo Nurmi, swept the field.

America's eclipse on the Olympic track was almost complete, for the individual events her only glory was scored by Jackson Hobbs, who captured the 200-metre dash. Altogether it was the most disappointing track show of this country has ever made in the Olympics where the credit of America's ultimate victory went to a brilliant array of record-breaking field performers, among whom Bud Houser and Harold Osborn starred with two victories apiece.

With the athletes of 44 nations assembled at Paris, the 1924 Olympics took rank as the greatest emotional tests ever held and in a final analysis the United States not only carried off the highest net honors in track and field, captured impressive team triumphs in rowing, where her remarkable crew continued unbeaten cruise; swimming, where Johnny Weissmuller established his claims to greatness; mis, where America made a sweep of five championships; ring, wrestling, shooting and equestrian sports.

Following the Olympics, the international battleground shifted to a country and the United States plotted the busiest campaign sports annals with spectacular triumphs over Great Britain, France, Argentina and Australia in tennis, golf, boxing and horse racing.

Although America's polioists bow to Argentina in the Olympic title, the new Yankee "Big Four" established its supremacy by overwhelming Britain's challengers in the International Cup series at Meadow Brook, one of the most luscious spectacles of the season, the tennis supremacy asserted emphatically by Helen Wills and her partner Billie Jean King, and Richard's in the Olympics more firmly entrenched when United States, conquering Australia in the challenge round, won the Davis Cup for the fifth time in eight years, and William T. Tilden captured the national all-conquering for the fifth consecutive time by dominating the great international field that ever existed this prize.

The United States also jolted ancient rival, Britain, in golf, where Hagen won the British crown for the second time in six years, while American amateur supremacy defended Walker Cup, emblem of team supremacy, in the series with Brit players here. John G. Anderson lifted further international title when he won the French title.

The sport of kings also saw America triumphant for the second year when Epinard, who thoroughly failed in gallattempts to outrun American hughbreds in three special

Walter Camp Neglects Big Three In Selecting All-American Team First Time In Thirty-Five Years

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The 1924 All-American football eleven picked by Walter Camp, dean of gridiron authorities, is notably chiefly for the selection of no more than one star from any eleven in the country and its failure to place on the first team any representative of the "big three"—Harvard, Yale and Princeton.

The East's famous Trivium, ancient strongholds of the game, is ignored on the first team for the first time in the 35 years. Camp's selection: have been made and regarded annually as the barometer by which all other mythical combinations are judged. It marks, also, a climax in the widespread development of playing standards since 1880 and 1890, when Camp picked his first two All-American teams entirely from squads of the "big three."

Harvard is not represented at all in Camp's selections for the first time, the Crimson falling to place a man on either the second or third teams which he also picks.

Previously Harvard had failed only in the war year of 1918 to have an entry on the first eleven, Yale, although it finished its second straight season without defeat and captured the "big three" crown once more, is recognized only on the second team, with Captain Lovejoy at center and Ducky Pond in the backfield. Princeton is on even terms in this respect, the Tigers having Beattie at guard and Slagle at quarterback on the second string combination.

The East has six representatives, the Middle West four and the far West one on the first team. Among the 33 stars included in the three combinations, the East leads with 16, the Middle West has 10, the far West six and the South one, the Southern being "Ilek" Wakefield of Vanderbilt who was the main factor in the defeat of Georgia Tech by the Tennesseeans.

Three players are recognized on the first for the second time. They are Harold (Red) Grange, famous Illinois back and outstanding individual star of the year; Ed Garblach, Army center, who returns to the post he held in 1922, and Homer Hazel, Rutgers, who was picked as an end in 1923 and fullback this season.

Sports World Saw Many Deaths Come During Last Year

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The world of sport lost many of its outstanding figures during 1924. Baseball mourned the death of two of the diamond's greatest leaders in Frank Chance, former "Peerless Leader" of the Chicago Cubs, and Pat Moran, who piloted Philadelphia and Cincinnati League clubs to pennants. The Red Sox forced a second loss when Jake Daubert, veteran first baseman died.

Football lost one of its most conspicuous directing figures when Percy D. Haughton, creator of the famous "Harvard System," died while making rapid progress in putting Columbia in the front of gridiron ranks.

Edward E. "Pop" Geers, "grand old man" of harness racing, died literally in harness when he met death in an accident after a remarkable driving career over a half century.

Auto racing took an unusually heavy toll, 15 fatalities marking the season. The most prominent were Jimmy Murphy, winner of most of the world's speed classics, Dario Resta, famous Italian driver and former winner of the 500-mile Indianapolis race.

Frank Jerome, leading contender for the bantamweight boxing title, died in a hospital from the effects of a blow sustained in a fight at Madison Square Garden with Bud Taylor.

Walter Camp Neglects Big Three In Selecting All-American Team First Time In Thirty-Five Years

Six captains are included in the first team. Besides Horrell and Garblach, they are Bjorkman of Dartmouth and Berry of Lafayette, and E. Weir, of Nebraska; tackle, and Walter Koppisch, three times Columbia leader and backfield star, the first Columbia player to gain a place on the first team since 1903.

Camp's choices vary radically with the opinions of numerous other gridiron critics whose all-star selections already have been published.

Notre Dame, despite its recognition as the country's outstanding eleven, fares poorly in the selection. Harry Stuhldreher, field marshal of the famous "Four Horsemen," as the Notre Dame backfield is known, is the only Hoosier on the first team. One of his running mates, Jimmy Crowley, is on the second outfit, while Adam Walsh, captain and widely selected as first All-American center by others, is on the third combination. Elmer Layden, Notre Dame fullback and also chosen for first honors in other quarters is not mentioned.

The lineups of the three teams selected by Camp and published in Collier's follow:

First eleven—End, Bjorkman, Dartmouth; tackle, McGinley, Pennsylvania; guard, Slaughter, Michigan; center, Garblach, West Point; guard, Horrell, California; tackle, E. Weir, Nebraska; end, Berry, Lafayette; quarterback, Stuhldreher, Notre Dame; halfback, Grange, Illinois; halfback, Koppisch, Columbia; fullback, Hazal, Rutgers.

Second eleven—End, Wakefield, Vanderbilt; tackle, Beattie, Princeton; guard, Abramsan, Minnesota; center, Lovejoy, Yale; guard, Pond, Chicago; tackle, Waldorf, Syracuse; end, Lawson, Stanford; quarterback, Slagle, Princeton; halfback, Pond, Yale; halfback, Wilson, University of Washington; fullback, Crowley, Notre Dame.

Third eleven—End, Mahoney, Holy Cross; tackle, Wiesinger, Pittsburgh; guard, Fleckenstein, Iowa; center, Walsh, Notre Dame; guard, Mahan, West Virginia; tackle, Gowdy, Chicago; end, Frazer, West Point; quarterback, Stivers, Idaho; halfback, Imley, California; halfback, Keefer, Brown; fullback, Strader, St. Mary's (Calif.).

SIX UNDEFEATED GRID TEAMS WILL MEET THURSDAY

Rockne's Notre Dame Eleven Clashes With Glen Warner's Unbeaten Stanford Outfit; Penn Meets California Uni.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—Six undefeated football teams will clash in three inter-sectional games in the Far West on New Year's Day.

At Pasadena, California, Knute Rockne's "Four Horsemen" and other trained performers from Notre Dame will close a spectacular season of undiluted victory by meeting Glenn Warner's unbeaten Stanford eleven. At Berkeley, Andy Smith University of California "Bears" undefeated in five years, will face Lou Young's University of Pennsylvania team one of the unconquered in five years.

Over at Honolulu, the University of Colorado, champions of the Rocky Mountain conference, will meet the gridiron with the strong University of Hawaii eleven.

While Notre Dame is odds-on favorite in the wagering, according to all reports, most observers look for a close game. Stanford supporters, though not optimistic hope for the trickiness of Rockne and the "Horsemen" may be upset by the power of the Cardinal defense and that Warner may pry open a few strategies of his own.

California and Pennsylvania are considered more evenly matched, and betting is reported hesitant.

There is little basis of comparison for the Honolulu game. Colorado has won the Rocky Mountain title for two seasons. Hawaii has cleaned up everything in sight this year.

Already two East-West games have been played in Los Angeles this month, and the West, represented by the University of Southern California, took them both. Syracuse and Missouri were the victims.

1924 ON RECORD BRILLIANT YEAR IN SPORT HISTORY

Year Is Considered Greatest On Account Records Shattered. Many Nations Are Brought Into Competition.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Sportdom has closed its greatest year. Over a twelvemonth that has brought the farthest ends of the world into competition, the remarkable growth of athletics in the past few years reached its most notable heights in 1924 with a kaleidoscopic array of colorful events, record-shattering performances and new bounds of popular interest.

From a universal viewpoint the Olympic games at Paris, where America again demonstrated her athletic supremacy in tests with more than two score rival nations, overshadowed all else, while on this country's own fields of competition the sensational triumph of the Washington Senators in the world's baseball championship provided the most stirring spectacle of a picturesque carnival of sport.

The United States was all-conquering on the Olympic fields of competition, capturing championships in eight major branches of rivalry, although the chief track glory went to a little band of Finns, led by the marvelous Paavo Nurmi and debatable Willie Ritola, who cleaned up at all distances from 1,500 meters to the marathon.

Nurmi's feat in winning four Olympic races was the high-spot of individual achievement over the year, although other great performances that held the spotlight were Walter Hagen's brilliant golf victories here and abroad, the spectacular triumphs of Yale's unbeaten crew on home and foreign waters, Walter Johnson's great pitching come-back in the final game of

Designers Twin Bed 300 Years for Styles
 LONDON, Dec. 30.—"Pikeman's pot" styles in women's hats, designed after the steel helmets of the 17th century pikemen, represented in the collection of arms and armor of the Tower of London, are the latest sensation in fashionable London millinery.
 For some designs that would, by their novelty of appeal, lure women away from the popular cloche fashion. Earlier a successful rival had been found in the square-crowned hat, but this was voted down by fastidious clients.
 Now the 17th century helmet is being used as a model for the mid-winter hat. The feather-weight felt of the season—steel gray is the favorite color choice for realistic effect—is blacked to the 17th century outline and a tuft of feathers gives the feminine touch.
 The authorities in charge of several big hospitals in England have decided to lift the ban against women nurses smoking cigarettes while on duty, having concluded that it was impossible to enforce the rule prohibiting the practice.

SULPHUR CLEARS SKIN RIGHT UP
 Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruption such as rash, pimples and ring worm.
 It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.
