

Nikita Wanted To Good China, Harriman Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet Union is signing the nuclear test ban treaty in Moscow today in self-interest rather than love for the United States, Great Britain and France, Secretary of State Averell Harriman contends.

Harriman denied Sunday the treaty was a Russian trick which might endanger U. S. national security. Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev agreed to the pact, the under secretary of state said, because he recognizes the danger of nuclear war to his own country.

At the same time, Harriman said the Russian leader "wants to put the Chinese Communists on the spot." Khrushchev would like all nations to agree to the pact. "We have world opinion scorn Red China for opposing the ban on all nuclear tests except those underground," he said.

Asked on a television program if the Russians were likely to break the agreement because of their past record such as the Malta treaty, Harriman said he doubted they would because present day affairs were different. Part of the trouble at that time was the misunderstanding as to what the words of the agreement meant, he said.

Harriman said it would be wrong to conclude that because Khrushchev was worried about the split between Russia and Red China, the Russian leader might agree to a mutual alliance between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The two Communist countries both share the goal of socializing the world and "both of them want to bury us," Harriman said, "but they want to bury us in a different way."

Harriman's belief that the test ban treaty was agreed to in the self interest of Russia was supported by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge during an interview on another television program. Lodge, ambassador-designate to South Viet Nam, said Khrushchev signed the treaty for three reasons:

—Russia's "changing relationship with Communist China."

—Khrushchev really appreciates the dangers of nuclear war.

—Khrushchev "wants to reduce his military expenditures wherever he can because he wants to give the Russian people a better standard of living."

Integration To Make Deeper Inroads On South

United Press International Public school desegregation will make its deepest inroads into the rural South this fall.

W. D. Strome Dies Saturday

Mr. William Dustin Strome, 66, of Fern Park, died Saturday at Orange Memorial Hospital in Orlando following a short illness.

A member of the Prairie Lake Baptist Church, Mr. Strome came to Fern Park from Indianapolis, Ind., in 1945.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Daisy L. Strome of Fern Park; two brothers, Murrel Strome of Indianapolis and Theodore Strome of San Diego, Calif. and two sisters, Mrs. Fannie Smith of Jacksonville, Ind. and Mrs. Margaret Clark of Indianapolis.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Prairie Lake Baptist Church with Rev. Leonard Jones officiating. Burial will be in Glenhaven Memorial Park.

Grankow Funeral Home of Sanford is in charge of arrangements.

There will be integrated classes in counties with well over 50 percent Negro population.

Despite the move out of the big urban metropolitan centers, there is no present indication of impending rural racial troubles except possibly at one spot, Powatan County, Va. There is talk around Powatan, its county seat, of closing public schools and embarking on a system of private education.

Among the rural counties participating in the racial transition in schools, Charles City County, Va., is one that leaves many wondering whether it is worth all the trouble.

The little county lies just 30 miles east of Richmond and has a population of more than 4,000 Negroes with fewer than 1,000 white residents.

The county has two Negro schools that put the one white school to shame. Negroes have attended good schools simply because they got more money for education on the basis of a population head count.

The white school, known simply as the Charles City School, has one wing for high school and one for elementary pupils.

Last winter a window was broken in the third grade room and it never was repaired. There was money only to buy uniforms for eight of the 13 players on the football team.

The Negro family of Richard Bowman has now applied for transfer from the comparatively palatial Negro school to the rundown white school. The six Bowman children have been accepted for fall admission.

"We are entering the children just for the principle involved," a member of the Bowman family said.

Italian Town Jolted By 3 Terrorist Bombs

BOLZANO, Italy (UPI) — Three terrorist explosions jolted this city before dawn today, destroying a customs house and causing heavy damage to the building under construction.

There were no reports of injuries.

The blasts were the latest in a series of tensions raising incidents in the Alto Adige South Tyrol where the German speaking population of the northern province want more autonomy.

The blasts followed three other explosions in the Alto Adige Sunday that injured two persons, heavily damaged a police barracks and toppled electric power line poles.

A Washington (D. C.) dispatch today announced that VAH-7 was one of 30 units selected for the Chief of Naval Operations Aviation Safety Award for fiscal 1963.

Seminole Plaza Formally Opened By Mayor Heath

Major Fred Heath, of Casseberry, scissors in hand, today snipped the ribbon signaling the grand opening of McCrory-Otasco Store and Public Food Stores and the official opening of the new Eckerd's Drugstore in the Seminole Plaza Shopping Center at SH 436 and Hwy. 1792.

A huge crowd of shoppers, onlookers and well-wishers surged into the new department store and filled the aisles in all the shopping center establishments minutes after the opening ceremonies at 9 a.m.

R. G. Allen, manager of the McCrory-Otasco Store, expressed his pleasure and that of his associates at being in this new location and particularly noted the warm welcome they have received from area officials and residents.

Major Heath welcomed the shopping center officials, store managers and company officials present for the opening and his welcome was echoed by Mrs. H. T. Clifton, president of the South Seminole Garden Club; Miss Emily Evans, president of the Woman's Club of Casseberry; and Mrs. H. B. Johnson, president of the VFW Auxiliary.

McCrory-Otasco will be open until 9 p. m. tonight and every night except Sundays which will be 12 to 7 p. m.

Eckerd's also will be open for business and public which has been open for the past two years, will continue their same store hours.

Expected to open soon at the shopping center, are a Cinema Theater, a Trade Winds Cafeteria and numerous other smaller shops, services and establishments.

The award will be presented by Rear Adm. Robert Goldthwaite, commander of Fleet Air Jacksonville, upon the squadron's return from its operations around the Pacific Fleet at the Whidbey Island (Wash.) Naval Air Station.

It was VAH-7's first full year of operations with the much two A-5A Vigilante attack bomber. VAH-7 was the first squadron in either fleet to operate and deploy with the Vigilante.

The award will be presented by Rear Adm. Robert Goldthwaite, commander of Fleet Air Jacksonville, upon the squadron's return from its operations around the Pacific Fleet at the Whidbey Island (Wash.) Naval Air Station.

In informing VAH-7 Commanding Officer, Cdr. Leroy A. Heath and other winning executives of their success, a Chief of Naval Operations dispatch said, "It is a distinct pleasure to congratulate the winners and commend the many other outstanding units for their contributions to the Navy's aviation safety and accident prevention program."

The results were especially gratifying to local Heavy Attack Wing One officials, who have been the important prize winners in the hands of Pacific Fleet squadrons for the past three years.

Capt. James O. Mayo, Wing commander, told VAH-7 by message, "After flying accident-free in Fiscal Year 60, 61, and 62, it is a pleasure to see preservation in Aviation Safety rewarded by your winning the CNO Aviation Safety Award for 1962."

"To you and to your officers and men, congratulations and a hearty well done."

The squadron will receive as permanent reminders of their achievement the original citation signed by Admiral David L. McDonald, Chief of Naval Operations, and a large bronze plaque.

DANIEL B. MITCHELL (left), chief aviation electrician's mate, and Ignatius A. Signorelli, aviation ordnanceman 1st class, both of Heavy Attack Squadron 11 "Checkertails," have won commissions as ensigns as of next November. The soon-to-be officers were notified by the Bureau of Naval Personnel. Mitchell and his wife, Janice Ann, have three daughters, Jean Marie, Alice Elaine and Nancy Ellen. Signorelli and his wife, Linda, have two children, Frank John and Lisa Ann. All reside in Sanford.

Three Women Hurt In Park Avenue Crash

Three New Smyrna Beach women were slightly injured today at 5:30 p. m. Monday when their automobile struck a palm tree at Park Avenue and 13th Street, according to police.

Treated at Seminole Memorial Hospital were the driver, Frances DePae; Evelyn Statlin and Louise Riber.

Four-year-old Martha McDonald, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. Thomas McDonald, injured Monday, was reported in "fine condition at home" today. The girl, according to the police accident report, broke from her mother and ran between two parked cars and into the side of a stopped car, Thomas Lawson, Sanford, spotted the little girl in time to stop when she ran into his car, police said.

Trooper Tommy Tomlinson reported today that one man was injured in a head-on collision Monday on Highway 431 at Mobile Manor, Charlie Johnson, 43, Orlando, suffered head injuries and was taken to Florida Sanitarium. The officer said Robert Johnson, 25-year-old Negro minister of Apopka, was on the wrong side of the road and struck a car driven by Willie B. Yates, 40, of Ormond Beach. Johnson was riding with Yates.

Rusk was expected to discuss Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's five-point "peace package" in the exploratory talks.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home, who joined Rusk and Gromyko in expressing the hope that the partial test ban was "only a beginning," also was taking part in the talks.

The world's leaders and newspapers hailed the agreement as the start of a new era in cold war relationships, but diplomats here warned against undue optimism over the prospects of today's talks.

They said that if the Soviets were genuinely interested in reaching a settlement, then the Rusk-Home-Gromyko meetings this week could mark the turning of a corner in the cold war.

But they also cautioned that the "spirit of Moscow" the Soviets have been building up could be as short-lived as the "spirit of Camp David," which followed the Khrushchev-Eisenhower talks in 1959.

Invader Band Pushes Toward Haitian Port

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (UPI) — A small invasion force of Haitian exiles who apparently crossed the border from the Dominican Republic advanced today on the northern Haitian port of Port Liberté, informed sources said here.

There were no immediate reports of fighting and no government comment.

In Santo Domingo, capital of the Dominican Republic which shares the island of Hispaniola with Haiti, rebel spokesman Paul Verna claimed the towns of Fort Liberté, Derso, Trou and Limonade had been captured and a well-armed 500-man force was advancing on Cap-Haitien on the north coast, Haiti's second largest city.

Verna identified himself as a Haitian diplomat and coordinator for the exile Democratic National Union (DNU), which claims credit for the invasion. He said the invaders landed at Fort Liberté early Monday morning from an island somewhere in the Caribbean. He said another landing would take place during the night.

The DNU spokesman said the rebels were led by Gen. Leon Chouteau, former Haitian army chief of staff. He said they planned to take Cap-Haitien, which is 23 miles west of Fort Liberté, and would then march 85 miles south to Port au Prince in their campaign to overthrow the autocratic regime of President Francois Duvalier.

He said the invasion encountered "little resistance" in the first hours.

Mrs. Fields and Mrs. Rawlings were asleep at the time.

Talks Resumed For Further World Accord

MOSCOW (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk today began talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to see if agreement on a nuclear test ban can be followed by other cold war settlements.

Rusk was expected to discuss Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's five-point "peace package" in the exploratory talks.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home, who joined Rusk and Gromyko in expressing the hope that the partial test ban was "only a beginning," also was taking part in the talks.

The world's leaders and newspapers hailed the agreement as the start of a new era in cold war relationships, but diplomats here warned against undue optimism over the prospects of today's talks.

They said that if the Soviets were genuinely interested in reaching a settlement, then the Rusk-Home-Gromyko meetings this week could mark the turning of a corner in the cold war.

But they also cautioned that the "spirit of Moscow" the Soviets have been building up could be as short-lived as the "spirit of Camp David," which followed the Khrushchev-Eisenhower talks in 1959.

Budget Plan Could Cut It To $4,862

Seminole County Commissioners must decide between a budgetary figure of $4,862 annually or a fee basis figure of $7,000 and $14,000 to provide expenses for a public defender to represent indigent persons charged with felonies. It was learned today following a court decision at Daytona Beach.

W. D. Frederick Jr., Orlando, public defender for this judicial district, said this morning that he had reduced his initial request for a budget of $6,500 to $4,862 for Seminole County to provide funds for his office to operate here.

The decision at Daytona Beach was that counties are not obligated to pay the office expense of a public defender. However, Frederick stated that "I am perfectly willing to let them (Seminole Commissioners) to go on a fee basis. I haven't read the decision but, to me, the law says the county must provide money, especially for an assistant county defender. On a fee basis, it will cost the county between $7,000 and $14,000."

James P. Avery Jr., vice chairman of the Commission, said that "personally I think the decision of the court is wise and just and certainly in tradition with our system of checks and balances in our democratic form of government. My personal viewpoint is that I cannot conceive of appropriating an amount of money for an individual budget, the individual not being elected, with this money to be used with no supervision by the Board of County Commissioners."

"The need for a public defender is no longer debatable since the Supreme Court decision but the burden of support for the public defender and supervision thereof should have been set forth in great detail by the Legislature. This they failed miserably to do."

City Utilities For Outside Areas Approved
A policy tentatively accepted by City Commissioners in informal meeting Monday evening will provide city utility services outside the city limits. The matter was referred to City Manager W. E. Knowles for drafting.

Commissioners decided that commercial and residential areas desiring of city services definitely must be annexed to the city. Service for industrial areas would be provided at the developer's expense.

It was further decided that a surcharge will be increased from 30 to 40 per cent. Presently, city utility users outside the city pay a 30 per cent surcharge over and above the rates paid by city residents.

Discussion also was held on providing water at wholesale rates to residential areas now having their own water supply. This latter service, however, would not be available until the city's new water expansion program is completed.

Knowles said today construction plans are being completed for the water expansion. It will increase the daily supply from 3.4 million gallons to 12 million gallons, more than ample to provide all areas surrounding the city," Knowles stated.

Church Breaks Ground Sunday
A groundbreaking service for the new Presbyterian Church of the Covenant will be held at the site on South Orlando Drive Sunday at 3:30 p. m. The contract has been let for the construction of a sanctuary, eight classrooms, and rest rooms, all to be of a de-mountable nature.

The building will be on trailer beds and rolled from the assembly point to the site in sections and there put together in an attractive unit. The exterior will be of aluminum with a baked on enamel finish. While it is similar to the Trinity Presbyterian Church at Satellite Beach in appearance, the basic plans are almost entirely new and represent a new concept in church architecture.

When the church has outgrown the first unit and has built a permanent building to the rear, the de-mountable chapel can be moved to another site. Chairman of the Building Committee is Walter L. Bolamont. The Church of the Covenant is presently meeting in Finestest School at 9:00 a. m. The minister is the Rev. Thomas H. Makin.

LIVE OAK (UPI) — Stauwace County Sheriff Hugh Lewis, 54, died Monday near Crystal River of a heart attack.

Many Areas To Ignore Supreme Court Ruling Prayer And Bible Reading To Continue In Schools

By Louis Cassels (United Press International)
WASHINGTON — Prayer and Bible reading will continue this fall in many U. S. public schools despite the Supreme Court's ruling that such religious exercises are unconstitutional.

A nationwide UPI check showed today that the court's June 17 ruling is being openly defied in some areas.

Elsewhere, it is being circumvented by "interpretations" which seem to ignore the plain language of the ruling.

Only a few states which previously had religious exercises in their schools have issued explicit orders for their discontinuance. Many said they are still "studying" the matter. Some were unaffected because the ruling concerned their existing laws or policies.

The survey turned up only two states—Pennsylvania and California—which appear to be acting on the court's suggestion that it is perfectly all right for public schools to engage in "objective" study of the Bible and America's religious heritage.

Defiance of the ruling has been especially forthright in Southern states, where no politician stands to lose many votes by attacking the Supreme Court and defending the Bible.

The Florida legislature passed, with only one dissenting vote, a bill which allows each county school board to decide what it will do about religion in public schools. The sponsor of the bill pointed out that since Florida has 67 counties, it would take 67 different court suits to eliminate religious practices from the state's schools.

In Alabama, the State Board of Education defied the Supreme Court Monday and made Bible reading part of the required curriculum of public schools. Gov. George Wallace said if the courts rule out the practice in a specific Alabama school "I'm going to that school and read it myself."

"I would like for the people of Alabama to be in defiance" of the high court ruling, he said.

Alabama law already required daily Bible reading in all state-supported schools and the resolution went a step further in making it part of the course of study.

South Carolina's superintendent of education, Jesso Anderson, has publicly notified teachers of his state that they may "feel free" to continue classroom religious exercises.

Lake Mary postoffice box holders soon may get relief from the late opening and early closing of the facility because of the vandalism early last month. Postal Inspector W. R. Richey at that time ordered Acting Postmaster Clarence (Cracker) Donaldson to curtail availability. There are some 425 boxes serving nearly 2,000 families. County Commissioner James P. Avery Jr. said today he and Richey will confer Monday on relieving the restrictions in getting to the boxes. And Sheriff J. L. Hobby hinted there soon may be a break in solving the vandalism.

Complaints came this morning from many water users on the west side of the city about low water pressure. City Manager Pete Knowles explained repairs were being made on three fire hydrants long in need of attention.

Proposed airport site and new industry will be discussed when the Chamber of Commerce directors meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the First Federal caucus room.

Although the South won 19-6 in that North-South All-Star football game at Gainesville last Saturday, Sanford's Butch Riser won the outstanding player award for the North. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Riser, of 2400 Summerlin.

A note on the spider: Gen. J. C. Hutchinson telephoned to say County Commissioners will meet at 9 Wednesday morning to further discuss the county budget, Mary.

Thirtieth annual Citrus Growers Institute is slated for Aug. 19-23 at Camp McQuarrie in the Ocala National Forest. Ernie Lumborg, assistant Seminole County agent, will preside at the morning session of Aug. 22.

Doesn't it seem strange that Uncle Sam cannot afford a telephone for his postoffice at Lake Mary? R. E. Porter today had to phone a nearby grocery to get Postmaster Cracker Donaldson.

The safety of Lake Mary motorists will be much improved if the county and state would get together and fill those foot-deep holes along Country Club Rd. (S-15) through the middle of town. One at the intersection of Old Longwood Road is almost impossible to pull out of and has been there for weeks and weeks.

Mrs. Janice Truluck, of 1119 Magnolia Avenue, telephoned this morning that she took her trusty fishing rod and two shiners and went out to Lem-on Bluff fishing camp and came home at 7 a. m. with a 12-pound bass and a seven-pound bass. That's what she said.

Here's a "heartening" note. Dr. Lula Perex, who spoke to the Kiwanis Club recently on diseases of the heart and that about 85 per cent of heart victims recover from their first attack.

Movies made of the Industrial Exhibit held here in the Spring at the Civic Center will be shown to the Civitan Club Thursday by Scott Burns and David Thrasher. That should be interesting.

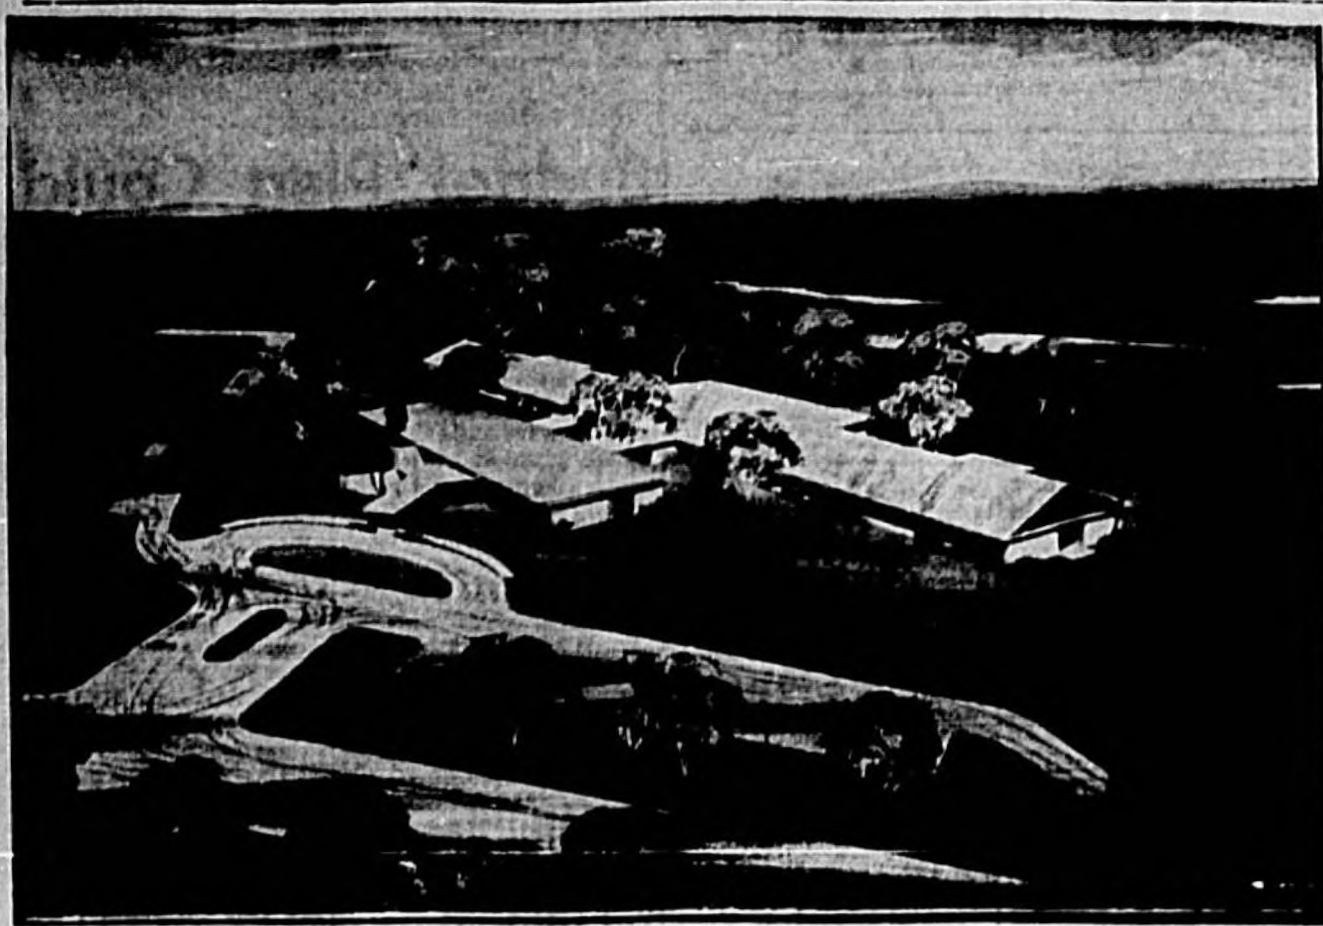

There have been some pretty large real estate transactions around the location of the I-4 SR 436 interchange in recent weeks. Could be a whole new business area will grow up around that location. The interchange, itself, takes up a terrific amount of land and it costs $300,000 and up to construct an interchange, engineers say.

960 Registered In Casseberry

Registered voters in Casseberry eligible to vote in the special Sept. 5 referendum on a new charter for the town today totaled 960 after Monday's registration deadline.

Of this number, 350 were newly registered, Mrs. Otto Henning, town clerk, reported.

A total of 481 qualified voters will be required to cast a favorable ballot on the new charter if it is to be legally approved.

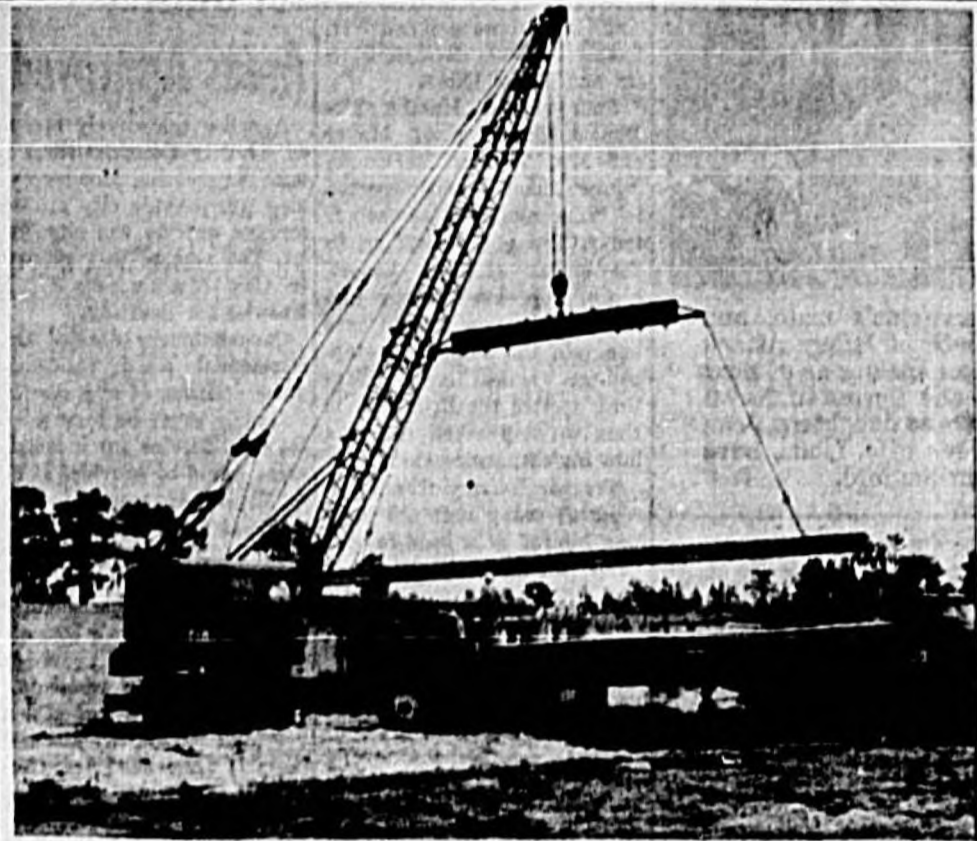

THE DEBARY Retirement Nursing Home, pictured in top photo as it will look when completed, is now under construction on Hwy. 17-92 north of High Banks Rd. at a cost of some $90,000. Senate Committee OKs Military Pay Raise Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Armed Services Committee Monday approved a $1.2 billion pay raise for the military and cleared it for quick senate action.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm surprised at you. I usually agree with your answers, but that letter about the little four-year-old taking one grape at the grocery store amazed me.

STEADY READER DEAR READER: Sorry, I don't speak Spock. If a child of four doesn't know that what he sees displayed at a grocery store does not belong to him, the time to teach him is when he starts to help himself.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the young mother who didn't want to make a scene over one grape interested me. No scene is necessary if you start with the first grape.

DEAR ABBY: The "grape" story reminded me that we are never too young (or too old) to learn a lesson in honesty.

DeBary Couple Celebrates 50th Wedding Anniversary

By Mrs. Adam Muller
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ashley, DeBary, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary, Aug. 2, at their home on Valencia Drive, with open house from 2 to 5 p.m.

Mrs. Clifton Stafford had charge of the guest book and several neighbors assisted in the more than 100 guests who called during the appointed hours. Mrs. Rose Williams presided at the crystal punch bowl.

The buffet table was overlaid with an antique lace cloth from England, the birthplace of the Ashleys. A large white and yellow anniversary cake centered the table and trays of petit fours and nuts were also served with the punch. The neighbors sent a large floral arrangement of gold and yellow mums with the lettering "50 Years" across the top. The golden color theme was carried out in decorations throughout the house.

Telegrams of good wishes came from California and New Jersey, and phone calls came from various friends who have made in America since coming here from Birmingham, England, in 1923.

Mr. Ashley worked in New Jersey before they came to DeBary six years ago. The couple will spend a second honeymoon in St. Petersburg traveling in a new car Mr. Ashley presented to his wife as an anniversary gift. Mrs. Ashley greeted the guests in a French blue chintilly lace street length dress, complemented with blue costume jewelry and a corsage of two white orchids with gold centers. Mrs. John Rayfuse helped the couple greet the many guests.

Foods Will Be Plentiful In September

By Myrtle Wilson
H.D. Agent
Bored with summertime menus? Let's take a peak into the future — at what's going to be in good supply in September.

According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, which each month publishes a list of plentiful foods, September will bring lots of turkeys, canned tuna, grapes, and late summer vegetables. With cook weather in the offing, homemakers will want to take advantage of the plentiful supply of Beltville and light-weight turkeys this month. There'll be larger supplies this year than last and prices ought to be favorable to consumers.

And don't stop serving tuna. Instead of cold salads, serve it in attractive oven casseroles and take to school sandwiches. There are almost 18,000 tons of tuna either in harbor awaiting to be unloaded or enroute to coastal canneries. That's 3 million cases of canned tuna. And the run of albacore and bluefin tuna is just starting. Late summer vegetables will be in good supply during September. Look for good buys in tomatoes, sweet corn lima beans, snap beans, cabbage, onions, and beets.

But the best news is for those who like grapes. Thousand Seedless — the white grapes you see on produce counters about now — will be in record supply. During September, retail shipments will be especially heavy. Prices are expected to drop markedly as the bulk of the crop reaches the retail market.

Wasp Milkers

Milking wasps for their venom is not a new and highly dangerous variation on Russian roulette — it is a serious research project recently carried out by the National Heart Institute.

A substance in wasp venom appears to be similar to "peptides," some types of which are hormones found in human blood, that play a regulatory role in the body's functions.

Is scientists can determine how insects manufacture peptides, it may lead them to a better understanding of blood chemistry.

What may remain ever a mystery is the response to a small newspaper ad calling for live wasps, and offering a nickel a wasp to wasp "herders."

Wasps are downright unsociable when left alone, and really nasty when corralled. This didn't faze an army of intrepid collectors, who supplied wasps by the jar and bag.

When they got through the wasp market was glutted, the deal called off, and the wasp has reverted to its former role — something to be avoided at all costs.

Staggering Reflection

The fact that nearly a fourth of all selective service registrants in this country fail their mental examinations is a staggering reflection on U. S. education.

This reflection rate is indeed the fact. The percentage of failures actually exceeds 20 per cent in 11 states and beats 50 per cent in two states—South Carolina and Mississippi.

It is interesting to note that in 11 states with the poorest showing, the amount of schooling generally acquired is considerably less than for the nation as a whole.

The National Committee for Support of the Public Schools reports that in these 11 states, among people 25 years or older at the time of the 1960 census, 16.1 per cent had less than five years total schooling.

This compares with 8.3 per cent in the entire nation. The inadequately schooled, in other words, bulk twice as large in percentage terms in the states with the weakest performance in draft mental tests.

By and large, the best showing in these tests and the best record in the matter of minimum adequate schooling is found in some of the mountain and Pacific coast states.

Curiously, Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire look good in amount of schooling, but their records in the selective service mental tests are not comparably good.

For the most part, the big industrial states do not come off as well in educational status as one would think, considering the size of their outlays for schooling. The "school support" committee argues that these states' ranking is generally lowered by migrants from states with poor school systems.

Can we really live comfortably with the knowledge that a quarter of our young men are mentally unqualified to serve in the country's armed forces?

It is obviously a matter of shame. We are not exactly one of the underdeveloped nations. But unmistakably we have in our midst a great many underdeveloped persons, both adult and young.

The National Committee for Support of the Public Schools is dedicated to the proposition that one big remedy for this sad condition is to put more of the citizens' money into the schools to improve their quality.

If one does not wish to see the federal government take a larger role in school financing, what the committee proposes is the necessary, the only course.

Not to provide a good school system is to save money, but waste tragically our human capital—the resource on which we must depend for our future safety and well being as a nation and a people.

Lyle C. Wilson Says:

Sands Are Shifting

The sands are shifting beneath the foundations of President Kennedy's civil rights proposals.

There is, for example, the matter of compromising a moral issue. There is the further matter of imposing morality by law.

These matters arise especially in consideration of that part of the Kennedy proposal that would legislate the desegregation of all places of public accommodation.

It is argued that the federal government has a moral responsibility to desegregate all places of public accommodation even though thousands of those places are mere mom-and-pop operations or Mrs. Murphy tourist homes and boarding houses.

It also is argued that the federal government could not in good conscience impose this particular morality on such as these small, family public accommodations. It is argued, also, that the imposition could not be enforced even though the armed forces were summoned to compel all of the Mrs. Murphys to bed down unwanted customers, or the mom and pops to serve them.

These latter arguments apparently possess great force because there is a disposition on the part of the Kennedy administration to back away from the federal desegregation of Mrs. Murphy's spare bedroom, for example, as well as the little business operated by mom and pop. Nor do the Kennedys alone seem to hesitate. No New York state politician can afford to be outdone by anyone in his loud demands for all-inclusive civil rights guarantees. Such a politician is Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N. Y.).

Javits is on record, however, that some compromise may be necessary to obtain legislation against discrimination in places of public accommodation. The senator told a television audience last week that the volume of employees might need to be considered.

That probably is good, practical politics. But it seems not to be good morals. If the Waldorf-Astoria must be integrated as a matter of morality, at what point does the business scale toward Mrs. Murphy's motel does morality cease to be the controlling factor so that practical politics may take over? That is a question the practical politicians cannot answer.

They may soften its impact but they can't answer it. For example, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy told a House committee during civil rights hearings that the Justice Department had considered a cut-off point based on business volume or number of employees. But the department rejected the idea, he said, because it seemed not to make sense to say that big business could not discriminate but that little business could.

But Kennedy also testified that the bill as drafted was not designed to desegregate very small operations, notably tourist homes where the owner operates the business and lives on the premises. That seems not to make much sense, either, if the questions is one of morality.

Perhaps it is the Puritan ethic again haunting the congressional conscience as when President Kennedy proposed to continue deficit spending to help finance a tax cut. It is well known that the Puritans were squares of the worst kind, but they believed in living within their income. They didn't believe in compromising moral issues.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

CASE Q-41: Marsha, M., aged 29, has been married for 10 years.

"Dr. Crane," she confessed, "I fell in love with my husband and have been reasonably happy since our wedding day.

"But our marriage seems to be rather a complacent, staid affair.

"And I married so young that I missed a lot of the fun that other girls obtain.

"For within a year our first baby arrived. Thus, I was busy washing diapers when other girls of my age were out on dates.

"So the past few months I have become rather melancholy. Recently, while my husband was out of town, I accepted a date with a salesman.

"And when he kissed me, I just tingled all over and got butterflies in my stomach.

"Yet I don't feel that way when my husband kisses me, so do you think I should get a divorce and marry this salesman?"

"For we seem to be far better adjusted to each other physically."

Marsha is confusing stage fright with true love.

A stranger's kiss is always more exciting than that of the mate to whom you have been happily married for many years.

For the stranger's kiss involves mystery, novelty and those other emotional factors involved in stage fright.

When you suffer from stage fright, you get butterflies in your stomach and feel but all over, as well as tremble.

That is true whether you are to sing your first solo or make your initial speech in public.

Alas, many married couples also lose perspective when they steal a clandestine kiss.

For that strange kiss also gives them the typical stage fright feelings.

Because they are thus emotionally more excited than when kissing their legal mate, they often imagine they are physically more attuned to the stranger.

"That is marlarky!"

"They would find that the stranger's kiss would lose its extra excitable nature if they married him and then got those kisses as a steady diet.

For it isn't love that is involved in Marsha's case but the stage fright cluster of emotions that fasten to the stranger's stolen kisses.

Besides, Marsha is in the most dangerous age for women.

She is a victim of what I call the "29 panic!"

For when women reach the age of 29 and then see that terrifying 30th birthday looming ahead, they frequently get scared.

And that is doubly so if they married young and thus missed much of the romantic thrills of dates, dances and parties which other girls obtained who deferred marriage till later.

So girls like Marsha may regard the age of 30 as putting them on the shelf.

The figure romance will then be behind them, so they try to have one last fling before old age stifles all the thrills.

Husbands, send for the booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20c, for it will help banish a woman's "29 panic, without clandestine kisses.

Phil Newsom Says . . .

Comparisons Inevitable

It was inevitable that comparisons be drawn between the Kennedy and de Gaulle visits to West Germany, especially among the West Germans as the people most directly affected.

The American President, himself, had made no mention of de Gaulle during his trip and de Gaulle had gone to some lengths to avoid making it appear a popularity contest.

But in the end there was no doubt that Kennedy had made by far the greatest impact and that de Gaulle's own visit had been a disappointment both to Bonn and Paris.

In Bonn, both Vice Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder expressed frank disappointment at failure to make any progress with de Gaulle toward a common agricultural policy for the European Common Market.

There also was disappointment over de Gaulle's continued adamant refusal to consider any place for Great Britain within the European community.

In Paris it was conceded that Kennedy had rekindled West German faith in U. S. leadership in an Atlantic alliance as opposed to de Gaulle's "third force" theory for a Europe militarily and economically independent of the United States sometime in the distant future.

In fact, some said that the French-German accord which de Gaulle had seen as the foundation stone for his own grand design for Europe, now had been reduced to a statement of good intentions.

West Berliners' cheers for Kennedy were echoed in German newspapers.

"Neither we nor the world can quibble or doubt the determination of the American President," said Die Welt of Hamburg.

Said the Rhein-Zeitung of Coblenz: "This week the course was unmistakably set for the Atlantic route. It can no longer be set back to that of a small Europe . . . It is plain that freedom and the future will emerge not from a French Europe, but from a united Europe."

But amid the chorus of praise there also were notes of doubt.

Said the Westfälische Rundschau of Dortmund: "Perhaps it will soon become evident what is demanded of us, not only in regard to economic and financial sacrifices, but perhaps we will be asked to dump overboard many of the political concepts of which we have grown so fond."

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The National Draft Goldwater for President headquarters in Washington will announce the names of its first state chairmen and state organizing committee members within the next few weeks.

All will be regular Republicans with experience and recognized standing in the GOP.

The political importance of this strategy can hardly be overestimated. It will refute the contention of New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and others that the Goldwater drive is the work of right-wing extremists on the lunatic fringe.

There is no disputing that most of the enthusiasm for Goldwater now comes from grass roots supporters and political amateurs. There have been local Goldwater for President clubs in many communities for two years and more, but they have been unrelated, unofficial and outside the Republican party.

The second big job of the National Draft Goldwater Committee—to be done concurrently with setting up state, county and city organizations—will be to coordinate these independent local clubs with the regular party.

Many of these local clubs have been circulating their own petitions urging nomination of Goldwater as the candidate in 1964. Draft Goldwater headquarters also has petitions out, and it asks all signers for a dollar as their contribution to the cause.

There are around 100,000 signatures on these petitions now. The idea is to bring them all together. There is a blank state chart in Draft Goldwater headquarters now, waiting for insertion of the first state totals. The hope is to run the total number of signatures into the millions.

Peter O'Donnell Jr., national chairman of the Draft Goldwater Committee, and G. Clinton White, its executive director, head up the job of building this organization.

O'Donnell, well-to-do young Dallas businessman and Republican state chairman in Texas since 1956, knows all the GOP regulars. He is on the move, calling on national and state committeemen to line up responsible leaders.

White is a New York public relations teacher and public relations man who has helped relations man who has helped to win.

The Republican Citizens Committee, meeting at Hershey, Pa., even under President Eisenhower's sponsorship, is just as far removed from the great mass of voters.

Our Janie: Beware Of Them B'ars!

(Editor's note: The following article was received today by The Herald from its NEA news service. It is especially timely since The Herald's Casselberry news reporter, Jane Casselberry, is spending the next two weeks with Casselberry Boy Scout Troop 341 in the Smoky Mountains near Cherokee, N. C.)

Vacation leftovers on a Coleman burner.

The country's biggest playground is the range of the Great Smoky Mountains that straddles Tennessee and North Carolina . . . and the most vigorous exercise is pitching a tent . . . especially when it's raining . . . in prepared national camp sites like Elk-mount, seven miles out of Gatlinburg, Tenn., where they've got all the accoutrements of home — except showers, hot water and the telephone . . .

The guttiest athlete of the year is the guy who'll stick his little toe in the icy rapids of the Little River . . . nature's version of a frigid sauna on the move . . .

Biggest sport in the Smokies is to find out what the bears native to the region are going to eat — the food you're not supposed to feed them or the hand that offers it . . . The traffic jam is worse than driving crostown Manhattan when you go from Gatlinburg straight across the Smokies to Cherokee, N. C., because every time a bear shows, cars stop . . . and ignore the signs that keep a tally: eight mauled last year, four this year . . .

Toughest tests in the area: climbing from Newfound Gap, at the crest of the Smokies, to Charley's Bunton, where it doesn't pay to look down if you've got acrophobia . . . or tramping the back nine of the Gatlinburg Country Club . . . where the putting greens are so lush the pros like to come back to perfect their strokes.

Eastern Tennessee is still moonshine country, the best distilled (or is it "stilled") around Newport . . . Tom Sliar, the sports editor of the Knoxville News-Sentinel, once stumped at a filling station in Cosby on the edge of the national park and was greeted by the entire population of the town, an aged attendant . . . "Fill 'er up!" ordered Tom . . . The dodger paused a second . . . "With gas?" he asked . . .

Disregard the Mason-Dixon line—Tennessee is also asking country, with the southernmost slopes in the U. S. Just three miles out of Gatlinburg and a trail carved out of Mt. Harrison . . . but it's also the only ski resort that makes more money in the summer than in the winter . . . the drawers flock to the chairlifts in droves at a buck and a quarter a throw in hot August to see what the country looks like from the top of the hill.

Charley Wells, the general manager of the ski run, is a Nashvillean . . . A year ago, he reports, you couldn't buy a pair of stretch pants in Nashville . . . now there are eight stores stocked to supply the sleek look for slouching of apres-ski . . . To give you an idea of the skiing climate, only one out of 100 is qualified to try the expert trail at the top of the hill . . . It's a fun area, where partying is as important as the gelsandepung . . . But it also has $7 million being thrown into a ski development at Yancey on the North Carolina side of the Smokies.

At Cherokee, N. C., the Oconaluftee Village, a restoration of the Cherokee tribe, you can see how the old braves got their kicks flinging a ball around with a hand-carved wooden implement that looks like a cross between a cesti from jai alai and a lacrosse stick . . . Every guy in chief's raiment around every gift shop would qualify for basket ball—his got the good handle.

Liston Decision Probable Today

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — This may be the day of decision for Sonny Liston.

The world heavyweight champion may decide today whether to defend his title against brash Cassius Clay in Philadelphia, Sept. 30, or against another challenger in December at Miami Beach or Las Vegas, Nev., for home television.

For Liston the big question is whether the Nilon brothers Bob, Jim and Jack — and their attorneys have been able to devise a promotional plan for the "seven-million-dollar" Clay fight that will satisfy the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission and, at the same time, hold Liston's taxes to a minimum.

Despite the optimism of Commissioner Alfred Klein, others close to the somewhat frantic conferences Monday and Monday night insist that no satisfactory plan to Liston has yet been devised and that he is ready to jump to Madison Square Garden in New York.

STRONG ARM UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (NEA) — Pete Liske returns as Penn State's quarterback this fall. Last season he set season school records for touchdown passes, yards passing and total offense.

Palmer Near $100,000 Mark

DUNEDIN (UPI) — Arnold Palmer is within putting distance of becoming golf's first $100,000 player.

Unofficial standings released Monday by the Professional Golfer's Association show that Palmer has earned $96,995 in sanctioned tournament play this year.

Jack Nicklaus, the power threatening Palmer's position as golf's top pro, is second in earnings with $79,500.

The St. Paul Open was won by Jack Rule Jr. Bruce Crampton of Australia finished in a third place tie at St. Paul to move into seventh place on the money list with $28,671.49.

Julius Boros retained his third place position with $29,908.67, followed by Tony Lema $22,512.01, Gary Player $19,715 and Dow Finsterwald $12,813.51.

Four Installed In Hall Of Fame

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y. (UPI) — Brevity was the keynote during the installation of the four newest members of baseball's Hall of Fame Monday.

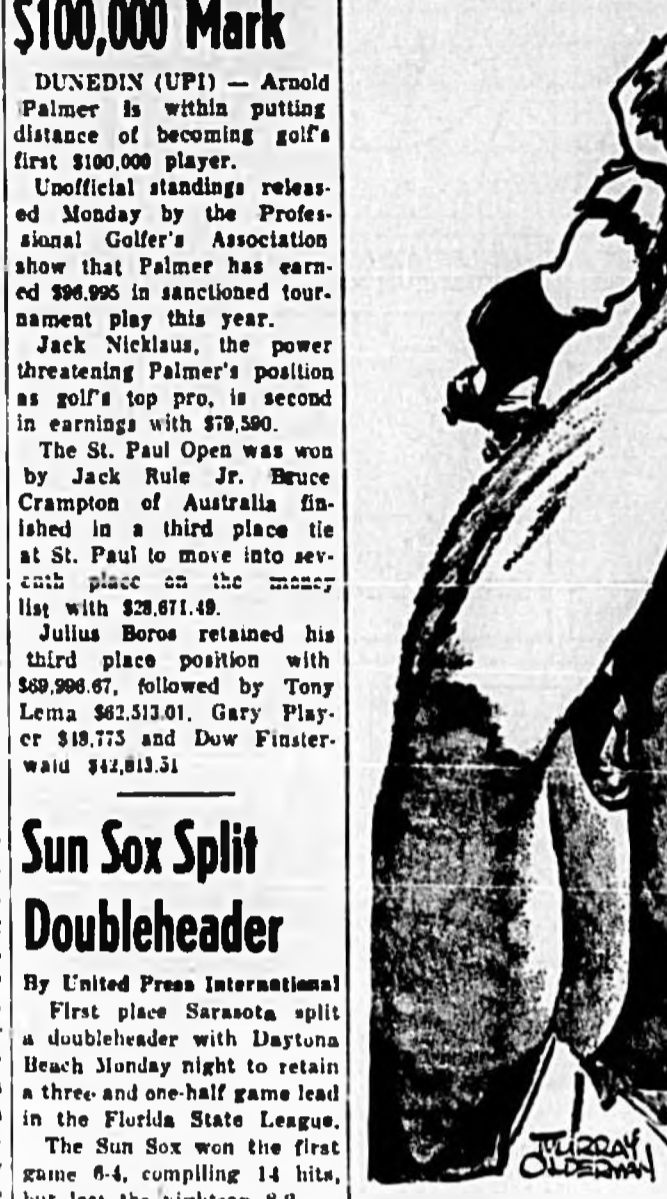

"This is a bigger day than I ever had before. . . I'm not going to try to find words to explain how I feel," said 87-year-old Elmer Flick.

Sam Rice, 71, called his induction "the biggest thing any of us can ever have, and at 144 pounds I don't know how I ever got through it."

The formal induction of Rice, Flick and the late John Clarkson and Eppa Rixey was held before a crowd of 2,500, which braved threatening weather and an occasional misty rain to attend the outdoor ceremonies.

Idle Dodgers Gain Ground

HOLDING 'EM UP

Giants Lose; Now In Tie With St. Louis

By United Press International

Many major leaguers who are traded come back to haunt their old club—but not Carl Warwick.

The only regular in the majors who bats right and throws left did his old Los Angeles Dodger teammates a big favor Monday night when he sparked the Houston Colts to a 6-5 comeback victory over the San Francisco Giants.

It was a tough setback for the Giants, who had hoped to pick up ground on the idle Dodgers. Instead, Al Dark's men dropped five games off the pace and into a second-place tie with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Warwick, who broke into the majors with the Dodgers in 1961 before moving on to St. Louis and then Houston, knocked in the Colts' winning run with a line single that capped a two-run rally in the bottom of the ninth.

It was the third time the Colts had come from behind in the game, the only one scheduled in the majors Monday. The Giants had tied the score at four-all in the eighth with the help of Willie McCovey's 33rd home run of the season and went ahead in the top of the ninth on another solo blast by Willie Maya, his 28th of the campaign.

Juan Marchal of the Giants and Houston's Don Nottbart — a pair of no-hit pitchers — duelled through the first seven innings but neither figured in the decision. Hal Woodeshick, who relieved Nottbart in the eighth, gained his ninth victory against six strikeouts and Jack Fisher (6-8) was the loser.

The Dodgers resume their road trip today at Chicago, where they open a three-game set against the Cubs.

The New York Yankees, riding along with a 7 1/2 game lead in the American League, open a two-week road trip tonight with a doubleheader against the Washington Senators.

End To Return-Match Contracts Predicted

By Jack Cuddy

UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK — Promoter Harry Markson of Madison Square Garden predicted flatly today that the ditto knock-out of Floyd Patterson by heavyweight champion Sonny Liston would begin to produce blessings late next week.

Slender, dark-haired Markson — a graduate of Union College — was referring to the World Boxing Association five-day annual convention of (WBA) which opens on Saturday, Aug. 17, at Miami Beach.

"That convention," he said, "and its accompanying sessions of the World Boxing Council definitely will kill and bury the sport's return-match-contract evil. There can be no doubt this time — after those two Liston-Patterson fiascos."

Big Sonny took the crown from Patterson at Chicago last Sept. 25 on a knockout at 2:06 of the first round. Despite that convincing triumph, Sonny was forced to make his first defense against Floyd because of a return-match contract. Hence the repeat kayo in Las Vegas, Nev., at 2:10 of the first round on July 22.

Discussing the situation in his office at the garden, Markson declared that the two Liston-Patterson bouts proved to sports fans everywhere the ridiculous fact that "Boxing is the only sport in the world where a man must win a title twice before he can be a full-fledged champion."

A sports writer reminded promoter Harry that both the WBA and the World Boxing Council now have resolutions in their books outlawing return-match contracts.

"That's true," Markson admitted, "but most boxing men I've talked to recently feel

Starts the medium iron back down in the plane in which it came up.

The weight begins to shift to the left side. The wrists uncoil. Throughout the back and down-swing, the head remains in an almost fixed position.

When the ball has been contacted, the club and hands are practically in the same positions as they were at the time of address. The head still remains down and over the ball.

The clubhead follows after the ball, and the wrists begin to roll over as a result of making contact. The left arm is beginning to bend in toward the body. The head is still down.

At the completion of the swing, the hands are high, the head is up. The body faces the objective, the eyes following the flight of the ball. Swinging to the finish is very important.

There's no need to use a ball until you have your entire swing pattern established. Once satisfied, place the ball off your left heel and start some contact work. Swing the club in the same pattern at the same tempo. The clubhead will get the ball up in the air. Don't rush your shot. Timing and rhythm furnish the answer.

The clubhead automatically follows the ball as it is contacted. This is the beginning of the follow through, should be developed. This is as important to the swing pattern as the backswing.

When the club is approximately halfway into the follow through, the head will begin to come up and the eyes will pick out the flight of the ball. Let the head come up naturally. Don't attempt to bring it up yourself or you will develop a horrible habit of "peeking."

Following the flight of the ball, swinging to the finish is very important.

Explosives Law Being Tightened

JACKSONVILLE (UPI)—The State Fire Marshall's office has stepped up enforcement of the state law against possession of explosives. State Fire Marshall J. Edwin Larson said.

Larson, who also is state treasurer, said a recent rash of explosions in South and Central Florida emphasized the need for the law, which makes it illegal to possess explosives with intent to harm life, limb or property.

Larson also told the annual State Arson Seminar here today that arson is on the increase. His office investigated 50 suspected arsons in 1945 and 686 cases last year.

Policeman Butler Also Coach Butler

By DOROTHY AUSTIN
When a man takes a three-week vacation from his job and, instead of dropping everything and heading out-of-town for a well-earned rest, spends the whole time working with kids, you can assume he is pretty fond of them and interested in them.

This was the case with Lt. Ben Butler of the Sanford Police Department, who is coach of the Chiefs team which just won the city championship in the Pee-Wee League.

Lt. Butler admits he is working with kids, and the boys, themselves, will tell you that they like working with their coach, too.

Under the patient coaching, urging, prodding and leadership of Coach Butler, the young team (many of the players are only eight years old) garnered a league-leading 10 out of 11 games to bag the victory.

"These are the most conscientious little boys I've ever worked with," said the Coach. "They are ready and willing to learn and have developed into a first rate ball club."

Butler had a word of commendation for the parents, too, who were "very cooperative" in bringing their boys in for practices and games.

Village Program To Include Riding Lessons

By Mona Grinstead
Group instruction on horseback riding for youngsters and adults, ages 4-60, will be included in North Orlando's Summer Recreation Program for the month of August.

The teaching program similar to that recommended by the Orange County Mounted Poise and 4-11 Club, will take place at the Happy Horse Farm located off Hwy. 17-92 back of the Dynatronica Plant. Hourly costs have been reduced to one-third of the regular fee for the group program which will open at 9:15 on Wednesday.

Those planning to participate are asked to meet in front of the Community Building in the North Orlando Recreation Area promptly at 9 a. m. for departure.

Registration should be made with Mrs. Michael Cosby, 25 S. Cortez Ave. or with the instructor, Miss Priscilla Mitchell at Happy Horse Farm.

Starved Weevils
For the first time, entomologists have extracted the substance which makes cotton appetizing to boll weevils. This substance, called "arrestant," if it could be synthesized, could be used to treat other plants and induce boll weevils to lay their eggs where the newly-hatched larvae would starve according to the Britannica Book of the Year.

come from as far as 10 miles away.

There were several fathers, too, who helped with practice, working out the different groups of boys all at the same time.

Assistant to Coach Butler was Navy Chief Herman Stewart and fathers who helped coach were Alfred Green, Dickie Frank and Roy Starman.

The team received a terrific shock just after school was out with the sudden death of little Drew Bracken, a team member. Stunned and saddened by this tragedy, the team nevertheless rallied and went on to take the victory in memory of Drew.

Coach Butler accepted a trophy in Drew's name at awards ceremonies last week.

Lt. Butler is the father of three children, with his oldest son, Bennie, serving as team catcher.

He has been with the Sanford Police Department for 13 years, starting out as a rookie and coming up through the ranks to the recent promotion to lieutenant.

Through the years he has become popular with the children of the city, never failing to give them a wave, a smile or a "Hi!"

He has overseen and conducted the school safety and the bicycle safety programs, becoming acquainted with the children and making friends with them.

Children are drawn to the kindly policeman whom they quickly realize is interested in them and likes them.

Law enforcement officials recognize that building up a good relationship such as this with the youngsters of a community goes a long way toward combating juvenile delinquency and the lack of respect for law officers which prevails in many cases.

As for his baseball team of eight-to-10-year-olds, Lt. Butler says,

"We are going to have an even better team next year, because many of our boys are just starting and will have the advantage of experience and know-how that counts so much when the chips are down and the game is close."

Pitchers for this past year's championship team were Scotty Clemmer, Johnny Serman and Tolle Frank. Bennie Butler was the catcher.

Al Green played first base, Bob Rufus was on second and Gary Stewart at shortstop. The third base slot alternated between the pitchers.

"And don't forget our bat boy," said Coach Butler. "That was seven-year-old Chris Frank, who just can't wait until he gets old enough to play."

July Sales Tax Collections Up 6.87 Per Cent

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — July sales tax collections, based on June business, increased 6.87 per cent over July of last year, revenue director J. Ed Straughn reported Monday.

Straughn said collected totaled $16 million, an increase of one million dollars over the same month a year ago.

These collections will be the last to go into the general revenue fund F under the old sales tax law. The 1963 legislature substantially changed provisions and collections in August on July business are expected to be very much higher.

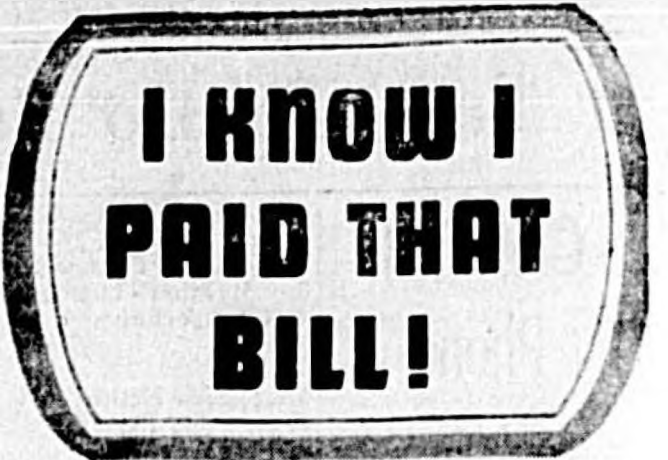

At least August will provide the first evidence as to whether legislative estimates of the expanded tax coverage will prove true.

However, Straughn said it is doubtful there will be a definite indication of revenue-producing abilities of the expanded tax before three months and perhaps six months.

Seasonal conditions play a big role in sales tax collections, and these don't follow a set pattern.

Reports of a good tourist season appear to be reflected in June business, he said, adding sales tax collections based on a calendar year, beginning with January, totaled $119.1 million, up 4.3 per cent over the same period last year.

Mystery Object Seen In Sky Near Sanford

BURNED RUBBLE, pictured here is all that remains of the mobile home of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Hill of Longwood. They and their 11-month old son, Frankie, returned early Tuesday morning from an overnight stay with relatives to find all of their worldly possessions destroyed with no explanation as to how and when the fire occurred. Longwood firemen report no alarm was turned in. The trailer was located behind the saw mill across from the Sanford Orlando Kennel Club. (Herald Photo)

An unidentified flying object (UFO) dazzled 11 residents of Orange Boulevard, four miles northwest of Sanford, for one hour and 25 minutes Tuesday night.

The UFO was first observed as a star and later to move comparable in speed to that of an average conventional aircraft. It was first seen at 10:25 p.m. and disappeared at 11:50 p.m. Its direction was due south and its elevation in the sky was approximately 20 degrees.

Duty officer at Sanford Naval Air Station said this morning that none of the Navy jet crews flying Tuesday night reported seeing the object.

Haiti Fires Second Protest On Invasion

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (UPI) — Haiti today protested a second time against Dominican aggression in a note to the Organization of American States and demanded that body take immediate action to halt it.

The new Haitian protest coincided with the dispatch of three platoons of troop reinforcements from Port au Prince to Cape Haitien in the officially labeled northeast "war zone."

The troops carried light and heavy machineguns and other combat equipment. They traveled in Haitian army troop carriers.

The new Haitian protest to the OAS hinted at a possible serious turn in military developments in the northeast. The original Haitian protest, taken up by the OAS Tuesday, did not ask that body to take any action.

There was no indication how many reinforcements were lifted to the front today but it was speculated that any where from 25 to 50 were added each plane.

Rumors circulated in Port au Prince of a new exile landing at Grande Saline, on Haiti's west coast, but this was believed to stem from exile claims to that effect made in New York Tuesday.

In Saint Domingue, exile spokesmen claimed their two-pronged drive into the Haitian northeast, plying up support along the way from army deserters and the peasantry.

The wide disparity between an approximate $17,000 increase in income and requests for funds totalling more than last year from the various departments may cause commissioners to look hard at the present six mill assessment.

Last year's budget ran $1,555,000, an increase of $10,000 over that of the previous year, and the millage was held to six.

Tax Assessor Mary E. Walker again submitted a request for a reappraisal of city commercial property to equalize assessments and to obtain that she would be able to obtain a competent firm to do the job for $7,300 or about half of the amount proposed last year.

The proposed reappraisal as submitted this year would cost $7,550 for the entire city commercial property or $6,600 for the downtown area, including French Ave. to 13th St. and Sanford Ave. to Sixth St.

Judge Vernon Reed submitted proposed budget figures of $28,400 for the County Judges office, which goes off the fee system under a new ruling of the Legislature, and of $14,100 for the Juvenile Court, which was mostly for salary raises and for a full time juvenile court clerk-retary.

County Health Director Dr. Frank Leone listed a heavy work load on his staff of a 600 pupil increase in the double case load of maternity care, increase in venereal disease and steadily increasing numbers of inoculations, and other increases in diseases which are tied to the population increase as a basis for an increase of $10,000 over last year's budget of $81,565. This would include an additional secretary nurse and a sanitarian, and their equipment.

Circuit Court Judge Valle Williams Jr., asked commissioners for a discussion and decision on the public defender appropriation, showing commissioners an array of appeals already received.

Traffic Will Roll Through All Highway I-4 In '64, Says SRD

ALFREDO, THE ALLIGATOR, is back in his summer home for the third consecutive year at the Pat Boyle home near Longwood, living in a canal which empties into the Wekiva. Although shy of strangers, 36-inch long Alfredo responds readily to any member of his adopted family and has no objections to their affectionate caresses. No question of recognition arises since he has a missing toe on his left front foot. In the photo he is being held by Mrs. Boyle while receiving his daily 11:30 a.m. feeding of hamburger from Terri, one of the four Boyle girls.

Sanford To Daytona Link Progressing

Interstate 4, the cross-state freeway between Daytona Beach and Tampa through Sanford, will be opened to vehicular traffic in 1964, it was reported today by the State Road Department.

A news release by SRD out of Tallahassee this morning revealed that of 221.2 miles of interstate highway completed in a planned total 534 miles in the state, 112 miles of the 221.2 are part of I-4 and now used by the public. The report added that 183.7 miles are under construction in the planned 534 miles and right-of-way is needed for 127 miles.

Rickey Green, SRD district engineer at DeLand, this morning told The Herald that I-4 between Sanford and Daytona Beach will be completed early in 1964. Paving has been commenced on that stretch between Highway 44 to tie in at Tomoka River, opening I-4 between this city and Daytona Beach. This particular stretch, when completed, will have cost $15.5 million.

Two contracts now are under way in Seminole and Orange Counties from north of Lee Road to connect with that finished portion in this county. Green said these contracts should be completed some time in 1964.

The final bids began to let the final two contracts in this district later this month or September to take I-4 on south to Highway 50 (Colonial Ave.), with this stretch to be completed in 1964.

With the completion of this latter stretch, Green said, I-4 will be open between Daytona Beach and Tampa. Still further construction will be necessary to complete I-4 between Tampa and St. Petersburg, giving a through cross-state freeway from the Atlantic Ocean to the Gulf of Mexico through Sanford.

Sanford Beats St. Pete In Semi-Finals

Skipper Benkarik pitched a two-hit ball game Tuesday night to place the Sanford All-Stars in tonight's semi-finals of the state Little Major League championship tournament at Panama City.

Benkarik struck out 12 St. Petersburg batters to pace Sanford to a 5-1 win in the six-inning game. Sanford garnered eight hits, with no errors.

Outstanding hitter for Sanford was Bill Miller with two singles and a double. Sanford will play Cantonment of Pensacola tonight in the semi-finals. If the Little Leagueers win tonight over Cantonment they will move into the finals Thursday night for the state championship.

County Board Working On Budget Items

County Commissioners today found in their hearings with department heads on proposed new budgets for next year and get down to the business of paring the "outgo" to meet the "income."

The wide disparity between an approximate $17,000 increase in income and requests for funds totalling more than last year from the various departments may cause commissioners to look hard at the present six mill assessment.

Circuit Court Judge Valle Williams Jr., asked commissioners for a discussion and decision on the public defender appropriation, showing commissioners an array of appeals already received.

Warner added exact location of the site is not being divulged until options are obtained for subsequent purchase.

Douglas Stenstrom, chairman of the long range planning committee for education, reported efforts to have a proposed state university located in Seminole County are proceeding satisfactorily, with the County Commission prepared to present six proposed sites to the state for its study. He expressed the opinion that Seminole, Orange, Brevard and Volusia Counties are in the lead in the nine-county race for the school.

John Krider, chamber manager, reported on the progress of the St. Johns-Indian River Canal District, of which he is one of five directors.

County Airport Site Accepted

Site of the proposed Seminole County airport has been tentatively accepted in the southwest corner of the county. It was reported by Mark Warnery, airport committee chairman, to the Chamber of Commerce directors Tuesday evening.

Warner added exact location of the site is not being divulged until options are obtained for subsequent purchase.

Registration Set Monday For Boats

In compliance with a ruling from Conservation Director Randolph Hodges, Seminole County Tax collector J. L. Galloway said today that pleasure boat owners may register their craft under the new annual registration law beginning Monday.

Galloway said that the registration details, which can be obtained at his office in the Courthouse, must be affixed to the port side of the boats. These certificates will expire June 30, 1964.

The new law passed by the 1963 Legislature sets fees of $1 for boats less than 12 feet long; $5 for boats between 12 and 15 feet; $10 for boats between 15 and 25 feet; $30 for boats between 25 and 40 feet; $50 for those between 40 and 65 feet; $60 for boats between 65 and 110 feet, and $75 for boats 110 feet or longer.

Galloway said that the new law provided for a service charge by the collector's office of 50 cents.

He explained that only boats powered by motors of more than 10 horsepower need be registered, according to a ruling by Attorney General Richard Ervin. The collector said that the old law expires Aug. 15, but that enforcement will be reasonable for a limited time because of the mechanics of administering the new law and to be fair to all boat owners.

Burns Opposes Election Shift

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Jacksonville Mayor Hayden Burns said Tuesday he was opposed to a proposal to switch Florida's gubernatorial elections to the year after the presidential elections.

Burns, an unannounced candidate for governor, said the mechanics of the change — which would require the next governor to serve only two years — would deter progress in Florida.

The constitutional amendment for off-year elections still faces voter approval in a special November election. The amendment, however, allows the governor elected in 1964 to seek reelection again in 1966.

The mayor pointed out the "ridiculous" costs of campaigning for the office.

Schools Balk At Bids For Supplying Milk

Florida school superintendents are balking at apparent high bids for supplying milk for school lunch programs, it was reported today by R. T. Moore, Seminole County superintendent, following a conference Tuesday with the State Milk Commission at Orlando.

A controversy over school milk bids has arisen due to a new milk price law for wholesalers passed by the last Legislature.

"Since there still is an apparent misunderstanding, even after the meeting with the Milk Commission in Orlando yesterday, concerning the prices schools may pay for school milk, Milwee stated, 'the following recommendation has been made to school superintendents relative to bids for milk:'

"Those counties who have received bids and have tabled them because of high prices — the prices are running 7.2 should reject these bids immediately and refuse to accept those which appear to be unprofitably high."

Milwee said further: "We believe that in a short period of time this matter will be worked out and we will get satisfactory bids on school milk."

Milwee is chairman of the state superintendent's association.

Wekiya Road Open

Little Wekiya Road now is open from Sandalwood Springs for 1 1/2 miles north to the Longwood - Markham Road, permitting through traffic to Paola, it was reported this morning by County Engineer William Bush. The previous 1 1/2-mile sand trail has been finished with a sand-clay top.
