Tunney Considers Theatrical Tour Of European Countries In Spring

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Prominent Americans who will sail for abroad early this summer are the captain of the Leviathan and James Joseph Tunney, the well known heavyweight champion. The latter informed the writer today that he is seriously considering offers for a theatrical and exhibition tour of Germany, England and France and is so enamored of the idea that he is dispatching his barrister, Dudley Field Malone, to the scene to discover what he may.

Dudley or deadly, as the boys know him best, will sail on Saturday and he may be relied upon to discover all, including the uncharted box office.

The champion's tentative plans were outlined to me in some detail just before he left today on another buck hunt through the west. This is done by tracking the wild and untrammelled buck to the house manager's safe and claiming it for your own.

Anyhow, the end of March will bring the closed season, so Mr. Tunney would like himself elsewhere. His rather sketchy plans at this immature moment call for him to leave for abroad in April and return in June at which juncture it is expected it will be cauliflower time in Pugilistics.

Tunney will begin active training then for the defense of his title against the accepted challenger and the party who thinks he won't be "right" for the big moment has a frayed cuff in his family closet.

"I'm not three pounds overweight right now," Tunney declared. "I weigh 190 to an ounce and, if the demand was made, I could enter the ring within four weeks fit and ready to fight as well as ever I did but I'm taking no chances."

"Soon after the first week in June, I will leave for the woods with four or five sparring partners."

It had been said of Dempsey that he was "never out of condition, but by Sept. 24 last there were at least 130,000 people who knew that was wrong. However, it really goes for Tunney. His average day is just a recital of what the well behaved man will do.

"I'm up by seven o'clock and go through a series of calisthenics," he declares without shame. "After breakfast, I go for a long walk sometimes interspersed with occasional sprints. Then I appear in four or five shows a day at which my sparring exhibitions serve to keep my eye in trim."

"I have a light meal in the evening and usually indulge in crackers and just before retiring, which seldom is later than eleven o'clock. It all sounds quite irritating to me but, then, virtue is its own reward or something."

Sanford and Orlando fight fans are looking forward to the box-show which has been scheduled for the Armory tonight and the main go, one of 10 rounds between Boctis Antley, popular southern lightweight, and "Battling" Barrett, promises to be one of the best ever staged in a local arena.

Antley, who showed to advantage in his bout with Joe Wellner here last winter, has never been forgotten for his performance on that evening and despite the fact that he has been engaged in large number of bouts in the last few weeks, he is expected to be at his best tonight.

Barrett, said to be a product of Georgia, from where Antley migrated, is considered one of the best men in the south at his weight. Both men fast, on their feet and with a good punch. In either hand, will be seen tonight at their top performance.

For the semi-final, Promotor Norwood has brought Jack Sharpe back into the local ring for the second straight week. Sharpe is to meet a fighter who puts "Boo" out as his label. Last week Sharpe eluded Jerry Keville, local boy, around the ring for three rounds and at the end of the third he put him to sleep with a series of hard lefts and rights to the head jaw.

Sharpe will be within the charmed circle of the main go class in a short while, in the opinion of many of his admirers.

ANTLEY TO MEET BARRET IN MAIN ARMORY BATTLE

Bout Between Top Southern Lightweights Tonight Is Expected To Bring Out One Of Record Crowds Of Season

Sanford and Orlando fight fans are looking forward to the box-show which has been scheduled for the Armory tonight and the main go, one of 10 rounds between Boctis Antley, popular southern lightweight, and "Battling" Barrett, promises to be one of the best ever staged in a local arena.

Two preliminaries and a battle royal have been placed on the card and a record crowd is expected to turn out.

Jones Gets Decision Over "Boots" Antley

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 26 (INS)—Tommy Jones of Macon holds a slight edge today over "Boots" Antley, Jacksonville's leading lightweight, following a spirited 10 round battle here last night.

The bout was hard fought throughout but Jones was conceded a shade at the end. Roy Pettey, welterweight of Marietta, O., knocked out Jack O'Hara of Pittsburg in the third of a scheduled eight-round scrap.

Widows Of 2 Former Presidents On Visit To Brazilian Jungle Land

RIO JANEIRO, Jan. 26.—(INS)—Considerable interest is being displayed here in the probable Brazilian ventures of the widows of two former presidents of the United States.

Mrs. Roosevelt, widow of the late Col. Roosevelt, will be joined here in about a fortnight by Professor and Mrs. Patten, the widow of the late Grover Cleveland.

The party intends to go into the Brazilian interior and it is expected that they may cover some of the territory which the late Col. Roosevelt covered.

Plans have not been completed as yet but it is understood that the party intends to visit the less frequented areas in the interior although they are not expected to undertake any arduous expeditions through the jungles.

Florida Uses Over 25 Million Gallons Of Gas Last Month

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 26.—(INS)—Florida motorists consumed last month a total of 25,124,608 gallons of gasoline, according to the official report of J. Hinton Pledger, supervising inspector of the state department of agriculture.

Automobile manufacturers claim the average mileage of American-made automobiles to be 20 miles to a gallon of gasoline. Judging from this, there were 502,600,100 miles traveled over Florida highways and byways last month. Florida boasts 9,200 miles of roads so the figures show all of them to be well-traveled.

The consumption of kerosene last month totaled 2,992,576 gallons and of signal oil, 2,636 gallons. Dade county motorists consumed the record number of gallons of gasoline, the figures being 3,727,074 gallons, while Hillsborough county followed with 2,462,278 gallons. Duval was next with 1,848,681 gallons; Pinellas county, 1,684,452; Palm Beach, 1,257,283; Polk 1,250,161 and Orange 1,127,467.

Turkish authorities recently issued the order that girls and young women wearing white dresses must not wear them with ribbons of blue or orange color. The reason is that the combination of these colors is to be found in the national flag of Armenia and Greece.

High School Quintet To Clash With Ocoee

The basketballers of the Ocoee High School are to be the guests of the Sanford High quintet in the new gymnasium at the Seminole High School for a doubleheader Friday night at 7:30 o'clock, according to an announcement made yesterday by the Athletic Department. Both the boy's and girl's teams are to participate.

Sanford lost to Winter Park last week by the score of eight to two. This is believed to be a record for non-scoring. For the past several days the squad has been getting basket practice in heavy doses and indications are that a victory will result from the test with Ocoee.

50,000 More Motor Tags Are Ordered

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 26.—(INS)—Because of the large sales of 1927 automobile license plates throughout the state, 50,000 more tags have been ordered from the state prison factory, according to Charles Hunter, supervisor of state institutions.

This brings the total of 1927 automobile license plates up to the 528,000 mark.

The Time To Build Is NOW

Building material of all kinds is easier to obtain and lower in price than at any time since the war.

Labor of all kinds is plentier and you can take your pick of the best workmen and get more for your money than for years. Many of the skilled workmen who were attracted here during the boom may leave in the spring. Take advantage of their presence while you may.

The Place To Build Is Highland Park

Look it over. Drive through its winding avenues. Where in Sanford can you find building sites so beautiful? Many of them face the three parks which are all now under development, and will some day be the show places of the city, when Nature has carried out the plans along which I am working. Thousands of ornamental trees, palms and flowering shrubs will be added soon to the large number already growing.

THE MAIN ENTRANCE is pronounced by everybody to be among the most striking and beautiful in the state, even in its present bare condition, but just imagine what it will be when the palms and flowering shrubs and vines that have been set all around it have attained their growth. In two or three years the Flame Vines will have climbed all over it, and the purple and crimson Bougainvillae, the white Jasminums, the yellow Allamandas and the scarlet Hibiscus and Malvaviscus, all now set and growing there, will make this great Main Entrance in time, with its fountains and waving fronds of palms and bananas, its graceful bamboos, its Agaves and other tropical plants, all arranged with a view to harmony in respect to color and foliage and the relation of all to the entrance structure itself, its walls and arches and towers, a combination of matchless beauty.

SWAN OVAL, the large park which forms a part of the Main Entrance scheme, has been covered with a layer of muck, the ground prepared for planting and a water sprinkler system is now being installed all over it. The fountain which stands at the head of Swan Oval, just back of the main entrance, has cost nearly two thousand dollars.

RAINBOW GARDEN and POOL is well advanced, several thousand dollars having already been expended on its development. It fronts on Colonial Way, which is now paved so you can drive past it. A water sprinkler system has been installed over its entire area. Hundreds of Hibiscus and Allamanda form a hedge all around it. They have been nipped by the frost, but will come back when the cold weather is over. There is an Azalea garden of nearly a hundred plants near the rustic palm thatched summer house. A five foot Canna bed is around one half the circle. Sweet Peas around the other half, and in front of them were Nasturtiums just beginning to bloom when the frost wiped them out. In the pool have been planted tropical Water Lilies, white and blue and red, and pink and purple and yellow. The white and purple have already bloomed. The others are coming. All around the pool are now in bloom great numbers of pretty yellow and white flowers that spring from curious star shaped settings on the surface of the water. You will find it worth while to go down near the water's edge to see them better. In the center of the pool is an imitation calla lily, with a fountain springing from it. Yellow Jasmine vines are planted by the summer house. Flame Vines have been planted at the feet of pines and palms and magnolias that are standing in the garden and on the building sites surrounding it. Some day these will have climbed up and out all over the branches and will be festooned from tree to tree. Many other plants are growing here, nearly $500 having been spent for the plants alone. When they have grown, this will be one of the show places of Florida, just as Winter Park is now. Have you been to Winter Park since the flame vines are in bloom? Don't miss it. Drive through the best residential section. That's what Highland Park in Sanford will look like some day, only even more so, for Highland Park has the great advantage of a single control in its planning and development, although Winter Park is one of the best examples in the United States of what can be accomplished by people of taste and discernment who can look forward a few years and have the patience and persistence to work with Nature for the fulfillment of their dreams of beauty.

If you have vision, you will realize just as I can clearly see what the years will surely bring in Highland Park.

Where else in Sanford can you find a site for your home that can be compared to it? What other part of the city has all its advantages? What other so entirely free from all objectionable features? Added to all these attractions, if you are ready to build a home corresponding to the high ideals along which Highland Park is being developed, I offer an opportunity now, for a limited time and to a limited number to obtain building sites in this superb development at prices and on terms that can not be matched elsewhere.

If prepared to pay cash, you can buy at prices that will astonish you. If you must have your lot clear of incumbrance to obtain a building loan, I will take a second mortgage for a part or even all of the price of the lot. If you have a lot or a house and lot already paid for, and want to build in Highland Park, I will consider an exchange.

I have numerous books of house plans, with building costs figured out in many cases, which are at your disposal. Come and see me and let us talk it over. Or telephone me, and I will go to see you. Excepting on the few building sites that I will dispose of for a short time only for high class homes, there has been no change in the price of lots in Highland Park, and there will be none until prices are advanced, as they are sure to be much sooner than you may realize.

And what comes in over the wire makes us wonder what chance, Dorothy, Sunshine, Browning's adopted daughter, has, if any.

McAdoo's friends are urging him to seek the Democratic nomination again. McAdoo hasn't any more chance than Al Smith.

A little getting, 'Tis not that, If you know when.

The little girl down the street was explaining why Senator Smith was kicked out of the American senate, and she said it was because after Alcee Simps Mr. Simpson had been kidnapped to Europe—Queen Marie, thinking "If Women" had gotten her from the "Fighting Parrot" wouldn't let Mr. Browning say her train for fear Prince would get jealous, so the Mr. King then sent General Parrot to Chili to see if he couldn't get the Senate Liberals to give the hands back to the church, but when they did General Chang Tao Jen threw a bomb at Roosevelt which caused the Ohio river to overflow the banks and that's what brought on Charlie Chaplin's serious breakdown.

Paradoxically, A Moral

Reams and reams of sordid stuff about the Browning case comes in over the wire. Wonder not that some salacious matter finds its way into print but that newspapers omit as much of it as they do when the cosmic urge keeps thousands waiting breathlessly to "just eat it up." The newspapers are cutting much more of this stuff than they are printing.

What we try to do is present to the people enough of this so that they may know the risks which confront them in the rearing of their children. Traps are laid at every turn along the highway of life for the unsuspecting to fall into. What is one man's shame may be another man's warning. What is one person's degradation, may be another's salvation. If people read such accounts as the Browning case in the proper spirit, much good may come of it.

Grant, for the sake of argument, that "Peaches" Browning was a nice girl. There are nice girls who, susceptible to the appeal of riches, might have married a man who could make love, even though he be in his fifties. And if there are, she might have been your daughter or your neighbor's daughter. And if she were, you would feel pretty badly about it. You would feel pretty badly to think of your own daughter going through the sordid, revolting experiences of "Peaches" Browning.

On the other hand, "Peaches" may have been a "gold digger," as Browning says. And he may have been acting in good faith and really been in love with the girl. The trial has not yet progressed far enough to ascertain this for a surety. But grant, for the sake of argument, that he was. In that case what a grand mistake he made, allowing himself to fall in love with one entirely out of his class and forty years his junior. To say the least, he was old enough to know better.

So read the Browning case, if you read it at all, with an open mind and try to get at least a couple of pointers out of it. And if you are a mother, resolve to keep your daughter from such degenerating influences. And if you are a man, never make such an ass of yourself as Mr. Browning did.

It Isn't The Speed; It's The Control

J. Fred DeBerry, a Tampa man, contending that Florida's speed limit is too high, advocates the organization of a "Slow Down" society to curb the present speed orgy in our state. Mr. DeBerry says that when a man leaves his home in the morning he never knows if he will return safely in the evening or not. Even the careful driver, he continues, is at the mercy of the speed maniacs.

"This orgy of speed," Mr. DeBerry says, "is fostered and abetted by a law upon the statute books of Florida permitting a higher rate of speed on the public highways than common sense teaches is safe. It is nonsense to say that the harder and faster you hit a man, the longer he will live. That's just about what the Florida statute implies."

If Mr. DeBerry is trying to prevent accidents, he is sounding his warning to the wrong party. It is not the speeder who causes the most accidents, but the careless or drunken driver. Florida had a law once, only a few years ago, which limited speed on public highways to twenty-five miles an hour. It is not recalled that accidents were unknown in those days.

The principle effect of such a law is the nuisance caused motorists of being constantly in danger, not only from drunk or sleepy drivers, but from constables and marshals as well. Practically everyone has some recollection of driving at a reasonable speed, perhaps thirty miles an hour, through a wooded vale on some beautiful country road, to have the enjoyment of the occasion marred, or completely destroyed, by some obnoxiously inquisitive motorcyclist who smart-aleckly wants to know where the fire is and then relieves us of twenty-five dollars.

Florida is a state which boasts of many wide and well paved roads; it also is a state of great distances. In Rhode Island, Massachusetts, or Connecticut, one can drive all over the state in a day and not exceed twenty-five miles an hour. But if one leaves Tallahassee for Fort Myers or Homestead and doesn't exceed twenty-five miles an hour, it will take him a week to reach his destination. With such roads as Florida has, he could drive forty-five or fifty without increasing the danger for himself or others.

No, the trouble is not with the speed law. What Florida needs is a law prohibiting anyone from driving who is not physically and mentally capable of doing so without great risk to the general public. There are persons driving cars who are quite deaf, others partly blind. Some drivers are extremely nervous, or actually too weak to control the wheel. There are many driving cars who don't know the most ordinary rules of the road. But worst of all is the man who drives who is under the influence of liquor.

It is by this class, these poor drivers, these sick drivers, these liquor drivers, that most accidents are caused. Of course it hurts worse to get hit by a car going fast than one going slowly, but a driver is much less likely to go to sleep at forty-five miles an hour than at twenty. And as far as drunken drivers go, who also drive fast, the laws don't affect them much anyway.

Why make it any easier for road cops to prey upon the public?

Are Prices Too High?

New York night clubs are being criticized by some of the newspapers out in the provinces because of the prices which they charge their patrons, or their victims. If the quoted prices are correct somebody is apparently paying more for a poor sort of entertainment than is desirable, but presumably those who spend their money in this way are willing to spend it in this way.

One of the lists includes the following items, bought on New Year's eve: Half-pint ginger ale, $1; four small roses arranged as a boutonniere, $4.50; Rhine wine with carbonate of soda, known as champagne, $25 a quart; two orders potatoes, $3.50; two orders celery and olives, $2.50; two orders bread and butter, $2; two coffees, $2; one quart of liquor, kind not specified, $20.

This menu seems to consist largely of liquid refreshment calculated to make a person forget what he is paying for anything. Probably after partaking of the synthetic champagne the patron would undertake to drink the boutonniere and pin the ginger ale on his lapel. And he would not know or care whether the entertainment furnished were classical or whether, as is charged, it is a glittering sham.

One newspaper suggests that the modern night clubs are not a very satisfactory substitute for the old-time saloon. There was sociability and companionship, there. Men could sit and smoke, and take a glass of beer with small danger of being poisoned.

The old-time saloon was not the nicest place in the world, everyone admits. There are few who are inclined to believe that the new regime is no better. Certainly it costs more to acquire a satisfactory case of piffication.

From the standpoint of Miami there is one puzzling question in connection with this price list from New York. One cannot help wondering why so many New Yorkers come down here and complain of the charges at the Miami night clubs.—Miami Herald.

Now He's Dead. So is Mithras. Busy Mussolini. Good Lending. By ARTHUR BRISBANE. Copyright 1927, by Star Co.

ON MONDAY NIGHT, to attend a typical prize ring assemblage, a boy of 17, Leo Maham, amateur and inexperienced, fought and was knocked unconscious, instantly he died. A blow in the stomach did it.

If you ask why a country forbidding assault and battery on the street, permits that brutality to the prize ring, the answer is that prize fighting is profitable, politicians get part of the profits, and make laws accordingly.

AT TREAVIS in France, archeologists have unearthed a temple built by ancient Gauls, bearing "the name of the sky will fall upon us," as they said to Alexander. They erected it to the Persian god, Mithras, once powerful deity of light and the sun, with followers far outnumbering those of Jehovah.

No false god, Mithras or any other, could survive without permission of the real god, of course. But at one time it looked as though Mithras, seated on his hill with the morning and evening stars beside him, would rule all Europe.

Fortunately St. Paul could make no headway with Christianity in Asia, so he came to Europe to do his work and wiping out Mithras, was part of it. Mithras, the great god of might, "friend of man" as he is dead now as the brave old Gauls that built his temple, or the bull upon which he sat, plunging his knife into it.

NO LOW DESCENDING sun ever finds Mussolini winding up an idle day. Among other things the Italian dictator is Italy's air minister. Our "take it easy" sentiment will leave note that Mussolini expects, by spring, to have a gigantic air fleet, powerful enough to paralyze any enemy that should start a war.

NO VICTORY can be won by soldiers on the ground. But if war should start, and a hundred airplanes dropping TNT were immediately dispatched to destroy the great cities of South America, though it had 1,000,000 armed men that country might be begging for peace before nightfall.

IF NORTH AND SOUTH America cannot act before the rest of the world as an example of peace and common sense, something is wrong with both. South America this year the Latin republics will spend 100,000,000 developing railroads, and most of the world will be borrowed in the United States. Chile is negotiating a $40,000,000 loan in New York to electrify the Chilean state railways. Apparently those South American states are sufficiently honest and conscientious to manage state railroads.

THE FINANCING of desirable industrial enterprises in South America by United States banks and investment for American money, better than lending money to Europe to keep up their equipment.

SWEDISH ENGINEERS and foremen undertake to build Turkey's roads, and repair Turkey's forests and coal fields. The Swedish syndicate will probably turn to New York for a loan. That also will be money well lent. Building railroads and industry means fighting poverty and fighting poverty means fighting war.

ONE BILLION dollars will be spent on new golf courses and clubs this year, including the cost of 1,000 new golf clubs starting, and maintenance of old clubs. If the nation could build a thousand new flying machines, one for each new golf club, to protect the links and placid gentlemen playing on them, it would be a good thing.

INCREASED TENSION between the Vatican and Mussolini's government is shown by the Pope's order disbanding Catholic youth organizations in Italian cities of less than 20,000 population. Mussolini had announced his intention to discourage Catholic youth about competition with his Fascist boy scouts. The Pope's letter shows that the Catholic youth were disbanded because of Mussolini's threat. The Pope's letter says: "We wish to spare them (the Fascist government) the ungrateful task of dissolving the many societies of good and peaceful young taxpayers in which the population of small centers took so much pride."

The Pope's letter quotes King David's words to God: "If we must die, let us die by your hand rather than by the hand of men."

BIOCIOTTI GARIBALDI, convicted of helping Catalonia in her struggle for independence, wonders whether this government will call him an "undesirable" if he comes.

Catalonia is to Spain what Ireland was, until lately, to Great Britain, a dissatisfied, coerced territory. Garibaldi, grandson of the great man who made Italy a nation, is like Lafayette, a man inclined to fight with the weak against the strong. It would be amusing if this country should say to him, "Keep out!"

STUDY OF JAPAN IS CONCLUDED BY THE LITERATURE DEPARTMENT

The meeting of the Literature Department of the Woman's Club on Wednesday afternoon was opened by the department chairman, Mrs. Anna Van Ness Brown, in the Sun Parlor. Important business was transacted in connection with the coming play, to be given by this department on Feb. 24.

Mrs. Henry Wright then very graciously presided during the program, which concluded the study of Japan. Mrs. Wright in her charming manner gave a delightful reading on "Japanese Gardens and Flowers." She pointed out how greatly the United States and especially Florida are indebted to Japan for the many broad-leaved evergreens, the camphor trees, the ligustrums, azaleas, camellias, many of her finest conifers, all the bamboo, the oleanders, clematids, hydrangeas, chrysanthemums and others. Plums, peonies, and Japanese maples, which are planted with names taken to them and often the affix Japanese, which is the surname of every plant and flower that comes from Japan.

Flowers have a very great part in the festivals of Japan, especially the cherry blossoms, wisterias, and chrysanthemums. Mrs. Wright said. However the popularity of certain flowers depend largely on a hidden unseen grace made up of association and tradition. For instance, the blossoms of the Lilies, which has no claim at all to beauty, is highly valued because of an ancient poetic fable touching on the lilies as a fair maiden and her lover, the stag.

Their gardens are unusually placed at the rear of the house, having pools, waterfalls and streams of water, trees, shrubs and stones, all artistically arranged with some meaning to them, perhaps a congenial environment for the rituals of the tea ceremony. The stones, one for worshipping, one for viewing the moon, and many others for this frame of mind or that, all help to make a

Full House Grets Presentation Here Of Play, 'The Rock'

An overflow audience last night attended the Green Room Players' presentation of "The Rock," at the Junior High School auditorium. The members of the cast are students at Stinson University and this year's production is the third which has been successfully staged. Ministers of Sanford churches, and others who sponsored the Sanford appearance of the college players, were today receiving congratulations from many who attended last night's performance.

"The Rock" was written by Mary P. Hanala and is a play showing the character development of Simon Peter. The religious atmosphere, together with the many dramatic scenes, make it an excellent vehicle for the display of talent such as was seen and heard last night.

The musical numbers rendered by Chaucery Johnson, Lois Hunt and Harlow Merriday were exceptionally pleasing to the audience.

Miss Bissett Speaks To Missionary Union Of 1st Baptist Church

The Woman's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church had a very interesting meeting Tuesday afternoon at the church parlors.

Miss Mary Bissett, a missionary from China, gave a splendid talk on the work done in China, and also recited John III, 16, in Chinese then explained the interpretation of that scripture.

Many interesting stories of travels in China were related by Miss Bissett, as well as the work that is being done there by the missionaries, the Chinese religion and superstition, and the effect of foreigners in China.

Mrs. Bissett also stated that many children from the ages of seven to nine, worked in factories which were kept running both day and night.

After this interesting talk, a social hour followed, when a delicious ice course was served by the members of the Nellie Turner Circle. About 75 ladies were in attendance.
