CHAPTER 24
LATER THAT same night Val was with Dirk in Bruce's surgery. The formalities of death were over and Mrs. Featherstone's body had been taken down by two orderlies to the ship's hospital ward. Val had changed back into her uniform, but Dirk was still in costume. That he should still be in fancy costume gave a bizarre touch to the scene. Val was sitting on the edge of a chair, as though she were afraid to relax. She was drooping not only with weariness but with an aching sense of guilt and misery.

Bruce was speaking quietly. "But when you saw the condition of your patient why didn't you call me at once?" He was seated in the chair before his desk, and his manner though professional was not unsympathetic.

"I'm sorry, Doctor. I didn't realize how serious her condition was until toward the end. I was going for you, but it was too late." Despite all her hospital experience she never failed to feel awe in the presence of death, and this time she had an aching sense of pity as well.

"But it might not have been too late if you'd called me earlier."

"I didn't think she had sent for me because she was ill. I thought she'd sent for me for another reason."

"You mean when you came into the cabin she seemed perfectly all right, her pulse was normal, her color healthy?"

"I didn't take her pulse, and if I thought her color unhealthy, I put that down to the temper she was in," she said slowly.

"She was in a temper? You think that may have brought on the heart attack?" he asked sharply.

She looked away from him, biting her lower lip. "I think it may have, Doctor." The awful feeling of guilt rushed over her again. Had she been the unwitting cause of her patient's death?

"But surely, knowing that your patient had a heart condition, you should have done what you could to soothe her." But he still spoke gently.

"I suppose I should have," she admitted.

"I'm afraid I shall have to ask you for an explanation, Nurse Allison," he said, speaking more firmly.

She didn't reply immediately.

"Please answer me, Nurse. I shouldn't like to think you'd been remiss in your duty," he reminded her gravely.

But it was Dirk who answered in an irritated, weary voice.

"Oh, for heaven's sake stop questioning Val, Harridan! Don't you think she's been through enough tonight without having to answer your questions?"

Bruce's manner underwent an instant change. "I'll ask you to keep out of this discussion, Hanson. What I'm saying to Nurse Allison doesn't concern you in any way," he said coldly.

Dirk straightened aggressively. "Of course it does. Everything about Val concerns me, and I won't have her hectoring by you or anyone else." Why had Dirk intervened? Didn't he realize it was the last thing he should have done? It was Bruce's duty to question her; and up to now, although his manner had been formal, there had been an undercurrent of sympathy.

"Nurse Allison happened to have been in charge of one of my patients," Bruce said sternly.

"But can't you drop your professional manner for once and be human?" Dirk retorted angrily.

"Can't we talk it all out as friends?"

"You think we are friends?" Bruce asked.

Dirk shrugged in helpless exasperation. "At least you must admit we know each other well enough to drop all this baloney. Since you're a doctor, you must see that both Val and I have had as much as we can stand tonight, Val especially. I should have thought you'd have sent her to bed with a sedative. But apparently you haven't any feeling for her."

"Oh, please, Dirk," Val whispered.

"So it was you who told her not to call me?" Bruce asked. "Well, I'm not altogether surprised. . . . But what does surprise me is that a girl with nursing training should have taken any notice of what you said."

"All this is a waste of time and a lot of nonsense," Dirk retorted angrily. "I'm going to take Val to her cabin whether you like it or not. If you want to go on with this inquisition in the morning, I'll be at your disposal, but for heaven's sake leave Val out of it." As he spoke, he moved forward, took one of Val's hands and pulled her to her feet.

Bruce didn't speak, but as Dirk led her to the door and opened it, Val turned back toward him and gave him a quick, pleading glance.

"Once, I'm sorry. . . ."

"Good night, Nurse," he said coldly.

Bruce's color had brightened. "I have to question Nurse Allison since I have to make my report to the Captain in the morning." He added stiffly, "I shouldn't like to have to report that any negligence on her part was responsible for her patient's death."

"You'd darn well better not report that," Dirk said furiously. "You might just as well accuse me of murdering the poor old dear. After all, it was I who thrust those pills into her mouth."

"You gave her the pills? What pills?" Bruce asked slowly.

"Some heart pills Val asked me to get out of the medicine bag. I spilled the wratched things. Maybe if I'd brought them sooner, it would have helped."

"But why did you give them to her?" Bruce persisted.

"Oh, why not?" Dirk was beginning to lose his temper again. "We were both badly rattled, but we were doing what we could. Val wanted to go for you when Aunt May first and the attack, but I said when she recovered and found you in the cabin it would probably give her a relapse. It might even finish her."

"So it was you who told her not to call me?" Bruce asked. "Well, I'm not altogether surprised. . . . But what does surprise me is that a girl with nursing training should have taken any notice of what you said."

"All this is a waste of time and a lot of nonsense," Dirk retorted angrily. "I'm going to take Val to her cabin whether you like it or not. If you want to go on with this inquisition in the morning, I'll be at your disposal, but for heaven's sake leave Val out of it." As he spoke, he moved forward, took one of Val's hands and pulled her to her feet.

Bruce didn't speak, but as Dirk led her to the door and opened it, Val turned back toward him and gave him a quick, pleading glance.

"Once, I'm sorry. . . ."

"Good night, Nurse," he said coldly.

Use Imagination When Decorating Bedrooms In Home

Don't let convention restrict your imagination when you decorate a bedroom. Have you a hobby? A faraway place that has always fascinated you? A favorite game? Any of these themes can be worked into a decorative scheme.

There are wallpapers which reproduce stamps, music, and dolls, if any one of these is your hobby. Racks and chests for a fan, rock, or souvenir collection make interesting focal points in any room.

An interest in American history can be reflected in a room furnished with antiques. (The crowning touch here — a four-poster bed!) It's easy to work in exotic touches of the Far East nowadays with the great popularity of Japanese and Indian accessories. Chessmen adorn drapery fabrics, and a floor can easily be made into a fine checker board.

The main thing is to use your imagination. Make the room a reflection of your interest. But remember — a bed room is for sleeping. Don't over-decorate to such an extent that the room becomes a confusing jumble. And don't overlook the bedding. No matter how much fun the room is, without a comfortable mattress and spring you won't get much satisfaction or rest from it.

Supermarkets—Save You Many Trips

If you're a homemaker, you're lucky that you live in America! Women in Italy and elsewhere on the European continent need more time for shopping than you do.

In Italy a woman starting on her weekly shopping tour goes to the fresh meat butcher, the dairy, the fruit shop, the smoked meat store, the baker; after that, to the fishmonger, the druggist, and so on. The typical shopping trip may take Signora Romano to 14 stores or more. She'll be a tired homemaker by the time she returns.

Here, in one of our supermarkets — everything from steak to orange juice, from lettuce to dairy products, bread to spaghetti sauce is found under one roof.

Our modern food distribution is one of the essential elements in America's higher standard of living, of nutrition and of health. Here, corn on the cob is available in January; you can enjoy frozen strawberries 12 months a year, lamb isn't sold just in the spring, and you can have a wide variety of vegetables whenever you want them and whatever the season.

In many foreign countries, fruits and vegetables can be bought only when "they're in season," milk is still dipped from a can and many of the frozen foods we know are not even on the market.

Living Costs Rise To Record Level During September

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has reported that living costs rose three-tenths of one per cent in September to a record level.

The index of the Labor Department's Bureau of Statistics reached 117.1 per cent of the 1947-49 base period.

This was about one-tenth of one per cent above the prior record of 117 in July, and compares with 116.8 for August.

Prices were higher in September for all major groups of consumer goods and services except food, which remained at the August level.

The bureau said the September living cost level was nearly 2 per cent higher than a year ago and 2.8 per cent higher than in January 1953, at the start of President Eisenhower's administration.

The living cost rise means wage boosts ranging from one to three cents an hour for about 300,000 workers in a variety of industries, mainly the electrical manufacturing industry, including General Electric Co. plants. Wage rates for these workers are geared in part to changes in the government living cost index.

New record levels of worker earnings also were reported. The Bureau of Labor Statistics said take-home-pay—or earnings less tax deductions—reached a new peak in September.

EDWARD K. MEADOR, 71, running as Vice-Presidential candidate on the Greenback Party ticket, is shown in Boston as he outlined some of the principles of his party, which includes abolition of the income tax. A Virginian by birth, Meador claims to be a descendant of Benjamin Franklin. He also thinks that the Government should print its own money to meet operating costs.

The average take-home pay of a factory worker without dependents was $66.65 a week, and that of a worker with a wife and two children was $74.04. Each figure is about $1.10 higher than the rate in August and approximately $2.60 above a year ago.

Revenue Study Of Utility Dept. Will Begin Soon

A study of the revenue derived from the City of Sanford's Utility Department will begin soon under the direction of Wilson Holt, representative of Goodbody & Co., investment brokers.

The survey will deal with the entire fiscal operation of the Utility Department, both revenue and expenditures.

A contract was signed by the City of Sanford with Goodbody and Co. to conduct the survey and study to determine the feasibility for the construction of a sewage disposal plant.

Three or four days will be devoted to the actual study of the City of Sanford Utility Department's books. The income, outgo, capital improvement program of the department and all other pertinent data in regard to the operation of the department will be included in the study.

"The fiscal agents was the one bright picture in the recent water and sewer improvement program," said City Manager Warren E. Knowles at the last meeting of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners.

Following the study of the Utility Department's books here in Sanford, a further study will be made of the findings.

From the additional study conducted by Wilson Holt of the investment brokerage firm, various maturity schedules are drawn and the marketability of the revenue certificates will be determined.

The contract for the study was confirmed by the Board of Sanford City Commissioners at an adjourned meeting of the board held on Oct. 22.

The immediate necessity for a sewage disposal plant and the strenuous interest of the individual members of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners, as expressed at the adjourned meeting last week, has prompted the survey study which is being projected immediately.

Harness Racing To Open Many New Jobs To Residents

When harness racing is introduced at Seminole Raceway many new jobs will open to residents of the county. William R. Kemp, raceway president, told The Herald today.

"I can't predict just how many jobs there will be out there when we get underway. But I can say this—that 85 per cent of those hired for any job whatsoever in connection with the operation must be residents of the county," Kemp stated.

"That is not just our desire. It is a requirement under the license which will be granted when the voters ratify the harness racing proposal at the polls on Nov. 6.

Kemp went on to say that people and businessmen in all walks of life in the county will benefit from the big expansion program slated to take place at the raceway.

"We'll be buying thousands of dollars worth of building materials and items in connection with the plant expansion. When the owners and trainers of the dog horses to be stabled here for six months move on, every business in Seminole County will feel the impact of new dollars being poured into the area's economy," Kemp promised.

"People from all sections of the county will make Seminole County a vacation visiting spot," Kemp said. "We anticipate that even when there is no racing going on at the raceway, visitors from every state and Canada will be putting up at local hotels, motels and lodging places as they will visit the track daily to watch the workouts—one of the most free attractions offered anywhere in Florida. Our raceway will serve as a magnet, luring thousands into the area who have never before visited Seminole County," Kemp said.

Members of the Seminole County Citizens Tax Council met yesterday with County officials in their effort to secure reports from various county agencies relative to the tax problems confronting them.

From these reports, which are slated to be completed no later than Nov. 20, the County Council will receive its report to be submitted to the State Citizens Tax Council in a statewide tax survey.

The County Citizens Tax Council was appointed by Gov. LeRoy Collins. The local organization is headed by Ralph Austin Smith and its membership includes: T. E. Tucker, Robert Bauman, Wilson W. Horne, John Evans, W. G. Kilbee, B. F. Wheeler Jr., John Ivey, W. E. Patrick, Robert G. Bradford, R. T. Milwee and J. Bralley Odham.

Ralph A. Smith told the county officials yesterday, at their meeting in the office of R. T. Milwee, that the Citizens Tax Council was created through the enactment of Senate Bill 817.

"There never has been an overall study of Florida's tax problems," he said. "The study will reflect the thinking of business, labor, industry and other interests from which the findings will be used locally, in the city and county governments as well as by the state."

Smith pointed out that the meeting yesterday was an organizational one. "The time element is of extreme importance," he said as he called for the close cooperation of county officials in the completion of the reports requested by Nov. 20.

City officials will meet at a later date with Clifford McNeil, in whose charge the collecting of reports from that source has been placed.

Meeting with the County Citizens Tax Council yesterday were: County Commissioners John Meisch, B. C. Dodd and Brown Miller; Clifford McNeil, Lawrence Switzer, Homer Little and John Knoff; John Ivey, Tax Assessor John Galloway, Tax Assessor Sanford Doudney, Tax Assessor Miss Mary Earle; W. G. Kilbee, Clerk of Circuit Court U. P. Herndon, Superintendent of Public Instruction R. T. Milwee, and Frank Wheeler Jr.

Wildwood Sheriff Believes Missing Negro Still Alive

WILDWOOD — Sheriff M. H. Bowman said today he believes Jesse Woods, 29-year-old Negro, who vanished from a blond-stained jail cell Sunday, is alive and "I expect him to be found."

Bowman added, however, there is a possibility Woods was slain and his body "buried or jumped into a pit."

The Negro had been accused of saying "hello there, baby," to a white school teacher.

FBI agents appeared briefly on the scene, then departed without saying whether they would take part in the investigation. Undercover men from the Florida State Sheriff's Bureau are working on the case.

Bowman said he and his deputies had made a thorough search of the area and had asked cowboys to report any finds of fresh dirt in pastures which might point to a newly-dug grave.

The sheriff also reported he had contacted a number of Negro residents of this small railroad center and told them that if Woods is found "he will be protected."

The contacts were made, he said, on the chance that some Negro home might be harboring Woods, in the fear that something would happen to him if he were found.

Middle East Viewer Tells Rotary Club U.S. On Tinder Box

One of the most forceful, dynamic and impressive speakers ever to appear before the Rotary Club of Sanford told his listeners yesterday at the club's regular weekly meeting at the Yacht Club, "I want to report to you what I saw and read and observed during my recent five week trip in the Middle East. We are sitting on a tinder box, one which is, even at this moment, about to blow up."

He said it was "with exceeding regret" that he canceled the talks. Press secretary James Hagerly, who announced the decision, said he did not know whether Eisenhower would be able to reschedule the visits before election day.

Also uncertain at the moment, Hagerly said, is whether Eisenhower will be able to keep his date in Philadelphia Thursday evening for a major address to be broadcast by radio and television at 9:30 p. m. EST.

The United States called on the U. N. Security Council today to order Israeli troops to withdraw immediately from Egyptian territory.

U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. made his demand at an emergency meeting of the 11-Nation Council summoned hastily during the night after Israeli troops moved deep into Egypt.

Lodge told the Council the United States would present a formal proposal at another meeting of the Council this afternoon calling for an immediate end of the Israeli forces.

He appealed to all members of the Council to refrain from giving Israel any assistance or from taking "advantage of the situation for any selfish interest."

"Failure of the Council to react at this time," Lodge said, "would be a clear avoidance of its responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security."

Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld told the Council that Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, U. N. force chief in Palestine, had called on both Egypt and Israel for an immediate cease-fire. So far, he said, he had no information as to whether either side had replied.

In another development, Jordan formally urged the Council to end the fighting. At the same time, Jordan warned that it would go to the aid of Egypt in fulfillment of its treaty obligations.

The Jordanian foreign minister said that Israel's attack on Egypt "endangers the peace of the Middle East and the peace of Jordan itself."

Dr. Kadel, who was introduced by George Touhy, one of the elders of the local Presbyterian Church, summed up the logic of the Arabs in these few words: "The friend of my enemy is my enemy."

Time after time, he made mention of the fact that he is not reporting on the things he saw as an expert but one, being a human being, had the welfare of all peoples at heart. In his opinion, much of the difficulties being experienced in the Middle East were because of childish thinking on the part of so-called leaders in world affairs. "Some men are trying to act as gods," he said. "I believe that if these men will act as men, not try to act as gods and let God be God, many of the problems can and will be solved."

"His message was received with enthusiastic acclaim," Dr. Charles L. Persons, who presided, stated.

Visitors included the Rev. A. G. Malinin, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, here; Willis B. Jones and Gen. J. C. Hutchinson.

Lawsuit Filed Today

A Circuit Court suit was filed today with the Clerk of Circuit Court seeking an injunction restraining the Board of Seminole County Commissioners from holding a referendum election to determine whether or not pari-mutuel betting would be allowed in conjunction with a permit issued by the Florida State Racing Commission.

William R. Kemp, president of Seminole Raceway Park, said this morning that "We have been notified by an Orlando attorney that a Circuit Court suit will be filed today seeking an injunction to prevent the taxpayers of Seminole County from exercising their right to vote for restriction of the harness racing referendum."

W. J. Steel, attorney representing the Sanford Orlando Kennel Club said this morning that "The suit is being filed because 'the law under which racing is permitted states that there cannot be two racing plants within 100 miles of one another.' Steel also pointed out that the Board of County Commissioners cannot call an election in an instance where two plants are so located.

Kemp said today, "We understand that included among those individuals seeking this injunction is Jerry Collins, operator of the local dog track."

"We now know the background of some of the opponents who would, through legal maneuvers, deprive the voters of Seminole County of their right to decide their own economic future," said Kemp.

"The injunction is so worded as to take issue," Kemp stated, "not particularly with us, but rather with the legal opinions of the Attorney General of the State of Florida, the Racing Commission of the State of Florida and the

Absentee Ballot Deadline Thursday

There are only two more days in which to make application for absentee ballots, according to Mrs. Camilla Bruce, Supervisor of Registration for Seminole County.

The deadline for making application for the absentee ballots is Thursday.

However, marked ballots for the Nov. 6 general election in the absentee voting will be received up until 5 p. m. Nov. 2 by mail, said Mrs. Bruce.

"It seems as if we will have the largest absentee vote in Seminole County's voting history," she said.

Nearly 300 absentee ballots have already been marked and received in the office of the Supervisor of Registration located in the Chamber of Commerce Building.

2 Western Powers Warn Israel, Egypt To Stop Fighting

LONDON — Britain and France declared today their support for the United Nations resolution calling for a cease-fire in the Suez Canal area unless Israel and Egyptian troops stop fighting within 12 hours.

The two Western powers sent this warning to both Cairo and Jerusalem.

Prime Minister Eden told the House of Commons the Anglo-French operation aims to "separate the belligerents and guarantee the freedom of passage" through the Suez Canal.

Eden declared the British and French governments have asked Egypt and Israel to withdraw their forces to within 10 miles of each side of the Suez Canal.

The Anglo-French proposal envisages that forces of the two countries should be "temporarily" based at Port Said, Ismailia and Suez.

Herald Represented At Advertising Meet

Representatives of The Sanford Herald attended the Annual Fall meeting of the Florida Newspaper Advertising Executives which was held Friday and Saturday in Daytona Beach at the Casa Linda Hotel.

More than 30 newsmen were represented at the round table discussions held Friday afternoon and Saturday morning when mutual problems were the subject of the panel study.

Three sessions were held for the various categories of newspaper advertising representatives. Miss Helen Newman, president of the retail group, Harold Canning over the national group, and Heidt Swearingen over the classified group.

Julius Davidson, president and publisher of the Daytona Beach News-Journal delivered the welcome address to the FNAE members Saturday afternoon.

Paul Harris, president of FNAE, presided over the short business session which was followed by reports from the individual group sessions. The Spring meeting of the association will be held in Gainesville.

George W. Jenkins, president of Public Super Markets delivered the address at Saturday night's FNAE banquet.

Attending the meeting from The Herald were Mrs. Evelyn Cushman, Advertising manager and Lew Luster, Classified Manager.

Legalized Betting Attacked By Negro Ministerial Assn.

Another attack on the pari-mutuel system at Seminole Raceway Park was made by the Negro Ministerial Association for Seminole County at a meeting held yesterday at Shilo Baptist Church.

A resolution opposing pari-mutuel betting was adopted by the body and signed by its president, the Rev. S. M. Daniels and the secretary, the Rev. N. A. Watson.

The resolution points out "We are convinced and know that pari-mutuel gambling in any area is morally wrong, and against God's plan, and being immoral it will greatly hinder and retard the work of our churches, and will lower both the moral and financial standard for life that we have obtained."

Stardust Increasing

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Some stars apparently are steadily increasing the stardust necessary to begin new young daughter stars and planets like earth. And some stars in the heavens may be second or third generation offspring of old or dead invisible stars.

The stars and universe perhaps began out of simple clouds of hydrogen, the simplest element of all. Then stars themselves created the rest of the kinds of atoms that make up the earth—and you—and younger stars.

These are parts of a new theory of the origin and life of the universe. Evidence to support it is coming from new studies by astronomers and nuclear scientists. This theory challenges an older theory that the universe began 4 1/2 to 5 billion years ago with a big bang or explosion of one primeval central atom. That explosion supposedly instantly created all the chemical elements from which stars and planets came.

Some main evidence comes from brilliant analyses of the chemical elements existing in stars. These studies find stars do vary in their chemical makeup according to their age, masses and brightness.

Younger stars have more metals or heavy elements than old ones. And some giant red stars are manufacturing new elements, especially heavy ones up to the weight of lead. And they apparently are spewing these new elements out into vast dust and gas clouds in space. This could be the stardust to make new stars and planets.

One idea is that in the beginning, stars condensed out of clouds of hydrogen gas. The stars burned by converting hydrogen into helium, as our sun does, in the kind of reaction that is the basis for H-bombs.

Helium turned into carbon, oxygen and neon in the starry atomic furnaces. Still more burning and nuclear reactions under certain conditions could produce still heavier elements.

Some of these early stars perhaps exploded. Others, of massive size, made new elements and tossed them out into space before the stars contracted and began burning only dimly.

From the gas formed this way, a second generation of stars, richer in metals and heavy elements, could form. But some of these also could swell up and lose mass or explode, forming still richer gas out of which came a third generation of stars.

And out of this enriched stardust could have come our earth and all the other planets. Perhaps millions or billions of planets exist throughout the universe and many could have conditions suitable for life as we know it.

Our earth could have been formed at least half a billion to a billion years after the universe itself began. Some of the earlier stars could have made the chemical elements found on earth.

MARGARET DAVIS, 5, holding a welcome bouquet, executes a long-practiced curtsy as Princess Margaret of Britain visits the hospital at Tanga, Tanganyika, during a tour of British East African colonies. (International) physicist, finds the giant red stars are producing heavy elements and that young stars often have more heavy elements than do old stars. Dr. Paul Merrill discovered the giant red stars are making technetium, a heavy highly radioactive element not found on earth.

Other scientists, from experiments and theory, find evidence the stars could carry out the nuclear reactions to build up heavy elements from light ones in cosmic alchemy. These workers include Dr. William G. Fowler of Caltech and Drs. Margaret and Geoffrey Burbidge of Cambridge University.

TELEVISION WRITERS are subjected to frequent network censorship, some of it baffling indeed. For instance, one censor insisted that the word "avocado" be eliminated from a script. "Why?" demanded the writer. The censor answered coldly, "My dear fellow, have you ever SEEN an avocado?" and marched majestically out of the room. The writer is still trying to figure it out.

Glass Gable Boon To Small Home

Tips On Adding Space, Sparkle To Small Rooms

If you have a room in your home which frustrates you with its short walls and low ceilings, try using mirrors to add a new look of depth and sparkle, advises a chief designer for a glass company.

"The high cost of undertaking extensive interior alterations is often a strong deterrent to making dreamed-of expansion changes in 'match box' rooms," points out the designer, "but the simple solution to many a problem of small rooms lies in the use of mirrors which are low in cost when compared to the expense and general confusion involved in removing a wall or raising a ceiling."

Thanks to today's modern method of twin-grinding plate glass which is used in the manufacture of high-grade mirrors, homeowners are able to obtain mirrors of the highest degree of distortion-free clarity yet attainable, and at reasonable cost, too.

ONE OF THE MOST common problems encountered in homes both new and old, is the dilemma of short walls. One solution lies in the use of rectangular mirrors which are hung horizontally to give the illusion of greater length to the wall.

If the room in question has a window opening on a garden or pleasing view, he suggests hanging the mirror on the wall opposite the window. In this way the outside view is reflected, giving the wall a pleasing, living mural effect. Natural light in the room is increased and the wall seems to be "pushed back," giving the entire area a feeling of spaciousness and sparkle.

The designer cautions against placing mirrors too high up on the wall so that from a sitting position only the ceiling is reflected. Hang it low enough to pick up the image of furnishings and in this way you will enjoy the full decorative effect provided by the mirror when you are both sitting and standing.

TO GIVE THE FEELING of height to low ceilings and at the same time create a distinctive furniture setting, he suggests suspending a mirror vertically as a backdrop for a side table. By placing an attractive lamp at one side of the table, either on the top or the independent floor-standing type, a functional furniture unit is formed. The soft tones of the lamp are reproduced in the mirror, radiating charm and light to the entire room. The vertical line of the mirror itself, and the similar nature of the reflection tend to make the ceiling appear higher.

The glass gable wall gives a new dimension to living space and classic beauty to the conventional one and a half-story home.

"The interesting shapes created by the triangular and trapezoidal glass areas and frames provide a very interesting outward look from the rooms and, at the same time, they can become the real keynote of the individuality of the overall home design," declares a nationally-recognized leader in contemporary residential design.

One important impetus to the new glass gable design in small homes has been the announcement of a company that it will now make on special orders various straight edge patterns of insulating glass of four to five sides with the provision that no angle be less than 45 degrees nor any side less than eight inches.

Maximum sizes are held within the limitations of square and rectangular dimensions.

It's said that good contemporary architecture offers many possibilities for taking advantage of new design concepts that would not be harmonious in more conventional surroundings.

"One of the most important of these new concepts is found in the extension of the glass walls upward into the pleasant sloping lines of the gable ends of the structures," the designer said. This, of course, means that the rooms inside have sloping ceilings that conform to the lines of the roof and the top slopes of the extended glass walls.

"A new dimension of living space, and the enclosure of space, is the direct functional result of this design device. When the proportions of the rooms, the slopes, and the glass have been detailed correctly, the final effect is a revelation of classic beauty."

The designer points out that there are many considerations to be studied in the proper execution of such a design idea. Simplicity, thoroughness, economy, functionalism, desirability—all are important.

GLASS GABLE WALLS add distinctive beauty to overall home design. The availability of Thermopane insulating glass in trapezoid shapes has now made the glass gable concept of architecture practical for small homes.

Orientation should be a major factor in deciding where the glass gable wall should be located. The proper overhanging roof will often provide the key to varying the orientation. In some cases the indoors can be carried completely outdoors by extending the roof from the glass gable wall to cover a veranda or patio for outdoor living. In any case, the feeling of spaciousness is always present.

"We find that livability can definitely be increased when these new design ideas for glass gable ends are properly executed," concluded the designer. "The one and one-half-story sloping roofs form very natural gable end walls to incorporate the full glass gable wall."

Insulating glass through its important function of retarding heat loss, like a brick wall or insulated frame construction, has made large picture windows and whole glass walls practicable, and now in special angular shapes may be used for the floor-to-ceiling gable end wall.

The glass trapezoid shape first was used in airport towers, in schools, in large modern residences and in retail stores but by availability of tailor-made insulating glass is now easily adaptable to give the conventional home great distinction and beauty.

A WINDOW WALL OF SLIDING GLASS DOORS gives the feeling of added spaciousness and close indoor-outdoor unity to any room. In fair weather the doors open easily to let in fresh air and provide easy access to the patio, while on unfavorable days they close to keep out the rain and cold without shutting off the light and view.

Adults Should Join Youths On Trick Or Treat Visits, Halloween Carnival

People haven't changed much in the past fifty years — it's the surroundings that have changed to create such remarks as "the new look" and "modern age."

Men and women have stayed predominantly the same — industrious level headed, aggressive, statesmanlike, or whatever category that one would classify people as they go about their daily task and chores.

However, they've been surrounded with styles that are somewhat different than those of forefathers who were necessarily clad in garments meant to withstand the hardy pioneer wear.

The tools they work with are a bit different than those which were provided in years gone by. Typewriters have seen the modern trend in fashions and operation — the pen and pencil are quite different today since they've replaced the quill and slate.

And into their hands have been placed the miracle weapons energized by uranium and the atom.

Such are the people who have reached the day on which we celebrate Halloween.

Maybe it is a day for youngsters.

Perhaps it should be a bigger day for grownups.

And as a grownup — do you remember the pranks that were common on Halloween evening?

That's why we mentioned the fact that people are one and the same — it's just the change in surroundings.

For instance — one "very funny" gag that used to be pulled was the disassembling of a wagon or buggy and reassembling the vehicle on top of the front porch or maybe the barn. It would be quite a job for even a large group of youngsters to haul a Cadillac or Packard to the top of a roof.

Sometimes a beautiful picket fence would be moved — a gate found in some other location — a horse found tied to the front door — and others of a myriad of pranks played on unsuspecting folks during the fall celebrations.

And not a twout out of anyone other than a hale and hearty laugh perhaps over the ingenuity of those who manipulated the prank.

Voting Is Duty

When all other means of getting people to vote fail, it has been suggested, pay them to do so. Political machines have used this method from time to time, but naturally have given the fact no publicity.

Now comes a suggestion from John P. Rutherford, writing in the New York Times. He proposes that federal income tax exemption be reduced from $600 to $500, but that the $100 deduction be returned to those who voted in the preceding national election.

This prospect of gain might turn the scale in the case of many who before had not felt it convenient to vote, though they recognized an obligation to do so. This would be some gain. But how would the product of the election be improved if it depended on voters who cast their ballot from purely mercenary motives?

It should still be possible to shame negligent citizens into voting by repeating that this is the most elementary duty of citizenship.

Jaywalkers

A word, now, about the jaywalker. This hardy perennial has been derided, condemned, pitted and held up to scorn as a witless nincompoop for almost as long as the automobile has been around. Yet still, agile if not serene, he persists.

Why the jaywalker's tribe has not long since been eliminated is one of modern life's perplexing little mysteries. Daily he challenges that most fearsome of destroyers the horseless carriage. He darts across the street in the middle of the block; he crosses against traffic lights; he appears suddenly from between two parked cars. He seems to lead a charmed life.

He seems to, that is, until one has a look at the statistics. Such an examination discloses that the jaywalker is a prime target for his enemy, the auto. Every now and then, he is clipped; every once in a while, one of his number dashes in his chips midway between Prudence and Hurryup Streets.

Sometimes, watching the jaywalker emerge from one narrow squeak after another, it begins to appear that a special angel must hover over him. But angels as anyone knows, sometimes grow careless. Better cross at the corners.

South's Opposition To Integration May Backfire On Whites

TAMPA (AP)—Opposition to integration may bounce back at Southern white people, the executive secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People NAACP said here.

Movements to choke off freedom of thought and speech among Negroes may lead to suppression of the same rights for white groups later on, said Roy Wilkins of Washington.

For example, he said, the activities of a Florida legislative committee investigating the NAACP may result in "the trampling of the freedom of the white citizens in this state."

Wilkins spoke Sunday at a meeting of the Florida conference of the NAACP.

He said Southern newspapers generally have ignored the danger to white people in this integration issue and "are filled with childishness on the race question."

Saturday night State Rep. John B. Orr Jr. of Miami called segregation immoral, uneconomical and unconstitutional.

He urged the group to register and vote.

"Politicians will quickly discover that there is no color chart in the voting booth," Orr said.

He told the NAACP its "pace toward equal rights will be determined directly by the pace of your march to the polls."

In the recent special session of the Legislature Orr cast the only vote against bills designed to slow down or stop public school integration. He said then he was an honorary member of the NAACP.

"I had some minor annoyances" afterwards but "my life has been so enriched" because of comments from residents of Florida and other states, he said at the meeting.

"It's a whole lot easier to vote your convictions than it is to try to deceive," Orr said.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

The Democratic Party is like unto Old Glory. It has taken quite a licking from the ill wind that has been blowing lately.

The color may fade a little, on the edges fray from hard use, but it still stands up high regardless of how strong the gale blows. It stands for great and loyal purposes that have been a tradition down through the years.

As a body, we Democrats must uphold the things that mean the most important phases in our life's history. We must stand up to the one thing our great men of past years have stood for and gave a great part of their lives to preserve and keep.

It is of great nobility and honor to anyone who will stay loyal to the party, through thick or thin, or what may come, we will carry on.

Throughout all America I know there are many like myself who will carry on these traditions and hold on to the things that mean the most to our generation and to the generations to come.

No matter what race, creed or color, you originated from, you must keep the works and mechanism of the party well protected so that it may be reserved for the benefit of anyone who wishes to come into or help to carry the banner through the strongest gales, the darkest nights and stand out in the lives of our children and theirs after them.

If it must come to the boiling point wherein you think you will lose a life-long friend, don't stress the point, orally, just act silently and go on toward the goal you started.

There are many ways of stressing the point and keeping your friends too. Let's go, Democrats, uphold the party to the utmost and keep our country in good shape so Old Glory will be proud to endure the gales of years to come.

Mrs. Lillie Kubank

TRUTH AND CONSEQUENCES

Men, Women Acting More Alike

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Some critics of this civilization say it is one in which men and women are getting too much alike.

There is no doubt the sexes are acting more alike every year as the result of modern woman's compulsion to share every right formerly held by man alone.

They talk alike—if anything men are a bit more interested in household topics, while women lean more to baseball and politics; and often dress alike, particularly in their leisure hours. The two-pants suit may be out of date, but now that wives have discovered the comfort of slacks the two-pants family is right in style.

Worst of all, men and women are even beginning to look alike, most markedly in the younger generation. Only a teenager to day can look at another teenager and tell at a glance what gender it is.

Some pessimists say the similarity of the sexes has reached a point where half the time they can't be sure whether they're dealing with a man or a woman.

"It's particularly hard on picnics or a fishing trip," said one. "Then even grandmas dress like grandpas, and nobody but their own kids could be sure which is which."

However, there is no reason yet to get hysterical. A careful impartial observer can always distinguish between the sexes.

Here are a few ways in which you can tell whether any human being is a man or woman, no matter what it wears, what it says, or how it cuts its hair:

If it goes through a revolving door without lifting an arm, it's a woman. If it does its fair share of pushing, it's a man.

If in a poker game it says, "cover your cards, dops, I can see them," it's a man. If it can see every card in your hand and keeps right on looking, it's a woman.

If paying its bills gives it a sense of security it's a man. If running up bills gives it a feeling of freedom, it's a woman.

If it always offers you a cigar, it's a man. If it is always asking you for a cigarette, hen waits for a light, it's a woman.

If it sees a fly buzzing in a spider's web and brushes the insect free, it's a man. If, instead, it watches to see how the spider operates its trap, it's a woman.

If it always takes the first seat offered by a restaurant headwaiter it's a man. If it never accepts the first seat and is sure another location would be better, it's a woman.

If it always climbs into a taxi ahead of you, it's a man. If it always pays the cab driver when it gets out, it's a woman.

If it says you to dance, it's a man. If it gets mad because you don't ask it to dance, it's a woman.

If it crosses its legs without noticing whether anyone is looking, legs unless someone is looking, it's a woman.

If it takes off its shoes in a movie, it's a woman. If it takes off its hat in church, it's a man.

If it backs up to you and asks you to fix a stuck zipper, it's a woman. If it sternly and silently solves its zipper problems by itself, it's a man.

If it will give a two-bit handout to any seedy tramp, it's a man. But if it gladly spends its whole life cooking and raising kids for a no-good ungrateful bum, it's a woman—every time!

Any questions?

Ike Facing Important Moment

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower suddenly faces one of the most important moments of his administration — decisions on Eastern Europe — and perhaps one of his greatest crises: the possibility of war in the Middle East.

Both land on his doorstep in the midst of the political campaign. Neither may be solved before election day. But what Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles do is a test of their leadership and may be a turning point in history.

Israel, mobilizing its armed forces, has Eisenhower worried it may attack its Arab neighbors. Such a war, once started and engulfing the Middle East might not be limited to Israelis and Arabs. Israel says she fears an Arab attack.

The United States and Russia both have a stake in the Middle East. Both have been contending for influence there.

In Eastern Europe the American government has hoped ever since World War II to see Russia's grip on the satellites shaken loose. That hope may now become a reality.

These are the problems for Eisenhower and Dulles:

The United States, trying to avoid making enemies in the Middle East, has refused arms to the Israelis, who said they needed them for defense.

But at the same time the United States gave the nod to the French to go ahead and supply the Israelis. They've been well supplied, according to reports here, and have now mobilized perhaps 200,000 men.

An attack by the Israelis on the Arabs now would serve the interests of the French, who have their hands full with the Arabs in North Africa.

Such an attack, if made now, would come at a time when the world's attention has been directed from the Middle East to Eastern Europe, where the Poles have shaken off Russian control and the Hungarians have been fighting for a week to get the Russians off Hungary's back.

Also an attack now would come on the eve of the American elections when any stand taken by the Eisenhower administration on Israel—one way or the other—might influence the American Jewish vote.

But if the Israelis should attack and whip the Arabs—without effort by this country to stop them—the shattered Arabs would probably feel their only friend was Russia and turn to her for help, if not during the war, at least afterwards.

That would put Russia into the middle East in a big way, the last thing the United States wants to see.

If the United States could get the Russians to pull back to Russia the troops now scattered through the satellites all the way into Eastern Germany, it would give the satellite people a chance to work out their own destiny. In time they might shake off communism too and become American friends. At least freedom from Russian control for the satellites would mean the diminishing of Russian influence.

All these possibilities face Eisenhower and Dulles. If they make a bad move, they may wreck American opportunities in Eastern Europe for years or forever.

Yet, the Russians have their own dilemma. They have posed to the undeveloped nations around them as friends with no motives except kindness and a desire to help.

By using their troops to fight the Hungarian revolt, they have already made a joke of their own pretensions. If they use more force, their other neighbors can no longer be deluded about their real intentions.

But if they back out of the satellites, they lose face too. The problem for Eisenhower and Dulles is how to take advantage of the Russian dilemma. It's an opportunity which may not come again.

Program Revealed For Juliette Lowe Celebration Sunday

Mrs. L. Richard Bauer, chairman for the Juliette Lowe Birth day celebration, announced the program to be given at Pinecrest Auditorium on Sunday, Nov. 5, from 3 to 4 p. m.

Following a short speech of welcome by Mrs. Randall Chase, chairman of the Seminole neighborhood service group, the invocation will be given by the Rev. David Carmich. The final ceremony will follow and Mrs. D. W. Harker will give a talk on the "World Friendship Fund".

Prior to a skit on "The Story of Juliette Lowe", several songs will be sung, and the program will be closed with group singing and "Taps".

Parents, brothers, sisters and friends of brownie and girl scouts are invited to attend the celebration.

There are 18 troops active in Seminole County this year, making girl scout activity the most ambitious in recent years in this area.

A dress rehearsal for girl scouts and brownies will be held on Saturday, Nov. 3, at 9 a. m. at Pinecrest School.

The Westside School P-TA meeting, originally scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 1, has been postponed until the following Thursday, which is Nov. 8, at 2 p. m.

Rainbow Girls Pay Homage To Officer At O.E.S. Meet

Prior to the meeting of the Order of Eastern Star Saturday night, a Courtesy Drill was presented by the order of Rainbow Girls in honor of Mrs. Ethel Dobson, worthy Grand Matron, who made her official visit to Sanford at the time.

Miss Marilyn McDaniel played the piano for the drill, as the girls came into the banquet room in two lines, headed by Nancy Cash and Peggy Lundquist.

The two lines of girls marched to the front of the room, crossed over, turned back and crossed rear of the room where they formed a rainbow. Then Miss Margaret Ellison, Worthy Matron of the Rainbow Girls, brought Mrs. Dobson to the altar in the center of the room and, while Marilyn played "Over the Rainbow" the girls filed past Mrs. Dobson and each presented her with a single red rose and some fern. When all the girls had presented their roses, making an even dozen, Jeff Filby tied a white satin bow around the bouquet, and made a short speech on behalf of all the girls telling the guest of honor how much they enjoyed being able to be there with her and how much they appreciated the help she and others like her were giving to the Rainbow Girls.

Miss Filby also presented Mrs. Dobson with a gift for Joseph Cherry, Worthy Grand Patron, who was not present.

The drill closed with the singing of "You'll Never Walk Alone" by the Rainbow Girls' choir.

Contest Winner Is Guest At Meeting Of Sanford U.D.C.

J. D. Stone, winner of the U. D. C. annual essay contest, was a guest at the meeting Friday afternoon at 3 p. m. of the Norman deVere Howard Chapter, U. D. C.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Nicholson, with Mrs. W. B. Kirby, serving as cohostess. Mrs. F. E. Roumillat presided over the business session.

Mrs. David Caldwell and Mrs. Philip Marx, delegates to the state convention held in Clearwater, gave reports on the convention.

Mrs. R. F. Cooper, as guest speaker, gave an interesting sketch on the Battle of Atlanta.

Mrs. M. B. Strickland introduced J. D. Stone and presented him with his medal. J. D. read his prizewinning essay on "The part the Indian played in the Civil War", after which R. T. Milver, county school superintendent, and Mrs. May Fort and Mrs. Hilda Way, Seminole High School teachers, were introduced.

Refreshments were served from a beautifully appointed tea table in the Nicholson dining room, with Mrs. F. E. Roumillat pouring.

Those present were Mrs. F. D. Adams, Mrs. Mae Ola Adams, Mrs. David Caldwell, Mrs. W. B. Dixon, Mrs. W. P. Fields, Mrs. George Hardin, Mrs. Claude Herndon, Mrs. Minnie Jones, Mrs. E. H. ## Cub Scout Pack 10 Meet Has Largest Attendance Ever

Sanford's Cub Scout Pack Ten met Thursday night in the First Methodist Church with the largest attendance it has ever had. The big audience was rewarded with what Cubmaster Ted Williams called "the cleverest skits we have ever had."

Den 14 led the opening ceremony, singing "Hail, Hail, the Cubs Are Here." Then the inspection resulted in a tie between Den 8 and Den 12, each with 100 per cent.

Skits by most of the dens followed, and the "puppet" skits for October had been enthusiastically developed. Especially well received were Den 10's singing skits of Old MacDonald and Den 4's little singing figures of Cub Scouts and spooks. Den 10 diverted from the puppet theme to present an act on the campaign of the Republicans and the Democrats.

In the den count for attendance, the contest was won by Den 10, with Den 4 placing second, and Den 12 third.

Next the following awards were made by Woodrow Cash: Buddy Jeffords, Wolf badge; Robert Hopkins, Wolf badge; gold arrow and Bear badge; Kevin Edge, Wolf badge and gold arrow; Jay Payne, Bear badge and Lion badge; and Carl Smith, Hoj badge and silver arrow.

The following arrow points, books and service awards were also made: John Leach, Bear book; Danny Nettles, Darnes Turner and Tommie Beagery, silver arrows; Bob White, silver and gold arrows; Bobby Peters, Lion book; Red Lancy, dinner and assistant dinner stripes; Joe Helm, silver arrow and assistant dinner stripes; David Full, silver arrow; Also, Jeff Williams, Bear book; Jack Gettridge, silver arrow; Michael Galloway, gold arrow; Tommy Dohne, service star; Tommy Shepard, gold arrow; Andrew Simmons, Bear book; Garry Grell, Lion book; and John King, Bear book.

Two new Bobcats were then inducted into the Pack: John Angel Jr., and John D. King. In addition, two new transfers were introduced to the Pack: Bruce A. Rowell and Geoffrey G. Baylow.

Cubmaster Williams reported that the next Pack committee meeting will be on Nov. 19 and the next Pack meeting will be Nov. 29.

Chairman E. D. Kirchhoff complimented the dens on their skits, and announced that the Pack's annual charter will be renewed in January this year. He called for volunteers for the parents' planning committee. He then disclosed that the Cubs are assisting in the "Get out the vote" campaign, by putting out posters and possibly handbills. An invitation to the annual Boy Scout district banquet was extended to all parents and other interested persons. This dinner will be in Sanford on Nov. 15 at the Presbyterian church, and reservations should be made by Nov. 8 with P. D. Kirchhoff who is selling tickets for $1.50.

Den 14 closed the meeting, leading the singing of "Good-night, Cub Scouts."

Personals

Mrs. A. B. Key, State Secretary of the U. S. Daughters of 1812, returned yesterday from Jacksonville, where she attended the State Board Meeting. Following the meeting, members were entertained with a luncheon at the home of the State President, Mrs. Robert W. Pezdire.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sandburg and baby son, of Cocoa, were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mitchell. Mrs. Sandburg is the former Miss Frances Bright, teacher at Southside School.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mitchell entertained recently at a dinner party at Pearce's restaurant in Orlando honoring their daughter, Mrs. Tom Kirkland, on her birthday.

Dallas Samuel Turner, a sophomore at Florida Southern College, was home over the weekend visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Turner.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mitchell entertained recently at a dinner party at Pearce's restaurant in Orlando honoring their daughter, Mrs. Tom Kirkland, on her birthday.

Chairman E. D. Kirchhoff complimented the dens on their skits, and announced that the Pack's annual charter will be renewed in January this year. He called for volunteers for the parents' planning committee. He then disclosed that the Cubs are assisting in the "Get out the vote" campaign, by putting out posters and possibly handbills. An invitation to the annual Boy Scout district banquet was extended to all parents and other interested persons. This dinner will be in Sanford on Nov. 15 at the Presbyterian church, and reservations should be made by Nov. 8 with P. D. Kirchhoff who is selling tickets for $1.50.

WISE MEAL PLANNING

Wise homemakers know the wide variety of beef cuts available and learn the proper cooking methods for each cut. There are over 30 retail beef cuts from which to choose... all high in nutritive value and equally tender if prepared correctly.

Cook sliced mushrooms and wide strips of green pepper together in a little butter or margarine and top veal chops with the mixture.

Major League All-Star Team Revealed In Poll

By BEN OLAN
NEW YORK (AP)—A heavy hitting major league all-star team, with six American Leaguers including Mickey Mantle, Ted Williams and Yogi Berra, today was selected by members of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America in the annual Associated Press poll.

The powerful array was backed up by Brooklyn righthander Don Newcombe and Billy Pierce, Chicago White Sox lefthander, who drew a majority of the votes cast for pitchers.

Mantle, the American League leader in home runs 52, runs batted in 130 and batting average .333 was named to an outfield spot on 202 of the 203 ballots.

Milwaukee's Hank Aaron, the National League's batting leader, and Williams took the other outfield berths. The Boston Red Sox slugger edged Al Kaline of Detroit, who received 79 ballots to Williams' 53.

Williams, first baseman Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati and second baseman Nellie Fox of the White Sox are the only repeaters from last year's "dream" team. Kluszewski, a .302 batter with 35 homers, beat out Stan Musial of St. Louis—44 votes to 60. Stan also got 25 "firsts" for the outfield where he played the first two months of the season.

Rounding out the all-stars were third baseman Ken Boyer of the St. Louis Cards and shortstop Harvey Kuenn of Detroit.

Boyer collected 118 votes to 70 for Eddie Mathews of the Braves. Kuenn was an overwhelming favorite of the writers, receiving 148 votes to only 30 for Roy McMillan of Cincinnati, the runnerup.

Berra, the World Series batting star for the Yankees, grabbed 196 votes. Ed Bailey of the Redlegs was next with nine. No other catcher was considered.

Newcombe, a 27-game winner, finished far in front in the balloting for the top righthanded pitcher. He picked up 183 votes. Sal Maglie of the Dodgers had seven and Tom Brewer of Boston was third with three.

Pierce also won easily. He had 127 first places. Whitey Ford of the Yankees was next with 48 followed by Warren Spahn of Milwaukee with 12. Herb Score of Cleveland with 10 and Johnny Antonelli of the Giants with eight.

Except for the pitchers, only Fox and Berra among those selected batted under .300. Berra wound up at .296 with 30 home runs and 103 runs batted in. Fox hit .298.

Collectively, the all-stars had 1,407 hits in 4,418 times at bat for a .312 average. They had 209 home runs and 753 runs batted in for an average of 26 homers and 94 RBIs.

The National League dominated the second team. In addition to those mentioned, Red Schoendienst and Willie Mays of the Giants, Duke Snyder of Brooklyn and Frank Robinson of Cincinnati also captured runnerup positions.

Success against the Philadelphia Phillies helped the Pittsburgh Pirates during 1956. The Pirates beat their Keystone State rivals 18 times in 22 meetings.

Syracuse and Penn State began football competition in 1922 and have met every fall except in 1944 when Syracuse suspended football because of the war.

Uoff Basketball Team Preparing For Tampa Game

GAINESVILLE.—Basketball practice moved into the third week Monday at the University of Florida, where the Gators are making preparations for the season's opener against Tampa, Dec. 5.

Captain Bob Emrick, Ashland, Ky., and his teammates have been working under the guidance of freshman coach Jim McCachren for the past two weeks, while Head Coach John Mauer has been busy with his other duties as assistant football coach.

Coach Mauer is expected to take charge of the varsity Gators on Monday, when Coach McCachren will begin working with the new freshman crop for the first time.

The Florida squad this season is one of the most experienced in years with six lettermen returning, a pair of junior college transfers reporting out, and several promising sophomores coming up from the freshman ranks. Only three lettermen are lost.

Seniors returning who have earned three varsity letters each are Emrick, 6-5, a center, and Burt Touchberry, 6-4, forward

JVs To Play Last Game Wednesday

The Sanford Seminole JV's, the only winning ball club in the county, makes its final appearance of the season Wednesday afternoon at 4:30, when they play host to Seabreeze "B" of Daytona Beach.

The JV's have lost only one game with a JV opponent.

Head mentor Dick Silvers, in guiding the junior warriors to a successful season, carried out a policy of free substitution in every game. He did this to fulfill the function of junior varsity teams—giving the boys confidence through experience and participation. Silvers says tomorrow's game will be no exception.

The season opener against Lyman's varsity was an early show of defensive strength for the JV's, and the season has progressed according to early indications. In JV competition the Seminole have tallied 59 points for the season only 26. In varsity competition they have allowed only 13 points.

The JV squad promises many unique features, one of which is the drop kicking of Rick Ericson. Should the Seminole JV's get into the lead, Ericson will probably try a dropkick field goal for the final game before the home town fans.

Another forte of the JV team is the south-paw leap passing of Cecil Dandridge. Dandridge will be on hand for heavy duty tomorrow afternoon.

Game time is 4:30 in Memorial Stadium.

FRESHMEN, TAKE NOTE
Worms for bait can be lured out of the ground with suds and water!

Here's all you do: mix plenty of household detergent in a pailful of hot water, until you've got thick suds. Pour the suds onto the ground where the worms are likely to be hiding, and wait for them to come slithering to the surface.

Experts say this takes only four or five minutes; if the suds are still thick, pour on another. Anyway, it's easier than digging. And after you've gathered the worms, it's quickly in clear, cold water.

St. John's University of Brooklyn had two unbeaten freshmen teams in 1956. The basketball team won all 21 games while cross-country team won all six meets.

Dartmouth halfback Lou Rovero gained 20 yards in five carries as a sophomore but in 1955 he led the Big Green in ground gaining with 421 yards on 91 attempts.

The New York Yankees beat Washington's Senators 17 games in 22 meetings during 1956.

Greyhounds Face Powerful St. Cloud There Thursday

The Lyman Greyhounds, unable to shake off the season injury list, see no letup to their plight this week as they face the perennially powerful St. Cloud, Thursday night in St. Cloud, with 233 pound Pounding Pete Van Horn, the stalwart Greyhound tackle, on the sidelines with a knee injury. Van Horn has been bothered with a week knee all season, but last Friday he was sidelined and the mentoring staff still doesn't know whether it is torn cartilage or a torn ligament.

St. Cloud, favored about fifty points on a comparative scale, looks formidable enough when the Greyhounds are at full speed, but now, according to assistant coach Frank Gore, "It's downright depressing."

Van Horn joins three of his starting teammates on the injury list. Bob MacLeod, 165 pound guard, is on the mourners bench by virtue of an injured hip. Jim Hopkins, 160 pound left halfback, has a badly bruised knee cap and is out for definitely two and possibly three or more weeks more. Lamar "Mossey" Helms has just now taken the cast off his broken leg and will see action as soon as he gains strength to start running—possibly two weeks more on the bench.

The remnants of the team have up this way for the starting lineup Thursday night. E—Ken Miller, 185 pounds, Jr.; Ronnie Gossett, 150 pounds, Senior; T—Alton Boone, 185 pounds, Junior; G—old Stone, 165 pounds, Soph.; G—Dave Redwine, 160 pounds, Senior; Rodney Goddard, 145 pounds, Junior; C—Ralph Durning, 155 pounds, Senior; QB—David Stevens, 155 pounds, Senior; HB—Howard Judah, 135 pounds, Junior; Martin Barwick, 150 pounds, Freshman; FB—John Faibro, 150 pounds, Junior.

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN

Festivities started with a bang Friday night with the party at John and Jean Dooley's for VAH-5. A huge sign was hung outside, the same one that hung over first street downtown. In the house were scads of gaudious, tastefully arranged. The whole crew turned out, including Joe Tully, who finally arrived from Augusta at nine o'clock. So at last all the Savage Sons are back, and things can return to normal in VAH-5.

Captain J. T. Blackburn spent the weekend in New Haven, Conn., with his son Mark, who is a sophomore at Yale.

A nice crowd gathered at the B. O. Q. Saturday night for the Halloween party sponsored by the N. A. S. Wives Club. The guests entered through the mouth of a huge skull, and were greeted by a realistic witch suspended from the ceiling. Some truly ghoulish pumpkins lighted the surrounding area and baskets of colias and hibiscus were placed on the small tables throughout the club. The dinner of roast beef was delicious and most abundant. In the dining room, Polly Brubaker, Betty Guy, Doty MacDonald and Kay Dwyer outdid themselves with their beautiful fall arrangements on each table. The buffet table was especially noteworthy with one of Betty's masterpieces composed of colias, taintree, hibiscus, wild berries and leaves. Many thanks to the Ben Monroe Nursery for donating all the gorgeous hibiscus used.

After dinner the gaily-dressed friends danced to the music of the Melodiers, a Navy group that really gets with it, if you will excuse the expression. Tim Prentice and Pete Simpson honored us with some calypso songs. In the back room booths were set up with a ring toss, bean guessing, and flour throwing game, if that's what the last may be called. Polly Brubaker was busy in her corner for many hours drawing caricatures of reezy every one there. I don't think I've ever seen anyone work so hard or so long with so much spirit. Hats off to you, Polly—a wonderful girl!

The costumes were really rare, and of course there was a parade. Joy and Will Webster won first prize. Cy was an old organ grinder, and there has never been any one funnier than Jean, as his monkey, Pete and Mary Schwartz came in for honorable mention as a couple of fairbirds complete with ball and chain. Cy Fitton also won the door prize, it was his birthday, too, and Gene Potts guessed the closest to the correct number of beans in the bottle. It may sound silly to you, but those of us that were there had a wonderful time. Some of those who attended were Louise and Jim Parker, Harry and Ruth Jean Robson, Cy and Jean Fitton, Pete and Mary Schwartz, Harriett and John Williams, Bill and Betty Lemos, Betty and Jim Guy, Anita and Bob Hadden. (Anita a great success as the pigman), Marvin and Geneva Quicker, Bill and Betty Haslett, Kay and Pat Dwyer, Gene and Jane Potts, Bill and Jean Stetson, B. J. and Bill Class, and many others. Before the party, the Hawkins of N. A. S. had a few people in for cocktails to meet their out-of-town guests. Attending were the Quickers, the Webbers, Guidrye.

Now the part of the weekend which I enjoyed the most. That was the two ball foursome tournament at the Country Club Sunday. We arrived a little late and didn't see every one tee off—in fact I was in the last foursome. Played with John Williams, a great Louise Parker and Earl Higginbotham. They gave us such a small handicap, and I was fresh from riding in the golf electric cart, that I'm afraid we lost, but it was as much fun as anyone could have. We're pretty lucky to be living in Sanford, I don't know where you could find a nicer group of people than those who play golf here—and I'm not limiting my observations to only golfers—I was smitten yesterday afternoon that has lasted me all day today. To define it, the feeling was and is one of "belonging", a privilege not to often proffered Navy people, and believe me, it's a privilege. To walk down a street and have townsfolk speak makes one quietly we are treated like strangers in towns where we may live for two or three years. In my own feel at home, and all too free-stumbling way, I'm trying to say "Thank you, Sanford, for adopt us"—and that's the very reason so many of us love Sanford.

To get back to the golf—after it was all over, we had turned in our scores, and trophy chairman Ken Ivey had handed out the prizes, we grilled our steaks and ate the extras until we were all stuffed. At our table on the porch were Shirley and Fred Perkins, Harriett and John Williams, B. J. and Bill Class, Sonny and Margaret Powell and the Connes, of course. Navy people seen in the congenial group inside were Diddle and Boyd Webster, Russ and Ida Bea Wilson, Cary and John Stridling, Jane and Johnny Miller, Jean Parker, Stetson, Louise and Jim Parker, Beryl and Walt Swinson, Jeanne and Bill Foulk, and Red and Lib Cleveland. I'm sorry I didn't take note of the winners, but I'm sure you'll find them elsewhere in this paper. One that did impress me was most strokes on one hole (ten), which went to Mac MacRoberts, and The President of our association, Ruth Herron.

Incidentally, the first golf class was held this morning by pro Mario Carrasno. Navy girls leading to burst up the fairways were Jamie Miller, Mary Libby, Betty Guy, Jean Dooley, Jean Stetson, Evie Williams, Betty Johnson, Kitty Walker, Hazel Roul and Betta Linker. And a couple of good ex-Navy, July Smith and B. J. Class.

Just heard the distressing news that our friends, Walt and Beryl Swinson will be leaving this first of December. We are really going to miss them.

Soap Windows Modern Style

THE SEASON OF PUMPKINS, turkeys, goblets and ghosts stir up every youngster's imagination.

Better than that, Fall activities manage to keep little ones busy from "trick-or-treat" time to Thanksgiving dinner fun. One fun project for a group of youngsters that will keep them busy and interested for a good while is "snow painting." All that is needed is a "palette" of soap or detergent suds and a glass window, mirror or even glass table top, for the young artists. The "snow" may be whipped up in a jiffy, and the result may even be some nice clean windows or mirrors.

Here's the way it works: Heat up a large amount of soap or detergent with a small amount of water to sluff, meringue-like peaks. Then let the young fry do to town creating masterpiece by "painting" the mixture over windows, mirrors or even glass table tops, drawing out pictures with a brush.

Another variation requires a thin, paste-like mixture made by stirring scouring powder with water. Spread a film of it over a window pane or mirror, then let the younger set use wet fingers or paint brushes to "etch" their drawings. Turkeys, pumpkins and barnyard animals are favorite fun. For more elaborate creations, suds "snow" or a soft "paint" may be tinted with food coloring for more realistic pictures and etchings.

On special occasions Mom may arrange fall fruits and vegetables such as pumpkins, gourds and squash on autumn leaves for a table centerpiece, and invite the youngsters to add a light "frosting" of suds snow here and there.

A blend of blue cheese, cream cheese and sour cream makes a delectable salad dressing. Add salt, pepper, paprika and grated onion to taste.

Rev., Mrs. William H. Anthony Guests Of Honor At Tea Sunday

BY HELEN SNODGRASS
ENTERPRISE—The Rev. and Mrs. William H. Anthony, the new rector of the All Saints Episcopal church, Enterprise, were the guests of honor at a tea from 3 to 5 p. m. Sunday afternoon in the parish house on the corner of Main St. and De Barry Ave.

The Rev. and Mrs. Anthony came here from Rutherfordton, N. C. The Rev. Anthony is an Oxford scholar and graduate of Philadelphia University of Divinity. He was rector of the Church of the Redeemer at Shelby N. C. until his retirement two years ago. He will be locum tenens at All Saints for the winter season, replacing the Rev. Lee Heston of Daytona Beach.

This delightful affair was given by the auxiliary of the church with Mrs. Arthur L. Willgoose, president and her social chair-

Fried Foods Are Safe For Children If They Are Cooked In Fresh Fat

"MAY I LET TOMMY have french fries, doctor?" Tommy's mother asked timidly. She seemed to expect a lecture on the evils of fried food.

"Are you a good cook?" I asked her. She looked at me in great surprise. "Why, I suppose so," she said finally, "but why do you ask?" "If you are a good cook, of course Tom can have french fries."

There is a great superstition about fried foods. Many people seem to think there is some special evil in the frying pan. This is mostly superstition nowadays, but like many beliefs, it has an historical basis in fact. A generation or more ago the custom in many households was to keep a can of drippings on the back of the coal stove. A ladleful of drippings was put in the frying pan whenever a food needed to be fried.

Small wonder the food so cooked got a bad reputation. The drippings were kept warm on the back of the stove, the can was seldom emptied and washed. More drippings were added every time grease needed to be poured off a food. The drippings became rancid. Rancid fat is quite indigestible. Food cooked in rancid fat is likely to cause digestive troubles. People said fried foods made them ill. No one seemed to realize that it was the rancid fat that caused the trouble.

Nowadays no one has a can of drippings on the back of the stove. If you fry potatoes in fresh fat those potatoes are just as good for a child as a boiled or mashed potato to which you add a lump of butter.

Fresh fat means fat that is not rancid. You can use bacon grease quite safely. When you cook bacon pour the fat into a clean container. Keep it in the refrigerator until you want to use it. Next time you fry bacon use a fresh clean container for the fat you pour off.

One more precaution when you fry foods. Do not let the grease

Do you know that women in the Armed Forces are advised that a plastic-topped wrought iron vanity table and chair, junior size. With her own child-size mirror and stool, she'll be encouraged to scrub her face and hands, to brush her hair regularly, and to keep herself neat and clean.

If your "little lady make-believe" leaves sticky fingerprints, or inadvertently spills something on her vanity table or chair, a sponge dipped in soap or detergent suds will whisk it clean in no time.

SILENT PRAYER
DALLAS — Burglars stole three prayer books from the glove compartment of a woman's car while she was attending services.

The latest trend in home convenience is to have a shower cabinet installed right in the bedroom. A pre-fabricated type cabinet can be installed in any style bedroom—recessed into the wall, and framed with tiling to match or complement the room's color scheme. What a wonderful way to have complete bathing privacy.

Ragbag Replaced By Medicine Chest For Holiday Garb

EVEN HALLOWEEN COSTUMES are up to new tricks. Mothers accustomed to raiding the ragbag for materials to stitch up outfits for junior sprocks and witees now get an unexpected assist from the medicine cabinet.

The new colorful star-studded plastic strip bandages make gay trimmings for small-fry costumes. Local sewing center experts suggest making a witch costume by stitching up a basic smock out of inexpensive black cotton fabric. Use a commercial pattern or cut the front and back of the dress in a T-shape and sew side seams together. Use a drawing to shape the neck.

Make a triangular orange shawl and edge the shawl with the new decorative plastic bandage. Cut between the bandages to make a scalloped effect. Trim the belt with more bandages, baste patches on the skirt and use the plastic strips to hold down the cuffs. Make a witch's hat from heavy black paper and trim it with bandages.

The plastic strips are made with pure, non-toxic colors and are safe as well as gay. They may be used to trim other costumes. And if the small trick-or-treat fans should happen to fall down and skin a knee on Halloween, they will have plenty of first-aid bandages handy, right on their costumes.

SUIT OF GRAY AND BLACK WOOL in a diagonal weave comes from Harry Freshet's collection. High flap pockets offset a low-placed back belt. The jacket has a deep back pleat above the belt.

CINEMASCOPE-WARNERCOLOR

CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C. (PTNC) — Marine Cpl. David L. Leonard (right) is congratulated upon receiving his diploma after completing a Marine Corps Institute high school course in general mathematics at Camp Lejeune, N. C. His company commander, 1st Lt. K. G. Boso, made the presentation Oct. 9. Leonard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Leonard of 2011 Holly Ave. He is a member of Headquarters and Service Company of the Second Service Regiment, Second Marine Division, at Camp Lejeune. Before entering the Marine Corps in June 1954 he graduated from Seminole High School in Sanford.

1957 Automobiles Will Arrive Soon For Rental Service

A fleet of 1957 passenger automobiles plus pickup trucks and moving vans, is expected to arrive in Sanford by Nov. 15 for the new National Car Rentals of Sanford. "This is another of Florida's famous inter-city services," said Warner, who is operator of a service station located at the corner of First St. and Sanford Ave. "To be able to have these cars at the disposal of our visitors as well as local people and businessmen is a great public service," Merle Warner said as he announced the arrival of the fleet of cars by mid-November.

Contract Awarded For Work At SNAS

A contract for architectural-engineering services for preparation of plans and specifications for various construction and repair work totaling in excess of $181,000 aboard the Sanford Naval Air Station has been awarded to J. M. Buffalo and Raine Associates of Winter Park, the Naval Air Station service information office announced today.

News Briefs

WOMAN FOUND DEAD
ST. PETERSBURG (AP)—Mrs. Francine McDougall, 68, was found dead early today on a chair in a fire-damaged room where she was watching television. Investigators said she suffered superficial burns and might have suffocated. Her husband, Mortimer, told detectives his wife had several times fallen asleep while smoking.

Gates Says Peace, Armistice Confused

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—Interpreting the absence of major war as peace "is a false reading of our times," says Thomas S. Gates Jr., undersecretary of the Navy. He told a Navy Reserve award ceremony here "Armistice is a better word and certainly toy peace and armistice are confused and interchanged." An Armistice between the free and communist worlds "really will be the only peace most of us will ever know," he said. Gates emphasized the necessity for adequate and well trained reserve forces as well as the regular military establishment and said: "We are faced with a dynamic situation of instability in the world that requires recognition of its nature and its potential by every citizen of the United States."

Mrs. Elvira Garner Dies Early Today

Mrs. Elvira C. Garner passed away at a local nursing home at 3:25 a. m. this morning following a short illness. She was born in Lebanon, Tenn. and had lived in Sanford for the past 36 years. Mrs. Garner made her home at 2062 Hibiscus Court. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church, and a member of PECE lodge of Sanford. Mrs. Garner was the wife of the late N. H. Garner. Survivors include one son, H. D. Garner of Hampton, Va., one sister, Mrs. R. T. Thrasher of Orlando; one niece, Mrs. Paul Stine and one nephew R. C. Thrasher, both of Orlando. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday afternoon at Erlson Funeral Home with Dr. W. P. Brooks Jr., officiating, assisted by Dr. J. B. Root.

MAN WOUNDS WIFE; KILLS SELF

LAKE WALES (AP)—Otis Singleton, 58, shot himself to death after wounding his former wife, whom he had driven 80 miles to see. Police officer Paul Volton said Singleton got into an argument with Mrs. Lucille Stokes Singleton yesterday, shot her in the wrist, then put a bullet through his own brain. Singleton lived in Leesburg.

COUPLE HURT IN ACCIDENT

MIAMI (AP)—An accident at Jensen Beach, near Stuart, last night injured a man and his wife who had just been reunited after a six-month search for the husband. Ernest King, 55, suffered head injuries and his wife, Louise, a back injury when they were struck afoot by an automobile on U. S. A1A. King had returned home from the Midwest, where he was located recuperating from amnesia and head injuries which police believe were inflicted on him at the time of his disappearance last April. No assailant has been found.

MAN FAILS TO FIND PARENTS IN RUSSIA

MIAMI (AP)—Henry Hanna, who flew to Russia to seek his parents, brothers and sisters, is back after being steered politely but firmly away from the Transcaucasian village where he last saw them 24 years ago. Hanna said a Russian university professor he met in Stockholm told him the people of that area were moved in 1941 to a point near Siberia because they were of German origin and Stalin was suspicious of espionage. No one has been able to trace the fate of any of the villagers who were evacuated, the professor told Hanna.

1,041 Pound Man Returns From Tour

FISHHOOK, Ill. (AP)—Robert Earl Hughes, who claims to be the world's fattest man, has returned home from a summer tour with a circus where he fattened up to 1,041 pounds. Because of his great bulk, the 30-year-old Hughes gets weighed only infrequently. He usually is brought to commercial scales in Fishhook aboard a truck from his farm home near this town in west-central Illinois. Hughes' heaviest weight before the summer tour was 940 pounds. Brought to town several days after his circus stint Hughes weighed 1,041 pounds, a net gain of 95 over his previous bulk. Nobody thought to take his measurements at his latest weighing. But at 946 pounds, Hughes' waist was an almost unbelievable 118 inches. Other members of Hughes' family, including his father and two brothers, are average size persons. Hughes attributes his great bulk to a siege of whooping cough. He believes the paroxysms of coughing somehow upset nature's balance and a glandular disorder resulted. Around 11 pounds at birth, Hughes was up to 350 pounds when he was 10 years old.

Father and Son Lose Lives as Car Crashes into Pole in Storm Near County Line
James W. DeLITTLE and his son, Jerry, were killed yesterday afternoon in a two-car pile-up on Highway 17 near County Line.

DEADLY SKIDS ARE LESS LIKELY ON CONCRETE

The difference between a deadly skid and a safe, quick stop is often the pavement. You can stop faster, even in the rain, on concrete. That's because concrete's gritty surface provides uniformly high skid resistance, wet or dry.

Besides permitting better vehicle control, concrete at night driving safer too! Its light-colored surface reflects four times more light than dark-colored pavements. You see better and have more time to slow down or stop.

Concrete roads also are safer because they're free from hazardous ruts, washboard wrinkles and raveled edges.

It's worth remembering that when the weather is rough you're much safer on concrete, the skid-resistant safety pavement.

CHAPTER 23

DIRK AND VAL walked along the corridor in silence. They didn't speak until they were standing outside her cabin door. The flushed look of anger he'd had a few minutes earlier was gone, and he looked dejected and tired.

"Too bad, Val," he gave her a faint smile. "Apparently I've made an awful mess of everything tonight. If it hadn't been for what I said to Aunt May—" But he broke off.

She touched his arm sympathetically. "I know how you feel, Dirk. I can't honestly say I liked her, but you mustn't blame Bruce for what he said to me tonight. He's responsible for the health of everyone on this ship. I should have insisted that he examine her."

"No," he said angrily. "If Aunt May had set her mind on not seeing him, she wouldn't see him. He should know that better than anyone."

"But he has to answer to the Captain for her death, and when he says he hasn't even seen her, it won't look too well."

"I suppose we've been fools," he said wearily. "I never dreamed it would upset Aunt May so much when I—when I said I wanted to marry you. And yet," he straightened his tall, lean body. "I'm not really sorry I said it, Val."

She turned and looked at him, her face paler than ever, her blue eyes unsmiling. "I think I understand why you said it, Dirk," she said slowly, as though trying to reason it out. "You didn't want her bossing your life as she has done since Ellen's death. You said what you did as a means of escape."

"Val, you don't think that?"

"Oh please, Dirk, don't let's go into that again tonight," she whispered.

"The humble, Val," he said presently. "I'm lying at your feet apologizing. My dear, my very dear," his grip on her hand tightened. "I'm so sorry for everything."

"I know—but don't make it harder for Bruce, Dirk. He has to do what he thinks best."

Radio-TV Highlights

NEW YORK — No first-rate movie about the world of television has yet been released. Neither has a first-rate novel been published about life behind the home screen.

So when a writer of excellent movies and novels spends a long time strolling quietly through the maze of the big new industry, something is bound to happen. One has and it will.

The writer is Budd Schulberg, author of "What Makes Sammy Run" and "The Disenchanted," the writer of that excellent film, "On the Waterfront." As a result of his bemused strolling on the TV front, he and Elia Kazan are making a movie in New York called "A Face in the Crowd." To be released next spring, it will star Anny Griffith and Patricia Neal.

"A Face in the Crowd" is based on a short story by Schulberg entitled "The Arkansas Traveler" concerning an entertainer from Arkansas who rose to fame and plunged to spiritual destruction in radio. In his movie script Schulberg has transferred the medium to TV.

"The character of the man, called Lonesome Rhodes, is that of one who is happy until he moves into the false environment of television," Schulberg said the other day.

The theme of the movie, says Schulberg, truthfully reflects his own observations of the TV world: "New York television is Hollywood raised to the tenth power. It's much more frank. In Hollywood they say you're as good as your last picture. But in television you're only as good as your last rating. The audience rating has become a neurosis with people in television. Probably more than anything else it creates the sense of human insecurity that permeates the medium.

"You see it in nearly everybody—account executives, producers, talent. Everybody's worried. The industry is the greatest boon for the pill business that ever has come along. . . .

"But I believe that, like the films, it can be improved by achieving more independence. It means an uphill battle against the advertising viewpoint, but I don't see why it can't be won eventually."

Long, lean, and packed with punch, the new Ford Fairlane 500 is actually larger than many medium-priced cars . . . and it's offered at low Ford prices!

NEW choice of sizes. These '57 Fords make "big" a low-priced word. The new Ford Custom and the Custom 500 are lower, wider, than any Ford before and over 16 feet long. The Fairlane and Fairlane 500 are even lower and longer . . . over 17 feet long! Ford is the only car in the low-price field that comes in two sizes. You'll find them all only roof high to a parking meter . . . and they're as easy to get in and out of as putting the coin in the meter slot! There are 20 beautiful new models to choose from.

NEW outwarp chassis design cradles passengers in a new kind of way for a level, smoother ride. It's a completely new chassis idea wherein the frame flares out so that the floor of the rear seat compartment is inside the frame girders. There's more inside room than ever. And there's full road clearance under the heavier frame.

NEW hardtop styling. Fairlane and Fairlane 500 sedans have strong, thin center pillars which are concealed by window frames. With doors closed, you can hardly tell these sedans from hardtops.

NEW endurance and performance. In the most exhaustive test ever given an automobile, a '57 Ford traveled 50,000 miles in less than 20 days . . . an average speed of 108.16 mph—including all pit stops!

NEW forward-hinged hood and new engines to go under it! There's a mighty Silver Anniversary V-8 to fit every horsepower need. And there's more power and economy in the new Mileage Maker Six!

NEW low-sweep station wagon roof line. All five of Ford's new station wagons have even more of the beauty and love-for-duty that has made Ford America's favorite wagon. There are three with four doors, two with two doors . . . seating room for up to nine.

NEW wider wrap-around rear opening. A completely new liftgate provides greater vision, easier loading. In length and width there's enough room to load a 7-foot boat.

Steps Taken To Get Treatment Plant Here

By City Manager WARREN E. KNOWLES
Since the construction of a sewage treatment plant is such a vitally important question to the people of the City of Sanford, it is best that a factual report be given to the public on the steps that are being taken to provide this facility. It is hoped that, in this way, any misunderstandings can be corrected and everyone can discuss the matter in relationship to the action now underway.

In 1954, the City of Sanford, undertook a water and sewer program at an estimated cost of $1,175,000.00. The purpose of this program was to provide a sanitary sewage collection system throughout the city as far as possible. At this time, the Florida State Board of Health requested that a primary sewage treatment plant also be constructed as a part of the program. The City of Sanford did not have the funds needed for this phase in the certificate issue.

On the advice of two separate engineers, the City Commission came to the conclusion that the collection system was of primary importance and that this collection system would remove the sewage from being deposited along the bulkhead.

In March of 1954, representatives of the State Board of Health met with the City Commission to agree on the necessary program. An agreement was made to the satisfaction of both parties in the form of a resolution numbered 830 and was passed on April 12, 1954.

This resolution stated very clearly that the City Commission authorized the construction of a sewage treatment plant at both desirable and expedient and agreed to a commitment that a treatment plant be constructed or under construction by the City of Sanford within three years from April 12, 1954.

It was further agreed that the requirement and construction of the plant was based on the financing by an additional revenue certificate issue based "only upon the collateral pledged for the original revenue certificate issue presently outstanding." This was very clearly indicated that the City could not be asked to increase utility charges to provide collateral for the financing of a treatment plant.

With the completion of this agreement, the State Board of Health gave their approval to the plans for the sewage collection system. Bills were taken and the work was started. It was then seen that the cost of construction was well over the estimate and that the additional revenue certificate issue would be necessary in order simply to complete the collection system. The fiscal agents advised the City Commission that the maximum amount that could be secured at that time was $755,000.00. This second issue was sold simply to complete the work on the collection system that was already under construction. This was the same issue that was to have been used for the treatment plant. The City of Sanford was now faced with having borrowed to its capacity on the utility revenue at that time. However, this did not mean that a treatment plant was abandoned for it was clearly predicted that the normal growth of the utility system would provide additional funds after several years that could service a third issue of revenue certificates.

In August of 1956, the City Commission informed the state Board of Health that it would be approximately four years before here would be a treatment plant. In answer to this letter, the State Board of Health sent a letter saying they would not approve any further extensions without a treatment plant. This same letter was

Big Crowd Expected To Be At Halloween Carnival Tomorrow

Everything is in readiness for tomorrow night's Southside School Halloween Carnival said Mrs. Velma Mitchell, principal of the school.

Preparations have been underway for weeks, in order to have every booth, every game, every ride, all set for the Halloween crowd.

This year, according to officials of the Southside School P.T.A., the crowds are expected to be bigger and merrier.

Two dance venues will be staged so that everyone will have an opportunity to see the young ladies take part in their Halloween and first fall revue. The first will be at 7:30 p. m. and the second will follow in half an hour.

There will be rides for the children, and plenty of them, a train will be on hand to take them on a tour of the grounds.

The American Legion is furnishing the automobile train, while Snappin' Turtle will be taking other crowds on exciting trips.

The "Fair Tree", Country Store, a booth for potted plants and table arrangements, a Post office, and other exciting booths will be provided to furnish entertaining shopping for the older folks as well as the young fry.

A hand will be on hand in furnish music under brilliant lights that have already been tested for the event.

Leading off of course, will be the annual spaghetti supper that will be served beginning at 6:30 p. m. in the school lunch room.

Other tasty carnival atmosphere sandwiches and drinks will be on hand on the grounds. These will include hot dogs, cold drinks, coffee, and other little bits that will delight everyone.

Nothing has been left unmade in providing a wonderful evening for all who attend the Southside School Halloween Carnival. The dressing up in costumes for the big event will be the last-minute details which provide youngsters with the "thrill of their lives" as they take part in the contests for the most original creations.

The whole evening, tomorrow night, has been set aside at Southside School for the gigantic Halloween Event that is one of the "most looked for events around the city."

Man Vanishes From Jail Cell

WILDWOOD.—A Negro farm laborer, placed in jail for protective custody on his own request after he was accused of assaulting a white woman, disappeared under strange circumstances early yesterday.

Jesse Woods, 39, was missing from his jail cell when Police Chief Ed Mullis returned from chasing two speeding cars. There were blood spots on the floor and a bunk was overturned. A day-long search failed to turn up any clues on the disappearance.

First reports of the incident reached The Sanford Herald about 3 o'clock Sunday morning. It was believed at that time that a full-fledged race riot might precipitate from the flaring tempers in and around Wildwood.

Florida Highway Patrol officers were placed on a standby basis and many were called to the scene. And it was reported that sheriffs and sheriffs deputies from surrounding counties were summoned to the Central Florida town.

Ammunition for shotguns, rifles and pistols was being sold at a rapid pace at Wildwood's only store open at the time of the incident. However, the sales were discontinued and restricted to those wearing badges of law enforcement agencies.

Gov. LeRoy Collins asked the Florida Sheriff's Bureau and Sheriff M. H. Bowman and the FBI said it is looking into the case to determine if it has jurisdiction. Since daylight yesterday all has been quiet in this little central Florida town, 75 miles north of Tampa.

William A. Fordham, president of the Florida conference of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said at Tampa, "From what I've heard it looks like a lynching. If it was, we definitely will make an investigation."

Woods was arrested Saturday (Continued On Page Seven)
