Mayfair Boss Says City Sabotaging Golf Course

Mayfair golf course manager Jack Daniels has charged Sanford City Commissioners attempting "to tear apart Sanford's greatest asset," with their comments and ongoing investigation into Daniels' compliance with terms of the lease he holds for operation of the city owned property.

Commissioner John Mercer, however, says just the opposite is true.

The city's investigation and periodic reports he makes during commission meetings "will result in our building up the course, not tearing it down," he said. "And if this means Mr. Daniels shouldn't operate it anymore, than so be it."

Mercer's latest report was offered to commissioners Monday night, when he said a golfer had been prohibited from walking the course during regularly scheduled hours. However, according to Daniels, the incident was not fully explained by Mercer and is therefore "a completely inaccurate allegation."

Daniels said the matter did not involve a prohibition from walking the greens, but a disagreement over the price to do so.

Mercer acknowledged on Wednesday that the incident involved a fee dispute, although he said the golfer had still been prevented from walking the course because the cost to do so is "exorbitant."

Mercer said the golfer and his companion were told they would have to pay $29.60 to walk the course, while renting a cart would cost them $27.90.

"He's priced walkers right off the course with those kinds of fees," Mercer said. "Mr. Daniels came to the commission two months ago and said he was going to allow walkers, but he hasn't done this at all."

Mercer has already said he feels Daniels is violating the lease and that this incident reinforces his position. He said it also reaffirmed his belief that "Mr. Daniels tells us (the commission) one thing, then turns around and does another."

Mayfair "should be operated for the citizens of Sanford without their being harassed," Mercer said. "And this is definitely not the case. Mr. Daniels is violating both the spirit and the intent of his lease."

Daniels contends otherwise and said Mercer's "utterly unfounded" charges are indicative of the last three months the city commission has spent

Lake Mary, Builders Bicker Over Fees

By Paul Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary commissioners and a home builders group clashed over the city's proposed building moratorium and "fair share" growth fee ordinance Wednesday night in a special session. The confrontation included threats of legal action against the city, discord among builders, and a commissioner's opinion that the final impact fees adopted may be higher than interim ones being considered.

The exchange ended in a draw, and the issues will top the city commission's regular meeting agenda June 19, when a decision is expected on the city's next move.

The commission wants to collect impact fees from developers in the city, to pay the cost of the increased burden on city services, including police and fire protection. The Home Builder's Association of Mid-Florida wants the city to adopt permanent fees by ordinance, backed by extensive, and often time consuming study.

The city's growth fee committee is developing data to determine the cost of new construction in Lake Mary, and the commission is expected to hire a consultant to hasten the research. But it may take until September for that ordinance to be ready for adoption.

While the permanent ordinance is being developed, the commissioners want to enact a voluntary "fair share" contribution ordinance, in which growth fees would be collected and held in an escrow account until the permanent ordinance is adopted. Any overpayment of fees will be refunded, and any underpayment will be assessed. Those who don't pay the voluntary fees would be subject to a building moratorium.

—Paul Tremel
Lake Mary Commissioner

HBA attorney John Howell, of the Akerman, Senterfitt, & Edson law firm, Orlando, called the interim contribution ordinance unfair.

"What's unfair is the impact growth has on this city," commissioner Charlie Webster retorted. "What are we supposed to do, put the cost of growth on our taxpayers?"

"We're well aware that people moving into the city will be residents," he continued, "but we don't want all of the water to slip under the dam before the dam is built." Webster said of growth fees that are not being collected.

Howell said, "HBA feels the ordinance drafted is not legal, equitable, or fair, and should be challenged."

Commissioners adopted a voluntary contribution fee resolution at their May 1 meeting, but rescinded that legislation when HBA president Ken Levitt sent a letter to commissioners two weeks later, demanding its repeal.

"I was infuriated by the use of the word demand," commissioner Russ Megonegal said. "The letter was in poor taste, and was lacking in common decency," he added.

On advice from city attorney Robert Petree, the commission abandoned the resolution. Petree said fees adopted by resolution are not defensible in court. He said a resolution is a policy statement, while an ordinance is law, backed by extensive study.

Petree then wrote the interim contribution ordinance, to be in place until a permanent ordinance can be adopted.

"You didn't object to transportation impact fee resolution adopted by Seminole County," commissioner Paul Tremel said to Howell.

"Were you looking for the smallest municipality in Seminole County to pick on?" Tremel asked.

HBA Director of Governmental Affairs Cheryl Lynch responded, "Seminole County did extensive study and had substantial data to put the fees in place."

Supreme Court's Abortion Decision Rebuff For Reagan Administration

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Reagan administration, rebuffed in its bid to overturn the Supreme Court's 1973 ruling legalizing abortion, says it will wait for changes in the court's members or attitudes before renewing the battle.

In a blow to the administration, the court Wednesday declared unconstitutional a Pennsylvania law setting strict requirements for abortions because it tried "to intimidate women into continuing pregnancies."

The Justice Department and various anti-abortion groups had urged the court to use the case to re-evaluate the Roe vs. Wade decision that gave women a constitutional right to have an abortion.

Solicitor General Charles Fried, the administration's top courtroom lawyer, said it was unlikely he would enter another abortion case unless the political balance of the justices shifts or "there were other indications in other cases" of changes in opinion.

Justice Harry Blackmun, who wrote the majority opinion in Roe vs. Wade, also wrote for the court Wednesday. He delivered a stinging rebuke to those who would try to pressure women not to seek an abortion, and pointedly reminded lawmakers that the Constitution's promises of individual liberties apply to women as well as men.

"Few decisions are more personal and intimate, more properly private, or more basic to individual dignity and autonomy, than a woman's decision... whether to end her pregnancy. A woman's right to make that choice freely is fundamental," Blackmun said.

He was joined by Justices William Brennan, Thurgood Marshall, Lewis Powell and John Paul Stevens. Chief Justice Warren Burger and Justices Sandra Day O'Connor, William Rehnquist and Byron White dissented.

The Pennsylvania Abortion Control Act of 1982, among other things, required doctors to lecture women about the medical implications of abortion both for herself and the fetus so she could give "informed consent" to the operation, and ordered criminal penalties against doctors if they failed to try to save an aborted fetus.

Kathryn Kolbert, who argued the case on behalf of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, said, "Once again the Supreme Court has affirmed the woman's right to choose, and left these sensitive decisions where they should be — between a woman and her doctor."

"We think this is a positive step and hope that the Pennsylvania Legislature will learn that continuing to harass women is not the way to go," she said.

Morgan Plant, executive director of Planned Parenthood's Pennsylvania affiliates, said the court "has made it very clear that the state does not have the right to interfere in the most intensely personal and private decision that a woman can make."

"In 1983 they very strongly affirmed Roe v. Wade. And now they've done it again in '86. This should be a very clear message to the U.S. Congress and to state legislatures all over the country that the highest court in the land

Budget Review May Help Museum's Grant Request

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford commissioners' review of City Manager Frank Faison's 1986-87 budget proposal next week will include discussion of a funding allocation to help secure a grant for the Henry Shelton Sanford Memorial Museum and Library.

The exact budget figure commissioners will begin review with is $15,948,543, which is up $2.5 million from this year's budget, although it does not call for a hike in the city's $4.38 per $1,000 assessed valuation property tax rate. The reviews will begin at 4:30 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in the city manager's conference room at city hall.

A grant committee survey on Wednesday determined that the museum "is in the running" to qualify for expansion funding, receipt of which is contingent on the city providing matching funds through its 1986-87 budget, according to museum trustee and Sanford City Commissioner John Mercer.

Wednesday's survey, which Mercer and Mayor Bettye Smith attended, was conducted by representatives of the Central Florida Capital Fund Committee, a private organization funded with contributions from area corporations and businesses.

The survey concluded with a discussion of the obligation Sanford would have to assume to receive the monies, and both Mayor Smith and Mercer said they would support inclusion of matching funds in the 1986-87 budget if doing so would secure the grant.

Sanford will be told next month whether its has been placed on the committees' grant eligibility list, and if it is word of funding receipt will come next spring.

Although the museum is seeking a $93,000 grant, it is not known whether that amount of funding will be available, committee repre-

South Africa Declares State Of Emergency

PRETORIA, South Africa (UPI) — President Pieter Botha imposed a nationwide state of emergency today and security forces began rounding up dissidents in anticipation of Monday's anniversary of the Soweto riots.

The announcement was made in a special edition of the Government Gazette, published in Pretoria.

"The state president announced this morning that a nationwide state of emergency has been declared with effect from a minute after midnight today," said a spokesman for Information Minister Louis Nel.

"A special edition of the Government Gazette with regulations in terms of the state of emergency is being distributed at the moment. The state president will make a full statement later today," he said.

Lawyers, relatives and dissident organization spokesmen said government opponents were rousted from homes and offices overnight in Johannesburg, Cape Town and Durban. Roman Catholic Church officials said a number of clergymen were taken into custody.

A police spokesman in Pretoria said an unspecified number of people were detained today under the Internal Security Act, which permits detention without charge for at least 14 days.

"It has to do with June 16 planning," the spokesman said, referring to opposition groups' announced plans to defy a government ban on commemorations marking the 10th anniversary of the Soweto riots, which sparked a 10-month black uprising that left 600 people dead.

The state of emergency announcement followed the rejection by mixed-race and Asian lawmakers of special police powers.

The government wanted the new powers before Monday's anniversary of the Soweto riots, which security forces expect will trigger a renewed wave of anti-government black violence.

But the Asian and mixed-race houses of Parliament acted jointly to bottle tip the bills in committee and resisted government lobbying efforts to pry them loose.

Botha declared a state of emergency around Johannesburg and Port Elizabeth on July 22 last year. Emergency rule later was extended to Cape Town.

SCC Faculty Member Nominated For State's 'Professor Of Year'

By Paul Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

An 18-year Seminole Community College teaching veteran has been nominated for Florida's 1986 "Professor of the Year." The Faculty Commission of the Florida Association of Community Colleges is sponsoring its third annual "Red Schoolhouse Award" to honor the state's top professor. The winner of the award will be named in November.

SCC Economics Instructor Lucinda Coulter has been nominated for the award by SCC Faculty Senate President Dorothy Morrison.

According to the commission, the Red Schoolhouse is symbolic of the ageless values of good teaching.

In her letter of nomination, read to the college's Board of Trustees during their Tuesday night monthly meeting, Ms. Morrison said Ms. Coulter was deserving of the honor for her demands for "excellence in herself... (and) excellence in her students and colleagues."

Ms. Morrison said in her letter that Ms. Coulter's "untiring energy (is) expended... in her classroom, student activities, and membership on major committees."

"She has been instrumental in obtaining excellent scholarships for our students and graduates," the letter continued.

Ms. Morrison called Ms. Coulter "the driving force behind our Brain Bowl team, which brought much honor to our college by winning the state and regional competitions."

She said Ms. Coulter's demanding of excellence in student writing was reflected in a student's recent recognition in a national essay writing contest. SCC student William C. Carter was a recent winner in the Milton Friedman writing contest, and Ms. Morrison said that award reflected Ms. Coulter as a "singularly excellent teacher."

In other business, the trustees discussed Student Retention Strategies, a program Dr. James Sawyer will use to keep students enrolled at SCC next school year.

"Retention is not a problem here, compared to the 27 other state community colleges. We're retaining more than any, but we always want to do better," Dr. Sawyer said.

The easiest student to recruit is the one that's already here," he continued. "It's to our advantage to do our best to keep them here," he said.

Board member Garnett White said he felt SCC guidance councelors play an important roll in keeping students enrolled, but Sawyer said the school has only nine counselors to service a total of 21,000 full-time and part-time students.

"If we think everyone who shows up at the front door is going to get a degree, we're kidding ourselves," said board member Beverly Freeman.

"One hundred percent of students enrolled aren't destined for degrees. It's not for everyone," she said. She said efforts should be made to involve more students in SCC vocational classes as an alternative.

Board member Dr. Julius Ringling expressed concern about the "small amount of black graduates," and said student retention projects should get support in the SCC budget.

Sawyer will give a more extensive report on the retention program at next month's board meeting.

Respite Program Needs Volunteers

More volunteers are needed to participate in a respite program for families who are house-bound in caring for a frail, elderly relative who can't be left alone, according to the Federation of Senior Citizen Clubs of Seminole County.

A coffee will be held for volunteers and anyone interested in the respite program at 10 a.m. Wednesday, June 18, at the Sanford Chamber of Commerce, 400 E. First St., Sanford.

The program is cosponsored by the Federation, Central Florida Regional Hospital,

Sanford, and RSVP (Retired Senior Volunteer Program.)

In an effort to relieve the primary caregiver for a short time in such a situation, the Federation and the hospital have set up a volunteer network similar to the Meals-on-Wheels volunteer system. Each volunteer is matched with a person in need of a respite volunteer according to geographical location, personal interest and need.

Those interested should call Edith Nielsen at the Federation office, 831-1631, for further information.

'Summer Fun' Registration Extended

Registration for "Summer Fun" recreational classes for students from kindergarten through the fifth grade has been extended to June 27. The classes will be held at Idyllwild Elementary School, 430 Vihlen Road, Sanford.

Classes offered include aerobics, computers, cooking, crafts, magic, pottery, sports, and for incoming kindergarteners, K-Fun. The programs are open to all area children, according to chairman Karen Westmark.

The Summer Fun classes will be offered in two sessions, the first from June 30-July 10, and the second from July 14-July 24. Hours of the Monday through Thursday courses are 9-10:25 a.m., and 10:30-11:55 a.m. Classes are 85 minutes in length.

The fee per class is $15, plus an additional $5-$7 fee for supplies in some classes.

Information on registration can be obtained by calling Ms. Westmark at 323-3906 or the school at 322-8823.

Party Set For Horner

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a joint birthday-retirement party for its outgoing president Jack Horner to be held June 21 at the Sanford Civic Center.

Horner, who turns 65 that day, is retiring from his chamber post so he and his wife, Peggy, "can do some travelling while we still have our health," Horner said in announcing his retirement.

The event honoring Horner is open to the public. Tickets are $25 per person and may be obtained by contacting Virginia Longwell at the chamber office, 322-2212, or by contacting any chamber member, Ms. Longwell said.

Spoil Islands, Sandy Flats Are Ripe For Trout, Redfish

Now is an excellent time of year to catch trout and redfish in the Banana and Indian rivers near the Merritt Island/Cocoa Beach area. These scenic rivers are dotted with spoil islands and grass flats which offer the fisherman great fishing for these species.

The spoil islands are numerous, and each one has its own characteristics. Some have a gradual slope and are surrounded by sandy flats. Others have one shallow end and one end which makes a sharp drop.

Almost all spoil islands hold trout and redfish at one time or another, but trial and error will determine which of these islands will be more productive.

Virtually all grass flats have trout and redfish, but some areas are better than others. Look for flats that have some contours such as sloughs or potholes. Also look for water that is a little dingy or off-color. Ultra-clear flats are difficult to fish because the fish are skittish and hard to catch.

Wading is an excellent method to fish both the spoil islands and the grass flats. Wading affords the angler a low profile and a quiet presentation. It is also cool and refreshing in the heat of the summer.

Jim Shupe
GOING FISHING?

To wade fish, a fisherman simply needs a rod and reel, a stringer, a net, and a few extra plugs. Wading is a peaceful way to fish, and anglers owe it to themselves to try it at least once.

When wading, anglers are reminded to shuffle their feet and not to pick them up. Sting rays also like the spoil islands and flats and this is one fish you don't want to "bite." (This columnist has been "hit" by one of these rays, and he can tell you that it is definitely an unforgettable experience.)

Many anglers prefer to use topwater plugs around the spoil islands and the grass flats. The Zara Spook, Mirrorlure, and Devil's Horse are all productive. Be sure to use plugs with props in choppy water, as the commotion helps trout and redfish to locate the lure.

Experienced shallow water anglers like to use a trailer on their topwater plugs. A 12-inch length of monofilament line is attached to the rear treble hook and then a Shad Dart or a No Allibi Jig is tied to the other end. The plug is worked in the usual manner, but the fisherman must be alert for strikes on the jig. It is not unusual to catch doubles on this rig.

Few anglers realize the gold and silver spoons are deadly on trout and redfish. A one-quarter or one-half ounce model is good for shallow water as it is easy to keep them out of the grass. The flash of these spoons has been the undoing of many a nice trout or redfish.

During the summer months, the flats (water to four feet) are good until the sun gets up and then the fish retreat into deeper water. Fish the edges of the same flats and the same sand bars that you had caught fish at earlier in the morning.

Trout often feed in schools, so fish the area thoroughly when one is caught. Also be alert for schools of baitfish as trout will usually follow the bait.

This type of fishing offers some good opportunities for families.

Lake Mary To Host 14 AAU State

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Many of the future stars of Seminole County girls prep basketball will be on hand this weekend at the AAU 14 and Under State Tournament at Lake Mary High.

Seminole High coach Charles Steele will coach the Seminole East team which opens play Friday at 4 p.m., against Vero Beach St. Helen's. In other games Friday, Seminole West (Lake Mary) takes on Ocala at 5:30. Orlando battles the BC Stinglers of Brooksville at 7 and Cocoa-Cola-Daytona Beach faces SYSA of Central Florida at 8:30.

Winners' bracket play will continue Saturday at 3:30 and 7 while the consolation round games will be at 11 and 12:30. Sunday's championship is scheduled for 11 a.m.

The Seminole East roster includes 6-0 center Liz Long, who played varsity for Seminole High as a freshman this past season, along with Chineta Gilchrist, Wilcatha Hartsfield, Lakoseta Kennon, Jewel Simmons, Julie Francis, Shawna Cohen, Michelle Toombs, Misty Beasley, Tammi Scott and Shannon Latimer. All of those players except Hartsfield will attend Seminole High.

"I think we'll be tough on the boards but we have a lot of inexperience in the backcourt," Steele said. "Liz (Long) and Chineta (Gilchrist) will give people a lot of trouble around the basket. And, if we play like we practice, we'll be real competitive."

Seminole West will be led by Marnie Frey, point guard on last year's junior varsity team, and Anita Mitchell. Two other Seminole County performers who played varsity as freshmen, Lake Brantley's Tracy Brandenburg and Oviedo's Suzanne Hughes, will be playing for SYSA of Central Florida.

ALEXANDER SIGNS

Steele said Temika Alexander, a sharpshooting guard for Seminole High this past season, has signed a grant in aid to play basketball at Livingston (N.C.) College. Alexander was the Seminole County leader in assists this past season and the second leading scorer and second in steals on the team.

Steele also said Catherine "Kitty" Alexander, the Evening Herald Player of the Year, has whittled her choices to either Livingston College or Kansas Wesleyan. Another Seminole High standout this past season, Kim "Big Wheel" Johnson, is being sought after by Santa Fe Community College.

Adcock, Cardinal Try Again Tonight

For the second time in three days, Wednesday's Sanford Little American League playoff game between Adcock Roofing and Cardinal Industries was postponed because of rain.

The game, originally scheduled for Monday, is rescheduled for tonight at 6 at Fort Mellon Park. The two teams will have their aces, Adcock's Mike Maples and Cardinal's Anthony "Redman" Roberts, on the mound for the one-game playoff to decide the American League champion. Both teams finished the regular season at 13-2.

In other Sanford Recreation youth leagues news, four games in the Sanford Junior League were rained out due to inclement weather this week.

The Junior League has two games scheduled for Friday night with Rotary facing Kiwanis at 5 p.m., and unbeaten Moose taking on Smitty's Mower at 7.

Consistent Lyman Wins All-Sports Trophy

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

On the strength of five conference championships, Lyman High School won the first Seminole Athletic Conference All-Sports Trophy with a total of 88½ points for the 20-sport SAC season.

Lyman claimed SAC championships in boys and girls swimming, volleyball and girls and boys soccer. First place in a sport is worth seven points while it was five points for a second place finish, four points for third, etc.

While Lyman won the most SAC titles of the six teams in the league, it also was consistent in just about every sport. Of the 20 SAC events, Lyman was first, second or third in 13 of them.

Second place in the All-Sports Trophy standings went to Lake Brantley with 86 points followed by Lake Mary at 85, Lake Howell at 83, Seminole at 58½ and Oviedo at 33.

Lake Brantley came on strong in the spring with championships in boys tennis, softball and girls golf and second place finishes in boys golf, boys track and girls tennis. The Patriots also won the SAC title in weightlifting.

Lake Mary had four conference titles for the 1985-86 school year including baseball, girls basketball, wrestling and football. Lake Howell won SAC titles in boys and girls cross country and girls tennis.

Seminole High won SAC championships in three sports but was not as strong overall as some of the other schools. The Seminoles won the SAC in boys and girls track and boys basketball.

Oviedo was the only school in the conference that did not win a conference title. The Lions' best finish was a second in volleyball and a tie for second in baseball.

Lake Mary was the preseason favorite to win the All-Sports Trophy as it had won the Five Star Conference All-Sports title the previous two seasons.

Lyman's success in the fall and winter seasons put it in front by a good margin going into the spring where its best finish was a tie for second in baseball. Lake Mary didn't pick up much ground in the spring as it finished first in baseball and second in girls golf. Actually, Lake Mary lost ground to Lake Brantley which came on to take second place on the strength of three SAC titles in the spring and three second places.

SHRIVER SURVIVES

EDGBASTON, England (UPI) — Pam Shriver survived a second-set tiebreak Wednesday to reach the third round of the $125,000 Edgbaston Priory grass court championship with a 6-3, 7-6 (7-4) victory over Patty Fendick.

Shriver, 21, is the top seed and defending champion. Three other seeded players fell to qualifiers Wednesday.

The biggest upset of the day was Etsuko Inoue of Japan's 7-6 (7-4), 4-6, 6-4 triumph over Briton's No. 5 seed Jo Durie.

No. 12 seed Susan Mascarin of the United States and and compatriot Debbie Spence, seeded 13th, both fell to qualifiers in the first round. Mascarin, a semi-finalist here last year, bowed out 6-2, 7-5 to Australian teenager Jenny Byrne. Spence was beaten 6-4, 6-1 by Brazilian Claudia Monteiro.

Two other American seeds joined Durie as second-round losers. Robin White was beaten 3-6, 6-4, 6-2, by Anne Henriksen and seventh seed Kate Gompert lost 6-1, 2-6, 6-4 to South African qualifier Elna Reinach.

"With Durie now out I'm feeling pretty confident of making it to the final provided I keep playing well and my mental attitude is right," said Shriver, who was seeded to meet Durie in the quarterfinals.

Richman Credo: Work Hard, Print The Truth

Evening Herald, Sanford, Fl. Thursday, June 12, 1986-11A

By Ian Love
UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI) — Milton Richman gave me the chance to become a sports writer. He was the man who hired me at UPI and I spent many hours talking with him about his career.
 Milton died early Monday of a heart attack in his Manhattan apartment. He wrote about sports for 42 years — 22 as a columnist — and he was sports editor of UPI for 12 years.
 I've never seen anyone work like he did at being a good newspaperman. His method was simple: Work hard and print the truth.
 I joined the UPI sports department in the summer of 1984 and had the privilege of working with Milton for almost two years. His energy was inspiring and his desire invigorating.

 I asked Milton one time what advice he would give a young sports writer and he said: "Make up your mind that this is what you want to do more than anything else in life and then go out and work hard. Don't enter into the decision frivolously or that is what you will be, a frivolous sports writer."
 Milton was at all times diligent. He always looked at the people he wrote about as human beings first and athletes second. The human side was always what interested Milton.
 Two years ago Milton suffered from exhaustion while covering spring training and had to be taken by ambulance to the hospital. He said later that he thought it might have been his time. He then told me that it didn't scare him because he wasn't afraid to die.

 In fact, when the ambulance attendants were wheeling him from the hotel, Lou Piniella, then a Yankee coach, happened to step from a nearby doorway.
 "Milt!" he said. "What are you doing?"
 "It's my birthday and they're taking me to a party," Milton wisecracked.
 I asked him one time why he had done so much for me and he said, "Someday when you are in Milton Richman and his trusty typewriter. He died Monday.

Sore Achilles Shelves John

DETROIT (UPI) — Yankees left-hander Tommy John returned to New York Wednesday night with a sore left Achilles tendon, a club spokesman said.
 John was scheduled to start Thursday's game at Baltimore, but instead will be examined by team physician, Dr. John Bonomo. His status is uncertain. The spokesman said Yankees manager Lou Piniella did not make an immediate decision on who would start in place of John.
 The 43-year-old pitcher complained of the injury before Wednesday's game against the Detroit Tigers and was sent home.

Remembering Milton's Best

NEW YORK (UPI) — A chapel filled with mourners from the world of sports said good-bye to UPI columnist Milton Richman Wednesday.

Members of the UPI sports staff said their farewells by trading stories of Milton. Here, for those who want to publish them, for those who simply might enjoy them and for the working stiffs on newsdesks around the world, who grew accustomed to the Richman byline, are some of the gems.

Instructions to a rookie reporter on his first assignment to the dressing room of a major league ballclub: "Be fast and don't fall in love down there."

Richman on manners: "Manners were created to keep fools at a distance."

After proving he could run to first base faster than most major leaguers — by running a 50-yard dash on a Manhattan street — Richman said: "You know I'm 61-years-old and still trying to make the team."

On being told a competing wire service had accidentally been given credit for one of his stories, Milton said: "They wish."

Again on manners: "The two most neglected words in the English language: Thank you."

On sending a young reporter to cover his first heavyweight championship fight: "OK, son now we're gonna see if you can hit the fast ball."

Dictating the play-by-play during a post-season baseball game or the round-by-round description of a boxing match: "They all say they can do it, but few of them can."

In a recent spring training, Pete Rose criticized Richman for breaking the story on his return to the Cincinnati Reds as manager. "Milton I just wonder why a man at the top of his profession would feel he had to break that story," Rose said.

"Well Petey," Richman replied. "You're a man at the top of your profession, tell me why do you feel you have to break Ty Cobb's record?"

"I'll have to think about that, Milton," Rose said.

"Yes, you think about that Petey."

During spring training in 1984, the Reds were honoring newly named manager Vern Rapp at their annual dinner in Tampa. Rapp, who previously managed in St. Louis, was saying how thankful he was for getting the job. When Rapp began thanking his wife and how she had stood by him all those years, he began to break down.

Milton, sitting at his table, said: "Poor Vern. Imagine him like this when he's introducing his wife. What's gonna happen when the Cardinals come to town."

On the importance of being honest: "Your most prized possession is your name."

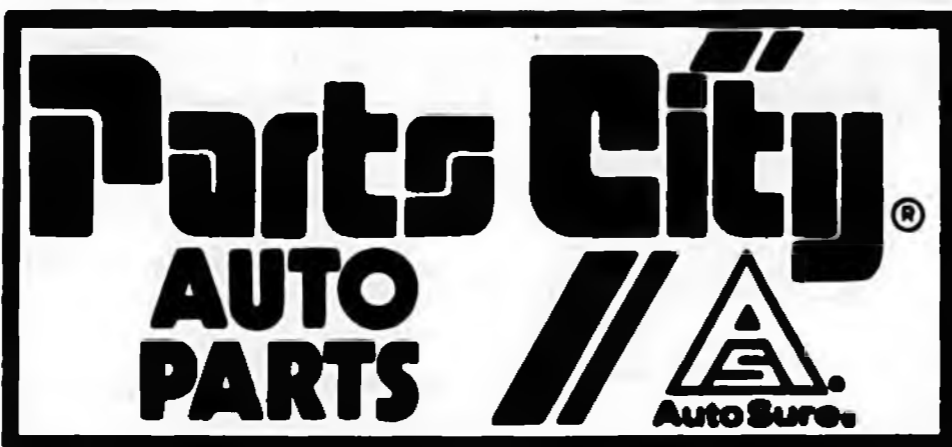

On writing a column: "Anyone can write a column for a day or maybe a week. The classic distance is 20 years." (Milton made the distance with a year to spare).

On his early problems with the technical side of writing on a video terminal connected to UPI's computer: "I'll be OK as soon as I learn to slide into second base."

Once Milton walked into a McDonald's and asked for a hamburger medium-rare.

Milton was a very meticulous man, especially when it concerned food. During spring training one year in Tampa, Milton went out to dinner and mentioned to his dinner companion the veal was not very good.

When the waitress came around and asked if everything was O.K., Milton called her over to the table and said: "Well miss, the fettuccine was superb. The Caesar's Salad was passable. But the veal, the veal was inedible."

Niacin Needed But Watch Overuse Effect

DEAR DR. GOTT — What are the consequences of taking too much niacin?
DEAR READER — Niacin is a naturally occurring vitamin that prevents the deficiency state called pellagra, characterized by rough skin, diarrhea and mental changes that include irritability, memory loss, headaches and emotional irritability. The recommended daily allowance of niacin is 15 to 20 milligrams per day. Too much can cause flushing and palpitations.
DEAR DR. GOTT — My wife and I have been trying for years to have children, with no success. The doctor says it is because I have a low sperm count. I was not circumcised, and my mother says that could be the reason. Do you agree?
DEAR READER — No, I do not. Circumcision is not related to fertility. Your low sperm count, the probable cause of your difficulty, is a separate issue. I suggest that you be examined by a urologist to determine if there is a treatment that could improve the count. For example, you may have a low hormone level that can be treated, or you may have a varicocele — a type of varicose vein in the scrotum — that could contribute to infertility.
DEAR DR. GOTT — I am taking three lecithin capsules daily. Is this enough to reduce my cholesterol level?
DEAR READER — There is no scientific evidence to support the claim that lecithin capsules reduce blood cholesterol. A more appropriate approach would be for you to eliminate animal fat and dairy products from your diet.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report titled UNDERSTANDING CHOLESTEROL. Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 plus their name and address to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT — A beauty-salon operator said that the reason I'm losing so much hair and am getting shriveled skin is because I take 4000 milligrams of Encaprin daily. What do you think?
DEAR READER — Encaprin is basically aspirin. You are taking a high dose. I am not aware that aspirin causes hair loss; perhaps your thinning hair is a complication of the disease for which you are using Encaprin. Ask your doctor if you could, as a test, take another medicine — like acetaminophen — to see if your hair growth improves. You could be having a reaction to Encaprin, although I believe that is unlikely.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Here is a deal in which the 4-3 spade fit would have provided a safer game contract than the actual three no-trump. When hearts were led against the no-trump game, declarer was resigned to his fate. On the third and fourth rounds of hearts, he discarded two clubs from dummy, and from his own hand a club and a diamond. He then waited for West to take the setting trick with the fifth heart. And waited. The lights came on as declarer realized that the opponents had botched the defense by blocking the heart suit. East was left with the setting trick, but West was on lead. West exited with a spade and declarer could take the rest of the tricks as long as he made the effort. In practice, he played A-K of diamonds. When the queen did not drop, he then took a club finesse with the jack, and that was nine tricks.

The lesson on defense is simple to remember. North asked whether South had a four-card major suit by bidding two clubs. The response, two diamonds, said, "Sorry, partner — no four-card major." Knowing that South cannot have four hearts makes it easy for West to unblock a heart honor when East plays the king and ace, just in case the hearts have today's distribution pattern.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY
 JUNE 13, 1986
 You could be very fortunate in the year ahead in revising out-moded things into something more useful and functional. This will result in tidy profits.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Although you and your mate will have a common objective today, you might work at cross purposes. Each could undo the good the other is doing. Career advantages and problems are discussed in your Gemini! Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead. Get yours by mailing $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Putting critical tasks off until the last minute is an unwise policy today. You'll discover this for yourself once things begin to pile up.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) An unfeathered desire could prove expensive for you today. It may tempt you to buy something that your budget isn't prepared to handle.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It's not to your benefit to associate with weak, dependent people today. They'll dump their responsibilities on you and tie you down.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Do not be stingy or miserly today to a friend who has always treated you generously. Reciprocate in kind.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Today if you are contemplating making an expensive purchase, be sure to examine the merchandise closely. Be certain you get exactly what you pay for.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your objectives will be clearly defined today, and you'll know how they can be achieved. Yet you might find excuses for not taking appropriate action.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Self-doubts and apprehensions could be mistaken for intuitive perceptions today. This could cause you to feel like a loser before you even try.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A source that is usually available whenever you're in need of financial help may be shut off from you today. Better look elsewhere.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The other party in that joint venture you're involved in is not in harmony with your aims. It won't work unless you pull together.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Someone you're involved with today may not place as high a value on your service as you do. Correct this condition before proceeding.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A situation that you are eager to change can be accomplished if you do it gradually. Don't attempt to alter everything in one day.
