

Marion Officials To Ask Governor To Get "Mr. X"

Sassard Arrested For Shooting Deer Out Of Season At Ocala

OCALA, Feb. 9. (AP) — Marion County authorities today planned to ask Governor Warren to seek extradition from Georgia of the mysterious "Mr. X" involved in the shooting of a deer out of season in Ocala National Forest last August.

Assistant State Attorney A. P. Buie said the defendant, who was indicted by a Marion county grand jury last November for illegally killing and possessing the deer, had been arrested at Athens, Ga.

The accused man was identified by the assistant state attorney as Jack Sassard, 48, formerly of Inverness and Sanford. He was named in the indictment but officials had not publicly disclosed his name.

Also involved in the case was H. B. Odham, who Buie said worked for Sassard and was the first person tried in connection with the incident. Odham, a brother of State Rep. Bradley Odham, was fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in jail in Marion county court.

The case was taken to the State Pardon Board and Governor Cald well gave Odham a stay of sentence and suggested officers seek the other man in the case.

The Pardon Board later remitted the jail sentence but increased Odham's fine to $200.

Buie reported that officials from here who went to Georgia to press for Sassard's arrest said he admitted being present in Ocala poster forest the night of Aug. 14, 1948, when the buck deer was killed out of season but denied killing the shot.

At Athens, Clark County Sheriff H. T. Huff said he understood Sassard would fight extradition to Florida.

tent caretaker be employed; new beds or mattresses be furnished when needed; that the electrical refrigerator be put in order; that the County Nurse visit the Home once a week and supervise the nurse at the Infirmary, and to make a written report to the Board each month. Other suggestions were that the County Nurse provide equipment needed for proper care of patients, and that commissioners go to the Home and check it occasionally.

The letter with the suggestions was signed by Ida Lou H. Fox, Ruth H. Scott, Maude E. Sather, Margaret Hodge and Betty Doris Williams.

Mrs. Verne Messenger, County supervisor of registration, requested that the Commission order a new registration of voters and the installation of a permanent registration system, which was explained by Stoner Penney, Orlando office equipment expert. The request was taken under advisement by the Commission.

Returning to the Midway case he asserted that Commission members had employed all the usual methods practiced by independent states and declared this to be just practice for "neutral" countries which had called forth "universal condemnation."

Acheson declared that the Hemisphere government "should bear full responsibility for the action."

The complete declaration came a day earlier to a joint session of Congress, the prospect of an appeal by the United States and other nations to the United Nations.

The Hemisphere government committed itself to peace, conciliation and the right to negotiate, to protect human rights, Acheson's plan for the agency and its appeal to the United Nations and the other man in the case.

He also urged that the members of the commission and the French should work together to end the conflict between the two sides.

But they might not do as Acheson wanted. They might not act as they planned, and pre-emptive war could start the ball rolling again.

It could be fatal, he said, to let the entire picture end in a standstill, he said, with the exception of one side.

But it would also be fatal, he advised, to go to the other extreme.

Dewey didn't say exactly what he would do again.

He said on this point was that he has been granted a comparatively early appointment to the rank of older statesmen, which someone has aptly defined as a policeman who is no longer a policeman.

Acheson declared, authorizing direct quotation:

"It is a totally false, brief and outrageous statement."

The almost impossible task of questioning 30 witnesses in six days faced the Senate Latin Committee today.

A two weeks extension of hearings on the Administration labor bill was approved by the Senate Labor Committee. The deadline was moved from Feb. 10 to Feb. 23.

Republicans had protested that it was impossible to hear all the scheduled witnesses within the time originally allowed, despite the night and day sessions that have been held.

Senators Murray (D-Mont.) and Pepper (D-Calif.) told reporters that no further night sessions of the committee will be held unless they are necessary and only by agreement.

The remaining time will be divided equally between opponents and proponents of the bill. Pepper said the present list of witnesses will be revised and some additional ones will be scheduled.

The decision to extend the hearings was made by the embattled committee after nearly two hours of meeting behind closed doors.

Dewey Strikes At Anti-Liberals In Capital Talk

Conservatives Told To Leave GOP By New York Governor

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9. (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey tonight called on Republicans who oppose "bold, progressive" policies to get out of the party.

He struck out also at New Deal elements in the GOP, and advised the party to "stop ballyhooing about the past." He urged it to dedicate itself anew to forward-looking programs of social progress, but without trying to "outbid the Democrats with the public money."

In an address prepared for a Lincoln Day dinner he last night speech since his defeat for the Presidency last November, Dewey cited what he called many basic differences between the Republican and Democratic program and denied he was a "me too" Republican.

He conceded that the last GOP election expressed widespread concern over unemployment insurance, old age old age assistance, broad social security generally, some electric and public housing, public development of water power, and farm price supports.

Further he said the platform ended in "expansion protection of the right of labor."

Those who disapprove of these measures and want to fight them ought to go out and try to be elected in a typical American community and see what happens to them, he said.

But they might not do as Acheson wanted. They might not act as they planned, and pre-emptive war could start the ball rolling again.

He said on this point was that he has been granted a comparatively early appointment to the rank of older statesmen, which someone has aptly defined as a policeman who is no longer a policeman.

Gresham emphasized time and again all he wanted for the actor was the same treatment any other defendant would receive in the court.

Attorney Grant B. Cooper, representing Miss Leed, said he concurred with Gresham's remarks and emphasized that the "white light of publicity" has also added to the punishment of Mrs. Leed, a young actress.

Judge Nye, in passing sentence, commented that Mitchum had gained his present position by "working a position of national prominence" but "unfortunately he overlooked the responsibilities that go with that prominence."

"Thousands, perhaps hundreds of thousands, have mobilized Robert Mitchum," said the judge. "To the young he has now presented an example which is not one of good citizenship."

At the hearing opened today the attorneys for Mitchum and Miss Leed both said that for technical grounds they were fighting for a new trial, but these motions were immediately denied.

A third defendant, Robin Ford, 31 year old real estate agent, was granted a continuance until March 9 on request of his attorney. Ford is held in jail without bail as he has a second narcotics charge pending against him.

The fourth person involved in the midnight raid last Sept. 1 at a secluded Laurel Canyon cottage is a 26-year-old dancer, Vicki Evans. However, she failed to appear for trial last Jan. 10 with the other three and her trial has been set for Mar. 8. She was in New York at the time of Mitchum's trial and said she could not find work to earn money for her return trip here.

Mitchum said at the time of his arrest that "this will ruin me."

However, his boxcar appeal apparently got a sharp hand from the arrest. His studio immediately released several of his pictures

Truman Denounces Mindszenty Trial As Infamous Act

President Is Opposed To Disclosing How Many Bombs U. S. Has On Hand

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—(AP)—President Truman today denounced the conviction of Cardinal Mindszenty as "infamous". He said it would go down as one of the black spots in Hungary's history.

Mr. Truman termed the tribunal that tried Mindszenty a kangaroo court instead of a people's court, as Hungary called it. He added Hungary is police state and the people are never responsible for their government in that kind of a setup.

If the people had their say, he added, Hungary would not have that kind of a government. The term kangaroo court usually means a mock trial or one where principles of law and justice are ignored.

The President expressed his views in response to questions at a news conference. On other subjects, he said:

He is opposed to disclosing how many atomic bombs this country has on hand. He said it is a matter not for public discussion. Chairman David Lilienthal of the Atomic Energy Commission categorically denied to him yesterday, he said, reports that he (Lilienthal) had favored

Hungary Expels U. S. Diplomat On Spy Charge

Second American Was Sent Out Before Mindszenty Trial

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Feb. 10—(AP)—The Government announced today it has expelled Robin Steussy, vice consul and third secretary of the United States legation, whom it charged with spying and smuggling men out of Hungary.

The announcement made a similar charge against Stephen A. Kocik, an American legation attaché, who was expelled before the trial of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty and left the country a week ago.

"They smuggled men, using cars and having driven Dr. Tibor Gal, an officer of the customs," the statement said. "They smuggled out Istvan Barankovics and others."

Barankovics was the leader of the Democratic People's (Catholic) Party, who reached Vienna six days ago. Istvan Barankovics fled Communist-dominated Hungary after dissolving the opposition Catholic Party in spite of what he termed

26 Japs' Sentences Are Commuted For Killing Americans

YOKOHAMA, Feb. 10—(AP)—Lieut. General Walton H. Walker, commander of the U. S. Eighth Army, today commuted the sentences of 28 Japanese Navy men sentenced to hang for bayonetting and beheading three American aviators.

Only 13 of the original 41 Japanese sentenced to hang for the attack in April of 1946 will go to the gallows. On the recommendation of the Eighth Army newsworthy: Edward Walker freed three of those under death sentence, commuted the sentences of seven to life imprisonment and 17 others to various prison terms. One sentence was suspended for five years.

After a trial lasting four months, an Army military commission on Mar. 16, 1948, found the group guilty of murdering Navy Lieut. Vernon Tolle of Pensacola, Aviation Ordnance man Robert Tugle, Jr., of Brownwood, Tex., both of whom were beheaded, and Aviation Ordnanceman Warren H. Loyd of Forest Hills, Long Island, N. Y.

Lake Mary Service Started By Bus Line

Bus line service to Lake Mary was started at 7:00 o'clock this morning, a run requiring but 25 minutes. It was announced by S. A. Allen, manager of the bus line. Other bus runs were scheduled to be made at 11:00 A. M.; 4:45 P. M., and the final run at 10:15 P. M. The route runs West First Street to French Avenue to Thirteenth Street to the Country Club Road, and to Lake Mary.

The bus line has been doing better than expected and is following 60 schedules a day, said Mr. Allen. The New York Giants, he adds, are negotiating to bring the bus line to schedule in bringing ball players to town.

Two buses are in operation. A third bus, which was secured from the Orlando Transit Lines, was brought here Tuesday and at present is being used for emergency purposes. The bus terminal is at First Street and Magnolia Avenue.

Red Spy Ring Stole Top Jap War Secrets

Army Says Group Tipped Russia Of Germany's Plans To Attack U. S. S. R.

By DOUGLAS H. CORNELL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—(AP)—The Army unfolded today the sensational story of a Russian spy ring that looted the Japanese cabinet and German embassy in Tokyo of secrets that helped turn the tide of war.

The super-network tipped Russia that Germany would attack her and that Japan would not.

It "probably" was the best and boldest ring in all history. The Army says so in a 32,000-word report on what made it tick. General Douglas MacArthur sent the report over from Tokyo.

Apparently the Army report was intended to warn this country to be on the lookout for spying here.

Beware, it says, of United States employees who even show sympathy with the Communist Party. It says that "party sympathy is enough to develop a high-class agent and spy."

Most of the ringleaders are dead. The master spy was a German Dr. Richard Borge. His first lieutenant was a Japanese traitor, Ozaki Hozumi. Both hid their spying under the cloak of newspaper assignments. They were hanged.

But the report says tag ends of the network still may be busy in world capitals. It says an American author, Agnes Smedley, operated in Shanghai and is a spy and agent of the Soviet government.

This "case study in international espionage in the Far East" reads like an Oriental serial from Hollywood. It even has the crime doesn't pay ending with a novel twist:

The man who unknowingly betrayed this spy chain now is one of Japan's top Communists.

The report says that:

The Japanese snatched the ring almost by accident, just before Pearl Harbor in 1941.

But then it had picked off the secret it wanted most—assurance that Japan would not jump Russia. That let the Reds rush troops across Siberia to halt the German drive in Moscow.

Information from the ring was

Canada Drops Ban On Celery Imports

Celery imports are now authorized under general permit into all Canadian provinces, according to Charles E. Bohlen, counselor for the Secretary of State at Washington, D. C.

The first lifting of restrictions on the celery imports into Canada came on Dec. 30, and affected provinces of British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba.

The authorization for imports into New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island became effective Jan. 20 and into Ontario and Quebec on Jan. 27. Import, however, of celery hearts and trimmed celery packaged in consumers' style packages will not be permitted into any of the provinces.

Official Says Reds Conduct Arctic Tests

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Feb. 10—An Air Force general says the Russians across the Arctic Straits in Siberia are very likely conducting Arctic tests similar to United States experiments now under way in Alaska.

Gen. General William E. Kepner, in mentioning the possibility of Russian end weather experiments, said "we must give full credit to the initiative and inventiveness of any nation."

Kepner, chief of the Air Force Proving Grounds Command, called tests here so far "preliminary exploration." Into performance of latest model planes and guided missiles. Some are highly secret types.

He said that although he'd been here but a week it had been long enough to appreciate the advantage of observing the effects of temperatures down to 40 degrees below zero on equipment heretofore tested only in "frigid Arctic" laboratories at his Eglin Base, Fla., headquarters.

New, Heavy Taxes To Balance State Budget For Next 2 Years Foreseen

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 10—(AP)—It's going to take new taxes—many new ones—to balance the budget that is being prepared here for separation of the state of Florida for the next two years.

Simple arithmetic shows it.

Up to today, the Cabinet Budget Commission approved agency requests for about $176,000,000 from the general fund for the biennium.

That's $22,000,000 above the estimated amount that will be available—and it doesn't include anything to run the colleges and universities, erect new buildings the institutions say they need, nor start work on the South Florida water control project.

The universities want $22,000,

000 for operations. They and other authorities want $22,000,000 worth new buildings that would settle the university's debt.

Water control work between Miami and Lakeland is estimated to cost

$22,000,000.

The atomic bomb, the size of one golf ball, would be the equivalent of $22,000,000 worth

new buildings, the water control work and the university's debt.

Campfire Replaces Midnight Oil In 2 U. Of F. Courses

GAINESVILLE, Feb. 10 (Special) — A crackling campfire has partially replaced the midnight oil in two courses now being offered at the University of Florida, and classroom time is divided about equally between four walls and the great outdoors.

Camp program and counselor training, and camp administration recognize the significance of increased interest in camping activities and endeavor to give the student a thorough understanding of camping techniques.

"Many states are now accelerating their school camping programs," says Dr. E. Benton Salt, head of the Professional Curriculum Department of the College of Physical Education, Health and Athletics, "and Florida is among them. Quite a few of our county school boards are setting up their own camps, and the legislature has made it possible for the school boards to engage teachers for special summer recreational work, of which camping is a part."

Twenty students were enrolled in the course the first semester of this school year. They devoted about half of the course time to classroom theory and about half to activities at the camp site.

Excursions to camp are always conducted by course instructor James H. Boswell, who at the last "lab" gave pointers on the art of fashing wood stays together in hot construction. The students learn to build outdoor fireplaces, benches, tables and protective shelters from materials which can be found in the woods, and to select the most desirable camp site—and the best water—in the area. All construction of camp buildings and facilities at the camp was done by the class.

When darkness comes and day's work is done, a guitar or harmonica usually bows up. The crowd gathers 'round a log fire for the fun and fellowship always present when folks sing the American folkore ballads which go with campfires like mustard with hot dogs.

BIBLE VERSE TODAY

Infinite love makes it so.—Is. 38:12: I will make a man more precious than fine gold.

Dr. E. C. Nance, former Rollins dean, now president of the University of Tampa, has been awarded the Civitan's most "unselfish and serviceable citizenship" award.

If New York gets away with this law to prohibit its unemployed from taking vacations in Florida, then we think the Florida legislature ought to pass a law to prohibit unemployed Floridians from vacationing in New York City.

Eighth grade youngsters at Junior High School deserve great credit for the spirit of goodwill and generosity which prompted them, after having given a dance which took in some $24 and paid all expenses amounting to about $8, to give the net proceeds to the Infantile Paralysis Fund. The world will be in good hands when these kids and others like them grow up as long as they continue to give first consideration to the needs of suffering humanity.

It may be a particularly good year for Sanford and Seminole County that at the very time when commodity markets elsewhere are slumping so seriously as to give rise to fears of an impending depression, the State Farmers Market in Sanford took in $217,000 more during the month of January than it did during the same month last year. This may have due, of course, to the California freeze, or the Berlin air lift, but whatever it was, that is all part of the game, and it looks as if it Sanford might be having its inning.

White House advisers do not regard the slump in stock and commodity markets as an indication of an impending depression, but they propose a hundred billion dollars or so public works program and other government spending be prepared, just in case. But if it costs this country 42 billion dollars to operate during a period of prosperity when people are relatively better able to take care of themselves and to pay taxes, we hesitate to think what it will be like when prices, profits, and wages are low and public works are needed to take care of the unemployed.

Robert Mitchum, popular movie star, draws a 60-day jail sentence on a marijuana charge. We don't know whether Mitchum ever smoked marijuana cigarettes or not. Someone said he had been smoking them all his life. That couldn't be true; if he had, he would be dead now. Marijuana is one of the most deadly of all narcotics. Worse than opium or morphine, it does not put you to sleep, it keeps you very much awake, makes a minute seem like hours, makes people aggressive, makes them want to kill. Many young people do not know what they are getting into when they start smoking these apparently harmless resins. Mitchum should have known better.

No one who has any realistic understanding of Communism as it is practiced in the world today could have thought for one minute that any lighter sentence than life imprisonment would have been inflicted upon Cardinal Mindszenty by a Communist court in Hungary "for treason against the state." He showed before the trial began, "no treason" had been wronged him by torture. Now as a "defender of justice," he has had his "right of appeal" to a higher court denied many evidence to him that he had been tortured.

What a show! The 101 Ranch, a must for all visitors to the area, has come up with a new attraction. It is called "The Great 101 Ranch Wild Show." It features "rough men" performing in a wild and rugged style. The show includes bull riding, horseback riding, and other exciting performances.

Foreigners In China

Almost unnoticed in the struggle for the government of China, an era may be ending on the China coast. It is the era of foreign military occupation.

Perhaps it began at Hong Kong, ceded to the British in 1841, after which Great Britain also obtained rights to occupy nearby territory on the mainland. The next year Shanghai was opened to foreigners, and soon there was a French concession, with its separate government, and then the International Settlement in the government of which Great Britain and the United States participated.

Toward the end of the century Germany entered the picture at Tsingtao, further up the coast, and developed a naval base there. In World War I this base fell to the Japanese and British; after the war it was restored to China, then became a United States base.

Hong Kong remains British, but of these other foreign incursions the only remnants now are a couple of small detachments of United States Marines, standing by on ships in the harbors of Shanghai and Tsingtao.

The era may be ending, or it may be only changing. Beyond Tsingtao, to the north, the Russian navy now occupies Dairen. But the great central coastline of China, for better or for worse, may soon be free of foreign military influence, for the first time in more than a hundred years.

Millions Of Houses

For decent sheltering of the people, this country needs nearly eighteen million new houses and other family dwelling units in the next ten years, according to Raymond E. Foley, federal housing administrator. There seems to be no reason to question his estimate, and if it is right only half enough houses are now being built.

New dwellings now are being constructed at the rate of about 900,000 a year, as a round figure. The rate would have to be doubled to fill the need cited by Foley. To do that would really be something; in the busiest period after the war the rate did not pass a million a year.

But the rate of building now is becoming lower rather than higher, and builders say the reason is that demand is slackening for houses at present prices. If it is a hard job to sell the current crop of houses, how would twice that many be disposed of?

Some say the government should subsidize building—should put up part or all of the cash for low-rent housing developments and give financial help to those who want to buy low-cost houses. Others say prices could be brought down to the purse level of those who would like to buy through improved building methods, including wider application of prefabrication, and that this also would increase the number of houses.

Gasoline Mileage

The instant attention of any motorist can be won by suggesting that there is a way to get forty per cent more miles of travel from a gallon of gasoline. Engine designers and fuel chemists have that figure in mind as a goal. They think that by collaboration, by making engines and fuels to fit each other, the goal can be reached.

If and when it should be done, however, the motorist probably would not get much bonus in the way of cheaper travel. The research is being done with high octane fuels, which now cost more than the gasolines ordinarily used in automobiles and probably would continue to do so.

The big advantage would be in the use of smaller, lighter engines and in conservation of the total supply of fuel, so that the reserves of petroleum would last longer. That is important to the individual as well as to the motor car and petroleum industries. The motorist would have an immediate advantage, too; he would have to stop less often for gasoline.

THE WORLD TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

It was back about 1930 that I stood in the private office of Prime Minister Lord Craigavon of Northern Ireland (Ulster) and heard him issue this defiance to the "Irish Free State" (now Eire):

"Union with Southern Ireland! Never! Never!! Never!!! And when I am gone, there will be other leaders of the same mind to carry on."

Craigavon, a huge man who towered well above six feet, was leaning against the marble mantle over the fireplace as we talked about the bitter and often bloody strife between the two sections of the Emerald Isle. He became so wrought up as he bellowed this, that he repeatedly slammed his fist as big as a ham into the palm of his other hand by way of emphasis.

That "Never! Never!! Never!!! comes echoing down to me today. For Northern Ireland is holding a general election in which the greatest issue is the question of whether she should unite with Eire or remain a part of the United Kingdom under the King.

Lord Craigavon is dead, but he predicted truly when he said other leaders would carry on the policy of separation. It would be an astonishing thing if "Ulster" voted at long last to join fortunes with her sister state to the south. This is particularly true in view of Eire's recent action in severing the last tie which bound her to England.

Eire, of course, has been eager for a merger. As a matter of fact, former Prime Minister Eamon De Valera of Eire recently toured England in support of a United Ireland. Moreover, the leaders of all political parties in Eire sponsored the raising of money to assist Northern Ireland candidates favoring union. Naturally that hasn't improved the temper of Northern Ireland folks who oppose union.

The fight between Northern and Southern Ireland runs back for generations. Its basis is mainly religious, racial and economic. Unhappily religion is a potent factor in the minds of many. A majority of the populace of Northern Ireland is protestant and most of the folk of Ulster are Catholics.

However, the economic issue also looms large. Ulster long has been one of the richest parts of the Emerald Isle because of its success in agriculture, linen manufacture and shipbuilding. Many Ulsterites feel that union with the south would mean they would have to carry excessive taxation, since

"We have now on our Southern border a foreign nation. It has always been their policy by one means or another to dominate our territory and to force us out of the United Kingdom.

"Today we fight to defend our very existence and the heritage of our Ulster children.

Men Want Women To Outlive Them, Hal Boyle Says

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK.—(P)—Science has got around to finding out that women live longer than men. Now it wants to know why.

Well, the Bunnies' burner brigade can quit annoying laboratory mice looking for the answer to that one. I can tell them:

The average woman outlives the average man because she wants to—and he wants her to. That's all there is to it.

It's a simple matter of pride, civilization and erosion.

Some scientists have held man's shorter life span is due to the fact he lives more dangerously. Dr. James B. Hamilton of Long Island University blames it, on the other hand, to the male sex hormone. He says this raises the metabolic rate and causes men to burn up their food and oxygen at a faster rate than women.

But it seems to the poor man, numerous parts of Eire are not so prosperous.

Then, of course, the six counties of Ulster were settled largely by Scots and English. Folks of Ulster who trace their lineage back to the days of the Irish kings don't look upon these later arrivals as "belonging" to the land of the shamrock.

You have to travel in Ireland to fully appreciate just how bitter the feeling is between many of the people of Ulster and Eire. For many years I fished for trout and salmon in Ireland, and one of my favorite spots was Loch Melvin, right on the Ulster-Eire border near the west coast.

The situation there was rather typical. Not infrequently there would be raids from one side to the other. Cottages sometimes were burned, or boats destroyed. The constabulary always was on the alert along the frontier.

Prime Minister Sir Basil Brooke of Northern Ireland recently summed up the position up from his viewpoint as his state approached today's historic election. He said he was in danger because of Eire's decision to cut its last constitutional ties with Britain. He added:

"We have now on our Southern border a foreign nation. It has always been their policy by one means or another to dominate our territory and to force us out of the United Kingdom.

"Today we fight to defend our very existence and the heritage of our Ulster children.

philosopher that both these scientific theories overlook the fundamental factor—the human one, the desire of both sexes that the female last longer.

All modern civilization is built on that theme.

It starts with the idea that women are made of a finer stuff than men. And this begins in earliest childhood. What are little girls made of? Sugar and spice and everything nice. And what are little boys made of? Rats and snails and puppy dog tails. Ugh!

The small lad fights this idea at the kindergarten level. But by the time he is out of grammar school his resistance has been beaten down. He independently accepts it as a fact that he is made of baser, cruder metal. From that day to the grave he carries on his function in the modern world—Thralldom to womankind.

It isn't by any means an unhappy slavery. It gives him the sense of security that a professional soldier gets—-he has a job to do, a definite role in life to fill.

So the man goes to work, marries and sets up his idol in an ivy tower—usually a kitchenette. Without that responsibility he can just wander around in the woods and yawn himself to death from boredom.

But with that responsibility he lasts longer. He works or worries himself to death over a longer period.

The slow erosion that eats him ultimately isn't caused alone by the wear and tear of his daily treadmill. Chivalry and etiquette play a small but steady part.

His subservience to one woman requires that he also go through the motions of being obsequious to all women. A private doesn't salute one officer; he salutes all officers. Thus the imprisoned male flatters away his dwindling store of muscular energy taking off his hat in elevators, holding heavy doors open for powerful female strong enough to break him like a reed.

Each of these polite gestures takes an infinitesimal fraction of a second from his existence. One nothing, ten thousand such gestures tap his structure.

Because he takes pride in serving his idol, the average man races

Golf Association To Sponsor Tourny

The Sanford Woman's Golf Association will sponsor a two-ball foursome tournament on Sunday at 1:00 o'clock at the Seminole Country Club, according to Mrs. W. G. Fleming, publicity director for the club. She stated that any golfer, men or women, who are interested in the tournament are welcome to participate.

Mrs. Ann Dunn has been removed from the Fernand Laughton Memorial Hospital to the home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Monroe, where she will remain for about a week.

Friends of Mrs. L. E. Arms strong will be glad to learn that she is able to return to her work to do the Theta Beta for Hoodie Dossy at Columbia. It will be played strictly for laughs along the lines of "Perils of Pauline," which was my favorite Hoodie.

Burt's deal with Universal-International is now finished, but he has several years to go with Hal Wallis. He's now doing "Rope of Sand."

Betty Hutton says she's all set to do the Theta Beta for Hoodie Dossy at Columbia. It will be played strictly for laughs along the lines of "Perils of Pauline," which was my favorite Hoodie.

Acting union circles are concerned about the television situation. The big talent unions can't come to agreement about how to handle the new medium. At present, it looks as though the Screen Actors Guild will handle talent for television films and American Federation of Radio Artists for live shows.

Director John Farrow was telling me about a coincidence. He was running dashes of a pie throwing scene of "Red, Hot and Blue" and who should be in the projection room but Mack Sennett. The master pie-thrower, whose biography will be filmed by Paramount, recommended Farrow's technique and went into a lecture on the art of the baked custard.

The Edgar Bergens and the Buck Powell troupe out for skiing in Sun Valley, Charlie and Mortimer stay home.

Photoplay's selections of the five most popular movie actresses give an interesting sidelight.

They are Ingrid Bergman, June Allyson, Rita Hayworth, Jennifer Jones and Esther Williams. Their average age is 28. That would seem to prove that the public wants its female favorites young.

There's much publicity about Sam Goldwyn's deal to make pictures with Roberto Rossellini, the Italian genius. But Hollywood observers won't believe it until it happens. Both men are too independent.

Ray Milland will do western when he returns to Paramount. His first role will be Macbeth. The speaker, Rev. Glenn Smith of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, was introduced by Mrs. Ted Williams, president of the P. T. A. The theme of his talk was "Parents Set Patterns for Their Children to Follow." Following Rev. Smith's talk the group was entertained with several songs by students of the fourth grade.

During the business meeting Mrs. Williams told off a County Council meeting in Lake Mary on Feb. 10 and of a study group being held today at the South Side school. She urged all who were able to attend these two meetings.

Mrs. Williams was presented with a president's pin during the meeting and the room count was won by the first and third grades.

At the conclusion of the business session refreshments were served in the school lunchroom.

Red Spy Ring

Japanese-American negotiations in the critical summer and fall of 1941. It had an "in" with Japan's Premier Konoe. But there is no hint it got a tip on the Pearl Harbor raid.

Some second-hand information leaked from the American embassy in Tokyo.

An American diplomat at Harbin, Manchuria, Vice-Consul Tycos Lillestrom, let top Soviet agents stay at his home and one set up an illegal radio station, the report says. That was in 1939.

At that time, an earlier and probably bigger ring was at work in China. But it was far less specific.

There is nothing in the report about any tie-in with Soviet espionage in this country. But one name in the report appears rather obscurely in still-secret testimony taken last year at the spy hearings of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Japan released only the barest details about the ring and the trials and convictions of 17 people at the time. The U.S. Army found out about them after occupation forces moved in.

Many of the minor figures in the ring were released as political prisoners. The Army report indicates that maybe that wouldn't happen if the Americans had it to do over again. At that time, it said, few people had the idea that "A Soviet spy who had worked against the Japanese might later work against the United States."

Still "at large," it says, are Missouri-born Miss Smedley and Gunther Stein, a German who now may be an American, and who was a temporary, but "top-level member" of the Tokyo ring from 1936 to 1938.

Each had written books on China. Who's Who says they get mail in New York City. The report says Stein is "a man about whom too little is known."

Miss Smedley is described as the woman who first brought Borges and Ozaki Hosumi, his right hand man, together. That was in China, where they operated for a time, around 1929 to 1932, and 1933.

Borges was a professional German Communist, posing as a swaggering Nazi. He used a newspaper assignment as a cover, and the German embassy in Tokyo as if he owned it.

Hosumi was another newspaperman and writer. He became adviser to the cabinet and confidante of the "brain trust" of Prime-Premier Konoe. He was consulted on the highest secrets, and sent them on to Moscow.

There were no Russians in the ring. That was a rule. Mostly there were Japanese, and a few Germans.

Three of the Japanese lived in Los Angeles for years. The report goes on:

Miyagi Yotoko was an artist and key man. Akiyama Koji was a translator; and the only member of the gang in it for money. Mrs. Kitahayashi Tomo was a dressmaker and the thread that unraveled the whole network.

How they and the rest of the espionage crew worked, and were betrayed by Communist Ito Ritu, a tale of intrigue, romance, possible torture and death.

It is a thriller of blinking lights, codes, hidden radios never set up in the same spot twice. It involves fake passports, microfilms passed in cigarette packs, money changing hands between shadowy figures in dark theaters.

Things like troop movements and secret weapons were secondary details, although the ring gathered in plenty of them, too.

Borges, the report says, was able to keep Russia "fully informed in Japanese military and industrial capabilities and intentions from 1933 to 1941. The Red Army knew the status of current Japanese war plans, and could make their own plans and dispositions accordingly."

It was a network with "perfect sources and almost got away with the perfect crime."

By comparison, the Army sizes up the wartime Soviet spy network in Canada as an "amateur show."

While serving the Moscow masters, Borges cultivated the German ambassador in Tokyo and his staff so well they told him almost anything, asked his advice, and let him see secret papers he had a camera handy. Eventually, he joined the state press attaché.

Borges had come to Japan after getting a foreign correspondent's assignment from the Frankfurter Zeitung and three other papers. He was tall, heavy, arrogant and ruthless, a hard drinker and philanderer. He had one wife in Russia and another, a school teacher, in the United States.

The report tells of his methods:

"After gathering together facts, opinions, and estimates from a wide range of sources, the German embassy, the British embassy, the American and French embassies and the Dutch legation, the Japanese war ministry, the imperial cabinet, common household gossip, the press and magazines, Borges sorted them out."

"Often he asked the opinions of Ozaki (Hosumi) and Miyagi (Yotoko), having come to a conclusion, usually he would test it by conversations with the German ambassador, a major general, and often had semi-official views from diplomatic contracts."

"He had a high respect for their judgments since they were professional soldiers charged with evaluating just such information for the guidance of the Germans sort of them.

Kiwanis Meet

ferred to Boy Scouts. A number of Michigan scouts enjoyed a trip to Alaska last year, and this year plans are being made to again send Scouts from Florida to Cuba, but first making sure that they will not again be exposed to Communist influences as in the past, he said.

Every year, 250 Boy Scouts spend a week as guests at the Jacksonville Naval Air Station, he revealed. They are taken on flights, ride on destroyers, visit Navy ships and have an adventure learning about Navy life and training.

During the past three years the 2,200,000 Boy Scouts of America have contributed more than $135,000 to aid Scout groups in Europe, Mr. Hogan declared. He stressed the Scout laws of friendliness and reverence, and told of the International Boy Scout congress in France, when 30,000 boys of 38 nations held friendly meetings and sang around camp fires together.

Ralph A. Smith, club secretary, read a letter of thanks from Uncle George Barr for the silver plate gift he received last week, and a letter of appreciation from Carl Hubbell for the "gesture of friendship" in the form of flowers sent by Kiwanis on the occasion of the opening of the Giant Baseball School. A letter from District President Stewart Simpson commended local Kiwanis officials for the manner in which the district convention, the largest ever held, was conducted here.

Guests included Leslie Thompson of Mississippi, Bert Baker of Housie Falls, N. Y., Frank Weathersbee, Tom Osborne of Knoxville, Tenn. and Joe E. Brown of Orlando.

King George Plans To Make Royal Tour

LONDON, Feb. 10, (AP)—King George hopes to revive soon plans for a royal tour of Australia and New Zealand which were dropped when he became ill last November.

Commenting on reports that the trip may be made in 1950, a Buckingham Palace spokesman said to day:

"It should be remembered that the tour was only postponed. It was never canceled."

Evidently that the King himself determined to visit his subjects "down under" was given in telegram he sent Monday to dinner of the New Zealand Society.

"I very much appreciate the good wishes for my health," it said, "and trust that in the not distant future I may be able to carry out my proposed visit to New Zealand."

Nation's Weather

United Airlines said it has flown 450 persons and 15,000 pounds of first class mail out of the Cheyenne and Salt Lake City storm areas.

Conditions in Wyoming were reported to be the most critical since the first blizzard struck the state Jan. 2, Thirteen Union Pacific passenger trains were stalled in the state. Ten others were snowbound in Utah; five in Nebraska, and three in Idaho.

Fresh gales out of the Gulf of Alaska roared out of the Pacific northwest last night, hitting north central Idaho and moving into northern Utah and Wyoming. The strong winds, blowing the mountainous piles of snow over newly cleared highways and rail lines, were expected to extend into Nebraska and the Dakotas by tonight, the U. S. Weather Bureau said. The area has been hit by severe wind storms since Sunday.

Ground transportation was virtually halted in several parts of the blizzard belt but most aerial operations continued. Food supplies were flown to stranded rail passengers at Green River, Rock Springs and Casper, Wyo. At Medicine, Wyo., the storm was so intense yesterday the National Guard weasels—built for snow operations—were halted. The Army and Red Cross placed Sinclair, Wyo., on the "critical" list.

Earlier Woodruff, Randolph, president of the AFL International Typographical Union, had testified that Denham evidenced a "hostile" attitude toward his union.

Randolph urged quick action on Taft-Hartley Repeal. He said that retention of the law would "spell the doom of the free American trade union movement."

The Labor Committee has set a new Feb. 23 deadline for ending the hearings. The original plan had been to close them out today.

President Truman told his morning news conference he is just as strong as ever for a $4,000,000,000 tax increase and for the enactment of stand-by price and wage controls.

His statement held the seed of a powerful argument within the Congress. Influential men on the tax writing committees have questioned the wisdom of adding on taxes now when the spending and revenue picture remains so uncertain.

Chairman George of the Senate Finance Committee has suggested that Congress consider a 5 per cent cut in spending, today.

The Hoover Commission on government reorganization offered some new recommendations today.

It said political favoritism should be outlawed, civil service should be rescued from a tangle of red tape and officials, who cut the federal payroll, should get appropriate rewards.

The government statement said the customs officer, Dr. Gal, and "his accomplices" have been detained.

The U. S. minister, Selden B. Chaplin, refused to comment on the explosion order or the government's charges.

Steusy left Budapest for Vienna at noon today. He had been given 24 hours to leave, a foreign official said. Before he left he told a reporter "It's up to the State Department to comment in my case, I believe."

Steusy's home is in Madison, Wis.

Kocsak, second secretary of the Hungarian government, had been expelled on April 1.

New State Taxes

(Continued From Page One) discuss his revenue ideas in open session for fear the interests to be taxed will get a head start on efforts to defeat the levies in the Legislature.

There aren't many single taxes that would yield $20,000,000 a year.

A general sales tax would, but Governor Warren insists he will veto such a levy.

Rep. Alex Mac William of Vero Beach is trying to drum up support for local option legalized gambling and off-track race bookmaking. He says it will produce $25,000,000 up a year.

Here's one group of taxes, which, all put together, would yield just about the $20,000,000 a year extra the State may need to balance the Cabinet's budget. It came from a man who spends nearly all his time working with State financial figures, but doesn't want to be identified as an advocate of any of the levies:

A tax of ten cents a case on soft drinks $3,000,000, a levy on all tobacco products other than cigarettes, which already are heavily taxed, $7,000,000, a 5 percent tax on hotel rooms $4,000,000, an increased capital stock tax $1,500,000, a 5 percent severance tax on timber products and minerals $5,000,000—a total of $20,000,000.

Before today's hearing, the committee asked the Air Force whether the screen could be "of any avail whatsoever" in guarding the United States from attack by long-range strategic bombers. The Air Force's reply was:

"The system to be authorized is designed to provide a defense against enemy long-range strategic bombers; total protection with known weapons is an impossibility."

General Saville said the Air Force has divided the country into eight air defense areas. Five are under the Eastern Air Defense Command, and three under the Western Command.

The division between the two is a north-south line running a little east of the western boundaries of the Dakotas and Nebraska. Each area will have a control center, from which Air Force commanders would direct interceptor fighter planes and put army anti-aircraft artillery on the alert in case of attack. Mobilization of the Air National Guard would divide the eight main areas into a total of 20 sub-areas.

$10 Millions Are Cut From State Budgets

Scientific Research And Institutions Of Higher Learning Funds Slashed

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The cabinet cut nearly $10,000,000 today from budgets submitted by Florida institutions of higher learning and scientific research.

Acting on decisions made in a closed meeting last night, cabinet members did a quick trimming job at their budget session today. Heads of the affected institutions may appear before the Cabinet to appeal the reductions.

The college budgets cuts were twice as heavy as all others combined up to today.

These were the reductions, all in sums asked from the state general fund:

University of Florida-cut to $8,884,000 from the requested $11,485,000. During the present two years, the University had $8,986,000 for salaries and expenses.

Florida State University-cut to $7,536,150 from the requested $11,300,000. FSU had $8,762,652 during the current biennium.

Agricultural Experiment Station-cut to $4,118,442 from $4,618,442. They had $3,529,598 this biennium.

State Plant Board-cut to $941,110 from $994,110. The agency had $721,478 this biennium.

Soil Conservation Board-its request for $10,000 for salaries and expenses was approved unchanged but its $200,000 item for machinery and equipment was eliminated.

Cardinal Mindszenty Learns Fate

FOLLOWING HIS SENTENCE of life imprisonment by a Communist People's Court in Budapest, Hungary, Josef Cardinal Mindszenty is led from the courtroom by an armed guard. Found guilty of treason, the Cardinal will seek to appeal the verdict. The Sinti, meanwhile, has appealed to a higher court to inflict a death penalty on the grounds that the punishment meted out to Mindszenty is too light. (International Newsphoto)

U.S. Ousts Top Hungarian From Diplomatic Post

Notification Gives No Reason For Demanding Expulsion

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. (AP)—The United States today retaliated against Hungary for expulsion of two American officials from Budapest by ordering a top Hungarian diplomat out of this country.

The diplomat ordered to leave "as soon as possible" is John G. Florian, first secretary of the legation here.

The State Department notified Minister Andrew Sik yesterday that Florian is no longer "persona grata" or acceptable as a representative of his government.

The notification gave no reason for the demand that Florian leave.

State Department Press Officer Michael J. McDermott told reporters it was "pure coincidence" that Florian's expulsion followed the election of the American officials from Budapest in the last two weeks.

Diplomats, however, accepted the move as being, at least in effect, fit for fat.

The State Department in announcing this action also denounced the filing of spying charges by Communists of Bulgaria against 15 leaders of the United Evangelical Church in Bulgaria.

The Department in a formal statement said:

"The similarity between the frantic accusations being made against protestant religious leaders in Bulgaria and those against Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary, whose trial has recently been concluded, strikingly emphasizes the concerted nature of the continuing Communist assault on the

Mrs. Hodges Goes To Meeting Of Tuberculosis Assn.

Mrs. M. G. Hodges, secretary of the Seminole County Tuberculosis and Health Association, attended a regional meeting yesterday in Orlando of persons representing legislative, professional and lay groups to discuss means of providing better tuberculosis control, and to acquaint legislators with needs for the program.

A report, said Mrs. Hodges, on the mass x-ray survey made last year revealed that 74 percent of the state's population is over 16 years of age. Of this group, 15 percent were x-rayed in the program by the State Board of

Court Fixes Salary Of County Judge

The Florida Supreme Court recently sustained the position of Seminole County in the suit by former County Judge R. W. Ware to determine his salary status under Florida law. O. P. Herndon, county clerk, announced today.

The higher court's decision on Jan. 21 followed an appeal by Judge Ware from a decision on June 18, 1948, by Judge M. H. Smith in Circuit Court that as Judge of the County Court, Judge Ware was to be compensated under Florida section 34.21, Act of 1941. The Supreme Court upheld this decision, and stated that the law prevailed in regard to Judge Ware from June 18, 1948.

This law fixes the compensation of the County Judge as Judge of the County Court at $1,300 a year, excluding all salary, fees or other compensation which as Judge of the court he might receive or be entitled to, said Mr. Herndon.

PT. LAUDERDALE PROJECT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. (P)—Army engineers will be asked to give immediate approval for deepening of the new river at Fort Lauderdale.

Florida members of Congress said today this decision was reached after a conference attended by Mayor Reel Bryan and Commissioner Joe Mackay of Fort Lauderdale and Senators Pepper and Holland and Rep. Rogers.

STRINGER JAIL

MIAMI, Feb. 11. (P)—J. A. Stringer, 42, former deputy collector of Internal Revenue at Panhandle, was sentenced to a year and a day in prison on a charge of embezzling government funds.

Stringer, a resident of Miami, was ordered to report to the U. S. marshal's office Monday to begin serving his sentence.

The victims were Gentry's nearly 18-year-old bride, wife and her childhood friend, Mrs. Lorraine Deal, 29, of Rome, Ga., prison term.

Wind Shrieks Out Of Rockies Into Mid-West

New Blizzard Howls Down On Minnesota And Wyoming Dropping Temperatures

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Winds up to 70 miles an hour shrieked out of the snow-stacked Rockies and south across Wyoming today. And right behind it in the west a paralyzing parade of bad weather came an arctic cold wave, biting into Montana and heading toward Nebraska.

In addition, a new blizzard howled down on northern Minnesota. It was expected to overspread the state tonight.

avalanches of snow and mud flows, incendiary, harassed the Pacific Northwest. Heavy rain doused the coast. Light snow piled new layers on inland areas.

At Estes Park, Colo., blizzard winds reached nearly 70 miles an hour at Estes Park, Colo., the mercury had dropped to 42 degrees below zero within 12 hours. Nearest station reported a new cold wave, snow squalls and gale winds blowing at night.

On the east, light snow whitened northern New York, southern New England, and western Connecticut. The temperature dropped to 40 degrees from the 60s, exposing never easy to the avoidance icy roads or so far degrees from the river west to the east slope of the Rockies.

Strong winds continued to swirl the mountains now in the western states, impeding the reopening of highways and creating numerous accidents on long drives.

Father And 1 Child Escape From Fire In New York House

CLAYTON, N. Y., Feb. 11. (AP)—A mother and seven of her eight children perished early today in a fire that destroyed their three-room house near this St. Lawrence River village.

Mrs. Clifford Conant, 29, and the children, ranging in age from one year to 11, apparently were trapped in their beds. The structure, about 25 feet square, burned to the ground.

The husband, 39, and a daughter, Susan, 13, escaped.

Conant was treated by a physician for hysteria and shock and cuts of the hands and arms.

Susan, awoken by smoke and the crackling flames, roused her father, a trapper.

Conant, clad only in his underwear, tried to re-enter the house to rescue his family. Smoke and flames drove him from the doorway. Then he ran from window to window, breaking the panes and trying to climb out. Flames drove him back each time.

Firemen said they believed the fire originated in a kerogen
