

Penn Republican Wages Own War Against Waste

Rep. Gross Demands Everyone Begin To Lick Platter Clean

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON—If you haven't heard of Rep. Chester H. Gross, the little Republican from Manassas, Pa., the chances are you soon will, by induction at least. He's the "lick-the-platter clean" man, who is staging a one man war on food waste—not at source, but on the home and restaurant tables and in the American garbage pails.

Congressman Gross is a double-dyed freshman in the House of Representatives. He served one term in 1934-35, but what little seniority that amounted to on the minority side of the House, and came back again this year. But his past record doesn't give him any right to be heard or seen any more than other freshmen.

Until a few weeks ago, Mr. Gross observed perfect behavior so far as this House tradition is concerned. Then he got up and made a little one-minute speech. He has made half a dozen since. The theme of all of them is "lick the platter clean." While others are blustering about production and distribution of food stuffs, the gentleman from Pennsylvania has hit upon the idea of mopping up at the table.

If you don't think that's a good idea, listen to the last report Mr. Gross had from the Department of Agriculture. Summed up, it amounts to this: 15 percent of our food supply is wasted somewhere between the stove and the garbage can. If we could just cut this waste in half, he says, "our food problems would be solved."

Those are strong words, but the congressman already has the Department of Agriculture, a slew of restaurants, and some consumer and civic organizations on his side. In New York, the other day, one of the larger restaurants in the Broadway area, tucked up a sign of highway bill-board proportions asking customers to "lick the platter clean." Some consumer organizations already have started mailing the "tag-line" on their letterheads. The moguls of a few civic organizations are getting their pictures in the papers by demonstrating how to dunk the last drop of gravy from a plate with the last crust of bread. The Department of Agriculture is reportedly building broad-casts and pamphlets around the idea.

Mr. Gross is taking it all very calmly. But there's the gleam of the pioneer in his eye. While his colleagues were stamping around with pay-as-you-go and farm parity legislation, he was hacking away at "lick the platter clean" with those little one-minute, on-the-record harangues.

In view of that and the fact that most of us think only of waste-moppers as pre-war urban Franchises, it may be surprising information that Mr. Gross is a fifth-generation farmer. Not only that, but he's the kind of farmer who can take the Agriculture Department's estimates for maximum production on his land and top them by 20 to 40 percent. At least so his friends claim.

Mr. Gross is slight in stature. He's 55 year old. He and Mrs. Gross are the parents of eight children, seven of whom are still living. Aside from his farm accomplishments and his two terms in Congress, he has held numerous township offices and has had one term in the Pennsylvania legislature.

If the nation really starts "licking the platter clean," don't forget the name of Chester H. Gross. The drive is strictly his baby.

OUTFIT THE OUTFIT

"Hey, Mum, when do we eat?" is a familiar tune to every mother of an American boy. Soldiers and Sailors are little boys grown up and they still clamor when the bugle blows "Come and Get It." Mess Kits like this are what they use when they "get it." Fork, cup, fork, knife, spoon and canister, all in a canvas cover.

Two million Mess Kits cost almost a million and a half dollars. Buy Bonds and keep on buying, to aid the outfitting for you. Remember, they give their lives.

Politics and Personalities Campaign Against Commission Rampant in Capitol as Ever For LaGuardia Cited as 'simple'

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

● POLITICS AND PERSONALITIES (so long as they are moderately respectable ones) are supposed to be entirely out of the window for the duration of the war. As a matter of fact both of them are perfectly rampant in Washington and they are of the meanest kind. They are not entirely confined to the capital, either. They also slip over, out into the sticks.

The campaign against New York Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia for a brigadier generalship was a conspicuous sample. Fiorello (Little Flower) was picked by excellent international judges as a suitability for an American administrative post in Italy as soon as the Rome government is knocked out of the conflict. He was too obvious to require any argument.

It also was quite clear that it would be far simpler to wish him into such a job from a military command in Italian North Africa, say, than to pitchfork him in from an executive desk in this country. Consequently and appropriately he speedily was inducted for the commission.

But immediately the outcry was raised that his selection would be most unpopular among professional Army men, on the ground that they don't like having civilians tossed into their midst without previous training.

Now, I don't hear this complaint from educated soldiers. In the first place, the Little Flower has an admirable record left over in his favor, as an aviator, up to a major's rank, in the last war. He isn't a West Pointer, but he is a veteran, if not a professional.

The holier came, I think, from politicians, who accuse him as an economic radical. Well, so he is—at least a liberal. But isn't that a post-war consideration?

Then along comes the war departmental order barring Army officers from seeking civilian political positions that they never held previously—not when they remain in the service. It pretty obviously swiped Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who has numerous friends plugging for him as 1944's presidential candidate in opposition to their support of F. D. R.'s fourth term prospects.

If that does not mix politics into the situation, what could? Now we get to the mid-western governors' conference. These birds' aim is to curtail federal power.

Nationally it clearly is anti-New Deal. Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio leads it. Being a Republican, he naturally isn't an internal Democratic disturber, but he evidently has a lot of Democratic sympathizers.

All politics! They are complicated with economics, though. There are Democrats who have become anti-Democratic tariff protectionists, and Republican tariff protectionists who have become Democratic free traders.

As the conflict progresses, it becomes more and more difficult to tell the two post-war American philosophies apart. And what the hades is to happen to the world is a problem. The post-war puzzle is the main thing. What is going on now is secondary—as long as the United Nations come out on top.

State University Carries On With Campus Activities

Army Trainees Invited To Participate In Life Of School

GAINESVILLE, Apr. 19—(Special)—A University of Florida civilian student body reduced by army induction but maintained at a near normal level by army trainees will carry on the fests and traditions of campus life and student government under a plan outlined in an announcement by R.C. Beatty, dean of students, today.

All plans contemplated additions to the civilian student body membership to the extent that army trainees may take part in student activities.

Student government, modified by a constitutional amendment recently adopted by the student body at the suggestion of Florida Blue Key, honorary service fraternity will continue although more centralized and flexible than formerly.

Campus activities, supported by fees reduced as enrollment goes down when students are called to the armed forces, will be continued. Publications, freshman week, and fraternity life are among activities that are expected to go on, curtailed or modified where circumstances require, according to Beatty.

To avoid depletion of student body funds by carrying on all the usual student government functions in the face of reduced civilian enrollment, Florida Blue Key believes it has, through the amendment, accomplished "continued student government in the Florida tradition through a close knit, centralized, and efficient government working in harmony and conjunction with the administration."

Available as possible members of the student body now, according to Beatty are army trainees who, under the amended constitution, may pay student government, Beatty explained, will be determined by the War Department's policy of encouraging soldier trainees to participate in student activities, paying fees, and enjoying the same social status as civilian students.

"Officers in command here have shown a fine spirit of co-operation in recognizing the objectives of the civilian student body organization," Beatty said.

Freshman orientation week, in which more advanced students and members of the staff, and Dr. John J. Tigert, president, annually concentrate on acquainting new students just out of high schools with campus objectives, methods, and traditions, has been organized for next September under Beatty's supervision.

A consideration of freshman is anticipated, according to Beatty, high because of war-time pressures in both high schools and the University to speed up completion of high school work and entrance into the University by examination.

Publications, of which the Florida Alligator, weekly voice of the student body, is the chief unit, will be continued with staff, objectives, and budgets kept in proportion to the war-time requirements.

Nazis 'Liberate' 250,000 French As Labor Corps

Laval Press Praises 'Freeing' Prisoners As 'Happy Result'

BERLIN, Switzerland, Apr. 19, (AP)—The German-controlled French press is hailing as a "happy result" of Chief of Government Pierre Laval's policy of revising the status of 250,000 French prisoners of war into "free laborers of Germany."

This was announced as part of the recompense to France for the conscription of a second contingent of 250,000 skilled workers under Laval's agreement with Fritz Sauckel, German manpower dictator. It is not connected with the conscription of thousands of youths for compulsory labor in France.

The "liberated" prisoners will be selected from those who have identified their willingness to work in Germany, or those whose wives and children are working in Germany, or those capable of working in mines, chemical and other heavy war industries, French press reports said.

Achille Cardinal Lienart, Bishop of Lille, was quoted in the "Courrier de Geneve" today as saying the Nazi-controlled French press misquoted him as having told French youth "to accept forced labor" and that it was "cowardly to refuse." The newspaper said the Cardinals, addressing 7,000 youths in the church at Lille on March 21, declared his speech at Roubaix on March 16 and been twisted by the press, knowing that "I was unable to publish a denial."

Lake County Fills Blood Bank Quota

Lake is the first county to pay 100% of its quota in the Central Florida Blood Bank and has also made an outstanding record in the number of persons who have made donations of blood. Lake's quotas have contributed $85,722 in cash to the blood bank, which has been supplemented by $234,228 from the Lake County Chamber of Commerce to make in the quota of $700.

A recent letter from Miss Mary M. Gwynn, secretary of the blood bank, said: "We want all of you who have been so interested in U.S. organization and establishment of the bank in the county to know that Lake County is the only county in the Fifth District that has not only paid up their quota but, with our proposed trips to Tavares and Leesburg which are scheduled for the near future has contributed 100% as to donors. This should be very gratifying to those of you who have pushed the work."

Dr. Tigert recently announced that fraternity houses would be incorporated into the housing plan of the University, with participation on the part of fraternities optional. Army personnel in two groups—the Air Force students and about 600 others in Officers Candidate School No. 1—now occupy most of the dormitory space on the campus.

Soldiers... ON THE TRANSPORTATION FRONT

YOU hear more and more today about the ground crews—the boys back-stage who keep them rolling... and you know these still and every successful prosecution of war and production so much depends.

Just such groups compose the maintenance forces of Florida Motor Lines. They, too, are the unsung behind-the-scenes stalwarts to whom we owe so much of our ability to "keep 'em rolling."

Yes—they are all fine performers... intelligent, hard-working, loyal... specialists as a result of years of training. These boys are in there sytling with both hands to squeeze every ounce of performance out of existing equipment—transportable equipment. For war's extra burden on transportation takes heavy toll and brings hard hours to keep today's transportation fleets up to pre-war standards of safety and comfort.

You can help by your "hard-earned" on these fellows to do a top-up job. They're real soldiers... good, solid Americans and have shown a willingness to work this hard, when few will ever know the importance of their labors.

Talks Started With Camacho By Roosevelt

Plans For Post War Peace And Unity On Basis Of Pan Americanism Are Made

ABOARD THE ROOSEVELT TRAIN, Apr. 21.—The conference which President Roosevelt and President Avila Camacho began at Monterey, Mexico, last night, continued today at the latter today. Avila Camacho was returning the visit but security reasons forbade immediate announcement of details.

MONTERREY, Mexico, Apr. 21.—A broad program for post-war universal peace and unity patterned after Pan American solidarity but planned only after the unconditional surrender of the Axis was projected around world by President Roosevelt and President Avila Camacho last night.

The two Presidents erected a barricade against peace fever by the Axis might and credit; credit international understanding and new collaboration with the success of American solidarity and offered these points as the basis for world post-war planning.

In Washington, Roosevelt's trip to Mexico was viewed in diplomatic circles as another indication United States peace proposals will be based squarely on the good neighbor policy.

MONTERREY, Mexico, Apr. 21.—President Roosevelt and President Avila Camacho met today in the city and the future of the two Allied republics.

It was the first time since 1929 that the two Presidents of the Americas met in person. The two Presidents met in the city of Mexico in 1929, when they signed the Bryan-O'Connell agreement, the two Presidents met in the city of Mexico in 1933, when they signed the Bryan-O'Connell agreement, the two Presidents met in the city of Mexico in 1933, when they signed the Bryan-O'Connell agreement.

Reservations had been made in advance that he would talk with Avila Camacho in the future of the two sister Pan American nations. He indicated no specific points that would be brought up.

Two countries which have been strained at times, no major issues were raised between the United States and Mexico, to the conference members in the atmosphere of true cordiality.

It remained to be seen whether any announcements of results of the deliberations, whether by Roosevelt and whether they were bringing about even greater cooperation.

Rep. Mann Says Legislature May Abolish Many Boards

The 1943 session of the State Legislature is believed to be the "board-shrinking session," according to Rep. L. R. Mann, who is expected to introduce a bill today to start the State of Florida on a program to eliminate unnecessary boards.

Rep. Mann's bill in full is as follows: "The State Legislature has started striking out the third and, judging from the amount of lobbyists from all boards and departments, they are looking with winking eyes on the next Department, Board of Commissioners the Legislature will strike. It is believed by many that in the future, reference will be common to the 1943 session as being the 'Board-shrinking' session. I am quite sure that we have never needed such a session more than we do now."

Judging from today's ballot on the Hon. Tyn Cobb's bill to delegate more powers to the State Democratic party, I believe the pendulum is about to swing the other way. It is commonly agreed by many that the people of our very great State are longing to enjoy the rights and privileges of the old time democratic principle of self-government and that this is the last ray of hope.

Plans Made By Chamber For Campaign

Higgins Says Quota Of $5,000 Needed To Carry On Necessary War Work

Officers and directors of the Chamber of Commerce will meet with campaign workers in the City Hall at 8:00 o'clock Friday evening for the purpose of organizing the annual membership drive which will be held next week.

The quota this year will be for $5,000, an increase of nearly $2,000 over the amount raised last year, and it is hoped, Mr. Higgins said, that each member of the Chamber of Commerce will double his usual subscription this year on account of the increasing volume of work which the Chamber of Commerce is called upon to handle as a result of problems arising from the war.

In a letter mailed to directors last night, Mr. Higgins stated: "We must lay plans now if we expect to continue good business after the war. We should be prepared to make the most advantageous use of the advantages of this community to the great advantage of the people who will come to Florida after the war."

Included in this post-war planning is an advertising program which will be undertaken next year designed to encourage residents of other states to visit this section after the war is over or as soon as the transportation difficulties are cleared up.

Mr. Higgins also pointed out the necessity of keeping constant tabs on the war effort in order to secure the necessary supplies and materials for the war effort.

Initial Objectives Are Taken Despite Four Counter-Attacks By Germans

The British eighth army have captured Enfidaville, the Axis coastal anchor 50 miles south of Tunis, in the first hours of an offensive to crack the enemy's Tunisian corner and have hurled back four counter-attacks in some of the fiercest fighting since the Nazis were thrown out of Egypt.

Accompanying the drive from the south which opened Monday night with a mighty artillery barrage, the British first army moved forward slightly in the Mediterranean sector, the communiqué said.

The eighth army was said to have taken "all initial objectives" with the fighting continuing, included with the heaviest bombardments of Axis airfields and vital air bases in which 27 planes were shot down yesterday.

Heavy British bombers attacked the German battle ports of Sfax and Bizerte last night while speedy Messerschmitt bombers pounded Berlin in widespread raids from which 11 planes are missing, the British Air Ministry announced.

Soviet dispatches said a violent battle was raging in the Kusan delta above Novorossiisk, the Black Sea naval base, as the Germans threw in masses of tank troops. Front line reports said the Red army beat off 12 attacks and killed 1,400 Germans before the enemy retreated.

An official announcement of the eighth army's attack said it was launched during the night. Latest reports said that Gen. Sir H. L. Montgomery's objectives were being held behind a curtain of artillery fire.

They were storming a rugged stream in which Field Marshal Erwin Rommel had planted thousands of mines and emplaced hundreds of guns including thick concentrations of machine guns and mortars. Progress was expected to be slow.

This region was typical of the mountainous country still separating the Allies from Tunis and there along most of the front of Montgomery's drive had some 50 miles to travel by road to Tunis.

The Enfidaville line runs westward from the city, which lies about 10 miles from the coast, to the Tunis held hills 60 miles away. The Allies made such a special Allied communiqué announcing the opening of a new Eighth Army offensive Monday night which had forced a breach in the enemy defense system around Enfidaville. A heavy battle was expected to continue.

Gen. Sir H. L. Montgomery was believed to have sent his hard-driving desert veterans against the east coast flank of the best Axis defenses after moving up several thousand infantrymen through mountain trails last night.

The Sanford Outboard Association will hold its regular drill at the Armory Thursday night at 8:00 o'clock.

Home Demonstration Notes

OVEN CANNING
Mrs. Ouida Wilson, county home demonstration agent, states today that she had received many inquiries from housewives in regard to oven canning, in which many of them are interested, due to the fact that they lack regular canning equipment.

The following news letter from Miss Isabelle S. Thursty, Florida Extension economist in food conservation, which presents findings and disadvantages of oven canning, as compiled by the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, was recently received by Mrs. Wilson:

"Oven canning was very popular at one time, but only for a short time. It looked like such an easy method that it had a great deal of favorable publicity before it had a thorough try-out. Many canning specialists have now found that it has a number of disadvantages.

"Oven canning has proved successful for canning some acid foods, such as berries, cherries and other small fruits. It has not been very successful for other fruits like peaches, pears and apricots because these fruits often turn dark, especially if you pack them without precooking.

Another disadvantage of oven canning is that some of the liquid bubbles out of the jars and goes to waste, leaving a vacant space at the top of the jar.

"Canning in the oven takes more time than canning in a boiling-water bath—or canning in a pressure canner. Air is not as good a conductor of heat as water. So the air in the oven does not heat the jars of food as efficiently as boiling water.

"But the worst disadvantage of oven canning is that it is not safe for non-acid vegetables and that means almost all vegetables, except tomatoes. Even though the temperature of the oven is much higher than the temperature of boiling water, the food in the jar gets no hotter. When food in the jar goes above boiling temperature, the steam forces its way out. If the jars are sealed to keep the steam in, the jar or seal breaks. Tin cans cannot be used in oven canning because the steam will burst the seams or burst the cans. Oven canning may be all right for small fruits, but doesn't work for large fruits. It leaves a lot of air in the jar of food. The steam and liquid have escaped, and it is not safe for non-acid foods which means

House Receives Armed - Forces Incentive Plan

Morrison Would Give Bonus To Troops If They Win In Year

WASHINGTON, Apr. 21 (AP)—People are always talking about incentive plans for soldiers and war workers, and I decided," Representative Frank D. Morrison (Democrat of Florida) said in a speech before the House on the House floor today.

How U. S. Flyers Downed First Germans In 1918

Douglas Campbell, Tells Of Victories In Old Nieuports

NEW YORK CITY, Apr. 21 (AP)—The contrast between the air power of this war and the World War I aerial combat of World War days was recalled by Douglas Campbell, vice president of Pan American-Grace Airways, on the twenty-fifth anniversary of a sky battle that made him the pilot to shoot down an enemy plane.

Mr. Campbell, now 47 years old, gave up flying 12 years ago. Recently transferred from Lima, Peru, to New York office of the air line, he told his story of World War I fighting at a luncheon at the Hotel Commodore.

He and the late Alan F. Winslow, who had served in the Lafayette Escadrille, both downed enemy planes in a battle on April 14, 1918, at Toul, France. Mr. Winslow's opponent hit the ground first and was the first German shot down by a member of the American Air Service. Mr. Winslow, however, unlike Mr. Campbell, had received his training from the French.

The two young flyers were on the alert at the home field of the famous 94th Squadron when they received a telephone call that two German planes had crossed the front lines some fifteen miles away.

"Apparently," Mr. Campbell said, "they were coming over to find out just what we were or to shoot us up."

The two men climbed into their planes and took off to engage the enemy. The ceiling, Mr. Campbell said, was only about 600 or 700 feet. They were still circling for altitude when a German plane swooped down on Mr. Winslow.

Mr. Campbell turned to get his aim. "That was most fortunate," he said, with a smile, "for just at that moment a second German overhead, of whom I was not aware, made for me. I forgot about Winslow. The next thing I knew I was on the tail of my opponent and he burst into flames."

A second or two after the plane hit by Mr. Campbell had burst into flames. The German aviator later died of his injuries.

Flight Logs 47, Minutes 13. The initial time of the flight from our takeoff to our landing, Mr. Campbell said, was exactly four and one-half minutes.

In the next seven weeks Mr. Campbell downed five more German planes. Then he was wounded himself, a shell exploding behind his cockpit and driving a piece of shrapnel into his back.

He was made a captain in August, 1919, and received the Distinguished Service Cross, Croix de Guerre and French Legion of Honor.

Members of the squadron, he said, fought in Nieuport planes with 150-horsepower Gnome engines.

"You could hear them for miles," he said.

The planes had no radio or blind flying instruments and each had only one or two .303 Vickers machine guns ordered for it.

"The others hadn't arrived," he said.

Mr. Campbell had only fifty-one hours of flying when he went into combat, and only ten of them

American Business Men Industry Will Strive to

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist

AMERICAN BUSINESS is taking much more of a hit in this war than it ever took in any past war. We do not yet know about business conditions in other countries, but this time it is on the Atlantic coast in the United States, to guard against such an economic condition as we had shortly after the last world conflict.

For this thing, World War II followed so closely after No. 1 that plenty of our industrial and commercial experts have not forgotten their bitter, war-time lesson.

Previous wars have been further between. They have averaged about a participation space, but, by the time of the next threat of war, the victors of the last world conflict would be dead and forgotten, with their toasts being up whatever warnings they caught have been inclined to hand down to their sons and grandsons.

I can remember my own father's stories of the hard times following the War Between the States, but it was a period when I was too young to pay much attention to it. Now I remember the last stress acutely. It must be true of plenty of folks who experienced it.

Chances Besides, these earlier frictions were of comparatively small caliber. One of them certainly did not leave a couple of countries flattened out as the up-to-date variety of wire fastens out a whole multiplicity of countries.

Well, Yankee production and merchandising realize this plenty and are doing their best to discount it in this season.

"It's not speaking of so-called 'economists' but of genuine industrialists, who take a practical view of the prospect, from the standpoint of their own pocketbooks' future. In fact, I think they may be better judges than the theorists, as to what may be coming.

One of the points that I have already had occasion to mention to the United States Chamber of Commerce, trying to line up all the Americas, on a new world unionistic basis—productive and commercial.

The American National Association of Manufacturers to down the same alley. The N. A. M. wants a code to enforce peace. It wants international co-operation—European as well as American.

The problem is: What will it be on an international basis? It won't be so hard inter-Americanly, but how about the United Nations generally? And how about Russia and the Chinese?

And finally, how will it be with the licked Axis powers?

Inter-America, though, is simple. We will just have, in effect, one country. The United States, naturally, will be the main thing. And Latin America, from all indications, will acquiesce readily. Canada—of course.

What's needed is a joint agreement.

There is a lot of talk about it as between the United Nations, but talk is vague on a pan-American basis. This can be framed up in a jig time.

We will hear about it directly following Vice President Henry Wallace's return from below the equator. It will be mainly economic but it may have its military aspects also. Its morale will count a lot, anyway. It will count in the United States as well as abroad.

It should with this hemisphere having been lined up quickly, not only against the Nazis but against Japan! It will join the Japs like nobody else.

They have the entire South American coast to reckon with.

Baker Approves Meet, Loaf Recipe "Essay On Points"

ATLANTA, Apr. 21, (Special)—The most frequent question today is "How do we eat?" To help housewives answer this important question, one progressive baker has enlisted the aid of 16 of the nation's leading food editors to compile a book of recipes which, they say, will help to solve the problem of the individual servings which eliminate time and trouble at the table. Try it — you'll be sure to mark it as a family favorite.

Here is a way to make a pound of ground meat serve six generously. It has the added attraction of individual servings which eliminate time and trouble at the table. Try it — you'll be sure to mark it as a family favorite.

1 pound ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
pepper
4 cup water
3 cups fine, dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 tablespoon melted fat
Pepper
4 teaspoon salt
Hot water to moisten
4 teaspoon sage or poultry seasoning

Combine meat with 1 teaspoon salt, pepper and 4 cup water and mix thoroughly. Divide meat into six portions and place on waxed paper. Press each portion into a 4-inch square. Combine remaining ingredients into a bread stuffing. Place a spoonful on each meat square and roll. Place rolls in greased baking pan and bake at 375 degrees for 45 minutes. Serve with sauce if desired.

Football Hero Is Safe In South American Crash

Two Members Of Crew Reported Killed In Tom Harmon Plane

WASHINGTON, Apr. 21. (AP)—The Army announced today that two members of the crew of the plane piloted by Lieut. Tom Harmon died in the crash in South America. They were Sgt. Leonard Gunnels, a gunner whose mother lives at Deatville, Ala., and Staff Sgt. James Goodwin.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., April 21. (AP)—Lieut. Tom Harmon telephoned his parents from "Somewhere in South America" Monday and reported "I'm not hurt" following his experience after the crash of an army bomber last week. "I'm as good as well," the former Michigan football star said, but gave no details of his experience.

When asked about other members of the plane's crew, Tom replied that he had not heard whether they were safe.

In Washington, the army said that five of the crew members of the plane piloted by Harmon, still are listed as missing. They are:

Second Lieut. Edwin J. Wolf navigator, whose father, Joseph Wolf, lives at Philadelphia.

Second Lieut. Frederick O. Wieting, whose sister, Mrs. Peggy V. Hamont, lives at Lansing, Mich.

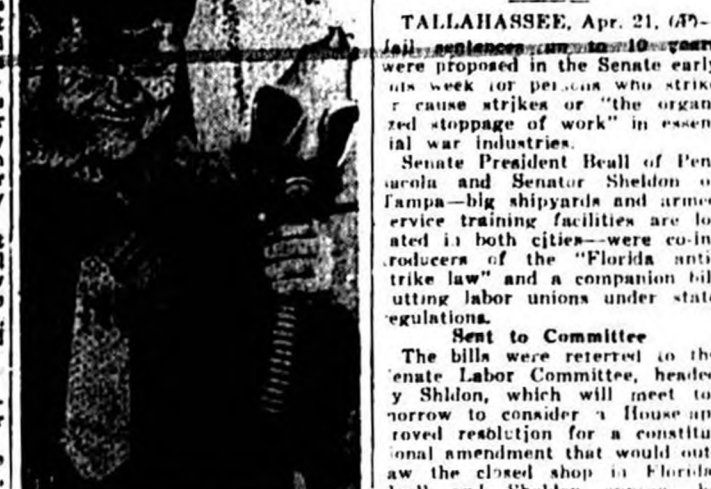

ected scratches and other minor injuries.

Harmon wandered alone in the jungles of Dutch Guiana for four days before rescued by a party of natives and taken to a Dutch Guiana base hospital, his former football coach at the University of Michigan learned today.

He is now receiving treatment for exposure in the base hospital and other members of the crew of his twin-engine bomber are still missing, Coach Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler said he was told by the war department.

Found By Natives Crisler said he received a description of the mishap from war department officials. "They spoke of Tom's plane having 'altered,'" Crisler said, "and all the crew called out somewhere over Dutch Guiana. Somehow Tom became separated from his crew members.

EAT THESE 7 EVERY DAY AND KEEP STRONG

As a part of a nationwide program to improve war-time diets and maintain nutrition standards in the face of changing food conditions, the U. S. Department of Agriculture today listed seven basic food groups which should be included in the daily diet of everyone.

- 1. GREEN AND YELLOW VEGETABLES—some raw, some cooked (fruits or canned).
2. ORANGES, T O MATOES, GRAPEFRUIT or raw cabbage in winter seasons.
3. POTATOES AND OTHER VEGETABLES AND FRUITS—raw, dried, cooked, frozen or canned.
4. MILK AND MILK PRODUCTS—fluid, evaporated, dried milk or cheese.
5. MEAT, POULTRY, FISH or EGGS or dried beans, peas, nuts or peanut butter.
6. BREAD, FLOUR and SERE A1S—natural whole grain, or enriched, or restored.
7. BUTTER or FORTIFIED

MARGARINE (vitamin A added)

To emphasize the importance of daily eating of these seven food groups and to illustrate to homemakers ways or preparing them so that the most food value will be retained, War-time Food Demonstrations will be held all over the country under the auspices of local Defense Councils. By this means it is hoped to introduce new foods into regional and racial diets, to check food waste and to make the best possible use of the various foods available, as well of maintaining the nutrition standards of the nation.

Navy Wife Devotes 13 Years To Building Pan American League

AP Feature
MIAMI, Fla.—Thirteen years ago, when the good neighbor policy was still a gleam in the nation's eye, the welcome mat was spread here for South America by Mrs. Clark D. Starnes, wife of a retired naval captain who had been stationed in various Caribbean countries. She watched the Latin temperament through two recent revolutions, saw the little love was lost between the two continents and decided something must be done about it.

WE asked Southern housewives—"What can we, as bakers, do to help you?"

Their answer was, "Give us authoritative, low cost, tested recipes... easy on ration points... delicious and nutritious... tempting dishes that will stretch food dollars and give our families the extra energy they need for wartime duties."

Then we called on a group of Experts—Food Editors of America's best known women's magazines and leading Home Economists of large food service bureaus—to contribute their favorite recipes. Today we present the first in a series of "Southern Bread Winners"—distinguished recipes featuring the use of unrationed, nutritious Southern Enriched Bread as a basic ingredient.

Bombing Raids Are Continued On Jap Bases

Doolittle Predicts Americans Will Hit Japan Itself Again In Near Future

WASHINGTON, Apr. 22 (AP)—The occupation of islands in the Ellice group in the South Pacific by United States forces was disclosed by the Navy today in a communique telling of an enemy bombing raid on American installations there, about 1,100 miles east of the Solomon Islands. Japan's Nagura base in the Gilbert Islands, a strategic outpost guarding the southern approaches to the great Truk bastion in the South Pacific, was heavily damaged Wednesday by Army bombers in a long-range daylight attack.

(By Associated Press) Maj. Gen. James Doolittle's prediction that American fliers will bomb Japan again "soon" was followed by news of widespread aerial blows against the Japanese in the Southwest Pacific and in Burma.

The Berlin radio reported the Japanese government in a note to the United States Feb. 17 declared its intention "to punish severely those members of the aircraft crews who, following the attack on Japanese territory, Manchukuo and on the area of Japanese military operations, have fallen into the hands of the Japanese and have been guilty of having committed cruel and inhuman acts."

Every American flier participating in the bombing of Japan on a one-way ticket to the Japanese home islands is guaranteed a return trip and provisions of the attack on the Japanese home islands, reported by the Federal Communications commission, was a threat to execute every airman captured. It followed a Doolittle broadcast beamed at the United States two days ago which referred to the execution of some of the captured fliers by the Japanese. The broadcast said "this same policy will continue to be enforced."

Allied Fliers Wipe Out Every One Of 20 Large German Troop Transports

BERN, Switzerland, Apr. 22 (AP)—The unopposed Yugoslav guerrilla army, reinforced with planes, tanks and armored trains, is now waging a full-scale war against Axis troops in the territory adjoining Adriatic, according to a dispatch from Budapest. Quoting a Zagreb report in the newspaper "Magyar Nemzet," the dispatch declared a "relentless war" is under way in the Bosnia and Herzegovina regions of western Serbia.

Strong Axis operations against the guerrilla forces of Gen. Draza Mihailovich are "necessary to safeguard the bastion of the continent against possible Allied invasion," the report said.

The British eighth army has captured Takrouna and pushed six miles from Enfidaville in twin drives northward and the British first army has stalled ahead three miles against stubborn Axis resistance in the Sou Arada sector on the western Tunisian front, it was announced.

The combined maneuvers represented a pincer movement against the Axis southern Mountain positions. The most widespread and bloodiest fighting of the campaign flared along the entire front. A new first army thrust was reported continuous with "all initial objectives" taken.

Allied fliers wiped out every one of 20 large German troop transport planes bound for Tunisia and 10 transport planes in a battle over the Gulf of Tunis which lasted less than 10 minutes but was regarded as the most important stroke in the enemy supply lines since the start of the war. In all, 48 Axis planes were shot down during the day since the loss of five.

The Russian army newspaper, Red Star, declared Adolf Hitler is feverishly planning "new advances" in the Soviet campaign and dispatches said the Germans were stepping up their assaults in the Caucasus. Dispatches, however, said they had failed to dent the Russian lines and killed approximately 4,000 Nazis killed in the recent fighting.

In the north, Gen. K. A. N. Anderson's First Army, including parachute troops, withstood a powerful German counter-attack aimed at gaining the presence on Marshal Rokossov's southern forces, and inflicted "considerable casualties" on the enemy southeast of Mexico El Hala.

At the German tank units were put into the struggle later, but the British destroyed a third of them, including two Patton Mark VI Tigers.
