There were a number of sensational developments following the disclosure of the fact that John T. Pratt, a prominent oil executive, had been named as a contributor to the fund.

HOOVER'S MEN SAY CANDIDATE WILL WIN RACE

Cabinet Member Has Edge On Other Aspirants For Selection As Partis' Nominee

Opponents Claim They Have Chance Attitude Of New York And Pennsylvania's All Important Item

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12. (INS)—Three months from today the Republican National Convention meets in Kansas City to nominate a candidate for the Presidency.

At this stage, with twelve weeks to go and before a single primary has afforded an insight into the electoral mind, it is concededly Hoover against the field, with many Republican leaders asking themselves in all seriousness: "Can Hoover be stopped?"

The Hoover handlers say no. But the anti-Hoover people, which includes the adherents of every other candidate in the list, Lowell, Daves, Curtis, Watson, Willis, have a different answer. They willingly concede that at this early stage the lead which the cabinet candidate has built up through one of the most efficient organizations on record is a commanding one, but they say that Hoover can be stopped and will be stopped at Kansas City. The events of the next eight or ten weeks may reveal who is wrong.

A minimum of 400 votes on the first ballot at Kansas City was claimed today by the Hoover managers, and they cited known facts and figures and commitments to back up their claim. A total of 345 is necessary to nominate. But while the 400 was claimed as a minimum, it was admitted at the same time that the maximum, as of today, is not much if any greater than that.

The greatest comfort which the Hoover managers have is that their tables of potential strength show votes from every corner of the country from Maine to California and from Michigan to the Southern States that line the Gulf. In contrast to this point to the more sectionalized strength of Lyndon, Frank O. Lowden, the strongest and strongest candida who has appeared to challenge the progress of the Hoover movement.

Lowden's delicate strength, as of today, figure at roughly 300 in the initial balloting, nearly all of which come from the important and heavily grain belt of Illinois to the Dakotas. Helmsdon people do not claim much more than that at this stage.

In the background is the Daves candidacy unopposed by any other party, and yet of such "certain" attributes that the Hoover handlers see it lurking in every shadow. If, as the anti-Hoover people claim, Hoover can be stopped at Kansas City, then the Daves candidacy at once becomes over-shadowing and all-prevailing for the Hoover managers say if their candidate can be stopped Lowden can also be counted out.

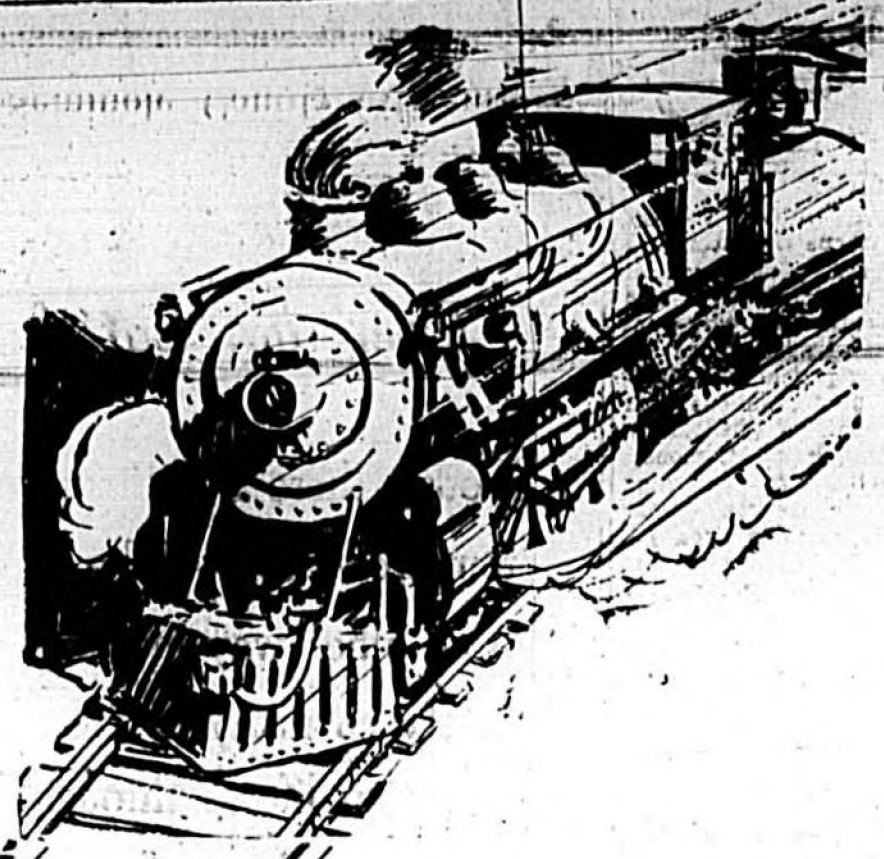

The biggest question mark to date, three months from the date of assembly, is the attitude of New York and Pennsylvania leaders. No Republican candidate has ever been named without the support of these powerful states, which have 169 delegates in the convention.

Lives Endangered!

Negligence and carelessness are constant reminders of the care that should be exercised in crossing railroad crossings.

Most motorists are mindful of this danger but even so, accidents continue at an alarming rate.

Though protected by a watchman, citizens of Sanford feel that lives will be safer, traffic helped and danger lessened by automatic signal lights or crossing gates at Rand's siding and all other grade crossings in the city and county.

HILLE VERSE FOR TODAY

LAW OF LOVE:—Love worketh no ill to his neighbor; therefore love is the fulfilling of the law.—Romans 13:10.

PRAYER:—May our love, O Father, be such in power and practice that all men shall know that we are the children of God.

WHEN YOU HAD GONE

Your robes thrown casually on the chair,
Your shoes show mud that dried across the toe,
And here a comb holds bits of broken hair.

By Norma Keating

You may not admire Levine, but you must admit that as an aviator he gets about.

Making payments these days on automobiles is about like trying to keep up the life insurance.

We'll bet there are a few Marines down in Nicaragua who will be mighty glad when that dog-gone election is over.

Rodman Wanamaker is said to have died with $7,500,000 worth of life insurance on him. There's one man anyway who won.

The Supreme Court has ruled that Senator Taylor is qualified to run. That means Doyle Carlton won't get quite so many votes.

An exchange says Diaz, leader of the Italian armies during the World War, died poor. But we doubt if in the memory of Italians who love him he is poor.

Having just seen a published picture of Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen we are constrained to say that she is much better looking than "Joe" Sears.—Tampa Times.

"Chicago Gangs Atting," shouts a streamer headline. We had been under the impression that they had been armed and mobilized for several years.

When a Miami grand jury attempted to clean things up down there, the city manager charged "politics". He since has been cited for contempt of court.

What are the enforcers bothering about holding conferences here for when Florida "is as dry as the Sahara desert"?—Tampa Times. A. J. Green was only kidding.

An unsuccessful candidate for office in Illinois published his statement of expenses in the following manner: "Had nothing, spent nothing, got nothing."—Times-Union. Sad but true.

A gun, seventy feet long, weighing 735,000 pounds, is to be set in the defense of the Panama Canal. Ledy's good will flight was a grand thing, and all that, and its effect really ought to be lasting, etc.—Sarasota Times. Yes, we shake hands with one hand while we oil our guns with the other.

John H. Perry, owner of this newspaper, reminds us that fifteen of the eighteen members of Governor Smith's cabinet at Albany are Protestants. But the sky is that it should be thought necessary to make such a statement. It is just another indication of the fact that Al Smith is so unfortunately identified with the religious issue that people will constantly be counting Catholic noses against Protestant ones among his associates.—Jacksonville Journal.

Mr. Hathaway Decides

Just as we had hoped and expected, Fom Hathaway has declined to meet Doyle Carlton in a debate upon issues growing out of charges which Carlton and his supporters have made against Mr. Hathaway in connection with his duties as chairman of the State Road Department. We believe that the Road Department head has acted wisely and quite within his rights. Replying to the Tampa candidate's challenge, Mr. Hathaway wrote in part: "Due to the shortness of time remaining in which I have to make my campaign and attend to the duties which I have to perform, and also feeling that no good purpose could be served in a joint debate between us, I must respectfully decline your challenge."

The Herald reiterates what Mr. Hathaway has said that a joint debate could serve no good purpose. Such a meeting between candidates never does. Witness the one on which Governor Martin met Herman Dann on the Everglades bond issue. There never is a real debate involved, the candidates merely presenting their views and claims against each other without a real meeting of minds. In the second place we were opposed to the proposed debate because we felt that the questions which Doyle Carlton had raised were not real campaign issues. They are false issues raised purposely by the Tampa candidate and his crowd in an effort to stave off, if possible, the overwhelming tide of defeat.

We see no reason why Mr. Hathaway should be called upon to defend himself against malicious attacks which haven't been shown to have the slightest bit of foundation. It would be grossly unfair to him and his candidacy and to the vast following, which is clamoring for his election, believing that he can give the state of Florida a better and more efficient administration than any of the other candidates.

The Herald has said before and repeats that the best way to determine the capability of a man, is not by a test of his oratorical ability in joint debate, but in a fair and open operation of his past record. We believe that Fom Hathaway's record as chairman of the State Road Department is convincing enough that he is a man of action, a doer of big things and a man whom the people can repose the utmost confidence in handling the affairs of state. Mr. Hathaway has been conducting a clean campaign, making his appeal to the citizens in his plain, unassuming way.

When A Title Counts

Some people, says a recent issue of the Southern Telephone News, are inclined to attach too much importance to a title. "If a man is given a title," the News continues, "and becomes foreman or manager or vice president, it is true that it signifies an achievement on his part, but the more important thing about it is that it affords an opportunity for accomplishment. It is what he does in the indicated sphere of activity that really determines his value to the organization."

The magazine then quotes Vice President Charles G. Dawes, who in his usual picturesque fashion has this to say upon the subject.

"Here I sit in an office that has the halo of tradition. Outside are officers and what not. A certain amount of scenery and stage setting is essential for my office. It is not me, mind you, it's proper surroundings. My title, Mr. Vice-President, but do you suppose it makes any difference to me personally how I am addressed? To my mind I am Charles, but for office, you know, I am Charles, Mr. Vice-President is unimportant. After all, it's a title to handle. If I don't count without that title, I can do it better with it."

THE AIM OF EDUCATION

COLUMBUS ENQUIRER'S

Education is the process of teaching a child to think for himself. It is not the mere accumulation of facts, but the development of the mind. The aim of education is to give the child the tools of knowledge and the ability to use them.

Character, the philosopher says, is the result of habit. Beauty, the artist says, is the result of harmony. Happiness, the Epicurean says, is the result of self-control. The Stoic says, the Christian, Self-denial, the Christian, Loyalty, says the ruler, Patriotism, the patriot, Wisdom, says the old man, Achievement, says the youth, Courage, says the soldier, Success, says the merchant, Wealth, says the banker, Vision, says the dreamer, Play, says the child, Love, the maiden, Friendship, says the lover, Personality, says the teacher, Health, says the physician, Growth, the biologist, and Unfulfillment, says the philosopher.

A NEWSPAPER'S FAITH

TAMPA TIMES

There are certain critics of newspapers who apparently have a little conception of the work that the newspapers are doing in the world. There was a time when newspapers were called the "fourth estate" and they were treated with the respect that the title implied. But now they are treated as if they were no more than a source of amusement and entertainment.

Tom Sims says: "The modern girl can dress in eight or ten ways, and a woman who allows two for lipstick, two for rouge, two for hair and two for nails, she does not wear a whole new outfit, she has a whole new wardrobe."

The wife of George Gurney, the "Desert Rat" and "Lone Star" put in a "matrimonial" because she had three things not had since she was a little girl, unless you're sure the man won't bring things or get her.

A headline says: "Follows Crowd to Find Mother-in-Law Victim of Accident." That ought to promote the south art of crowd-following.

The chapter congratulated Mrs. John Leonard, upon being elected as first vice regent of the state.

Flanders' field of poppies, the trench and the barbed wire entanglements of No Man's Land, New York cabarets, boxing arena and night life, and field hospitals behind the front are all in First National's big spectacle, "The Patent Leather Kid," at the Milano Theatre today and tomorrow. Every resource of the production department at First National was called into service for this great film epic, starring Richard Barthelmess. Months of research work were required by the crew of technical experts employed for the picture.

Advisors from the U. S. Army, former war correspondents, physicians and surgeons, and physical trainers were drafted for the purpose of advising Director Alfred Santell during the production. Every minute detail was checked, so that the picture might be absolutely true to life.

Veterans of the world war played bits in the picture, each member of the cast was carefully chosen, and actual happenings of the front in the big drive of September, 1918, were reproduced during the filming of the war scenes.

The result is one of the greatest war pictures ever made. In addition, the story of "The Patent Leather Kid," the East Side boxer who was drafted against his wishes, and who emerged from the war a hero, is one of the greatest stories ever written with a war background. Rupert Hughes wrote the original story after the war. Adele Rogers and John were the adaptation and Winifred Dunn the scenario.

Molly O'Day, who plays opposite Barthelmess, is acclaimed a screen find as the result of her work in this picture. "The Patent Leather Kid" is an Alfred Santell production, and the production management was in charge of M. Rockett, one of the producers of "Abraham Lincoln."

To Our Patrons and Other Friends:
Few of us are wealthy enough to discard our apparel when it loses its original freshness.

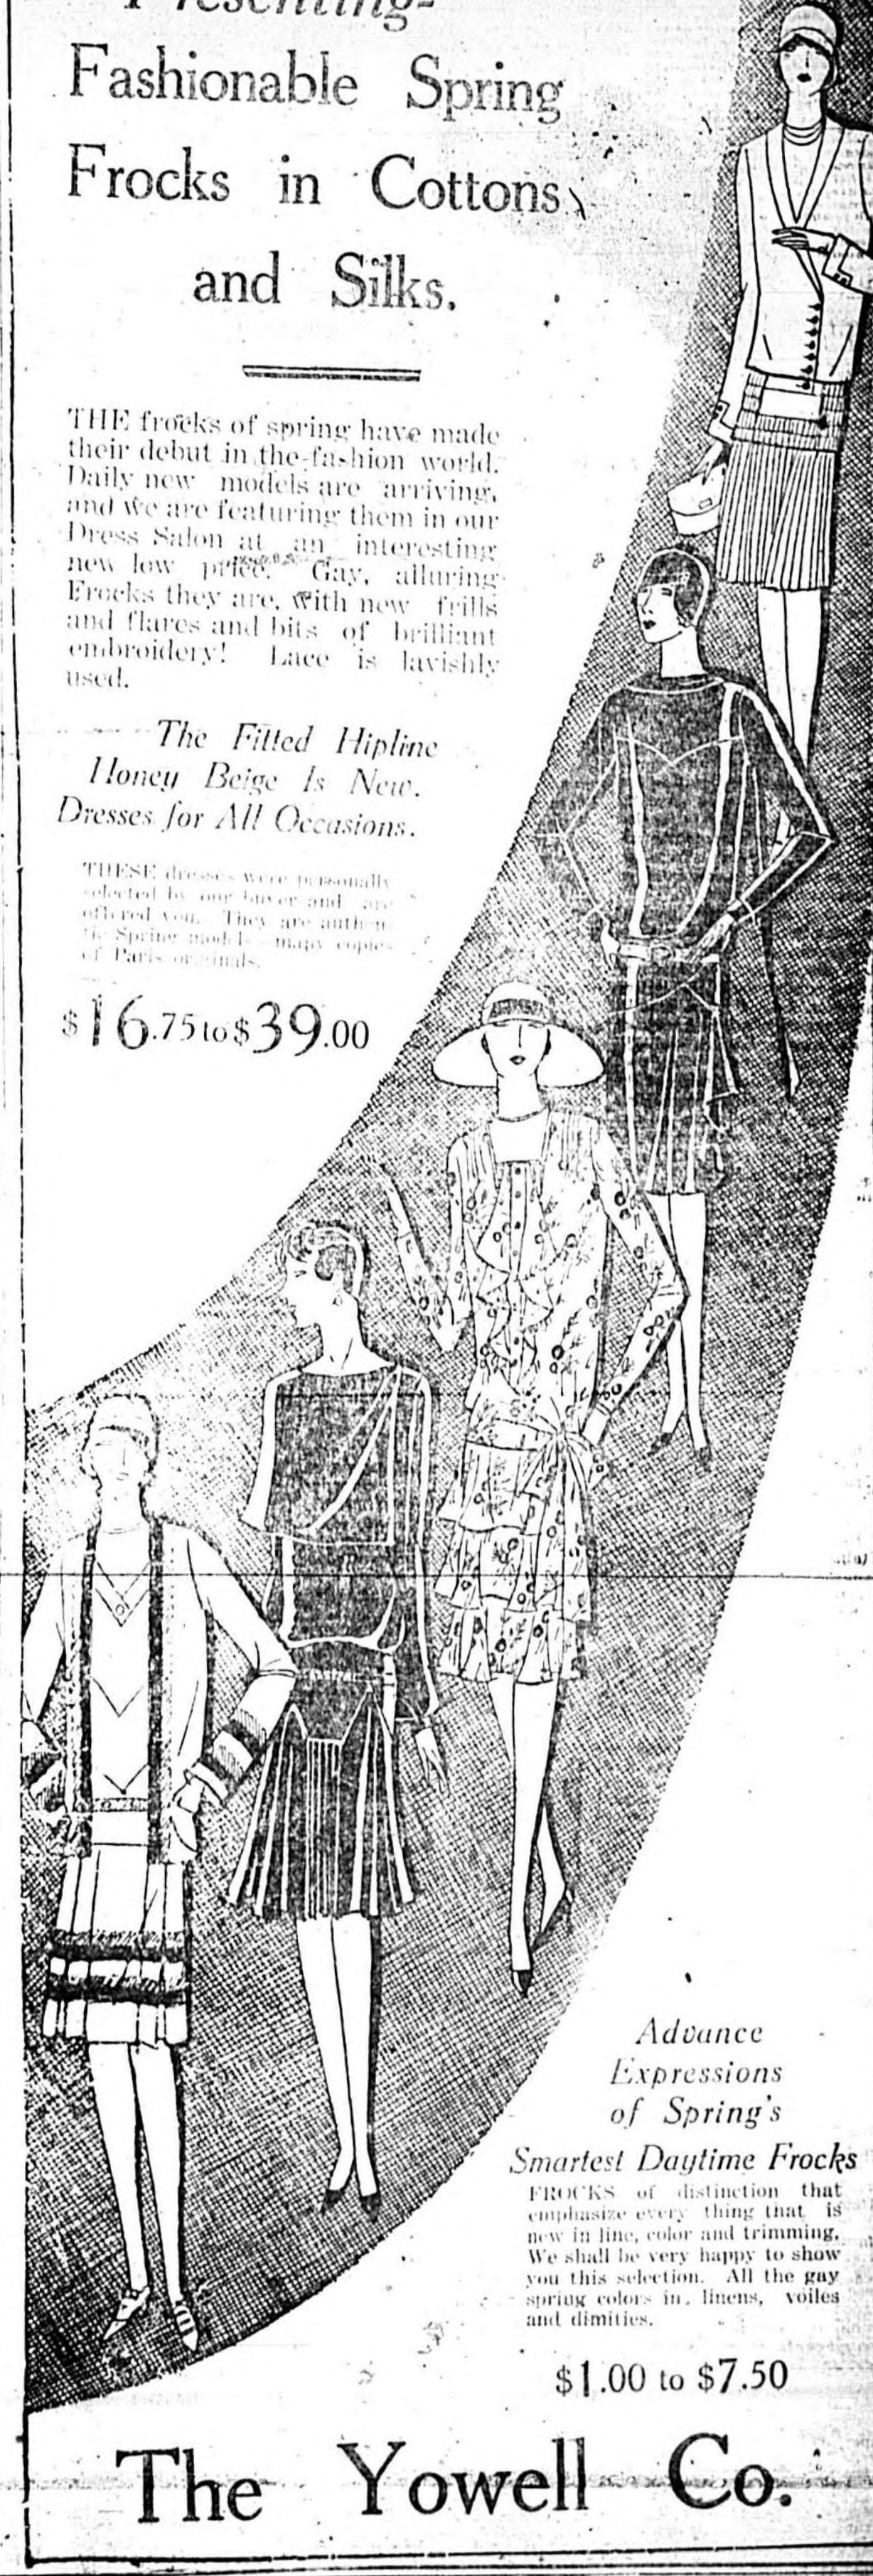

There is no more satisfactory way to renovate a garment whose fabric is in good condition than to have it dyed. Correctly dyed the material takes on a rich color and an added sheen. Of course some fabrics will not dye successfully and we will advise you honestly of our opinion.

If you have an article you wish dyed, our expert dyers will give you honest advice which you will find absolutely dependable.
Sincerely,
E. H. Laney

U. S. ASKS LINES TO HELP PROTECT SHIPS FROM ICE

Desires Cooperation Of All Atlantic Routes In Combating Dangerous Menace To Navigation From Icebergs

WASHINGTON, Mar. 10.—(INS)—Trans-Atlantic steamship corporations have been asked to cooperate with the United States Coast Guard during the spring and early summer in the effort to keep shipping adequately warned of the presence of icebergs.

Commandant F. C. Bihard, of the Coast Guard, designated the Cutters Mohic and Malaya, two of the crack vessels of the service, to carry on the international ice patrol this season. The patrol is provided for by the international convention for the safety of life at sea signed in London in 1913 and 1914.

Ship commanders were asked to radio the following information to the Coast-Guard Cutters:

To Make Report

(1) Icebergs or obstructions sighted should be reported giving date, time, latitude, longitude, sea and drift and in case of bergs, the temperature of the water at the time sighted.

(2) Surface temperature of the sea water every four hours when between latitudes 30 degrees north and 48 degrees south and longitudes 30 degrees west and 20 degrees west, giving time and place of observation and course and speed of the vessel.

"This data will facilitate the drawing of a beam-weather chart which will be useful in locating the branches of the Labrador current," the Coast Guard said. "It is requested that radio operators desist, as far as practicable from operating at the above times, in order to lessen radio interference."

The ice patrol vessels' general radio call letters are NIBD, a special call for the ship at a local patrol. It should not be confused with the regular radio call letters assigned to the individual vessels.

Ice-information will be issued in plain, concise English and will give the position of icebergs, sea, location and description of the ice and other pertinent data. This information will be given at regular times to any ship with which a radio patrol vessel is in contact.

Object of Patrol

The chief object of the ice patrol is to keep vessels advised of the location and description of icebergs in the Atlantic Ocean, between latitudes 30 degrees north and 48 degrees south and longitudes 30 degrees west and 20 degrees west.

The patrol vessels will be equipped with radio, fog horns, and other necessary equipment. The patrol vessels will be in contact with the Coast Guard Cutters at regular intervals.

Their feat was accomplished in June, 1919, when they flew the Vickers Vimy bomber, driven by two 360 horsepower Rolls Royce engines, at one point in the adventure plunged out of control to within a few feet of the sea, and on another occasion turned upside down in a heavy fog.
