Sambo's Closing 1 Of Its 3 Seminole Restaurants

Although this Altamonte Springs Sambo's restaurant has closed its doors, the Sanford and Longwood restaurants will remain open.

Although the Sambo's restaurant in Altamonte Springs, at 689 E. Altamonte Drive, has closed its doors, the Sanford and Longwood Sambo's managers say they are still "in business."

"There is no possibility of us closing," Sanford restaurant manager Bob Duprea said. The Sanford Sambo's is at 2565 S. French Ave. and employs 26 people, Duprea said.

"According to the home office, they closed the Altamonte Springs restaurant as one of the 447 restaurants closed across the nation, but we will remain open," he said.

Sambo's Restaurants Inc. announced it may file for bankruptcy unless the company's lenders restructure loans to the California-based restaurant chain. Restaurant officials said they have closed the 447 restaurants in an effort to eliminate money-losing operations. A total of 667 are remaining open nationwide.

According to Arthur Dowd, vice-president for administration, the closings followed an evaluation of individual restaurant operations that began early in November. He said the closings are unrelated to a company decision Wednesday to consider bankruptcy. The company recently resubmitted a restructured $100 million loan agreement to its lenders that the firm defaulted on last month.

"If the proposal is rejected," Dowd said, "serious consideration will have to be given to filing a bankruptcy petition."

Sambo's current discussions with lenders comes in the wake of its failure early last month to pay the $4.8 million first installment on the $100 million loan package.

"It's still a very good company," Longwood Sambo's manager Marilyn Margeolas said. Her restaurant is at 611 Dog Track Road. "I've been with the company eight years and at this restaurant four years. We're very much so open and the home office says we'll stay that way, so I believe them," she added.

The Altamonte Springs restaurant, however, closed this week and a "Closed" sign has been placed on the glass doors.

Restaurant officials could not be reached for further comments on the Altamonte Springs Sambo's closing.

Auction Slated For Bankrupt Auto-Train

The last remnants of the Auto-Train Corp. in Sanford, which ceased operation May 1, will be sold at public auction at 600 Persimmon Ave., Dec. 8 and 9, beginning at 10 a.m. each day, Irving Rosen said today.

Rosen, of Ralph Rosen Associates, Dallas, said proceeds from the bankruptcy sale are expected to reach over $1 million. He will personally conduct the auction.

Rail cars and related equipment are to be placed on the auction block the first day of the sale, and commissary equipment, including restaurant equipment, carpeting, linens, silverware and vehicles, are to be sold the second day of the sale, Rosen said.

He doesn't anticipate any person or corporation purchasing all the Auto-Train equipment. "The items will be sold by lots and not as a whole," he said, noting that selling by lot "should bring in more money."

"We have not planned to take an overall bid," Rosen said, adding that no one has indicated to the Texas firm that they wish to make one overall bid.

Auto-Train began its Sanford operation in December 1971, transporting automobiles and their passengers to and from Lorton, Va., just outside Washington, D.C.

One week before the company ceased operation May 1, an announcement was made that the financially plagued operation was doomed.

Auto-Train filed for bankruptcy in September, 1980.

Featured in the bankruptcy sale are: 145 assorted rail cars, including a luxurious office car with three bedrooms with bath in each, dining room, kitchen, pantry, office area, attendants' sleeping quarters with bath; a caboose; sleeper cars; mini-dome and full-dome nightclub car; bi-level and tri-level auto carriers; $1.5 million inventory of rail-car replacement parts and accessories.

52 Years Standard Oil To Pay Tribute To Earl Higginbotham Tonight

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

After 52 years, it's still a hobby to him.

Earl Higginbotham, 606 Briarcliff St., Sanford, has worked for the Standard Oil Co. 52 years, and tonight the firm will honor him in a special ceremony at the Holiday Inn on Lake Monroe's marina isle.

"You don't find many of us around anymore who have been with one company for so long," Higginbotham, a former mayor of Sanford, said. "But I'll tell you, I've enjoyed it all. And after all these years it's still like a hobby to me."

But not only will 73-year-old Higginbotham be honored for his many years of service to the company, he's also "changing jobs" today.

"Oh, I'm still going to be affiliated with Chevron (also the name and trademark of the Standard Oil Co.)," he said. "But I won't be their agent. I'll be a jobber."

A jobber, Higginbotham explained, is a person who buys his products from the company but sells them "outright under his own name or corporate name."

"I've already had my stationery changed to read Earl Higginbotham Oil Co. Inc., Jobber, Chevron U.S.A. Inc. Products," he says. "I'm very excited about it."

Higginbotham, seated behind his desk in his warehouse at 409 Laurel Ave. and wearing a brown Stetson hat, "which I never take off except to shower," said he has no intention of slowing down.

"I put in as many hours as it takes to run the business," he said. "If you ask my wife, Alene, she'll say that's 24 hours a day, but it isn't really that bad. I get in a golf game or a few hours of watching football on TV here and there, too."

Earl Higginbotham at his desk.

Higginbotham, who is a former Sanford mayor and city commissioner, came to Florida in 1929 and began working for Standard Oil in Jacksonville as an accountant.

"I made $90 a month when I first started and I thought I was wealthy," he says. "I retired from that salaried job June 14, 1946, and took a commission-agent position with the company in Sanford. I've been here ever since."

Higginbotham said he's seen a lot of progress in Sanford and Florida, an area he said his father once remarked was nothing but "rattlesnakes and palmetoes." "I'm going to see a lot more in the city and in the state," he added. "And I plan to be in the middle of it. I love it here and have no desire to live any place else."

Higginbotham said he prepared for this "tune in my life" by purchasing his office warehouse, where he stores grease and oil "by the barrels and cases." He also owns a plant at 509 French Ave., where he stores liquid fuels.

"I saw a great potential for growth in this area when I first visited the state on vacation in 1929," he says. "Now I'm ready for the new job because I've planned ahead. I'm a lot farther ahead of the game than others who are in my type of profession."

At tonight's banquet, Higginbotham said, several company officials will be speaking concerning his service with the company, including Miami-based Emory Smith, district marketing manager for Standard Oil in the Southeast, and Harry Quillicy, operational manager, also of Miami.

"Just because I'm going to be supplying the oil and fuel needs here — myself under my name," Higginbotham explained, "doesn't mean the quality of service will change or that the product will be different. I'll still be providing Chevron products, and there will be no interruption in service to my customers."

Higginbotham is "just beginning."

5 Chambers Cautious On Tax Increase

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The feeling among the five chambers of commerce in Seminole County is mixed on the proposed one-cent increase in the statewide sales tax to be considered by the Florida Legislature when it convenes for its 1982 session Jan. 18.

The Orlando Area Chamber of Commerce board of directors last week voted to support the additional tax if it is tied to a mandatory reduction in property taxes.

But local chambers either have not formally discussed the proposal or have decided to take a "wait and see" position.

Jack Horner, executive manager of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, said today the board will discuss the issue at its meeting Dec. 15.

"I more or less supported the sales-tax increase as it was originally proposed as an alternative to the resort tax and when the state was talking about restricting the revenues to education and roads," Horner said today.

"Since then the economy has turned down to such an extent that it might work a hardship on people, especially the unemployed. Once the state votes in a sales tax, or any tax, it seems to stay forever. If this tax passes, I would like to see a sunset provision (a time when the tax would end) passed with it," he said.

"I think one of the reasons why such cities as Orlando, and perhaps even Sanford, might favor the tax is that cities have been hard hit with loss of revenue sharing. To keep the current level of services available in Sanford it might be necessary to have the tax. We will be talking to city leaders to determine how they feel," he added. "But it seems to me this is a poor time for new taxes."

Meanwhile, Richard Fess, vice president of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce, said the chamber hasn't taken a position yet. "But I think we will," he said.

Fess' personal assessment is that an increase in the tax appears inevitable.

"I am reluctantly in favor," he said. He said a better way to fund repair and improvement of roads, however, would be to increase gasoline-tax revenue by tying the tax to the dollar amount of the purchase rather than to continue the present formula of eight cents per gallon.

"We've got to fund repair and improvements of roads," Fess said. "If we don't we are whistling 'Dixie.' If we could tie the tax to the price of gasoline when the price goes up, the taxes go up and the state would be a lot better off in its road-funding situation. We need anything that can improve the situation, and this seems the most viable way of doing it."

Priscilla Green, executive director of the Maitland-South Seminole Chamber of Commerce, said the chamber has decided against taking a stand on the issue "until we know more about it. Opinion is quite divided on the legislative action committee."

Carmine Bravo, president of the Longwood-Winter Springs Chamber of Commerce, said his chamber also has not considered a position on the matter. "With the cutbacks seen nationally, I don't see why Florida should consider an increase in sales taxes," he said.

Bravo agreed property taxes increased tremendously in the last year. "But I'm still personally opposed to an increase in sales taxes," he said.

Bob Crockett, incoming president of the Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, said today his chamber has scheduled a discussion on the proposed sales-tax increase for 7:30 a.m. Dec. 15 at the chamber building on Maitland Avenue. "We'll be prepared to consider the issue at that time," he said.

For Seats On Commission

4 Longwood Contenders

By LEE DANCY
Herald Staff Writer

Requests for action from Longwood city officials voiced by residents of the Lake Wayman area have precipitated varied responses from four candidates in Tuesday's City Commission election.

During the last three commission meetings Lake Wayman area residents have appeared before the board with numerous questions and requests. Their initial concerns focused on the city's cleanup efforts on the lake's shoreline, but the issue has blossomed into a question of property rights and ownership. Three commission seats are involved in this election, but only two of the incumbent candidates have opponents. Commissioner June Lormann was originally elected in 1973 and has not faced an opponent since her initial race for the District 2 seat.

The other two incumbent candidates are each seeking their second terms in office. District 4 Commissioner John Hepp is facing a challenge from Charles S. "Chick" Pappas, while District 1 incumbent Steven Uskert is trying to fend off a bid for his seat from John Crystal.

A primary election issue developed when City Administrator David Chacey ordered city workers to clean weeds and debris from the shoreline of Ben L. Beckner's property. Workers did exactly that, leaving the rest of the lake's shoreline untouched.

Residents of the area, represented by Larry Hoffman, appeared before the commission during two consecutive meetings Nov. 9 and 16. Hoffman initially asked the commission to complete the shoreline cleanup and improve Georgia Avenue.

Commissioners promised the work would be done and authorized Chacey to spend $600 to rent a dragline for the cleanup. The issue did not disappear from commission agendas, however.

...Longwood Election Tuesday

Hoffman said the city did not intend to vacate two strips of property on the lake's east and west sides which once were city streets connecting Georgia and Seminole avenues.

Rooks then was authorized by the commission to make certain the city also had forfeited its easement rights to the property. The city attorney will report on that request at the Dec. 7 commission meeting.

Hepp said it is not the city's job to determine who owns a certain piece of property unless it has a specific interest in the property. The Lake Wayman situation is a "neighborhood feud" and should be settled by the property owners involved, he said.

Ukert lives at 655 Northport Road. Hepp, 41, has lived in Longwood six years. He is part owner in an amusement business in Sanford.

Regular attendance at commission meetings became part of Hepp's life when he became president of the Skylark Homeowners Association. He lives at 1482 Robin Court.

Reagan Says He Has Gotten 'Fair' Deal From The Press

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan believes reporters have treated him fairly in his first 11 months in office, but thinks his wife, Nancy, has gotten a "bum rap" from the press, his communications chief says.

"All in all, he does believe that his treatment by the press has been fair," David Gergen told U.S. News & World Report in an interview released Sunday.

The White House communications director agreed Reagan has been perceived as a rich man's president, adding, "I think he believes that Mrs. Reagan, in particular, has gotten a bum rap on the redecoration of the family quarters and the purchase of new White House china. He has been more bothered by criticism of her than by criticism of his own programs.

Gergen said respect for Reagan has grown since he took office and the press has gotten to know him better.

"There is no question that he has a masterful touch in dealing with the media and with the public in general," Gergen said.

Gergen countered criticism of the lack of news conferences held by Reagan by saying "the number of formal press conferences should not be the standard by which the openness or accountability of an administration is judged."

He said a news conference with 150 or 200 reporters present, "is not necessarily the best vehicle for presidents to respond to questions regularly."

Asked if he felt an obligation to always tell the truth, Gergen responded: "Well, I very much believe that the government does not have a right to lie. But I believe government does have a right to remain silent. There are occasions when the government has a right to say no comment to sensitive national security questions. There has never been an instance in which I or anyone in this administration I know of has been asked to lie."

Gergen also said the press is more balanced now than it was 10 years ago and has become more "disillusioned with the promises of big government of the '60s and more willing to consider the possibility of private enterprise as a solution."

Gergen said there has been "a tendency to feast upon personality conflicts as opposed to true matters of substance. Also, it seems to me that there has been a tendency to over-dramatize and exaggerate the extent to which the cuts in federal spending are affecting people at the lower end of the income scale."

Reagan "recognizes that recent stories about squabbling or feuding in the administration have been based on conversations with true-life, flesh-and-blood people," Gergen said. "We all need to guard against journalism becoming a form of gossip."

As for leaks by the administration, Gergen said it is a "time-honored tradition in this city, and I am sure we will never see the end of it. I just think that anonymous personal attacks or loose talk are unhealthy."

Economy Continues Slump

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Leading economic indicators, dropping for the third consecutive month, declined 1.8 percent in October, the Commerce Department reported today.

The three-month string of declines — the first since a March-May series last year set the stage for recession — showed that an end to the nation's economic problems is not yet in sight.

The drop for October was slightly less than the 2.3 percent decline in September and more than the 0.8 percent drop in August, after revision.

Six of the 10 available indicators were down, with the layoff rate, new orders and building permits leading the decline.

Also down were the pace of deliveries, changes in liquid assets and orders adjusted for inflation.

Increasing for the month were the average workweek, crude materials prices, stock prices and the money supply adjusted for inflation.

The composite index of leading indicators was set at 128.1 for October, compared to 128 in 1987.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Richard Allen "fully expects" to resume his duties as President Reagan's national security adviser once the administration completes its investigation of a $1,000 "thank you" gratuity he received from a Japanese magazine.

Another Shutdown Possible

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress and President Reagan have until Dec. 15 to settle federal spending matters and avert another government shutdown, but some on Capitol Hill fear they won't make it.

"They won't get anything through by Dec. 15," said an aide to a Senate Democratic leader. "It will be the same thing as long as they need a diversion."

Autopsy May Shed Light On Actress' Mysterious Death

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actress Natalie Wood cast off alone in the night during a holiday yacht trip with her husband and was later found drowned nearby in a shallow lagoon. Authorities ordered an autopsy today to determine how the 43-year-old star slipped into the water.

Miss Wood's fully-clothed body, found shortly after dawn Sunday, was floating just beneath the surface only 200 feet from the Isthmus of the resort island of Santa Catalina, about 20 miles off the Southern California coast.

Authorities said Miss Wood apparently drowned after falling overboard from an inflatable rubber dinghy found beached near the body. Today's autopsy was expected to shed some light on her mysterious death.

The three-time Oscar nominee had been spending the weekend with her husband, actor Robert Wagner, and actor Christopher Walken, with whom Miss Wood was starring in the film "Brainstorm." They arrived at the island Friday aboard the 55-foot Wagner yacht, Splendour.

The three went ashore for dinner Saturday night.

"Mr. and Mrs. Wagner had dinner last night in a restaurant on the Isthmus, after which they returned to their boat (anchored offshore)," family friend and spokesman Paul Ziffren said Sunday.

"While Mr. Wagner was in the cabin, Mrs. Wagner apparently went to their stateroom," he said. "When Mr. Wagner went to join her, he found that she was not there and that the dinghy was also gone."

"Since Mrs. Wagner often took the dinghy out alone, Mr. Wagner was not immediately concerned. However, when she did not return in 10 or 15 minutes, Mr. Wagner took his small cruiser and went to look for her. When this proved unsuccessful, he immediately contacted the Coast Guard, who then continued the search."

WORLD IN BRIEF

After Hiatus Of 2½ Years, Nuclear Arms Talks Resume

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — After an interruption of 2½ years, the United States and the Soviet Union began talks today on limiting nuclear missiles and both sides warned there will be no rapid agreement.

The Geneva arms talks come after a month of the biggest pacifist demonstration in Europe since World War II against NATO plans to install 572 U.S. Pershing-II and Cruise missiles in Europe by 1983 to counter 600 Soviet SS-4, SS-5e and SS-20s already in place and aimed at Europe.

Peace-Keeping Plan Studied

JERUSALEM (UPI) — The Israeli cabinet met today in special session to discuss a proposal that could break a deadlock over European participation in the Sinai peace-keeping force called for in the Camp David accords.

Prime Minister Menachem Begin, responding to a request by Secretary of State Alexander Haig, has promised to make public a statement of principles on Europe's participation in the force, Israel Radio said.

Flagship Lowers Mortgage Rates

Dennis H. Courson, President of Flagship Bank of Seminole, announced today that the bank's first mortgage interest rate has been lowered to 15 percent.

Courson said the move was made in an attempt to stimulate the local economy. "Mortgage terms are 20 years, one-year rate review, two points and no prepayment penalty," Courson said.

Miami's Tony Nathan will be looking for running room tonight against the Philadelphia Eagles tough defense.

Dolphins Look For Big Plays Against Philadelphia Tonight

Miami

MIAMI (UPI) — The Miami Dolphins figure they'll have to come up with a big play or two or three tonight if they're going to defeat the Philadelphia Eagles and begin a playoff drive in the last four games of the season.

"If we get the opportunity for a big play against them, we'll have to take advantage of it," wide receiver Jimmy Cefalo said Sunday. "They're so sound on defense that you don't get that many of them."

Philadelphia (9-3) is only a half-game behind Dallas for the lead in the NFC Eastern Division and the Dolphins, with their 7-4-1 mark, are a half-game behind the New York Jets in the AFC East.

Although the Eagles are in much better position as far as a wild card berth, Coach Dick Vermeil figures this is no time to let down, especially after last week's 20-10 defeat at the hands of the New York Giants.

"They're all big games now," Vermeil said. "The division will not be decided until all four games are played. I know we're good enough to win all four, but still, we can lose all four."

Miami Coach Don Shula had similar sentiments as he looked forward to a schedule that includes the Eagles, New England, Kansas City and Buffalo.

"We have to win against good football teams because you don't get there (to the playoffs) at the end unless you beat good teams," Shula said.

A lot of that, as Cefalo said, will depend on the ability of the Dolphins to come up with big plays. And a lot of that will depend on second year quarterback David Woodley, who is coming off a disappointing performance in a heart-breaking 16-15 loss to the Jets last week.

"We had a fine physical game defensively last week, but offensively, we've got to put more points on the board," Shula said. "The last two weeks, David has been through some tough times, but when you analyze what has happened since he has taken over, all the good things he has done overshadow the things that have disappointed us." Woodley, who has completed 153 passes for 286 yards, a 53.5 percentage and 10 touchdowns, tends to be harder on himself than his coach, but he also feels that he is progressing.

"I still have a lot to learn," he says. "Sure, it's frustrating sometimes. But that's only normal for a young quarterback. Most of the time I know what I should have done right after it happens and that's the most frustrating part."

"It's great to realize what went wrong, but why didn't I realize it in my mind at the time?"

"The more you play, the more you realize how little you know about the total picture. I have been able to make the best of things with the knowledge I have. That's been my biggest asset," he said.

The Dolphins (7-4-1) and the defending NFC champion Eagles (9-3), both tied for first place in their respective divisions, realize that the next mishap could be a broken axle. The Dolphins are locked with the New York Jets and the Buffalo Bills in an AFC East race separated only by last-second touchdown passes. And the Eagles are deadlocked with the Dallas Cowboys in the NFC East and confronted by three consecutive road games including a Texas visit.

An ABC-TV national audience and a sellout crowd of 75,000 fans at the Orange Bowl will witness the interconference battle between the Dolphins and Eagles at 9 p.m. Monday night. The Dolphins have won 15 of their last 17 games against NFC opposition, but the Eagles are bidding for a sweep of the AFC East this season after disposing of Buffalo, New England and Baltimore.

"We have to get ourselves prepared to play one of the best teams in the NFL," Dolphins quarterback David Woodley said in assessing the stretch drive. "The main thing for us is to just take care of our own business. We can't be sitting there hoping somebody else loses. We can't go into a game looking up at the scoreboard every five minutes and hoping that somebody else is losing. We just have to take care of our own."

The pressure for the Dolphins' final month intensified as a result of a brutally frustrating 16-15 loss to the New York Jets in a showdown for first place in the AFC East. The Jets drove 77 yards in the final three minutes and scored the winning touchdown with only 18 seconds remaining on an 11-yard pass from Richard Todd to tight end Jerome Barkum.

"That was as tough a loss as you can have when you end up losing in the final seconds," Coach Don Shula said. "You fight your guts out on defense and do a great job against them, and then when we have to hold them in the last series, we can't get it done."

"That's the kind of game we've got to win, and we didn't."

Under Shula, the Dolphins have been formidable in the final month. Seven times in the last nine years, Miami has won at least three of its last four games. And with the big-crowd electricity of the Orange Bowl, the Dolphins are 25-1 under Shula whenever more than 65,000 have stirred the adrenalin at home.

Of course, the scoreboard lights still read 00-00 at kickoff, and the home-field advantage has been diminished by NFL parity. Seven "road" teams were winners last week, for example. Or as Shula pointed out after a 33-17 loss to Oakland two weeks ago, "The notion that we're going to win because we have games in the Orange Bowl is a false notion and our team can't be led to believe that that's going to happen. We've got to win each game, no matter where we play it, and we have to play aggressively."

The Dolphins found that aggressiveness and got an edge on the Jets with a 12-point second quarter. Woodley directed a 13-play, 80-yard touchdown drive capped by a four-yard burst by halfback Tony Nathan. Linebacker Larry Gordon then sacked Todd for a 12-yard loss and a safety, and the Dolphins followed with a 46-yard field goal by Uwe von Schamann for a 12-6 halftime edge.

Miami went five possessions without a first down in the second half before Woodley's 26-yard bootleg keeper ignited a drive. It culminated in von Schamann's 23-yard field goal for a 15-6 margin with 3:10 on the clock. But Todd rallied the Jets by hitting seven of nine passes on the winning march.

The Dolphins held the Jets to 120 yards rushing — half as many as the 243 yards New York piled up in a 28-20 tie in Miami seven weeks earlier. But the Eagles should pose a bigger test with quick-stepping Wilbert Montgomery, who has amassed 1,036 yards including three consecutive 100-yard games. Miami has faced seven of the top 18 rushers in the NFL, and only Tony Dorsett of Dallas managed to top 100 yards.

Inside linebacker Earnie Rhone, the Dolphins' leading tackler with 137 stops, got more involved in the pass rush against the Jets. Rhone sacked Todd three times for 28 yards in losses.

While Montgomery shoulders the running load for the Eagles, the Dolphins have established a balance with Nathan (580 yards) and rookie fullback Andra Franklin (567 yards) and the constant threat of Woodley. Miami is averaging 136.5 yards rushing even after patching up the offensive line with Jeff Towse at left guard for Bob Kuechenberg and Dwight Stephenson at center for Mark Dennard.

Nathan, now asserting himself as one of the NFL's most versatile runners, needs only 21 yards to reach 1,000 yards of combined rushing and receiving. The third-year pro from Alabama has missed two full games with sore ribs and wears a protective vest. In the past two seasons, Nathan has 99 receptions for 978 yards and eight touchdowns.

The Dolphins were held to a season-low 41 net yards passing against the Jets, and Philadelphia's rugged defense has allowed only one team to score more than 14 points. The Eagles count 21 interceptions among their 36 takeaways, and they have allowed only nine TD passes — four of those to Minnesota's Tommy Kramer in a 35-23 setback.

9 Spots Still Remain In Hectic Race

49ers Dance To Playoff Berth, 17-10

By United Press International

The San Francisco 49ers completed their madcap dance to an NFC West title Sunday, but the race for the NFL's remaining nine playoff berths features more characters than a Busby Berkeley musical.

The 49ers, who had compiled a 10-3 record for the three previous seasons, became the only NFL team assured of post-season competition with a 17-10 triumph over the New York Giants that gave San Francisco, 10-3, its first division title since 1972.

Four of the five other NFL divisions, however, are packed tighter than an offensive line in a short-yardage situation.

With three weeks left in the regular season, both the NFC Central and the AFC West sport three-way ties for the division lead. The top three teams in the AFC East are separated by a half-game and Dallas owns a half-game lead in the NFC East. The torrid Cincinnati Bengals maintained their "whopping" two-game advantage over Pittsburgh in the AFC Central.

"We have played solid football week after week," said jubilant San Francisco coach Bill Walsh, who successfully integrated three rookie starters into his secondary in 1981. "We haven't had ups and downs and we have always managed to win the close one."

San Francisco's triumph over the Giants came in typical style, with quarterback Joe Montana maintaining ball control with a precise short passing game and the swarming, young defense forcing mistakes.

Touchdown runs by Montana and fullback Johnny Davis plus a 23-yard field goal by Ray Wersching produced the points after San Francisco's aggressive defense throttled the Giants' attack and induced six turnovers. New York slipped to 8-7 and now has only an outside shot at a wild card spot.

The 49ers used a pass interception and a fumble recovery to score on a 1-yard smash by Davis and a 20-yard run by Montana. When the game ended, long-suffering 49ers' fans poured onto the field to congratulate their team, which won a playoff berth for the first time since 1972.

"Of course, our players are ecstatic," Walsh said. "But they have been that way week after week. This was an excellent victory for us because it got us the division but we have had other excellent wins, like beating the Rams twice."

Beating the Rams, though, is hardly a mark of excellence these days. In the first rematch since Pittsburgh and Los Angeles met in Super Bowl XIV nearly two years ago, the resurgent Steelers blanked the reeling Rams 24-0 to improve to 8-5 and remain in the hunt for an AFC playoff spot.

"Let Cincinnati keep on winning," said Terry Bradshaw, who passed for one Pittsburgh TD and ran for another score.

"We'll beat them when they get here (Dec. 13). We owe them one."

"We're a much better football team (than when the Bengals beat the Steelers 34-7 on Oct. 18). We've worked out our problems. We're playing as good as anybody. The attitude is here now. We know we're going to win."

Franco Harris, who passed O.J. Simpson as the NFL's all-time leader in rushing attempts, ran for 118 yards and a touchdown as the Rams, shut out for the first time since 1976, dropped to 5-8.

Elsewhere Sunday, San Diego whipped Denver 34-17, Green Bay upset Minnesota 35-23, the New York Jets blanked Baltimore 25-0, Cincinnati routed Cleveland 41-21, Buffalo defeated Washington 21-14, Tampa Bay beat New Orleans 31-14, Atlanta beat Houston 31-27, St. Louis topped New England 27-20 and Oakland edged Seattle 32-31. Philadelphia is at Miami tonight.

On Thursday, Detroit whipped Kansas City 27-10 and Dallas edged Chicago 10-9.

Chargers 34, Broncos 17

Chuck Muncie ran for four first-half TDs as the Chargers, 8-5, forged a 3-way tie atop the AFC West with Denver and Kansas City. Muncie, whose 18 rushing TDs this season is one shy of the NFL record, scored on runs of 14 and one yard in the first quarter and four and three yards in the second quarter.

Packers 35, Vikings 23

Harlan Huckleby rushed for two TDs and caught one of Lynn Dickey's three TD passes to spark the Packers' upset. The loss dropped Minnesota, 7-6, into a three-way tie with Detroit and Tampa Bay for first in the NFC Central.

Jets 25, Colts 0

Rookie Freeman McNeil registered his first two pro rushing touchdowns on runs of 30 and 1 yard and Pat Leahy kicked four field goals as the Jets won their fifth straight to assume sole possession of first place in the AFC East with an 8-4-1 record. New York posted its first shutout in five years as the Colts dropped their 12th straight.

Bengals 41, Browns 21

Ken Anderson, continuing a fabulous comeback season, threw four TD passes and Pete Johnson caught one TD pass and ran for two more scores to highlight Cincinnati's fifth straight victory. The loss mathematically eliminated the Browns from repeating as AFC Central Division champs.

Bills 21, Redskins 14

Roland Hooks, substiting for the injured Joe Cribbs, ran for 109 yards and two TDs as Buffalo, 8-5, stayed alive in the AFC playoff race.

Buccaners 31, Saints 14

Doug Williams passed for two touchdowns and ran for another score to help Tampa Bay erase an early 14-0 deficit and grab a share of first place in the NFC Central. New Orleans' star rookie, George Rogers, regained the NFL rushing lead with 128 yards on 23 carries.

Pro Football

giving him 1,399 yards for the year. Falcons 31, Oilers 27

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Atlanta Falcons with Steve Bartkowski at quarterback are adapting in stunning fashion as they rise from the mid-season ashes and drive toward a wild-card playoff berth.

Nothing is certain yet with the Falcons and three other National Football Conference teams elbowing to get through a narrow door, except that the Falcons will adjust to what a team gives them and do it effectively.

Bartkowski passed for 372 yards Sunday on a day the Houston Oilers took away the run, and the Falcons took a 31-27 win to improve their record to 7-6. By winning their final three games, they probably can earn a playoff berth.

It's not surprising that Bartkowski's passes can beat a team, but on Sunday the Falcons expected to ride the running game.

"We came in with the idea to try and rush the football," Bartkowski said. "People had been rushing on them. But they shut off the rush and forced us to pass."

As it turned out, the Oilers' plan to shore up a leaky defense against the run was not fortuitous for them. Bartkowski passed 25 times, completed 18 and picked up an average of 21 yards on each completion.

He stunned the scrapping Oilers in the final two minutes of the first half by passing 43 yards to Alfred Jackson for a touchdown and following that one 22 seconds later with a 42-yard scoring pass to Alfred Jenkins.

The Oilers, 5-4, rallied from the 24-4 Falcons' lead at that point and from later deficits. But they never threatened to go ahead although the Oilers switch to quarterback Gifford Nielsen in the fourth quarter had the Falcons nervous.

"The thing that really surprised me today," Falcons Head Coach Lawrence Bennett said, "was the way the Oilers came back. We came in here thinking that they would roll over and let us take them. But they kept coming back. I think that's a tribute to coach Ed Biles and his staff."

Houston will not go to the playoffs this year for the first time in four seasons, and two weeks ago many people thought the Falcons were in the same sinking boat. Bartkowski said he's proud the Falcons patched the holes.

"We've been inconsistent at times. We've got a good team, but we had some bad games in the middle of the season. I think it shows a lot of character on the part of our team that we're still in there fighting for a playoff spot," he said.

The game was Bartkowski's second most productive day of the season, falling 44 yards short of the one-game

Atlanta passing record he set two weeks ago against Pittsburgh. The quarterback passed for 416 yards that game.

Bartkowski's passes to Jackson and Jenkins were his 28th and 29th touchdown passes of the season. He would have had his 30th touchdown pass of the season had running back William Andrews not fumbled at the one after carrying a pass 23 yards. Teammate Jackson recovered in the end zone for a touchdown.

Nielsen — making his first appearance of the season after suffering a torn shoulder muscle in preseason — replaced Ken Stabler as the Oilers' quarterback with 10 minutes to play in the game. He marched his team to two quick touchdowns on Earl Campbell's 18-yard run and on a 3-yard pass to running back Adger Armstrong.

The Falcons' Lynn Cain recovered an Oilers onside kick attempt with 1:45 to play and Falcons cornerback Bobby Butler intercepted a pass with 30 seconds left to kill the Oilers' comeback hopes.

Stabler had kept the Oilers close in the game with two 18-yard touchdown passes — one to Michael Holston and the other to Dave Casper.

Falcons place-kicker Mick Luckhurst booted a 36-yard field goal for a 10-0 lead in the first quarter and he also kicked four extra points.

Cardinals 27, Patriots 20
Rookie Neil Lomax hit 20-of-28 passes for 225 yards, including a 33-yard scoring toss to Roy Green with 33 seconds left, to lift St. Louis to its third straight triumph.

Raiders 21, Seahawks 21
Marc Wilson fired three second-half scoring passes to rally Oakland past Seattle in a battle among AFC West azzans. Seattle quarterback Jim Zorn suffered a fractured left ankle in the loss.

The 28th annual writers' selections included 24 players from 21 schools. Sims is one of 10 linemen eligible to win the prestigious Outland Award, which the writers association has been presenting since 1946 to the outstanding guard, tackle or center in college football.

Faust 'I'm Personally Embarrassed'

By United Press International
Gerry Faust, who guided Notre Dame to its first losing season in 18 years, gained a useful bit of experience following Friday's embarrassing 37-15 loss to Miami of Fla.

"I learned that I don't want to lose," Faust said. "It's no fun."

"I'm personally embarrassed," said senior cornerback John Krimm. "I feel sorry for the seniors especially, and for myself. There's no way we can make it up. The juniors will come back next year and they can remember this and learn from it. The seniors can only move on."

Sophomore quarterback Blair Kiel, who suffered two of Notre Dame's three interceptions, is one of the underclassmen returning next year.

"We were embarrassed on national television and that's going to give us added incentive," Kiel said. "One thing we learned this week is that Notre Dame has a great tradition, but games are won and lost on the football field."

Mike Rodrigue scored once as a quarterback and once as a wide receiver and Jim Kelly threw two touchdown passes to lead Miami to its first victory over the Irish in 21 years.

Notre Dame and first-year coach Faust finished the season at 5-6, the worst Notre Dame record since Hugh Devore's Irish went 2-7 in 1963. Miami wound up at 9-2, the Hurricanes' best record since they went 8-1-1 in 1964, but won't go to a bowl because of NCAA sanctions for recruiting violations.

"Beating Notre Dame before a national television audience was more than any coach could hope for," said Hurricane coach Howard Schnellenberger. "This is better than a bowl win. This gets the team over the top and to the position of being a national power."

Rodrigue, a senior who was converted from quarterback to wide receiver this year, and Kelly sent Miami to a commanding 30-6 halftime lead. Rodrigue lined up as a quarterback on the Notre Dame 4-yard line just 3 1/2 minutes into the game and rolled to his right for the opening touchdown. Notre Dame's Greg Bell took the ensuing kickoff 96 yards down the left sideline for a touchdown, but the extra point was blocked by tackle Lester Williams.

Rodrigue made it 14-0 on a 18-yard completion from Kelly. Danny Miller booted field goals of 49 and 53 yards and then receiver Rocky Belk gathered in a Kelly pass behind the Notre Dame secondary on the 15-yard line and raced in for a 63-yard touchdown. Miller added a 24-yard field goal to give the Hurricanes their 24-point halftime lead.

Today, Pittsburgh tries to nail down the No. 1 spot for the regular season, Florida and Florida State contest for the final bowl spot and Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant goes after the all-time record for victories on the next-to-last weekend of the college football campaign.

After Saturday's games, there will be only three major college games left on the regular-season schedule, all of which will be contested on Dec. 5.

Top-ranked Pitt, which will meet third-ranked Georgia in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Night, hopes to take a perfect 11-0 record into that game. But, standing in the way is arch rival Penn State, which traditionally gives the Panthers a very difficult time.

There's plenty at stake in the Florida-Florida State game, too. The winner will go to the Peach Bowl on Dec. 31 at Atlanta, Ga., to meet West Virginia. Both teams are 6-4, although Florida State has played the tougher schedule.

Florida State has victories over Ohio State and Notre Dame this season while losing to such powers as Pittsburgh, Nebraska, Miami (Fla.) and Southern Mississippi.

An historic game could be contested at Birmingham, Ala., where fourth-ranked Alabama, 8-1-1, meets arch rival Auburn, 5-3. Bryant will be shooting for his 315th career victory which would give him the all-time record.

"I'm really frightened about it," Bryant says jokingly. "Pat Dye (Auburn coach) and his staff have done a very fine job at coaching this year and Auburn has matured into a very physical, very good football team."

In other traditional games Saturday, Boston College visits Holy Cross, Oklahoma State plays host to Oklahoma, Rice entertains Houston, Tennessee plays host to Vanderbilt, LSU visits Tulane and Arizona State entertains Arizona.

Bryant Tucks Away 315, Walker Returns To Stage

By United Press International
Now that Bear Bryant has his 315th victory safely tucked away, Herschel Walker can return to center stage.

Georgia's super soph has been virtually ignored the past few weeks, what with Bryant's bid to move to the top of the all-time college coaching list and with the 3rd-ranked Bulldogs having back-to-back open dates because next Saturday's finale at Georgia Tech was delayed to accommodate national television.

Georgia's only complaint about delaying that game was that it prevented Walker from making one more pitch for Heisman Trophy votes since the deadline was this Tuesday.

Walker, third in last year's Heisman balloting behind seniors George Rogers of South Carolina and Hugh Green of Pitt, figures to wind up second this year, behind Southern Cal senior Marcus Allen, first collegian to rush for more than 2,000 yards.

But that won't keep Walker, a virtual shoo-in for All-America again, from setting the Southeastern Conference season rushing record Saturday. The 222-pound speedster has 1,666 yards and needs only 21 against Georgia Tech (he gained 206 in last year's Tech game) to break the record Charles Alexander of LSU set in 1977.

There's another SEC record within Walker's grasp. If he scores three touchdowns like he did last year against Georgia Tech that would give him 19 for the season — one more than the current SEC record set by Tommy Durrance of Florida in 1969.

Georgia (8-1) is expected to move up to No. 2 behind Clemson (which beat the Bulldogs 13-9 early in the season) in the final regular-season rankings and, if Nebraska beats Clemson in the Orange Bowl, could repeat as national champions by beating Pitt in the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans Jan. 1.

"What happens in New Orleans doesn't amount to a hill of beans unless we beat Georgia Tech in Atlanta," said Georgia Coach Vince Dooley. "We've got to beat Georgia Tech or we'll be in the same shape Pitt's in (after losing 48-14 to Penn State), out in the cold."

Bryant feels Alabama (9-1-1), probably No. 3 in this week's rankings, also has a shot at the national championship — if Clemson and Georgia both lose their bowl games and the Crimson Tide beats Texas in the Cotton Bowl.

That was as much on Alabama's mind Saturday as its come-from-behind, 28-17, victory over Auburn which moved Bryant ahead of Amos Alonzo Stagg into first place alone on the all-time coaching list.

"I'm glad that record is out of the way so we can concentrate on the Cotton Bowl and a possible national championship," said sophomore wide receiver Jesse Bendross, who caught two touchdowns passes Saturday. "It got to the point at one time where we were very nervous, but Coach Bryant tells us to keep the faith and not give up."

There will be five SEC teams in the bowls. Latest to join that group was Florida (7-4), which earned a Peach Bowl berth opposite West Virginia when sophomore Wayne Peace threw four touchdown passes to lead the Gators to a 35-3 victory over Florida State.

The other SEC bowl teams are Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi State (7-4), which will play Kansas in the Hall of Fame Bowl, and Tennessee (7-4) which will play Wisconsin in the Garden State Bowl.

Tennessee overcame a 464-yard passing performance by Vanderbilt's Whit Taylor Saturday to outgun the Commodores, 38-34. In the only other SEC-related action, Mike McKay passed for four touchdowns and ran for another as independent Tulane routed Louisiana State, 48-7.

Southern Mississippi's Reggie Collier ran for 184 yards and passed for 104 while leading the 18th-ranked Golden Eagles in a 45-14 romp over Lamar. That enabled Collier to become the first player to top the 1,000-yard mark in both rushing and passing the same season.

Panthers Fall Into The 'Pitts'

By United Press International
It will be quite some time before the city of Pittsburgh, once called the city of champions, can recover from the embarrassing manner in which the hometown Panthers were knocked off the top of the ratings Saturday.

In the worst defeat in recent memory for a top-ranked team to suffer, Pitt was crushed 48-14 by rival Penn State, ripping to shreds the Panthers' hopes for a national title and leaving a wide-open race for the crown going into the bowl.

The Panthers, 10-1, rushed out to a 14-0 lead on their first two possessions, led by the strong and accurate arm of quarterback Dan Marino, and seemed on the way to their 10th consecutive win. But the crafty Nittany Lions' defense adapted and forced four turnovers in the first half to manage a 14-14 deadlock.

In the third quarter, it was Penn State quarterback Todd Blackledge's turn to excel, as he connected on touchdown passes of 42 and 45 yards to Kenny Jackson to start the rout. Blackledge passed for a total of 283 yards and ran for another score.

"Blackledge has the makings of a good quarterback," said PSU Coach Joe Paterno. "When he got time, he showed he can throw the football. Jackson has been overshadowed by some of our people this year. Once we handled their blitzes, we were successful throwing the football."

Linebacker Chet Parlevacchio, who directed the outstanding Lions defensive effort, said that Penn State, 9-4, should be one of those considered for the post-season top ranking.

"If there's anything we can point to, it's the schedule we play," the senior tri-captain said. "We've played some good people and have given them a good going-over. If we beat USC in the Fiesta Bowl, I feel we have as much right to No. 1 as anybody."

Another team staking a claim to the top spot is Alabama, whose coach, Bear Bryant, finally became college football's all-time career victory leader Saturday with a 28-17 triumph over Auburn. Bryant's 31st win surpassed Amos Alonzo Stagg's lifetime total.

"I'm just glad it's over," Bryant said. "We've still got a chance (at the national title)."

Other teams with good chances include second-ranked Clemson, which finished its regular season a week ago with an 11-0 record, third-ranked Georgia, fifth-ranked Nebraska and sixth-ranked Texas. Clemson meets Nebraska in the Orange Bowl, Georgia takes on Pitt in the Sugar Bowl and Alabama meets Texas in the Cotton Bowl.

Alabama's victory over Auburn was not easily achieved. The Crimson Tide, 9-1-1, trailed 17-14 with 12:46 remaining in the game but then erupted for two touchdowns in a three-minute span.

"I thought the Lord wasn't going to let us win that one for a while," Bryant said. "I'm tickled to death we won. It was one of the greatest games I ever played in."

Sophomore quarterback Wayne Peace turned in a strong effort in helping Florida fill the last remaining bowl berth. Peace passed for four TDs to spark the Gators to a 35-3 rout of Florida State and a spot in the Peach Bowl against West Virginia.

In other games involving top-20 teams, No. 15 Southern Mississippi crushed Lamar 45-14, No. 19 Houston routed Rice 40-3, and No. 20 San Jose State defeated North Texas State 28-16.

Quarterback Reggie Collier rushed for 184 yards and two touchdowns — breaking the 1,000-yard mark in both rushing and passing for the year — to lead Southern Miss to victory. Tailback Sammy Winder and Ricky Floyd also rushed for more than 100 yards each as the Golden Eagles, who meet Missouri Dec. 19 in the Tangerine Bowl, finished the regular season at 9-1-1.

Lionel Wilson threw for two touchdowns and Allen Polk ran for two more in leading Houston to victory. The Sun Bowl-bound Cougars were in control all the way and picked off five Owls passes.

Gerald Wilhite became only the second player in NCAA history to catch 36 passes and run for more than 1,000 yards in successive seasons in helping San Jose State to victory. Stanford's Darrin Nelson was the first player in the 50-1,000 club.

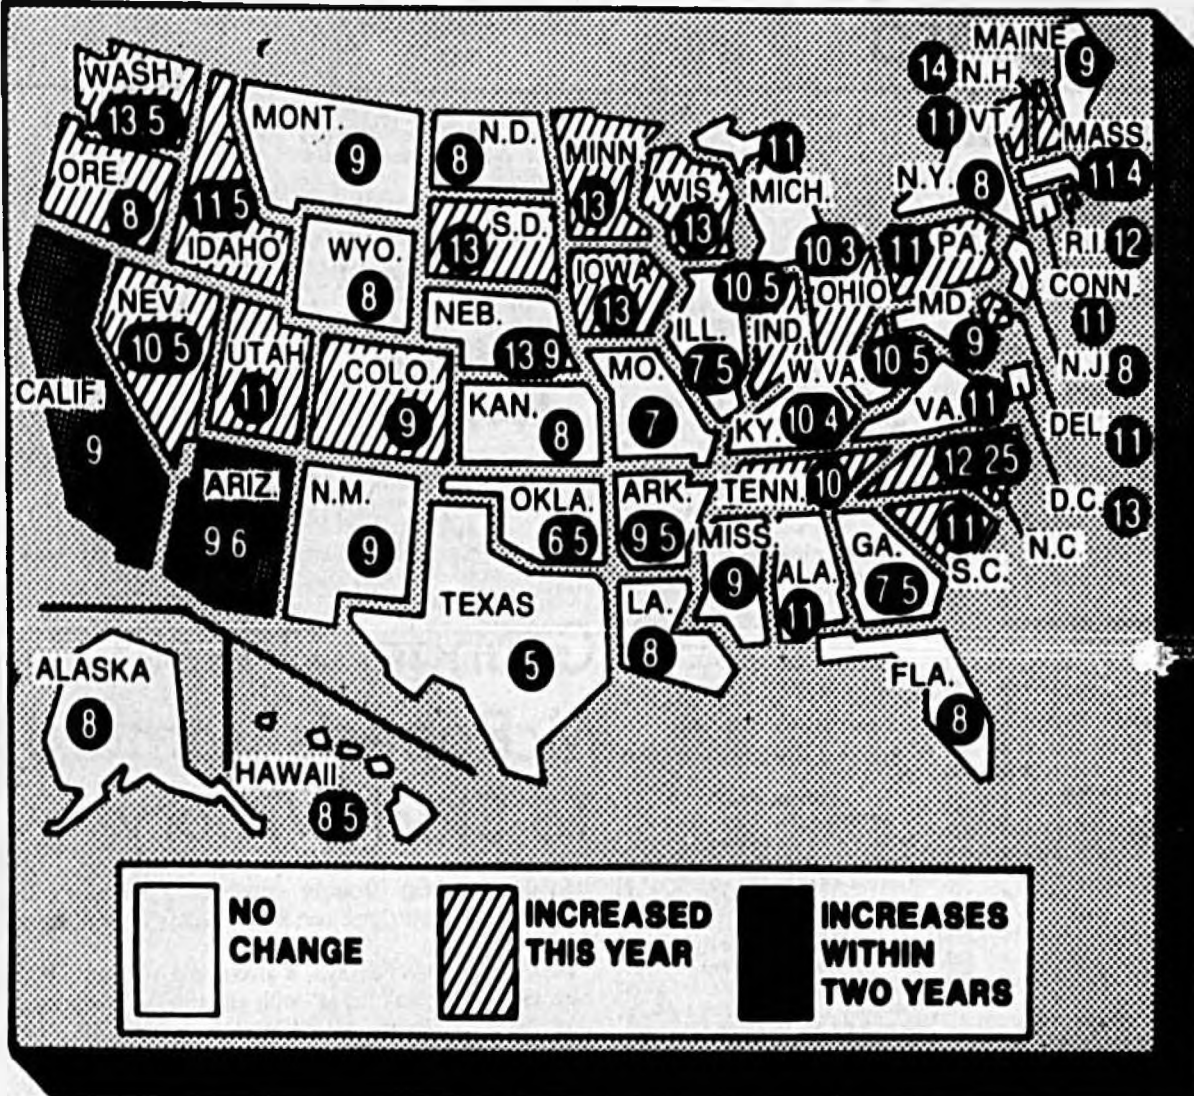

In other traditional rivalries, Oklahoma beat Oklahoma State 27-3, Boston College edged Holy Cross 26-24, Virginia Tech whipped Virginia 30-3, and Tennessee nipped Vanderbilt 38-34.

TAX HIKES AT THE PUMP

Source: Highway Users Federation

NBA/Mark Gabryna

Many states are raising their gasoline taxes to finance badly needed road repairs. A recent survey by the Road Information Program found that 53 percent of the nation's nearly 2 million miles of paved streets and highways are in need of major repairs or replacement. State gasoline taxes currently range from 5 cents a gallon in Texas to 14 cents a gallon in New Hampshire; the federal gasoline tax has remained at 4 cents a gallon for 22 years.

Casinos Give Graham A Ready-Made Issue

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—The push to legalize casino gambling and a state lottery gives Gov. Bob Graham a ready-made issue for his reelection campaign. Although the election is a year off, Graham has already taken over as president of "No Casinos Inc." the organization leading the battle against a constitutional amendment to open the door for roulette, craps and other gambling games. He also has hired Tampa political consultant Garry Smith, his former chief executive assistant, to run his reelection campaign and plans are getting cranked up to raise as much as $5 million. If the casino amendment attracts enough support to get on the ballot, it would be voted at the same November, 1982, general election that decides who will be governor for the following four years. Graham is starting early in an effort to discourage any opponents that might get the idea he would be easy to knock off, friends say. So far, no Democrat has announced he will run against the governor whom early polls show would be difficult to dislodge. A group of conservative businessmen opposed to Graham is trying to persuade Senate President Dempsey Barron, a powerful Panama City Democrat, to make the plunge—either as a Democrat or Republican—and has promised financial backing. But, Barron, while saying he thinks he could beat the governor, says he probably won't take him on. A couple of Republicans, unknown outside the ranks of the state Legislature, are considering the race. GOP leaders so far have been unsuccessful in convincing a single "name" candidate to tackle Graham. It's conceivable they will eventually band together and try to talk Barron into switching parties and running with the promise of a huge campaign fund and personal support from President Reagan. Graham is taking nothing for granted and is running as though he expects formidable opposition. He has already tossed a barbecue in Tallahassee for his 1978 supporters and been honored at a $1,000 per couple brunch in Tampa. The anti-gambling crusade will give him additional exposure, putting him on the side polls show is shared by a majority of Floridians.

Handicap Proves No Drawback For Courageous TV Reporter

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI)—Susan Aude says she will never walk again. But, that has not kept her from covering schools and meetings on her business beat or other assignments as an on-camera reporter for a Columbia television station. Ms. Aude, 29, paralyzed from the hips down after a 1974 auto accident, also anchors the midday news at WIS-TV, the leading station in the state capital. When the camera turns to her, she projects poise and self-assurance. A viewer would never know she underwent several traumatic months recovering from the accident, and must endure daily inconveniences as she maneuvers around in her wheelchair. Ms. Aude said the support she has received from family, friends and co-workers, as well as her own self-determination, gave her the independence and confidence needed to take on a competitive career as a broadcaster. "I still have to pinch myself sometimes when I realize, gosh, when I started and now what I'm doing. It still kind of surprises and pleases me," she said. She was hired at the station in May, 1978, the same week she graduated from the University of South Carolina with a master's degree in mass communications. Her first assignments included the weekend weather and general reporting assignments during the week. While at WIS, she has covered arts and sciences, the state prison system and stints at the Capitol. Being handicapped may have given her the opportunity, but she believes she has proven herself. "I don't mind some doors being opened for me, but I don't think those doors would stay open unless I could do the job," she said. Before her most recent promotion she was the weekend anchorwoman. "I think that being promoted shows that they think I can do it and they're pleased with what I'm doing," she said. Despite the daily inconvenience of being in a wheelchair, Ms. Aude said she is getting along well. She said she had a tough time adjusting initially to the fact she would be confined to it the rest of her life. "Every year seems to get better to me," she said. "I think every year is a little bit nicer. Maybe because you're growing up more and you're more aware of yourself—more secure in who you are and stuff like that," she said. Ms. Aude gets around town in a specially equipped van which has a power lift to accommodate her wheelchair. Finding a parking place when she is on assignment is one of her constant battles.

"The hardest story I've covered in a wheelchair was when I was doing a story on a water system in the city," she said. "I had to go over a rickety bridge." She said one of the most difficult things is dealing with people who think too much of her handicap. "It almost surprises me sometimes that people make such a big deal out of being a paraplegic," she said. It hurts when people patronize her. "That attitude is what handicaps me," said Ms. Aude who lives alone in a ranch-style home she bought in a fashionable section of Columbia. She was chosen Miss Erskine College 1978 when she returned to complete her last year of college and laughs now about the trite comments some well-meaning people make about her condition. "Such a pretty girl... such a tragedy," she quotes them as saying. "I'm not a tragedy. So would it have been better if I hadn't been pretty?" The car wreck came at the end of her junior year as she and two girlfriends were driving home on their spring break. One friend was killed and the other was seriously injured when their car collided with a truck. She said she plans to continue in broadcasting "as long as it's satisfying."

Hosts Deserve Dinner Guests' Consideration

DEAR ABBY: The last few years my wife and I have had Thanksgiving dinner with her relatives. The meal has always been scheduled for around 5 p.m. About five minutes to 5, in come some dinner guests, loudly announcing that they won't be eating much because they already had Thanksgiving dinner somewhere else, but they'll just "sit and pick" and maybe have dessert and coffee with us. Some guests have already been to two Thanksgiving dinners; others have to be somewhere else at 7 p.m. I find this insulting to the host and hostess who have worked so hard to prepare a fine holiday meal. How do you feel about it? Please print this.

I would also enjoy reading responses from both hosts and guests on this subject. G.F.H. IN MONROVILLE, PA.

Dear Abby

following is from a letter I recently received from an out-of-state relative: "Let's make a deal. Next year instead of sending each other Christmas presents, send me a check, and I will do the same for you. It will save us both a lot of trouble." Abby, I never considered shopping for Christmas presents "a lot of trouble." Besides, what's the sense of my sending her a check for $50 and her sending me the same? How do you feel about it? I should add that this relative needs more money like I need another belly button.

BETSY

DEAR G.F.H.: I think people who are lucky enough to be invited to Thanksgiving dinner should consider it a commitment and not try to "sit on two chairs with one posterior" — to recall an old ethnic expression that loses something in the translation.

DEAR ABBY: For the past six months I have been dating a widower. His wife was killed suddenly in an accident three years ago.

My question: Is it normal that he hasn't touched any of her belongings yet? Her clothes are still in her closets, and cosmetics, perfume, jewelry, etc., remain exactly where they were when she left the house for the last time.

When I am at his home, the presence of her things makes me feel as though she is still there and I should not be.

He is romantically interested in me and it is mutual. What do you think? CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Your friend has obviously not yet worked through his grief, or completely accepted his wife's death. His reluctance to put her belongings away is his way of holding onto her.

Expert Says Gas Prices Should Drop

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Oil expert Dan Lundberg says motorists should notice a drop in pump prices because of last week's decline in wholesale gasoline prices by some major oil companies in western states.

Lundberg said during the weekend that the lower wholesale price declines followed only by a few days an indication that prices in a hotly competitive marketplace were climbing.

The price drops indicated a change in policy for some of the majors which earlier had been relying on rebates to dealers who sold more than previous month's volumes, rather than lower prices, to boost competition.

At the same time, Michael T. Scanlon Jr., vice president for major fuel policy for the National Oil Jobbers Council, an organization of independent refiners, called on the Reagan Administration to support standby price and allocation controls during any future oil shortages.

President Reagan was expected to veto the legislation because it would be counter to his free-market philosophy, he said.

As guest author of the weekly Lundberg Letter, Scanlon said Congress would soon send to the President legislation to authorize use of price and allocation controls.

"Independent and small refiners would enter an international petroleum emergency with several built-in disadvantages," said Scanlon, adding that the rural and agricultural areas of the country would suffer most if the majors concentrated supply and sales, as they are expected to do, around urban areas.

The jobbers supply more than 50 percent of gasoline and 85 percent of home heating oil across the country, Scanlon said.

Hangover Guide Out In Time For Holidays

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There's a new book out that might well be called: "Everything you always wanted to know about the morning after, except what went on the night before."

It's supposed to be an up-to-the-minute handbook on hangovers, and it's out just in time for holiday partying. It's called "The Hangover Handbook," published by Harmony Books, and is subtitled: "The definitive guide to the causes and cures of man's oldest affliction."

One are the days when the hangover was lumped in with the common cold as a malady beyond the reach of science.

Research, reports author David Outerbridge, "has not only discovered basic ways of avoiding a hangover," it also has developed treatments "that produce rapid recovery should the hangover be accidentally contracted."

Even some ancient remedies have been found to have a certain degree of scientific validity. "Crushed swallows' beaks," a favorite Assyrian nostrum, help overcome calcium deficiencies brought on by alcohol, Outerbridge writes.

The book divides a hangover into four basic contributory components: toxicity, "maladapted neurons," loss of vitamins and minerals, and lack of proper sleep.

"The cure for the first is to eliminate the toxins either by trapping or by metabolizing," says Outerbridge.

Sounds simple, but mastering the specifics of hangover treatment and prevention may require a goodly amount of study and perseverance.

For example, trapping those terrible toxins — "A fatty or oily food will line the stomach and duodenum walls to inhibit a too-rapid rate of (alcohol) absorption; proteins will add the body processes; and starches will absorb alcohol in the stomach and moderate their delivery to the bloodstream and body tissues."

Metabolizing toxins is "less efficient" than trapping, but can be done. Outerbridge recommends burning up the poisons through exercise, such as "rolling naked in the snow."

For those twisted neurons, made hypersensitive by alcohol, Outerbridge suggests the "hair of the dog." He explains, "A small quantity of alcohol will allow the cells to ease their way back to normal without abrupt, disquieting shock."

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Tuesday, December 1, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY

December 1, 1981
You're the type who enjoys travel to begin with, and this coming year you will have many opportunities to satisfy your wanderlust.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your skills as a salesperson are especially keen today. If there is something or someone you need to sell, now is the time to make that pitch.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Those personal gains today may be due to someone behind the scenes who hears about your needs and feels you deserve a break.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Be a good listener today. Little gems of information will be passed on to you that can be highly valuable if you're keen enough to pick up on them.

PISCES

(Feb. 20-March 20) Making yourself unobtrusive actually puts you in the limelight today and gives you the clout everyone else is seeking.

ARIES

(March 21-April 19) You enjoy being around friends today who can offer you stimulating conversation, so much so that you'll find a polite way to excuse yourself from the bores.

TAURUS

(April 20-May 20) Once others discover what your goals are today, they'll do all they can to help you achieve them. Speak up. Let your desires be known.

GEMINI

(May 21-June 20) Discussing confusing topics is especially helpful to you today in sorting out your thoughts. You'll find some exceptional counselors to be at your disposal.

CANCER

(June 21-July 22) You're very good at helping others overcome financial dilemmas today. Consequently, you may be asked to assist someone you're fond of to get back in the black.

LEO

(July 23-Aug. 22) Social situations hold the most appeal for you today, especially if you can be with just a few choice friends and have a good, old-fashioned gab session.

VIRGO

(Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll find you will be much more efficient at work today if you take time to enjoy what you're doing. Hustling and bustling will only slow you down.

LIBRA

(Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If at all possible, try to break away early from your normal routine today and go have some healthy fun with pals. It'll do you a world of good.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24-Nov. 22) This is a good day to go bargain hunting, especially for the family. You may even find a big-ticket item at a small, affordable price.

Do-It-Yourselfing Can Be Dangerous

DEAR DR. LAMB — Can it be harmful to have a potassium level in the low normal range over a period of time? I ate lots of fruit and sunflower seeds, was careful with salt and the readings stayed low.

I took potassium for two years but am not taking it now as I take two Dyazide capsules daily, also three Inderal and for arthritis I take three Indocin. Could my system be lacking in something causing me to have a low reading no matter what I do to raise it? The reading is 3.4. My doctor says it is borderline but OK.

DEAR READER — Your level is at the low end of the spectrum, but the level in your blood is not always an accurate indicator of the level inside your body cells. The latter is the most important.

Since you are taking Dyazide which is a diuretic you need to be careful about any do-it-yourself project you may be tempted to try. Unlike many other diuretics, Dyazide does not wash out potassium along with sodium.

If a person on Dyazide starts taking potassium on his own he may build up his potassium to a dangerous level.

Your doctor will rely on your blood tests to determine if you need to do anything else or not. As long as your potassium level stays on the low side you can certainly help by including regular amounts of fruit and fruit juices that contain potassium in your diet.

often removes the natural amount of potassium while adding sodium to our food.

A low potassium level may contribute to irregularities of the heart and muscle cramps. Some investigators believe that potassium helps to protect against high blood pressure while sodium tends to make it worse.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What tests are made to find out if a male is infertile? Our son went in for this test and the doctor made incisions in both testicles. To us that is a vasectomy. Are incisions made for this test? The doctor said he found no sperm. What can he do to be fertile? They want a baby very much.

DEAR READER — The first test is simply an examination of the semen, produced by an organ. By looking at a specimen under the microscope the number and nature of sperm cells can be determined.

If a man has enough healthy sperm cells it is clear that he is able to induce a pregnancy. He is fertile and no additional tests of him are required.

If there are not sufficient healthy sperm cells in the specimen then a testicular biopsy is one test that can be done. A tiny segment of testicular tissue is taken and examined. The character of the cells can provide useful information on how well the testicles are functioning and enables a diagnosis of many disorders. In some cases nothing can be done to induce fertility. In others, surgical removal of varicose veins of the testicles (varicocele) helps. Others benefit from the same fertility pill women use to increase ovulation.

to study the whole hand before playing the first card from dummy.

Alan: "Here is a case in point. South is in a rather normal notrump contract and West makes the very normal opening lead of the eight of hearts. I watched a pretty good player reach over to dummy and play the three."

Oswald: "After that bit of carelessness South had no way to get nine tricks. He won that first trick with his 10. Looks cheap, but it was really an expensive way to have to win it. Then he led a spade to dummy. West took his ace, played the ace of hearts to drop dummy's king and led the jack of hearts to set up two heart tricks in his hand while he still held the ace of diamonds."

Alan: "Look what would happen if South stopped to think. He had heard West open the bidding. West needed all missing aces. South could play dummy's king of hearts right then. This would leave South with two more heart stoppers and a comfortable game and rubber."

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Oswald: "After over 60 years of bridge it still amazes me to see that practically all declarers forget
