DISCORD AGAIN CROPS UP OVER RASKOB ACTION

Letter Folling Views Of Committeemen-bury On Dry Issue Is Cause Of Strife

WASHINGTON, Apr. 7.—(AP)—Discord within the Democratic party on prohibition broke out again yesterday over the letter from Chairman Raskob to the members of the national committee on their views toward his plan to modify the Eighteenth Amendment.

A number of southern party leaders immediately renewed their demands for subordinating prohibition to economic issues in the 1932 campaign and went forward with their plans to block adoption of the Raskob platform.

They said they regarded the chairman's letter, made public Sunday, as an attempt to commit the national organization before its meeting next winter.

"Economic problems must have first place in any Democratic program," said Senator Hull of Tennessee, a former chairman of the national committee, and a leader of the group opposing Raskob's economic and prohibition views.

Hull characterized Raskob's letter as "a strenuous attempt to make prohibition not only a part of the national platform."

Walker Says He Will Lead Fight To Clear Regime

NEW YORK, Apr. 7.—(AP)—Mayor James J. Walker sat in a bowler of lilies yesterday, banished a bronze fist on the table and exclaimed: "I shall answer the charges against me only with the help of my own office and the heads of departments concerned. The answer I shall make will be mine and nobody else's."

The power was his office in city hall, which admiring friends had turned into something resembling a greenhouse. The explanation was an answer to a reporter who wanted to know whether the mayor would seek the aid of Tammany Hall's "legal board of strategy" in defending himself against charges of incompetency and inaction filed with Governor Roosevelt by the city affairs committee.

PARTY HINTS

Here's a hilarious way to start your party! Write the names of all the guests on small white cards and distribute the cards bearing the girls' names to the boys and those with the boys' names to the girls. Tell the guests that on the reverse side of the cards, it is to be written a four-line nonsense rhyme about the person whose name appears on the other side.

Allow ten minutes, then collect the cards and redistribute them to the persons whose names are written on them. One by one, each person must stand up and read the rhyme about himself. After the verses have been read, give each one a chance to guess who wrote his verse. If he guesses correctly the one who wrote it must autograph the card.

The author of the best rhyme might receive a small rhyming dictionary or a small paper-bound book of verse as a prize for his efforts.

If your guests are in a rhyming mood after this, you might play a game of "Consequences" in which the last word of each line is written in plain view, so the next player can rhyme his last word and complete a couplet.

TOMORROW! A game with phonograph records.

"I want my Telephone Put Back in please"

Almost daily people who discontinued their telephones during the stress of the past two months are ordering their service restored. They found that the small cost of the service was repaid many times each month in convenience, in time and actually in money saved.

Others found that the loss of their telephones would soon mean the loss of friends, because of the lack of close and personal contact made possible only by telephone service. Still others mention that the sacrifice of their telephones meant the loss of many pleasant, impromptu social gatherings when their friends were unable to reach them by telephone.

It is all true, what these subscribers tell us of ours say. Telephone service costs so little and the advantages of the service are so many that it really doesn't pay to try to do without it.
