

DAVIS SPEAKS TO PEOPLE OF HIS OWN STATE

Davis Says if Elected Would Give People Government Honest From Top to Bottom

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 26.—Amid the familiar surroundings of his early political life, John W. Davis, Democratic standard bearer, Thursday told the people of his native state that it would be his ambition if elected president to give the American people a government "honest from top to bottom" in which laboring man, farmer and consumer all feel they were being treated on an equal basis.

There will be "no Falls, no Naughtys, no Gaston B. Means, no Forbes, no Jess Smiths or Mannings in the Democratic administration," the nominee proclaimed as he faced an assembly on a vacant lot where once had stood the state capitol building in which he had served as a member of the legislature.

Western Outlook Good.

The political outlook in the western states, Mr. Davis declared, he found "very promising" on his recent tour, and added that he had every expectation of triumph in the November election. Going into the agricultural situation in that section Mr. Davis said he had learned while traveling about the middle west about 50 per cent of the farmers in 15 agricultural states either have lost their farms by foreclosure, have surrendered them to creditors or are staying on simply because of the lack of money to whom they owe money.

In addition to the two principal addresses at Charleston in the afternoon and another in Huntington last night, Mr. Davis spoke from the platform of his car at eight stops in agricultural or coal centers, expressing his pleasure at coming "back after long wanderings to renew the acquaintance with the home people," and his faith in party success.

In his Charleston address, Mr. Davis paid his respects to Republican campaign management.

"The strategy is quite unique," he said. "It consists in the first place of silence. We are confronted with the first time in American politics with the theory that the way to win a battle before the people is to keep quiet about it."

Tchetcherin Would Stand In With U. S.

MOSCOW, Sept. 26.—All facts indicate a compromise between the interests of United States and the Russian Soviet government is to be decided, and that it is quite within the reach, Foreign Minister Tchetcherin of Russia declared in a belated reply to the pronouncement of the American policy toward Russia made by Secretary of State Hughes.

MRS. SWEETIN'S CONDITION SAID TO BE CRITICAL

Lapses Into Semi-Consciousness After Refusing to Eat Anything and Being Unable to Sleep for 3 Days

SALEM, Ill., Sept. 26.—Continued refusal to partake of food, coupled with the strenuous events of the last three days and the loss of sleep, Thursday night had cost Mrs. Elsie Sweetin, held here on a charge of having poisoned her husband, Wilford Sweetin, into a state of semi-consciousness. Indications that the woman's mind has become impaired since confession that she poisoned her husband at the instigation of the Rev. Lawrence M. Hight, who in turn poisoned his wife so that they could be married, have become noticeable officials said.

In addition to repentance felt for her act, Mrs. Sweetin has readily admitted, the worry over the future of her three children has been her chief concern.

A glass of milk served last night constituted the only nourishment she has had since she arrived here.

To Surrender Credentials.

NASHVILLE, Ill., Sept. 26.—Rev. Lawrence M. Hight, of Ina, held here on a charge of having poisoned his wife so that he could marry Mrs. Elsie Sweetin, the death of whose husband he confessed having instigated, Thursday night agreed to surrender his credentials as a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Promise to give up the document was made to a committee of ministers, representing Southern Illinois conference of the church in session at Carbondale.

During his confinement in the Mount Vernon jail, the minister had declined to give up his credentials when requested to do so by the Mount Carmel district of the conference.

The ministers, Rev. J. S. Cummins, representing the prosecution in the church investigation, and Rev. T. B. Sower, appointed as counsel for the prisoner arrived here Thursday evening. Rev. Hight spoke freely of his dilemma and repeatedly expressed regret to the visitors that he had committed the deed. He then signed a statement, containing the details of his confession.

Novel System For Sale Real Estate Is Used By Meister

"A most unique and feasible plan for the sale of Florida real estate has been worked out by Herman G. Meister, President of the Florida Realty Company with headquarters in Jacksonville, Florida, who was in town recently spreading the gospel of his company," declared Secretary R. W. Pearson, Jr., of the Chamber of Commerce today.

"He organized the All-Florida Realty Company to handle the sale of all kinds of real estate throughout Florida, and the co-operation of realtors belonging to the National Realtors Association is one of the important factors in the success of his company."

Realtors located all over the United States and Canada (about 25,000 in number) advertise Florida in their local papers. It is said. Any inquiry they receive is forwarded to the Jacksonville office to be followed up. If the local realtor cannot sell the prospect from the information sent him, he may do so; but if the prospect first wishes to inspect the property in question, the All-Florida Realty Company is notified of his departure and if he desires, they meet him at the train at Jacksonville to accompany him to view the property in question.

COOLIDGE SAYS HE IS AGAINST RADICALISM

Delivers Address Commemorating First Continental Congress at Philadelphia; Lessons Come from Fathers

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—President Coolidge, in an address here Thursday night commemorating the meeting of the first continental congress in Carpenter's Hall, 160 years ago drew lessons from the acts of his forefathers and declared that "if we wish to maintain what they established, we shall do well to leave the people in the ownership of their property in control of their government, and under the protection of their courts."

"By a resolute determination to resist all these encroachments," the president said, "we can best show our reverence and appreciation for the men and the work of the first continental congress."

Draws Crowd's Applause.

The president's denunciation of government ownership of railroads and other public utilities drew applause from the crowd that filled the Academy of Music where he spoke for 35 minutes.

Mr. Coolidge spent two and a half hours in Philadelphia, leaving for Washington immediately after the conclusion of the exercises. The president, who was accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge, received a cordial greeting from the crowds that lined the streets from the station to the academy. He was escorted by a reception committee which included Mayor W. Freeland Kendrick.

During his visit no reference was made to the controversy between the mayor and General Butler, the director of public safety, who, it is reported, will be asked by the mayor to resign as head of the police department.

Representatives of the thirteen original states joined with the citizens of Philadelphia Thursday in celebrating the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the meeting of the first continental congress and the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of the Carpenter's company, in whose historic hall the congress met. Thursday night President Coolidge was the central figure in the commemoration of the events of 150 years ago, making the principal address at patriotic exercises held in the Academy of Music.

Two Great Events.

During the day, Carpenter's Hall, was the center of ceremonies in honor of the two memorable events in American history. Resplendent in dress uniforms of bygone days, historic military commands of some of the original thirteen colonies marched past the structure in a parade down Chestnut street.

Nestled in between skyscrapers at the head of its own narrow alley, the dainty bit of revolutionary architecture later was the scene of a re-enactment of the session in which Patrick Henry called upon the delegates to lay aside the distinctions of their several colonies and become known as "Americans."

President Coolidge, represented by United States Senator John Wharton Pepper, formally was made an honorary member of the quaint organization. George Kessler, president of the Carpenter's Company in presenting the certificate of membership, emphasized that it was the first time an outstanding leader had been admitted to the roster of the company.

WORKERS BUSY TRYING TO GET LEAD IN RACE

Contestants Anxiously Wait For Announcement Line-up Closing 2nd Period Contest

The Herald's big salesmanship campaign will have another scoreboard tomorrow and The Herald, contestants and their friends are all very anxious to see the outcome. Some have it that there will be a new leader while others are not so sure. All the contestants are doing such fine work that it is impossible for anyone to say just what the standing will be.

As the second period nears its close, interest increases and all workers are doing their best to make this one the best of the campaign. Friends of the different workers are making the rounds with as much enthusiasm, it seems, as the contestants themselves.

The campaign manager made a call upon several of the contestants yesterday and reports that all workers are, together with their friends more enthused than at any other time since the campaign started.

Quite a number of the contestants have made reports at The Herald office this week, but there are still some who have secured a large number of subscriptions who have made no report at all. It is being rumored and has reached the ears of the manager that reports for Saturday will exceed by far those of Saturday, two weeks ago. There is no fault to be found with any of the contestants and The Herald believes that there are no better workers to be found than those whose names will appear in the list tomorrow.

WITNESS DIES TESTIFYING IN BIGHAM TRIAL

First Day in Second Trial of Farmer Charged With Killing Five Sees Sudden Death Chief Witness for State

CONWEY, S. C., Sept. 26.—The first day in the second trial of Edmund D. Bigham, Florence county farmer who is charged with the murder of five members of his own family, was brought to a sudden close today when a state witness was fatally stricken while testifying.

Stricken While Testifying.

George J. Steele, 72 years old, president of the Bank of Pamlico, was describing scenes at the Bigham home on the afternoon of January 22, when the five members of the family were killed, when his head fell over to one side, his eyes closed and his mouth showed a strained appearance. He was assisted from the witness chair already unconscious and taken into the judge's cloak room from where it was reported a few minutes later that he was dead.

At the suggestion of Phillip A. Rowensmith, assisting solicitor, J. M. Gasque in the prosecution, Judge Hayne F. Rice adjourned court until tomorrow morning. Mr. A. Rowensmith was examining the witness when the latter was stricken.

Was Second Witness.

Mr. Steele was the second witness called by the state, following Dr. W. H. Poston, of Pamlico, on the stand. Dr. Poston had been under examination from 11:30 o'clock Thursday morning until 6 o'clock Thursday afternoon telling of his services at the Bigham home in connection with the tragedy, undergoing a severe questioning from both state and defense attorneys on his view as an expert of the possibility that Smiley Bigham had committed suicide.

Edmund D. Bigham, convicted and sentenced to death once for the murder of his brother, pleaded not guilty when arraigned for the second time on the same charge.

The other members of the family for whose murder he was indicted were his mother, Mrs. M. B. Bigham, his sister, Mrs. Martha Black, and two small adopted children of the latter, John and Leo McCracken.

Apparently in the best of health, Mr. Steele mounted the witness chair with a firm step and answered questions put to him in a clear, vigorous manner. He said Edmund Bigham asked him to assist in searching for the remaining members of the family after Mrs. Bigham and one of the boys had been found dead, but that he declined because he thought it was dangerous.

Relations Were Good.

Asked about the relations between the two brothers, Mr. Steele replied, "except for what Smiley told me they were good so far as I knew." He had not been called upon to explain what Smiley had told him, when he was stricken.

Testimony of Dr. Poston consumed a large part of the day. He described the wounds of which Big ham's mother, sister and the latter's adopted children died.

Questioned by Judge Mendel L. Smith, of Camden, of defense counsel, it was indicated that the defense would endeavor to establish the theory that Smiley Bigham killed the other members of his family and then committed suicide.

Members of state and defense counsel both expressed the opinion that the case would not be finished this week. Drawing of the jury consumed only an hour and a half. It was composed of ten farmers, one merchant and a bookkeeper.

DEMOCRATS ARE STRONG AGAINST K. K. K. NEW YORK

Democrats Denounce Ku Klux Klan By Name in Platform Adopted Syracuse Convention; Modify Volstead Act

SYRACUSE, Sept. 26.—The concluding session of the state Democratic convention today gave promise of developing into a ratification meeting due to the absence of any opposition whatever to the renomination of Governor Alfred E. Smith and his associate electives.

A vigorous denunciation of the Ku Klux Klan and demand for modification of the Volstead act are salient features in the Democratic state platform adopted by the convention today.

The Democratic state convention, in a brief harmonious session Thursday, listened to a keynote speech by Francis E. Cullen, of Oswego, adopted resolutions and adjourned until 11 o'clock Friday when Governor Al Smith will be renominated by acclamation.

Mr. Cullen in his address attacked the Republican administration at Washington and accused President Coolidge with having placed the welfare of his party above that of the nation and highly commended the administration of Governor Smith.

He launched a vigorous attack upon the Ku Klux Klan when he brought the delegates and spectators to their feet with roounding charges. Francis E. Cullen, Democratic presidential nominee, was the signal for a three minute demonstration.

When he said the platform of the state Democratic party was "Alfred E. Smith," the delegates rose as one with a whoop. A military band played "The Sidewalks of New York." The demonstration ended with cheers for "Al Smith, the greatest governor New York ever had."

The governor let it be known that he would appear in person and address the convention.

The resolutions committee was held at work Thursday night whipping the platform into final shape. The document probably will not be ready until early Friday.

Grammar School Will Open Doors Monday Morning

The Sanford grammar and primary schools will open at 9 o'clock Monday morning, Sept. 29, said Supt. Lawton in a statement to The Herald today. Every pupil is urged to attend on the first day of school in order to be properly enrolled and to obtain book lists.

All children between the ages of seven and 16 inclusive, stated Mr. Lawton, are required under the compulsory school law to attend school. Those children, he said, having legal excuse for not attending must file affidavits for such with the county superintendent prior to the opening of school.

Teachers of the grammar school, Mr. Lawton said, are requested to meet the principal, Prof. H. C. Cripe, at his office in the grammar school building at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

BROADWAY TOO INDECENT FOR NAVY BOYS

Admiral Plunkett is Opposed to Popular Theater Hit Named "What Price Glory"

Crusade Is Begun New York Shows

Insists Show Violates Defense Act by Curtailing Enlistments

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Federal action against the Broadway success, "What Price Glory," as a violation of the national defense act was talked of by the United States district attorney's office Thursday night.

Gen. Rolt L. Bullard, commander of second army corps area, and Admiral Charles F. Plunkett, commander of the Brooklyn navy yard, were declared to have demanded that immediate steps be taken against producers of the play.

According to members of the federal attorney's staff, the general and the admiral complained that the drama, with its profanely besprinkled portrayal of life with the marines abroad during the world war "curtails enlistments and in that way violates the national defense act."

This was the latest development in Mayor Hylan's move to institute police censorship of all New York theaters, aimed at eliminating "muddy, obscenity and innuendo" from the local stage. It was indicated that the demands of Admiral Plunkett and General Bullard solved the mystery surrounding the motive for the Hylan move.

"Peterkin" Describes Play.

The day also brought forth the publication of a report signed by a naval intelligence inspector under the nom-de-plume "Peterkin," and purporting to be a rehearsal of objectionable features seen and heard by "Peterkin" who with Colonel of justice operatives, attended the service and the department James Justice of the army intelligence "What Price Glory" unexpurgated.

The "Peterkin" report says in part:

"The play has a cast of 26 people, all of whom are males with the exception of one woman, Chaimaine de Cognac. One scene shows three marines in full uniform. The opening words are: 'This is some hell of a war.' To which they all agree. All through the show profanity was very much in evidence. Chaimaine enters into the first scene where the captain in full uniform makes love to her in the presence of his subordinates and upon his leaving the scene his top sergeant makes love to her."

Captain Gloriously Drunk.

"Peterkin" refers to the Captain becoming "gloriously intoxicated" on leave; of his being arrested for carrying a swagger stick "by some of Pershing's men—Sunday school boys."

That Major General Bullard and Admiral Plunkett had placed the matter in the hands of federal authorities was revealed by J. M. Wolf, assistant United States district attorney, whose chief, Wilfrid Whetover, is taken, said one state convention in Rochester, N. Y. was at the Republic of Wayward to this city.

This matter came to us on a complaint by General Bullard and Admiral Plunkett last week with a demand that we take immediate action," he said. "However, we decided not to be taken over by mob property without making an investigation or to destroy any one's 'license'."

Agents to see the play. They "So we sent department of justice inspectors to see the play, to see if it was brought back except which, if judged by themselves, condemned the play."

If we proceed against "What Price Glory," we will do so under section 125 of the national defense act, which in substance, prohibits any one wearing the uniform of the army, navy or marines but an enlisted man or an officer in the service.

"There is, however, an exception which permits the uniform to be worn upon the stage provided there is nothing done in connection with its use which might tend to discredit upon those branches of the service."

Fifty Per Cent Study
In spite of the fact that a boy just out of the eighth grade of grammar school is quite positive that he has complete mastery of all the knowledge in the world...

Although the many advantages of a college education are so numerous and well-known as to make enumeration of them almost boring and monotonous, yet there are many young folks at this particular time of year who are wondering whether it is all worth while...

Problems of this kind are in almost all cases for the individual to decide. Parents may admonish. They may exhort. But if the individual wants to go to college and has a sufficient amount of the "old fight" he can go...

SONNET
What can I give thee back, O liberal donor,
And princely giver, who has brought the gold
And purple of thine heart, unstained, unfeared...

Too many we fear look upon college as nothing but countless bookshelves of scorchingly dry and incomprehensible literature. Many young men and women are now going to colleges. More and more are going each year...

The percentage is too small. Young students should be more thoroughly impressed with the joys of a college life and fastilled with a desire for an acquaintance with the world's vast store of knowledge.

The Pedestrian Can Practice Safety, Too

Of all the lives lost in automobile accidents it is safe to say that three-fourths of them could have been prevented if there had been less carelessness, either on the part of the automobile driver or on the part of the pedestrian.

But it seems to us that the pedestrian should get a little of the instruction which is being put forth for the purpose of reducing the number of accidents in Sanford.

Why wouldn't it be a good idea to suggest some to govern the absent-minded pedestrian who thinks he has the right of way over all?

- 1. Walk on the sidewalk, not in the street.
2. Cross the street only at corners.
3. Look both ways and then cross rapidly.
4. Don't jay-walk. It's dangerous.
5. Look out for automobiles. They may not see you.
6. Try to help traffic instead of hindering by being obstinate.
7. Don't step out from back of a car in the path of an on-coming automobile.
8. Use common sense. It may save your life.

But our captain counts the image of God, nevertheless, his image cut in ebony as if done in ivory, and in the blackest Moors he sees the representation of the King of heaven.

WHAT ABOUT YOUR VOCABULARY?

Most people have been told so many times that the average individual's vocabulary is ridiculously small, that they have finally come to believe that it must be so for them.

As Brisbane Sees It

Only Five Lines. No Missing Link. Don't Sell Short. Making Bad Medicine.

JUST FIVE lines, filling a little hole in a page crowded with advertising, tells this story: Andreas Friedrinsk, 58 years old, hard, honest worker for sixty years, killed himself because he was worn out and could find no employment.

Men that write the history of our "civilization," ten thousand years from now, will find all they care to know about it in those five lines.

THE HAGUE reports a tribe of "missing links" inhabiting some of the small islands near Sumatra. These "mysterious creatures, half man and half ape," are called by the more highly developed natives "orang pekaks."

THERE are "no missing links," therefore none will be discovered. Various animals, of the gorilla, orang-outang and chimpanzee type, developed slowly through a million years into the leading types of human beings.

GAMBLERS selling cotton short Tuesday, hurry around to hunt for money Wednesday morning. The cotton crop is down 100,000 bales and the price is up $10 a bale.

TO JUDGE a chain, examine its weakest link. To judge the human race study savages. The Canadian Mounted Police have brought down from cold North British Columbia an aged Indian squaw and four others.

THE old squaw betrayed him, young man tied him to a tree and left him hanging, head downward, for several days, dying slowly. Then growing impatient, the old squaw cut his throat.

THE COMMUNITY TRUST FUND

Business and charity have come into sharp conflict in recent years, and as a result are now coming into co-operation. It has been discovered that charity, in the old sense is not charitable. It is being discovered that it is not businesslike.

THE time is rapidly passing when any community will submit to the misdeeds of a score of different charitable agencies, each engaged in trying to ameliorate some undesirable condition. The community chest is a movement in the direction of better business in the matter of charity.

TITUSVILLE KIWANANS BANQUETED BY LOCAL CLUB ON THURSDAY NIGHT

By L. C. DeBout.
 The Kiwanian banquet in honor of the Titusville baseball club, at the Montezuma Hotel was the glorious ending of a most wonderful day. The gladiators from the east coast are a jolly bunch and when mixed with a few Sanford Kiwanian buzzsaws there is bound to be a grand finale to a hard fought contest on the diamond.
 Promptly at 7 o'clock the Titusville Kiwanians and ladies gathered at the Montezuma where a bountiful spread was awaiting the ravenous warriors. First in order were a few inspiring "ditties" by the musical genius "Doc" Gardner and his long line of vocalists. Such renditions as "Liza Jane," "Round Here Neck a Ribbon," "Smiles," "Pack Up Your Trunk," "We're for Sanford," "Hannan Fossils."
 Things moved pretty lively and during the "grapefruit" our mayor, Forrest Lake, extended a welcome to our visitors that would have made any one feel at home in a strange land. Then followed more songs and then "soup."
 Kiwanian Lane, in charge of the program, carried things out as is his custom in a classy way. Next we had the pleasure of hearing from our mutual and staunch friend Schelle Mainer who did justice to his profession when he addressed this gathering of marker minds with a flow of language that only those exceptional intellects may even hope to grasp.
 We then were favored with that old illustrious ballad, "It Ain't Going to Rain No More," in which rendering all joined without fear nor favor.
 Mr. Skeeter of Titusville told
