Unemployment Drop Could Spur Cuts
County Jobs Program May Be Slashed

By ED PRICKETT, Herald Staff Writer

A declining unemployment rate could prompt Congress to slash Seminole County's $4-million federal jobs program, Jim Bedsole said today.

"If the rate of (unemployment) continues to drop, there is no question about Congress cutting the program. The question is how much and where," Bedsole said.

The unemployment rate for Orange, Osceola and Seminole Counties dipped to 10.9 per cent in January from a 14.3 per cent high in December. Bedsole directs Seminole County's Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) program.

And though he is pleased to see the unemployment rate dropping, he said the present rate is still much "too high."

About 6,000 persons are still without jobs in Seminole County, Bedsole noted.

The CETA program is responsible for providing jobs for about 500 workers. At the peak of the program, CETA funds paid salaries of about 1,128 workers.

The federal program pumps about $4-million yearly into the county. The funds are used to train and hire workers, many of whom are unable to find work in the job market.

"The CETA program is life-saving for a whole lot of people. I don't know what the people would do without it," Bedsole said.

He said it would be a "catastrophe" if Congress reduced CETA's funds.

There is discussion in Congress about cutting federal jobs programs. And, President Ford recently vetoed a jobs bill that would have provided employment for thousands of workers.

But, if the pending Congressional cut is bad news, Bedsole also reports there is some good news at the CETA office.

The good news is that there may be an additional $50,000 to be used to hire about 35 additional workers through June 30.

The $50,000 was reserved for payment of unemployment compensation.

But Bedsole says the funds may be used to hire additional workers. He has written the U.S. Department of Commerce for permission to use the $50,000 to hire personnel.

That final decision would be left to the Seminole County Commission. "The funds could be carried forward to next year."

Or, as Bedsole pointed out, the $50,000 could be used now to provide jobs for some of the 6,000 persons in the county who are unable to secure employment.

Victim Of Accidental Shooting
Man Dies While Calling For Help

By BOB LLOYD, Herald Staff Writer

A 33-year-old Sanford man apparently died while telephoning police headquarters for help early today after accidentally shooting himself while preparing to clean a pistol, police said.

Patrolman H. J. Shea Jr. reported officers found Darrell Swift, 33, dead on the floor of his 1234 Douglas Ave. residence with the telephone in his hand after the telephone company traced the call and officers broke a window to enter the house.

Police said a man called police headquarters at 2:52 a.m. asking for help but officers were unable to understand anything else the caller said. Detective Sgt. E. J. Hughes said telephone company officials traced the call to the Douglas Ave. address while police kept the telephone line open.

Shea said he and Lt. Johnnie Parker rushed to the address, got no answer to their knocks at the door and through a window saw a man laying on the floor inside.

The officers broke a window next to the door to enter, police said.

"Everything indicates it was an accidental shooting," Hughes said.

Officers said Swift, who was pronounced dead at the scene by Seminole County Medical Examiner Dr. G. V. Garay, was found lying on the floor of an area between the living room and family room of the residence with the telephone receiver in his left hand next to his mouth.

Police reported a 9mm automatic pistol was found on the living room floor about 10 feet away, close to a coffee table and chair.

Shea said the pistol was "jammed in the eject position and an empty cartridge casing was lodged in the ejection port."

Officers said a gun cleaning kit was spread out on the coffee table.

Hughes said apparently Swift was sitting in the chair preparing to clean the weapon when he was accidentally shot in the abdomen and managed to get to the nearby telephone to call for help.

An autopsy was scheduled today by Dr. Garay in the case.

Lake Mary To Hike Water Rates

By DONNA ESTES, Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — The city council at a 7:30 p.m. meeting today is scheduled to order advertised proposed new water rates to city residential subscribers, raising the fee to the higher level of any municipally-owned utility in Seminole County.

The new rates are necessary to repay a $354,000 loan approved with the U.S. Farmers' Home Administration (FHA) to update, expand and improve the city system purchased more than a year ago from Southern Gulf Utilities.

The program planned includes providing better water pressure, expanding water service, increasing water main size and providing a fire hydrant system.

Part of the loan money is to be used to run a line to connect with the City of Sanford water system at a cost of $82,000. Under a contract, approved by the Lake Mary City Council in special meeting Monday, Sanford is to sell Lake Mary water at a cost of 37.5 cents per thousand gallons.

Currently Lake Mary water customers are paying a minimum charge of $3.50 per month for the first 4,000 gallons; 50 cents per thousand thereafter.

The change in the minimum rate represents a 48.7 per cent increase with a 50 per cent increase up to 10,000 gallons and a 55.5 per cent hike up to 20,000 gallons with a 72 per cent raise thereafter.

The City of Casselberry's water system has a higher minimum charge for residential users at $4.50 per 3,000 gallons, but a lower fee thereafter at 75 cents per thousand gallons.

Of the municipally-owned utilities, Longwood has the lowest rate at $3.50 for a minimum of 5,000 gallons and 45 cents per thousand gallons thereafter to residential subscribers.

Sanford's rate to residential users is $2.96 for 4,000 gallons minimum; 48 cents per thousand over 4,000 to 10,000 gallons; 42 cents per thousand over 10,000 to 20,000 gallons and 35 cents per thousand over 20,000 to 100,000 gallons.

The City of Oviedo, which has not raised its rates since building its water system in 1967, has a $3.50 monthly minimum for the first 3,000 gallons; 50 cents per thousand gallons from 3,000 to 8,000; 45 cents from 8,000 to 15,000; 40 cents per thousand from 15,000 to 30,000; 35 cents per thousand from 30,000 to 60,000 and 30 cents per thousand from 60,000 and thereafter.

The Altamonte Springs' rate is $3.10 for the first 4,000 gallons to residential subscribers; 55 cents per thousand to 10,000 gallons and 45 cents per thousand thereafter.

—An ordinance concerning mobile homes.

Fire Chief Issue To Be Considered

LAKE MARY — Mayor Walter Sorenson's recommendation that Ralph Abell be named the city's fire chief until a permanent head of the fire department is hired will be considered by city council at a 7:30 p.m. meeting today.

The city currently is advertising in statewide journals seeking a fire chief at a $10,500 annual salary.

Abell, a long-time member of the volunteer fire department, has been elected fire chief by the volunteer firefighters and is a professional firefighter employed on the east coast of Florida.

Council will also consider for action:

- An ordinance setting requirements in the appointments to boards, commissions and offices of employees.
- A letter to the Public Service Commission of Florida asking what authority the city has to regulate privately-owned utilities within the municipal limits.
- Acceptance of the offered donation of land and a well on the Kruger property.
- An ordinance on first reading permitting fluoridation of the city water supply as Sanford water is injected into the system.
- An ordinance concerning mobile homes.

Nature Center To Be Built
Board Happy With Park Agreement

By JEAN PATTESON, Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County School Board expressed delight and enthusiasm Wednesday night at the agreement reached with the Seminole County Commission to develop 242 acres at Big Tree East into a county park plus environmental nature center for local school children.

"I'm thrilled that the commission is cooperating the way they are," commented Board Chairman Robert Feather.

The board instructed Bettie Palmer, coordinator for science and environmental education, to draw up a preliminary draft of the agreement with the county for board consideration.

The combined nature center-park evolved from a request from Mrs. Palmer that the site be used to teach a nature class.

The first classes are scheduled to begin in September with a program designed for fifth graders.

The school system will provide a teacher and portable building, while the county will be expected to develop and maintain $6,000 worth of nature trails.

The land will not be leased by the school board, but an interlocal agreement for a long period as possible will be drawn up.

In other action, the school board accepted tentatively the apparent low bidder on media center additions to Casselberry and Lake Mary Elementary Schools, R. Williams Construction, which made a package bid of $181,300 on both schools.

The board instructed School Supt. William P. Layer to meet with Mark Sinclair, representative for the John Young Museum and Planetarium in Orlando, to discuss entering into a contract with the museum next school year.

Sinclair proposed offering junior memberships to Seminole County students at fifty cents per student. He said such a membership would allow the museum to schedule ahead more programs for the county's students. A membership card would also permit students admission to the museum at all times as well as participation in field trips.

Layer commended teachers and students on a variety of successful programs staged during the past few weeks.

Student Cheers School Board

Members of the Seminole County School Board come in unusually close contact with some of the students they serve, and at a school board meeting Wednesday night, to all appearances, they enjoyed the confrontation immensely.

David Martin, president of Bear Lake Elementary School student council, was introduced to the board by his teacher, Mrs. Jean Harry. Young Martin then proceeded to read an invitation to the board to attend his school's Bicentennial Day, March 26.

The board listened in obvious delight as the youngster read in a clear and confident voice the day's program, which will include performances by the Liberty Belles of Longwood and by guitar and dulcimer player Barbara Muller, as well as items by the Bear Lake students themselves. It will be an all-day program.

Board Chairman Robert Feather thanked "Mr. Martin" for his presentation, and suggested he ask the rest of the student council to stand and be recognized.

With a commanding gesture of his hand, Martin indicated the youngsters should rise, as the board and school officials applauded. He then distributed large red, white and blue invitations emblazoned with the Liberty Bell and the board thanked the pupils for their presentation.

The meeting proceeded to the dry and businesslike items further down the agenda, but the board tackled it with charmed smiles on their faces as the memory of the students' proud and eager faces lingered.

PSC Utility Rate Hearing Is Protested

By NANCY BOOTH

WINTER SPRINGS — A group of 200 Winter Springs residents, carrying placards, were present at 9:30 a.m. today when the Florida Public Service Commission (PSC) hearing opened at the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge on Lee Road to consider a rate increase request by North Orlando Water and Sewer Corp.

The utility, in filing its request, said it had invested $1.3 million during the building boom but was affected by the unanticipated cutback in construction. The firm said it does not believe it should expect to get back its investment from turn-on but believes it should be able to charge these costs to current operations.

News Leaks Fan Damaging Flames

The cat is out of the bag so far as the release of the House intelligence committee report on the CIA is concerned. Although the overwhelming majority of the House voted to keep the report secret until the President removed classified portions, all of it now has been published in the Village Voice, a New York newspaper.

Frankly, we're more than a little bit disappointed by the effort of the House group which strove long to produce a mouse. Americans know about reading the report that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is accused of having a passion for secrecy, of justifying power, of misrepresenting Soviet violations of the SALT agreement and that CIA intelligence on the Middle East, Cyprus, Portugal, Vietnam and elsewhere may have been fopp.

The House report appears to do little more than rehash news that has been produced to date in many other forums. It is judgmental, accusatory and tendentious.

It is not probable that laymen, including the editors of Village Voice lacking the knowledge that resides in the upper reaches of government, can assess the damage that publication of the House report will cause. However, we can be sure that it will have a ripple effect in the world of intelligence and covert activities, both among our enemies and our allies with whom we exchange information. And considering the pummeling the CIA has been getting in Washington, any damage is too much.

However, citizens don't need any special intuition to know that our government is in very serious trouble if security matters that the executive and legislative branches believe are secret are broadcast to the world by leaks to the news media.

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger called the process "a new version of McCarthyism." He flattered and distorted accusations that tear down and destroy public officials. There are some differences, but Mr. Kissinger's analogy is close enough.

The sights of the new McCarthys are not set on Vietnam, Angola, Yemen, and the other U.S. involvements that are history and cannot be undone. They cannot be set on SALT, which the liberals generally favor. The beat is on Dr. Kissinger himself. On the one hand they are throwing every possible roadblock in front of his international peacekeeping efforts and on the other they are harassing him personally almost to the point of breaking. Every human has his limits.

The issue is not Mr. Kissinger, however. The orderly processes of checks and balances still are evaluating his performance.

The issue is whether any person who has the qualifications and temperament to be secretary of state will serve under the conditions that exist today and whether he could be effective if he did.

The question is the health and stability of American foreign policy. The outlook is less promising each day.

Reins Or Hobbles?

Guidelines for the FBI proposed by the Justice Department are not tough enough to suit Rep. Herman Badillo, who contends they are too broad.

The New York Democrat cited civil rights activities of the 1950s and 1960s as representative of those that could provoke a violent FBI response, presumably permissible under the contemplated standards of conduct.

Evidence of past misuse of the FBI justifies the congressman's concern, but the warnings of FBI Director Clarence Kelley must also be given consideration.

Kelley, in testimony before a House subcommittee, emphasized that domestic intelligence operations will focus in the future on conduct that is "likely to involve a violation of federal law" not on political views.

The FBI must not be deprived of its power to respond to the threat of terrorism or disruption.

Legislation designed to review and restrain FBI operations is a reasonable protection against the sort of incidents that have recently embarrassed the FBI. Legislation that would cripple the agency in performance of its legitimate function would be counterproductive oversight.

BERRY'S WORLD

WASHINGTON — Unscrupulous promoters have been systematically swindling investors who sink their savings into oil and gas wells.

Our sources at the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) have described these drilling-fund schemes, taken together, as probably the biggest swindle in America today.

Unwary investors have become easy prey of fast-talking manipulators who promise them tax shelters and high returns if they will join the national search for oil and gas. More often than not, the investment disappears into a hole, real or imaginary.

Sometimes, the promoters merely pretend to drill for oil. They have been known to rig phony derricks and paint water pipes to bamboozle investors. Sometimes, the promoters take the money in such dizzying circles that would take a team of auditors to trace it.

But in the end, the promoters usually wind up with most of the swag and the investors are left with tax deductions that probably wouldn't hold up under Internal Revenue scrutiny. The investors not only may lose their money but may have to pay back taxes, plus penalties.

The SEC is investigating drilling-fund cases involving hundreds of millions of dollars. The Oil and Gas branch has flatly refused to discuss the investigation, not even for the sake of alerting the victims. But from our own SEC sources, we have obtained documents which describe how the swindlers operate.

These documents, intended for official eyes only, place heavy blame on inadequate disclosure laws. The promoters can get away with withholding vital information which might otherwise arouse suspicion.

"This appears to be particularly true in the oil and gas industry," states one memo, "where compliance with these requirements might... (thwart) the promoters."

Sanford can truly be proud of its distinguished native son, Dr. Oswald Perry Bronson, who will be formally inducted as president of Bethune-Cookman College in Daytona Beach Friday, at 10 a.m. in Moore Gymnasium. Since he was selected for the position in July, he has strived to create a cordial student-citizen relationship with emphasis on academic excellence.

A graduate of Bethune-Cookman, he received his Bachelor of Divinity Degree Summa Cum Laude in 1950 from Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, and his Ph.D. in 1955 from Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

The inauguration is only the latest highlight in his distinguished career. For 16 years he pastored churches in the Florida, Georgia, and Rock River (Chicago) Conferences of the United Methodist Church and has been a lecturer, teacher and author. Elected president of the Interdenominational Theological Center, Atlanta, in 1968, he is past president of the Religious Education Assn. of the United States and Canada; past vice president of American Assn. of Theological Schools, and among his many honors he has received the Shafts of Light and Distinguished Alumni Awards from Bethune-Cookman.

Among those participating in the inauguration will be Florida United Methodist Bishop Joel D. McDavid, chairman of the Board of Trustees; Bishops L. Scott Allen and Ernest Dixon (both of whom have daughters, who are students at Bethune-Cookman), Florida Lt. Governor James H. Williams, and Richard V. Moore, former president, and currently chancellor in charge of fund raising.

Ten-year-old Rusty White, the nation's youngest wheelchair basketball player and this year's Easter Seal Poster Child, will be appearing with Allamontia Springs Mayor Norman Floyd in the Florida segments of the National Easter Seal Telethon which will be broadcast March 27 and 28 on WFTV Channel 9 live from the Allamontia Mall.

Rusty, who has been confined to a wheelchair all of his life, recently made news by competing in the National Wheelchair games held at the University of Illinois. He is also a member of the Orange Wheels Wheelchair Basketball team. The team is coached by Rusty's father, Russell White, and the team finished second in the state competition.

Saying "Allamontia Springs is proud to have been chosen as the local site of the National Seal Telethon," Floyd signed a proclamation declaring that weekend as "Easter Seal Telethon Weekend." The Telethon's national segments will be hosted by Wayne Rogers and Peter Falk with Telly Savalas, Sammy Davis Jr., and Bob Hope joining in.

Groups or clubs wishing to participate may call the Easter Seal Society at 841-6558.

British Learned To Respect Ragged Colonial Army

EDITOR'S NOTE — They were a motley crew, those Continental. More a mob than an army, torn with sectional arguments, come together to fight a war, make a revolution, start a nation.

By SID MOODY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The short heard 'round the world at Lexington and Concord was actually a barrage.

All day long the American "army," which hadn't existed the night before, blasted away at the closely-packed British column clumping double time along the high road back to Boston, as vulnerable in their red coats as a gathering of stoppits. Yet when the smoke cleared, the uncounted thousands of farmers, tinsmiths, fishermen, saddlemakers and schoolboys had scored only about 300 hits.

Clearly there was room for improvement.

The Minutemen had formed an instant army, all right. But it had no commander-in-chief, no uniforms, no artillery, little powder. Most important, it did not know what it was fighting for.

Washington had led men against Indians and Frenchmen. That made him an exception. Of the first 21 major generals appointed by Congress, only 10 had prior military experience.

Likewise for their men. Militiamen came and went as their inclinations led them. During a march, they were apt to fall out and take a shot at game. The American would fight to defend his own cabin or settlement, but saw little compulsion to defend unknown countrymen beyond his own distant hills.

In 1756, General Thomas Gage, the British commander, wrote to Washington when both were fighting the French: New Englanders, he said, were "the greatest boasters and the worst soldiers on the continent. We have enlisted soldiers from all the provinces, but I never saw any in my life as infamously bad."

But in 1775 those "infamously bad" New Englanders had him coked up in Boston, and more were rushing to the front.

A detachment from New Hampshire covered 55 miles in 18 hours to reach Cambridge two days after Lexington and Concord.

Patnam dropped his plow, literally, and raced to Boston when he heard the news. Artemas Ward, a 67-year-old sometime farmer, politician and volunteer soldier, was abed with a bladder stone when told of the fighting.

With uncharacteristic dispatch, he hopped on a horse and rode to Cambridge to take command. Washington arrived quietly in Cambridge on July 2, 1775, and promptly set off for a tour of the lines with Ward, painfully perched in his saddle, Nathaniel Greene of Rhode Island, and the eccentric Lee, followed by his constant escort, a pack of dogs he preferred to humans.

Washington developed order out of chaos. No more skimping in the Charles River. Discipline was clearly going to be a problem where officers were elected by their popularity and, as one soldier said, men were asked to please do something when some strong language would have had a better effect. One officer was found guilty for "unconcernedly shaving one of his men."

Washington had his hands full. A Connecticut troop would have no Massachusetts men in its ranks, and Massachusetts companies would not tolerate a Rhode Islander.

Junket Flap Is Absurd

WASHINGTON — The whole flap is reminiscent of one of those tasteless ethnic jokes, specifically the one about how many pennies there are in the United States. The answer: 10, one to hold the bulb and nine to turn him.

The big things were supposed to work last week in the House as that Senate Concurrent Resolution 98 was supposed to zip right through on a voice vote, just as it had in the Senate. No problem. Things had been worked out in advance between the Democrat and Republican leaders.

But Rep. Bob Bauman (R-Md.), a hardnose, fiscal conservative, objected. Even though the British Parliament had requested such a large American delegation, Bauman saw no reason, he said, for the U.S. taxpayer to be asked $50,000 for a junket to England by 24 Congressmen, and their aides, to pick up an original copy of the Magna Carta to be displayed in the Capitol Rotunda.

The resolution called for the Federal Government — which is to say you and I — to pay whatever expenses would be incurred "in connection with the functions of the delegation in the United Kingdom."

Well, the roof caved in. House Majority Leader Rep. Thomas O'Neill (D-Mass.) said the junket would be "a noble cause for our relationship with England and the rest of the Democratic world."

House Speaker Carl Albert, one of those invited to make the junket, labeled the British invitation "one of the most important we have ever had."

Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Iowa) said there were 50 million Americans who would be coming to Washington during the Bicentennial and they'd like to go home able to say they had seen both the Magna Carta and the Declaration of Independence.

House Minority Leader John Rhodes (R-Ariz.), who would also be making the trip to England, called the junket "quite fitting." But Rep. Bauman would not be moved. Invoking invoking hundreds of millions of dollars. The Oil and Gas branch has flatly refused to discuss the investigation, not even for the sake of alerting the victims. But from our own SEC sources, we have obtained documents which describe how the swindlers operate.

These documents, intended for official eyes only, place heavy blame on inadequate disclosure laws. The promoters can get away with withholding vital information which might otherwise arouse suspicion.

"This appears to be particularly true in the oil and gas industry," states one memo, "where compliance with these requirements might... (thwart) the promoters."

President, in turn, was counting on all good Republicans to sustain his veto.

Percy's wife, Loraine, went ahead to the airport with his ticket and luggage. The senator wanted to be on the important vote, but he also wanted to make the flight.

He checked with Bill Hildenbrand, the Republican secretary, to find out whether the veto could be moved ahead. Hildenbrand said he decided it.

But the obliging Hildenbrand, eager to help out, spoke to some White House aides about Percy's plight. The President's men quickly arranged for a military car and driver to meet the senator at the Capitol and rush him across the Potomac to the Pentagon helipad.

The senator cast his vote and was whisked to the helicopter, which flew him to the airport in the nick of time to catch his plane. In all the rush, the presidential aides didn't seem to notice that Percy had voted against the President. (The veto, nevertheless, was upheld.)

Footnote: A taxi to the airport would have cost the senator $30. The helicopter trip cost the taxpayers $127, not counting the salaries of the military chauffeur and helicopter pilot.

Topic: Full Employment

Today's topic — Is Full Employment a Realistic Goal? — is argued by Rep. Gus Hawkins (D-Calif.), House sponsor of the Equal Opportunity and Full Employment Act, and Rep. William Steiger (R-Wisc.). This article is adapted from the National Telethon, which will be held at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C., where public figures debate and answer questions on current issues.

REP. GUS HAWKINS

Can the nation afford full employment?

The first task is to define full employment. Certainly we do not mean zero unemployment. There will always be some voluntary unemployment. Equally clear, we must reject, as a goal, a tolerable level of unemployment such as 6 per cent, 5 per cent or even 4.5 per cent. In the current legislative proposal (HR-50), we define full employment as a condition in which every individual able and willing to work has the opportunity of a decent job. Thus defined, the issue is whether, in our democratic process, full employment is realistic. My answer is that empirical evidence has provided its achievement. The Employment Act of 1946 established the national economic goal of "maximum employment, production and purchasing power." President Truman, who signed it, interpreted it as a goal to be achieved. He and he demonstrated its practical realization. He reduced unemployment to less than 3 per cent and inflation to under 1 per cent. And he built a Treasury surplus. Unfortunately, some national administrators' funds that we should guard against, he moved in the opposite direction. The results have been consistently disastrous. For this and other reasons, HR-50, the pending Full Employment Act, explicitly charges the president and Congress with the responsibility of implementing the goal of full employment.

What is the price tag on HR-50?

The Library of Congress study (which showed a net cost of $16 billion) is being extensively quoted but it should be placed in its proper perspective. This study assumed that full employment would be achieved within one year and that all of the jobs would be created in the public rather than the private sector. We never assumed that changing the interest rates and helping to revive the utilities and housing industries is not an outlay of money. It is a change in policy.

How meaningful are unemployment statistics?

We need to look at unemployment statistics and the way they are gathered. I think they are terribly understated. And I can't accept the idea that employment isn't an individual right. It shouldn't be hinged on whether or not someone else (in the family) is working or whether a person is young or old. That is setting a class against class, race against race, and group against group. When (John) Conally was Secretary of the Treasury he came before one of the Senate committees and said, "Let's take a look at this six per cent unemployment. It's not so bad because you are talking about women and you are talking about young people who should be in school. They shouldn't be counted." Well, I can't accept this. Who is to say whether some of those women do or do not have a greater right to work than a white male person? This is just an alibi for the failure to provide enough jobs.

BERRY'S WORLD

WASHINGTON — Unscrupulous promoters have been systematically swindling investors who sink their savings into oil and gas wells.

Our sources at the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) have described these drilling-fund schemes, taken together, as probably the biggest swindle in America today.

Unwary investors have become easy prey of fast-talking manipulators who promise them tax shelters and high returns if they will join the national search for oil and gas. More often than not, the investment disappears into a hole, real or imaginary.

Sometimes, the promoters merely pretend to drill for oil. They have been known to rig phony derricks and paint water pipes to bamboozle investors. Sometimes, the promoters take the money in such dizzying circles that would take a team of auditors to trace it.

But in the end, the promoters usually wind up with most of the swag and the investors are left with tax deductions that probably wouldn't hold up under Internal Revenue scrutiny. The investors not only may lose their money but may have to pay back taxes, plus penalties.

Slated For Trial In Bookmaking Case

Orlandoan Files Plea On Firearm Charge

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

An Orlando man docketed for trial here next week on state-wide grand jury bookmaking indictments pleaded no contest Wednesday to a charge of carrying a concealed firearm.

Luther Judson McNamara, 33-year-old brother of an Orlando auto dealer, was charged in the firearm case after sheriff's agents found a pistol on his person Nov. 1 while they were raising an apartment at Altamonte Springs under a search warrant issued on the basis of information gathered by agents conducting court-ordered wiretaps in a probe of illegal gambling activities.

Agents said the apartment, that allegedly was headquarters for a telephone-oriented sports bookie operation, had been rented by McNamara, Orange County Sheriff's Deputy Russell Calamia, who is also a bond-d Seminole Sheriff's Deputy, said McNamara was discovered outside the apartment during the raid in which alleged bookmaking paraphernalia was seized and ordered inside at approximately 4:30 a.m. Calamia argued that McNamara could not properly apply for the wiretap order. "We've tried to get the bookmaking case in a defense motion to suppress wiretap evidence because the defense contends that some of the officers who monitored telephone calls to and from the apartment around-the-clock for 15 days last October weren't officers authorized to make the wiretap. Calamia indicated he'll seek another continuance in the bookmaking trial on Monday before Circuit Judge Joe A. Cowart Jr.

Calamia said he hasn't been able to determine how many of the 54 persons listed by State Atty. Abbott Herring's office as having knowledge of the case were sheriff's deputies in both Orange and Seminole counties.

The bookmaking trial was continued from Feb. 23 after the court allowed the defense to listen to and duplicate tape recordings of the wiretaps.

A second suspect indicted by the state-wide grand jury on felony bookmaking charges in the probe, 38-year-old Jack Crenshaw, is scheduled for trial at a later date.

Three Arrested For Robberies

Sanford police and sheriff's deputies have arrested three men in connection with two separate robberies.

Sanford detectives Sgt. E. J. Hughes and Walter Jones arrested schoolteacher, Sylvester Denmark, on a circuit court robbery warrant in connection with a March 9 incident in which Charles Lamar, 25, reported three men robbed him of $200.

Bond for Denmark, 38, of 2310 Airport Blvd., Sanford, was set at $4,000.

Lamar told police he was dragged from an auto at Lincoln Court and W. 13th St. and robbed by three men after being threatened with a knife, according to police reports.

Denmark was a vocational arts instructor at Lakeview Middle School, Sanford, when he was arrested Sept. 3 and accused of participating in the July 30 strong-arm robbery of a Sanford salvage dealer.

Police said the 18-speed bicycle had been reported stolen from outside the Silver Tip Tavern, W. 13th St., three hours earlier. James Horne, 19, of 212 Southwest Road, Sanford, reported the bicycle was stolen, according to police reports.

Patrolman Jack R. Fullen-wider reported he stopped Moore, who was riding a bicycle, at 3:49 a.m. at the intersection of Second St. and Sanford Ave.

Police said the 18-speed bicycle had been reported stolen from outside the Silver Tip Tavern, W. 13th St., three hours earlier. James Horne, 19, of 212 Southwest Road, Sanford, reported the bicycle was stolen, according to police reports.

McGregor allowed McNamara to remain free on bond in the firearm case pending completion of a presentence investigation (PSI).

Maximum sentence on the charge is five years in prison and/or $5,000 fine. The court set sentencing for May 11.

Also Wednesday, in a hearing before Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffer, McNamara's defense attorney, C. J. Calamia, failed to get a re-hearing on a previous ruling by Judge Leffer that law enforcement officers can be sheriff's deputies in two counties at the same time. Calamia argued that Calamia couldn't properly apply for the wiretap order.

Grinder Accident Spurs A Lawsuit

A 67-year-old Sanford man and his wife have filed a lawsuit in circuit court against an equipment company claiming negligence of repairmen resulted in an accident last November in which the man's arm was severed in a supermarket meat grinder.

The civil suit, seeking damages in excess of $2,500, alleges that agents or employees of Hobart Corporation negligently and carelessly worked on a meat cutting and grinding machine at the Park and Shop supermarket, 2467 S. Park Ave., Sanford, "so as to have the machine in a condition whereby it would activate suddenly and without warning at times when the electrical switch had not been activated."

The suit, filed by Maurice P. Aube and his wife, Viola, states that on Nov. 17 Aube turned the switch to the "off" position and reached into the machine to remove some meat or bone that had become lodged in the machine.

The lawsuit alleges that "suddenly and without warning the switch was still in the 'off' position the machine activated, pulling and cutting Aube's right hand and arm and severing it below the elbow."

The lawsuit has been assigned to Circuit Court Judge Volle A. Williams for trial. No hearing date has been set.

HAVE YOU WRITTEN A BOOK?

Mr. Herbert Gilbert, the executive editor of a well-known New York subsidy publishing firm will be interviewing local authors in a quest for finished manuscripts suitable for book publication. All subjects will be considered, including fiction and non-fiction, poetry, juveniles, religion, philosophy, etc.

He will be in Orlando in late April.

If you have completed a book-length manuscript (or nearly so) on any subject, and would like a professional appraisal (without any obligation), please write immediately and describe your work. State whether you would prefer a morning, afternoon, or evening appointment, and kindly mention your phone number. You will receive a confirmation by mail for a definite time and place.

Authors with completed manuscripts unable to appear may send them directly to us for a free reading and evaluation. We will also be glad to hear from those whose literary works are still in progress.

Students Win Drama Awards WOMEN

By ELDA NICHOLS
Herald Correspondent

Lyman High School's entry, "Greensleeves' Magic," was chosen by the judges as best production in the Second Annual Seminole School District's County-wide Drama Festival held Saturday at Lyman.

Ms. Charlotte Geyer, County Language Arts Coordinator was festival coordinator and Ms. Cher Stempier, drama teacher and theater coordinator for Lyman, hosted the day-long event.

"Greensleeves' Magic" was a student production directed by Chip Paschal with Sue Kerwitsch, assistant director and Kevin Sullivan, technical director. A special award for "outstanding creativity" was given to musical director Chris Ostrander, who composed the music and lyrics for the show.

Awards of Merit for Acting were presented to Rob Cole, who played "Greensleeves," and Wendy Founds, who had the role of Princess Miranda.

Acting Awards of Merit also went to Kent Thorne, who played Henry Albertson in Seminole High School's musical production of Act 1 of "The Fantasticks", and Matt Wright for his role of Mr. Webb in Lake Brantley High School's production of "Our Town."

Seminole High School drama teacher Ms. Jane Epps directed "The Fantasticks" and Bob Maguire was musical director. Lois Jordan was director of "Our Town."

Participation awards were presented for non-competitive skits presented by students from South Seminole and Milwee Middle Schools.

Before announcing the winners, the judges presented helpful critiques on the good and bad points of each production. Judges included Roger Jarand, theater department director at Seminole Community College; Steve Neilson, assistant professor at Rollins College; and Ms. Terry Hill, state press secretary for the Florida Motion Pictures Association.

Workshops on make-up, lighting, pantomime, stage movement, improvisation and scene design were added to the festival this year. Assisted by members of "The Company," Lyman's repertory group, instructors included, Bob Crowell, technical theatre; Ms. Susan Lundy, SCC theatre arts major; Ms. Phyllis Mandler, educational theatre; David Stempier, SCC technical director; Steve Phipps, Actors Repertory Theatre.

Purpose of the drama festival is to provide students an opportunity for an enriching and constructive learning experience in theatre arts education.

Blood Test Gives Man False Alarm

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband has always been a blood donor but he can no longer give blood. When he was needed it for a test showed syphilis.

perfect. There are individuals who have false positive tests. Additional tests can also be run to narrow this problem down for the individual.

DEAR READER — The standard blood test for syphilis is merely a chemical reaction. When a person has had syphilis he may (but does not always have) a chemical in the blood that produces a specific reaction and results in a positive test.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband has always been a blood donor but he can no longer give blood. When he was needed it for a test showed syphilis.

College Has New Program

Blind Get Help From Valencia

A new program to train, rehabilitate and rehabilitate visually handicapped persons in Orange, Seminole and Osceola counties through the Open Campus of Valencia Community College has been given a green light by a grant from the Bureau of Blind Services.

CITE, Center for Independence, Training and Education for the Blind, has been awarded $56,000 to operate through June 30, however, Michael Hooks, Valencia's Director for Community Instruction, who will administer the project, anticipates additional funding of $110,000 per year for the next two years.

Books added, "The project is the only one of its kind in the state to be affiliated with a community college and no other program in the state covers such a complete range of rehabilitative services on a day-care basis."

Many Bite Dust On TV

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Every- one yaks about violence on TV, but few ever cite specifics. So just for the heck of it several weeks ago, we began keeping track of the number of folks bumped off in network series.

Pollution Elimination Is Costly

NEW YORK (AP) — The cost of eliminating water pollution may be substantially higher than originally estimated, according to John B. Cox of the Commerce Department's Office of Environmental Affairs.

Cox recently told a round-table sponsored by Ecology Corp. that it will probably cost $100 billion, not $24 billion as originally projected, to clean up municipal sewage discharges.

Ferry Boat Making A Comeback

NEW YORK (AP) — After hitting a low of 140 in the late 1960s, ferry boats are making a comeback, according to Compass magazine.

The magazine, which is published by M&AC, a commercial marine insurer, says tangled traffic, disgruntled motorists and air pollution are the main reasons for the increased use of the boats in certain cities.

Mens' Wear Looks Snappy

Free, Footloose Feeling

Fashion does the trick when you're wearing your mens' wear. The most important look is the one that makes you feel comfortable and confident. It's the one that makes you feel like you're wearing the best of the best.

Some of the new mens' wear looks that are making a splash this season include: short-sleeved shirts, polo shirts, and button-down shirts. These are all great choices for a casual, yet sophisticated look.

Fabrics By Mail Inspire Economizing On Fashions

More women are heading for mail-order fashion fabrics, that can be delivered to home sewers right from Designer's work home these days. Adding sewing incentive are latest styles.

Back-to-back fabrics are a great choice for home sewers. They offer a wide variety of patterns and colors, and they are often priced at a discount.

Take A Look At Our Recycled World

These Items Play Big Part In Life

When you think of recycled paper, you think of newspapers, magazines, and office paper. But there are many other ways in which recycled paper is used. From construction paper to bookbinding, recycled paper is a versatile and eco-friendly material.

Recycled paper is made from waste paper that has been collected, sorted, and processed. This process saves trees and reduces the amount of waste sent to landfills.

Spring Sportswear Is For Real, Now

Good Health The Basis For Good Looks

Spring sportswear is all about comfort and style. From casual button-down shirts to more formal blouses, there are options for everyone. The key is to choose pieces that are both functional and fashionable.

Look for light-colored fabrics, breathable materials, and classic silhouettes. These are the hallmarks of a great spring wardrobe.
