Housing Authority Bias Shown, State Rules

Linda Williams, the Sanford Housing Authority's director of management, was discriminated against on the basis of sex when she was passed over 17 months ago in her bid for the executive director's job, a Florida Commission on Public Relations Investigator has ruled.

The housing authority has until March 5 to notify the state commission whether it wants to try to reach a settlement with Mrs. Williams. If not, the Human Relations could hold a hearing and rule that Mrs. Williams is entitled to back pay for the period and the promotion to executive director.

Housing authority attorney Ned Julian Jr. revealed the finding to authority commissioners at a meeting Friday, telling them he has asked the state agency to provide him with documents concerning the investigation.

A 12-year employee of the authority, Mrs. Williams filed the sex discrimination charges with both the Human Relations Commission and the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission in March, 1983, contending she was denied the promotion to executive director in September, 1982, because of her sex.

Elliott Smith, who had worked as coordinator of youth employment for the Seminole County public school administration, was named instead.

Mrs. Williams in complaint said she served in the dual role of interim executive director as well as director of management for 13 months before Smith's appointment and was better qualified for the job.

She specifically cited in her complaint that authority chairman Joseph Caldwell and Commissioners Eliza Pringle, J. Wain Cummings and Leroy Linda Williams: One commissioner said she was doing a good job, but the executive director should be a male.

Johnson discriminated against her. She did not name Commissioner Mary Whitney because, Mrs. Williams said, Mrs. Whitney was not involved in the discrimination.

Johnson's term on the SHA board expired about six months ago and the city of Sanford named Dr. Velma Williams to the post he formerly held.

The Human Relations Commission Investigator said the investigation showed "there is reasonable cause to believe that an unlawful employment practice has occurred..."

Mrs. Williams contends that one commissioner made a statement that while she was doing a good job the executive director should be a male and another commissioner said the applicants should have been required to submit a picture with their applications so their sex would be indicated.

The ruling that the complaint is valid was made on Feb. 14 and Julian received it on Feb. 15, he said.

Catching The Express

Volunteer Mary Cohoon of Casselberry, with balloons in hand, greets Saturday visitors to the Health Care Express at Central Florida Regional Hospital. The 1,000 square-foot, traveling, truck-based exhibit made a one day stop at the Sanford hospital to present health games, displays and

Sanford May Charge Lake Mary For New Water Service

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The city of Lake Mary may have solved one problem — providing a proposed new 61-unit housing development, Country Downs, with water — only to create another problem for itself.

Since Lake Mary's commissioners have agreed to pay the county, slated to supply the water for Country Downs under contract, a $425 connection fee per housing unit, the Sanford City Commission at its 7 p.m. meeting today may ask for a similar fee for each new connection made to the rest of the Lake Mary water system where Sanford provides the water.

Sanford, at this point provides, under contract, all the water Lake Mary distributes to more than 900 city customers.

Sanford Commissioners at today's meeting will also consider raising the water and sewer utility connection fees again to provide the money to pay for expansion of its systems for new development and may look at the purchase of a $5 million tract of property for its sewer system as well as the purchase of land for a new well field.

The Sanford Commission some months ago ignored City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles' recommendation that Lake Mary be charged a connection fee for each new customer the same as new customers are charged within the city of Sanford.

After Sanford put a limitation on the number of new connections Lake Mary could connect to its Sanford-supplied system, Lake Mary earlier this month executed a contract with the county commission for the new 61-house development.

That contract not only requires payment of a $425 connection fee per unit, but also a $500 deposit.

In a memo to the Sanford City Commission prior to tonight's meeting at city hall, 300 N. Park Ave., Knowles is suggesting a connection fee for new residential units in Lake Mary, served by Sanford water, of $322.30.

Noting that Sanford developers and homeowners are paying a water connection fee of $265 per unit, Knowles is recommending the higher fee of $322.30 from Lake Mary by adding the 23 percent premium allowed under state law.

If the commissioners approve the connection fee for service outside the city, the Midway-Canaan water district and the Indian Mound water district, both of which Sanford provides with water, would also be charged the connection fee.

In other matters concerning the Sanford water system, Knowles is recommending that the commission begin the administrative process of revising its connection fee for both water and sewer utilities to $1,925 to become effective July 1. Late last year, the commission adopted an ordinance raising city water and sewer connection fees to $1,150 per unit effective Jan. 1.

Commissioners said at the time that fees would be revised again by July 1.

The increased fee, as of Jan. 1, was about double what it had been. Knowles, speaking of the need for increased fees last year, said the water and sewer utilities would have to be expanded to meet the demands of new development.

Knowles is also recommending that the city commission authorize an expenditure of $11,500 to buy a portable diesel power unit capable of providing water to any city well and to a 12-inch irrigation well such as the one being used now.

He said the city is paying $451 per 12 hour day for leasing a similar unit and at this rate a power unit would pay for itself after 25 days' use.

He is also asking for authorization to purchase a parcel of land for new future city wells. He said the estimated cost for the 20 acre parcel is about $350,000. The option he is suggesting is for 90 days. During that period, he said, the parcel could be reviewed by the St. Johns River Water Management District and water testing for 131 organic compounds could be done.

Funds for the well field purchase could come from the city's utility trust fund which has a balance of $748,000, Knowles said.

County To Tackle Surplus Funds 'Problem'

We should all have such a problem — more money in our budget than we had thought.

In the case of the Seminole County Commission, there's $1.5 million involved, and commissioners were scheduled to meet this afternoon to discuss what to do with it.

The money is left over from last year's budget, the surplus created by a combination of frugal spending and unexpected hikes in various revenue sources.

The extra money has prompted commission chairman Sandra Glenn to state that there will be no property tax hike next year, and maybe, just maybe, a slight tax decrease.

Commissioners learned about the surplus only two weeks ago and haven't formally discussed ways of using the money, but three ideas that have been mentioned are to put the cash into the contingency fund for next year, fund operations of the county's expanding library system, or replace the $843,000 borrowed last year from a special fund set up with proceeds from the sale of the old Seminole Memorial Hospital building, money which was used for renovation of the building into new county office space.

Commissioners were scheduled to meet at 2 p.m. at the courthouse.

Also on the work session agenda is the question of whether to move into the old hospital in phases over the next four month or all at once, probably in early July.

Seminole County Administrator T. Duncan Rose said contractor Gulf Seaboard of Jacksonville is running several weeks behind schedule and Gulf officials don't want to be working around county employees as they move in.

Nuclear Shipments May Go Ahead

High Court: Agent Orange Mass Trial OK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Manufacturers of "Agent Orange" lost a bid in the Supreme Court today to delay a mass trial, now scheduled for May, of hundreds of suits by people who say they were injured by the herbicide during the Vietnam War.

The justices turned down an appeal by Diamond Shamrock Co. seeking review of a ruling stemming from a class action suit filed by people exposed to the herbicide.

In other action today, the Supreme Court dismissed a New York City challenge to national rules allowing highly radioactive nuclear waste to be shipped through the nation's cities.

The court said the topic did not fall within its jurisdiction to decide.

NATION IN BRIEF

10 Killed In Weekend Fires Across The Nation

By United Press International

Ten people were killed in fires nationwide during the weekend, with the single largest loss of life in Newark, N.J., where four children died in their burning home.

Fatal fires also were reported in Baltimore, Washington, D.C., and Chicago.

About 5:30 a.m. Sunday in Newark a fire started in a three-story home owned by Linda Bambace. The building was occupied by four families.

Ms. Bambace's four children, John Andaluv, 16, Angelique Cotto, 11, Lavinia Baez, 8, and Nathana Baez, 5, were found dead in the first-floor bedroom. Ms. Bambace was not home at the time of the fire, police said.

The fire spread to six neighboring houses, destroying one, heavily damaging the others and leaving 14 families — 22 adults and 18 children — homeless.

Meese Faces Tough Query

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats have promised that Edwin Meese will face tough questions about his finances and his role in shaping civil rights policy at his confirmation hearings as attorney general, which begin Thursday.

One liberal senator — who asked that his name not be used — predicted the sessions "probably will be bloody."

Financial documents prepared for the hearings show that President Reagan's top aide is not a wealthy man by Washington standards.

Although far from the poorhouse in his $300,000 suburban home in McLean, Va., Meese, 52, depends on his federal paycheck as his principal source of income. He has a $149,000 mortgage and an $80,000 unpaid loan hanging over his head.

Credit Card Surcharge?

WASHINGTON (UPI)— A law barring merchants from charging extra for purchases made with credit cards expired today, opening the way for retailers to impose surcharges against the more than 55 million American households that use credit cards.

But spokesmen for credit card companies predicted that few merchants would demand the payments because Congress is likely to approve a short extension of the ban within a few days.

'Bomb' Thrown Through Restaurant Window

A Sanford restaurant received "minimal" damage this morning when a Molotov-type bomb was tossed through a window causing a fire.

According to a Sanford fire report, someone before 4:33 a.m. tossed a lighted bottle of unknown fuel through a window of Cindy's Country Kitchen, 1560 S. French Ave.

The bottle of fuel started a fire that was out when an employee arrived at 4:33 to prepare the business to open at 5:30, according to Harold Tersigni, owner of the business.

Tersigni said he knows little about the fire or the cause until the police are through investigating. He said while the fire report says there was minimal damage, there was smoke damage throughout the business and he was closed today. He did not set a figure on the amount of loss. The building was unoccupied at the time of the fire and no injuries were reported.

Tersigni said he contacted his insurance company and plans to reopen Tuesday.

More detailed information was unavailable as the case is under investigation by the Sanford police.

PROWLER

A Sanford man who was allegedly prowling near the Lake Mary City Hall was arrested by a Lake Mary officer and charged with prowling, loitering, resisting arrest and possession of marijuana.

The officer reported first seeing the suspect at about 2:42 a.m. Saturday as the man lay beside a fence behind City Hall. The suspect reportedly jumped the fence and ran when the officer approached him. At 4:56 a.m. that same patrolman responded to a prowler complaint in that same area and spotted the suspect again off Seminole Ave. and 5th St., Lake Mary.

The suspect was charged at 5:22 a.m. When the officer searched him he allegedly found a small packet of pot in the man's wallet. Ronald Dale Notthwick, 21, of Carriage Cove, is being held in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $500 bond.

The arrests were made around 4 p.m. Thursday by Altamonte Springs police in the parking lot of the Altamonte Mall, State Road 436, Altamonte Springs.

An officer reported approaching the couple's car and alleges that the pair tried to conceal a marijuana cigarette beneath a sport coat on the front seat of the car. The officer noticed clothing and coathangers on the rear floorboard of the car and determined through checking tags attached to the clothing that the items were from three mall stores and had not been paid for. Store personnel were called on to identify the goods.

which they confirmed had not been purchased, a police report said.

As police questioned the couple, the lawmen allege that the woman appeared to be signaling a woman apparently approaching their car.

Mondale, Hart Confident Of Good N.H. Showing

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — On the eve of the New Hampshire presidential primary, Walter Mondale and Gary Hart radiate confidence, while Jesse Jackson awaits the impact of his admission of using a derogatory term to refer to Jews.

Both Mondale and Hart were buoyed by the latest poll of Democrats in the nation's first primary state. The former vice president appears entrenched in his front-runner's spot, while the senator from Colorado apparently has jumped into the second spot as the prime challenger.

At this point, it remains unclear just how Jackson's campaign will be shaped by his confession at a synagogue in Manchester that he used the term "Hymie" in referring to Jews, and "Hymietown" as a description of New York City.

"In part, I am to blame," Jackson, a Baptist minister, said in contrite tones as he acknowledged for the first time that "the term was used in private conversation."

Jackson has waffled between flat denials and claims he could not recall ever using the term, which was first attributed to him by The Washington Post. Jackson implied that the reporter eavesdropped on a private conversation.

There are roughly 5,000 Jews living in New Hampshire, but the anger the news accounts have stirred nationally created a building controversy Jackson hopes he has now defused.

Both camps poured last-minute money and campaign forces into the nation's first primary, where a strong showing on Tuesday may seal which one becomes a challenger and which one falls back out of contention.

President Reagan has no serious opposition for the 22 delegates at stake in the Republican primary, although a conservative political action committee and a few disgruntled Democrats are running advertisements urging voters to write in Reagan's name in the Democratic contest.

A similar effort got Reagan 2 percent of the vote on the Democratic line in 1980 and a better finish this time could embarrass some of the Democratic long shots.

A Washington Post-ABC survey of New Hampshire Democrats showed Mondale ahead with 38 percent, with Hart jumping into second place with 24 percent — chiefly on the strength of his runner-up finish in last week's Iowa precinct caucuses.

Glenn slipped into third place with 14 percent of the vote, followed by Jackson with 7 percent. George McGovern, the party's standard-bearer in 1972, had 6 percent; Sen. Ernest Hollings of South Carolina, 4 percent; Sen. Alan Cranston of California, 1 percent, and former Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida, less than 1 percent.

For those trailing the rest of the pack — particularly Askew, Cranston and Hollings — far more is at stake than the 22 delegates who will represent New Hampshire at the Democratic national convention in San Francisco in July.

A repeat of the dismal showings they had in Iowa may end their presidential dreams. All three are financially strapped, and anything short of a miraculous showing in the Granite State will dry up contributions.

Out of money, they could afford only a token campaign gesture through March 13, when nine states hold primaries and caucuses.

Ex-Reserve Deputy Gets Probation For Perjury

The former director of the Seminole County Citizen's Dispute Settlement (CDS) program was sentenced today for lying to a grand jury investigating claims of an organized theft ring within the county sheriff's department.

Ed Schuckman, 35, of Longwood, appeared before Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. at the Five Points courtroom at 8:45 a.m. for sentencing for perjury, a third-degree felony.

Schuckman was sentenced to three years probation and 240 hours of community service. He could have received up to one year in the county jail and 10 years probation.

Schuckman, a former reserve sheriff's deputy and CDS director under the auspices of the state attorney's office, pleaded no contest to the perjury charge when specially-appointed prosecutor John Stephenson agreed to drop grand theft charges against him.

Stephenson, state attorney from Alachua County appointed to the Schuckman case by Gov. Bob Graham, said the perjury charge would have been more difficult to try than the grand theft count but that he decided to press for the perjury plea to vindicate the Seminole County Sheriff's Department which had been implicated by Schuckman in grand jury testimony.

Schuckman testified in March that there was an organized theft ring within the sheriff's department involved in the sale of various items stolen from tenants who had been evicted from their homes. Stephenson said.

Stephenson said the state did not find any evidence to back up Schuckman's claim.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Marines Complete Move, Lebanese Still Fighting

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — U.S. Marines, after abandoning their airport base to a renegade Lebanese army unit, enjoyed the relative comfort of 6th Fleet ships today. In the turmoil they left behind, a French soldier and an American priest were killed.

The Beirut airport base of intricately sandbagged bunkers was left Sunday to the Lebanese army's 6th Brigade, which refused to fight three weeks ago for the U.S.-backed government of Lebanese President Amin Gemayel. Moslem rebels guarded the base entrance.

But 40 minutes after the last Marine amphibious personnel carrier chugged from the beach to the 6th Fleet ships waiting offshore, the United States reminded Syria and Lebanon's warring factions it would protect its interests.

Responding to Syrian anti-aircraft fire against U.S. reconnaissance planes, the huge 16-inch guns of the battleship New Jersey fired into the Lebanese mountains.

Iran Claims New Advance

United Press International
Iran Sunday claimed new advances into southern Iraq, threatening the key highway linking Baghdad to the Persian Gulf, and accused the United States and the Soviet Union of secretly helping Iraq in the 42-month war.

Western sources in London warned that as many as 300,000 Iranians may be massing on the border for a major new offensive against Iraq in what may be an all-out attempt by Iran to win the war.

Iran said that in a thrust in the Hur Al-Hoveizeh area its forces seized four miles of the east bank of the Tigris River near the strategic Iraqi highway connecting the capital of Baghdad to the southern Iraqi port town of Basra.

Iran is seeking to block shipments from Baghdad to the gulf.

Walesa: No More Strikes

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Solidarity leader Lech Walesa said his outlawed union — decimated by the arrest and imprisonment of its best activists — will no longer call strikes or demonstrations.

Walesa, who came to Warsaw from his hometown of Gdansk to take part in a baptismal ceremony for the son of a former union official, told reporters Sunday the stringent post-martial law regulations had forced the union underground to change its tactics.

"There will be no more calls for demonstrations or strikes, but peaceful, hardworking operation of the union will continue," Walesa said.

Rebels: Air Force Bombed Civilian Targets

By United Press International
Leftist rebels accused the Salvadoran air force of killing two peasants in what they charged was the 29th government bombing raid this year against non-military positions.

Ministers of the peace-seeking Contadora group began arriving in Panama for a two-day meeting to set up a timetable they hope will culminate in an April 30 regional peace treaty signing, sources in Panama said.

The northern part of El Salvador was without electricity for the third consecutive day Sunday after guerrillas destroyed electricity pylons near Aguilares, just north of the capital, rebel Radio Farabundo Martí said.

The broadcast said two peasants were killed Saturday when the air force, using A-37 "Dragonfly" warjets, bombed civilian targets near the town of Suchitoto, 30 miles north of San Salvador.

The rebels said it was the 29th aerial attack by government forces on civilian targets this year and urged church and other humanitarian organizations to push for a halt to the bombings.

El Salvador has six U.S.-supplied A-37s, which carry 500-pound bombs and rockets.

Military sources reported seven Salvadoran rebels were killed in a battle for control of Uluazapa and Comacaran, both located in eastern San Miguel province, in a nightlong attack that began Saturday.

Residents in Comacaran said the guerrillas entered the town unopposed at midnight Saturday and burned the town halls before government troops arrived. By Sunday the army took control of Comacaran.

Talks opening today in Panama mark the 13th meeting of the Contadora group — made up of Mexico, Colombia, Venezuela and Panama. The group, which seeks to bring about a negotiated solution to the conflict in Central America, was formed in January 1983.

Last month, the Contadora ministers met with their counterparts from Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Costa Rica and Nicaragua, reportedly reaching a consensus on the group's Document of Objectives — the basis for the drawing up of a peace treaty.

The document includes proposals for an arms freeze in Central America and the withdrawal of foreign military advisers from the region.

Belizean Prime Minister George Price's official visit to Honduras ended Sunday with the signing of a cultural and commercial treaty, officials said.

Guatemala, which claims the former British colony on the Caribbean Sea as its territory based on a 19th century railroad treaty with the British, sent an official note of protest to Honduras.

Honduran Foreign Minister Edgardo Paz Barmic responded to the protest by calling neighboring Belize "a democratic government founded in the popular will of the people."

Belize gained independence from Britain in September 1981.

Computers Get to Soviet Union

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Millions of dollars worth of computer technology has been illegally exported to the Soviet Union via border bridges linking New York state and Canada, a Customs Service official said.

Roger Urbanski, head of the U.S. Customs technology investigation branch in Washington, told United Press International Sunday the border bridges from the Buffalo, N.Y., area to Canada are used extensively by people illegally exporting high-technology computers to the Soviet Union.

"The kind of computer equipment we're talking about here is something less than the sophisticated Vax11-782 that was seized (recently) by the German customs service in Hamburg and by Swedish customs in Sweden," Urbanski said.

He said the case involved several U.S. and foreign firms and several million dollars worth of "controlled commodities ... whose uses in the Soviet Union are presumed to be primarily military."

"We're talking about a case that is pre-indictment so we're severely limited in what we can say," Urbanski said.

A copyright story in the Sunday edition of the Buffalo News said computers manufactured by an unidentified New England firm were being transported into New York state, and eventually into Canada over border bridges. The story said they were then shipped to Germany, on to Switzerland and finally to the Soviet Union.

The News also said a federal grand jury investigating the computer export scam is expected to issue indictments in their probe, which began in 1981 and is called one of the largest in the history of a U.S. Customs program.

The investigation has been dubbed "Exodus," the News said.

"I think that this case will indicate the success of the customs program," Urbanski said. "We're very proud of it because we're breaking down illicit technology trade."

Federal law prohibits the export of such technology to Warsaw Pact nations because of its military applications. The News said it was told by officials that, for example, an integrated circuit could be taken from a video game and used in a missile guidance system.

"It's plausible but extreme," Urbanski said when asked about the video example.

Hunt Continues For Killer Fugitives

KINGSPORT, Tenn. (UPI) — Two fugitives who have left a trail of terror since fleeing prison nine days ago may be holed up with friends in the East Tennessee mountains, lawmen say.

Arzo Carson, chief of the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation, said searchers will have to spot roadblocks, follow up on tips and do other "basic police work" to apprehend the pair. The men are described as armed and extremely dangerous.

James Clegg, 30, a former Ghost Riders motorcycle gang member who wears a skull and crossbones tattoo on his forearm, and Richard Freeman, 41, a former church deacon convicted of killing his wife and stepdaughter, are the subjects of one of the most massive manhunts ever launched in the region.

"As we receive tips, we will evaluate them to see if they appear to be of any value," Carson said Sunday. "The rest is basic police work."

Carson said lawmen are convinced the pair are still in the area.

"It is more than just a belief," he said. "With the tight surveillance we've had and the fact that nothing positive has developed outside the area, we feel quite sure they are still in the area."

The pair emerged from their two-day hideout last Tuesday and shot down Paul Windrow while he grilled steaks in his backyard near Brownsville. They kidnapped Windrow's wife, drove 400 miles east to Knoxville and released her unharmed.

Officers believe they had two positive sightings of the heavily armed men on Thursday. Carson said Freeman and Clegg were seen in the Halls area of Knox County on Thursday and the fugitives stayed in a house there.

Three Killed, Three Hurt In Empty Tanker Explosion

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Twenty crewmen, along with the bodies of three of their mates, were to be rescued today when a tug tries to bring to port the 661-foot "American Eagle" tanker that was damaged by an explosion.

The names of the dead were not immediately available. Three injured crewmen were listed in stable condition at Meadowcrest Hospital in Gretna, La., spokesman Curt Schroeder said.

Radio communications with the disabled vessel were severed when the explosion occurred about noon Sunday, some 180 miles southwest of New Orleans in the forward section of the tanker, a Coast Guard spokesman said today.

A tugboat was scheduled to pull the tanker, which reportedly suffered a fractured hull, into Port Arthur, Texas, near the Louisiana border.

Among the injured was Richard Poole, 61, of Beverly, Mass., who was in stable condition with multiple fractures. Two other 58-year-old men, who requested anonymously, also were in stable condition with fractures and contusions.

The tanker, reportedly based in New York and owned by the American Steamship Co., dropped anchor to ride out heavy rainstorms and high winds, the spokesman said.

The Coast Guard initially reported only three crewmen were injured in the explosion, but learned when the injured men arrived at the hospital around 9:10 p.m. CST that three others had died, the spokesman said.

"It was basically a communications breakdown," he said. "They had no radio and we didn't know about the dead until the injured men arrived at the hospital."

The Coast Guard was notified of the explosion by a British vessel that witnessed the blast, which reportedly lifted the hull of the vessel out of the water.

The Coast Guard spokesman said the British vessel stood by overnight in case the "Eagle" needed help.

"Right now, they are right next to each other," he said shortly after midnight today.

A Coast Guard helicopter arrived at the tanker about 6 p.m. The pilot planned to bring the victims to a New Orleans hospital but was forced on to Gretna because of high winds.

The spokesman said the empty tanker was en route to New Orleans, but he did not know the ship's port of origin.

ACLU Raps Reagan Rights Stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Civil Liberties Union is accusing the Reagan administration of laxly enforcing civil rights laws and says it is fearful the government's attitude will soon "breed widespread contempt for the law."

In a blistering 28-page report on the administration's civil rights record, the ACLU accused the administration of a "radical and shameful assault" on civil rights enforcement that "could plunge the country back into historic patterns of race and sex discrimination."

"The Reagan administration seeks to weaken drastically the federal government's civil rights enforcement authority," the report said. "Its actions are comparable to having a district attorney decide to abandon fraud prosecutions because he disagrees with the way the legislature defined the elements of the offense."

"Although the organization hasn't shown us the courtesy of letting us see the so-called report, from the title alone it's clear that it was written with purely political motives or was prepared by people who simply don't know what they're talking about," spokesman Tom Decal said Sunday.

"The Reagan administration is vigorously enforcing the civil rights laws and has done so for three years. We have brought more criminal civil rights cases than any administration; we have moved into new areas to protect the rights of institutionalized persons and pregnant women," he said.

Turn Off The Contras

Nicaragua's Sandinista junta is scheduled to hold elections, sometime next year, for a president and a 90-member constituent assembly whose main task would be to write a constitution within two years. It claims the elections will be open to all political parties not advocating the violent overthrow of the existing government, and that censorship will be lifted during the electoral campaign to give all contenders an equal chance. Understandably, the Reagan administration is skeptical, given the wide gap between the promise and today's repressive reality. Even so, it would be both fair and tactically prudent to match the Sandinista initiative with a gesture that would both lower the tension in Central America and, in effect, call the Sandinistas' bluff.

Members of the Sandinista directorate cite the external threat posed by the United States — specifically, the CIA-backed rebellion based in Honduras and led by former officers of the Somoza regime overthrown in 1979 — as the principle obstacle to a speedy democratization of Nicaragua. That may be no more convincing to skeptics than the Reagan administration's public insistence that it doesn't want to overthrow the Sandinistas, just get them to stop exporting their revolution to El Salvador and introduce democratic reforms.

Even so, the best way to test the Sandinistas' claim would be to put the contra rebels on a very short leash for the indefinite future. In other words, declare a moratorium on any military action in and around Nicaragua until the government in Managua proves it is serious about making peace with its neighbors and giving its own people more freedom.

Failure by the United States to make at least some conciliatory gesture would only provide the Sandinistas with a convenient pretext to slow down, modify or cancel the threat to national security. That may be what the Reagan administration wants, of course, since it's always easier to rally public support behind a confrontation with a demonstrably repressive regime than with one that appears, for the moment at least, to be trying to placate its most formidable adversary.

Teen-Ager Break

With economic recovery well under way and unemployment continuing to fall, one problem remains unresolved — black teen-age unemployment.

The national unemployment rate is 8 percent, but the unemployment rate for black teenagers is just under 50 percent — more than twice the rate for teen-agers as a whole.

One of the most promising remedies for this problem is the Reagan administration's proposed sub-minimum wage, which lowers the minimum wage for teen-agers from $3.35 to $2.50 an hour, thereby encouraging employers to hire unskilled youths.

An enormous roadblock to employment for black teen-agers is their lack of job skills. Black youngsters are too often unskilled because minimum wages have priced them out of the market; they've never had job experience. The sub-minimum wage recognizes that labor, like any other commodity, is purchased more readily when it is inexpensive.

Still, opposition to the sub-minimum wage is fierce. President Carter's Chairman on the U.S. Minimum Wage Study Commission said he opposed it "even if it would substantially reduce youth unemployment," because it was antithetical to "social justice."

But what "social justice" is served by keeping teen-agers unemployed?

Minimum wages lock people out of work. In South Africa, a minimum wage protects white workers from black competition. And in this country, it defends labor unions against persons willing to work for lower pay.

Indeed, some union spokesmen assert that every job taken by a sub-minimum wage teen-ager would be at the expense of a more highly paid adult. But the American economy is not a zero-sum game where everyone gets a job at someone else's expense. Productive workers enable businesses to expand, creating more job opportunities. And with a sub-minimum wage, consumers would see the return of many services currently too expensive for businesses to offer — filling station attendants, ushers, elevator operators, and so on.

Adoption of the sub-minimum wage would be good for everyone and result in lower unemployment for one of America's hardest-hit groups.

"Look what deregulation did for YOU!"

By Donna Estes

The 82-year-old Sanford Grammar School at 7th Street and Myrtle Avenue in Sanford will continue to lend its rich heritage to the students of Seminole County if plans materialize to create a children's educational museum there when it is phased out as a school at the end of this school year.

Right now a committee, headed by Bettye Smith, and members Jack Horner, president of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce; John Mercer, the banker and active chamber member, and Jim Elliott, social studies coordinator for the county school system, is looking into the possibilities.

It's obvious that tax moneys cannot be used to create the museum and a search is on for grants.

The facility built in the sturdy two-story style of schools of its era, right after the turn of the century, presents all kinds of possibilities for restoration that would cost little in terms of money but much in elbow grease.

Much of the school's interior beauty, such as the wainscoting has been covered over the years with a dull green-type paint of no telling how many layers.

The hard wood floors could no doubt be brought back to life and beauty with a coat or two of polyurethane to make them glisten.

County Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff, a student there in his youth, remembers janitors throwing a mixture of some kind of "green stuff" on the floors to protect them.

The children of many fine old Sanford families went to the school in their youth including Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. and former legislator and Sanford attorney Mack N. Cleveland Jr., who must have fond memories of their days there. Also a past student there was Sanford Grammar's principal of today, Kenneth Echols.

Sanford Grammar was built in 1902 with approval and financing from the city of Sanford as the Sanford High School. What is now Seminole County was still part of Orange then. It wasn't until 1913 that Seminole became a county.

The new school was so important to the community of Sanford, all the stores in the city closed and a parade marched to the school site for the cornerstone laying ceremony on April 19, 1902. The building was completed in time for classes in September, that year.

A short time after the school was built, oak trees, some of which are still standing, were planted on the school grounds.

Although built as a high school, the school actually housed both secondary and elementary grades until the new high school was opened in January, 1911 at Palmetto Avenue between 9th and 10th streets. The former high school was then named Sanford Grammar School.

The first field trip for Sanford Grammar was recorded in May, 1914, when the fifth grade class went by a straw ride to Woodland Park — the area where the Central Florida Zoo is now located.

If the school, the fourth oldest still operating in the state of Florida, is converted to a children's museum, it will be renamed in honor of the late educator, Margaret Reynolds.

Consideration is also being given to using the Southside school as an administrative annex and Hopper as an exceptional educational center after they are phased out this year.

Coping With Lung Disease

By David Singleton

DANVILLE, Pa. (UPI) — Two years ago, simple household chores such as taking out the garbage or scrubbing the bathtub were painful tasks for Leon Gray. Even dressing in the morning left him gasping for breath.

Gray, 57, suffers from chronic obstructive lung disease, a debilitating, incurable illness that robs its victims of endurance and makes breathing itself a conscious, sometimes taxing act.

But unlike many of the estimated 40 million other Americans who have the disease, Gray now leads a largely normal life, thanks to an unusual pulmonary rehabilitation program at Geisinger Medical Center.

"It helped me back on my feet," said Gray, an office worker at Anchor-Darling Valve Co. in Williamsport.

Geisinger started its program in 1981 to help victims of chronic obstructive lung disease — emphysema, chronic bronchitis or asthma — live longer, fuller lives, said Dr. Norman Ekberg, the program's director.

"Our goal is either to stop the progress of the disease, or, at the very least, have a patient who knows how to deal with it," Ekberg said.

People with chronic obstructive lung disease have difficulty exhaling — "like trying to breathe out a tiny pinhole" — resulting in a shortness of breath and a reduced oxygen level in the bloodstream, he said.

Taking a shower becomes a breathtaking experience, and venturing outside on a cold day becomes a strenuous undertaking, said Ekberg.

"It's really a vicious cycle," he said. "Patients who develop the disease limit their physical activity because of the shortness of breath. But reducing the activity lets the muscles weaken, leading to more fatigue and more shortness of breath."

The main thrust of Geisinger's rehabilitation program, consisting of six monthly visits to the hospital with six-month and one-year follow-ups, is educational, said pulmonary nurse specialist Dorothy Vajo.

Patients learn about the disease, its progression and its treatment, she said. They receive tailored exercise programs and are taught breathing and relaxation techniques.

Some patients are placed on strict diets, and in severe cases, a patient may be assigned an oxygen breathing system, Ms. Vajo said.

"Probably one of the biggest problems is patients develop an extreme fear of being short of breath," said Ekberg. "So we teach them if they breathe slowly, they can do more. It takes the edge off that panicky feeling."

In addition to their physical disability, people with chronic lung disease often have psychological scars and suffer from depression, Ekberg said.

Major Moves In Kremlin Overlooked

WASHINGTON — The press has reported, quite correctly, that U.S. intelligence was caught asleep at the switch by the death of Kremlin leader Yuri Andropov and his replacement by Konstantin Chernenko.

An insider admitted to me that the CIA wasn't sure whether Andropov was dead or alive during his last days. The first signs of his passing were noticed by the Washington Post's Moscow correspondent, Dusko Doder. The Post alerted U.S. government officials several hours before the first intelligence sightings reached Washington.

After Chernenko had already been anointed, the CIA's Kremlinologists were still predicting that Mikhail Gorbachev would be the new Soviet leader. Not until Chernenko appeared as head of the funeral commission did the CIA conclude that he had emerged as chief comrade. He had been a low fourth on its list of likely prospects.

VIEWPOINT

Getting Tough On Drugs

By Bill Lohmann
United Press International

School districts throughout Florida are getting tough with students who buy, sell or use drugs.

Many educators no longer treat student drug offenders with kid gloves. In the past, students caught with drugs might be sent to a rehabilitation program and welcomed back to class.

Now, some school districts expel first-time offenders for the remainder of the year and call in the law.

In Brevard County, one of the state's strictest drug policies has created a noisy confrontation between the school board and the American Civil Liberties Union.

More than 70 students have been expelled from Brevard middle and high schools since September under the toughened policy that calls for the immediate expulsion of students caught with drugs on campus.

Several students have been thrown out of school for selling or possessing caffeine pills that had been represented as amphetamines.

The ACLU has filed suit against the school board, charging the policy is unconstitutional. But the suit is not expected to go to trial for several months.

"My personal feeling is that it goes beyond harsh," said Burton Green, president of the Brevard chapter of the ACLU. "I'm not sure everyone involved with a little bit of drugs ought to be thrown out of school, and that's the school board's position."

This is the first full year for Brevard's anti-drug policy. Previously, Brevard school officials preferred issuing short suspensions and used expulsion as a "last resort," said school board spokeswoman Chevron Baccus.

Ms. Baccus said the drug problem in Brevard schools was no worse than elsewhere but past policies did little to stop the flow of drugs into the schools.

"We knew that what we were doing wasn't working, so we were willing to try something else," said Ms. Baccus. "We don't know that the problem is growing. But as long as there are drugs in schools, we have a problem."

"Our first priority is to provide an atmosphere conducive to learning. We've heard from teachers, who say the policy is having an effect in the classrooms. It hurts the board to expell kids, but the hard line is the only way to make an impact on the kids."

Brevard school board member Larry Williamson said the crackdown works.

"There is no question in my mind it is working," said Williamson. "For years, these children have come right back to the classroom. It is bad for morale. I'm glad we have school board members with the guts to do it (expell students)."

Said school board chairman Bill Baker, "Our ultimate objective is to have drug-free schools."

Duval County, the nation's 17th-largest school district, has a similar hard-line policy with students caught possessing or selling drugs.

So far this school year, more than 200 Duval students have been expelled.

"I think what we do really proves that the students will rise to the level of conduct expected of them," said Herb Sang, superintendent of Duval schools. "I think that we have to have rigid rules and expect students to abide by them."

Elsewhere in Florida, school districts vary in their treatment of drug offenders.

In Escambia and Bay counties, officials prefer a softer approach to students with drug problems.

"We don't say they will be expelled," said James Whatley, director of secondary education in Escambia. "We look at each case."

In Pinellas County, a five-day suspension is handed out for a first drug offense. Automatic expulsion comes only after three offenses. Students can be expelled for up to two years for only one offense, but they also can receive a short suspension and be reinstated in school with some restrictions.

In Broward County, students are expelled automatically only after at least two drug violations.

More than 700 students were expelled from schools last year compared with about 550 two years before.

State's Uncanny Knack

By Arnold Sawiak

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New Hampshire may seem an odd place to begin the presidential primaries, but since 1952 the state has had an uncanny knack for spotlighting the candidate who will win the November election.

New Hampshire has held the first presidential primary since 1920, when it was set in mid-March to coincide with the much older traditional town meeting day.

In 1952, New Hampshire grabbed the spotlight because it was the first election anywhere for Dwight D. Eisenhower. When he beat Sen. Robert A. Taft, R-Ohio, and — in a real shocker — Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., defeated President Truman, the primary was on the political map to stay.

New Hampshire shrugs off criticism that it is in no way a fair test of candidates for national office. It is eighth from the bottom in population, has no real major cities, smokestack industries and the problems that go with them, has a much smaller percentage of minority population than the country at large and has the lowest unemployment in the nation.

With only 462,000 registered voters and less than a quarter of that likely to vote in the primary, it is easy to argue that New Hampshire can prove little in the national political scheme.

But the record indicates it has done just that. Since 1952, no one has won the presidency without first winning the New Hampshire primary, although a number of candidates have won their party nominations without a victory in New Hampshire.

For example, Eisenhower won the primary in 1956, but his November opponent, Adlai Stevenson, was beaten by Kefauver. In 1960, both John Kennedy and Richard Nixon began their march toward nomination by winning the New Hampshire primary.

In 1964, President Johnson had no trouble in New Hampshire, but Yankee Republicans put up Henry Cabot Lodge to beat Sen. Barry Goldwater. In 1968, it was the Nixon comeback kickoff, and it was Johnson over Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., by such a narrow margin that LBJ quit the race shortly thereafter.

In 1972, Nixon won the GOP primary again, and Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, beat Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D. in the Democratic test, but did not come up to expectations and saw his presidential hopes fade.

By 1976, the primary had a life of its own, and Georgian Jimmy Carter used its mystique to start his unheralded drive to the Democratic nomination. President Ford beat Ronald Reagan on the GOP side.

The meaning of all this is that presidential candidates won't dare ignore New Hampshire unless the state falls completely to select an eventual winner.

In contrast, top-secret reports describe Chernenko as a master bureaucrat, skilled at "handling paper work." Unlike Andropov who sought to put his own stamp on the Politburo, Chernenko is expected to function more as "chairman of the board." In the words of the CIA, he'll be "responsible for seeing to it that Politburo decisions are carried out — that is, as the top civil servant of the Politburo, not as its master."

Chernenko is also portrayed in intelligence reports as a cautious leader who isn't likely to go beyond the brink and may even "get detente with the United States back on the track." Given his advanced age and frail health (he's 72 years old and is reported to have emphysema), Chernenko will be another interim leader.

Seminoles Win District

By Chris Pieter
Herald Sports Writer

After beating three quality teams (Tampa Catholic, Decatur, Ga. and Miami Carol City) in the Kingdom of the Sun Holiday Classic at Ocala, Sanford's Fighting Seminoles knew they could play with anybody.

Although the Seminoles didn't set the Five Star Conference on fire during the regular season, Seminole coach Chris Marlette reminded his Fighting Seminoles what they had done in Ocala and geared up for the 4A District 9 Tournament at Lake Mary High. After two tough victories over Lake Mary and Spruce Creek, the Seminoles advanced to Saturday's finals against DeLand's Bulldogs.

Seminole pounded the boards Saturday to offset the key to DeLand's game and came away with a 50-42 victory and the district title.

"After we beat those three good teams at the Kingdom of the Sun, we knew we could play with anybody," Marlette said. "We had some problems during the regular season, but the kids were ready to play tonight. They played with good intensity."

Seminole now goes on to the 4A Region 5 playoff Tuesday against Orlando Evans at Evans High. Evans upset fourth-ranked Oak Ridge in the semifinals, then routed Edgewater in the finals, 64-41.

Willie Mitchell and James Rouse, the Tribe's top two scorers in the first two games of the district, came through again Saturday as Mitchell fired in 15 points and grabbed eight rebounds and Rouse pumped in 14 points and ripped down 11 boards. Jimmy Gilchrist added 10 points and 10 rebounds and he made a key assist out of the spread offense that put the victory on ice for Seminole.

Randy Anderson led DeLand with 11 points and Darrin Nealy added 10. DeLand, which got to the final with victories over Apopka and Mainland, hit the boards hard in the first quarter and used its 8-3 rebounding edge in the quarter to build a 13-9 lead going into the second.

The Seminoles came out sizzling in the second quarter and ran off 10 straight points at the beginning of the quarter to take a 19-13 lead. Seminole led by eight points, 23-15, with two minutes left in the quarter, but DeLand scored six unanswered points to pull within two, 23-21, at halftime.

After falling behind by six early in the third quarter, DeLand rallied to tie it at 27-27. Seminole then scored six straight points to go back up by six and the Tribe took a five-point lead, 37-32, into the fourth.

DeLand managed to stay within four points, 40-36, midway through the fourth quarter when Seminole made its move. The Tribe reeled off seven straight points to take a 47-36 lead with 3:08 remaining.

DeLand fought back within seven, 47-40, and had a chance to cut it to five but committed a turnover with 1:01 remaining. Seminole then went to its spread offense and ran 15 seconds off the clock until Gilchrist saw Kenny Gordon going backdoor and hit him underneath for a layup that clinched the victory for the 'Noles. Gordon's layup, with 45 seconds remaining, gave Seminole a 49-40 lead.

"I saw the whole thing developing," Gilchrist said of the play. "I knew we had it won after Kenny made that layup."

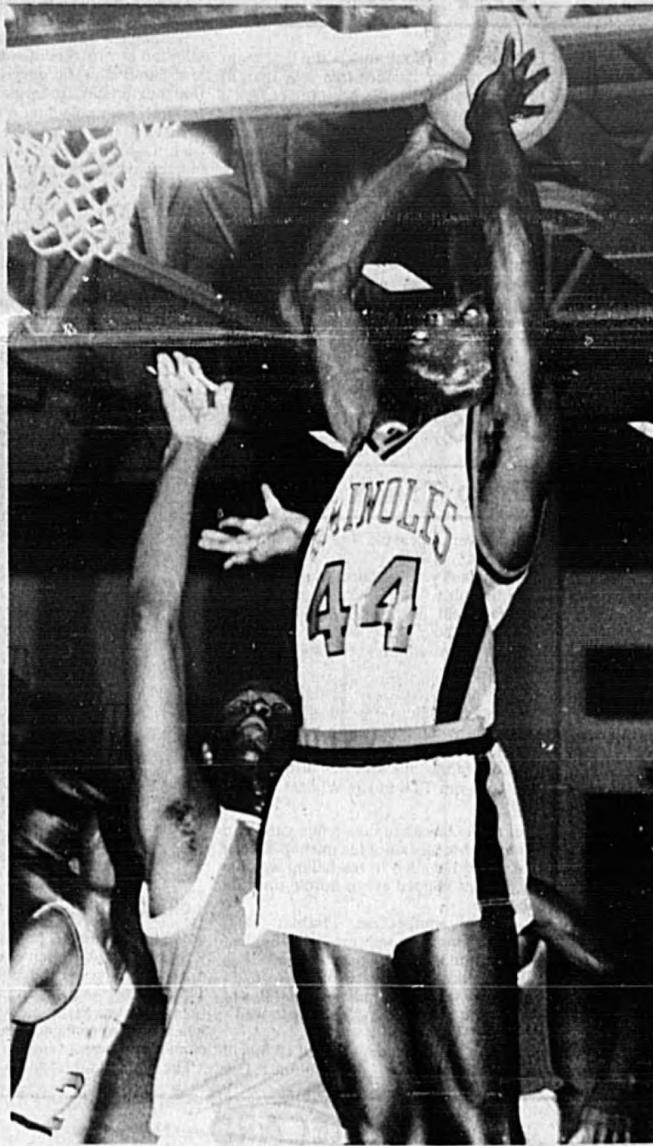

After being out-rebounded in the first quarter, Seminole turned the tables on DeLand and wound up out-rebounding the Bulldogs, 39-28, for the game.

"We knew we had to control the boards," Marlette said. "That's DeLand's strong point."

DELAND (42) — Anderson 11, Carter 2, Collins 4, Fair 4, Footman 4, Gilmore 2, Nealy 10, Weichel 5. Totals: 18 44 42.

SEMINOLE (50) — Franklin 7, Gilchrist 10, Gordon 4, Gray 9, Holtzman 9, Mitchell 13, Rouse 14, Stille 9. Totals: 21 8 17 50.

Halftime — Seminole 23, DeLand 21. Fouls — Seminole 1, DeLand 11. Fouled out — none. Technicals — none.

Jimmy Gilchrist goes high in the air to drop in a short jumper. The 6-4 Seminole center had 10 points and 10 rebounds as the Tribe dropped DeLand, 50-42, for the 4A District 9 basketball championship. Seminole plays Evans at Orlando Tuesday in the regional.

Likens Does It

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

CLEARWATER — Last year Lake Mary wrestler Jack Likens was a 109-pound package of dynamite. He ran off 32 straight victories and won the State 3A championship.

That was last year, though. And as the old saying goes, "What have you done for us lately, Jack?" A new year would be a new challenge. The Rams were up a division to 4A. Competition was tougher and stronger. The pressure of being a defending champion followed Likens like a shadow.

"There's just no comparison between 3A and 4A," Lake Mary coach Frank Schwartz exclaimed after a day at the 4A meet at Clearwater Countryside High School. "The 4A wrestlers are awesome. I've never seen so many specimens."

And, as it turned out, there was no comparison between Jack Likens and the rest of the field either. The sensational senior made it two championships in a row Saturday night as he completed a four-wrestler blitz to wrap up the 109-pound division with a 2-0 victory over St. Pete Northeast's Tom Brady.

"Jack just had a sensational tournament," said Schwartz, whose Rams finished 10th with 29 points. "Hours after his match, the people were still buzzing about him. He only gave up one point the whole tournament."

Likens started in impressive fashion Friday with a 10-0 victory over North Miami's Billy La Fausl in the first round and a pin at 3:14 of Taravelia's Pat Adler in the second round.

"There was a lot of pressure," said the articulate senior about the first day of wrestling. "Especially that first match. But after I got in the groove, though, I relaxed."

Saturday morning's match was regarded as one of Likens' toughest — and he came through with a command performance. He used his specialty, a counter to a single-leg for the first takedown against Hollywood McArthur's Bruce Gibnitsky, then piled up a lead with backpoints, a reversal and another takedown en route to a 9-1 victory. "I wrestled really well that match," he confided. "That may have been my best one of the tournament."

Then, only Tom Brady stood between Likens and his second state championship. He didn't stand too long. After sparring much of the first period, Likens short-dragged Brady onto the mat for a takedown and a 2-0 lead in the closing seconds of the period.

"I heard coach (Doug) Peters yell, 'there's just 10 seconds left,'" said Likens. "I knew I had better do something quick or nothing at all."

In the second period, Likens was on top and he controlled Brady throughout the two minutes. "I couldn't turn him, but I held him down pretty easily," said Likens.

Likens was on the bottom in the last two minutes and he knew he had to be leery of Brady's legs — his prime weapon. "I had watched him earlier in the day," said Likens. "He was very good with his legs, so I had to stay away from that."

"I was cautious but I knew if I was real careful he wouldn't get me."

Likens said following up his 3A championship was his prime motivation. "Everywhere I wrestled last summer, people would say he was a 3A champion," said Likens. "I heard a lot of talk and felt that I had something to prove in 4A. Also, there was a lot of pressure because some of the college coaches were waiting on me to see how I would do this year."

The wait is over for both. Likens will now sift through the offers. He has applied to the Naval Academy and also is interested in Duke, Virginia, North Carolina and Georgia Tech.

Along with Likens, Seminole County had another place winner in Lake Brantley's Joe Waresak. The 159-pound junior outlasted Lake Mary's Brent Blakely on a referee's decision after overtime to reach the consolation final. He was leading early in the third-place match, but was then pinned at 4:25 by Mel Urso of Tampa King.

Blakely turned in a quality performance. Despite being fourth in the regional because of its high quality, the rugged senior was within seconds of whipping Waresak on two occasions. Blakely had a 2-0 lead with 20 seconds left when he was called for stalling. With two seconds left, Waresak escaped to send it into overtime.

Blakely also lead by a point with two seconds left in overtime when Waresak tied it. Waresak was then awarded the decision on referee's criteria because Blakely had a penalty point.

Four other county wrestlers — Lake Mary's Bob Olson (142) and Ivan Carbia (109) along with Lyman's Jay Hunsziker (136) and Derek Smith (159) — won their first matches of the wrestleback, but lost their second.

Lake Mary unlimited Robert Rawls, who Schwartz expected to be in the finals, won his first match Friday and lost his second. He didn't qualify for the wrestlebacks because the wrestler which beat him lost.

Anderson 'Draws' Bandits Past Houston

TAMPA (UPI) — The Tampa Bay Bandits capitalized on a key penalty and a defense that bent but did not break in the final minutes to win their United States Football League opener 20-17 against the expansionist Houston Gamblers.

Houston appeared on its way to a victory in its first game Sunday, leading 17-14 with less than three minutes to play and the Bandits in a desperation situation.

But as Gary Anderson dropped a third down pass from John Reaves at the Houston 40, a yellow flag fluttered to the ground far away from the play.

Gambler defensive back Donald Dykes was called for a personal foul in an altercation with wide receiver Willie Gillespie and instead of 4th and 20 at the 45 yard-line, the Bandits were first and 10 at the 30.

Three plays later Anderson scored his second touchdown on a 12-yard draw play and the Bandits had the lead.

But even then, they were not out of the woods. Zenon Andruyshyn, who was two-for-three in field goals, missed the extra point leaving it possible for the Gamblers to send the game into overtime with a field goal.

Bulls 53, Federals 14

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — The opening game of the Jacksonville Bulls' first United States Football League season couldn't have gone better for the Bulls or worse for the defeated Washington Generals.

"If we had written a script for this we couldn't have written a better one," Bulls head coach Lindy Infante said of the 53-14 victory, which set a record for points scored in a USFL game. "Everything fell into place."

Quarterback Matt Robinson sparked Jacksonville offensively by passing for 299 yards and three touchdowns. The Bulls' defense climbed all over the hapless Federals, pulling in five interceptions.

Generals 17, Stallions 8

At Birmingham, Ala., a league-record 62,300 fans turned out to the Generals spoil the USFL debut of Stallions' running back Joe Cribbs and quarterback Cliff Stoudt. New Jersey's Maurice Carthon scored two touchdowns and Roger Ruzkek added a 51-yard field goal. Scott Norwood had field goals of 26 and 32 yards for Birmingham.

Stars 17, Showboats 9

At Memphis, Tenn., Chuck Fusina lobbed a 42-yard touchdown pass and turned in a 38-yard run to set up a final score for Philadelphia. A crowd of 28,098 was at the Liberty Bowl on the chilly, overcast day to watch the debut performance of the Showboats, one of a handful of expansion teams to join the USFL in its second season.

Outlaws 7, Maulers 3

At Tulsa, Okla., Doug Williams, making his USFL debut, threw a 12-yard touchdown pass to Derek Hughes with 87 seconds left to produce the victory. The game drew 15,937 and was played in rainy, windy conditions. Oklahoma kept Pittsburgh running back Rozler in check, limiting the Nebraska product to just 27 yards on 16 carries.

Breakers 13, Gunslingers 10

At San Antonio, Texas, fullback Mark Schellen ran for one touchdown and quarterback Johnny Walton threw a fourth-quarter scoring pass for New Orleans.

Gold 27, Express 10

At Los Angeles, Elmer Bailey caught a 6-yard scoring pass from Craig Penrose with 5:50 remaining to break a 10-10 tie and ignite Denver.

Wranglers 35, Invaders 7

The Arizona Wranglers did little to dissuade those who picked them among the favorites in the USFL's second season Sunday.

Greg Landry threw two touchdown passes and the Wranglers blasted the Oakland Invaders 35-7 in the season opener despite the extra pressure put on the team by its coach.

Expos Peddle Oliver To Giants For Hurler

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI) — Montreal first baseman Al Oliver has been acquired by San Francisco in a deal that may send one of the Giants' starting pitchers to the Expos, the San Francisco Chronicle has reported.

The Giants refused to comment on the report. Club spokesman Duffy Jennings said, "We have a press conference called for tomorrow (Monday) morning. I will not confirm or deny it tonight."

Oliver, 37, one of baseball's most consistent hitters with a .300 or better average the last eight seasons, reportedly has two years remaining at $600,000 per year in his contract with the Expos.

The Chronicle reported that in return for Oliver, the Giants may trade one of right-handers Bill Laskey, Fred Breining or Mike Krukow. Breining was believed to be the most likely candidate.

Oliver won the 1982 National League batting title with a .331 average.

In other baseball news at Sarasota, "The Bull" entered like a lamb, but don't let that fool you. Greg Luzinski will be ready for another charge at the flag. Luzinski reported to the Chicago White Sox camp Sunday and failed to hit a ball out of the infield against the offerings of left-hander Britt Burns.

"Bull" was the American League's premier designated hitter last year with 35 home runs and 95 RBI, helping to lead the Chi Sox to their rampage through the Western Division.

For now, Weight and conditioning matter more than batting average.

"I play best at 240," said Luzinski, who weighed 247 pounds at the end of last season. "I'm close to that now."

Luzinski, a former Philadelphia Phillies' outfielder, missed the first three days of camp for business reasons.

Reliever Ron Reed suffered a pulled right Achilles' tendon during a drill and will miss a few days.

At Lakeland, Fla., Rick Leach, who knew success years ago as the University of Michigan's quarterback, is still struggling to establish himself as a Detroit Tigers player.

Al Oliver ...swapped to Giants

In his fourth year as a major leaguer, Leach, 26, says he has found happiness being a big leaguer.

At West Palm Beach, manager Bill Virdon announced that four-time Golden Glove center fielder Andre Dawson would move to right field and three-time all-star leftfielder Tim Lincecum would take over in center field. Virdon said it would take some of the wear and tear away from Dawson, who has one of the top arms in baseball. It would also free left field for Pete Rose, Mike Feunteun or Terry Francona, none of whom are good fielders.

Also, Montreal pitcher Greg Harris was struck on the left eye by a pop fly. Ten stitches were needed to close cuts five inches above and below his eyebrow.

Cougars Top Arkansas

United Press International Arkansas, the team that brought you its stunner against North Carolina, had another blockbuster in the works Sunday.

Facing No. 3 Houston on the road, the No. 11 Razorbacks led 32-27 at the half, courtesy of a killer fullcourt press and five steals in 10 minutes by Alvin Robertson.

"But there were to be no repeats along the lines of the 85-64 upset of No. 1 North Carolina two weeks ago."

With the Razorbacks' shooting having turned to stone and Alvin Franklin of Houston hitting 12 of his 14 points in the second half, the Cougars rallied to a 64-61 victory.

Houston, 25-3, won its 38th straight league game and opened a two-game lead over Arkansas in the Southwest Conference. The Cougars need only beat last-place Baylor Wednesday night to win their second straight title.

"This game hurts a lot," Arkansas center Joe Kleine said. "We should have won it. We gave it away. I can't ever remember an Arkansas team blowing so many layups."

Franklin was without a field goal in the first half. But he reeled off eight straight points midway through the second half to put the Cougars on top for good with eight minutes left.

"He was outstanding," Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton said. "He hit the key shots and got them running when it looked like we might have what it took to stay in front."

Akeem Olajuwon, Houston's menacing 7-footer, finished with 19 points, 10 rebounds and 6 blocked shots. Michael Young, the SWC's top scorer, added 17 points for the Cougars. Robertson scored 20 points for the Hogs and Kleine delivered 17 points and 11 rebounds.

Lady Seminoles Add Oak Ridge To Victim's List

By Chris Pister
Herald Sports Writer

Seminole High's girls track team has enjoyed tremendous success over the past four years. Coach Emory Blake's teams have won the district title four years in a row and the Lady Seminoles won the regionals last year after finishing second two years in a row.

But, what was missing off the teams of the past was balance in all the events. In 1984, Seminole is competitive in every event and this may be the year the Lady Seminoles go all the way.

Seminole unveiled its overall talent Saturday as it rolled to first place in the Lake Brantley Open, cruising past Metro-Conference and perennial state powers Orlando Oak Ridge and Orlando Evans.

Seminole's balance was evident Saturday as it won the meet despite winning only two events. The Lady Tribe piled up 55 points to easily get by Oak Ridge and Evans. It was the first time Seminole had ever beaten Oak Ridge.

"If we ever had a chance to go all the way, this should be the year," Blake said. "Overall, this is the best team I've had. We have a lot more balance this year than in the past. And the girls realize that it's not a time to get a big head, but just a time to get better."

Speed has always been the strength for the Lady Seminoles and, as usual, its in abundance again this year. However, Seminole's improvement in the field events and distance events makes the Tribe even harder to beat.

"We usually don't get many points in the field events, Oak Ridge or Evans would usually come out ahead in the field events in any other year," Blake said. "But, Saturday we came out of the field events with 18 points and in the lead."

Diidre Hillery's third place in the shot put and Tammy Tringle's fifth place in the discus got Seminole off to a good start Saturday. Charita Medlock and Crystal Caldwell then went one-two in the long jump for 12 points. Medlock won with a leap of 17-5 and Caldwell was second at 17-0.

Seminole's improvement in the field events with the addition of two good distance runners (Debbie Coleman and Sarah Elmore), gives the Tribe an overall balance that it didn't have in the past.

While Seminole breezed to first place, followed by Evans and Oak Ridge who tied for second with 41 points each, Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks finished a close fourth, just three points behind the Orlando schools, with 38 points. Other Seminole County finishes included Lyman which was third with 30, Lake Mary was seventh at 25, Trinity Prep eighth with 14, Lake Brantley ninth with 12 and Oviedo 13th with 8.5.

Lake Howell got a first place in the discus from Christy Scott (116-7) and third place finishes from Sheryl Brinkley in the high jump (5-0) and Amy Ertel in the mile run (5:27.7).

Schowonda Williams returned to action for Lyman's Lady Greyhounds Saturday and immediately made her presence felt as she won the 330 low hurdles with a blazing 44.2 and was second in the 110s at 14.8. Lyman's Lori Carroll recorded a first place in the high jump as she cleared 5-4.

Lake Mary got a first place from freshman Sue Kingsbury in the two mile where she won with a time of 12:13.1 in one of the best races of the day. Kingsbury held a 15 second lead over second place Julie Greenburg, also a freshman, of Lyman with three laps to go.

But Greenburg, running smoothly, chopped Kingsbury's lead in the remaining laps to finish just 2.7 seconds behind.

Fran Gordon had another good meet for the Lady Rams as the junior flash finished second in the 440 yard dash (59.0), third in the 100 (11.8) and fourth in the 220 (26.3).

Trinity Prep sophomore Adrienne Polltowicz doubled in winning the mile, 5:16.7, and 880, 2:24.8.

Lake Brantley got a second place finish from Kathryn Hayward in the mile, 5:24.4, and a third from Joanne Hayward in the 880, 2:31.9.

Napier Sets Lofty Goals For '84

By Lou Stefano
Herald Sports Writer

Lake Brantley track star Mark Napier has set some lofty goals for this upcoming track season. The Patriot decathlete wants to high jump seven feet and win the state championship in the decathlon.

He got off to a good start in the Lake Brantley/Track Shack track meet as he scored 24 of his teams 41 points to win the individual points championship.

Oak Ridge won the team championship with 57 points, eight ahead of second place Haines City. Seminole finished third with 45 points behind followed by Lake Brantley.

Napier started the day by placing fourth in the discus, 25 feet behind the first place toss of 163-6 from Bob Strange of Boome. That might sound like a lot but the discus is an event for the broad shouldered and thick thighed. Napier is a svelte 6-2 and looks more like the high jumper than the discus thrower.

Next he moved over to the high jump pit where he won the event with a leap of 6-6. He took three attempts at 6-8 but failed on all three tries. Napier had the height cleared on his second attempt but his bar on his way down.

After taking enough time to get a swallow of water, Napier jogged over to the triple jump pit where he soared 45-6 in his first jump for the win.

"My first jump in the high jump was a practice jump but I was over it on the second jump but hit it with my heel. That's why I was a little mad," said Napier who's personal best in the high jump is 6-6 1/4.

"I'm shooting for a seven foot jump and I think I can attain that goal once I get my act together," Napier said.

Prep Track

"I'm doing all these events because I'm a decathlete. That's my favorite event."

Napier competed in last year's state decathlon but did so after having two pins taken out of his elbow that he had broken. "My field events are okay but my running events are pretty poor, that's my I'm getting in shape now by doing more running in practice than jumping," he said.

The first real upset of the day came in the boys 120 high hurdles. Seminole's Franklin Barnett, who has the best time in the nation so far this season, was leading Arthur Blake from Haines City when he hit the second to last hurdle and fell out of his lane and was disqualified. Barnett and Blake both ran 13.6 in the Wildcat Open a week ago.

Barnett blew out of the blocks to take a five yard lead that he held for most of his race until his mishap. One of the problems that could have led to his falling was his clipping hurdles. Barnett clipped every hurdle until he fell, but still led the race.

"There was a lot of competition," Barnett said. "Having Blake beside me pressed me (on the last hurdle). I came off my right leg off balance."

Lake Napier, Barnett has some goals of his own. "I want to do 12.9," said the quiet junior. "That'll win state. Well, 14.0 will win state in 4A cause Blake won't be there."

To do so Barnett, who has a personal best of 13.5, will have to in his own words, "Work on my technique, I've got to work on my technique."

Seminole could have used Barnett's points as it missed out on second place by only four points. The Tribe almost had it going into the last event of the day, the mile relay. Seminole was leading into the second leg when they were disqualified for bumping a Haines City runner on a pass attempt.

The only double winner in the boys division was Lyman's Doug McBroom who won both the mile and the 880.

In the mile, Willie Franklin from Oak Ridge went out in a blistering pace and left everyone, including McBroom, behind. But in the third lap, Franklin was beginning to tire and McBroom was cruising at a steady clip. He caught Franklin in the back stretch and won in a time of 4:29.8 with Franklin coming in second.

Lyman Girls Drop Heartbreaker

Coconut Creek exploded for three goals in overtime en route to a 4-1 victory over Lyman's Lady Greyhounds in the state girls soccer championship game Saturday at Coconut Creek.

Lyman finished the season with an impressive 22-1 record, best in the state, but Coconut Creek, which finished 18-3, won when it counted the most.

Claudine Kraus got Coconut Creek off to a good start as she fired in a goal in the 18th minute of the first half. Alyson Barnes tied it up for Lyman as she scored on a 20-yard kick, also in the first half.

After a 1-1 tie in the first half, neither team could score in the second half, although Lyman had a chance to win it as Dawn Boyenssen fired a shot toward the goal but Coconut Creek goalkeeper Michelle Lefebvre came up with a spectacular save to keep the game tied at 1-1 and send it into overtime.

Tracy Roberts scored two quick goals for Coconut Creek in the overtime period and Julie Lechler kicked in a penalty kick with no time left to put the icing on the cake.

Know Your Ballet Guild Dancers

Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole is celebrating its 16th anniversary this year. The ballet company was started in 1968 by a handful of ardent supporters and the current artistic directors and choreographers, Valerie Weld and Miriam Wright, sisters.

Open auditions for Guild dancers are held annually by a professional in the field of dance. Dancers selected are given free instructions by Mrs. Weld and Mrs. Rye. Each dancer is required to get sponsors who, in turn, are presented free tickets to the annual performance.

The Guild is sustained entirely by community support and governed by an elected Board of Directors.

Last year the Corinne Rye Memorial Scholarship fund was established to help deserving dancers pay expenses incurred.

This year there are 21 dancers in the company. The performance, "Professor Peppercorn and the Amazing Outdoor Traveling Show," will be presented on March 24, in the stadium of Lake Mary High School. The following are two of the Ballet Guild dancers:

Renee Singleton

Renee Singleton is in her first year as an apprentice company member of Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Singleton of Sanford, Renee is in the sixth grade at All Souls School where she is active in aerobic dancing. She has won first place in the 50-yard dash and second place in the long jump.

Renee aspires to become a professional dancer and wants to be a member of Ballet Guild so she can become a better dancer.

Her hobbies are running, stamp collecting and dancing.

Desiree Wheaton

Desiree Wheaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wheaton of Sanford, joined Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole's apprentice company in 1983.

Her hobbies include dancing, skating and bike riding. A fifth grade student at Mt. Dora Christian School, Desiree is active in cheerleading, volleyball, basketball and baseball.

Her ambition is to become a professional dancer. She says she considers it an honor to be a member of Ballet Guild.

Bus Seat Belts May Cost Lives

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: "B.P. in Avilla, Ind." asked, "If seat belts save lives, how come they don't have seat belts in school buses?" You replied, "Good question."

It is a good question that has come up often, but there are no seat belts in school buses for a very good reason: They are unnecessary.

School buses are constructed to afford maximum protection in case of a sudden impact. All seats are high-backed and well-padded, and made with the sturdiest materials.

If a school bus were to catch fire or to plunge off a bridge and land upside down in deep water, it would be impossible for the bus driver — assuming he was conscious at the time — to go around and unbuckle 50 or 60 kindergartners.

Studies have been made that prove conclusively that seat belts on school buses would cost lives — not save them.

ENGINEER, PHILADELPHIA

DEAR ENGINEER: Now let's hear it from a former school bus driver.

DEAR ABBY: Seat belts are not the total answer for protecting children on a school bus. Children should respect the rules and behave themselves so the driver won't have to look in his rearview mirror every 20 seconds to see who is causing the disturbance. Every time the driver has to look in his mirror to find out what's going on behind him, it takes his attention from the road.

As a bus driver, I have had to break up fights, bandage wounds, stop bloody noses, remember who left the green sweater on the bus, return lost books, briefcases, jackets, caps, you name it.

The question of seat belts has come up many times, but the experts in transportation safety agree they should not be installed in school buses.

SCHOOL BUS DRIVER (RETIRED)

DEAR ABBY: Let's move past the issue of seat belts for school buses and turn our attention to the real problems of school bus safety: Five out of six school bus fatalities occur outside the bus, during loading and unloading procedures.

Let's crack down on motorists who drive through warning lights to hit a child crossing in front of the bus.

Let's teach our children the few simple rules that will help them avoid accidents at the bus stop.

If we spend as much energy on those problems as we have spent arguing about seat belts, perhaps we will truly improve school bus safety.

ROBIN LEEDS, BURLINGTON, CONN.

DEAR ABBY: I ride the school bus every day, and I know why there aren't seat belts on school buses. The kids would probably knock each other's brains out with the buckles.

JENNIFER IN TRENTON, N.J.

Shedding Light

Among dozens of Central Florida high schoolers attending this year's "Careers in Engineering" day at the University of Central Florida were, from left, Anju Dogra, James Melton and Phillip Halle, students at Lake Mary High School. While participating they spent some time touring engineering and science labs, including the laser-optics area, where they discovered a portable laser "gun."

Answer to Previous Puzzle

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY FEBRUARY 28, 1984
Friends in key places will play important roles in your affairs this coming year. Their assistance will open doors you couldn't budge on your own.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Even though your ideas are likely to be better than those of your peers today, let them believe what you conceive is theirs. Results, not acclaim, are important. The areas in which you'll be the luckiest in the year ahead are revealed in your Astro-Graph predictions for Pisces. To get yours, mail $1 and your zodiac sign to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Send an additional $2 for The NEW Matchmaker wheel and booklet, which reveals romantic compatibilities for all signs, plus more.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Friends will take you into their confidence today because they'll sense you can keep to yourself anything told to you in secrecy.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Situations which offer the greatest challenge or appear to be the most difficult will be the easiest ones for you to manage today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Act in harmony with your thoughts today. The ideas you get concerning ways to further your ambitions can work out as you anticipate.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your greatest advantages today will come from situations which have been initiated by others, rather than from those you begin yourself.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You can serve as an effective catalyst today to get all of your family members to pull together for a common purpose. Take steps to do so.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) The disorderly or unsteady will take on a new look under your competent direction today. Involve yourself in projects that need beautification.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A new opportunity for adding to your resources may present itself today. There is a slight gamble involved, so use your better judgment.

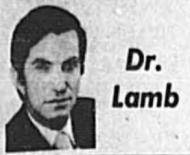

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll be in a sociable mood today and in need of stimulating company. However, rather than going out on the town, have a few close friends over to your place.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Do not be hesitant to use terms of endearment in your meaningful relationships today. Persons who care for you will be glad to know you care for them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Focus your smarts on your material desires today. The ways and means to acquire something you've been wanting can now be worked out.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Ambitious objectives can be achieved today, but it will prove wise to mask your motives with charm. Be a diplomatic go-getter.

Anti-Senility Drug Still Experimental

DEAR DR. LAMB — My 69-year-old mother is senile. She still recognizes people she sees regularly but can't remember what happened 10 minutes earlier.

We read about the drug naloxone, which is used to treat narcotic abusers. Have you heard of this drug being used to treat senility? Would you recommend using it?

DEAR READER — This was first reported by doctors from New York University Medical Center. Naloxone is an antagonist to narcotics. They tested it for senility because the brain produces its own narcotics, called endogenous opioids, sometimes called the brain's natural opium. When the brain releases these substances it decreases a person's memory.

This is one example of the importance of brain chemistry. Unlocking the brain is the hottest new frontier in medicine today. Most people don't realize that the brain functions through highly complex chemical reactions. These affect memory, learning and knowledge.

I can't recommend naloxone at this point and it's not yet available for treatment of senility. Studies are still in the early stages. The initial report of only seven patients showed improvement within an hour and the improvement lasted from one to three weeks. So it's encouraging.

Much can be done with memory training and lifestyle to help improve a person's memory. Decreasing memory doesn't always mean senility, but can be a loss of concentration ability.

I'm sending you the Health Letter 14-2. It's important to point out that many patients who appear to have senility really have medical problems that can be cured.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Just how dangerous is an untreated hernia in a 48-year-old man? My husband has had a hernia for five years now and it's visible through his trousers.

I can't get him to a doctor even for a consultation. What could happen if a rupture occurs at his age? Could he get prostate cancer if he doesn't take care of it?

DEAR READER — He's won't develop prostate cancer from an inguinal hernia. Certainly the larger it gets the more difficulty he's going to have and it may produce mechanical problems and pain.

Large hernias seldom strangulate. They slide in and out fairly easily. There is one type of inguinal hernia, however, and it's usually smaller, which can be caught in its herniated position and strangulate. If this happens it must be treated immediately or gangrene may develop.

Inguinal hernia repairs are not really a big deal. I know because I had both right and left ones corrected at the same time. The best way to decide whether or not the hernia needs to be repaired is to have a physical examination.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019 made an incredible contribution to bridge in his books about the game."

Jim: "Today's hand is one you played in 1935. Neither you nor Freddy would use the South hand as a model for a two-diamond overall after East's opening bid of one spade, but you've told me before that bridge bidding was a little more adventurous in those days."

Oswald: "I didn't really like my chances in six diamonds. Since the opening bid was to my right, it seemed likely that East held the diamond king, but it was easy to find out a little more about the hand first. After I had won the spade ace in dummy, I immediately played the king of hearts."

Jim: "From the opening lead of the three of spades you knew that West had some length in spades. Now you learned that the ace of hearts was in that hand. Even in 1935 a player with the ace of hearts, the king of diamonds and three or more spades would give his partner a raise."

Oswald: "Right! I knew East had to hold the diamond king. I had to be lucky enough to catch it singleton."
