At Least 1,000 Student Immunization Records Not In

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Between 1,000 and 3,000 Seminole County students still have not turned in immunization records required for admission to school, a county school administrator said Wednesday.

Marion Snell, who is supervising compliance with the new state law requiring complete immunization records for all students, said the estimate is "as close as I can get."

She said each school principal in the county is supposed to call the board office Monday at 1 p.m. to determine how many students don't have the proper records.

Mrs. Snell said school district records indicate 8,368 children have not turned in completed immunization records. But the Seminole County Health Department gave shots and completed records for 2,326 students during the first two weeks of August, she said.

A new Florida law requires every public school student to be immunized. Children cannot attend public schools without records indicating they have had the shots. Students transferring from out of state must have records of a complete physical examination within the past 12 months.

Mrs. Snell said the biggest problem appears to be at the high schools. Guidance counselors are putting notations on the schedules of students who do not have the completed records and those students will not receive their schedules until the forms are complete.

Mrs. Snell said school officials have made intensive efforts to make sure every parent in Seminole County knows of the immunization requirement.

"The health department sent letters to parents, and called many parents," she said. "Many of the schools have called and some have even sent their own letters to parents. I don't think there should be a parent that doesn't know."

School Superintendent Robert Hughes said "I feel like we're taking as much action as we can."

In other action School board members accepted job descriptions for two computer programmer positions. The descriptions had been rejected previously because board members felt the educational requirements were too low and the responsibilities of the positions were too vague.

The junior programmer position originally required only a high school diploma and some training in computer programming. The revised requirement includes either two years of college or two years of experience.

The programmer's job requires the employee to have at least a two-year college degree and two years of experience.

The jobs, a junior programmer, with a salary range of $17,566 to $21,958, and a programmer, with a salary range of $19,092 to $23,483, are necessary, Randy Johns said, to keep up with the district's need for computer services.

Johns said the positions are needed to continue to provide the services — schedules, report cards, menus and other computerized records — the district needs.

The programmer's job is one that has been vacant for more than a year, Johns said. He explained that a succession of people have accepted the job and left after a few weeks because they had offers of better jobs or more money.

The junior programmer's job is a new position, he said, and is intended to provide support for programmers and system analysts. Johns explained the junior programmer will not have the responsibilities the other positions have and will not require the employee to work independently.

Johns said projects like compiling a list of students in the county without proper immunization records are difficult without extra help. It is those "one-shot" programs these employees will be dealing with.

Several board members said the salary range on the two jobs might be too high.

"How do you justify a two-year college person making $22,000 when a teacher with a master's degree is earning $16,000," Board Member Allan Keeth asked.

"I have to compete with General Mills, Disney World and Martin Marietta in Orlando," Johns replied. "The salary range does indeed fail in line."

The board voted unanimously to accept the job descriptions.

Motorcyclist, 18, Is Killed

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

An 18-year-old Lake Mary man is dead today after the motorcycle he was driving collided with a motor home in-town along U.S. 17-92 in Sanford.

Martin Mann, 18, of Pine Tree Road died shortly after the 1975 Honda motorcycle he was driving collided with a motor home, pulled by a van which had pulled onto the highway from the ABC Liquor at about 8:20 p.m.

The driver of the van, James Paul Biggs, 40, of Sorrento, Fla., was not injured in the fatal accident. Police said that while no charges have been filed in the crash, an investigation is continuing. An autopsy was also being performed on Mann today to determine the actual cause of death, police added.

"We had a little trouble determining exactly who he was," said Sgt. Herb Shea, assistant to Sanford police Chief Ben Butler.

"I know the whole family," he continued. "My boys played ball with them. But Marty, and Michael, his brother, are so close in age, and Marty was riding Mike's motorcycle, we weren't certain right away."

Martin Mann, who graduated from Seminole High School in June and served as captain of the school's soccer team, was called "a good kid, a hard worker and a real competitor," by soccer Coach Chuck Russakov.

"He was a real fine kid," Russakov said. "He was well liked and although he wasn't real big for the sport, he made up for it by working really hard. He really pushed himself to make it and he played good ball for us for three years."

Russakov said Martin's three brothers also were active in sports at the high school and "all of them, to the best of my knowledge, were fine boys."

"One thing is for sure," said one Herndon Ambulance worker, who wished not to be identified, "the Sanford police did a tremendous job keeping him alive until we got there. One officer was administering CPR and everyone worked as a team. He probably would have made it because of the quick work but his injuries were just too bad."

Mann's death marks the 22nd traffic fatality in Seminole County this year, according to the Florida Highway Patrol.

LOOKING TO MOVE?

Central Florida Zoological Society's zoo on the outskirts of Sanford has as colorful a history as the colors of this parrot. The zoo had an unusual beginning in Sanford many, many years ago. Now there's talk of moving it to Orange County. Why do those who propose that move say it's necessary? How did the zoo come about? What do many local prominent citizens think about losing the zoo to our neighboring county? A series beginning Sunday in the Evening Herald answers all those questions.

Pet Burial Problems Solved

A Goldenrod pet cemetery which was ordered to improve its method of disposing of animal carcasses has complied with those orders, according to Seminole County health officers.

After receiving complaints from area residents of smelly, unsanitary conditions at the Jancy Memorial Pet Cemetery and Crematorium Monday, health inspectors visited the cemetery and ordered owner Lovell Hughson to correct the problem.

After inspecting the cemetery Tuesday, investigators said they are satisfied with the actions taken by Hughson and no health citation was issued.

Russell Miller, director of the county department's environmental health section, said additional fill has been placed on top of the animal carcasses buried in a burial pit at an orange grove near the facility.

Miller said he also instructed the owner to spread lime in the pit along with the dirt to cut down on the numerous flies and insects in the pit, which he said created a health nuisance.

Health inspectors learned of the problem after area residents complained of the insects and rancid smell emitted from the pit.

Residents had previously complained of a similar problem at the cemetery and that problem had been corrected by the owner. No citation was issued at that time either.

Kirchhoff Opposed

County Funds Industry Group Over Protest

Seminole County commissioners have renewed their commitment to the Industrial Development Commission of Mid-Florida over the objections of Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff.

Kirchhoff feels the $85,000 the county is paying IDC, a private, non-profit organization designed to draw industries to Seminole, Orange and Osceola counties, is a waste of money.

"Other than a few Arabs moving into Sweetwater Oaks, I haven't seen any results," he said.

He said the county should assign the task to county staff agencies because the IDC has shown little interest in Seminole County.

But Roy Harris, executive director of the IDC, said the group has maintained a low profile, gathering information on potential sites and companies interested in locating in Central Florida.

"We have found many real good sites in Seminole County," he said. "But they can't be talked about too much. If we talk about a site near Sanford and say that a company is looking at it, then people with a site in Longwood or Lake Mary wonder why we haven't shown them their site."

Harris said the IDC catalogues sites and then forwards that information to companies which have shown an interest in the area.

IDC does not differentiate between Osceola, Orange and Seminole counties when discussing a site with potential companies.

"The companies tell us what their requirements are and we tell them what we have available," Harris said.

The other county commissioners share Kirchhoff's impatience but not his desire to withdraw from the agreement with the IDC.

Commissioners Sandra Glenn, Robert Sturm and Barbara Christensen all said it takes time to attract new industry to an area.

Commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather said the IDC is doing a good job. Feather attends the organization's meetings and said it is involved with lobbying in the state legislature for better economic incentives for industries.

But Feather, like the other commissioners, could not name a single industry that has been lured to Seminole County since the county joined the IDC last year.

Harris said the IDC has attracted 10 new industries into the area, including several in Seminole County.

Earlier this summer, J.C. Penney Co. announced it is constructing a 68,000-square-foot facility at Sabal Center, just off Welkva Springs Road.

The facility will handle all of the company's credit operations for the eastern portion of the United States and will employ 100 people when it opens in the spring. Eventually, the center will employ about 400 people, Penney's officials have said.

Rick Tesch of the IDC staff said the group has been active in getting firms to build or commit to build facilities in Seminole County. He said IDC also has gotten several firms to expand their existing facilities, keeping jobs in the county.

Florida Computer Graphics will employ more than 100 workers in Lake Mary. Florida Electronics and Transformer, Har-Car Aluminum and CFS Continental will expand their Sanford facilities, Tesch said.

Other projects which IDC has been involved with, Tesch said, are an NCR expansion of its present facilities, Gould Inc., Laser Age Technologies and American Electronics Laboratories at the Northlake Development at the intersection of Interstate 4 and State Road 436 and Sun World Circuits in Altamonte Springs.

Harris said Seminole County should begin to see in the next few months other industries locating here.

"We'll start to see a lot of support services for new technologies at Martin-Marietta and Westinghouse," Harris said.

U. S. Sen. Lawton Chiles receives a firm handshake from Jimmy Harper of Geneva, a patient in Central Florida Regional Hospital, where the senator was on hand Wednesday to present an American Flag on behalf of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Senator Makes Several Stops Here

Chiles Expects Negative Campaign

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

U.S. Sen. Lawton Chiles has called on his friends and supporters in Seminole County to help combat the negative campaign he expects from his Republican opponent — when one is selected.

At a breakfast meeting Wednesday at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce building, Chiles said he is girding for an attack from special interest groups, that will tear him down.

He asked supporters to check out statements made against him before believing. Chiles did not indicate what the nature of these statements might be.

The Lakeland Democrat also noted the Republican National Committee has pledged to channel $500,000 into his opponent's campaign.

The GOP challenger will be selected at the Sept. 7 primary. The Republican candidates are state Sen. Van Poole, George Snyder and Palm Beach State Attorney David Bludworth.

And Chiles asked the supporters to help solicit campaign contributions. While he set a contribution limit of $10 six years ago, he said now this is no longer enough to finance a campaign. He is now limiting contributions for this campaign to $100, "but I'll certainly accept less," he said.

"I like everything about politics except raising money and I hate that," said Chiles, who spent all of Wednesday morning campaigning in Sanford.

Noting his concern about the "single-interest groups," Chiles told of Sen. Robert Morgan's campaign defeat in North Carolina where a "single interest group" told the people Morgan voted to help North Vietnam financially and then dumped $1 million into the opponent's campaign during its last weeks. The assertion against Morgan was not true, Chiles said.

"Those groups are very effective in negative tactics," Chiles said. With Congress in recess, Chiles said he is campaigning in the state to see if "the people of Florida wish to renew my contract."

He added, however, he knows "the U.S. Senate doesn't need me to operate and I don't need to die with my boots on in the Senate." Pointing to his work requiring the General Service Administration bureaucrats to operate more economically and efficiently, Chiles said he has "decided I need another crack at the Senate."

"But I feel loose about it. Florida holds no terror for me," he added.

During a question and answer period, Seminole Community Action's equal employment opportunity officer, Louise Crawford, asked about the low performance 30 percent rating given by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) on civil rights issues.

She asked about his vote against a constitutional rights issue. Chiles explained the issue in question was an amendment on busing and said no bill is necessary to enforce the Constitution.

"And I've been against forced busing since 1970 (the year he was first elected to the Senate). It doesn't work for quality education," he said.

More Foreigners Now Investing In The U.S.

United Press International

Foreigners increased their investments in the United States by a record amount last year while Americans slowed down their spending across the border and took their money out of savings and loans the government reported.

In the rare investment turnabout, foreign companies spent $21.4 billion more — a record 31 percent increase — in the United States in 1981 while United States companies spent $11.8 billion more abroad the Commerce Department said Wednesday.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board said Wednesday the shrinking thrift industry's net worth deposits and the number of associations all declined in July. Customers withdrew $1.2 billion in deposits for the month and 29 associations were merged out of existence or otherwise disappeared.

Net worth dropped to $24 billion from June's $24.7 billion the report said.

Except for a statistical quirk that gave June a slight increase over the previous month the ailing industry's net worth has been dropping since January 1981.

Hinckley Vs. Enquirer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A lawyer for Jodie Foster said Wednesday he has asked the Justice Department to prosecute The National Enquirer for publishing an alleged threat by John W. Hinckley Jr. to murder the actress.

Jonathan Sallet called Hinckley's poem "Bloody Love," published in the weekly tabloid's Aug. 24 edition, a "threat" to Miss Foster that violated federal law.

"It's illegal to help Hinckley threaten Miss Foster, and it doesn't make any difference whether it's a private person or a newspaper who gives him this aid," Sallet said. "We want to stop these kinds of threats from being publicly disseminated."

Hinckley has written several letters to newspapers and other publications since his June 21 insanity acquittal for trying to kill President Reagan.

During his two-month trial, psychiatrists testified Hinckley was obsessed with Miss Foster, whom he had never met, and hoped to impress her and win easy fame with the assassination attempt.

Satellite To Go Tonight

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The Canadian built communications satellite Anik D designed to replace four satellites is set for launch tonight at the Cape Canaveral Air Force Station officials say.

The Anik D, Canada's 10th satellite, is scheduled to blast off aboard a Delta rocket between 7:10 p.m. and 9:31 p.m. EDT.

The satellite, which is owned and operated by Telesat Canada, will be used to replace four Anik satellites officials said. The mission will cost $61 million which includes the cost of the satellite and the rocket.

More rain today pounded a Rocky Mountain resort devastated by five days of mud slides that destroyed 18 bridges and rolled 500 pound boulders onto streets. Winds up to 100 mph ripped through the Northeast knocking out power to thousands of people. Rocks slides and flooding set off by drenching rains Wednesday isolated Bullhead City in western Arizona and washed out a roadway from Searchlight to Lake Mojave in southern Nevada. Two inches of rain fell in Chloride, Ariz., and nearly 1 inch doused Kingman in five minutes. Four hundred firefighters battled a wind whipped 4,800 acre blaze in a federal animal preserve in northeastern Shasta County in Northern California. The fire was set Tuesday as a "controlled burn," to clear brush and grass but hot, dry winds rekindled dying embers fanning them into an inferno. A heat wave persisted in the Pacific Northwest, prompting warnings of dry conditions for forest and brush fires. Trees, logs and huge boulders cluttered Ouray, a tiny Rocky Mountain resort town of 800 residents.

crease, asked State Rep. Robert Hat-taway, D-Altamonte Springs?

Chiles said he voted against the tax measure when it first left the Senate.

But the tax cut a year ago was too big considering the amount of money that was being spent and a tax increase was needed to close the gap, he added.

"The Democrats wanted to hold off part of the tax cuts in the third year for those with the highest income. The people who really got the best break were those in the top brackets."

Chiles, who was in Florida at the bedside of a dying relative when the final tax increase vote was taken, said his vote wouldn't have made any difference. The tax bill passed 52-47, he noted. He added that once Democrats such as Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts declared he favored the bill, Republican senators with election campaigns this year could and did vote against it.

The senator said that interest rates are declining, but the government's deficit is still too high. He noted the Federal Reserve Board usually accommodates a president in an election year with such actions as lowering the interest rate.

"But, what will happen after the election I don't know."

Speaking on the deficit, Chiles said the government is in debt over $1 trillion and it borrows $500 billion every year, half of the money supply and this pushes the interest up.

"The federal deficit is too big this year and it's also too big for 1984 and 1985.

He refused to let stand the argument that low cost wages paid workers in other countries is providing unfair competition to American manufacturers.

Pointing to the Japanese as an example, he said Japanese manufacturers of autos in the United States while paying American wages competitive in the industry here are still making better quality cars at a cheaper price.

"The wage differential has been there a long time, but there are some real management failures here," he said.

He hit the administration's supply side economics, saying it is not practicing on the supply side. He said supply side economics requires support or employment offices and training and re-training programs so that workers are able to use new technology.

Dressed in the identical garb he used in his first and second walking campaigns in the state for the Senate — khaki pants, a blue cotton shirt and walking boots — Chiles said he has a good feeling about his campaign.

Casselberry Tables Paving Road Issue

Resolutions dealing with the paving of the 680-foot unpaved portion of Park Avenue in Casselberry was tabled Monday night by the City Council shorthanded due to the absence of Councilmen John Leighty and Tom Embree. Leighty is recovering from back surgery.

The resolutions have to do with meeting with the property owners of Park Avenue, approving a special assessment and financing the project.

The council approved the inclusion of the fire department's pumper in the maintenance agreement with Seminole County.

The Council also gave permission for the manager of the Casselberry Senior Multipurpose Center, Valerie Barber, and the vice chairman of the board of directors, Bill Hamilton, to attend the Florida Council in Aging's semi-annual conference in Orlando, Sept. 14-16 and approved payment of the $35 per person registration fee.

Ms. Barber has been asked by the Florida Council on Aging to talk on developing educational programs in senior centers during a workshop on senior center programs.

The City Council approved transfer of $209 from contingency funds to purchase Neighborhood Watch signs, brochures and decals for the Winter Park Drive, Park Avenue and Fairway Cove residential area.

During the work session which followed the regular meeting, the council discussed site plans for two new restaurants, Bennigan's Tavern to be built on a two-acre site next to Tropic Bank near Butler Plaza on State Road 436, and Ponderosa Steak House to be built on a one-acre site on State Road 436 at Winter Woods. Bennigan's developer was told to add a deceleration lane for highway traffic slowing down to turn into the restaurant parking lot. An acceleration lane, though not required, was recommended. The council requested a minor change in the Ponderosa parking lot design.

A controlled commercial burning ordinance on the work session agenda was postponed until the next meeting. The ordinance sets regulations, fee schedules and approval of open fires, and is mainly aimed at controlling developers' clearing-burning operations.

Reward Offered To Solve Arson Cases

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

In an effort to solve two arson cases which caused a combined $75,000 worth of damage to a Seminole County home and businesses, rewards are being offered to anyone with information leading to the arrest and conviction of the arsonists.

Fire investigators are seeking information concerning a fire at the home of Kenneth Woods, 5019 Ferncrest Drive, in Goldenrod, which broke out shortly after midnight on May 1, causing $40,000 damage.

The home's insurer, USAA Insurance Co., has offered a reward of $2,500 while a $1,000 reward has been offered by the Florida Advisory Committee on Arson Prevention (FACAP).

According to Ray Pippin, chief county fire investigator, the fire, fueled by gasoline, broke out in the family room also damaging the living rooms of the one-story block home.

Investigators and the FACAP are also seeking information concerning a deliberately set fire at the Lake Howell Shopping Plaza Aug. 12, which caused $35,000 damage to three offices.

A $1,000 reward is being offered in the case by the FACAP.

Pippin said the fire broke out at about 5:49 a.m. at the Subtropic sandwich shop, at 5475 Lake Howell Road. An explosion, caused by flammable liquids, damaged the sandwich shop and tore through two walls to damage Best Imports and a vacant office.

Anyone with information concerning the two arson cases are urged to call Pippin at 323-2550 or call the FACAP collect at 305-843-7900. Names of people providing information will be kept confidential and those wishing to collect reward money in exchange for their information must say so when contacting investigators.

TOOLS TAKEN

Thieves stole about $230 worth of tools and a tool box from a Fern Park man's garage between 10 p.m. Saturday and 7 p.m. Sunday.

Elliott Lawrence Hose, 68, of 902 Wintergreen Blvd., reported the theft to deputies.

VACANT APARTMENT BURGLARIZED

Thieves broke into a vacant Chuluota apartment, which is currently being remodeled, and stole a water heater, 40 electrical switches, 40 electrical outlets and a paint sprayer.

Deputies said the culprits broke into Horse Shoe Apartment 643 along county Road 419, through a window and stole the items valued at about $911.

CASSELBERRY MAN SENTENCED

A Casselberry man has begun serving a three-year prison term on grand theft charges although he pleaded no contest to accusations that he bilked Volusia County residents by selling property he did not own.

Robert Edward Delancett, 58, was sentenced by Circuit Judge Uriel Blount Jr. in DeLand in connection with 13 charges of second-degree grand theft.

Prosecutors say Delancett was involved in the elaborate Volusia County land fraud scheme from Oct. 30, 1980, through July 1, 1981. Delancett was accused of accepting down-payments of about $600 and promising clients he would arrange financing for them through the Farmers Home Administration to build homes in the Orange City area.

Del and police said Delancett, was not authorized to arrange such financing with the federal agency and the company for which Delancett worked, Florida Heritage Homes, Inc., of Altamonte Springs was not approved by the agency. Delancett has since been fired by the company.

TEEN ARRESTED, JAILED

A Longwood teenager was being held in the county jail on $500 bond following his arrest at 9:50 p.m. Tuesday on charges of willful and wanton reckless driving, fleeing and attempting to elude police officers and possession of alcoholic beverages by a minor.

Gerald Allan Peterson, 18, of 119 Tollgate Trail was arrested by Casselberry police who said Peterson fled after they attempted to stop his vehicle for a traffic violation. Police followed the fleeing vehicle into the parking lot of the Sandpiper Apartments, adding that when the vehicle, which was operating without headlights, came to a halt several people jumped out of the car and ran.

The driver of the car returned a short time later and was arrested by police, police said. Police said the motorist was

License Denial Upheld By State

The decision by the state Division of Pari-Mutuel Wagering denying an application from former Seminole Greyhound Park general manager Carol Toler has been upheld by a state hearing officer.

Toler applied for a license to serve as the assistant manager of the Casselberry dog racing track.

Toler reportedly will take his case to the appellate court because the decision "puts me back in the unemployment lines."

The state agency denied the request in May and Toler appealed. A hearing officer after listening to two days of testimony upheld the state decision.

The state in May found Toler guilty of consorting during the 1981 racing season with John Fountain Jr., who was convicted of gambling and conspiracy charges. Fountain is barred from the premises of all pari-mutuel wagering facilities in the state.

Toler was charged with failing to comply with state law in disbursing money to a state scholarship trust fund and with permitting an unapproved veterinarian to share duties with the track veterinarian. He was also found guilty of holding an excessive number of races of mixed dogs of different grades.

Biskits Coming To Sanford Soon

Biskits, a new Florida fast food restaurant chain, is scheduled to open its newest restaurant in Sanford on Sept. 8, according to Philip Freo, supervisor for the Orlando area.

Owned by Orlando Restaurants, Inc., it will be located in the building formerly occupied by Jack-in-the-Box Restaurant on U.S. 17-92 at Airport Boulevard.

Biskits specializes in fresh buttermilk biscuits made from "scratch" by a "granny" and hot from the oven every 12 minutes. They are served sandwich style with a variety of fillings and with chicken or sausage gravy. They will also feature Georgia ham, beans and rice and buttermilk fried chicken, Freo said.

The restaurant will seat 48 persons and will also have drive-through and take-out service.

Freo said Biskits will employ 25 to 30 persons in its Sanford operation. Lloyd Richardson III will be manager.

With six stores in Jacksonville and two in Tampa, the first Biskits was opened in Orlando on Oak Ridge Road on Aug. 11 and the second on Silver Star Road today. Two more outlets are planned to open in Tampa by Sept. 8.

The Sanford Biskits will be open from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day except Friday when it will be open until 10 p.m.

Contributions Link

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A public interest group said Wednesday it has uncovered a link between congressional votes on the controversial Clinch River Breeder Reactor and how much congressmen got in campaign contributions from firms working on the project.

Public Citizen's Congress Watch, founded by Ralph Nadar, said none of the dozen congressmen who received more than $3,000 each from five corporations involved in designing and building the project voted against 1982 funding.

The 11 lawmakers who received more than $3,000 and the amounts they were got were:

House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas, $7,000; House Science and Technology Committee chairman Don Fugua, D-Fla., $4,750; Appropriations Committee chairman Jamie Whitten, D-Miss., $4,500; William Chappell, D-Fla., $4,250; Tom Bevill, D-Ala., $4,000; Majorie Holt, R-Md., $3,700; Trent Lott, R-Miss., $3,575; William Dickinson, R-Ala., $3,400; Don Bailey, D-Pa., $3,200; Robert Roe, D-N.J., $3,150; Norman Dicks, D-Wash., $3,100.

Bendix Offers To Buy Martin Marietta Corp.

ORLANDO (UPI) — Bendix Corp. has offered to buy all of the stock of Martin Marietta Corp., Orlando's largest manufacturing employer, for an estimated $1.5 billion in a merger bid.

Martin Marietta officials, who were caught off guard by the offer Wednesday, said they would not respond until the board of directors was convened to consider the merger plan.

Stock analysts, meanwhile, predicted Martin Marietta would turn down the bid on the grounds its stock was worth more than the Bendix offer.

Headquartered in Bethesda, Md., Martin Marietta is Orlando's largest manufacturing employer with 8,400 workers at its aerospace division plant. The company also has a factory in Ocala that employs another 600 workers.

Bendix, an aerospace manufacturer that already owns 4 1/2 percent of the outstanding Martin Marietta stock, said it would begin its takeover bid today with an offer to pay $43 per share for 45 percent of the stock.

Temik Not Poisoning

TAMPA (UPI) — A Martin County grove owner says the pesticide Temik is not poisoning his groundwater, even though state tests found high concentrations of the chemical on his property.

Harold Brown said Wednesday samples taken by the state Department of Environmental Regulation were not valid because suspect equipment was used when he applied the highly toxic pesticide on his property.

But Robert Patton, the state's chief chemist, defended the samples.

"Our obligation is to protect the groundwater," Patton said. "So, if we're going to err, it will be on the side of safety."

Sinkhole Street Work

WINTER PARK (UPI) — Winter Park city officials have decided to restore a street that was partially gobbled by the Great Winter Park sinkhole of 1981.

The work is set to begin within 90 days, officials said Wednesday.

City commissioners decided this week to rebuild Denning Drive, but agreed with a staff recommendation to postpone restoring the Fairbanks Avenue side of the sinkhole until Orange County agrees to participate in the project.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Syrians Are Withdrawing From Beirut By Land

United Press International

U.S. Envoy Philip Habib worked out a plan with Israel to evacuate truckloads of Syrian soldiers today on a historic overland journey along the Beirut-Damascus highway out of the battle-scarred Lebanese capital.

As day broke on the sixth day of the pullout, 3,711 guerrillas had left Beirut and about 1,200 more Palestine Liberation Organization fighters and Syrian regulars, including 185 wounded men, were withdrawing today.

The withdrawal of the wounded men by sea was being supervised at the Beirut port by the force of 800 U.S. Marines who arrived at dawn Wednesday.

About 185 wounded guerrillas, some in serious condition and 37 on stretchers, were leaving Beirut today for hospitals in Cyprus and Greece, embarking on a Red Cross boat.

Also, sources in Beirut said Syrian army trucks were arriving today to take about 1,000 Syrian soldiers back home.

39 Hurt In Plane

TOKYO (UPI) — A Boeing 737 jetliner with 138 people aboard on a domestic flight overshot the runway on landing today and burst into flame at a remote island in southern Japan, injuring at least 39 people, authorities said.

Officials of Japan's Transport Ministry said a five-member investigation team would be dispatched later today to determine the cause of the crash.

Police said there were no foreign passengers aboard the twin-engine plane, which was on a flight from Naha, the capital of Okinawa, to Ishigaki Island, about 360 miles to the south in the Ryuku Island chain.

Police said Nansel, or Southwest Airlines Flight 611, based in Naha, ran off the runway and slammed into the shrub. One of the engines then burst into flame, sending up a thick column of black smoke.

House Speaker Haben Foils Bribery Attempt

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Outgoing House Speaker Ralph Haben sparked an investigation of a possible shakedown scheme by two Key West officials.

It was reported that Haben complained to the Florida Department of Law Enforcement about what he viewed as a shakedown attempt by Monroe County Housing Authority director Henry Haskins and then-Monroe County Commissioner Billy Osterhoudt.

Haskins and Osterhoudt were seeking money from a law firm — whose partners include Haben — which has been planning a $600 million development at Key West.

The result of Haben's complaint, was a probe by the FDLE and Key West State Attorney Kirk Zeulch into the two men and the Key West Redevelopment Agency.

Haben is challenging Comptroller Gerald Lewis in the Sept. 7 Democratic primary.

Confidence Sinks With Peso

A nation's currency is its handshake. Mexico's currency has been weakened by devaluation, inflation and the second highest foreign debt in the world.

The peso was struck a severe blow by the Mexican government's decision to halt sales of dollars in Mexican banks, to pay pesos for dollars in dollar bank accounts and to prevent dollars from leaving the country.

Wild black market trading and rumors of political and economic instability followed the imposition of currency controls.

Those controls, the first in Mexican history, were intended to halt the flight of dollars from Mexico and help stabilize the peso.

But they had the opposite effect: weakening the peso in black market trading and eroding international confidence in the Mexican currency. Foreign investors and bankers may now be reluctant to shake hands with Mexico.

Mexican currency controls will have sharply different consequences on each side of the border. It will be harder for Mexicans to buy goods in the United States, cheaper for Americans to buy Mexican products.

For Mexicans, the currency controls are more painful. A young office worker waiting in line to withdraw money told The Wall Street Journal: "We knew the peso wasn't to be trusted, and now the government, after being the one causing the distrust, takes all the dollars that we saved through hard work. It takes our dollars and gives us pesos."

"It's like taking the good food we have earned and giving us the trash they have made."

The trash is likely to spill into the lap of President-elect Miguel de la Madrid as he braces himself for the presidential inauguration. Mexico devalued its currency before the current president, Jose Lopez Portillo, took office.

Now, with currency controls coupled with devaluation, the situation is more serious. It shows that despite record oil revenues during the past five years, despite massive public works projects and creation of new jobs, the Mexican economy remains uncertain and vulnerable.

Mexicans themselves do not trust it. Each peso expatriated into an American bank account, each condominium a wealthy Mexican buys abroad is a vote of no confidence in Mexico's economy.

Economists believe the Mexican government had no choice in imposing currency controls, that the only question was when it would take the leap into the unknown.

International Monetary Fund bankers are now in Mexico, discussing possible loans to help extricate itself from its currency crisis.

The Mexican government may have temporarily stopped the dollar drain, but it also halted the flow of investment dollars into Mexico.

Crippling uncertainty will prevail until Mexico opens its hand for a fair shake with foreign currencies.

BERRY'S WORLD

"The problem with having too much time on your hands is you tend to think about a lot of little things — like surviving!"

By JANE CASSELBERRY

Casselberry City Council is not the only one getting set to move into new facilities next month. Longwood City Commission plans to move into its new meeting room in the facilities formerly occupied by the city fire department adjacent to the city hall. An open house is tentatively set for Sept. 10 prior to the Sept. 13 opening. There will be 100 theater type seats for the audience in the new chamber.

The present commission chamber will provide additional office space for the city hall staff.

In addition to the city commission the new room will be used by such groups as the Land Planning Agency, the Board of Adjustment, and the Code Enforcement Board and for police training sessions, according to City Clerk Don Terry.

The Longwood city hall has updated its phone system with the addition of a new Mitel SX-20 PABX switchboard described by City Administrator David Chucey as "state of the art."

Seminole Youth Planning Council suffering from the loss of funding might be expected to hold its farewell — to funds recognition dinner at Burger King or McDonald's. Not so, they've chosen to sing their "Swan Song" in the swank surroundings of Maison et Jardin Restaurant, Saturday Sept. 11 with a tab of $16 per person. The 1982-83 update for the "Guide-A" Directory of Resources for Children and Families prepared by the SYPC will be distributed to those in attendance. For reservations call 322-9146.

A group of 50 ambassadors from this area, most of whom are from Seminole County, are in Carlisle England participating in a two-week Orlando-Carlisle Friendship Force Exchange. Alda Rowe, Orlando Friendship Force director, and Celia S. Heag, Eva A. Hunt, Mary Brewster, Marla L. Hunt and Nina Logan, all of Sanford, and Dorothy and Frank Baldwin of Lake Monroe are among those taking part.

In May of this year area residents hosted a group from Carlisle.

Representatives will participate in a fair honoring the 1900th birthday of the City of Carlisle, near the Scotch border, and will don costumes to attend a Victorian party in their honor. Other activities will include lawn bowling as well as sightseeing in and around Carlisle and its historic Roman ruins.

Friendship Force is a non-profit organization dedicated to promoting friendship among nations of the world through exchanges of cross-sections of their citizens. The ambassadors, who pay their own way, stay in homes with families in the exchange city.

The Seminole Singers, of which Alda Rowe is the director, participated in the March, 1981 exchange visit to Hamburg, Germany. Persons interested in information about the Friendship Force program can write Alda Rowe, Route 1, Box 205, Sanford.

SCIENCE WORLD Misleading Cancer Symptoms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Doctors cite the case of a 6-year-old girl who appeared to have a form of cancer as an example of how a non-malignant disease can mimic cancer and possibly lead to unnecessary and hazardous treatment.

It turned out that the youngster had what physicians call "cat scratch disease," a benign, self-limiting disorder of the lymph nodes believed to be caused by a virus transmitted by a cat scratch.

The case was reported by Dr. Ruth E. Luddy of the University of Maryland Cancer Center in Baltimore in the Aug. 1 issue of Cancer, a journal published by the American Cancer Society.

Dr. Luddy said the girl was well until January 1980 when she experienced a one-week period of lethargy and a brief episode of face reddening and eye tears. A week later, she developed progressive swelling below her left eye. Two weeks later, the girl's left eyelid became swollen.

The swelling continued and the girl's doctor referred her to the University of Maryland Hospital for a biopsy. Examination then revealed enlarged lymph nodes and an enlarged gland near the ear.

Tissue samples were taken March 5, 1980. The biopsy samples indicated a generally benign but potentially serious condition known as histiocytosis X, but because of the uncertainty, the tissues were forwarded for review to the Baltimore Cancer Research Program of the National Cancer Institute and to the Institute itself.

Dr. Luddy said pathologists at both centers interpreted the specimen as having an unknown malignant potential. She said the most likely diagnosis was that of a lymphoma, a cancer of lymphatic tissue.

The child was referred to the Maryland cancer center and additional tests were conducted. Dr. Luddy said another biopsy and treatment with anti-cancer drugs were contemplated, but she said in an interview she was reluctant to begin chemotherapy because she was not sure of the diagnosis.

While the girl was at home awaiting an additional test, however, her swelling shrank and the tissues became less tender.

Dr. Luddy said it was then noticed that the girl had a cat and frequently played with her friend's cats. That suggested that perhaps cat scratch disease was the culprit — not cancer.

Skin tests confirmed that the girl indeed had cat scratch disease.

By July 1980, five months after the beginning of the ordeal, all the girl's symptoms disappeared and Dr. Luddy said the youngster has been well since then.

In discussing lessons learned from the case, Dr. Luddy said it is likely that similar cases in the past may have so closely resembled lymphoma that the patient received unnecessary treatment.

"One therefore wonders if at least some of the reported patients with lymphomas who experienced spontaneous regression truly had malignant disease," she said.

The report said cat scratch disease should be added to the list of non-malignant disorders that may resemble cancer.

"Recognition of this fact is important in order to avoid erroneous diagnosis, unnecessary procedures and hazardous therapy," the report's summary said.

"It's not nice to fool Mother Nature."

Scandal Taints Primary

BOSTON (NEA) — A politician's worst nightmare is of becoming embroiled in a scandal shortly before Election Day.

That nightmare seems to be coming true for Gov. Edward King with the rapid approach of the Sept. 14 Massachusetts primary.

The polls show King to be trailing former Gov. Michael Dukakis in the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. King defeated Dukakis in the primary four years ago.

Now a state grand jury is investigating charges that King's Revenue Department has engaged in such practices as the taking of bribes, thefts totaling thousands of dollars and the employment of the governor's political aides in do-nothing jobs.

In addition, the prosecutor has charged that officials of the Revenue Department are attempting a massive coverup of their alleged misdeeds.

The coverup charges were prompted by the recent refusal of Revenue Commissioner Joyce Hampers to turn over certain documents to the grand jury, which was convened by state Attorney General Francis Bellotti.

The documents then disappeared from the Revenue Department, and Ms. Hampers contended that they had been stolen by Bellotti's agents. This was followed by the arrest of a member of the building's cleaning crew, who said he had stolen the documents on something of a lark.

Then came the suicide of John Coady, a deputy to Ms. Hampers. She immediately released a statement saying he had been suffering from a terminal illness and was not connected with the probe. Later both statements had to be withdrawn.

This potential scandal is costing King critical momentum in the final weeks of an increasingly bitter campaign. Many doubt that the governor will be able to overcome this new obstacle.

But any victory for Dukakis may be short-lived. Some observers suggest that the Revenue Department scandal may go all the way back to his own administration. Thus, the real victor may be Republican nominee.

One of the year's more fascinating and potentially most important congressional races is taking place in suburban Boston.

Redistricting has forced Rep. Barney Frank, a first-term liberal Democrat, into the same district with Margaret Heckler, an eight-term moderate Republican. The two are squaring off to see who will remain in Congress.

On paper this race should not even be close. The new district incorporates two-thirds of Mrs. Heckler's old district. Most of the voters are suburban conservatives who know and respect the congresswoman.

But early polls — including several unreleased private polls — indicate that the race is too close to call. The problem seems to be Mrs. Heckler's strong support of Reaganomics.

If the fall elections become a referendum of the policies of the Reagan administration, the Heckler-Frank race will be one of the key tests. This possibility has not been lost on the White House, which is said to be ready to pull out all the stops to ensure that Mrs. Heckler is returned to Washington.

How bitter is the race for the U.S. Senate in Maine? So bitter that incumbent Democrat George Mitchell and his Republican opponent, four-term Rep. David Emery, may be resorting to dueling pistols at 20 paces by October.

The two are already hurling charges of dirty politics back and forth in an increasingly acrimonious atmosphere. The latest in the continuing series of charges and countercharges stems from Emery's use of "ratings" by special-interest groups in his campaign mailings.

In one letter to veterans, Emery pointed out he had received a 92 percent rating from the Veterans of Foreign Wars while Mitchell had received a zero. In a letter to elderly voters, Emery trumpeted that the National Alliance of Senior Citizens had given him a 90 percent rating while Mitchell again had failed to score.

As it turns out, Mitchell's VFW standing was not zero, but "no rating." That's because the rating was made in 1980, only shortly after Mitchell succeeded Edmund Muskie, who had resigned to become secretary of state.

Bees And Tax Bills

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The controversial legislation to increase federal revenues by almost $100 billion during the next three years has a great deal in common with the bumblebee made famous by economist John Kenneth Galbraith.

"It is told that such are the aerodynamics and wing-loading of the bumblebee that, in principle, it cannot fly," Galbraith explained in a book published 30 years ago.

"If this be true," he added, "life among bumblebees must bear a remarkable resemblance to life in the United States."

The bumblebee that theoretically cannot fly certainly bears a remarkable resemblance to the events of recent weeks surrounding the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982.

Legislation requiring the imposition of new taxes isn't supposed to be scheduled for a vote in both houses of Congress less than two and a half months before an election in which every House seat and one-third of all Senate seats are to be filled.

The federal government isn't supposed to seek tax increases in the midst of a recession. An elitist president isn't supposed to be risking his political reputation to promote a populist tax-reform package.

But, like the bumblebee that isn't supposed to fly, the tax bill that theoretically shouldn't even have been introduced deserves to soar skyward because it includes literally dozens of long-needed reforms in the tax code.

Most of the publicity about the measure has focused on the few provisions that directly affect individuals — the increases in excise taxes on cigarettes, airline tickets and telephone calls and the reduced deductions for casualty losses and medical expenses.

But those tax increases are relatively modest, especially in comparison with the remainder of the bill, which belatedly closes unjustified tax loopholes available only to wealthy individuals and corporations.

That's why President Reagan can legitimately claim that "this bill is 80 percent tax reform, not tax increase." Some examples of those reform provisions:

— Taking advantage of a tax loophole governing "modified co-insurance" arrangements, the country's life-insurance companies have cut their federal tax liability almost in half during the past three years. The new legislation prohibits that practice.

— The "completed contract" method of tax accounting allows some large corporations to earn annual profits in excess of $250 million yet legally claim they owe no federal taxes. The proposed law would require more than $5.5 billion in payments from those firms during the next three years.

— The pharmaceutical industry long has taken advantage of an obscure law called the Possessions Act, which provides a tax exemption for millions of dollars in yearly revenues derived from Puerto Rican manufacturing facilities and from lucrative patent rights assigned to Puerto Rican subsidiaries. The new bill eliminates the latter provision.

— A device called "safe harbor leasing" allows corporations to sell unused tax credits to other firms that need deductions to offset their tax liability. Once company used that loophole last year to secure a federal tax refund of $150 million — even though it reported income of $1.65 billion. The proposed law drastically limits such opportunities in the future.

JACK ANDERSON

Trainees Embarrass PLO In Russia

WASHINGTON — In their determination to play Big Brother for the Arab world, the Russians are learning that you can take the boy out of the desert, but you can't take the desert out of the boy.

Freed from the puritanical social restraints of their refugee camps, some Palestine Liberation Organization trainees in the Soviet Union evidently sought to emulate the Sheik of Araby, according to documents obtained from intelligence sources.

The trouble with the PLO swains was that, like many a country bumpkin before them, they chose the wrong girls for their amorous adventures, and wound up sadder, wiser and broke.

The misadventures of the PLO trainees are conscientiously noted down in a report by their unit commander, Mugadam Rashad Ahmed, to none other than PLO Chairman Yassir Arafat. The document, obtained by my associate Lucette Lagnado, is dated January 1981.

One luckless guerrilla who broke training and lived to regret it was Afif Mohammad Al Masri, a member of the "Struggle Front" faction. Masri "did not behave himself," his commander reported sadly.

The young man "spent his time with one of the girls of doubtful character" — the standard euphemism for prostitutes in the Soviet Union, where the profession does not officially exist. Masri took the young woman to her home, where "his clothes were...taken by a man who claimed to be the girl's brother," the commander noted.

"He left her home without his clothes and reported the incident to the militia," the report continues — unfortunately without embellishment. One can only imagine the predicament of a lovesick Arab wandering naked through the streets of a Russian city in the dead of winter, looking for a cop. The militiamen proved equal to the situation, though. Presumably choking back their guffaws, they managed to get Masri's clothes back for him.

Another PLO fighter-lover was Darwish Dhib Saad of the Arab Liberation Front. Described by his commander as "indecent and a pervert," Saad got mixed up with another of those women "of doubtful character." She not only took all his money, but a report intended for the PLO delegation as well. The commander himself had to lug Saad back to quarters "drunk as a lord."

The Russians evidently lost patience with an uppity member of the Syrian-oriented Saiga faction, one Ahmad Al Sharqi. Testifying on behalf of a buddy who claimed he had been beaten and robbed by militiamen, Sharqi warned the cops that "something would happen" if they didn't give back the money.

"This behavior brought on a serious response" from the Russians, who "demanded that the man be returned home," according to the commander's report.

Though the embarrassment of his indiscretions clearly weighed heavily on Commander Muqadam, he also had some complaints about their hosts. There was, he reported, a shortage of Arabic translators. The PLO trainees had to sleep 10 to a room, which "caused difficulties," and some of the courses ended before the departure date, whereupon the Russian tutors simply started over again.

In the future, the commander suggested, those chosen for training in the Soviet Union should be "of high quality, who are capable of representing (us) outside." He added that "it is preferable to lower the number in order not to harm the quality."

Meanwhile, Arafat will have this problem to ponder: How you gonna keep 'em down on the desert after they've seen Russia?

Rams Take On Uphill Trail

Averill, Blythe Set Accelerated Pace For Runners

By CHRIS FISTER
Herald Sports Writer

With the transition of Lake Mary High School to 3-A competition, coach Mike Gibson's cross country teams are preparing for what should be a very tough season.

The Rams' boys squad is comprised of mostly juniors while sophomores dominate the girls team. Both teams return their top performers from a year ago and Gibson said that the times will have to be reduced drastically to make up for the step up to 3A.

Lake Mary will be competing in a district that turned out the top four teams in the state in both boys and girls last season. Six of the 16 teams in the district will qualify for the regional meet and Gibson said, "Once you get past the first four teams, it's an open field."

So far, the turnout is substantially better than last year. "We had around 10 different boys and seven to eight different girls out. At this time last year we only had two out for each team," Gibson said.

Mark Blythe will probably hold down the number one spot on the boys team for the second year in a row. Entering his junior year, Blythe holds the school record at 17:25 and placed 20th in the district meet last year.

The biggest addition to the Rams this season is Derek Tengeman, who has been running stride for stride with Blythe in practice, according to Gibson. Tengeman is a transfer out of Virginia and, combined with Blythe will anchor the Rams in 1982. "It's helped Mark (Blythe) out to have someone who can run along with him," Gibson said.

Another runner who will be counted on this season is Brian LaVigne who has some cross country experience and will be a junior.

Junior James Snell is returning to run cross country after turning in the second best time a year ago.

Blythe, Tengeman, LaVigne, Snell and sophomore Ivan Carbia will be the top five runners and Gibson said they would anchor Lake Mary this season.

Other runners who will contribute include, Tim Kornecki (sophomore), Jay Woida (junior), Jack Likens (junior), John Arinhein (junior) and Keith Mandy (junior). Likens was a district champion wrestler for Lake Brantley last year.

"If we want to be competitive we are going to need five guys running under 17 minutes," Gibson said.

When talking about the girls team, or girls athletics at Lake Mary in general, the first name to pop up is multi-talented Kim Averill. Averill ran step for step with the best in the state last year as a freshman. In the 2A State meet, Averill finished seventh and was named to the All-State team.

"She's looking very strong," Gibson said of Averill who holds the school record (two miles) at 12:17.9. Averill will be the mainstay of the Lake Mary squad as a sophomore this season.

Andrea Beardslee, who turned in the second fastest time last year, will be among the top three runners in 1982, her sophomore year.

Liz Stone, a three-sport performer like Averill, is another sophomore showing promise and should be among the top runners.

Off the Lake Mary track team comes All-State sprinter Fran Gordon for a look at cross country. Gordon, a sophomore, should be among the top five runners.

The remaining members of the girls team, all showing promise for the upcoming season, include: Jody Stanley (junior), Chrissy Marshall (junior), Debbie Hall (soph), Larra Hall (soph), Liz Merthie (soph), Kim Harrison (soph) and Sharon Weger (soph).

"If we want to be competitive, five girls are going to have to run two miles in under 13:30."

Both teams will prepare for the season in the pre-season Summertime Jamboree at Seminole Community College Saturday.

The first meet for Lake Mary will be the Luther Invitational, September 11 at Trinity Prep. The Rams' first home meet is scheduled for September 16.

Gibson is in his eighth year of coaching, six at Lake Brantley and entering his seventh at Lake Mary. This season Gibson will be assisted by Mark McGee.

"Mark's main responsibility will be with the boys' team," Gibson said. "He will be a big asset in helping us out."

While the boys team has mostly juniors and the girls sophomores, the freshman turn out has been low. "We still don't have any freshman out yet but we should get some when school starts. We need as many runners as we can get," Gibson said.

Gibson said he would like to have at least 14 runners on each team by mid-season, seven varsity and seven junior varsity.

Harder At Top? Bucs Find Out In '83

John McKay ponders a coaching move against Washington. NEA sports editor Murray Olderman picked the Buccaneers to finish 7-9 for the year.

COACH JOHN MCKAY:

"They say it's harder to stay on top than to get on top.

The 1981 season was an example of that for us. I'm sure our players are aware of that. I'm sure they're aware that they playoff game against Dallas showed room for improvement. I'm encouraged by the good shape of our veterans, and we helped ourselves in the draft."

OFFENSE

PASSING McKay no longer finds it necessary to vindicate himself for his choice of Doug Williams as the Bucs' quarterback. Williams finally topped 50 percent completion mark. WR Kevin House emerged as brilliant receiver. Theo Bell or Gordon Jones will be other wide man; Jimmie Giles simply one of premier TEs in NFL. GOOD RUNNING They need a 1,000-yard gainer like Ricky Bell used to be. He's gone. James Wilder at fullback showed aptitude for catching out of backfield. Jerry Eckwood or James Owens will start at halfback, they'll probably alternate. Fragile Owens provides burst of excitement. FAIR

BLOCKING Except for Steve Wilson, set at center, the exact way they'll line up over ball is undetermined -- for a good reason: Sean Farrell. He was top draft pick, and room will have to be made for him at guard. It might mean Ray Snell, who graded out best on forward wall in '81, will move to tackle. Greg Roberts, Charlie Hannah sure to play. FAIR

DEFENSE

LINEBACKING Cleaned out some of veterans by trading them off, making room for younger brigade that has new leader in Hugh Green, extremely mobile. He'll team with Andy Hawkins outside, leaving Richard Wood, Cecil Johnson to guard middle securely. Scot Bratley has improved pass coverage enough to warrant more playing time. GOOD

SECONDARY John Holt, second-year man, ready to make run at Mike Washington's corner post. On other corner, Norris Thomas doesn't pick off many passes, but he intimidates people. Despite return of Mark Cotney, another hitter, from injury, Cedric Brown and Neal Colzie are slated to resume at safety, with Brown alert interceptor. FAIR

SPECIAL TEAMS

KICKING Bill Capece has the strong leg

you need for field goals in NFL, but he has tendency to be streaky. Larry Swider surfaced as punter with 42.7 average, highest in young club's history. FAIR to GOOD

RETURNS Andre Tyler, rookie receiver, may be used for punt returns. If James Owens doesn't wear down at running back, he's threat on kickoffs. Bucs have first full-time special teams coach, Frank Emanuel. FAIR

OUTLOOK

It's hard to figure Buccaneers. One minute they look terrible; next they're unbeatable. This pattern of inconsistency drags them down, though they've stockpiled crop of good talent. As always, their offense rides on Williams' strong throwing arm. He can be erratic, too. PREDICTION Third in NFC Central, off-year drops 'em to 7-9.

Back Injury Puts Big John On Shelf

The road to success in the National Football League is one full of obstacles and hard work.

Sanford's "Big John" Anderson, a 1973 Seminole High graduate, was working hard at earning a spot with the Philadelphia Eagles when he ran into probably the most common obstacle in pro football—injury.

"I played in a scrimmage against the Baltimore Colts and was really doing good," Anderson said from Philadelphia Wednesday. "Then, just before the preseason game against Tampa Bay I got injured."

Tuesday, Anderson was put on the injured reserve list by the Eagles but he is still working out with the team. Anderson injured his lower back and hip in a practice session.

"The doctor told me to keep practicing and I have to go in for treatments three times a day," Anderson said. "I work out a lot in the weight room, too."

As a player at Seminole High, Anderson was regarded as one of the top tight ends in Florida, according to Anderson. He also played defensive end for the 'Noles. He went from Seminole to Bethune-Cookman College where he played mostly tight end.

After his stint at B-CC, Anderson was aided by Central Florida football talent scout Buggy Engleberg in getting a try-out with the Los Angeles Rams. Anderson made it all the way until the last cut before being dropped from the Rams' roster.

Now, Anderson is listed as a defensive lineman for the Eagles and is considered a promising prospect if he isn't continually hampered by injuries. "I've got a lot quicker and faster since I've been with the Eagles," Anderson said. Anderson wears number 92 and weighs in at 256 pounds.

Anderson said he was playing at his best ever before the injury struck. "They were looking at me at both defensive tackle and defensive end and the coaches seemed to like the way I was playing. Dick Vermeil is a great coach and he is a lot stricter than most NFL coaches."

The main hindrance the injury has caused in his play is that Anderson now has trouble making sudden stops and cuts. "My back bone doesn't tip the way it's supposed to when I cut."

Until the injury heals completely,

BIG JOHN ANDERSON
...back bone trouble

Anderson will be on the injured reserve and continue to work out with Philadelphia. "The other day the coaches asked me if I was feeling better because they said they need me."

Anderson said he is going to stick with football no matter how treacherous the road gets. "I just want to keep playing, do what I can for the team and better myself."

As for now, Anderson has just slowed down and he said, "When I'm over this injury, I'm comin' out smokin'."

Sodders and Ken Foster each plated two runs with base hits in the fifth inning when Orlando pushed across five runs to assume a 7-1 lead. Leftfielder Stan Holmes added a solo homer.

Sodders ripped his solo blast in the eighth inning and right-hander Bob Veselic made the lead stand up with a nine-hitter. Veselic fanned 10 and walked just 1 while picking up his sixth win in nine decisions. Tom Behenna, 12-9, was the loser.

SAVANNAH — Orlando's Twins opened up a 2½ game lead in the Southern League East Division here Wednesday night by trouncing the Braves, 10-2, while Charlotte nipped Jacksonville, 4-3.

Tonight at 7:30, the Twins play at Jacksonville as the second half pennant comes down to seven games between the Orlando and the Suns. The last three games will be played at Tinker Field beginning Sunday.

Third baseman Mike Sodders was the big gun Thursday, driving in four runs with his eighth home run and two singles.

Players May Set Strike Date Sunday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The NFL Players Association is expected to set a strike date when its executive committee meets Sunday in Chicago.

The Chicago meeting was set after four hours of meetings Wednesday proved the union and the owners representatives, led by NFL Management Council Executive Director Jack Donlan, can agree only that the two sides can't agree on much of anything.

Detroit Lions' linebacker Stan White left a distinct impression some sort of job action is the next step for the players. White, Mark Murphy of the Washington Redskins and John Bunting of the Philadelphia Eagles skipped a day of training camp to attend the session at the union's offices, but left disgruntled.

Pro Football

Ed Garvey, NFLPA executive director, said the executive committee will meet to "determine what the next step will be."

"Well, we'll probably have a lot more time to meet with him the next time we get together. We won't have our individual teams to worry about."

Strachan Pleads Guilty, Implicates 3

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Former Saints' running back Mike Strachan's guilty plea to selling cocaine to fellow pro football players does not end an investigation into drug use by the New Orleans team's members, federal officials said.

Strachan pleaded guilty Wednesday to selling drugs to at least three NFL players, including NFL rushing leader George Rogers of New Orleans and running back Chuck Muncie of San Diego.

In exchange for his guilty pleas for conspiring to distribute cocaine and selling the drug, the government dropped an additional 10 distribution charges against Strachan.

"It is our practice to pursue all avenues which lead to the source of drugs," said U.S. Attorney John Volz. "We've not closed the investigation."

Federal investigators also will interview former New Orleans' player Don Reese about his claims of extensive drug use by Saints' members, Volz said.

Strachan, 29, was released on bond pending a pre-sentence investigation. He faces a maximum 20 years in prison, $35,000 in fines and special minimum three-year parole.

He initially pleaded innocent to 11 counts of cocaine distribution and one charge of conspiracy.

During the hearing, federal prosecutors told U.S. District Judge Veronica Wicker Strachan sold cocaine to Muncie, Rogers and New Orleans' defensive end Frank Warren.

"Are you pleading guilty because you are, in fact, guilty of these crimes?" Ms. Wicker asked.

"Yes, your honor," replied Strachan, whose wife, Loretta; son, Michael Jr., 5, and daughter, Michelle, 3, watched the proceedings.

Strachan, who officials said was not considered a major cocaine dealer, admitted drug use was a problem among football players, but said it was no worse than in other professions.

"I think it's a problem all over," he said. "The NFL is just another part of life, just another business. Cocaine is a problem with everybody."

Strachan left the Saints last year to work in real estate.

In other training camp news:

—Green Bay endured its final double workout Wednesday and Coach Bart Starr said Lynn Dickey will start at quarterback Sunday night against the Raiders if he is healthy.

—Atlanta ended its last two-day practices before Friday's pre-season game with Philadelphia and starting linebackers Joel Williams and Buddy Curry are probable for the game.

—Washington traded quarterback Tom Flick to New England for quarterback Tom Owen.

—Cleveland Coach Sam Rutigliano emphasized Brian Sipe was his No. 1 quarterback and would hold the job for the foreseeable future. "He has a 'Yale Lock' on the starting job, for obvious reasons," Rutigliano said.

Also Wednesday, the Browns acquired two players on waivers — defensive lineman Mark Buben, who was released by New England, and defensive back Jerome King, who was cut by Philadelphia.

Better Mix, Better Hit Helps Valenzuela, LA Past Cards Into First

United Press International
 When Fernando Valenzuela puts his left arm and his bat to work in the same game, the results sometimes are electrifying.

On Wednesday night at St. Louis, Valenzuela, on the pitching mound scattered six hits. At the plate, he drove in two runs — hitting the first home run of his major-league career — to lead the Los Angeles Dodgers to an 11-3 victory over the Cardinals.

That triumph, combined with Philadelphia's 11-9 victory over Atlanta, moved the Dodgers one game ahead of the Braves in the NL West. The Cards' lead over the Phillies dropped to two games in the East.

Valenzuela said, "I think I'm mixing my pitches better. I don't think I'm overpowering the hitters; they know me better now."

Valenzuela became the first 17-game winner in the major leagues, raising his record to 17-9. He struck out three and walked one in pitching his 14th complete game.

Dodgers' Manager Tom Lasorda said, "... He's got the poise of a guy who's been in the big leagues 10 or 15 years."

The Dodgers opened a 3-0 lead after two innings off Steve Mura, 11-8.

Gene Tenace slammed his sixth homer leading off the second for the Cardinals to cut the lead to 3-1, but Bill Russell and Valenzuela connected for back-to-back homers in the fourth to give the Dodgers a 5-1 lead. St. Louis added a run in the fourth on a throwing error by Valenzuela.

Then the Dodgers erupted for six runs in the ninth, including Valenzuela's sacrifice fly.

Meanwhile, at Atlanta, Gary Matthews hit a three-run homer in the eighth inning to tie the score, 9-9, then singled home the winning run in the 10th to help the Phillies snap the Braves' six-game winning streak.

"We got a big lead in this game, but they came back and gave us all we wanted," Matthews said.

Garry Maddox had five singles for the Phillies and Ron Reed, 4-4, pitched the final four innings to get the victory.

Atlanta's Bob Horner slammed two home runs to give him 27 for the season, including a three-run blast that gave the Braves an 8-6 lead in the fifth. The Braves had fought back after trailing 6-0 in the first.

Cubs 4, Giants 2
 At Chicago, Leon Durham had three hits to spark the Cubs. The victory completed a Chicago sweep of the three-game series with the Giants.

Reds 1, Expos 0
 At Cincinnati, Bob Shirley and Brad Lesley combined on a seven-hitter and Alex Trevino singled in Wayne Krenchicki in the eighth inning to give the Reds the victory.

Astros 5, Mets 1
 At Houston, Art Howe hit a three-run, inside-the-park homer and the Astros held off a ninth-inning rally by the Mets.

Pirates 7, Padres 6
 At Pittsburgh, Jim Morrison singled home pinch-runner Enrique Romo from second base with one out in the bottom of the ninth, for the Pirates' victory.

Fernando Valenzuela fires away at St. Louis.

Otis, Leonard Lasso Rangers

United Press International
 It's almost as though the "career-threatening" injury that sidelined Dennis Leonard nearly three months ago was just an interruption.

Amos Otis singled home the winning run in the eighth inning Wednesday night and Leonard pitched seven strong innings to give the Royals a 4-3 victory over the Texas Rangers.

Ironically, it was the Rangers' Buddy Bell who hit the line drive that broke two of Leonard's fingers and caused him to miss 11 weeks.

"Getting revenge on the Rangers was completely out of my mind," said Leonard after his sixth straight victory. "Buddy hit it unintentionally ... Right now, I'm just looking to help the team by getting wins."

Leonard, 8-3, pitched seven innings before reliever Dan Quisenberry went the final two for his 29th save.

The Royals, who now trail California by a half game in the AL West, took a 1-0 lead in the third on doubles by John Wathan and U.L.

American League

Washington after Franc White's double error enabled the Rangers to tie it in the third.

White Sox 5, Indians 1
 At Cleveland, Steve Kemp drove in three runs for the White Sox, including a two-run double to highlight a four-run fourth inning. Len Barker, 12-9, suffered the loss despite pitching a three-hitter and striking out nine. Richard Dotson, 8-11, was the winner.

Orioles 8, Blue Jays 3
 At Baltimore, Glenn Gulliver and Cal Ripken knocked in two runs each to highlight a six-run seventh inning, sparking the Orioles to their fifth straight win.

Yankees 8, Twins 1
 At New York, Graig Nettles hit a pair of two-run homers and Ken Griffey added another to key a 13-hit New York attack. Shane Hawley and Rudy May combined on a five-hitter to send Bobby Castillo to his 10th loss in 17 decisions.

Memories

Summer's 'All Go' For Marcel Family

Summer 1982 has been memorable time for Mr. and Mrs. F.W. (Gene and Jean) Marcel, 1313 S. Park Ave., Sanford.

Their son, Aiden, a senior chief fire control technician on the Blue Crew of the first Trident submarine, "USS Ohio", was in port at the cape when the Columbia was scheduled to be launched in June.

Aiden was surprised when his wife, Marlies, flew down unexpectedly from their home near Seattle for a weekend visit with him and his family.

The following week Aiden who has served 18 years in the U.S. Navy arranged to take his parents, grandmother, Mrs. S.B. Hill, Jr. and his future sister-in-law Diana Christon on a personally conducted tour of the Ohio before going back to sea for further testing of this ship.

Another son, Glenn, enlisted in the Navy June 1981, completed boot camp and Basic Electric School at Orlando before being sent, as an E-3, to Mare Island, Vallejo, California where he is attending Data Systems Technician School.

Glenn flew home to be married to Diana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P.W. Christon of Stone Island, on July 3 by Rev. Preddie Smith in Central Baptist Church.

After the Gold Crew of the Ohio took command later in July, Aiden and Marlies vacationed in London and the Bahamas before returning to Seattle via Sanford for another short visit.

The family had tried for years to talk Jean's mother into flying and she finally decided to try it "just once" so she could see the new home Aiden bought recently if granddaughter Lynette Marcel, a legal secretary in Bradenton, would fly with her to Seattle. Aiden was still on leave and drove them to many areas of that beautiful state before the two flew down to San Francisco for several days on their way home.

Tara Marcel, a former service director for Auto Train, has been attending Respiratory Therapist Technician class at Seminole Community College and graduated on Aug. 12 with the highest grade average ever attained in that course at SCC.

Free Self-Help Course Offered On Arthritis

Florida Moose Lodges are sponsoring a clinic on arthritis, the foremost chronic disease in the world.

DeLand Lodge No. 1126 Loyal Order of Moose and the Florida Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation have opened an Arthritis Clinic in Orange City so citizens of West Volusia County and the Sanford area may receive aid locally.

For information call 734-1351, 789-2674 or 574-2355 or write P.O. Box 1001 DeLand, 32720.

Arthritis is a general classification for more than 100 different conditions. The most prevalent is Osteoarthritis generally associated with aging. But other forms can and do strike persons of all ages including one fourth million young people and children in America.

Researchers report that progress is being made toward development of a new family of drugs that could be more effective than existing remedies in controlling the disease that has an annual economic impact of $14 billion in the United States alone.

Sens. Barry Goldwater and Alan Cranston along with the United States Senate recently conducted a hearing that would establish a national institution on Arthritis and Musculo-skeletal disease that too often gets lost in the shuffle within the National Institute of Health (N.I.H.).

A free self-help course will be offered in the near future for victims of this disease. The time and place will be published.

Live-In Uncomfortable With Wedding

DEAR ABBY: I am 30 and John (not his real name) is 39. When we became engaged last March, I was thrilled because I'd been waiting for him to propose for two years. We agreed on an October wedding, but I went ahead and made all the arrangements — right down to having the invitations printed.

I've been paying for everything myself, but last night I asked John if he could help some. That's when he said some friends advised him to ask me to sign a statement saying everything he had before our marriage will be his alone. I told him I would sign anything and gladly. Then he said he still loves me but he wants to put our wedding on "hold" for a while!

Abby, we've lived together for nearly two years, so we're not exactly strangers. I love John and don't want to push him into anything he's not comfortable with, but our plans are made and the date is set. What should I do besides cry?

LOSING HOPE: Be grateful that John admitted that he's not ready for marriage. (He's not.) And since he suggested that you put the wedding on "hold," don't you be left holding the bag. Let John know that he's expected to share the expenses that have already been incurred.

DEAR ABBY: What does a mother do when she suspects her son has become a drug dealer? He doesn't fit the description of what one picture a drug dealer to be. He is educated, clean-cut, well-mannered and dresses beautifully. He's 22 and still in college.

I wonder how he is able to drive an expensive new car, live in a beautiful apartment, travel first class and buy expensive clothes and gifts without working. He tells me he has done well on some "investments," but he knows I don't believe him.

Do I let him make his own mistakes? The price could be very high. He's my son and, of course, I love him.

NO NAME OR TOWN: DEAR ABBY: If your son has chosen not to reveal the source of his mysterious income, there is nothing you can do about it. Eventually you will learn — to your sorrow, or your relief.

DEAR ABBY: I belong to a social club for single men and women over 60 years old. Being a man, I notice that most men look the women over and book the prettiest ones for dances right away.

Me? I look the women over, then I pick the women I think will be the least likely to be asked to dance — the plain ones, the overweight, the very tall, the skinny, or the ones who look bashful and hang back. They are my first choice.

Why? Because I find them to be the best company. Most good-looking women are inclined to be conceited, spoiled and selfish. The plain ones tend to be more thoughtful and generous. Plain women are usually smarter, too. Most pretty

Slow Heartbeat Causes Concern

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have a very slow heartbeat and have been to both a cardiologist and a family physician. I'm 44 years old, am 5 feet 7 and weigh 123 pounds. I'm a secretary and work very hard and fast. I am not athletic but do ride my horse about once a week. I do not have fainting spells but am continuously tired to the point it interferes with other things I have to do.

This condition has been present for about a week. I have not been ill. My doctor has suggested a pacemaker but seems to think there is no necessity for it at the present time. My mother is worried about my condition so if you have anything you can tell me I would appreciate it.

DEAR READER—You did not tell me what your resting heart rate actually is. Healthy athletes often have resting heart rates as low as 40 beats per minute.

Some people develop A-V heart block, a disturbance in conduction of the electrical impulse that stimulates the heart contraction. The trouble is between the top of the heart (atria) and the bottom (ventricles). The pumping action of the ventricles causes the pulse you feel. If only a few impulses don't get through there may be no serious effects. In other instances none of the impulses get through and the bottom of the heart beats slowly on its own. If it beats too slowly there may not be enough blood pumped to the brain and a person may have fainting spells or even convulsions.

The most common cause of A-V block is fatty-cholesterol deposits in the arteries to the area between the upper and lower part of the heart. But it can occur from birth defects or inflammation of the heart in that region.

The important points include what is causing your slow heart rate and will your heart rate increase when it needs to with exertion. Being tired may be unrelated to your heart rate. I must add that some people who have low thyroid function also develop a slow heart rate plus fatigue.

The factors that affect heart rate are discussed in more detail in the Health Letter number 9-8, Your Heart Rate: What It Means, which I am sending you.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I've been a pot smoker for eight or nine years now and I'm really worried about developing lung cancer. Please describe the testing procedures for lung cancer, cures and where I can go to get the test done. I don't want to go through a complete physical, just get the cancer tests.

DEAR READER—Checking the lungs for damage or cancer from marijuana smoking is no different from checking the lungs for damage from tobacco smoke. X-rays are often positive after lung cancer has become fairly advanced. Steam inhalations and sputum analysis for damaged cells are done in some pulmonary laboratories. And lung function tests to determine obstruction in airways can be done.

You are right to be concerned. Marijuana may be more dangerous than cigarettes in terms of lung cancer after a person has smoked a long time. Marijuana smoking produces 50 percent more polyaromatic hydrocarbons, the chemicals associated with lung cancer, than tobacco cigarettes. The harmful effects of marijuana on the lungs, and even reproductive system, are so well documented by now that the smart thing for you to do is quit.

South has a perfectly normal 16-point no-trump and with 17 high card points, North has a proper six bid. Thirty-three points are supposed to be enough for a slam, but this time there are problems.

As a starter South can see that he needs three heart tricks. Adding those three to three spades leaves six tricks to come from the minor suits. A 3-3 diamond break will make things easy. If not, there may be some sort of club-diamond squeeze.

If hearts break 3-3, there are three heart tricks. If they break 4-2, South can come to those three tricks if East holds the king.

Therefore, South starts proceedings by cashing dummy's ace of hearts. There just might be a singleton king. Then he leads toward his queen-jack.

East produces the heart king. The first hurdle is over and South is ready to try clubs and diamonds.

To prepare for the squeeze he takes the good spades and hearts while discarding a diamond from dummy and a club from his own hand.

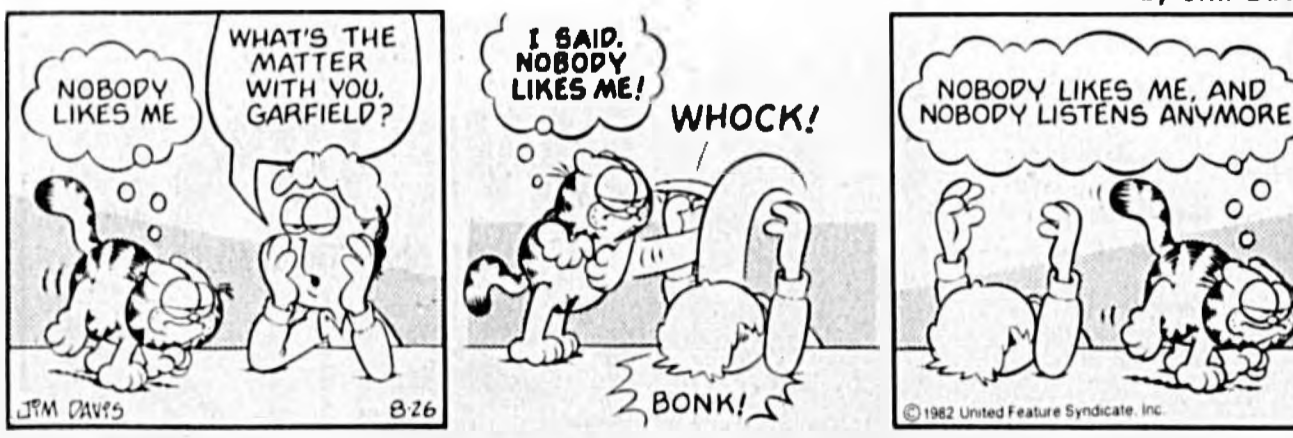

Sure enough, the squeeze has worked. East had to make two discards. A club discard was easy for his first. The second was impossible.

Actually, he chucked a diamond in the hope that South held just three diamonds, so South's long diamond had become the slam scoring trick.

Miss Ashby, 17, who won in Fashion Revue will be in the National Fashion Revue competing with winners from 49 other states. She was not only judged on her record book, but her sewing skills on a wool suit which she had made, her modeling ability, and her charisma and etiquette skills.

She is a member of the Cloverettes and has been in 4-H for six years.

Miss Moore, 15, won for her record book in the clothing category. She is also a member of the Cloverettes and has been in 4-H for seven years.

Horse Demonstration is the only category other than automotive that has regional competition. Miss Warner represented the state in the regional competition Aug. 13 in Oklahoma City, placing fifth against 4-H'ers from 13 other states.

She is a member of the Nickers and Neighs 4-H Saddle Club and has participated in 4-H for six years.

The 4-H record book is the culmination of the year's activities in 4-H from the time the girls started in the program until this point in their lives.

Sanford PBA Not In Central Unit

The Sanford Police Benevolent Association (PBA) again is warning that the local PBA is in no way connected with the Central Florida Police Benevolent Association and "receives absolutely no benefits whatsoever from their high-pressure telephone solicitations."

In issuing the alert, Sanford PBA spokesman Larry Monti said the Central Florida PBA has stepped up its fundraising efforts in Sanford recently and "the people should know who their money is going to."

"Representations made by their professional solicitors that the Sanford Police Department benefits from these donations are completely false," Monti said.

"If you feel that solicitors have misrepresented themselves to you in this manner, contact Secretary of State George Firestone, Florida Capital Building, Tallahassee 32301.

At Winter Springs Fence Policy Eyed

Winter Springs City Commissioners next week will consider action on an ordinance that will allow fencing of utility easements and dedicated right-of-ways so that City Attorney Al Cook can make minor changes spelling out who will pay for the fence.

The ordinance, which had been unanimously passed on its first reading, would make it lawful for residents to fence a utility easement near their property as long as access is provided.

The ordinance states that utility companies which remove a fence to install new utilities are responsible for repairing it. Requests to fence dedicated rights-of-way must be approved by the Board of Adjustment.

The commission Tuesday night adopted resolutions honoring Joel Weiss and Al Davis for service to the city. They will be presented at a later date. Weiss, who lives in the Tuscawilla section of the city is an accountant. He being honored for his service on the planning and zoning board and the charter revision committee.

Davis, a Casselberry realtor and Winter Springs resident who resigned last week from the Board of Adjustment, will be recognized for his more than two years of service.

Louise Poole has been appointed to replace Davis on the board.

A public hearing will be held Tuesday on the proposed $2.3 million budget — the largest in the city's history.

City Manager Richard Rozansky has informed the commission that less federal revenues than expected will be coming to the city and cuts will be necessary.

Longwood To Increase Rates

By JANE CASSELL BERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood sewer and water customers will pay higher fees as a result of action by the City Commission.

In a 4-1 vote the commission Monday night increased the sewer rates from $9 to $11 a month following an hour-long discussion. City Administrator David Chacey had asked for a $3 increase.

Mayor June Lormann voted against the increase. She said she felt a $1.50 increase was enough.

The commission also was split 4-1 on the water rate increase with Commissioner J. R. Grant voting against it. Grant wanted to delay the vote until City Attorney Marvin Books looked into the legality of city meter readers to enter private property to inspect the water system. A Longwood resident, Jim Ross, had objected to the city regulation permitting meter readers to enter customers' premises. Although the base rate for water will remain the same ($4 including tax for the first 5,000 gallons) incremental increases were approved. Chacey had recommended changing the base rate to $4 for the first 4,000 gallons.

At present water used from 3,000 to 30,000 gallons costs 60 cents per 1,000 gallons and over 30,000 gallons costs 70 cents per 1,000.

The rate schedule was changed to 65 cents for 3,000 to 10,000 gallons; 70 cents from 10,000 to 20,000; 75 cents for 20,000 to 30,000 gallons; 80 cents for 30,000 to 40,000 gallons and 85 cents for anything over 40,000 gallons.

Chacey said the water rate increase is needed to help pay for the water plant's expansion. Although the sewer system showed a slight profit last year, Chacey said lift station pumps and motors will be 12 years old next year and he anticipates they will need replacement, necessitating the sewer increase.

Chacey previously told the commission Casselberry and Oviedo also have or had plans to increase utility rates and that even with the rate increases, Longwood's fees would still be the area's lowest.

The commission unanimously approved a conditional-use request by Gallimore Homes, Inc. to build a planned unit development (PUD), or cluster homes, on the east side of Range Line Road. The property is currently zoned R-1 residential single family.

An ordinance amending the city's Code Enforcement Board law was unanimously approved on first reading. The current ordinance calls for five members and two alternates on the Code Enforcement Board and fines of $500 a day. The amendment calls for a seven-member board and $250 in fines.

The commission unanimously adopted a resolution opposing a proposed U.S. Senate Bill, the 1982 Cable Television Act, that would restrict the cities' ability to levy franchise fees and set rates.
