

FREIGHT RATE INCREASE WILL BE EFFECTED SOON UNLESS WORK IS DONE

FLAT INCREASE OF 25 PER CENT MEANS RUIN

At a meeting in Jacksonville Thursday, the 18th, the various commercial organizations and shippers of the state were advised through R. Hudson Burr, chairman of the Florida Railroad Commission, that Director General McAdoo of the railroads would enforce a 25 per cent increase in freight rates, effective June 25th. On that date, however, the director general advised that our classification and freight mileage rates would be left in tact.

This means that all persons having freight to ship or to receive will pay a flat increase of 25 per cent on June 25th and the Board of Trade advises all persons to get rid of as much of their crops as is possible and get in as much of their freight as is possible before that date.

In the official order No. 28, a minimum rate of $15 per car is made. This feature will greatly increase local hauls on main line rates. It will be particularly heavy on citrus fruit moving in field boxes from groves to packing houses and equally as bad in the Sanford section on the S. & E. branch, where less than car load moves are made between the various side tracks.

In the official announcement, however, Mr. McAdoo stated that the above named rates would take effect regardless, but that shippers would be heard and had a right to take up with the administration, inequalities pertaining to their own lines and commodities. In accordance with this permission on July 9th, at the court-house in Sanford, a meeting of state vegetable and orange growers will be held in order to prepare and file protest against the inequalities and excessiveness of this large increase and minimum car lot rates. This meeting decided on in Jacksonville last Thursday, between the Florida Citrus Exchange, Chase & Co. and the Sanford Board of Trade, and letters of notice of this meeting are being sent out signed by E. D. Dow, traffic manager Citrus Exchange, C. M. Tyler, traffic manager Chase & Co., and D. C. Marlowe, secretary Sanford Board of Trade.

At this meeting only freight questions in regard to vegetables and fruit will be gone into and a reduction on the minimum haul will be urged by direct appeal to the administration at Washington.

This is without doubt the proper steps and since our growers have several months intervening between crops it is likely that satisfactory results will be obtained.

It means, however, that if we are interested in our own savings that we must be at this meeting and must affiliate with this move to be successful. A further notice of this will appear in the Herald before the date of the hearing. In the meantime the Board of Trade is doing the required preliminary work in conjunction with the other concerns named in order to secure for the shippers an appeal from this excessive increase.

Casualty List This Year

Washington, June 17.—Seven hundred and seventy casualties reported among the American expeditionary forces during the week ending today brought the total since the American forces first landed in France nearly a year ago to 8,085.

The second weekly summary of casualties issued today by the war department shows the total number of deaths from all causes is 3,193, while 4,547 men have been wounded in action and 346 are mission in

TICK ERADICATION WAS THE PRINCIPAL TOPIC

There was a most enthusiastic meeting of the cattlemen here last Saturday in the court house, the meeting being called to consider the question of vats for the dipping of cattle and also the calling of the election for the compulsory dipping of cattle.

Among the distinguished visitors to the city were Dr. Nighbert, inspector in charge of tick eradication in Florida, Dr. W. F. Blackman, president of the Florida Live Stock Association, R. W. Storrs, member of the State Live Stock Sanitary Board and several others interested in this work.

C. M. Berry, county agent, acted as chairman of the meeting and several very interesting talks were made by the experts present and also by local cattlemen. Among the larger owners of cattle present and taking an active interest were Joe Cameron, J. R. Hayden, Seth Woodruff and many others of this section and they were all in favor of an early election to decide this question and to get the dipping vats as soon as possible.

Many questions of interest on this problem were asked by the cattle owners and they obtained a clear idea of tick eradication and quarantine laws and the value of systematic campaign to eliminate this scourge that is getting the best of the cattle wherever they are allowed to flourish unmolested.

The meeting was very satisfactory in every respect and it is predicted that the election will carry by a large majority and that the funds for the building of all the vats be raised without delay and Seminole county will be among the 100 per cent counties of the south.

To Jacksonville Via Ford

Rev. M. H. Massey of the Baptist church and Jno. D. Jinkins of Court House fame, assisted by Eugene Massey (at the wheel) left this morning for Jacksonville for a few days, combining business with pleasure. The party went up in Mr. Massey's Ford car.

City Posted for U. S. Drive

The city of Sanford is now posted for the War Savings Drive to take place next week. Yesterday morning the county chairman assisted by a number of faithful workers distributed many handsomely lithographed posters to the merchants, who very graciously placed them in their show windows and now the passers by have their attention called to the fact that it is their duty to buy and subscribe for War Savings Stamps throughout the War Savings Week, June 24th to 28th.

West Palm Beach, along with a number of other Florida cities has established a curb market in that city for the benefit of the consumers. It is believed that these markets will prove a boon in the way of protecting the local consumer against the profiteer in fruits and vegetables. The grower will bring his products into the city and sell them from his wagon or cart while standing in the street. In this way the housewife secures her vegetables fresh from the fields and at a less price than if she had to pay the dealer's profit.

Carloads of watermelons are leaving Edisto daily, the largest shipper being Senator W. M. Igou, who has sent to the northern markets ten cars during the past week. These melons were sold to F. F. Dutton & Company of Sanford, and brought the owner from $360 to $450 per car. These melons were not only very large but of excellent quality.

A feed and rice mill is being planned for erection before fall in Clay county. Farmers are being urged to plant every available acre to corn, velvet beans and rice, as well as an abundance of sweet potatoes. They are planning to establish a sweet potato storage house.

NECESSARY COTTON GINS TO BE BUILT

L. A. BRUMLEY WILL ADD TO HIS PRESENT HOLDINGS

Cotton farming in this county is assuming large proportions and L. A. Brumley, the pioneer in the raising of cotton and in ginning it will make arrangements this season to take care of the cotton crop in this and adjoining counties. He established the first cotton and grist mill here last season on Celery avenue, where he has one of the largest and best celery farms in this section. This year he will add another 80-saw gin, making two of these gins for short staple, and will also add a long staple gin for the Sea Island cotton, as there will be considerable of this kind here.

Mr. Brumley is considering establishing the new gin house on the railroad; that is some distance from his other gin house and grist mill and this will add better shipping facilities and will also give him the advantage of using a blower to load cottonseed into the freight cars, avoiding the extra handling of the seed. With the big acreage of cotton and corn here and the machinery for taking care of the same Sanford and Seminole county will be in the thick of the fray in staple crops and feeds of all kinds that will be raised here and shipped from here. The Brumley mill takes care of the immense corn crop, making the finest of meal and grits and feeds of all kinds.

Mr. Brumley is one of the most progressive citizens in the county and if he could get the proper encouragement would no doubt be interested in the cotton seed oil mill and the peanut oil mill propositions. He raises fine cattle and hogs and knows the value of the peanut fattened hogs and also knows what it would mean to this community to have the peanuts raised here and the oil mill to supplement our industries.

There are many matters that will bear investigation in the industrial line and the staple crops will be given more attention and serious consideration than ever before.

Love Is The Saving Grace

If there is one person who will stand by a man when the world has branded him that person will be a woman. With the understanding of love Rose Lockley, the heroine of Francis Ford's stirring drama, "BERLIN VIA AMERICA," realized that Phil Kelly had a reason for the action through which he sacrificed his honor—and she believed in him.

How her trust was vindicated will be shown at the Lyric Theatre commencing June 28th, where "BERLIN VIA AMERICA" will be the featured attraction. Throughout the story runs a sweet love theme and a thread of mystery—but over all hovers a spirit which today has reached every heart and home—the spirit of patriotism.

Francis Ford directed the production and also enacts the leading role—Phil Kelly, aviator; Edna Emerson as Rose Lockley, an American girl "doing her bit" supports him and a capable cast includes Jack Newton, William Canfield, Lois Scott, Dell Coyne and Emma Warren.

Since the systematic work of eradicating the cattle tick has been in Lake county, a vast improvement in the appearance and weight of cattle is noted in practically all herds. Some sceptical persons have declared the better appearance and weight is due to the improvement in pasturage, but an object lesson at Emeralda recently showed the fallacy of this declaration.

CONCERTED MOVEMENT SHOULD BE MADE TO GET THE FACTORIES

CUT OUT STYLES Leather and Wool Goods Are To Be Conserved

Washington, June 16.—Necessity for war time conservation of wool and leather will be further reflected in civilian footwear and men's clothing for next spring trade.

Restrictions on manufacturers announced today by the war industries board are expected to effect a substantial saving of leather and cloth so necessary for the nation's ever increasing fight force. Both quantity and styles will be affected.

The height of women's shoes is to be reduced to a maximum of eight inches from the heel to top, with the same maximum for overgaiters or "spats."

All shoes, both leather and fabric will be restricted to black, white and two colors of tan. Patent leather will be black only.

Manufacturers are especially urged to encourage the sale of low cut and low effects in shoes, to reduce the number of boot samples for women.

Marked changes are prescribed for men's clothing. Sack coats will be shorter, with a minimum of thirty inches for 36 sizes and 1½ inches added for "longs." Double breasted overcoats will be eliminated and the length of top coats will be a minimum of 43 inches for 36 sizes, and two inches to be added for "longs."

Only three outside pockets will be allowed in sack coats and facings will not excel 4½ inches.

Side and back straps and flaps of trousers are to be eliminated and no reinforcement of trousers can be made with wool cloth.

Not more than ten models of sack suits are to be put out.

The maximum length of raincoats is fixed at 48 inches, while the maximum width of collars will be 3½ inches.

Appleyard Goes

"Bill" Appleyard, as the boys familiarly call him has joined the Tank Service of the U. S. Army, and leaves Friday for Fort Screven, Ga., from which point he goes to Camp Collins, Pa., and then to the Bethlehem Steel works to take his first lesson in the tank construction department, afterwards "over there." No better all around mechanic will enter the service for the work indicated than this young man, which makes two boys the publisher of the Record has let Uncle Sam have. And the Appleyard print shop is proud of the fact that it has FIVE stars on its service flag, which will float out in a few days.

William T. Appleyard was born at Oakland in Orange county, Fla., and is a full fledged "cracker," as are all the boys of this family. He is one of the best mechanics in the state and joined the particular branch of the tank service after trying eight times in the others, where he was turned down on account of his weight. He insists that he wants to meet the Kaiser, and that the tank service will get him there quick; and Will says, "It's good-bye to his namesake" in a "knock-down and drag out."—Tallahassee Record.

Country Towns Active in W. S.

News from the various district chairmen of the county shows that the towns of Seminole are becoming very active in preparing for the War Savings drive which takes place June 24th to 28th. Chuluota reports that they have already enough subscriptions for stamps to place them well up in the lead and that they expected to go over the top in their quota. This is the spirit of the entire county and we predict that a spirit of that kind cannot fail.

SANFORD BOARD OF TRADE SHOULD BE SUPPORTED

The time has come in the history of this city for men to act and act through the organized agency of the Sanford Board of Trade for no individual can get the results that organized efforts can achieve. To act means that through the Board of Trade many factories can be induced to come to this city and locate here with a payroll that will be diverted through the different channels for the benefit of trade in general.

For instance, County Agent Berry just returned from a trip to west Florida reports that peanuts and peanut oil mills are making the cities of west Florida rich. Old Man Boll Weevil knocked King Cotton off the track in many of the west Florida counties and when it looked like ruin was staring the farmers in the face they turned to peanuts and planted large acreages and established co-operative oil mills and now there is prosperity on every hand. Seminole county can raise peanuts and raise them better than many other counties of the state and the oil mill can be established here in Sanford if enough red blooded merchants think so and will put their shoulders to the wheel.

There is no spot in Florida where a canning factory could make greater progress and pay larger dividends than right here in Sanford. There are thousands of bushels of tomatoes rotting in the fields right now that could be canned in a factory and with these thousands of bushels rotting in the fields we are paying high prices for canned tomatoes here in this city. Does this mean anything to you?

There are countless fruits and vegetables that could be canned here profitably each season saving our crops and conserving our food supply as the government asks and urges us to do and yet we are allowing these crops to be wasted every year. The farmers would profit twice by this method for they could get something for their surplus instead of allowing it to waste in the field when the markets are off and the shipping season is over.

Does this appeal to the business men of this city?

The peanut oil would mean that the meal that is left after the oil is extracted is the greatest fattening for pigs that has yet been discovered, meaning that in this county we could raise thousands of hogs and fatten them and send them to the market at Jacksonville and get a good price at any time and this money would be coming here in a constant stream.

Does this mean anything to the merchants of this city?

It is high time that the business men of Sanford woke up to the fact that money is passing by their doors and that by a concerted effort much could be saved to them and this city would be growing by leaps and bounds. This effort can and will come if you stand behind your Board of Trade as you should stand and will never come from any other source.

Does this mean anything to you?

Dr. Boan Tonight

There was another man who lived in a palace in Berlin. He was twice a king, eighteen times a duke, twice a prince, nine times a count, besides being a bishop--William of Hohenzollern, King of Prussia, Emperor of Germany.

The blacksmith of Louvain was a better man than the Hohenzollern. The blacksmith owned but two suits of clothes, one for work and one for the Sabbath. The kaiser owned three hundred and sixty-six.

August 1st, 1914, and William of Hohenzollern spoke the word that set the world afire; came the crash, titanic, colossal, staggering.

Joy died, hope fled, desolation became supreme.

Upon that day the world passed into twilight.

The baneful autocracy of Prussia had spoken. An autocracy of hate which for decades had been deceiving a great people, poisoning their minds, preaching the virtue and necessity of war; had applied the torch of Devastation.

By a trick of circumstances the weal of mankind was placed for a moment in the hand of an arrant egotist, tyrant, madman--William of Hohenzollern. The greatest crime in all history was perpetrated that ONE man might find for HIMSELF a place in the sun.

"THE KAISER" A Mongrel Among the Hell Hounds at the Star Monday, June 17th

Blinded by the gods, there flashed forth in the mind of this one man, a madness, a fatuity, a mania fatal, malignant, satanic.

From beyond the dim horizon began the tireless thudding of guns.

The rich fields, the peaceful farm, the busy city became the barracks, the arsenal and the hospital.

In two years twenty-two million men were killed, maimed, or made prisoners. Twenty-two million families mourned, but hunger and suffering do not lend themselves to the process of arithmetic--blasted homes and stunted lives are not to be interrupted by mathematics.

Then came the master crime. An unoffending people was ground into extinction beneath an iron heel, a nation was destroyed, the crime against Belgium completed to its fullest; the Prussian stalked onward with his twin comrades, Frightfulness and Horror. A new blotch of infamy--the Lusitania--was added to the Black Name of the Beast.

There was another man who lived in a White House. The Chief and Spokesman of a great nation that believes all people were born Free and Equal with a right to Peace and Happiness.

Then came the end. The dark curtain which, like a shroud had enveloped the earth, cleared away, and when the echo of the last cannon had died upon the air, the silver-throated bells of all the world rang forth the glad tidings-- "William of Hohenzollern Has Fallen!"

June 17th. Did you know that the kaiser had a poison filled abscess in his ear, and that if it burst he would be a raving maniac?

Did you know that the kaiser's left arm is six inches shorter than his right, and that the hand is puny as a child's? And did you know how he carried it in order to disguise the deformity?

Did you know that the kaiser has a mania for admiring beautiful hands which greatly embarrasses the ladies of his court? That he wears many bracelets and feminine rings, copied from those he admires? That he has 360 full dress uniforms, that he was twice king, twice a grand duke, 18 times a duke, twice a prince, nine times a count, besides being a bishop?

Did you know why he slaps his right thigh all the time? Of course, you didn't. Few people outside of the imperial court know them. They are secrets as carefully guarded as has been the proof that Germany planned and started the war.

All these things in the private life of the Jackal of Europe, who has plunged the whole world into war and sorrow are shown in "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin." To miss it is to miss the most illuminating expose of this enemy of mankind.

First show in the evening at 7:30. Second at 9:15.

KAISER INSULTS LADY GUESTS

Outrages by His Officers Prompted By Examples Provided By Their Ruler

Reason for outrages committed against the young womanhood of Belgium by the officers and men of the German army is undoubtedly provided in the truths now coming to light of the insulting manner in which the kaiser himself has frequently received prominent ladies at his receptions in the White Room of the Imperial Palace where his generals and other officers are present and have seen the disrespect shown female guests by their own ruler.

The kaiser is a slave to beautiful hands and has often distressed ladies of the court by his bold, public admiration and insulting insinuations. A case now receiving considerable attention here in America is that of Miss Gertrude Astor.

Most of the rings and bracelets worn by the kaiser are duplicates of ornaments he has noticed on female hands while admiring and fondling them, even strangers, in public; but this is but one of many sensational peeps into the private life, the habits and mannerisms of the "Mad Dog of Europe," as shown in Rupert Julian's startling scene production, "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin" to be shown at the Star Theatre on Monday.

"The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin" At the Star Theatre Monday, June 17th.

Summer 1914--and the world was at peace--love and friendship ruled the glad business of every day. God looked down from Heaven and was pleased.

Gentle breezes fanned the swaying fields of grain; the world hummed with the pleasing sound of bees a birds and laughing girls.

Marcus, the blacksmith of Louvain was a mighty man. This man, Marcus, lived in faith and love and friendship, and by the sweat of his brow had won peace and prosperity.

"I pledge allegiance to my flag and the Republic for which it stands; one Nation indivisible, with Liberty and Justice to all."

An exchange says "Bob Holley never enters a raffle without winning." Oh, how sad to see a bright young man flitting away his time in games of chance!

Don't know what that exchange means, Herb, about a raffle. The only raffle we have ever engaged in is the newspaper business which is the greatest raffle in the world and we can swear it is doing everything but winning at this particular time.

EQUALITY OF SACRIFICE

The New York Times recently said: "No man or woman who has acquired a Liberty Bond is relieved from the duty of buying War Savings Stamps."

"Does the average man or woman who earns a substantial salary or good wages have any idea of the sacrifices made by the small investors in War Savings Stamps to do their bit in the war? It is often a story of silent heroism."

DEHYDRATION OF FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

The art of drying fruits and vegetables termed "dehydrating" is an old one and was really the primitive method of preserving. Of late years it has been brought nearly to an exact science and in view of the conditions brought about by the war is now attracting considerable attention.

recognizing the possibilities that would accrue from the installation of huge drying plants in communities where there are extensive acreages of vegetables have become active in efforts to locate such plants in their respective communities, the government having recently made an appropriation of several million dollars to encourage them, hence the activity.

The last issue of the Geographical Magazine contained a splendid article on dehydration, entitled "Forming New Fashions in Food."—Florida Grower.

VALUE OF SUGGESTIONS

A young man who has the interests of the city at heart suggested that more space of the Evening Record should be given to boosting articles. He stated that if he was in charge of the paper he would fill the front page daily with suggestions for the betterment of conditions in the city and for bringing business to the community.

Time and again, week in and week week out the Evening Record has pointed to undeveloped resources and sought to arouse interest in the same, but without success. No action on the suggestions have been expected. They become so hum drum that the reader skips them over as a part of uninteresting stuff that is used to fill up space with.

We have some small cigar factories in St. Augustine, but aside from the fact that a large majority of local smokers buy home-made cigars (because they are better than those brought from the outside) nothing has been done to help in developing this industry.

Our young friend with his head full of suggestions would need to back them with something more than printer's ink to get the results he so confidently dreams of.—St. Augustine Record.

Give Potatoes Stable Manure
Stable manure is an excellent fertilizer, and there is nothing better for sweet potatoes, according to C. K. McQuarrie of the University of Florida extension division.

Run furrows four feet apart with a middle buster if one is available. Spread the manure in these furrows at the rate of about five tons to the acre. Two furrows are thrown back on top of the manure, and about 400 pounds of acid phosphate put on top.

Over 800 men are now employed in construction operations at the army aerial gunnery school at Miami and work is being rushed with a view to not only taking care of the help but getting the camp ready for the reception of fliers and the small army of soldiers who will be employed as mechanics and gunners.

The Chase & Company packing house is being overhauled and remodeled and additional machinery being installed. The work is in charge of W. W. Williams of Orlando who has been with this firm for a number of years and is an expert in this line.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Abernathy and son Charles and Mr. and Mrs. Zeb Ratliff left yesterday for Quincy, Florida where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. George Watson. They made the trip in the Abernathy car and expect to be gone about ten days.

The new cannery at Moore Haven has been completed and is now ready for business. This institution is practically the largest in the south and the factory part is 200x20 feet, and the house which will be used for the storage of empty cans and the finished product (tomato paste) is 200x80 feet. The buildings together with the engine, boiler, machinery, kettles and something like 100,000 empty five gallon cans on hand represent an outlay of $100,000 or more.

Around the Corner
People get peeved at me from time to time because I dare to call attention to their deficiencies and they come around to call me down but I want to tell them in advance that this column has always stood for the right and will continue to do so and all we ask the public to do is to walk in the straight and narrow path. All of us make mistakes and it is but natural to get peeved when our faults are brought to light. Getting sore at me will not make wrong right and getting sore and chewing the rag will not stop me from going right along as formerly and calling attention to these same people when they go wrong. This is a free country and thank goodness the press is half free and if there is anything in these columns that does not suit certain parties they know what they can do.
Unless the people of this city get together and stay together Sanford is going backward. This is plain talk and I intend to talk plain. You can't rub it out and there is no reason to be pussy footed about it. I have been here for many years and know whereof I speak and I have seen the town go backward once before many years ago and saw it come up through the united efforts of a bunch of men who took the city over and started it upward. What we need now is another boost forward and this boost will only come by the real men of the city getting together and doing something to induce industries to locate here and there are dozens of industries that could be located here. They are passing us by now because they do not get the glad hand when they want to come here and our own people do nothing toward getting them. The Board of Trade is holding the remnants together and striving to get the city organized so it can do something but it is a difficult matter unless the business men do something for themselves. It is just about time that the people here woke up and took stock of themselves and did some real work by an organized effort. We want real work and less talk.

There should be some stock taking in Sanford this summer and a whole lot of people need to get right if you expect this town to do what it should and if you expect it to weather the gales that are blowing since the war started. The time has passed for foolish arguments and the time has come when the real men of this city must band together and have some purpose in view. We need building up instead of tearing down.
There are many places in this old town that need some renovating and they will be renovated from time to time and whenever I think something should be done for the benefit of this city I will tell it and let the chips fall where they may. If the show pinches take off the shoe and if these little references did not hurt no one would howl. And in conclusion it will be well to remember that all of us are free to talk all we please and we intend to exercise that right.

240 Pound Pigs

With corn above 60 cents hogs eat their heads off very quickly. The hog that takes two or three months to get on full feed never brings you a profit.

When you are ready to put away your shots on feed, begin with the B. A. Thomas Hog Medicine. Use regularly and watch your shots round out into fat hogs in nine months—hogs going well over two pounds and as high as 240 pounds. Figure the average feeding and you will see why the B. A. Thomas medicine is a good investment. Try Feeding out your hogs on this plan and if you are not more than pleased we will refund the cost of the medicine.

FOOD WILL WIN THE WAR

NEW RULES of the Food Administration

On and after June 16th, 1918, and until further notice, all public eating places shall be governed by the following regulations, covering the use of beef served to their guests or patrons:

No hotel, restaurant, or boarding house shall place on their menus, or serve boiled beef at more than two meals weekly, nor shall they serve beef steak at more than one meal each week, nor shall they serve roast beef at more than one meal each week. This order will allow public eating places to serve alternately boiled beef, beef steak, and roast beef as stipulated, and will not restrict the public eating places in the use of mutton, poultry, pork, bacon, ham and sausage, which are allowed to take the place of beef and beef products. All public eating places will be required to live strictly up to this regulation, and evidence of violation of the rule will result in removing from such violators their privileges of purchasing their regular supplies of food commodities.

(Signed) Braxton Beacham, Federal Food Administrator, Fla.

All dealers within the state of Florida handling sugar at retail, or in retail quantities are hereby notified that they shall not, after publication of this notice make individual sales of sugar to consumers living in cities in quantities in excess of two pounds, and shall not make individual sales of sugar to consumers living in rural districts in excess of five pounds. These amounts being based on an estimate of the weekly per capita requirements of the individual consumer.

This ruling supersedes all previous orders regarding the sale of sugar at retail, but does not effect the established margins of profit, nor the provisions made for supplying home canners and preservers with their requirements of sugar when certificates are signed.

All retail dealers and others handling sugar for sale to the public will be required to give strict observance to this order and evidence of violation will be met with elimination of the retailer's privilege of buying food commodities.

Costs you but a few cents and we will refund that if it doesn't do as we say.

Chapter Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of Seminole County Chapter will be held at the Woman's Club Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. w. s. s.

Seminole County Chapter

With the re-organization of the various committees and the adoption of the chart plan for Woman's Work one can truthfully state that Seminole County Chapter ranks officially as one of the most efficient in the state. Reports on the work of this chapter from Division Headquarters are most gratifying and encouraging. In the membership line renewals are coming in with astonishing regularity and new members are being constantly enrolled. On June 1st the membership was 1286. Donations were received from the Social Department Woman's Club, the committee on the D'Oise play, Holy Cross church and individuals netting the chapter $36.05.

The latest report on the gauze rolls, surgical dressings department, received from the Jacksonville director of Woman's Work, Mrs. Arthur G. Cummer was as follows: "Excellent rolls, couldn't be finer, beautifully folded and carefully rolled, very free from loose threads and measured correctly. A report of which the chapter can well be proud."

The Junior Red Cross throughout the county is now on a working basis, the young members being enthu-sive and eager to work. The secretary urges the patience of the people in regard to membership. There is no intention on her part to force anyone to pay dues to the chapter. Wherever a notice is sent out that particular name is on the roll and she is only following instructions from Division Headquarters. It is possible that some names were listed last June in the drive whose membership was given in by the solicitor, however when a mistake occurs if the secretary is notified she will gladly correct the error.

June dues are now payable with still a few of April and May. Where no notice to the contrary is given, members whose dues are still unpaid at the expiration of two months after notice is given will be dropped from the roll and neither is this a local ruling but a rule made at National Headquarters.

A call has been issued for trained nurses for army service; nurses for home and local hospital work; canteen and home service workers; Y. M. C. A., Motor Corps; secretaries, clerks, mechanics of all kinds. Until further notice these may be registered with the local secretary.

BATTLEFRONT IS CHANGED TO ITALIANS

AUSTRIAN AND GERMAN ARMY IN COMBINED ATTACK

Austrian troops which forced the Piave river have been driven back. The fighting along the river is most intense.

At Italian army headquarters satisfaction is felt over the situation on every part of the front.

The general commanding the artillery corps in the Monte Grappa region expressed this feeling to the correspondent.

"Now send us only four divisions of Americans," the general added. "We will first shake hands and then travel together into Austria."

The severity of the fighting on Monte Grappa may be understood from the fact that the Italian artillery fired 70,000 shells in 12 hours.

Nowhere else along the front of attack has the struggle been so severe as on the Piave line. One of the most brilliant of the Italian actions was the defense of the Monte Moschin salient, protecting the important Brenta positions. Here the Austrians suffered heavy losses, many of their machine guns being captured.

Prisoners are caged and ill-fed. Many of them are under sized youths. One of the prisoners remarked to the correspondent that he had had no interest in the war. The feeling of the Italian is buoyant.

Rome, June 17.—The situation on the Italian front in its entirety seems very reassuring, says a semi-official note issued last night. It is added that the great battle, which broke out Saturday has but begun. Although having a strength of sixty divisions the enemy attacking forces have not succeeded in passing the Italian advanced area at any point.

Austrian pressure continues very strong along the entire front. The enemy is concentrating most powerful and fierce attacks astride the Brenta and across the Piave, and it is still possible for the fighting line to flow backwards or forwards.

The enemy based his expectation on various factors to secure him a victory says the semi-official note. There was a relatively brief but extremely violent artillery preparation with a large number of gas shells. This bombardment was for the purpose of destroying the Italian front line and paralyzing the Italian artillery.

Then, under cover from an artificial fog from bombs and smoke apparatus, the enemy in open formation advanced to the attack. The enemy placed such faith in this preparation that he fixed his objects for the first day's fighting more than 15 kilometers in advance and planned to descend from the mountain area.

From the Piave river the enemy's bombardment was frustrated by the formidable fire from the Italian artillery, which destroys lines and shelters and made full hills on massed troops, as well as drenching his battle emplacements with gas. The battle entrenchments with gas. When the enemy infantry advanced into the front line zones, they found that resistance had been prepared for by the Italian machine guns and had to meet a counter attack from the Italian supporting troops. This resulted in the loss of a great part of the advantage he had gained and he left prisoners and machine guns in the hands of the Italians.

This is what happened to the Austrians along the whole front of the attack.

Mother Love Suffers Through Son's Disloyalty

The hardest blow for Phil Kelly was that even his mother must believe him a traitor. With just one word he could have justified her belief in him, but Kelly was a soldier and his orders were plain. Often he sees here tear dimmed face and the grief he has caused her but is happy that some day she will learn that he was, above all else, an American.

This story is told in "BERLIN via AMERICA" directed by Francis Ford, and in which he appears as Phil Kelly. It will be seen at the Lyric Theatre on June 28.

German Spy Headquarters Raided

One of the thrilling episodes in Francis Ford's "BERLIN via AMERICA" which will be shown at the Lyric Theatre on June 28th is the raiding of the Hun secret agents' headquarters. While gloating over the destruction they have wrought and planning more they are interrupted by the entrance of U. S. Secret Service men. But three of the spies escape to continue their work until the end of this timely drama.

Timely Drama on the Screen

With the eyes of the world centered upon the great events which are transpiring across the waters—the stories that come back of the boys going "over the top" and the unfolding dramas which each one is "doing his bit"—the events that are vividly shown in Francis Ford's stirring screen story, "BERLIN via AMERICA" hit close to the heart. For who among us has not sent a son, a husband, a sweetheart or a brother on into the great adventure with a smile and a hidden tear?

It is like the story of an American boy—one just like your own—who even at the sacrifice of his good name works for the cause which is Francis Ford directed the production and enacts the leading role. Opposite him plays Edna Emerson and a notable cast including Jack Newton, William Canfield, Lois Scott, Del Coyne, and Emma Warren.

Manager Lane has obtained "BERLIN via AMERICA" for the Lyric Theatre and it will be shown commencing June 28th.

One Experience Convinced Me of its Value

"One of our salesmen demonstrated the value of the Long Distance Telephone to us. He was at Huntsville, Ala., and upon his own responsibility put in Long Distance calls for fifteen merchants within a radius of several hundred miles.

"In less than one hour he had sold 2100 barrels of flour at a total cost to us of less than six dollars.

SHOULD HELP LABOR TO REMAIN IN SANFORD WHERE IT IS NEEDED

Labor Bureau Will Encourage Such A Move

Seeing the value and great need of a Bureau of Labor in this city the Sanford Board of Trade will supply this need and start it in operation after the next meeting of the Board of Governors. The labor problem is one of the most important that confronts this section today and just why the farmers and the business men have not taken it up before is what they are asking themselves today. About fifty per cent of the labor that formerly resided here has left and more of them will go unless some measures are adopted at once looking to the retention of this labor here.

In the first place recruiting should not be allowed as the government in the future will not send here for any labor and no more licensed recruiters will operate in this or any other state according to the dispatch printed elsewhere in this paper.

In the second place when labor comes here there should be a central bureau where they can register and while waiting for a job they should be secure against the chance of being arrested as vagrants and thus scared away from the city. There is a difference between vagrancy and the man who really wants to work and this difference should be established at once. We need every bit of labor we can get now and for the fall crops and for the cotton crop and when a laborer comes to this city and wants to work he should be given every inducement to make good.

In the third place there should always be a place where the people seeking labor and the laborer seeking work can get together and the Labor Bureau will do just that thing. The farmers will be in constant touch with the bureau and the bureau will be in constant touch with the farmers and as long as the laborer is registered and it is known that he has come here looking for a job he will be protected and will not be arrested as a vagrant. The man who is honestly looking for work and wants work is not a vagrant even though force of circumstances may have made him penniless or he may have the appearance of a tramp. There is work for every one in the United States today and while the slogan of go to work or go to jail is all right for the professional tramp it is not the slogan for this community that needs labor of all kinds all during the year and if this class of labor is to be kept here it must be protected and the Board of Trade will do this through the Labor Bureau.

The fact that so many of the laborers have gone to other parts of the country is telling upon all lines of business and unless steps can be taken to protect this labor and to keep these men here not only will the farmers and every other line of business suffer but the merchants will suffer for all these laborers make good money and spend it here in this city.

It is high time that something along this line be accomplished and the work of the Board of Trade will be backed by the farmers and by the members and that it will alleviate the situation is already assured.

County Agent Berry is working night and day on the proposition through the Labor Bureau of the United States and he will see that no more labor is recruited from this point. He will also cooperate with the Board of Trade and help to bring labor here and to keep it here after it is brought here.

T. P. Denham, Jr., was operated upon for appendicitis at Dr. Puleston's hospital on Wednesday and is recovering rapidly.

AUSTRIANS OFFENSIVE FALLS DOWN

Attack Grows Weaker And Austria Is Weaker

London, June 20.—News reached London this afternoon that the Italians have regained Capo Sile, the town on the lagoon to the west of the Piave river, near its mouth, which was captured by Austro-Hungarians.

It is also reported that the Italians have regained all the territory between Zenson and the Fossalta canal. The Austro-Hungarians, it is declared have been confined to the ground between the Fossalta canal and the Sile canal, on the west bank of the river.

Austrian pressure on the front from Lake Garda to the Adriatic is growing weaker, although the fighting is still strenuous along the Piave front from Montella to the sea.

Since Sunday the enemy has been held almost completely in check on the Piave line and has made no gains on the mountain front, while his loss in prisoners alone has risen to 9,000. Repeated efforts to debouch from the western bank of the river between Montello and San Dona and the Piave have been repulsed sanguinarily by the Italians and only around Capo Sile have the Austrians made any progress.

From Capo Sile, the Austrians have advanced to the Tossalta canal which parallels the lowlands along the seacoast to Mestra, a suburb of Venice. Vienna claims that the canal has been crossed at some points southeast of Meola, but Rome reports that the enemy advances have been repulsed.

Heavy fighting continues around the Montello plateau. The Austrians have not yet gained control of this dominating height nor have they had any successes in attempting to debouch on to the lower ground at Sovilla, south of Nervesa.

The waters of the Piave have come to the aid of the strongly resisting Italians and the British official statement on the fighting says that the river has risen suddenly. The rise has been sufficient to carry away many of the bridges the Austrians had thrown across the stream.

Emperor Charles, fearful that the Austrians by themselves will not be able to emulate the Austro-German success of last fall on the Isonzo line is urging his troops forward. The emperor is said to desire still greater efforts before calling on Germany for help.

Meanwhile, internal conditions in Austria, especially as regards food are causing trouble. The city council of Vienna has protested against reduction of the bread ration and the labor organizations in the Austrian capital call for the speediest general peace.

The food supplies in Austria are reported at the lowest ebb since 1914.

The German crown prince has not repeated his attacks against the defenses of Rhelms, before which 40,000 of his troops were repulsed with heavy losses in a night attack Tuesday. The front there again is quiet and the French maintain their positions. Berlin says the effort was more of an artillery and mine thrower bombardment than an infantry attack, but all other accounts agree that the effort was in great force and that it was broken up in desperate fighting in front of the Western lines.

Elsewhere on the western front there has been only minor raiding activity.

East of Chateau Thierry American patrols crossed the Marne in boats and beat enemy patrol encounters. In addition to killing a large number of Germans, the raiders brought

ATLANTIC COAST LINE MAKES FINE PURCHASE NEW SHOPS TO BE BUILT

Buy Eighty Acres of Land West of City

The best news that has been given out recently is that the Atlantic Coast Line Railway has purchased eighty acres of land west of the city for new shops and terminals. This land is situated in the triangle between the Tribby branch and the main line near Rand's Sliding and is well situated for this purpose. This deal has been pending for some time and was made through the A. P. Connelly Real Estate Co., of this city. Since the property was divided among so many individual owners it took some time to close the deal and Mr. Connelly and the Coast Line officials are being congratulated all around on the consummation of this big deal.

The purchase of this land means that the A. C. L. will greatly enlarge their railroad shops in this city and while no plans for this immense building have been made public it is certain that the new shops will be the best and most modern in the state of Florida, probably being of the reinforced concrete style with the new system of lighting and if rumors are true the new shops will be equipped to take care of all the tonnage of the main line and branches of this great railway system in Florida.

Sanford being exactly in the center of the system from Jacksonville to Tampa offers the real site for the proper care and attention that engines must have and the many branch lines that run into this city make it at once the logical point for the shops just as it has always been. This city has not been doing as many large jobs of rebuilding of rolling stock for several years on account of this work being taken to Waycross but with splendid new buildings and equipment that will be brought here Sanford will no doubt be the largest shop center in this part of the system outside of Waycross.

Promotion of Chas. L. Britt

The steady increase of business of the Seminole County Bank has made it necessary for the bank to increase its official staff, and at a recent meeting of the Board of Directors Mr. Chas. L. Britt was elected assistant cashier in recognition of his faithful services as teller of the bank since its organization five years ago.

Mr. Britt has made many friends for the bank through his courtesy and promptness in looking after the affairs of its customers.

The first load of watermelons of the present crop from this county were loaded at Houston yesterday from the farm of Worth Dexter and sold to a buyer who was present. We learn that $300 was the price.—Live Oak Citizen.

New bloom has appeared on the grapefruit and the orange trees in this section since the hard rains of the last few days and the growers feel encouraged to think that their crops next winter will be large.—St. Petersburg Independent.

Okra is still leading the f. o. b. market, bringing $2 per hamper. Corn is second at $1.75. Then comes tomatoes and eggplant, both selling at $1.50 yesterday, and pepper, which has been plentiful but as to which the market has been rather unsettled, due to heavy shipments from other sections. Pepper sold yesterday at 90 cents the hamper, the lowest of the season.—Plant City Courier.

Some states have a law against nailing advertising posters and placards to trees and posts along public highways," says the Polk County Record. "Missouri has such a law and only last week all such signs were ordered removed from roadsides all over the state. It is only a question of time when Florida will have a similar law."

back prisoners. American bombardier airplanes again have bombarded a railroad junction midway between Verdun and Metz, dropping 38 bombs.

German aggression in the Ukraine is beginning to reap the whirlwind, according to reports from Moscow. A revolt on a large scale has broken out in Kiev, the Ukrainian capital, and there has been much street fighting. Forty thousand armed peasants have risen and the revolt has spread to the provinces of Tchernigov and Poltava.

FLORIDA STATE FAIR

Farmers National Congress Hold 38th Annual Session

Jacksonville, Fla., June 20, 1918.—Another fallacy has been knocked into a cocked hat! Some folks thought, and among them were fair managers both astute and experienced, that because the country was engaged in war, it would be advisable and appropriate to discontinue fairs and expositions. This, not because of fear of financial outcome, but laboring under the deluded idea that all the country's energies should be directed in other channels.

But both national and state governments, the federal officials particularly, in addition to agricultural and live stock associations of a national character, have taken immediate and particular pains to point out to these error oppressed individuals that they can best serve their country during its present need by redoubling their efforts to not only continue the fairs and expositions, but to enlarge them in every department as far as is within their means and on the whole to make them "bigger and better than ever."

These officials have made it plain that if ever there was a time when the country needed to produce more and better crops, live stock of higher grade and more prolific, and to conserve their resources as well as aug-

other two Andersons.

Details of the accident are meager, as those in the automobile not killed outright were so badly injured that very little information could be gotten from them. It seems that the party had been to Jacksonville on a trip and were returning to Tampa; that they had been racing the train, apparently not noticing the crossing when they reached the latter the driver swerved his car, striking the train near the juncture of the tender with the baggage car, both of which show marks of the auto's impact. The train crew did not know the nature of the accident, but noticing a shock or jar of some kind thought some person or object had fallen off, and, after making a hasty examination of his passengers, Conductor Wadkins decided to stop his train and make an investigation. He found the baggage car stove in and battered from the force of the auto's impact, and that it was splattered with blood; and he backed his train finding the victims of the accident about two miles up the road. The injured were placed aboard the train and brought to this city, while the dead bodies were removed to the nearby town of Haines City.—Lakeland Telegram.

Elks Officers Election

On Wednesday evening, June 19th the Elks held their regular meeting with a good attendance and much enthusiasm and the following officers were elected: A. D. Parrish, Exalted Ruler in place of Hon. Geo. A. De-

Cotes who resigned to accept service with the United States government; J. P. Pennington was elected the office of Loyal Knight succeeding Mr. Parrish in that office; J. I. Hurt was appointed to the office of Esquire and R. F. Washburn appointed to the office of Inner Guard.

The Elks now have at the head of their lodge a live wire, a man full of life and fully competent of accomplishing anything he may set out for, especially in matters of publicity, carrying with him the heavy faculty of meeting everybody and the Elks of Sanford Lodge have made a good selection, not only in Mr. Parrish as Exalted Ruler, but the other officers as well who will lend the helping hand at any and all times towards the welfare and promotion of their Lodge.

Great things are in store for the Elks during the coming year and Exalted Ruler Parrish has already expressed a desire and request that every Elk of the Sanford Lodge become more active, more attentive to regular meetings and in this way help to make Sanford Lodge the greatest in the state as we now have a fine new home thoroughly equipped and all we need is the aid of every member.

Sacked U. S. Hospital

Washington, June 19.—The sacking of the American hospital at Tabriz, Persia, and the seizure of the American and British consulates there by invading Turkish troops was reported to the State Department today by the American minister at Teheran. If the report is officially confirmed, these outrages may be considered as an act of war and settle the long pending question of whether Turkey be formally listed as among America's enemies.

Big Conspiracy

Washington, June 21.—Many self-acknowledged contingent fee agents appeared today at the Department of Justice to explain their operations and ask for leniency. Many of them heretofore were unknown, and this fact has prompted the impression that the system was making commissions out of war orders, even more extensively than the officials believed.

In early times in this country it was the custom of campaigners in a political canvass to travel through the country and make open air speeches. Public halls and platforms were rare and the stumps or trees were numerous and furnished convenient places from which to speak. Hence the words, "stump speaker," "stump orator" and "stumping."

New Year in British Navy

Three hundred and sixty-four times in the year is midnight's passing marked by the striking of eight bells in every ship in the British navy. At the moment when the old year draws its last breath, and the new year is born, the whole navy strikes 18 bells, but never on any other occasion, for then eight are given to bid farewell to the old year and to welcome the new. By tradition, the youngest officer of the ship strikes the bell, and by tradition the youngest boy in the ship acts as his echo by hammering the blacksmith's anvil.

The Star Spangled Banner
Mrs. Hilburn of this city has written a new version of this patriotic song, with the idea that the flag does not float in the night but only from sunrise to sunset and the following appeared in the Tampa Tribune last week:

O, say, can you see, by the morn's early rays
What so proudly we hailed at the sunset's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars through the perilous days,
O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
The battle's red glare the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the fight that our flag was still there,
Oh, say, does the star spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

And there is a man who so vauntingly swears
In the havoc of war and the battle's confusion,
That our home and our country shall surely be theirs,
The blood of his men shall wash out this pollution;
No refuge can save this terrible knave
From the terror of flight or the gloom of the grave,
And the star spangled banner in triumph shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.
Oh, thus be it ever, where freemen shall stand Between their loved homes and war's desolation;

Blest with victory and peace, may this heaven's rescued land
Praise the God That hath made and preserved us a nation!
Then conquer we must when the cause is so just,
And this be our watchword: "In God is our trust."
And the star spangled banner in triumph shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.
—Ella Peace Hilburn.

Joins in Washington
Washington, June 17.—Unable to gain admission to the United States tank corps in his home state, George A. DeCottes of Sanford journeyed from the Land of Flowers to Washington, and was the first applicant accepted at headquarters of the unit in the Mills building yesterday. "Up to two hundred tanks," said an officer of the corps, "are being used to great advantage in locating and destroying machine gun nests of the enemy. By wiping out these organized groups of dugout entrenched snipers they pave the way for advances by other branches, and thereby save thousands of lives. That the American style of fighting has had a demoralizing effect upon the German soldiers who have met them is evident. The Huns, however, will learn further lessons and receive stronger doses of consternation as American tank and tank fighters are sent against them in great force; therefore thousands of fearless, alert and brown blest men are wanted for service in this motorized fighting unit."

"The movement to suspend the naval stores industry until after the war will fall heavily upon Franklin, Calhoun, Liberty and Wakulla counties, where there are men whose sole capital is invested in the enterprise," declares the Apalachicola Times.

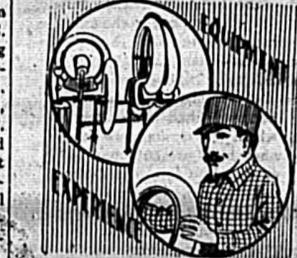

Elimination of the industry will also affect seriously every other business proposition in these counties, for in many instances trade depends largely upon activities in the naval stores business.

Take Care of Your Tires

America's greatest need is for ships—more ships.
Every available vessel is being utilized in government service.
Many ships that have been carrying rubber from Sumatra and Brazil have been taken for active transport duty. The number now left to bring rubber to this country is extremely limited.
This will necessarily force a temporary curtailment of tire production.
So, make the most of the tires you have.
Use good tires.
Take good care of them. Keep them in perfect repair. See that they are properly inflated.
Increase their mileage by careful driving. Keep out of car tracks and away from bumps. Don't scrape the curb or apply brakes too suddenly.
Get every mile your tires have in them.
Only in that way can you be assured of your car's continuous service—and remember, your tire is a vital war-time necessity.
So again,
—take care of your tires.

PRESIDENT WILSON CALLS
All Loyal Citizens of America To Observe W. S. Week
Beginning Monday committees will make a drive to house canvases to sell War Savings Stamps and to ask the citizens of Seminole county to pledge themselves to buy their limit in War Savings Securities throughout the year. This canvass will close with National War Savings Day, June 28th, at which time it is hoped that all will have bought or subscribed to their capacity.

The undersigned call upon the citizens to meet the committees or team workers with a smile and to have their subscriptions ready—remember the workers are giving their time and are making this a personal affair and their work will be made much easier if you will help as suggested.

You help these teams to help you to help these that are fighting your battles.

Schelle Maines,
Co. Chairman W. S. Com.
Mrs. E. M. Alloway,
Chairman Women's Work.

The editor of the Polk County Record tells of a visit to a seventy-five acre cotton field a short distance from Bartow recently and says that it was one of the prettiest sights he has ever seen. J. R. Davis who owns the field mentioned also has fifteen acres more, and in his talk with the newspaper man he mentioned another farmer who has 75 acres in cotton and others with similar fields. It would appear from the Record that cotton is to be a considerable crop in Polk county this fall, and that it will be salable at a good price is certain.

"I pledge allegiance to my flag and the Republic for which it stands; one nation indivisible, with Liberty and justice to all."

An exchange says there are just two slackers in that city. Well, there are just two here also.

The new draft will take men from 18 to 45 which is the best law passed yet. That 45 business will take a bunch that should have gone before.

Capt. Guest here Wednesday stated that what the Allies need is more Americans for reserves and that reserves can only come from America. Therefore let them have five million Americans if necessary.

It is high time that the business men of Sanford came to the meetings of the Board of Trade and come during the summer months. There is plenty of work to do if you intend to keep Sanford on the map.

We congratulate the Florida Grower upon their fine new printing plant and this fine magazine is a work of art and always has been. It is undoubtedly one of the best of the kind in the United States. Best wishes to Edgar Wright and his efficient staff.

We take a pardonable pride in the fact that our oldest boy, 18 years old joined the tank corps as a private a few weeks ago and is now acting as sergeant. He asked no favors and we asked for none for him but being a real American soldier with military experience he is willing to take his chances with the Hun.

Congratulations to Sim Lummis of the Ocala Banner. He has secured Bob Harper for editor and general factotum and these two good old scouts will make the Banner hum.

By all means the county commissioners should purchase shoes for the Home Guards and such other reasonable and necessary equipment as they should have. When the cost of these articles is distributed among the taxpayers the amount each person would have to pay would be infinitesimal—perhaps it would cost the average taxpayer a nickel, though he would never know it. The men composing the Home Guard are for the most part busy men who give up their time and put in lots of hard work in order to make themselves able to protect the property and lives of the people of the county. They should not have to go down in their pockets to buy necessary equipment to perform this public service. We believe the people are too generous to ask or expect this.—Lakeland Telegram.

"PATRIOTIC HYSTERIA"

The mayor and the majority of the city council are to be congratulated on the sensible view they have taken of the suggested ordinance requiring every man to remove his hat and pay a silent tribute to the flag for one minute after six o'clock every evening. This is indeed an excellent illustration of the same "patriotic hysteria" that must be held to characterize an ordinance recently passed by the city of Atlanta making it a criminal offense not to doff one's headgear during the rendition of the National Anthem. Such ordinances as these place the true patriot on a level with the congenital criminal who is only deterred from breaking the laws of his country through fear of the police.

It is doubtless quite right and proper that every good American citizen should remove his hat when the anthem is played on ceremonial occasions. It would be the height of absurdity to require him to uncover because he happens to come within the range of a $5 phonograph playing the same majestic melody, as some enthusiasts would have him do. Obviously such ordinances as these two are an insult to the native American, who may in the one case be confidently trusted to honor the national anthem and in the other to use his own discretion, since, except in camps and places where the lowering of the flag at sunset is a regular part of the prescribed daily ceremony, in which the civilian present, and only when he is present, may be naturally expected to join, the average man will attach no particular meaning to such an act of supererogation. Patriotism should be made neither a compulsion nor a bore. Public opinion may be safely trusted to take care of contumacious aliens who refuse to salute the flag or to honor according to the established custom the playing of the national anthem.

Natives or naturalized citizens may be depended upon to receive even stronger educational goadings if guilty of similar neglect. Patriotism, like religion to which in these perilous days it bears almost the relationship of twin brother does not consist either wholly or chiefly in mere lip service or the following of certain rites. It can no more be produced by legal enactment than a typewriter can be expected to produce, automatically, poetical images. It cannot be even regarded as a virtue since it should form a natural and integral part of every right minded man's character. The patriot, however, differs from the poet inasmuch as he can be made, if not born, to that capacity, but his education should be left to his friends rather than to the coercion of ill-considered and unnecessary ordinances.—Palm Beach Post.

CURB MARKET PLAN SPREADING

Several weeks ago we commented on the establishment of curb markets in Orlando and Miami and predicted that the movement would become general in the state as a war measure and in order that the people might be able to buy direct from the farmers and thus reduce living expenses, at the same time giving the growers a reasonable price for their produce.

Since that time St. Petersburg, Sanford, West Palm Beach and Lakeland have adopted the curb market plan and reports from all of these cities show that they are being liberally patronized and will continue through the summer and spread out in the fall and winter, when the crowds of visitors begin to arrive. Here are six of the most progressive cities in the state that have adopted this street market plan, just as they have adopted every other modern idea that has been represented and this is undoubtedly why they have grown continuously and rapidly in recent years. Jacksonville and Tampa, the two largest cities in the state and the natural leaders are again behind in this popular movement, although Jacksonville has the matter before the council at this time, with the hope of taking favorable action.

There has been considerable complaint on the part of new residents and winter visitors anent the high prices charged for home grown products in the local stores. Two weeks ago a grower from Astor on the St. Johns river was in the city and said he had first grade tomatoes rotting in the fields because he could not get enough out of them to pay for packing and shipping them to this city and at the same time that he was telling this fact a well known fruit store on Main street was selling tomatoes for sixty cents a basket. There are six baskets in a crate, making $3.60 the retailer was getting for them, while the grower would have been glad to get $1.50 laid down here and could even make a little money at $1.00 a crate.

California has always made a feature of selling all of its local products at extremely low prices in order to impress the visitor favorably and advertise the state as a place of reasonable living. It has often been stated by people visiting Florida that they can really buy better fruits and vegetables that have been raised in Florida, in the northern markets cheaper than they can here. This must necessarily have a bad effect on Florida and cause people who are strangers to look upon the dealers with suspicion and charge them with holding up visitors to the state.

If the commission houses and retail stores are unwilling to handle the home grown produce at reasonable prices and profits then the public market should be given every encouragement, in order that the home people as well as visitors may be enabled to secure the best products of the farms and gardens at reasonable prices.—Times-Union.

IS MORE TESTIMONY NEEDED?

President Wilson says: "Thoughtless expenditures of money for non-essentials use up the labor of men, the products of the farm, mines and factories, and over-burdens transportation, all of which must be used to the utmost and at their best for war purposes."

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo says: "It is essential that the American people economize and save in order to make available to their government the money indispensably needed for the war and to release supplies and labor required for the production of things necessary for our own military forces and for the military forces of the nations associated with us."

Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, says: "During the time when we send our young men to the trenches to live a life that grills flesh and nerve, let every man, woman and child who is privileged to remain in free America in physical safety count it a freeman's duty to eat simple food and conserve for our army and our allies, to wear simple clothes, to avoid unnecessary or unwise expenditures, that we may give to our fighting men and the government and have resources for the constructive work of the country."

Frank A. Vanderlip, chairman of the National War Savings Committee and president of the National City Bank of New York says: "Everybody should buy less, consume less, save more money, and loan their savings to the government. The result will be more money for the government to run the war, increased accumulation of savings by the people at good interest and absolute security, and less drain on the country's productive and industrial resources."

Arthur T. Hadley, president of Yale University says: "Those of us who are left at home must increase our production and lessen our consumption in order to have men and supplies available for fighting. We must reduce our consumption to a war basis. We must abstain from unnecessary expenditures in the way of comforts and services."

Julius Rosenwald, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., and now a member of the Council of National Defense says: "Saving by every one in as imperative for the winning of this war as is the mobilizing of armies; more than that, the mobilizing of armies is entirely futile if this military step is not accompanied by the rigorous, common sense saving of the nation, for without saving the marshalled hosts can not be equipped, cannot be fed, cannot be carried overseas, and cannot be put into the fight. We can finance the enormous cost of this war by spending only for the things we need, not by spending for the things we desire. Just so long as we continue to spend for things we do not need, just that long do we prolong the war and add to the tremendous sacrifice of life and property."

Here is the testimony of the President of the United States, of the Secretary of the Treasury, of the country's most prominent labor man, of a banker, of the president of one of the foremost educational institutions, and of a merchant. And the burden of their testimony is that it is the duty of everyone to save to the utmost that there may be more money, labor, and materials for the government with which to fight the war. It is unusual to find such agreement from so many different quarters.

Is more testimony needed?

DR. HULLEY FOR GOVERNOR

Under the heading, "Dr. Hulley for Governor," the Tampa Daily Tribune of Monday says:

"Dr. Lincoln Hulley for president of the Florida senate is not a bad suggestion.—Starke Telegraph.

"The Tribune knows absolutely nothing about politics. It cares less. It despises the petty politician and his tricks. Personally it admires Dr. Hulley. Confidentially it has heard from many sources that there are tricks to be played on the governor. Dr. Hulley is to be elected president of the senate, Governor Catts is to be impeached and through chicanery Dr. Hulley is to be made governor of Florida in order to absolutely metamorphose the policy adopted by Governor Catts. This seems to be the program."

And why not? If Governor Catts is guilty of one-tenth of the things he is charged with, can Florida stand for him longer? The protection of the Beach Club at Palm Beach, alone—if it has been protected—should be enough to impeach a governor. Sulzer was removed for less.

Hulley would make a governor of whom the state would never have to hang its head—in shame—Hulley wouldn't threaten to remove a judge for an honest opinion; he wouldn't set aside a whole board of county commissioners elected by the people to give himself and his political tricksters possession of the finances of a county, to give a fat job to one or more of the tricksters. Hulley wouldn't spend his time traveling over the entire nation making speeches which reflected on the good name of the state. Hulley wouldn't threaten the "Atty. Gen." of the United States with running for "Pres." in order to get a brother-in-law out of the federal penitentiary. Hulley wouldn't do lots of things that the present "mistake" has done for and to Florida. May it please God to hasten the day when Florida may be relieved of the stigma placed on her two years ago.—DeLand News.

CAPT. GUEST HERE

Spoke on War and War Savings Stamps

In order to boost the drive for War Savings Stamps Capt. E. Lucas Guest of the British Army was here Wednesday and spoke from the porch of the Carnes Hotel at four o'clock. On account of the committee having short notice of his coming the speaking could not be advertised extensively and although there was a large crowd of town people there were few from out of town, as they knew nothing of it. Capt. Guest was introduced by Hon. A. D. Parrish and immediately launched into a recital of the problems of the war as they have been brought to the English and brought home the idea of saving in foods and saving in money as practiced through the War Savings Stamps. He afterward gave his hearers a graphic recital of the war, of what England has done and is doing with her seven million men on various fronts, of the casualty list of two million and the cruelty of the Germans in many instances.

Capt. Guest made one strong point giving as first hand information and that is about the Germans being young boys and old men and half starved. He said that all he had met were real men, well fed and ready to fight and that Germany was not starved as far as the army was concerned and would be able to carry on the fight for many years yet. That England and France needed reserves to fill the gaps and those reserves could only come from America and the Americans that he had seen in France were the finest soldiers in the world.

He admonished the fathers and mothers and sweethearts of the Americans in France to write them the most encouraging kind of letters and always to cheer them up and never on any occasion give them the blues by writing bad news from home. His address was most interesting from start to finish and at the close he received a most cordial reception from all those present.

He was met by Judge Cheney, W. M. Glenn, E. W. Davis and Josiah Farris and Judge Warlow of Orlando who drove him to that city for an address Wednesday evening.

Capt. Guest is a veteran of the Boer War, although still a young man. He was promoted on the field of battle for valor and has been twice mentioned in official dispatches as receiving the King and Queen's South African medals and five clasps. He has been on the western front since 1914; was in command of a battalion of one thousand men in the assault on Mesines Ridge. A short time after this battle he was wounded three times and early last December was almost blown to bits by a twelve inch shell and lay in the shell crater for twenty four hours and was almost suffocated by gas which the Germans turned loose. He is still suffering from this gas attack.

Ancient Watch Tower Still Stands.
At-Mintar, or the watch tower, still exists to the east of the town of Gaza. It is where Samson is said to have carried the gates of the city. On the road from Gaza to Jaffa are those ancient olive trees, many of them more than a thousand years old, with gnarled bark and immense trunks. There is an old legend which credits Gaza with the invention of the first mechanical clocks. These were perhaps the sand clocks which are still used in some mosques.—Christian Science Monitor.

If You Were a Prisoner in the compartment of a German prison train, with an armed guard over you, a window open beside you, the train speeding through an enemy's country at thirty-five miles an hour would you jump and take the one chance in a million to escape?

It was the "Millionth" chance Lieut. "Smiling" Pat O'Brien took—he jumped from the train, he lived, and with the stars to guide him, wounded and lame he "crawled" two hundred and fifty miles through the enemy's lines to safety.

The story of his escape is told by him in our new serial "Outwitting the Hun."

In Honor of Mrs. Steinhilber

On Tuesday evening the Truth Seekers class of the Methodist church gave a lovely reception at the attractive home of Mrs. L. P. Hagan on Sanford Heights in honor of Mrs. F. E. Steinhilber, now of Live Oak, but until recently the beloved and highly esteemed teacher of this class.

The rooms were charmingly decorated with quantities of cut flowers, palms, ferns and American flags, a large flag being draped across the front porch, which with the bright lights made a brilliant setting for this pleasant affair.

Receiving were Mrs. L. P. Hagan, Mrs. F. E. Steinhilber, Miss Sallie Robson and Mrs. J. P. Hillburn. During the evening a pleasing musical program was enjoyed by those present; Mrs. J. K. Mettinger, Mrs. J. P. Hillburn and Mrs. F. E. Steinhilber giving some excellent numbers.

Dainty refreshments, consisting of punch, ice cream and cake were served during the evening by Miss Carolyn Spencer, Miss Lillie Ruth Spencer, Miss Ruth McDaniell and Miss Gladys Adams. The guest of honor was presented with lovely flowers by the class, as a small token of their love and esteem, fully appreciating her valued services as a teacher and her devotion and loyalty to the class. Mrs. Steinhilber's visit to Sanford will always be looked forward to with pleasure by the members of the Truth Seekers class.

GOVERNMENT PURCHASE NOT MADE

East Coast Canal Project Is Set Aside

There is no chance of the government buying at this time or at any time in the near future the East Coast Canal. At the same time it seems that no parallel route will be chosen unless the subject of Inland Waterways comes before the house for decision. While it will be the policy of the government to aid and assist in maintaining waterways wherever possible it will also be an economical administration in every way during the war and only those waterways that need actual improvements for the betterment of the transportation service will be improved.

This does not necessarily mean that the St. Johns river will not be improved and the chances are good for such an improvement to be made as this great artery of trade and travel is already government owned and its value to the solution of transportation problems is too well known.

Since the Board of Trade has been very active in this matter of calling attention of the government to the superior advantages of the St. Johns river as the inland waterway through Florida and the good work of the waterways committee is recognized the following letter from the chairman of the committee, E. T. Woodruff will be interesting:

Chairman of our Board of Trade, Waterways committee, Mr. E. T. Woodruff is in receipt of the following letter from Maj. General W. M. Black, Chief of Engineers, War Department, Washington, D. C.:

Replying to your letter of June 6, I have the honor to inform you that the matter of the purchase of the Florida East Coast Canal by the government has been treated fully in report recently submitted to congress. In his letter to the secretary of war the chief of engineers stated "that it is not deemed advisable for the United States to purchase the East Coast Canal or at this time construct an enlarged canal over a parallel route for commercial, military and naval uses."

Reconsideration of this matter by a board of engineers at this time is not contemplated, in so far as this office is informed.

RECRUITING OF LABOR MUST STOP

President Wilson Urges Employers To Quit Practice

Washington, June 19.—All employers engaged in war work were urged in a statement by President Wilson tonight to refrain after August 1, from recruiting unskilled labor in any manner except through the United States employment service recently organized by the department of labor. The labor forces were called upon by the President "to respond loyally as heretofore to any calls issued by this agency for voluntary enlistment in essential industry."

The statement by the President was accompanied by a letter written June 15 by Secretary of Labor Wilson, calling attention to the forming of the employment service, pointing out the necessity for such a labor distributing body and detailing its duties.

"For more than a year," said the President's statement, "it has been our pride that not our armies and navies only, but our whole people is engaged in a righteous war. We have said repeatedly that industry plays an essential and honorable role in this great struggle as do our military armaments. We all recognize the truth of this, but we must also see its necessary implications—namely, that industry, doing a vital task for the nation, must receive the support and assistance of the nation. We must recognize that it is a natural demand, almost a right of anyone serving his country, whether employer or employe to know that his service is being used in the most effective manner possible. In the case of labor this wholesome desire has been not a little thwarted owing to the changed conditions which war has created in the labor market.

"There has been much confusion as to essential products. There has been ignorance of conditions—men have gone hundreds of miles in search of a job and wages that they might have found at their doors. Employers holding government contracts of the highest importance have competed for workers with holders of military contracts and even with the government itself, and have conducted expensive campaigns for recruiting labor in sections where the supply of labor was already exhausted. California draws its unskilled labor from as far east as Buffalo and New York, from as far west as the Mississippi. Thus labor has been induced to move fruitlessly from one place to another, congesting the railways and losing both time and money.

Such a condition is unfair alike to employer and employe, but most of all to the nation itself, whose existence is threatened by any decrease in its productive power. It is obvious that this situation can be clarified and equalized by a central agency—the United States employment service of the department of labor, with the counsel of the war labor policies board as the voice of all the industrial agencies of the government. Such a central agency must have sole direction of all recruiting of civilian workers in war work; and, in taking over this great responsibility must at the same time have power to assure to essential industry an adequate supply of labor, even to the extent of withdrawing workers from non-essential production. It must also protect labor from insincere and thoughtless appeals made to it under the plea of patriotism, and to assure it that when it is asked to volunteer in some priority industry the need is real.

"Therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, solemnly urge all employers engaged in war work to refrain after August 1, 1918, from recruiting unskilled labor in any manner except through this central agency. I urge labor to respond as loyally as heretofore to any calls issued by this agency for voluntary enlistment in essential industry. And I ask them both to remember that no sacrifice will have been in vain, if we are able to prove beyond all question that the highest and best form of efficiency is the spontaneous co-operation of a free people."

FOOD ADMINISTRATION

Dealers in food commodities in the state of Florida shall conform to the following rules regarding allotment of sugar for use of consumers, public eating places and home canners:

(A) All sales of sugar to households or individual consumers shall be limited to not more than three pounds per person per month, this ratio to be applied in making of sales up to requirements of a thirty day for the purchaser. Consumers will be allowed to purchase at this ratio a thirty days supply of sugar, but in all cases when the full thirty day requirement is bought at one time, the consumer shall not make another purchase from any groceryman of his city or county.

(B) The retailer will be allowed to make sales on the above basis to households or individual consumers of the weekly requirement of the purchaser, but in all cases must act with discretion in making such sales, and shall refuse to make such sales unless the purchaser is well known to him and the retailer is satisfied that no imposition is being practiced.

(D) Home canners, or persons who are preserving fruits and vegetables for their own consumption and not for sale will be allowed to purchase not more than 25 pounds of sugar for such preserving purposes, but each purchase of this kind must be made on the regular preserving certificate issued for the use of home canners and preservers. All purchases of sugar for preserving purposes in excess of 25 pounds will be considered as requirement for commercial preserving and must be obtained under the regular manufacturers' certificates issued upon application to office of the federal administrator. (E) Nothing in the above ruling will change the fixed margins of profit for retailers in sugar, and all dealers and consumers are specifically cautioned against evasion or violation of this rule, and the violation of the rule governing amount of sugar allowed to be kept on hand. County food administrators will be required to exercise vigilance in detecting cases of hoarding and all such cases when proven will result in most drastic operation of the law for punishing such violators. EAT CORN SAVE WHEAT

BEST FOODS FOR YOUNG CHICKENS

Begin Feeding Any Time After Youngsters Are 36 to 48 Hours Old.

BAKED JOHNNYCAKE IS GOOD

Put the "Grow" in Young Fowls by Giving Bread Crumbs and Rolled Oats Mixture Five Times Daily—Also Give Milk.

Give the young chicks a good start in life by feeding carefully prepared, nourishing food. Feeding should begin any time after they are thirty-six to forty-eight hours old, whether they are with the hen or in a brooder, and for the first month or two they may be given food as often as five times a day. Baked Johnnycake composed of the following ingredients in the proportions named is a very good feed for young chicks: One dozen infertile eggs or one pound of sifted beef scrap to ten pounds of corn meal; add enough milk to make a pasty mash, and one tablespoonful of baking soda. Dry bread crumbs may be mixed with hard-boiled eggs, making about one-fourth of the mixture eggs, or rolled oats may be used in place of the bread crumbs.

Feed Five Times Daily. Feed the bread crumbs, rolled oats, or Johnnycake mixtures five times daily for the first week, then gradually substitute for one or two feeds of the mixture finely cracked grains of one part by weight of cracked wheat, six parts finely cracked corn, two parts plump oatmeal or hulled oats, and one part kafir corn, to which about 5 per cent of cracked-peas or broken rice and 2 per cent of charcoal, millet or rape seed may be added. A commercial chick feed may be substituted if desired. The above ration can be fed until the chicks are two weeks old, when they should be placed on grain and a dry or wet mash mixture.

After the chicks are ten days old a good growing mash, composed of two parts by weight of bran, two parts middlings, two parts cornmeal, one part rolled oats, and 10 per cent sifted beef scrap may be placed in a hopper and left before them at all times. The mash may be fed either wet or dry; if wet, only enough moisture (either milk or water) should be added to make the feed crumbly, but in no sense sloppy. When this growing mash or mixture is not used a hopper containing bran should be accessible to the chickens at all times.

When one has only a few chickens it is less trouble to purchase the prepared chick feeds, but where a considerable number are reared it is sometimes cheaper to buy the finely cracked grains and mix them together. Many chick feeds contain a large quantity of grit and may contain grains of poor quality, so that they should be carefully examined and the quality guaranteed before they are purchased. Eliminate Chick Feed.

As soon as the chickens will eat the whole wheat, cracked corn and other grains—usually in about eight weeks—the small-sized chick feed can be eliminated. In addition to the above feeds the chickens' growth can be hastened if they are given some milk, skim milk, or buttermilk to drink. Growing chickens kept on a good range may be given all their feed in a hopper, mixing six parts by weight of cracked corn with one part of wheat and one part kafir corn in one hopper and the dry mash for chickens in another. In addition feed two parts of the scratch mixture in the form of sprouted oats until the chickens are three or four months old, when dry whole oats can be used. The beef scrap may be left out of the dry mash and fed in a separate hopper, so that the chickens can eat all of this feed they desire. If the beef scrap is to be fed separately it is advisable to wait until the chicks are ten days old, although many poultrymen put the beef scrap before the young chickens at the start without bad results. Chickens confined to small yards should always be supplied with green feed, such as lettuce, sprouted oats, alfalfa, or clover, but the best place to raise chickens successfully is on a good range where no extra green feed is required. Fine charcoal, grit and oyster shell should be kept before the chickens at all times, and cracked or ground bone may be fed where the chickens are kept in small bare yards, but the latter feed is not necessary for chickens that have a good range.

FEED CHICKS OFTEN—BUT DON'T STUFF THEM.

Young chickens should be fed from three to five times daily, depending upon one's experience in feeding. Undoubtedly chickens can be grown faster by feeding five times daily than by feeding three times daily, but it should be borne in mind that more harm can be done to the young chickens by overfeeding than by underfeeding, and at no time should they be fed more than barely to satisfy their appetites and to keep them exercising, except at the evening or last meal, when they should be given all they will eat. Young chicks that are confined need more attention to avoid overfeeding than those that have free range, as leg weakness is likely to result in those confined.

Heat for Brood Chicks.

The best temperature at which to keep a brooder or hover depends upon the position of the thermometer, the style of the hover, the age of the chickens and the weather conditions. Aim to keep the chickens comfortable. As the operator learns by the actions of the chickens the amount of heat they require, he can discard the thermometer if he desires. When too cold the chicks will crowd together and try to get nearer the heat.

It is not possible to say for each case at what temperature the brooder should be kept to raise young chickens, but it will run from 90 to 100 degrees in some cases, as some broods of chickens seem to require more heat than others. Average temperatures approximate 93 to 95 degrees for the first week or ten days, when the temperature is gradually reduced to 85 degrees for the following ten days, and then lowered to 70 or 75 degrees for as long as the chickens need heat. This depends somewhat on the season of the year and the number of the chickens, as it can be readily seen that the heat generated by 50 chickens would raise the temperature under the hover to a higher degree than the heat given off by a lesser number.

"WHEN MULE SETS ON MY TUMMY, I'M DONE"

Camp Sheridan, Ala.—"Lissen," quoth Stable Sergeant Western, Co. A, 112th Engineers, U. S. A. The stable sergeant and a first lieutenant were discussing mules and other company affairs. "I don't wanta be disrespectful, or nothin'," Western continued, "but I can't do nothin' more than what I have done to keep them mules quiet. I'm a horseman, I am. I was raised with hosses. I've rode so many hosses I'm half hoss myself. But when it comes to mules, it's different. I just can't seem to get used to gettin' to sleep and then about three o'clock having some long-eared son-of-a-four-legged calliope come around and set down on my stummick. I just can't stand it and one of these days I'm goin' to get sore and kill me n' jacksass, if I get court martialed for it." The lieutenant withheld the reprisal had been ordered to administer to the sergeant because Company A's mules got into a nocturnal argument and woke up everybody in the regiment.

Pineapple Planting. Pineapples are planted in three ways—for shipment raw, for canning, and for juice. If the planter wants large, perfect specimens of the fruit he sets about 5,000 plants to the acre. The uniform smaller discs that are found in the cans are the result of closer planting, while the planter who desires only juice sets his plants still closer.

Letter From Oscar Speer

The following letter from Oscar Speer will be interesting to his many friends:

Camp Wheeler June Automatic Replacement Draft Overseas Casuals, Camp Merritt, N. J., June 14th, 1918.

My Dear Mother:

Arrived here safe and sound. Had most delightful trip. We were out forty-eight hours on the road, but I didn't get tired at all, for it was all very interesting to me, it being my first trip east.

We all gallantly marched over to the Camp Wheeler Station at 9 a. m. Wednesday where we boarded the train for Hoboken, N. J. The 124th Band was there and gave us a good send off.

We arrived at Augusta, Ga., 3 p. m. and were met by the Red Cross ladies who served us with ice cream cones, cigarettes and post cards. The Red Cross certainly does wonderful work and if it wasn't for them I don't know what we would do. We were to parade in Washington, D. C., but on leaving Augusta our engine broke down about three miles from the city so we were two hours late and didn't have time, for we only stayed in Washington about twenty minutes. The Red Cross ladies had their canteen near the depot and served us with hot coffee and sandwiches. I got a view of the White House and the Monument from the train.

By the way, we passed through Rocky Mount, N. C., and Richmond, Va. We were not supposed to run into Richmond but they had to run in for ice and water and two barrels of apples which Lieut. Willis of Lakeland, Fla., who has charge of us till we embark, had wired ahead for. Richmond is certainly a pretty place, and it surely seemed strange riding up a busy street in the main part of the city on a train. The Red Cross ladies of Richmond served us with ice tea and post cards. All the way up there was always a large crowd to cheer us as we passed. I declare, mother, I never did see such a pretty sight as I did last night, just after dusk (it never gets dark up here till 9 o'clock eastern time—I declare it kept me busy all day yesterday turning up my watch—as soon as we crossed into Virginia the time changed). When we passed over the Delaware river you could see the cities for miles around all lit up. We passed through the outskirts of Wilmington, Del., Chester, Pa., and through South Philadelphia. These three cities are all on a chain, connecting each other. Mother, we stopped quite awhile in South Philadelphia, and there were between 75 and 100 good looking girls down to tell us good-bye. They all shook hands with us and some of them went as far as to kiss "some" of the "boys"—but not me, dix! Mother, they all talk so funny, they've got that "Penn. Dutch drag," but believe me, they are certainly all crazy about soldiers.

We passed through New York city last night between 12 and 1 o'clock but I was asleep. When I woke up at 4 a. m. we were sidetracked on the outskirts of Jersey City, N. J. (just across the river from New York). We stayed there till 8 a. m. and then came on a train to New York. The Statue of Liberty from the train early this morning, also a very high cliff covered with grass and rock. It was certainly a pretty sight.

Mother, we also passed through several tunnels and we all had to put down our windows or be choked to death with smoke.

I declare, mother, this is the prettiest camp I ever did see and everything so convenient, too, so different from Camp Wheeler. We are living in barracks instead of tents and it is so nice and clean. I even step right out of the door into the bath. My barracks No. 1116 has a room for this for an address. Mother, we are located just 17 miles from New York city and about 10 miles from Hoboken, N. J.

We can all get a 24 hour pass tomorrow after inspection, so I'm going to the Big City to take in the sights. We can go there on a street car for 35 cents. Mrs. Dickins is in Brooklyn, N. Y. Arthur has just been talking to her over the phone. He is going in to see her. I may go with him.

We were fed very well coming up on the train, and we would always know at breakfast time what we would have for dinner and supper for we would always have the same thing that we had for breakfast and that's mostly always "beans" (baked). We had mashed potatoes and salmon for breakfast and had it warmed over for dinner so I guess we'll eat it cold for supper.

Well, Osborne didn't get to come after all, for he was one of the number drawn to stay and help train the new men. I was very much worried for awhile as it looked as if I would not get to go for I was on the reserve list—the tall end. Mother, I would surely have "rared" if I had to stay in that hot place all this summer. It is so nice and cool up here and we really have to wear our blouses at night. It was very cold last night and the night before coming up on the train. We had to ride all the way in day coaches for Pullmans were not available, but we had plenty of room so we were not crowded.

One of the Alabama boys got killed coming up on the train the day before we did. He stuck his head out of the window too far. Our Lieutenant was very strict about that, for we kept a man on watch all the time, so we never had an accident at all and the journey was a very pleasant one.

George Huff was in the kitchen the morning we left and he sure fixed me up a fine lunch of fried eggs and sausage, which I certainly did enjoy and appreciate. (Tell Laura about this.) It was mighty nice to have a friend in the kitchen to look out for men on such an occasion.

I will more than likely be gone before I can get a letter here in U. S. A., but I will get it O. K. at this address. We are to turn in all our equipment and clothes and get a new outfit entirely, even a new gun.

Mother, I am just wild to go across, for I want to get into the fray. There is no doubt but what we will be fighting in August.

We don't have to do any drilling here at all—only have rigid inspections and one rigid overseas examination.

Mother, I will send you some post cards if I go to New York.

Well, mother, I must stop now for we are to have an inspection. Just lots of love and kisses,
Your loving son,
Oscar.

P. S. We haven't any idea when we will leave but it won't be long. Will write you again Sunday.

WOMEN WORKERS NEED TRAINING

Essential Points Given for Consideration by Department of Agriculture.

URGE CAUTION IN PREPARING

Volunteers Should Be Organized In Units and Provision Made for Their Own Living Quarters—Matron for Each Unit.

PRELIMINARY TRAINING

If it becomes necessary in case of an acute farm labor stringency to accept woman volunteers for farming operations other than the lighter ones to which they are accustomed, some sort of preliminary training will be necessary to utilize the large class of woman volunteers from the cities who are unfamiliar with farm work. This article points out some suggestions and precautions that should be taken into consideration in preparing women for these tasks. The suggestions given here have been obtained in a study of this problem by specialists of the United States department of agriculture, both in this country and in other countries. Many of the suggestions are based on the experiences of England, which has trained and is using 300,000 women on farms.

Women should not be trained to go on farms before there is an actual and imperative need for their services. The department of agriculture hopes that it will not be necessary to employ women in heavier lines of farm work than they have been accustomed to doing. To save the food harvest, women are needed in the heavier operations and the development and training of woman workers appears advisable. The following points should be taken into consideration:

No woman should be accepted who is not at least eighteen years of age. The wisest policy would be first to register those women who are willing to undertake this kind of work, having them indicate their previous training and experience, kind of farm work they desire to take up, and length of time they can devote to it.

Two Weeks' Training.

Before going on the farm, the women should if possible undertake a course of training extended over two weeks or more under a skilled instructor. This course might be given at an agricultural or a woman's college, agricultural schools, or on a farm donated by some patriotic individual as a practice farm. In some instances the course might be under the auspices of the extension division of the agricultural college. Care should be taken that no institutions are built up to perform functions that might be performed by institutions already in existence.

This two weeks of training would give opportunity to eliminate those not physically able to endure farm labor, and also those whose mental make-up is such as to make them unavailable. It would also give them sufficient skill so that they would be acceptable to the farmers. Such experience in obtaining woman laborers as has been had indicates that the farmer usually is not willing to take woman farm workers into his home, and therefore the women will have to be organized in units and provide for their own living quarters. This fact restricts the types of farm enterprises in which the women will be able to engage to such as are very intensive in character, and highly localized. The types of farm enterprises of this kind would be such crops as apples, peaches, grapes, onions, cabbage, potatoes, strawberries, etc. The training should be such that when the women went to the farmers they would have at least sufficient skill to be acceptable to the farmer.

Ascertain if Needed. Before training the volunteers some method should be devised for ascertaining whether there is a demand for the woman workers in the kind of work they are preparing to undertake. This information could be obtained from the state agricultural college and the state farm help specialist employed by this department. Great care should be exercised not to prepare women to go on farms before there is an actual demand for their labor.

After completing the training, the women should not be sent into the localities where they are to work until some one has preceded them to make arrangements for their housing and to determine the basis of wages, etc. In most instances the living quarters would consist of a camping outfit, as such quarters as they might obtain in the community would be the least desirable of those in the community. Generally it would be desirable to have one person in the group who would do no farm work, but would act as general chaperon and matron and would see to the domestic phases of their living and welfare.

Aiding the Labor Supply. The departments of agriculture and labor through representatives of the various states co-operating with the agricultural colleges and other agencies are doing the following things to aid the farm labor supply, according to a recent statement of Secretary Houston: (a) Making a survey of the farm-labor situation in each community with a view to discovering possible surpluses of labor in order to be ready to assist in furnishing labor wherever it is needed; (b) assisting again in shifting labor from community to community and from state to state, as in past years; (c) promoting fuller co-operation among farmers in the same community; (d) making available, so far as possible, high school boys in rural districts who have had experience in farming and who are not normally regularly or fully employed in farming operations; (e) making every effort to see that there is no obstacle in the way of the production of a larger supply of farm machinery and its fuller use as a supplement to hand labor.

"Who Cares if Bones Ache?"

Thousands of women in all parts of the country are volunteering to help out on farms that will be short of man power this season. The letter which follows is typical of many which are coming to the United States department of agriculture. Department officials do not believe that women will be required in the heavier farming operations, but in the lighter labor on fruit and truck farms and in helping farm women with their tasks there will be work for women hands.

"I want to inquire where I can volunteer my services in the agricultural labor for my country's service. I know this work is just as important as fighting, and as I was raised in the country and can drive a horse and am familiar with all the rounds of farm life, I feel I would, soon qualify. My husband is now doing his 'bit' aboard a transport.

"Napoleon is quoted as saying, 'A man fights on his stomach,' so I would like to work to enable our men to become good fighters. The German Hismark in his world plans once said: 'America is a fine fat pig to be stuck later.' So I guess the labor thought, I would even enjoy helping raise some American fat pigs to defeat them in their designs.

"If you can answer quickly and tell me where I can enlist my services, I remain, Very sincerely,

Make Farming a Business. A young man who is now starting to farm needs to know his business. Through farm management demonstrations the county agent can show him his labor income, that is, what he had left of his receipts after paying expenses and allowing for interest on the investment and can show him how his labor income compares with those of the most successful farmers in that community. The showing will help him make a study of his farm business and to determine upon changes that should be made to make it more profitable.

Counting you for the above favor I beg to remain, Yours very truly, F. W. Talbot.

Jim Johnson Writes
Knoxville, Tenn., June 17, 1918
Mr. R. J. Holly, Sanford, Fla.
Dear Sir:
Please send my paper to Elkmont, Tenn. Well, Bob, everybody is glad to see me and believe me they have got some chicken and CHICKENS, also pie, etc., up here. I came through in my car and had a nice trip. Not even a puncture. I will go up in the mountains to Elkmont the last of this week. If not too much trouble send paper telling how the election went. I always like to hear from home.
Yours very truly,
Jim A. Johnson.

Talbot Wants Paper.
Dear Mr. Haynes:
First shot out of the box I want to ask you to send the paper to my wife at Beeville, Texas until further notice, as we will be in the state of Texas for possibly another month yet, and naturally must keep up with the Sanford news.

When a person sees the light ration they hand out to the traveling men in this state we can realize what the state of Texas has done to aid in the war. Texas is one state that is using no flour, positively no wheat bread allowed at hotels and restaurants and very little meat.

I hope that this finds you well and enjoying life, and can assure you that the balmy breezes of Lake Monroe have a much more soothing effect on a fellow than the warm breezes that come across Oklahoma from the wheat fields of Kansas into Texas.

Thanking you for the above favor I beg to remain,
Yours very truly,
F. W. Talbot.

County Is Alive
News from Lake Monroe, Longwood, Oviedo, Chuluota and Geneva brings the intelligence that the citizens for these districts are putting on the War Savings Drive with an interest hard to be beaten in any part of the nation. Paola and Altamonte Springs also announce that they will be heard from when the roll is called on National War Savings Day, and that the nation shall be proud to list them with the towns that have "gone over."

MODEL HOUSE FOR SMALL HEN FLOCK

Here is a house that can be built quickly and easily and inexpensively to house a flock of 20 to 25 hens. The accompanying plan shows how to build it. It is 8 feet square and can be made of 2 by 4-inch planks and 2-inch boards. The 2 by 4 pieces are used for sills, plates, corner posts, and three rafters. No studding is required except that necessary to frame the door and window space. The boards are run up and down and give the house sufficient strength. They are used also for the roof, which is covered with roofing paper. The back and sides of the house also can be covered with roofing paper or the cracks can be covered with wood battens or strips 1 1/2 by 3 inches wide.

In front of the house there should be left a window or opening which can be closed, when desired, by a mullin screen or curtain which serves as a protection against bad weather but allows ventilation. In the side a door should be provided. A shed or single-slope roof is best because easiest to build. A height of 6 feet in front and 4 feet in the rear is ample. If desired the house may be built higher so that it is more convenient to work in; the increase in cost will be slight. The ventilator in the rear is not needed in the northern part of the country, but is desirable in the South where summers are very warm.

The complete bill of materials needed to build this house is listed piece by piece in Farmers' Bulletin 888, "Back-Yard Poultry Keeping," of the United States department of agriculture. The bulletin also tells how to build dropping boards, roosts, nests, and the other equipment needed in a poultry house and makes suggestions about the location of the house and yard.
