TOGETHER AGAIN—"The Crowd Roars" brings Robert Taylor and Maureen O'Sullivan, the two sweethearts of a "A Yank At Oxford," together again in a pulsating, heart-blooded story of a prizefighter who wins fame and romance against overwhelming odds. Also in the cast of the new picture, showing tomorrow and Monday at the Ritz Theatre, are Edward Arnold, Frank Morgan, William Gargan, Lionel Stander and Jane Wyman.

LEO CARRILLO's vibrant Italian dialect seems to be amusing Tommy Bond and Edith Fellows in this scene from Columbia's comedy drama, "City Streets," coming to the Ritz Theatre. Little Miss Fellows is cast as a homeless waif befriended by the kind-hearted East Side grocer, portrayed by Mr. Carrillo, and by little Tommy Bond.

South Called Poorest Area In NEC Report

Farmers depend on the cotton crop alone, and "the cotton market is a sheer gamble." The farming South depends on cotton and tobacco for two-thirds if its cash income.
Southern farmers purchase four-fifths of all the food they eat.
Lacking capital of its own, the South has been forced to borrow from outside financiers, and thus to relinquish control of much of its business and industry to investors from wealthier sections. A large proportion of the South's natural resources are owned by outside interests.
Freight differentials, which put southern industry at a disadvantage, are no longer as justified.
The nation's high tariff policy has impeded the development of the South.
Child labor is more common in the South than in any other section of the nation, and several southern states are among those which have the largest proportion of their "women in gainful work," the report points out. "Moreover, women and children work under fewer legal safeguards than women and children elsewhere in the nation."
In addition, the tendency of adult men to leave the section in search of work puts the problem of maintaining the home up to the women in many instances, the report reported. Studies in the southern cotton belt have shown that a man over 18 years of age earns $1 percent without an employable man.
The South loses more than $100,000,000 worth of fertile soil each year by the process of eroding, and also its capital, the report found. This is largely because of tenant farming, the report said, since the tenant farmer has little or no interest in preventing soil erosion or the South's farmer's productivity.
The report also states that the Department of Agriculture is working with melons imported from Africa in an effort to produce a greater, better-shippable melon.

are not only no indoor flush toilets, it continued, but not even outdoor privies. It is in these sections that hookworm infection and consequent anemia have flourished. Twenty-six percent of southern city and town households are without indoor flush toilets, the report said, compared to 13 percent for the city and town households in the country as a whole.

Cop Arrests Way Into Life Of Girl He Meets On Road

Thrill races after thrill in Columbia's latest action drama, "Highway Patrol," coming to the Ritz Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday. The new picture is a hard-hitting narrative of a gasoline price-cutting war, with its major sequences devoted to the defence of a mammoth oil refinery against the dynamiting tactics of business-competitors seeking to destroy it.
Robert Paige, likable young lead last seen in Columbia's "There's Always a Woman," shares top honors with pretty Jacqueline Wells. Paige plays a state highway officer who arrests his way into the lives of the young woman and her father, the owner of the refinery.
Paige is persuaded to take over the policing of the plant, discovers enemies inside the organization and, by shrewd and quick action, brings them into the open. The rule of the plot in a runaway truck and high explosives, and the attempted destruction of the oil plant by aerial bombing afford stirring moments in the story.
The romantic team of Paige and Wells presents the spiritual comedy of the boy-ignores-girl, boy-gets-girl, boy-gets-the-act type. Miss Wells plays a active part in the melodramatic developments, melodrama that is given the air of reality by the authentic background of a huge oil refinery in California. One dramatic incident shows chemical freighting by a weird army in white asbestos suits and heat-proof helmets when one of the huge oil tanks is set aflame.
Robert Middlemass plays with humor and conviction the refinery owner, and Arthur Loft makes the conniving general manager believable. Outstanding in the cast are Ann Doran, Al Bridge, Eddie Foster, George McKay, and Eddie Leighton.
Many punch moments and an unusual locale add to the appeal of this action story, skillfully scripted by Robert Kent.

LAW VS. LOVE—Robert Paige as a two-fisted State Trooper and Jacqueline Wells as a beautiful heiress, battle it out in the early scenes of Columbia's "Highway Patrol," but "blacked their argument in the last scene." The film is an exciting tale of war in the oil industry, directed by C. C. Coleman, Jr.

David Says Laziness Inspired Seat Singing

Laziness inspired seat singing, according to James David, a student at the University of Florida, who admitted that he was the first to sing in the bleachers. "I was sitting in the bleachers and I was bored," he said. "I started singing and the others followed me." He said that he was not a professional singer, but that he was a "good singer" and that he was "enjoying himself." He said that he was "singing to himself" and that he was "singing to the others." He said that he was "singing to himself" and that he was "singing to the others." He said that he was "singing to himself" and that he was "singing to the others."

Robert Taylor Plays Part Of Prize Fighter In Film

A "MOVIE" in the real sense of the word, so packed with incident and action that it keeps the audience on the edge of its seat throughout, is "The Crowd Roars," Robert Taylor's latest stellar triumph shown at the Ritz Theatre tomorrow and Wednesday.
With it a triumph for Taylor, who provides the surprise of the year in his first prize-fight role. He is now a well-known name to the thousands of Tommy "Killer" McCreary who probably any other film which ever enjoyed a fight scene. It is a role, two-fisted, but more than full of promise that the star is to play in "A Yank At Oxford," which is scheduled to be taken up by the finest job of the acting and entertainment industry has ever turned out.
Taylor, who has been more than a star in the eyes of the audience, now plays the role of a prize fighter, and in the role of a prize fighter, he is playing the role of a prize fighter, and in the role of a prize fighter, he is playing the role of a prize fighter.

"Mother Carey's Chickens" Bubbles With Good Humor And Naturalness

With good humor and naturalness, the film "Mother Carey's Chickens" bubbles with good humor and naturalness. The film is a comedy that is both humorous and natural. The film is a comedy that is both humorous and natural. It is a story of a family that is both humorous and natural.

THAT ETHERNAL TRIANGLE AGAIN—Tense romantic conflict arises when two sisters fall in love with the same man in "Mother Carey's Chickens," RKO Radio's brisk pictorialization of the Kate Douglas Wiggin classic. Anne Shirley, Ruby Keeler and James Ellison comprise the triangle, topping an important cast of headline talent.

What The Papers Say On Senator George

Deal, despite the anti-New Deal of many of their representatives in Congress. Our guess is that Mr. Roosevelt's diagnosis is correct and that Camp will win.
Baltimore Evening Sun.—God bless you Walter, you are no liberal. . . a liberal is a guy who shuts his eyes, closes his mouth and swallows everything I choose to give him, even including such indigestible items as the crippling of the supreme court. . . So I say Walter, let God bless you. I won't.
Nashville Banner.—In above terms ("I accept the challenge"), as direct as could be employed, did Senator George notify the power drunk chief executive. . . that his smiles had not been able to seduce him from the path of duty to conscience and country, so his frowns could neither alarm or intimidate.
Charlotte News.—The thing is, in its practical aspect, a desperate and precarious gamble. If the President wins, it will be a famous victory. But the chance is more than even that he won't win.
Lynchburg, Va.—Daily Advance, an independent Democrat paper owned by Senator Glass: Senator George's statement "is more than a challenge to the people of Georgia. It is a challenge to the people of every commonwealth in the Union. The whole matter boils down to this simple question: Are the people of the 48 sovereign states to select their representatives in congress or is the President of the United States to perform that duty for them and thereby become a national dictator?
Washington Evening Star.—Political tradition argues that the President's speech in Georgia will help Senator George rather than hurt him. Voters in the nation are jealous of their prerogatives in choosing their own representatives. Senator George is wise in his dignified acceptance of the challenge, not only to Georgia but to the voters of every state in the Union.
In 1938 a shift was contemplated in the South by which the

Georgia Race Issues Given By W.F. George

Candidate Opposed By President Tells Voters They Have Right To Make Selection

Flays Federal Participation

Says Democratic Party Cannot Become A One-Man Affair

WAYCROSS, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Senator Walter F. George declared today that the question in Georgia's senatorial race was whether the people "are entitled to elect or choose their own servants."

"The issue has been raised by no less a person than the President of the United States," he said in a campaign address.

"It is an uneven contest. We have given the President enormous powers—and yet I have no fear."

In reference to ousting of the carpetbaggers after the war between the states Senator George said "we feared that question once when federal bayonets stood guard at our ballot boxes."

George said the issues are: One, white democrats of Georgia are capable of choosing their own representatives.

Two, the character of our government demands that each of the sovereign states select its own representatives, House and Senate.

Three, federal power cannot rightly be used to elect and defeat any candidate in the sovereign states for any office solely on the basis of the people of that state.

Four, executive and legislative powers were ordained separate and independent of each other.

Five, the democratic party is not and cannot become a one-man party. "It must allow freedom of opinion and speech if it is to remain a true liberal party."

Newspapers Are Polled On Roosevelt

Test Shows President Supported In 1936 By Forty-Four Percent Of 827 Papers

NEW YORK CITY, Aug. 15.—The policies of the Roosevelt Administration were "generally supported" in 1936 by 44 percent of the newspapers whose editorial policies were tabulated in a nationwide poll conducted by THE HEADLINES page of the New York Daily Mirror.

The poll was conducted to test the accuracy of the repeated contention of President Roosevelt and members of his administration that the New Deal was elected in spite of the opposition of from 80 to 90 percent of the nation's newspapers.

The poll reached 1898 daily newspapers. Replies were tabulated from 827 newspapers, representing a total circulation of approximately 25-million.

No replies were received from 1,071 newspapers representing a total daily circulation of approximately 14-million.

The circulations of the papers answering the poll represent two-thirds of the nation's total daily circulation.

Papers Shifted Stand. At the present time, with Congressional campaigns again defining issues, President Roosevelt is "generally supported" by 303 newspapers, 38 percent of the papers whose policies were tabulated.

His policies are "generally opposed" by 62 percent of the papers.

The present stand is 6 percent more critical than the stand of the press in 1936.

The present stand is 13 percent more critical than the policy of the American press toward untested candidate Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932.

Governor Roosevelt was backed by 410 of the polled papers in 1932, representing 51 percent of the total number of dailies, and 67 percent of the total circulation of U. S. dailies.

Stand In States. Broken down, The Mirror poll figures show that the press of 28 States are "generally opposed" to the Roosevelt policies.

The press in 17 States "generally supports" the New Deal. In two States, the score is even. There was no reply from either of Delaware's two papers.

Since 1936, the President has gained the balance of power in only one State's press—New Jersey—based on circulation figures.

Arizona has shifted to the anti-Roosevelt camp. Major surprise comes in Georgia where the press now opposes Roosevelt in "his second State". It is in Georgia that the New Deal forces are waging political war against conservative Senator George.

Based on circulation figures, the press of only one other Solid South State is opposed to the President—that is in Oklahoma.

Defection Down South. Since 1936, 34 Southern newspapers have bolted the President on his policies.

Of the total of 85 papers in America that have turned against the President since 1936, three-fifths of them are published in the Solid South.

Based on circulation, the press in only 9 States outside the South "generally supports" Roosevelt today. He is opposed by the press of 25 States.

Those supporting him are mountainous Idaho, Nevada, Arizona, and Wyoming; and industrial New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Indiana, and West Virginia.

The same lineup existed in 1936—with the exception that New Jersey was listed with the opposition then.

The picture today is a sharp reversal from 1932, when the untitled New Deal of Franklin D. Roosevelt was supported by the press in 31 States, (based on circulation) opposed by the press in only 18 States.

Three States opposed no pro-Roosevelt newspapers: Little Rhode Island and Republican parishes Maine and Vermont. Three States were unanimously pro-Roosevelt: Wyoming, Nevada and Mississippi, which has all of 4,436 Republicans to 157,000 Democrats.

H. B. Pope Gives Rotary Membership Classifications

Method Of Selecting Members For Club Explained At Lunch

H. B. Pope, chairman of the Rotary membership committee, spoke to Rotarians at their regular weekly luncheon today on Rotary membership classifications.

He was introduced by Dr. R. W. Rappach while H. B. Pope presided over the meeting in the absence of President George Rollins.

Pointing out that one of the finest things a member could get out of Rotary was the opportunity to become acquainted with and to know other men in his community, Mr. Pope stated that Rotary is based on memberships from various business groups and professions.

"Only one man from each line of business or profession can be admitted to a given Rotary Club," Mr. Pope said in explaining the opportunity this affords of meeting men from every walk of life in a community.

The Rotarians were called upon to name their own classifications and then Mr. Pope gave a list of open classifications suggesting that a representative from each group be found for the club.

Visitors at today's luncheon included Ed Henderson of Cocoa, G. E. Tresler of Jacksonville, Fred H. Tresler of Daytona Beach, and Otto Caldwell of Sanford.

Local Guards Return From Training Camp

Troops' Participation In War Maneuvers Commended By Commanding Officers

Many because of their return to the location after spending two weeks in the heart of the 10,000 National Forest north of Bliss, Miss., over 100 enlisted men and officers of the three local companies of National Guards participated in the Atlantic Coast and Gulf Coast maneuvers at Longwood Sunday about 4:30 p. m.

The local National Guard companies were a part of the 12th Infantry which was in the center of the successful attack on New Orleans and against the forces of the Blue Army composed of regular army and national guard troops. The locals were under the command of the Blue Army.

The Sanford companies joined the group train at Ocean Springs, Miss., Saturday afternoon shortly after 4:30 p. m. and arrived here at noon the following day.

Commanding officers of the local units were high in their commendation of the manner in which the men conducted themselves during the two weeks' training period, and also praised the stamina shown by the men under conditions of nearly simulating actual war conditions.

The local officers expected opinions that the National Guard units had conducted themselves as well as the regulars on the maneuver in which approximately 15,000 men from the fourth and the eighth corps areas participated.

The contingent from Sanford left here Sunday afternoon July 21 and on arriving in Ocean Springs the following day were taken in Army convoys trucks 25 miles into the heart of the National Forest where they remained during the training period.

The guardsmen spent the first few days of the training period in mud and mire at the base camp. During the maneuver they marched under full pack and under cover of darkness in order to avoid the prying eyes of enemy planes which were constantly flying overhead during the day.

Water was at a premium. Drinking water for the soldiers was taken from the numerous creeks in the forest and treated with chlorine to prevent an epidemic. Water for bathing was scarce still. During the entire two weeks the men were quartered in "pop" tents. Ample food was given the soldiers while in the base camp but the diet was sometimes slim while on the march because the kitchens were continually moving forward behind the advancing forces of the 12th Infantry.

Major George A. DeCutter directed the activities of the First Battalion of which Company D and the local headquarters company are a part, while Major Arthur W. Knox directed the medical operations for the entire regiment. Capt. Douglas G. Scott was commanding officer of the local Medical Detachment. Because of illness, (Continued on Page Two)

The Federal health insurance bill, which is proposed for enactment, will be introduced by President Roosevelt in the next Congress.

The President who will probably tonight in the last anniversary of the Social Security Act, already has recommended a study looking toward enlarging the program in other respects.

The President's health survey will be broadcast to the nation over all major networks at 7:30 P. M. (EST). It will be delivered from the White House.

President Roosevelt had an opportunity in a Potomac river cruise yesterday to talk over with labor leaders with Henry Hocking, the Works Progress Administration, and to prepare the address he will broadcast.

There has been speculation that he might carry on in the field of his campaign for federal insurance of Congress, who has named of major New Deal measures. However, Stephen T. Early, a presidential secretary, has said he would mention no names of individuals or states.

Some of the President's advisers are understood to have urged him to take some direct action shortly, such as his declaration last week against a continuation of Senator Walter F. George, Democrat, Georgia, against several other congressmen.

Louisiana Coastal Disturbance Does But Little Damage

Power Lines, Communication Disrupted As Storm Diminishes

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 15.—(AP)—The first storm of the Gulf of Mexico's annual "hurricane season" blew itself out in south western Louisiana with no serious damage reported.

The blow struck last night at 10 miles an hour, less than hurricane force, on the sparsely settled Louisiana coast near Cameron, a fishing village of about 100 inhabitants 15 miles from the Texas coast.

The Weather Bureau here said the "disturbance" is decreasing rapidly and there is no further danger. Some windows were smashed, trees uprooted and communication and power lines disrupted. Heavy rain accompanied the blow.

Communication lines between New Orleans and Lake Charles were down shortly before 9 P. M. today.

The major damage reported at Lake Charles, a city of 16,000 population 50 miles from the gulf, were smashed windows in store fronts and the upper portion of a hotel.

At Jennings, La., 10 miles west of Lake Charles, at 8:30 P. M. there was a 40-mile wind. Trees were uprooted.

At Lake Arthur, on Lake Arthur, 20 miles straight south of Jennings, some small boats were reported upset. The wind there had increased considerably in a half hour.

The 8:30 advisory said the storm would "diminish in intensity but precaution against high tides on Louisiana coast west of Morgan City should be continued tonight until danger passes."

W. F. McDonald, chief meteorologist of the New Orleans weather bureau, said the storm struck the Louisiana coast at less than hurricane force and diminished in intensity as it moved inland.

The weather bureau said only 50 to 100 miles of coast line was affected but all communications in the storm area were disrupted.

Broadened Social Security May Be Proposed By FDR

Executive Likely To Advocate Health Insurance In Address

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Federal health insurance may become one of President Roosevelt's proposals for broadening the social security program.

The President who will probably tonight in the last anniversary of the Social Security Act, already has recommended a study looking toward enlarging the program in other respects.

The President's health survey will be broadcast to the nation over all major networks at 7:30 P. M. (EST). It will be delivered from the White House.

President Roosevelt had an opportunity in a Potomac river cruise yesterday to talk over with labor leaders with Henry Hocking, the Works Progress Administration, and to prepare the address he will broadcast.

There has been speculation that he might carry on in the field of his campaign for federal insurance of Congress, who has named of major New Deal measures. However, Stephen T. Early, a presidential secretary, has said he would mention no names of individuals or states.

Some of the President's advisers are understood to have urged him to take some direct action shortly, such as his declaration last week against a continuation of Senator Walter F. George, Democrat, Georgia, against several other congressmen.

MOONLIT WEATHER

The moon is a ghostly wind that blows from the sky, and it drives the sea... The garden flowers eddy and sway... It is capricious and young and wild...

Samuel Insull left a thousand dollars in cash and 14 million dollars in debts. He wasn't penniless; he was millionless.

Last week the University of Georgia awarded President Roosevelt an L.I.D. degree—doctor of liberal lambasting.

It wasn't that it was so hot here in Sanford the other day; it was only that the mountains are so much cooler.

After hearing what President Roosevelt said about Senator George, Mark Wilcox can thank his lucky stars that Mr. Roosevelt really wasn't very much against him.

Adolph Hitler must have been so impressed with published accounts of our National Guard maneuvers in Mississippi that he has decided to call out a million men just to see what they can do.

The faster a man drives the faster he'll get to where he doesn't want to go—Jacksonville Times-Union. And the faster he gets to where he doesn't want to go, the faster he'll come away after he's been there.

Jimmy Roosevelt thought he had been very conservative in not making more than $50,000 in any one year since his father became President. He was probably thinking of what he might have made if he had wanted to devote his full time and attention to it.

There would, you forget, money lenders and the coupon buyers. They're supplying most of the money right now.

A cross between a tiger and a lion has been created at a New York zoo. It is called a tiglion. It's like to see someone cross between a waffle and a pancake in which case it'd be named waffle-pancake.

Star Advertiser, Well, I've just discovered a cross between a waffle and a pancake and we called it a waffle-pancake.

The Georgia Primary

Although President Roosevelt in his Barnesville speech last week spoke of Senator George as "a gentleman and a scholar" and "my good personal friend", he classified him as a "died-in-the-wool reactionary" who could not possibly be placed in the "liberal school of thought" and who should therefore be defeated in his race for reelection to the United States Senate.

In order to understand fully just why President Roosevelt chose this particular occasion to inject the prestige of the Presidency most forcefully into a state primary campaign and why he decided virtually to read out of the Democratic party a lifelong Democrat who had served his state for 16 years in the United States Senate, we have reviewed the record of Senator George since the New Deal's inception.

In the 1933 session of Congress which convened immediately after the banking holiday, he voted for the Emergency Banking Act, the NRA, the AAA, and the TVA. He supported the President's unemployment relief plans, his currency and monetary experiments and his abrogation of the gold clause in government bonds.

In 1935 he voted for the Wagner Labor Relations Act, the Social Security Act, which was the New Deal's answer to appeals for old age pensions, the Tax-the-Wealth bill and the work relief bill. The next year he supported the Administration's Soil Conservation Act, the Commodity Exchange Bill, and all of its relief appropriations.

The only measures of major importance on which Senator George opposed the Administration were the Supreme Court Bill in 1937 and the Government Reorganization Bill and the Wage Hour Bill in 1938. He also voted to over-ride the President's veto of the Soldiers' Bonus Bill, but this certainly was not an item of such importance to the President as to warrant reading a man out of the party.

So it would seem that in the eyes of Mr. Roosevelt this is what constitutes a "died-in-the-wool reactionary." A man, in his opinion, who opposed the attempt to bring the Supreme Court within the political control of the White House, who fought the reorganization of the government so as to give complete control to the President, and who opposed the Wage Hour Bill is not a Democrat.

Or is there some other reason why President Roosevelt does not want Senator George returned to the Senate? Can it be the President is thinking of 1940 and the possibility of a third term?

Summer Accidents

While summer is the healthiest season of the year, fatal accidents during the vacation period take a daily toll much above that for the year as a whole, says the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company explaining that this is due largely to the loss of life in July when more persons die as the result of accidental injuries than in any other month, with the month of August ranking second in this respect.

"An average of 381 deaths was the daily accident toll for July during the three years 1934-1936, says the Metropolitan. This is approximately 97 deaths each day more than the daily average for August, and 133 more daily than in March, which has the minimum of all months for fatal accidents.

Not only is July the peak month for accidental deaths in general, but also for deaths from drowning, falls, railroad transportation accidents (exclusive of collisions with motor vehicles), from poison (exclusive of poisonous gas), from agricultural machinery and recreational machinery, and from lightning. July and August, taken together, were first with respect to accidental deaths charged to cutting or piercing instruments.

"Each July about 1,600 persons are drowned, this being one fourth of the annual total, and an average of 52 a day, as compared with an average of 20 a day for the entire year," the Metropolitan continues. "The daily average for June, the next highest month for drownings, is 42. Even lightning, a minor mortality when viewed for the whole year, becomes a serious one in July, accounting for 140 deaths, or an average of about five a day.

"Fatal falls reach their peak in July, and not, as one might expect, in the winter months, when ice and snow cause many accidents of this class. Fatal falls in July average 75 daily, as compared with 68 for the year, and 73 for February, which ranks second in the number of deaths from falls.

"Motor vehicle accidents, while occurring at more than average rate, are not as frequent in July as in any of the last five months of the year. Deaths from electricity, other than lightning, are at a maximum in August, with July coming second. Motorcycle and air transportation fatalities also are at a maximum in August."

ENCYCLOPEDIA OIL STRIKE!

Back at the turn of the century, a California land promoter found in his hands a worthless tract of land which would not "turn over." At the same time, a New England publisher found on his hands several thousand editions of the Encyclopedia Britannica—and few buyers.

Fate threw the two together; they exchanged "hard luck" stories. Finally a bargain was struck. For a price of $300,000, they decided a "California seaside lot" could be given away as a premium with a set of encyclopedias.

In this manner 25 lots in the tract, each 20 by 90 feet, were sold in 1900. The lots were not seaside lots, but today are included within the limits of Huntington Beach.

Twenty years later J. H. Macklin, an oil field geologist, saw bubbles rising to the surface of the Pacific off Huntington Beach. He knew at once that the land contained oil. Failing to interest the oil company he worked for, Macklin set out on his own to buy the titles to the property for $5.00 per lot.

A search of the county records amazed him; owners were listed in Salt Lake City, Chicago, New England and France. A few held out, but most of the property owners were willing to sell; they thought that nobody would be ridiculous enough to offer only $5.00 for a lot on which he thought there was oil.

Test wells were sunk, and oil finally was brought in. The tract became famous as the "Encyclopedia Wells" district. The few dead owners who held their titles became rich beyond their wildest dreams. Over $5,000,000 has been produced since in the Encyclopedia Group.

than any other section, and is less able to maintain it; and how that section is rich in land and resources, but poor in ownership and development of that land and those resources.

Then the President swung through the Southwest, preaching everywhere a sermon of national unity, and asking train-side crowds to think for the good of the nation as a whole and not merely for their own localities.

Now comes the opportunity to illustrate his sermons with a first hand illustration, the South. Politically, of course, the current fanfare is a certain rouser for one of the big national issues in 1940—state's rights. And the President opens the way in the very section of the country that fought for the principle of state's rights in the Civil war.

TO HOLD ELECTION STARKER. Aug. 15.—(AP)—Starker voters will select a mayor, three aldermen, a tax collector and a marshal at a municipal election Sept. 13.

Meeting The Issue So the President apparently has decided to move in and meet the issue before it comes to a head. His advisers argue that that's one way of beating the opposition to the punch and getting your side of the picture before the public ahead of everybody else.

The first step was the singling out by the President of the South as the Nation's No. 1 economic problem. "It's the nation's problem," he said, "not merely the South's. For we have an economic imbalance in the nation as a whole due to this very condition in the South."

It was the President's way of saying that the economic problems of the South were too complex for the states to solve, each in its own way.

The condition he discussed was promptly defined by the National Emergency Council, the President's co-ordinating agency of the various executive arms of the federal government.

The council explained to the nation how the South received only one-third of the national income; how the South is selling up a greater excess of population

The only three sections of the country where Roosevelt hasn't had the press of any State behind him since 1932 are: New England, the biggest beneficiary of the Wage-Hour law which discourages the flight of its industries to the low-wage South; the farm belt of the Great Plains, which has been affected most by F. D. R.'s A. A. A.'s and the Pacific Coast, scene of the great maritime strikes.

Biggest detection from F. D. R. since 1936 is in the Texas of conservative Vice President Garner, where 11 papers have switched from support to opposition.

New York City is still pro-Roosevelt in the circulation of its newspapers, with the Daily News, Post, World-Telegram and Times backing the President and the Daily Mirror, Journal, Sun and Herald-Tribune listed in the opposition. The lineup is the same as in 1934. The Times and Scripps Howard World-Telegram have recently been critical of an increasing number of New Deal policies. The Brooklyn Eagle supported the President in '32 and '36, is half-and-half now.

The Winchester (Va.) Evening Star, published by Democratic Senator Harry Flood Byrd, who has severely criticized the New Deal, lists itself as pro-Roosevelt in 1932 and 1936, but eloquently refrains from committing itself as to its present stand.

Numerous Southern papers, asked if they are "generally supporting" Roosevelt now, answered yes but undermined the word "generally." The Rocky Mount (N.C.) declared that it is "generally supporting the Democratic party and Franklin D. Roosevelt when he adheres to the party but not for all Roosevelt ideas."

The Ashland (Ohio) Times-Gazette, instead of saying "Yes" to the question of supporting Roosevelt in 1932, 1936 and now, recorded itself as "fair" to him each time.

The Philadelphia Inquirer—staunchly Republican—would not say that it is not generally supporting Roosevelt now. It preferred to word its answer: "When we think he's right; yes. When we think he's wrong; no."

Frank E. Howe, editor of the Bennington (Vt.) Banner, in 1932 neither supported nor opposed Roosevelt. His explanation: "Was postmaster at the time and George McHenry were also with the Regimental Headquarters during the training period.

The maneuver, the most extensive since the World War, cost the Government nearly $1,500,000, and required two years of planning. A large amount of equipment from Army barracks in the corps area was brought to Mississippi for the maneuver, as well as a large number of regular army troops. At the close of the training period officers voted to hold the next encampment at Camp Foster near Jacksonville.

Ninth Inning Rally Gives Senators 6 - 5 Victory

Lookouts Give Way To Drop Two Game Series

Big Guns Give Locals Lead Two Times During Hard Fought Contest As Foes Take 4th Straight Win

Taking their second successive game from the Sanford Senators in as many days, the Orlando Senators defeated the Lookouts Sunday afternoon at Tinker Field in Orlando with Buck Elliott's rightfield single in the ninth bringing in the tying run, winning run to give the Senators a 6 to 5 margin.

In the last half of the ninth with two men on and no outs, Elliott stepped to the plate and hit the ball bounding into right field.

At the first of the ninth Sanford began a rally that netted three runs. Smith hit safely and Davis went to second on the hit. Contreras, batting for Davis, batted for Contreras and sent a ball to leftfield scoring Davis and sending Smith to third. Contreras went to second on the drive. The next man up, Big Jim Finger, sent another hit to leftfield bringing in the final run Sanford runs.

The Orlando club came to life in their half of the ninth hitting and Alabama Smith singled to center and Overstreet, batting for Conn, walked. All runs were safe as Ruggiero beat out a bunt down the first base line. Jeter replaced Finger for Sanford on the mound. Smith scored on a passed ball by Adams with both runners advancing. Buck Elliot then provided the winning punch with his routine drive to right.

Conn pitched a good ball for Orlando except for lapses in the eighth and ninth innings. Seven of Sanford's eight safeties were scored out in those two frames.

Sanford took the lead in the fourth on two runs on Schmidt's double. Pitman's triple and on Elliott's single.

The Senators managed to get a marker in the fourth and fifth innings which knotted the score

League Leading G-M Drop 7-1 Decision To Daytona Beach

Hurling his 19th victory, Jake Bunch scattered eight hits among the Reds while his own team mates were making 12 hits to score a 6 to 2 victory. The slug-ging feature of the game was Chet Clements' third home run of the season down the left-field foul line with none on in the seventh.

The 1937 pennant winners, the Gainesville G-Men were effectively stopped before the six hit pitching of Shroba in the Islander's home stronghold as the Islets took a 7 to 1 decision.

The Islanders garnered 13 safeties off Savage and Sparkman. A double play halted a four run Palatka rally in the ninth frame of the game between the Azaleas and the Saints at St. Augustine. In the eighth inning, the Saints managed to chalk up five runs and seemed well on the way to victory but in the ninth the Azaleas rallied to make four runs and seemed well on the way to snatching the victory out of the hands of the Saints when Trammell hit into a double play retiring the side and ending the game.

Orlando Senators Defeat Lookouts In Saturday Fray

Sanford Club Is Set-back By Ganzelmen By Score Of 4 To 0

Orlando climbed to within one full game of the third place Daytona Beach Islanders Saturday night when the Senators shut Sanford out 4 to 0 at the Municipal Ball Park.

With southpaw Bill Holland hurling, the Lookouts were able to garner only four scattered hits while Hank Bazner tossing for Sanford, permitted five hits. Three of the Orlando runs crossed the plate in the fourth inning on two walks and three safeties.

Bazner walked Cole and Keller and Alabama Smith singled to right bringing in Cole for the first run. Meanwhile, Keller had gone to second on Smith's hit. Holland, the pitcher, then came to bat and aided in the winning of his own game when he singled to center scoring Keller and advancing Smith to second.

Buck Elliott's centerfield scorch sent Smith across for the third marker of the inning.

For the next two frames the Sanford club played good ball but in the Seventh the infield committed two errors permitting another run to cross the home sack for the Senators.

Ruggiero made first by virtue of an error on the Orlando short-stop. The next man up, Elliott, sacrificed and Ruggiero went to second on the bunt but as Bazner tossed the ball over Davis' head he continued to third. Guynes struck out and Mihalic walked. As Johnny Frye slid out to deep right, Ruggiero scored on the throw-in.

Meredith, Couch Confess To Nabbing Of St. Louis Couple

ST. PAUL, Aug. 16. (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation today announced the arrest of Otto James Meredith and John Couch near Effie, Minn. for kidnaping Mrs. Peggy Gray and Daniel Cox Fahey of St. Louis.

The agents located the pair at the farm home of Charles Root near Effie last night. Meredith, 34, was shot and seriously wounded.

Agents said both men admitted kidnaping Miss Gray and Fahey and participating in a number of other Midwest crimes.

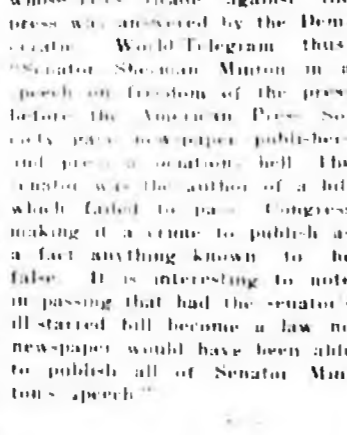

Roots is Meredith's father-in-law but the agent said he had no connection with the kidnaping.

Miss Gray and Fahey were kidnaped Saturday as they sat in a parked car at St. Louis. They were taken to Fahey's car at a point near Champlin, Minn., where they were bound and tossed to the roadside.

Candidate Praised As Pioneer Of Social Security In Address

Washington, Aug. 16. (AP)—President Roosevelt spoke out strongly in a radio address last night for Representative David L. Lewis, who is campaigning to unseat Democratic Senator Melba Tydings of Maryland.

Without mentioning Tydings, as he did Senator George when he read him out of the Democratic party in Georgia last week, Roosevelt praised Lewis as "one of the American pioneers in the cause of social security."

The way he emphasized the name of the Maryland representative, who has been campaigning as a 100 percent New Dealer, left little doubt in anyone's mind that he would like to see him elected to the Senate.

Tydings has opposed some major Administration proposals vigorously, and voted "present" when the Social Security Bill was passed.

Enrollment Of Freshmen At FSCW To Begin Sept. 12

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Aug. 16. (AP)—Florida State College for Women, which enrolled its largest student body last year, about 1,850 girls, will begin the 1938-39 school year Monday, Sept. 12.

Freshmen will be received first. Upperclassmen will register Sept. 16 and 17. Classes will begin Sept. 19.

Enrollment this year is expected to be about the same as last year. Construction of a new dormitory building, to relieve the housing problem on the campus, has not been started.

The Public Works Administration recently allocated $170,000 for the building which will house about 375 students. Present dormitories house about 1,105 girls.

An innovation at the college this year will be a Senior Hall where selected students may live in complete personal freedom provided they are not in conflict with any college policy.

The number of occupants will be limited to about 50 students at first. Scholastic rating, health and campus citizenship are factors which will determine which seniors are to be given the privilege.

About 150 faculty members will direct and conduct classes this year.

Large Alligator Is Killed Near Capitol

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—A 10-foot, eight-inch alligator—the largest seen in this section of the state for many years—was recently killed on Lake Munson, within six miles of the Florida capital.

The big alligator was taken to the city incinerator for disposal because Bembrey said "after you get past seven feet long, you can't get anything for the hides."

Jap Military Attache Arrested In London

LONDON, Aug. 16. (AP)—Maj. T. Takahashi, assistant military attache at the Japanese embassy, was detained briefly by police yesterday after he tore pro-Chinese booklets from the hands of women demonstrators participating in an anti-Japanese parade.

Major Takahashi seized the booklets as the paraders passed the Japanese embassy and ripped them to pieces before police intervened and took him to a police station where he later was released.

The marchers carried posters in English and Chinese reading "No oil for Japan" and "Boycott Japanese goods."

E. Phillips Oppenheim, English author, has written more than 100 books.
