State Calls Deane As Star Witness In Trial Of Ex-Banker

Case Of Forrest Lake,
Former Head Of De-
funct County Bank
Is Nearing Its Close

Defense Will Not
Place Witnesses

Strives To Introduce
Evidence Which It
Thinks To Be Vital

The trial of Forrest Lake, Sanford banker charged with embezzlement and misappropriation of $10,000 of the funds of the Seminole County Bank, was rapidly nearing a close here today. At that time the state had virtually completed its case and the defense had indicated that it would place no witnesses to stand. Unless a last minute change alters their plans, defense counsel will not ask Mr. Lake to testify in his own behalf.

The defense made a desperate effort just before the court recessed to introduce evidence, which it regarded as vital and essential in breaking down well laid plans of the prosecution. Although no formal ruling was made, Judge DeWitt T. Gray, presiding, indicated that he would not permit the evidence to be introduced on the grounds that it came within the scope of hearsay testimony and the same inadmissible.

Defense counsel through Mr. Palmer sought to introduce the testimony during a cross examination of R. W. Deane, former assistant cashier of the defunct institution. He endeavored to bring before the court certain facts and testimony, which if established, would disprove the contention of intent to defraud, a part of the defendant and also show that he did not actually take possession of any money benefit by virtue of the $10,000 transaction, mentioned in the indictment.

The banker's attorneys sought to prove that the transaction was the result of a desire to comply with the state banking laws, that was involved represented bank reports and that their client had no interest in the matter save to protect the bank and adhere to its mandate, said to have been made by a state bank examiner.

Mr. Deane was on the stand during the entire morning. By his testimony, the state wove an interesting story of the offense with which Mr. Lake is charged. The witness testified that on Feb. 27, 1927, a credit of $10,000 against the bond of Mr. Lake, he made a report account of the City of Sanford and placed a credit slip for the same amount to the account of the accused banker. Mr. Deane testified that this was done to take care of an overdraft, which was said to have occurred in the banker's personal account.

The witness said Mr. Lake represented to him that the transaction would be adjusted in a short time thereafter. On June 20, 1927, nearly 15 months later, Mr. Deane advised that the account remained the same and that in order to balance the accounts, he, of his own volition, reversed the transaction, placing a credit of $10,000 to the same account and a charge of a similar sum to the banker's statement.

Questioned further, the witness testified at this time there was not a cent of money in the account.

Withdrawal Rumors Are Denied By Cobb

In an interview with a Herald reporter this morning, R. A. Cobb emphatically denied that he had proposed to withdraw from the office of clerk of court.

"Rumors have been current during the past few days that I had dropped out of the race," said Mr. Cobb, "and I wish to emphatically deny this report. I am in the race to stay and have no intentions of withdrawing now or at any later date."

Commission Declines To Grant City's Plea

WASHINGTON, Mar. 14. (INS)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today held that class and commodity freight rates between Lakeland and Mulberry, Fla., and points in the United States are not unreasonable or unjustly discriminatory.

The Lakeland Chamber of Commerce complained that the railroad commodity rates between Lakeland and Mulberry for one hundred points in the United States and other were unjustly discriminatory to those towns and unduly preferential to Tampa, and other Florida points in the same general territory. The commission, however, held that the allegations of unjust discrimination had not been sustained.

Banker States Cal Will Be Candidate

NEW YORK, Mar. 14. (INS)—W. C. Burbank, New York banker, today declared that he had learned on "undisputed authority" that President Coolidge would be a voluntary candidate in the coming Presidential race.

Burbank, a member of the banking house of Clark Childs and Company, said that President Coolidge would soon announce that he was reconsidering his decision not to run, according to the information received. Burbank attributed the recent strength in the stock market to this alleged "inside information." "It is all around wall street" said Burbank.

BRITISH FLYER, LONG OVERDUE, CAUSES WORRY

Anxiety Over Safety Of Aviator On Atlantic Flight Attempt Increases As Hours Pass With No Sign Of Plane

Watchful Eyes Scan Coast Of Newfoundland Where It Is Thought Plane Will Reach

NEW YORK, Mar. 14. (INS)—Anxiety deepened with every passing hour today as the black and gold British monoplane, Endeavour, bearing Captain Walter Hincheliffe and another person, believed to be the Hon. Eileen MacKay, daughter of Lord Incheague, failed to put in an appearance anywhere along the Atlantic seaboard from New York to Newfoundland.

The brightly painted monoplane took off at 8:40 A. M. yesterday from the Cranwell Airfield some 75 miles north of London on a projected trans-Atlantic flight, a western crossing of the ocean which never has been accomplished and which has brought disaster and death to all who previously had made the attempt.

At 12:45 this afternoon, New York time, thirty three hours had elapsed since the take off and no conclusive information of the plane's whereabouts had been received for hours. It was last seen on a certainty early yesterday, less than two hundred miles off the Irish coast. An unconfirmed report from St. Johns, New Foundland today said several persons claimed to have heard the motor of a plane at Brigus, 27 miles west of that city.

Anxious eyes scanned the skies from the coast of Newfoundland where it was thought the plane might reach this morning, if the headwinds that prevail on a westerly flight, were not more pronounced than anticipated. Not nowhere was the bird sighted. Meanwhile, at Curtiss Field, Long Island, preparations were made to receive the flyers. The plane, (Continued on page 6)

C. Bowser, manager of purchases and stores for the road.

"In placing coal orders no distinction has been made and now is now being made between Union and non-Union mines," said Bowser, who also examined other railroads which have been accused by the Union of being responsible for the present trouble in the industry.

"I have no agreement or understanding either express or implied with the Pennsylvania Railroad, the Baltimore and Ohio, or any other railroad company outside the New York Central system concerning prices to be paid for the purchase of coal, the localities from which purchases are to be made," Bowser declared.

"I have never received any instruction, suggestion or intimation from Mr. Crowley, the president of the system to whom I directly report, that I should have any agreement or understanding with any other railroad with respect to these matters that I should employ the bargaining power of the system or any individual member of it to depress coal prices or to exploit operators or miners, Union or non-Union."

WITNESS SAYS Death Toll Mounts UPHAM KEPT In Flooded Areas DEALS SECRET Where Dam Failed

Secretary To Party Official States Even Confidential Employees Were Unaware Of Continental's Slush Fund

Declares No Record Was Ever Maintained

Senate Committee Adjourns Until Tomorrow Morning After Hearing His Testimony

WASHINGTON, Mar. 14. (INS)—The late Fred W. Upham, Republican national treasurer, kept his handling of Harry F. Sinclair's liberty bonds a secret from even his own confidential employees, A. U. Leonard, former secretary to Upham, testified today at the Senate's inquiry into the Continental Trading Company's "slush fund."

Leonard said he thought James A. Patten, Chicago, when king, was making a $25,000 gift to the Republican party when in fact Upham had given Patten $25,000 of the Sinclair bonds in exchange for the contribution.

Leonard testified that no records of the liberty bonds were ever kept. He also declared that all of Upham's personal correspondence and all records of contributions to the Republican Party, except a card index file, were destroyed in 1924.

After hearing Leonard, the Senate committee adjourned to meet at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning in the Federal Building, Chicago. The committee has subpoenaed 39 witnesses for the Chicago hearing.

While Leonard was on the stand, Senator Thomas J. Walsh (D) of Montana, revealed that the committee had been informed that Upham once protested against the Teapot Dome reserve being leased to Sinclair. Leonard knew nothing about this protest.

Leonard first explained he was Upham's secretary from 1919 until his death in 1925 and had handled Upham's correspondence as Republican National Treasurer.

"I do not know anything about any liberty bonds which Mr. Upham may have received from 'Mr. Hays,'" said Leonard. "He simply did not discuss that with me."

Woman Files Suit To Break Will Of Her Late Husband

BUFFALO, Wyo., Mar. 14. (INS)—Mrs. Helen Metcalf and her three children have filed suit in district court here to break the unusual will of her late husband, E. D. Metcalf, wealthy Wyoming pioneer.

When the will was filed for probate recently, it was revealed that Metcalf had left half of his $300,000 fortune to the American Genetics Association, providing an income of only $2,500 annually for his widow. The will also named sums ranging from $5,000 to $10,000 to be paid each of his three children at intervals until they reached the age of forty years.

Metcalf declared in the will that he did not want the money which he had accumulated during a lifetime of economy "spent in luxurious living."

For many years prior to his death, Metcalf had taken a keen interest in children, genetics and eugenics. Because of fear for his own reproductive powers, he underwent an operation, at the age of 59, which for a time threatened his life.

In the brief filed in district court, Mrs. Metcalf contends that her husband was brought under "undue influence" by the American Genetics association, resulting in his unusual interest in children and in his making a will leaving the large sum to the association.

Under the Wyoming law, Mrs. Metcalf would automatically obtain one half the estate. She is attempting to break it, however, to protect her children's interest.

Carrying Gun Lands Negro Divine In Jail

ATLANTA, Mar. 14. (INS)—Too much interest in the affairs of courts cost the liberty of Rev. W. B. Jones, militant ex-pastor of the Providence Baptist Church, colored, today. He was arrested this morning in the court room of Judge Virlyn B. Moore on the charge of carrying concealed weapons.

The charge, on which he was indicted yesterday, arose out of a church row in which Jones was supplanted by a less warlike preacher, officers said.

When the new minister attempted to preach his first sermon, Jones is said to have chased him from the pulpit and continued the service himself. Later, when the church congregation could no longer tolerate the church's study, he removed a "business-like" revolver from his pocket.

Improvised Morgues In Stricken Section Reveal Many Bodies Of Unidentified Dead

NEW HALL, Cal., Mar. 14. (INS)—The flood desolated valleys of San Francisco and Santa Paula rested in sheer exhaustion today from their twin tasks of search and salvage.

In hastily improvised morgues in a dozen towns and hamlets from mountains to sea some 225 bodies lay, most of them still awaiting identification.

Scores are still missing, many of them certainly buried beneath tons of mud and debris that swirled down the canyon with those twelve-billion gallons of water from the broken dam. The number of missing is variously estimated at from 800 to 1,000.

Hundreds of ranch homes and town dwellings washed away; the $2,750,000 St. Francis Dam and spillway and power house No. 2 of the Los Angeles Bureau of Power and Light gone; orchards, groves, ranches, business places, all swept into one jumble of wreckage and desolation; thousands of acres of valuable land left a brown terrain of barren silt.

This morning thousands of fresh rescuers took up the work where it was left off last night. And according to general relief the total of death and desolation will surely rise as rescue work is pushed forward.

Today the state's chief engineer and his chief deputy, who have arrived on the scene from Sacramento are to begin an investigation at the scene of the wrecked dam.

The answer to the cause of the catastrophe was a bit plainer today. First whispings of earthquake or dynamite collapsed under official inquiry. It appears that seepage of water through the earth and under and around the west side of the structure so weakened the foundations that the collapse came.

Chief Engineer William Mulholland of the Bureau of Power and Light was "outspoken" in the opinion that a "major ground movement" was something like a ground-slip of water-soaked earth, not an earthquake, had caused the collapse of the dam.

The 60-foot wall of water rushing down the Santa Clara River valley inundated and partially obliterated portions of the towns of Castaic, Piru, Fillmore, Santa Paula and Saticoy, with varying loss of life in each community.

Names of seventy-two missing were reported to the Bureau of Power and Light. All were occupants of San Francisco Canyon at the time of the dam collapse.

Southern California Edison Company, after a final check, placed the number of missing at their camp below the dam at eight. Of these eight are known to be dead and their bodies recovered.

Red Cross centers have begun the work of inoculation and immunization to prevent a possible pestilence following the flood.

Flight Sense

Elaborate studies in psychiatry and neurology at the Army School of Aviation Medicine at Brooks Field, San Antonio, reveal, according to an International News Service dispatch, that aviators such as Lindbergh and Chamberlain are born and not made.

These men and other pilots of unusual skill, says the dispatch, are endowed with a sense similar to that which keeps birds on the wing. They are men of a new generation in which is evolving "a sense of flight" just as youth learns to ride a bicycle. The new sense is made up of an "instinctive feel of direction, speed, altitude, and equilibrium," according to Colonel L. M. Hathaway, chief of the air corps medical section.

This appears to mean that all men, and women for that matter, are not naturally endowed with the ability to fly well, which means safely. It means, if Colonel Hathaway is correct, that the dream of every man owning his own "flying" plane will not come true—at least for a generation.

For Colonel Hathaway believes this "knack" now evolved in a few will ultimately grow strong in the many. In other words he thinks generations to come will finally inherit this "flying sense." Children will learn to fly as early in life as they now learn to drive a car. And this would make better aviators.

For observation of every-day traffic shows that while the younger generation may be reckless it is also more adept at handling the motor vehicle than those of the generation that grew up driving the old gray mare.

Some day, perhaps, all our children will be as skilled in the upper air as Lindbergh is today.

Mother Spanks

Mrs. Christine Woodside of Kansas City took a clothes hanger and gave her 16-year old daughter a spanking the other day because the girl went joy riding on Sunday. The girl had her mother arrested and Mrs. Woodside was fined $100 or given an alternative sentence of 100 days in jail. Mrs. Woodside picked jail and then decided reconciliation with her daughter would be sweeter than iron bars. According to last reports the daughter wasn't interested in making peace.

Mrs. Woodside was arrested on a charge of administering an "unwarrantedly severe" spanking. She said she made it severe on purpose, made the hanger leave distinct marks so daughter would remember the punishment. Apparently the daughter did remember it and mother will suffer the loss of her child's affection.

On some children of sixteen a spanking even as severe as Mrs. Woodside laid on would not be amiss, but to the average boy and girl of sixteen it would have much the effect it did on Mrs. Woodside's daughter. Of course most of them wouldn't think of appealing to the police, but in their minds resentment would linger long after the sting of the paddle had departed.

Children of sixteen are old enough to be corrected in better fashion. If they are beyond correction by any other than physical means, a mere spanking will not do much good. The boy or girl of sixteen years today is a great deal older in experience and common sense than children of the same age in past generations when the legendary school master lashed his older pupils with a hickory switch.

GOOD YEAR FOR GROWERS

LAKELAND LEADER

Persons who own groves in Polk county have not been disappointed in results. Young trees, now not being profitable, they are not expected to be—but the old groves which have been given attention and their owners well. The fruit crop has been short but sweet.

Lakeland has been host the past few days to the members of the Highlands Cooperative association, a number of whose members reside in other states, and who come here once a year to receive reports on the season's business. The annual meeting was held in Highland city yesterday. Generally the year was highly satisfactory.

Year in and year out, grove owners say, oranges and grapefruit trees are profitable. No man who extracts anything from the soil and an amount on a sure return from one season to another, and sensible men discount the hazards. The hazards in fruit growing are being removed each year. The demand is growing, and there are some 20 plants in operation in all parts of the state taking care of grapefruit. They ought not find a ready market. The utilization of fruit in the summer will increase from year to year.

In Lakeland, the Florida Citrus Products corporation, of which Adolf Pladen, a general manager, is getting ready to operate on a year-round basis. Fruit juices will be preserved for the first six weeks, and then other vegetable juices, as wholesome as in the natural state, will be packed for consumption in soft months.

In the fruit raising industry in Florida is becoming better all the time. Persons who own good groves will do well to give them prompt attention, because oranges and grapefruit will become more valuable as the uses for them are multiplied.

THE FLIGHT TO VENUS

PALATKA NEWS

A credulous world has become more so since publicity seekers of minimized brain development have dared the perils of the air, only to press into oblivion. The list of those who sought in vain to conquer the ether to span the turbulence of the Atlantic and fail, is no longer than the list of those who sought to conquer the more tranquil Pacific. The personnel of those various pioneering groups is already forgotten, but the fact of their foolhardiness still lives and forms the premise for the belief that modern men and women might attempt anything.

It is no wonder, then, that newspaper readers—and they are legion and of varying degrees of credibility—should fall for the story of Robert Condit, the man who claims that he will set sail for the planet Venus in a sky-rocket at some early date. Being somewhat of a punter, Condit has further heightened the effects of his sensational proposed adventure by liberal passing along pictures of himself all moved to the mast of his (the boat). He has visualized the undertaking for a trusting public, thus lessening the mental disturbance needed to grasp such an astounding idea.

Probably because of adverse weather reports to Venus, Mars or some of the adjacent planets, the new date of the sky-rocket launched yesterday that his flight had been delayed but would take place next summer. And if that time arrives too quickly, there is no reason why a later day could not be set. Any old date is early enough for a navigator who must expect to be a long time dead.

There may be those who refuse to believe in Santa Claus. Possibly a few expect no gold-laden ship to come in. These are the skeptical. They are outnumbered by far by those millions who will keep their heads craned until a flash through the heavens announces that Robert Condit is on his way, the greatest Columbus of them all.

REGISTER NOW FOR THE PRIMARY

JACKSONVILLE TIMES-UNION

Men and women of Florida, Duval county, Jacksonville, should understand that in order to vote in the primary election, which is to be held June 5, they must register and pay poll taxes, if liable to the latter levy. They should also understand that special places have been designated in various parts of the city and county where officials will take the names and fill out the designated certificates. The matter is made simple and easy for all who desire to thus qualify for the exercise of the franchise. An entirely new set of books will be made up for the coming primary and only those whose names are inscribed thereon will be permitted to vote. The opportunity for registering in the vicinity of the home is afforded for a short time. Later it will be necessary to go to the county courthouse to register. The same purpose is served by either visit, but at present the men and women are accommodated with this convenience, near home. It would seem

Important that a full registration be secured.

As everyone knows, the selection made by the voters at the primary is the candidate who will appear as the Democratic nominee on the ballot in November. The primary has always named the officials in Florida, and there is nothing in view to suggest a change. The democracy should prepare for the primary by qualifying and then make sure to vote. Just to show the importance of being qualified for the primary the following list is published, to indicate just what is expected of the voter. The primary election will name:

Six presidential electors. Twelve delegates to the national Democratic convention, four from the state at large and two from each congressional district.

Members of the national Democratic committee. A United States senator. Four representatives in congress, one each from the First, Second, Third and Fourth congressional districts.

A governor. A secretary of state. An attorney general. A comptroller. A state treasurer. A superintendent of public instruction. A commissioner of agriculture. Two justices of the state supreme court.

Two members of the Florida railroad commission, one for an unexpired and another for a full term. An adjutant general. A state chemist. A number of circuit judges. State's attorneys. A number of state senators. County judges. Sheriffs. Clerks of circuit courts. Superintendents of public instruction. County assessors of taxes. Tax collectors. County surveyors. Supervisors of registration. County commissioners. Members of county boards of public instruction. Justices of the peace. Constables. Judges of civil and juvenile courts. Prosecuting attorneys in counties where terms will expire. Members of the state executive committee. Members of the congressional executive committees. Members of the county executive committees.

Operating under the Bryan primary law there will be but one primary, and wherever there are more than two candidates appearing for one office the first and second choice will be expressed on the ballot. The main idea to be remembered, however, is that the result of the primary is final and decisive. And, again, it may be said, for emphasis, that those who fail to register will not be allowed to take part in the choice of the many national, state and county contests in view.

"CONEY ISLAND" a big hit with a big cast. The folks will stage 30 minutes novel entertainment.

Backed by the raging, seething excitement of a new oil field, where the gushers may be expected to come in at any second, "The Showdown", which comes to the Milane Theatre today, presents a love story of tremendous poignancy and power.

Selected as George Bancroft's first starring picture for Paramount, following his sensational appearance in "Underworld", "The Showdown" is the story of four men—and one woman brought face to face with primitive conditions in a desperate struggle to find the flowing gold.

Into the swamp jungles of the back country of the Tampico oil fields comes a gently nurtured girl from New York. Ignorant of the conditions she must face, she brings a trunk full of evening clothes and gold mounted toilet articles. Through a series of events, she finds herself alone in the back country with four men who have not seen a woman for a year. Then begins a tense drama which surpasses even the suspense of "Underworld", and builds to a smashing and totally unexpected finish.

Heading the cast which supports Bancroft are Evelyn Brent—who played with him in "Underworld", Neil Hamilton, Fred Kohler, also in "Underworld" as the leader of a gang; Arnold Kent and Leslie Fenton.

"The Showdown" was adapted to the screen by Hope Loring from the stage play "Wildcat" by Houston Branch. Victor Schertzinger directed the picture.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walsam of Haines City spent today here Tuesday on business.

Club Members Enjoy Lovely Bridge Party

The regular fortnightly bridge party given for members of the Social Department of the Woman's Club, Tuesday afternoon proved most delightful as well as lovely in every way. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. William H. Tunncliffe, Mrs. Endor Curlette and Mrs. Roland Read.

Suggestive of St. Patrick's day were the decorations and other details. The large auditorium where the tables had been arranged for play was beautifully adorned with numerous baskets filled with exquisite white cut flowers combined with greenery. Irish flags and Irish harps were also used to advantage.

Scores for the enjoyable games of progressive bridge were kept on tallies in the form of Shamrocks and at the conclusion of the game scores were compared and the first prize, a green crystal flower bowl went to Mrs. James Hawkins. Mrs. Paul Biggers, who scored next highest score, received a green crystal vase. The low score prize, a bouquet of flowers went to Mrs. B. G. Smith. The cut prize, an Irish pipe tied with green ribbon was won by Mrs. Fred Zerrner.

At the ten hour the bridge accessories were removed, the tables laid with hand made covers and refreshments consisting of congealed fruit salad topped with green mayonnaise, green puffles, olives, cheese wafers, individual angel food cakes frosted in white and embellished with tiny green shamrocks and coffee were served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Calvin Teague, Mrs. John W.

Meach Jr., Mrs. S. D. Highleyman, Mrs. C. E. Myers, Mrs. K. B. McCracken, and Mrs. O. P. Hornum. There were sixteen tables of players who enjoyed this unusually delightful affair.

Frank L. Millier Evolves Scheme For Refinancing

The new issue would bear three per cent interest and would mature over a period of 50 years. In addition to the regular interest coupon there would be an extra coupon for one-fiftieth of the principal to be paid each year. At the close of the 50-year period the bonds would be retired, the interest will have been paid on the full amount for 50 years. One-half of the principal would be paid in 25 years, thereby earning six per cent interest for the bondholders, Mr. Miller said.

Following is Mr. Miller's plan, which is supplemented by his statements to the citizens for their support and co-operation.

Our interest charges at this time on $6,714,000.00 bonds are $378,535.09. Average yearly payments due on bonds for the next 28 years 239,428.00.

"The above amount must be paid in some way. If we refinance, we are making no headway, and to endeavor to collect the above amount without taking into consideration our usual government expenses, we will only heap upon our people a burden that cannot be paid. I propose that we place this matter before the bond people and they will either have to help us or take the town. If we are allowed to work out our own salvation, we may come out without a burden on our people. My plan is as follows:

"I propose that we issue $6,000,000.00 in bonds drawing 3 per cent interest and running 50 years. In addition to the regular interest coupon, have an extra coupon for one-fiftieth of the face of the bond payable each year. At the end of the 50 year period both the principal and interest evidenced by these bonds will have been paid. The purchasers of the bonds will have received interest on the full amount of principal at the end of the fifty-year period and one-half of the principal will have been paid in 25 years—thereby earning 6 per cent interest. The result of the above will figure as follows:

Interest on $6,000,000.00	at 3 percent—1 year	$180,000.00
One fiftieth paid each year		120,000.00
Total amount paid each year		$300,000.00
Total amount paid each year		$300,000.00

"This figure shows a decrease of nearly $300,000.00 a year in the above figure representing the amount we are now paying yearly in the retirement of bonds. The provision we make in the budget for expected collections to be used in the retirement of bonds makes no difference, as the interest and principal of the bonds must be either paid or refinanced, and the present method will only lead to bankruptcy sooner or later.

"I propose that we handle the paving liens as follows: That we amend the charter so that the full amount of the liens could be collected as taxes and extended over a period of 25 years drawing 5 per cent interest; that no city taxes could be paid without paying the annual payment for the paving with interest, but the property owner could pay the lien in full at any time. My idea is that the paving liens become direct taxes due and payable at the regular taxpaying time. Then we could place the funds derived from the paving liens in a special bond fund and use the same to pay off our bonded indebtedness. It is my opinion that we would be able to retire many bonds before they become due. I think we should also reserve the right to pay off any number of bonds upon due notice."

"Sanford belongs to us; not to any set of individuals. It is our duty to see that our town shall come out of our trouble. It is true that a majority saw fit to place us in debt there-by allowing the opening for what has happened. This majority may not be always right but the damage has been done, and must be corrected. The City is no different from an individual. If we borrow we must either pay or go into bankruptcy. The latter we desire not to do. If our creditors will allow us with few exceptions we will endeavor to pay up. If we are pressed we can not.

"The City's stock in trade is its taxes. We have nothing to sell except tax receipts, and these must be sold at a price that are to exist. The individual in times of pressure must use his resources; we must use ours. After we have made the effort, and come out victorious we then are always stronger.

"Our City is in no worse condition than any other city. If we were pushed we could do only one thing. Should we make a special effort this year to pay our taxes I can assure you that your next year taxes will be materially less. If we do not receive sufficient funds to meet our demands you

Atlanta Marshal Shoots His Deputy In City Hall Office

ATLANTA, Mar. 14—(INS)—City Hall was thrown into intense excitement following a near-fatal shooting scrape in the office of the City Marshal.

As a result Marshall Walter E. Harwell was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct after he was alleged to have fired on his chief deputy, Steve Glass. The bullet buried itself in the wall and Glass was not injured.

Harwell was overpowered and taken to the police station, where he was released under $1,000 bail. Police were ordered by acting Mayor Ashley to keep him away from City Hall. According to co-workers, Harwell accused Glass of working against him in the county election in which he was defeated for county tax collector.

know the result. Do we want the result?

"Have not many of us been where we could not see over the mountain of obligations which hid all light yet we worked out. We did not do it by not endeavoring to pay out. The paying gave us the light.

"In presenting the plan of refinancing I am sold on the proposition. I am interested in very deeply. I want our City to pay all of its obligations, but we must have assistance from those who assisted us to pile the weight on us.

"If your banker loans you many times the money he should be not in a measure responsible for your condition. I say that he certainly is. He must help you. They must help us.

"I know well the burden that is now on us. I have investigated, and find that your rents are going for taxes. You know well that some time these taxes will have to be paid. Is it not better to deal with your friends than with strangers. I think some of us have discovered this.

"I appeal to you as a citizen as one of your commissioners to stand by your City. She never needed you more, and if this year you will suffer we will find the sun shining. It is just over the way.

"I want your united support in this proposition. Our Mayor and City Attorney are now in New York, and will take my plan up with some bond houses. If they do not have success there we will continue to work until we are placed where we pay, and pay with a less taxation.

"Our town is too good a town to be subjected to the possibility of a receiver. I don't believe that we have many here that believes in a receiver.

"Other localities have gone through hardships, and have come out, and we can. Give us your help. One hundred per cent. You won't regret. Have confidence once again. I realize that it has been shaken. When it is all over and the bright sun shines again you will then realize the strength you had.

"It's not so much the fall we take.

"It's the staying down that counts.

"Against the progress that we make.

"So let's be up and not be in the State."

"Let's keep it so."
