looking for fires, they also fight them. And, of course, they carry Smokey's "Only you can prevent forest fires" message to area schools and civic groups. As Knox likes to say, "The one (fire) you prevent is the one you don't have to put out."

Unfortunately, the forestry trio have been doing a lot of "putting out" this fire season. In the first two months of 1981. there were more than four times as many fires affecting more than 15 times as many acres as in the same period last vear.

With all due apologies to General Sherman, "Fire is hell," Knox says. "Sometimes it's a blessing to go up in the tower and rest."

It's a small world up there, 135 steps and 125 feet above the ground, but it offers the harried firefighter a blissful solitude interrupted only by the whistling of cool breezes and the occasional radio chatter of fellow lookouts.

"It's a very pleasant job," says Knox, four-year veteran who gave up his department store sales spot after 10 years for a chance at the hermit's life. 'There's the peace and quiet, the outdoors, plus the feeling that you've done something worthwhile, made some

At other times, particularly the rainy season, "we're working on the equip ment, giving fire prevention talks, doing control burning (to kill of dry underbrush or to make way for tree growth), or, of course, fighting fires," Knox says. "We're on call 24 hours a day."

They may also start a backfire that will burn from the fireline toward the flames.

But business is not always so brisk. Up in the tower, lookouts can spend days or even weeks without sighting a puff of smoke, so the greatest challenge is to stay alert and keep staring. Television and books are discouraged. "They divert your attention from the horizon," Knox explains

Strumming his guitar, doing pushups, or chatting with the wasps that nest outside his tower window during spring and summer helps Knox fight off the lonesome fire tower blues.

While the tedium may be the worst part of the job, the three-minute, winding trek up to his lofty perch runs a close second. "You don't want to be climbing up and down all day so you don't go up hungry, and you make sure you have your jar (as the portable toilet is euphemistically known)," he said.

But atop the tower, standing tall against the cloud-streaked sky, life can also be aesthetic. On a clear day, one can see almost forever . . . 35 miles, anyway. Below, the cars look like toys, and the blacktop snakes off into the distance over gently rolling plains to meet the horizon. Eyes wander over a blanket of green and brown, the treetops stretching on seemingly forever until they end in a shadowy haze where land joins the sky. "The sunrise and sunset are really beautiful from up here," Knox said. "You should see it. It really it something."

Space Shuttle Still Go

After Final Fuel Test CAPE CANAVERA., Fla. (UPI) - Workers

prepared to swing a service tower around the space shuttle Columbia Saturday and make a final, detailed inspection of its external fuel tank insulation. The last fueling rehearsal was completed Friday with no immediately visible problems, increasing hopes of a maiden launch as early as April 9. Fuel was drained from the towering white fuel tank late Friday and the residue was being allowed to evaporate away. Late Saturday workers were to swing into position the service tower so that a more thorough, "hands on" inspection can be made.

The insulation question is the last hurdle to be crossed before heads of the $9.6 billion program meet uesday to establish a definite launch date for America's first manned venture into space since 1975. Friday's test was marred by a pesky hydrogen leak in the system feeding the super-cold fuel to the spaceship. The problem was finally resolved in time to complete the drill.

Dentist Assaults Patient

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) - A dentist with a 14year practice was booked into the Duval County Jail Friday on charges he sexually assaulted a 24-year-old female patient after giving her repeated doses of laughing gas. Dr. William Terry Woodward, 42, turned himself in to police Friday after a Duval County grand jury indicted him for sexual battery against the patient. If convicted. Woodward could be sentenced to 30 years in Homicide detective Hugh Eason said the woman, a patient of Woodward for the past two years, went to his office March 3 for post-surgical work following a tooth extraction two weeks before.

The woman told police Woodward gave her repeated doses of nitrous oxide, a laughing gas used as an anesthetic, and then sexually assaulted her.

WEEKI WACHEE, Fla. All three are believed to be bones of females and officials believe strongly the most recent discovery may be that of Elaine Ziegler, a 15-year-old Warren, Ohio, girl who disappeared from a nearby campgrounds Dec. 31, 1975.

Reagan Firm On 10 Percent Tax Cuts; May Veto If Less

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Reagan is standing firm on his proposal for an across-the-board tax cut, giving the impression he may veto any substitute measure offered by Congress.

Reagan met with three Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee Friday and told them he is committed to his plan to slash taxes by 10 percent for each of the next three years.

"The president has expressed himself very strongly in support of the 10-10-10 plan," said Rep. Bill Prenzel of Minnesota. "The supposition is he is likely to veto a cut that is short of that."

In a private Oval Office meeting, Frenzel, Rep. John Duncan of Tennessee and Rep. Bill Archer of Texas gave Reagan their blessing in his refusal to compromise on the package.

Critics, who include some Democratic members of the tax-writing committee, have said the proposal primarily would benefit the rich. They say it should be revised to give a bigger break to low-and middleincome people.

Corrections Gets Wide Latitude

Jimmy Hall, whose last known address was the Mariner Village Apartments on S. Orlando Dr., had been undergoing treatment since Aug. 2, 1978 as a mentally disturbed sex offender until Thursday when he came up for sentencing before Circuit Court Judge Kenneth Leffler.

State Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services therapists "had done all they could for him in regard to the quality and quantity of service they could provide him, so it was time for the state to extract its pound of flesh," said Assistant State Attorney Alan Robinson.

In imposing the 6-30-year term, Leffler gave the state Department of Corrections wide latitude in determining when Hall is released from prison.

Although Hall will be eligible for parole in one year, it is doubtful he would be released so soon. Robinson said.

The charges against Hall stemmed from a Dec. 3, 1977 incident in which he forced his way at knifepoint into a 21-yearold college student's car at a Casselberry nightspot, drove her to an isolated area near Apopka, and raped her in the back Action Reports * Fires * Courts * Police Beat

POW-MIA Families Are Still Clinging To Hope

'It Is A Terrible Ordeal'

The 47-year-old San Diego housewife is one of the hundreds of people who still cling to hope that their captured or missing husbands, brothers or sons will someday emerge from communist-controlled Southeast Asia.

"It is a terrible ordeal, a never-ending ordeal," said the mother of five children whose husband was shot down over Laos, April 29, 1965, his 31st birthday. "It's the uncertainty that tears you to shreds. If you know a person is dead, you have your private mourning and grief, and then you can go on." Her husband, Air Force Capt. Charles Shelton, is the last American officially listed as a prisoner of war - a designation that has cost his wife $20,000 in legal fees and taken her 10,000 miles away to Vietnam in a search for information. Mrs. Shelton, and other POWMIA activists across the country, are convinced the Vietnamese still are holding Americans against their will. Their argument, they say, has been given new urgency by the recent exodus of "boat people" from Indochina who have reported seeing Americans there. "Over the last 18 months, the abundance of reports of live Americans have been enough to convince us that there is substance to our long-standing beliefs there are men being held against their will," said Carol Bates, spokesman for The National League of Families, a Washington-based POW-MIA organization

"We are aware of over 300 first-hand sightings of Americans in captivity," she said. "The evidence is overwhelmingly convincing Government figures list 2,528 men unaccounted for in Southeast Asia. When the war ended for this country, 113 were listed as prisoners of war, 1,237 were listed as missing in action, and there were 1,178 who were missing and presumed A total of 556 men were repatriated during "Operation

Homecoming" in 1973, when the Vietnamese ostensibly returned all Americans who wanted to come home. Since then, the major developments to fuel the families' argument have been the refugee sightings and the return in 1979 of Marine Pfc. Robert R. Garwood, who spent 14 years in Vietnam and was convicted in a court-martial earlier this year on charges of collaborating with the enemy.

"The U.S. government had lost track of him (Garwood)," said Ms. Bates. "If he could be there and the Vietnamese never sightings are being actively investigated. The 305 sighting reports the government has obtained since August 1979 are classified and unavailable for public scrutiny. "There are an increasing number of reports," said Mike Gelner of the State Department's Vietnam desk. "The government has been unable to substantiate them and we will continue to investigate all such reports." A leading critic of those who believe Americans remain in Southeast Asia is Rep. G.V. Montgomery, D-Miss., who has made 12 visits to Vietnam to seek information on missing Americans, and who chairs the House Select Committee on Missing Persons.

He contends the refugee sightings are not credible for a variety of reasons. Primarily, he and many in intelligence circles believe the refugees feel they can assure themselves a ticket to the United States by claiming to have seen Americans CULTURE SHOCK: That wasn't "dingbat" Edith Bunker up there telling a House appropriations subcommittee about the threat to American culture allegedly posed by an administrative request to cut government spending for the arts. It was the real-life actress Jean Stapleton asking Congress Wednesday to install a "safety net for our spiritual, creative resources." Accompanied by James Earl Jones and other performers Miss Stapleton said the administration should "think of the arts as a spiritual industry which must continue to be mined. Jones told the subcommittee he got his break in a production of "The Great White Hope" that was partly funded by the National Endowment for the Arts.

Greene In Demand

MAN FOR ALL REASONS: Lorne Greene, star of the TV series "Bonanza," has had a long career as an entertainer. His record "Ringo" was high on the charts: he narrated "Peter and the Wolf" for RCA Victor; he was emcee at a Royal Command Performance in Canada; and so on. But his other interests are less known. Greene is in demand as a speaker at civic and charitable functions, and he has earned many awards and honorable degrees. Currently Greene serves as national chairman of Medic Alert and will be in New York March 31 and April to kick off National Medic Alert, which simultaneously celebrates its 25th year of service. The non-profit service provides medical information for more than 1 million members in the United States. Medic Alert supplies members with an emblem worn as a bracelet or necklace. The reverse side contains information which in an emergency will help provide life-saving data within seconds.

Even J.R. Hates Enquirer

DONT MESS WITH J.R.: Actor Larry Hagman says he still is in "a position" to sue the National Enquirer about a story it printed during the height of the "Who Shot J.R?" hysteria. Hagman, who played the meanie, J.R. Ewing, in the TV series "Dallas" says the Enquirer printed a cover story about him headlined, "He was a Real Stinker ... Arrogant ... Cruel ... Twice as Mean and Rotten as J.R." Hagman replied in kind in Wednesday's Dallas Morning news. He said of the Enquirer "they're unscrupulous, they're liars, cheats, thieves and they should be brought to justice just like any other criminal."

This Band's Got Minister

LET US PRAY: Make-up artists, image consultants, managers and roadies are standard equipment for a traveling rock band, but Charlie Daniels' entourage has something a little different - an official minister. Chaplain Herb McCoy meets with Daniels' band before each road trip to pray for a safe and successful tour. McCoy, a well-known motivational speaker who also serves as Nashville's Police Department chaplain, is available to band members and staff of Daniels' management company for personal counseling on a 24hour basis. McCoy recently has hired a booking agent to handle all his extra work.

During a conference in Cincinnati she answered a question with questions. "Why does anyone write a book?" she pondered. "I'm not comparing myself to literary greats. I know that I'm not. But why should you read Hemingway or Steinbeck or Tolstoy? Why are people so attracted to soap operas? Or the saga of 'Dallas' who shot J.R.? It's because we're interested in human drama." Mrs. Jenrette said she may soon host her own TV show. "I've had four or five serious drama offers and two television show host offers," she noted. "I'm going to mull those over."

George Touhy Deserves Topper

If anyone ever deserved recognition from his friends and associates for his community involvement, it's George Touhy.

And recognized he was. Friday night Mr. Toughy was the recipient of the coveted John S. Krider Topper Award. That's the highest and most prestigious award presented by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce. It goes to the individual considered by the chamber to have distinguished himself as having done the most for the community over the years.

Mr. Touhy more than fits that description. He fits the bill so well, if we tried to list every civic and community organization with which he has been affiliated, and for which he has worked tirelessly and unselfishly, we'd run out of space in this column.

Mr. Touhy Friday became the 11th civic leader to receive the chamber's Topper award.

John Mercer, himself a past recipient of the award, presented the Topper award to Mr. Touhy Friday night. And, when he did, he summed up the qualities Mr. Touly possesses which make him deserving of the honor:

Mr. Touhy is completely dedicated to any task he accepts. He never refuses any reasonable request to assist anyone, whether it be for the city of Sanford, his church, Rotary or any other organization he belongs to." We agree.

It was to be expected that the Reagan proposals for massive budget cuts would cause unhappiness among many voters. But the people will accept budget cuts if it can be shown that the cuts will help the economy.

The problem is that the unpopularity comes now, and the approval is withheld until the country sees whether the Reagan economic program is successful.

We may be expecting too much. If recent American history shows us anything, it shows us the futility of all government action aimed at finetuning the economy.

President Reagan is betting his pile of popularity chips that his advisers have the right answers to stagflation. For the good of the country, we hope they do.

"The translation of hive talk," writes Bethel, "and hive signals into plain English is one of the most challenging tasks confronting the independent journalist today." In the case of El Salvador, hive talk says: we must seek "a political and not a military solution."

Translated, that means we must not defeat the Salvadoran guerrillas; we must somehow incorporate them into the government. Translated, that means we must pursue the "Vietnamese" solution, which is perfectly

JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - American taxpayers will get a break from the Reagan administration's proposed income tax cuts. But they'd get an even bigger tax break if the Internal Revenue Service were given the money it needs to go after the cheaters who underreport their income each year.

Unfortunately, our society has not yet outgrown the hoodlum ethos, which admires people who get away with tax chiseling. Yet heir thievery costs the honest taxpayers literally billions of dollars a year. For tax year 1976, the IRS estimated that as much as $135 billion in income had gone unreported the year before. The amount has oubtedly skyrocketed since this last estimate - especially as the cheaters realize that their chances of getting caught are slim. Participants in this "underground economy" are not all hardened criminals, although a large part of the unreported income is generated by Mob enterprises such as drug smuggling. Many of the tax cheaters are posedly respectable professionals and sinessmen, who make their transactions in intraceable cash and then don't report the income to the IRS. Last year, about 10 percent of the Gross

National Product went unreported, according to Peter Gutmann, whose 1977 study of the inderground economy spurred a flurry of IRS studies, congressional hearings and investigations by the General Accounting

Yet for some unfathomable reason, the IRS has been unable to persuade budget directors - in both Democratic and Republican administrations - that increasing the collection agency's enforcement funds would be money well spent. In 1975, for example, the IRS spent $37.4 million on one cheat-catching program and collected more than $180 million in taxes that would otherwise have slipped through the cracks. That's a return on investment of oughly $5 for every dollar spent.

The program is a relatively simple one, but it is time-consuming and requires a lot of manpower. What it does is match individual tax returns against forms submitted by employers, banks, corporations and other sources of income.

But the IRS currently has the capacity to match only 25 percent of the available documents. Former IRS Commissioner Jerome Kurtz told Congress last year that increasing the document-matching capability to 50 percent would have brought in between $30 million and $40 million in additional revenue. If the matching program were expanded, types of income that are now not covered vould be subject to the cross-checking scrutiny - everything from alimony payments to interest on Treasury bills. In a study requested by the Congressional Budget Office, the Treasury Department estimated that "as much as $20 billion a year in interest and dividend income is not reported by taxpayers, resulting in a revenue loss of $2 billion to $3 billion a year."

Document matching could also be used to enforce the windfall profits tax levied on the oil industry. Believe it or not, IRS at present has no effective way to monitor the oil companies' compliance with the windfall tax. One insider told my reporter Deborah Latish that the government won't even come close to collecting the amount the oil companies owe the Treasury. Without more enforcement funds, though, IRS is handcuffed in its efforts to catch the tax chiselers. Worse yet, as word gets around that cheaters have a good chance of succeeding, the number of people willing to take paid by the fifth of each month. Additionally, the cuts would hurt black Americans far more than they would whites. Consider, for example, that 8 million Americans pay their grocery bills with the help of food stamps. The stamps are used by 36 of every 100 black families but only seven of every 100 white families. Reagan's proposed cuts would slice 400,000 families from the food-stamp rolls. Another target of the administration budget-cutters is Medicaid, which pays the medical bills of 22 million Americans. Some 10 million of them are black. Reagan wants to cut $3.5 billion from the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act public jobs program. Blacks hold about 100,000 of these CETA jobs. Their loss would add a full percentage point to the rate of black unemployment, which is already more than double the rate of white unemployment. The administration has also requested cuts format that may be seen below: Q. I am having trouble with vegetable coloration. My carrots are coming up light blue and the tomatoes off-white. What is causing this?

A. The conditions you describe indicate the soil needs more lime. It also might help to add more chocolate and tutti-frutti.

Q. I am bothered by camels getting into my garden and trampling down the rhubarb. How do I go about camel-proofing a vegetable

A. Are you certain they are camels and not dromedaries? A good way to tell is by the hump test. If they have one hump, chances are they are dromedaries. Most camels are double-humped.

Any good garden supply store can provide you with a dromedary repellant. There are several effective brands on the market, among them Drom-Away, Drom-B-Gone and Shoo-Drom.

Spray a few drops on the rhubarb after a heavy dew and it will keep dromedaries away

Camels are harder to deal with. An eightfoot electrified fence is the only sure way of keeping them out.

Q. My squash plants have gone simply ape this year. We eat squash at least twice a day, the freezer is full of squash and I pick an armload every time I go to the garden. What is the best way to get rid of surplus squash?

A. Fill a wicker basket with squash and take it under the cover of darkness to some house in the neighborhood where you can be pretty sure they will give it a good home. Place the basket on the front stoop, ring the doorbell and run like hell.

Q. Every year when I start weeding my garden, I find bulrushes coming up in the rows where I had planted soybeans. Is there any easy way to control bulrushes?

A. Bulrushes taking over a soybean patch usually means the garden is being too heavily watered. You can test this by dropping a rock n the center of the garden. As a rule of thumb, the depth of the water will be twice the height of the splash. If these soundings indicate a depth of nine inches or more, it is a pretty good bet the garden is getting too much water. Either turn off the sprinkler or move the soybeans to higher ground. Q. How can I tell when parsnips are ripe?

A. Pluck a trial parsnip and thump it smartly with the index finger. If it makes a resonant plunking sound, the parsnips are ready for picking. If it makes a tinny plinking noise, leave them in the ground a few days ticles over the past week concerning the issue of whether "Creationism" should be given equal time next to evolution in our public schools. In your latest article Fox and Fin-creationists misrepresent the true evidences of science and propound quickly that the creationists arguments are oozing with the supernatural, which is an immediate disclaimer.

We were all taught in school that the scientific method was simply observation, hypothesis, testing and finally its consistency with the totality of other information. immune to those who for their own ends will lie, twist the truth, or worse to protect their own little empires of cnowledge

Some of the greatest men who were responsible for experimental science were Christians and avid defenders of the Scriptures.

Examples: Galileo Galilei - most texts in our schools picture him as a free thinker under bitter opposition of the theologians of his day. All his great accomplishments and struggles with the Roman Catholic Church are known to us all but what science teachers (I can speak only of the experience I had with this at Seminole Community College) and historians have chosen not to tell us (knowingly or otherwise) is that he was a great student of the Bible.

He wrote many books about the Bible and the opinions of the Church Fathers. Galileo was a defender of the absolute authority of the Scriptures. His persecution by the Roman Church stemmed not only from his scientific findings but more from his theological writings which were very protestant in nature. The reason why these tidbits of information have so interestingly been left out of the classroom texts and teacher lecture notes possibly stem to the fact that his theological works remain in Italian and have never been translated nor published in English.

Gov. Graham Urges Auto Inspection Cut We have made substantial progress in the last two years. If we are to serve the public trust, however, we must continue to respond to changing needs - initiating action where new steps are called for, and halting programs when their usefulness has ceased.

The first way for us to meet this change is by eliminating what we no longer need, I can think of no clearer example of this than the wasteful motor vehicle program.

In the wake of major revelations about automobile safety that came in the early 1960's, congress enacted the Highway Safety Act of 1966. This legislation established nationwide standards for highway safety, including periodic vehicle inspection programs. Florida enacted its vehicle inspection law in 1967.

Since that time, evidence has continued to mount that such programs provide little in the way of benefits, but cost great amounts in time and money. Fifteen years after the rush to highway safety programs, only half the states now have active vehicle inspection programs - and six states have repealed theirs within the last five

Why is this? Simply, because such programs are not effective. In fifteen years of enforcement, no strong, measurable relationship has been discovered between motor vehicle inspection and prevention of accidents. In 1979, there were 343,542 automobile accidents in the state of Florida. Of these, mechanical defects were a contributing casue in 6,500 cases - or 1.9 percent of the time. At first glance, this might indicate that the inspection program has kept mechanical failures to an amazingly low level - and many who want to keep this unneeded program have argued that.

On closer inspection, however, we see that this is a mere illusion. For the eight years prior to Florida's enactment of the vehicle inspection program, this percentage had been declining steadily from 6.2 percent in 1960 to 1.9 percent the year the program began. Clearly, motor vehicle inspection had nothing to do with this trend.

Moreover, the percentage of accidents attributable to mechanical failure proceeded to rise following the spection has little if any positive impact on highway safety in our state. This program continues to cost our taxpayers $17 million a year, however, despite the fact that it provides no tangible benefits for this tremendous cost. Proponents of the program continue to keep it alive by arguing that no price is too high to save lives. The national Highway Safety Needs Report - the definitive study of benefits in accident prevention -identified 37 common measures to promote highway safety. The report listed these measures terms of their cost-effectiveness perfatality forestalled, out of these 37 highway safety programs, "Periodic Motor Vehicle Inspection - current practice," ranked 31st. The most cost-effective measure, "Mandatory seatbelt usage," cost $506 per fatality forestalled, while motor vehicle inspection cost over $2 million for each fatality forestalled. Now, no one would argue that there is a ceiling price on human lives. But we can agree that if there are measures that cost considerably less, and have proven effectiveness, then it is foolish to spend thousands of times as much on programs that can't be shown to accomplish our goal.

There is also, of course, the cost to our people of the immense amount of time wasted in vehicle inspection lines. I have even heard that one man in Dade County waited so long in line without moving, that he was arrested for vagrancy. This enormous waste - of money and time - should be stopped. I have thus recommended the elimination of the motor vehicle inspection program - an idea whose time has clearly come - and gone. The $17 million cost of this program will be lifted from the backs of the Florida More efficient protection will be

I personally respect people who hold an opposing view and in gentleness shrouded in love seek to discuss the issue. I am also aware of individuals in our Christian community who have become very outspoken on the issue. It seems that John Butler Book has been connected with some controversial issues lately in our local media. Someone unaware could conclude that because he is a pastor of a Protestant evangelical church his views are true of all Christians. Well I am one Christian who wishes to state that his views are not my views. In II Timothy 2:24, 25, the friend has not allowed this passage to be a focal point in his thinking. Mr. Book comes across as blunt, harsh, and insensitive to any opposing view and you won't find that as part of Christ's attitudes in the Gospels.

We live in a pluralistic society. America was never meant to be a Christian kingdom and it never will. God is not for nations but people. Pastors like Billy Graham, Jerry Falwell and the like have all stated this.

My point is that we should not take a limited voice of the whole as speaking the mind of the whole! Go speak to the whole! Why not interview some creation scientist as you did for evolution? Dr. A.E. Did Nurse Kill 4 Babies?

TORONTO (UPI) - A young nurse has been charged with giving fatal drug overdoses to four babies under her care in a Toronto children's hospital in what is shaping up as Canada's most sensational murder case in years. Registered nurse Susan Nelles, a petite an attractive ash blonde, was formally charged Friday with the murders of three infants ranging in age from one month to one year. Police said they would investigate other infant deaths in the hospital during the period of Miss Nelles' employment there for possible foul play.

Police said they also would ask officials in Vancouver. where Miss Nelles worked for a time before coming to Toronto, to examine their records for possible questionable deaths

She initially was charged Wednesday with murdering a three-month-old boy. All died of drug overdoses, the charges said.

Visibly frightened, Miss Nelles, 24, stood shaking in a glass-enclosed prisoner's dock while the charges were read against her, managing only a weak smile for her lawyers when they entered the courtroom.

The charges have sent shock waves through Toronto, a city of 2.5 million people that has always taken pride in its Hospital for Sick Children, which has an international reputation for excellence.

March, 11 days after the last murder. Most investigators believe there may be at least 10 killers, their motives ranging from domestic stress and revenge in isolated cases to sexual perversion in many instances.

There have been attempts to label a large portion of these killings as statistical normalities; one authority remarked recently the city normally has as many, as 20 such cases a year. But rudimentary statistics released by the Atlanta Police Department for 1975-78 fail to bear this out. In the worst year, 1975, seven black children were killed, but most were infant child abuse cases. In 1978, only one was murdered. Over that four-year period, 17 black children were murdered, 11 were under the age of 5, and only one of those cases remains unsolved.

The only link between all 20 victims is their race, their poverty, and the fact that not one of their killers has been imitative killers - those driven by inarrested. Lobbyist Created 'A Sexual Frankenstein On Capitol Hill'

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Lobbyist Hank Parkinson says he "unwittingly created a sexual Frankenstein on Capitol Hill" - his estranged wife Paula, now the object of an informal federal inquiry.

Parkinson said Thursday he has prepared a book proposal on lobbying and Ms. Parkinson, in which he described her as "a live-for-the moment girl" who "can make 'please pass the butter' sound like an exciting proposition.'

The FBI, on behalf of the Justice Department, plans to talk soon to both of the Parkinsons as part of its examination into whether congressional votes have been traded for sexual or other favors. "I instructed her how to be a lobbyist, but I didn't know anything about these affairs - or alleged affairs," said Parkinson, 49. "I didn't know anything about it until the past few months."

Ms. Parkinson, 30, was guoted Wednesday by CBS News as saying she had affairs with "less than one dozen congressman" - all Republicans - but that there was nothing illegal about them.

Her attorney, Mark Sandground, said Thursday his client was misquoted about the affairs remark, but refused to elaborate.

As to whether sex was traded for votes, he said: "I have personally reviewed the entire situation and there is absolutely no violation of any federal statute at all. What we have here is a tempest in the teapot. She is a fine young women caught in a web of circumstances."

Parkinson said he began instructing her in the art of obbying in 1978.

He said his possible book would be "a broad look at lobbying" with segments about his estranged wife, who last November posed for Playboy magazine in a special section on the women of Washington.

In his book proposal, Parkinson wrote: "I unwittingly created a sexual Frankenstein on Capitol Hill." And, he added, "It's hard to believe a woman who couldn't give a basic definition of lobbying just three short years ago could not only have extracted commitments from some of our top congressmen, but could lay claim to videotaping some of them in various sexual antics."

The Justice Department began an informal inquiry earlier this month when it was disclosed Ms. Parkinson shared a vacation house in Florida last year with Rep. Thomas Evans, R-Del., Rep. Thomas Railsback, R-Ill., and Sen. Dan Quayle, R-Ind., then a House member.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI) - A space agency scientist says the United States could produce the first robot able to reproduce itself from raw materials within 20 years of starting such a project.

Dr. Georg Von Tiesenhausen, assigned to development of advanced project ideas at the Marshall Space Flight Center, says self-reproducing robots could mine the oceans' floor for metals, build irrigation systems for the Arizona desert, or build and maintain solar power collection systems in the Sun Belt.

"We know this can be done, we know it can be engineered," Von Tiesenhausen said Thursday. "The only question is when and how we do it."

Von Teisenhausen told a local chapter of the Society o Logistics Engineers NASA foresees an ever-expanding fleet of self-producing robots exploring the moon and distant planets someday

The robots would use raw materials found on the distant worlds to reproduce themselves.

At a seminar last year on self-producing robots, Von Teisenhausen said it was agreed the major problem in creating the intelligent machines is "programming the software systems that will give us the ability to talk with the computers and program them for the tasks that lie ahead."

Von Tiesenhausen, a member of the German team of scientists that developed the V2 rocket during World War II, said the super robots would be able to make intelligent decisions and choices between alternatives.

Lakeview Girl Next Basketball Great Mona Benton Scares Boys Away

...72 points in one game

By SAM COOK

Herald Sports Editor Things are getting pretty tough when a girl can't get a guy to play a few minutes of basketball. Of course, Mona Benton isn't just your ordinary girl. And that's what makes eighth grade boys shy away from her on the Lakeview basketball courts. Mona, the daughter of Cosby and Elizabeth Benton of 215 Terry Lane, Sanford, is about the best thing to come along for Lakeview basketball since the fiberglass backboard.

Since she threw away her dolls for basketballs in the seventh grade, Mona has a scoring average that would lead the National Basketball Association. "Coach (Charles) Steele got me interested," said Mona, who grew from 4feet-8 to 5-feet-7 in one year.

"I think she could play varsity basketball right now," said Steele, who teaches physical education at Lakeview. "She asks me to let her practice with us, but I haven't let her

"Some of the guys are afraid to play

her one-on-one," laughs Steele. And with good cause.

Mona led Coach Al Whitted's eighth grade Seminole Youth Sports Association team to the championship this year by averaging over 40 points a game. In one outing she threw in 72

Mona confirmed that some of the guys were giving her the cold shoulder when it came to "courting" a basketball.

"That's right. I'm good. They can't beat me," said Benton confidently Thursday morning. Steele feels that Mona compares favorably with current Seminole junior stars Tony Hardy, Robin Riggins and Johnnie Bennett.

"She's ahead of them at this stage," said Steele. "Mona's a better shooter than Tony was and she can score inside

Mona is looking forward to joining her older teammates at Seminole next year as a ninth grade performer at Crooms.

Her only competition has been with Riggins, where she felt she did pretty well. "I almost beat her," Mona remembers about the matchup. Mona realizes the Seminole girls will be one of the top teams in the state next year with Hardy, Riggins and Bennett all returning - and she would like to be part of the success story.

"I'm really looking forward to playing next year," she said. "I think I can win a starting spot and help us

Steele feels Mona should have no trouble moving into the lineup. "She's got the heart. She loves basketball. "Mona's not shy. After she gets a couple of games of varsity competition she'll be all right." Steele, though, is quick to point out that Mona is not the complete basketball player at this time. "She needs to use her left hand. She goes right handed about all the time." To which Mona wholeheartedly agreed. "I can't do nothing with my left hand," she said. "And I need to improve my defense too." Right now it seems, a right hand will do just fine.

Mona Benton Scares Boys Away

By SAM COOK Herald Sports Editor

Things are getting pretty tough when a girl can't get a guy to play a few minutes of basketball. Of course, Mona Benton isn't just your ordinary girl. And that's what makes eighth grade boys shy away from her on the Lakeview basketball courts. Mona, the daughter of Cosby and Elizabeth Benton of 215 Terry Lane, Sanford, is about the best thing to come along for Lakeview basketball since the fiberglass backboard. Since she threw away her dolls for basketballs in the seventh grade, Mona has a scoring average that would lead the National Basketball Association. "Coach (Charles) Steele got me interested," said Mona, who grew from 4feet-8 to 5-feet-7 in one year.

"I think she could play varsity basketball right now," said Steele, who teaches physical education at Lakeview. "She asks me to let her practice with us, but I haven't let her

"Some of the guys are afraid to play

her one-on-one," laughs Steele. And with good cause.

Mona led Coach Al Whitted's eighth grade Seminole Youth Sports Association team to the championship this year by averaging over 40 points a game. In one outing she threw in 72

Mona confirmed that some of the guys were giving her the cold shoulder when it came to "courting" a basketball

"That's right. I'm good. They can't beat me," said Benton confidently Thursday morning.

Steele feels that Mona compares favorably with current Seminole junior stars Tony Hardy, Robin Riggins and Johnnie Bennett. "She's ahead of them at this stage," said Steele. "Mona's a better shooter than Tony was and she can score inside

Mona is looking forward to joining her older teammates at Seminole next year as a ninth grade performer at Crooms.

Her only competition has been with Riggins, where she felt she did pretty well. "I almost beat her," Mona remembers about the matchup. Mona realizes the Seminole girls will be one of the top teams in the state next year with Hardy, Riggins and Bennett all returning - and she would like to be part of the success story. 'I'm really looking forward to playing next year," she said. "I think I can win a starting spot and help us win." Steele feels Mona should have no trouble moving into the lineup. "She's got the heart. She loves basketball. "Mona's not shy. After she gets a couple of games of varsity competition she'll be all right."

Steele, though, is quick to point out that Mona is not the complete basketball player at this time.

"She needs to use her left hand. She goes right handed about all the time." To which Mona wholeheartedly agreed. "I can't do nothing with my left hand," she said. "And I need to improve my defense too."

Right now it seems, a right hand will do just fine.

"It gives them a place to go instead of sitting at home wasting away," Jackie Goodman said.

When Mrs. Goodman's daughter, Jackie, graduated from Rosenwald Exceptional Student Center in Altamonte Springs last June, she might have faced that prospect. Her daughter had completed all the schooling available to her in Seminole County. She tried to find employment, but because of a speech handicap and occasional falling, there were limited jobs she could handle and limited employers who would hire her.

Fortunately, as Jackie closed out her schooling in June, the Seminole Work Opportunity Program (SWOP) was opening in June. Now Jackie and other handicapped adults have a place to work in Seminole County where there had been none before.

SWOP is a private, not-for-profit sheltered workshop program for the developmentally disabled adults, including retarded, cerebral palsied, epileptic and autistic people, located at 412 Sanford Ave. in Sanford. SWOP Executive Director Michael D'Asto said the program is a work activity center, but the bulk of their program is in developmental training.

Their job is only a part of the activities provided by the center, for which they receive a small wage. Clients also receive instruction on improving academic skills, on independent living skills and opportunities for recreation and crafts.

"It gives them a sense of responsibility and a sense of belonging," said Mrs. Goodman. "It gives them a purpose to get out of bed every morning. They need that just like everyone else does."

Isabella Moorsom, a young woman in her early 20s, has already traveled the world and has experienced meeting people from all places and walks of life. The granddaughter of Cuca Brown, Isabella is spending several weeks in Sanford visiting Douglas and Cuca at their Lakeview Avenue home. Mrs. Robert (Deedee) Buxton, Cuca's daughter and the aunt of Isabella, is also visiting the Browns from her home in England. In 1978 Isabella, whose home is in London, worked in Hong Kong for an American publishing company. She wrote the "Women's page" for a magazine the company produced for the U.S. Military families overseas - similiar to the Stars and Stripes. She then went to the Mid-east and worked in Kuwait as a secretary for a bank consultant who also was a diplomatic "trouble shooter" for the bank. Kuwait is considered one of the richest countries in the world and while there she met many prominent financiers well-known in the world financial circles.

Isabella said the bank was approached about a loan by the leaders from China. The money was to be used to help establish electricity and utilities in China, a country that is behind the rest of the world in development. Her decision to return to Hong Kong was interrupted by a brief holiday in Singapore to enjoy the orchids there which have world-wide acclaim. The climate is much like that in Florida, according to Isabella - perhaps alittle more humid While there she crossed the border into Malaysia - one of the few places in the world where there are still a number of wild tigers. The natives still live in the houses built on stilts. But modern housing is seen in several places and will probably soon replace all the stilt houses, according to Isabella. Upon returning to Hong King, she went to work for a

They assemble tape cleaning kits, large manuals, apply labels and do other sorting and packaging jobs "more efficiently and less expensively" than the companies can do the work themselves, said D'Asto.

The workshop is currently involved in a pilot bus program in Seminole County. After school buses pick up public school children in the mornings and afternoons, the buses then pick up SWOP clients and take them to and from work, rather than having them sit idly in the bus driver's yard, said D'Asto.

Last week, sidewalks were installed behind the building for wheelchairs. They plan to add picnic tables soon and work space has been increased to two buildings with a third for storage.

SWOP is funded by Health and Rehabilitative Services (HRS) donations, member contributions and contract income. Their parent foundation is Kathleen Anderson Comprehensive Work Center, Inc., of which SWOP is its first project. The Anderson Center was formed a few years ago by parents, lawyers, doctors, teachers and others interested in helping the mentally handicapped in Seminole County.

A "Roaring Twenties" dance will be held on May beginning at 9 p.m. at the Sanford Civic Center to benefit SWOP. Mrs. Goodman is chairman of the event.

Admission is $5 per person and individuals are requested to bring their own drinks (BYOB). Music will be provided by the "Rhythm Rascals." A Charleston dance contest and "Best Cost ume of the Era" contest will be held. All proceeds will go to the Kathleen Anderson Center.

Great Day Gieui Du Coming Up In Oviedo

The Great Day in the Country Arts and Crafts Festival in Oviedo is expected to be the largest in its eight-year history according to Sharyn Lindsey, festival chairman.

Record crowds are expected for the event Saturday, April 4. from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. sponsored annually by the Oviedo Woman's Club on the grounds of St. Lukes Lutheran Church on the corner of State route 426 and Red Bug Road in Oviedo. Follow the orange and white signs with the crowing rooster which are posted along the incoming routes.

Dozens of exhibitors from all over the state will display quality hand crafts, oils, watercolors, ceramics, and stained glass which make this event a must for art lovers. Lovely potted plants are found in the south area for plant lovers.

In country tradition, Nancy Garlenger, food chairman, has planned an old fashioned Bar-B-Que beef dinner with all the trimmings. Hot dogs and a variety of soft drinks are also available. Look for more tempting home made country food in the baked goods booth with fresh from the oven aroma.

Locally grown farm fresh vegetables, another Great Day tradition, will be well stocked as usual. Chairman Mimi Bruce, says these go fast and the best selection is early in the day. The all-day continuous entertainment features bands, choral groups, instrumentals, cloggers and a ventriloquist. Entertainment and booths to suit younger age levels will be found in the children's play area.

. It is called freedom of will. And it is one of the most exciting ideas in man's religious knowledge: we decide for ourselves what we'll believe and how we'll live.

It is not that God doesn't care about human beliefs and behavior. In the Bible and in the life of His Soa, Jesus, God had made vividly clear His LOVE and His WILL. But God wanted no puppets. So each of us has been endowed by the Creator with freedom of will. This way our faith is a vital response to God's love - not a mechanical reaction controlled by a puppeteer. And our morality is the real-life expression of our Christian convictions - not a wooden uprightness imposed by strings. Remember this whenever God puts spiritual opportunity in your path.

Remembering The Sabbath Day

By GEORGE R. PLAGENZ

THE THIRD COMMANDMENT: Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy. (Exodus 20.8 and Deuteronomy 5:12) What does this mean? We should fear and love God that we may not despise preaching and His word, but hold it sacred and gladly hear and learn it. (From Martin Luther's Small Catechism)

HISTORY: There are several possible reasons why the sabbath (the word means rest) was instituted in ancient Israel. It may have been a commemoration of the seventh day of creation when God rested. The Israelites probably did not think of it so much as a holiday in remembrance of the last day of creation as a command to "imitate God." To rest would be to express this aspect of God's nature in their own lives.

But this commandment as it is recorded in Deuteronomy suggests that the sabbath was also to be a weekly thanksgiving to God for what he had done in rescuing the Israelites from slavery in Egypt and bringing them to the Promised Land. Deuteronomy also adds a social and humanitarian motive for keeping the sabbath. It was less perhaps that the Israelite should rest himself than that he should give rest to others the hard-worked cattle, "thy manservant and they maid-

MEDITATION: A Lutheran church in Michigan excommunicates members who do not faithfully attend church on Sunday. Harsh as this seems, it has the effect of restoring this neglected commandment to an importance it has unfortunately lost.

We all ought to be concerned about what the exploitation of Sunday by commercialized entertainment (and commercialism generally) is doing to us. It has given the quest for a good time and the quest for bargains in the store precedence over the cultivation of the spiritual resources by which man ultimately lives.

St. Mary Magdalen Has New Ministry For Deaf

By JANE CASSELBERRY Herald Religion Editor

While attending a Catholic service recently where the Mass was celebrated in sign language a deaf member of the congregation was deeply moved. So much so that he jumped to his feet and gave a testimony in sign language while attempting to vocalize his feelings as well.

The dramatic moment brought tears to the eyes of many of his fellow worshippers. Recognizing the need of the deaf for spiritual fulfillment that comes from full participation in the service and the sacraments, the Rev. Alan Stahl of St. Mary Magdalen Catholic Church has initiated a ministry for the deaf.

Special Masses for the deaf are held at 1:30 .m., the last Sunday of each month with the service in sign language as well as spoken. The second of these Masses will be held this Sunday. Refreshments are served at a social following the Mass.

The service is not strictly for deaf Catholics, but is open to interested non-Catholics and hearing persons as well. All denominations are welcome and Father Stahl recently celebrated the Mass for the deaf with an Episcopal priest from Orlando. St. Mary Magdalen church is located at 681 Maitland Ave., Altamonte Springs.

"Many children and adults with hearing problems have never had the faith and the Gospels presented and they are missing a lot," said Anthony Gagliano, temporary coordinator of the deaf ministry at St. Mary Magdalen. "Now they are being offered on a regular basis in the Orlando Catholic Diocese. CCD (Catholic Christian Doctrine) Program classes are offered in Apopka and will be soon held in another location as well.

Classes in signing are also being offered In addition to the special Mass, Father Stahl is offering all necessary Catholic services to the deaf such as counseling and administering the sacraments. He has a telecommunications unit in his office with which he can communicate over the phone with deaf persons who have access to a similar device.

Gagliano is a member of the Longwood Sertoma Club, which has donated six of the telecommunications units to South Seminole-Longwood area deaf persons, who would otherwise be able to afford them.

leisure is also, some doctors say, exacting a toll on our heart

Many critics of the state of modern culture are inclined, moreover, to trace the decline of the arts to "the acceleration of life and the loss of the capacity for rest and reflection and that serenity of spirit which is the parent of creativity."

LENTEN EXERCISE: Try observing an old-fashioned Sunday for the rest of the Sunday in Lent. "Sunday used to be a day for having leisurely family dinners after church, getting to know your neighbors or taking an afternoon drive in the country. We got in touch with the values that made our country great and made our lives more livable,'

BUSINESS IN BRIEF

Multi-Family Complex Opens In Winter Springs

SANFORD - The Mosswood Apartments, a 58 unit multi-family residential rental complex at 172 Mosswood Circle in Winter Springs, has been opened by its developers, Cardinal Industries, Inc., Sanford. The seven building project, the first Cardinal multi-family development in Winter Springs, has 13 fur-nished studios, 10 furnished one bedroom, 27 unfurnished one bedroom and eight unfurnished two bedroom apartments.

The one story garden type apartment complex is the 11th project of its kind developed by Cardinal in the Orlando metropolitan area and the 67th in Florida since the company began operations in Sanford four years ago.

Coal-Oil Mix Symposium

A site visit to the Florida Power & Light Coal-oil Mixture (COM) demonstration project near Sanford is planned for the final day of the Third International Symposium on COM Combustion to be held Wednesday through Friday at the Hyatt Orlando Hotel, Kissimmee. The FP&L project is the largest in the world. The symposium, sponsored by the Fittsburgh Energy Technology Center of the U.S. Department of Energy, will attract participants from government, utilities, industry and universities from the U.S. and abroad.

COM combustion is a near-term program of the Department of Energy ready to be implemented in the market place.

Alcoholism In Industry

An industrial seminar to help businesses reduce production losses resulting from poor health of its work force and management team will be held in Orlando Friday. The seminar, sponsored by Brookwood Lodges, will be held at the Harley Hotel in downtown Orlando, 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. Statistics show that over 60 percent of employee health problems are directly or indirectly attributed to alcohol abuse.

This seminar is open to Central Florida business people who want further information about alcoholism in industry. For required reservations, call 299-8631 in Orlando.

Savings Tax Breaks

By almost a 100-to-1 margin, Florida Federal Savings customers voted in favor of greater savings income tax incentives when the Association joined the Savings and Loan Foundation in a February survey of savers' opinions. Nearly 4,400 Florida Federal savers participated.

At the new year the Washington-based Savings and Loan Foundation kicked off a series of advocacy campaigns on personal economic issues, polling citizens with lobby displays in member associations and through magazine ads with clip-and-mail ballots. The Foundation plans to use the balloting results in lobbying efforts on Capitol Hill. The first campaign asked the question, "Isn't it time to give a real tax break to savers," and proposed a taxfree limit on savings interest income of $1000 for individuals and $2000 for joint tax returns-up from the existing $100 and $200 exemptions scheduled for 1982

Enrollment Extended

A special feature of this year's open enrollment period is that no medical examination is required for applicants. Those who wish to enroll will be accepted regardless of their past medical history.

Interested persons may dial toll-free 1-800-342-8070 for application and enrollment materials and further information. The toll-free number will be available through the end of May, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Job Sharing

Barbara Larson Stuart and Lorraine Ball Harrison have been named as the new Executive Director of the Parent Resource Center Inc., in Orlando. The two women will "job share" the position. Job sharing is an innovative approach to work scheduling where two employees equally share the salary and responsibilities of one full-time professional position. Although better known in the northern states, the concept is still relatively new in the south. Stuart and Harrison ploneered the job sharing concept at Walt Disney World Company in 1960, where they worked together as a Senior Marketing Representative.

Barbara Stuart, 28, is a native of Delray Beach, Fla. Lorraine Harrison, 30, is from Seattle, Wash. Both are married and are parents of young sons.

boss, perhaps, or your top client.

Special To The Herald The telephone, like the television, is a "modern convenience" which serves an excellent purpose for communications. But also like the TV, that phone may become a "god" - something we respond to without thinking about whether the convenience is serving us - or whether we are becoming its

This concept comes from Lauren R. Januz, publisher of EXECU-TIME - the time management newsletter for executives. Mrs. Januz goes on to explain how executives can find out if they are victims of telephone

"Do you ever get out of the shower to run for the telephone the moment it rings?" he asks.

"Do you hurry up the steps and unlock the door to run in and grab the phone if it's. ringing when you get home? At the office, do you interrupt someone who's visiting you on a long-standing appointment to take a call from someone who just decided to call you? Do you pick up the phone when a thought passes through your mind, instead of tending to your "A-Priority" projects and putting off the phone call until the proper time?"

If you recognize yourself, Januz continues, don't worry - you're quite typical. But you are a victim of telephone tyranny - and unless you recognize the hold that the phone has over you, and take steps to modify things, you will lose a lot of time catering to Ma Bell's little jingle box!

As a service to executives, Januz has outlined twenty such steps you may take to loosen the tyrannical hold of the phone and get that remarkable instrument working for you. Here's what he has to say.

Think before you dial. Get out of the habit of reaching for the phone every time it occurs to

you. Ask yourself whether calling is the most time-effective step - especially right at this moment

Don't mix business calls with pleasure. Many people have the habit of conducting business on the phone for a minute or two and then saying, "So ... how's everything?" You can almost feel the climate of the call changing from business to social. Avoid this by setting a date to get together with the caller for lunch or another social event. Or simply say "Sorry, I'm busy - got to make a waiting, though - it's not cricket to become a meeting in five minutes," or something similar

Save up your calls for your "telephone times." Why should you answer the phone just because it's ringing? Have your secretary or assistant shield you from calls at least during certain parts of the day. Then gather your messages all at once, return calls and make the ones you've been saving up on

Animal Welfare Advocates Go Down On The Farm By STEWART TRUELSEN

One of the most sensitive issues affecting the livestock and poultry industries in the decade ahead is animal welfare. There is a groundswell of concern over the conditions under which animals are raised and used for food; research and pets.

Recently the American Farm Bureau Federation held a first of a kind meeting for the farm organization on Animal Welfare and Humane Treatment.

Dennis White of the Humane Association described the animal producer organizations should form rights movement as divided into two groups, radical and mildly radical. "The radical animal rights activists with other groups truly interested in will not tolerate any type of animal the welfare of animals. exploitation, experimentation, farming, killing or other areas where animals can benefit man." The mildly radical group also believes animals have certain rights but recognizes man's benefit for years.

A general description of animal rights would include freedom of movement for animals to get up, lie down, groom normally and stretch their limbs. White said that animal rights activists take exception to modern, large scale farming practices which they refer to as "factory farming." He added that there is a belief that animals kept in confinement and not allowed to roam the farm freely were suffering mental anguish. White said that their own guidelines for the treatment of animals and have a liaison

It is an animal's response to the conditions we provide for it. The animal rewards us for what we give it and responds accordingly."

Skinner said modern farming practices contribute to the health and safety of the animals. "Many of you probably don't realize that the chief reason we put laying hens in cages evolved in warm climates where we simply couldn't deal with the incidence of internal parasites that occured when we let there chickens get down on the ground."

In Seminole By BRITT SMITH

The Florida Department of Law Enforcement (DLE) released its 1980 crime report today and the figures, while not wholly unexpected, were shocking nonetheless: during last year, the total number of crimes in selected categories rose a whopping 18 percent. And the state's overall crime rate (the number of offenses per 100,000 residents) climbed 13.9 percent.

In Seminole County, the picture was equally bleak. In 1980, there were 12,684 major crimes - murder, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny, and auto theft - an increase of 22.4 percent over the previous year. But of that number, only 17 percent were cleared by arrest.

Compared to its three neighboring counties - Brevard, Volusia, and Orange -Seminole County experienced the largest crimes. The figures for Brevard County percentage increase in the total number of major crimes, but the second lowest a 14.8 percent clearance rate. Orange clearance rate.
