Florida Up To 10.2%

U.S. Jobless Drops To 10.4%

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The U.S. unemployment rate dropped sharply to 10.4 percent in January, the first decline in 18 months, the Labor Department reported today, with increased manufacturing and construction a major factor in putting Americans back to work.

The Florida jobless rate rose to 10.2 percent, the highest in seven years, while the Seminole County's unemployment rate was 6.4 percent in December, a .5 percent drop from the previous month. Orange County had an 8.4 percent jobless rate for December and Osceola registered a 13.5 percent unemployment figure.

An analyst for the state employment service said Seminole turned the corner on economic recovery in December. He employed predicted continuing declines in the jobless rate throughout the remainder of the year.

Statistics said there were 11.4 million cording to data adjusted for seasonal recession. factors, for a drop of 590,000 from December.

In an alternative report issued for the first time, which includes 1.7 million members of the military as part of the workforce, the bureau said the jobless rate was 10.1 percent in January, a 0.6 percentage point drop from what it calculated to be a 10.7 percent rate in December.

The civilian-only figures showed all categories dropping during the month, except Hispanic workers, who experlenced a slight increase. The jobless rate for black workers remained at 20.8

In that category, the rate dropped from 24.7 percent to 22.7 percent.

Military Counted

The U.S. Labor Department is considering a change in the way the jobiess are counted, according to an analyst with the state employment service. Sterling Tuck of the employment service's Winter Park office said today the Labor Department is beginning to count military personnel and institutionalized people.

The result of the change will be to bring a substantial number of employed people into the job picture.

"It would increase the number of employed and drop the unemployment rate by a tenth of a percent or maybe two-tenths," Tuck said.

Tuck said the current counting system includes people who may not quality for unemployment compensation and people who have part-time

Meanwhile, the Florida Department of Labor has reported unemployment in the state is climbing. State analysts Interpret the current 10.2 percent jobless rate as a sign that Florida finally is suffering the worst effects of the national recession.

Florida's rate has not been at 10 percent or above since December of 1975. The state's labor force for January was 4,897,000. The number of employed was 4,399,000, with 498,000 unemployed for a 10.2 percent jobless rate. There was a labor force of 4,819,000 in December, an employed force of 4,360,000 and 459,000 people unemployed for a 9.9 percent rate.

Key To Future . . . Is In The Past

More and more stories are being published about people moving back to the heart of the big cities in America, buying old houses and modernizing them into lush

Something similar is happening within blocks of Sanford's downtown area.

But in this instance, young professional or business executive couples are buying old historic houses and restoring them to their original beauty. By doing so, they are investing their money and labor, banking on the idea that Sanford's key to the future is in the past.

One of those couples is Lon and Jackie Howell, who bought the Victorian era house built by Walter Gwynn in 1885. The house is located at 513 Oak Ave.

Gwynn, who was the head of the gas company which served Sanford in those 19th Century days and a surveyor of note, built three houses of much the same design in the Oak Avenue area. The twin to the Howell home was torn down.

Martha Gwynn Fox, who is 90 years old and still living in Sanford, says the 513 Oak Ave. house was built before she was born. "Over the years," Mrs. Fox said, "the big rooms were divided into two. Mr. and Mrs. Howell have done a marvelous job of making it look like it once did."

The land on which the Howelis' home was built once was owned by Sanford's founder, Gen. Henry S. Sanford. Howell discovered Sanford's previous ownership recorded in legal documents. The Howells came to Sanford searching for an old house after they were told a number of old houses were still in existence

"Others who realize the value of the old homes have also been moving in from other areas," he said. Howell, who is a buyer for a shoe store in the Altamonte Mall, and his wife lived in the Altamonte area for three years before coming to Sanford.

Their nearly 100-year-old house is cool in the summer because of its high cellings. In the winter the house is heated with four

Lake Mary Rejects Code Enforcement Board

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

The city of Lake Mary will continue to operate without a code enforcement board, at least for the time being.

The City Commission Thursday night for the second time in the past few years unanimously turned down a recommendation by City Manager Phil Kulbes that a code enforcement board be created to enforce the city's code.

The state Legislature several years ago authorized cities to appoint code enforcement boards composed of various types of building professionals to hear cases involving violations of city ordinances. The boards may impose fines if necessary to require persons to abide by city laws concerning junk cars, zoning violations, public nulsances and other minor matters.

All of Seminole County's cities, except Lake Mary, have appointed such boards.

Kulbes told the commission the city's only way of having code violations prosecuted at this time is through Seminole County State Attorney Douglas Cheshire's office. He added that Cheshire has made it clear that first prioritles for prosecution by his office are capital crimes and felonies.

Kulbes said the code enforcement boards have worked well in the other cities, noting that Altamonte Springs has issued 100 notices to city residents of code violations and all but 55 of those were corrected by the residents without further action from the code board. Fifty of the remaining cases were settled by the board and the remaining five are up for hearing, Kulbes said.

The Longwood code board has an even better record, Kulbes said, with 120 notices sent and only 17 cases heard by the board. Commissioner Burt Perinchief said appointing a code enforcement board would be creating another bureaucracy. Commissioner Ray Fox said he is 100 percent against such

Fox said the "tate through a constitutional amendment eluninated the municipal court system which handled violations of city law

Perinchief and Fox's motion that no action be taken on a code enforcement board at this time was unanimously passed.

Trucker Tells Of Hardship And Fears

Herald Staff Writer

"It's not whether I can afford to stay home. It's whether I can afford to lose my life. If I stay home I won't be able to make my payments. But if I get killed, leaving my wife and three children, who will make the paymenta?"

This is the no-win situation one Sanford-based Independent trucker in the business for 15 years talked about this week and the same situation many independents across the nation are confronted with as the strike called by the Independent Truckers Association con-per-crate payment this week from

'I can't afford to

Brokers increase

$1.90 to $3.

- Trucker

This trucker sees no glamour in being a "knight of the road" or the "last of the cowboys." His work is a job, a way of earning a livelihood for his family.

"Any idiot can drive a truck. I don't work for my truck. I work for my wife and kids, my home," said the trucker, who asked not to be identified.

This driver made his decision early this week and he said that most of the area truckers have made the same decision to sit out the strike safe at home.

"I can't afford to go on the road," he said. "If my truck is damaged or destroyed as part of a civil disturbance, the insurance won't cover it," he said.

Months ago as times were getting hard, he and his wife decided a budget item that could be cut was hospitalization insurance. They still bought insurance through the public schools to cover the children, but neither the trucker nor his wife now have hospitalization insurance.

"I can't afford to be killed and I can't afford to be hurt. I can't afford the hospital or doctor bills," he said.

He said he understands the reasons why the slowdown was called. "But I'm not promoting or trying to convince anyone else," he said. "Violence is not agreeable and I'm not preaching to others,"

The violence that left a dead North Carolina trucker in its wake could be coming from other truckers or anyone else. "There are a lot of welrdos in this country. I don't know where it's coming from. I'm just removing myself from it," the "I don't condone violence or intimidation. I'm not much of a gambler. I'm not going to stand up there and lose my life," he The cause of the strike? The trucker explained that the new federal taxes to be imposed beginning April 1 was just the last These taxes included an additional 5 cents per gallon on fuel and an increase in highway use taxes over the next several years from $210 per truck to $1,800. Before this happened the states were raising fees and taxes and requiring more and more quarterly reports on everything imaginable to do with truckers, he noted. In Pennsylvania, as an example, quarterly reports and fees must be sent to four separate state departments. And as one state imposes higher fees, other states do the same in

"It used to be that after I paid the permit fees and other expenses, what I had left was mine. I don't mind paying my share, but now the federal and state governemnts are taking part of what I had left," he said.

The strike is having an effect locally, the trucker said. Noting it was only a few weeks ago that brokers were paying independent truckers $1.90 per crate of cabbage for hauling it from Sanford to New York. "Just yesterday a Sanford broker was offering $3 per crate of cabbage for hauling it and he was having a hard time finding a trucker willing to take the job." Every trucker, he said, must be registered with from one to four departments in each and every state he must go through to do his job.

The trucker predicted that people will begin seeing shortages of canned goods and other foods by the middle of next week as a result of the independents' strike.

Will the strike accomplish anything? "The Independent Truckers Association has said the truckers will stay out until Congress repeals the new law. I don't think that's going to happen. We're in a no-win situation," he said. The Independent Truckers today were to give a list of demands to the government. No immediate settlement to the strike was foreseen today.

IN BRIEF

Budget Alternative Would Freeze Defense Spending

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A first-term Republican senator proposed a comprehensive alternative to President Reagan's budget - a plan that would freeze fiscal 1984 spending across the board.

Sen. Slade Gorton, R-Wash., proposed a budget projecting deficits of $97 billion in 1984 down to a relatively mere $19 billion in 1987. Reagan's budget would create deficits of $189 billion next year and still as high as $117 billion in 1987.

Gorton would freeze defense budget authority, nondefense discretionary spending and federal pay for one year. He would freeze for one year the cost-of-living allowance for Social Security and other entitlement programs, except for food stamps and supplemental security income.

To raise revenue, Gorton would increase the oil import fee by $5 a barrel, cut the July income tax reduction from 10 percent to 5 percent, delay income tax indexing from 1985 to 1987, and subject half of Social Security benefits to the personal income tax. Gorton said his budget would create almost five million job to the next loar years

EPA Compromise Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A bitter clash over the contempt of Congress prosecution of Environmental Protection Agency chief Anne Gorsuch could end in compromise because a federal judge rejected the Reagan administration's lawsuit against the House. Stung by U.S. District Judge-John Lewis Smith's decision Thursday to throw out their case, Justice Department officials now say they will try to resolve their d'erences with House leaders who want access to secret Environmental Protection Agency files.

Smith's ruling dismissed an administration lawsuit that had attempted to block a contempt of Congress prosecution against Mrs. Gorsuch, who, acting under direct orders from President Reagan, refused to turn over the subpoened documents. The EPA papers involved enforcement actions against companies suspected of illegally dumping toxic wastes.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: The worst storm of the year blew 18 inches of snow into 6-foot drifts in the Midwest, plunging temperatures below zero, stranding thousands of motorists and rendering snowplows useless on car-littered roads. The "terrible weather" raised to 38 the number of deaths in a week of storms. In the Southwest, a new storm began building, threatening to dump a foot of snow on the Texas Panhandle overnight. Snow fell across Arizona, New Mexico, west Texas and southeast Colorado. Highways in parts of South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Nebraska and Iowa closed Thursday as blinding snows spread, sending motorists and truck drivers to motels, truck stops and armories to wait for winds to die down. Snowplows were brought to a virtual halt because drivers could not see where they were going.

Senator Seeks To Curb Power Of Political Action Committees

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - Individual citizens used to donate most of the money raised for political campaigns. Now, committees formed by special interest groups provide the bulk of it and Sen. Frank Mann says that is unhealthy.

Mann, a Fort Myers Democrat, introduced legislation Thursday curbing the activities of so-called political action committees, or PACs, in two ways.

The legal limit on contributions by the committees would be reduced drastically, and candidates would be prohibited from raising campaign funds if they were running unopposed.

PACs pour so much money into elections that they're probably starting to have too great an influence on state government, Mann sald.

He called especially troublesome the practice of many incumbents who are unopposed in re-election bids but continue to raise campaign funds, including big contributions from political committees.

A PAC contribution under those circumstances amounts to "a legal bribe." he said.

PACs are political arms of trade associations, unions and other special interest groups. Their primary task is to raise money and distribute it to sympathetic candidates.

Current election statutes prohibit an individual or political committee from giving more than $1,000 per election for a countywide race, multi-county or legislative race and $3,000 for a statewide race. Mann wants to establish new ceilings on political committees - $100 per election for local and countywide races; $150 for state House races; $250 for state Senate races, and $500

Many legislators depend on special interest organizations for most of their campaign money, so opposition to Mann's bill probably will be substantial when the 1983 session gets under

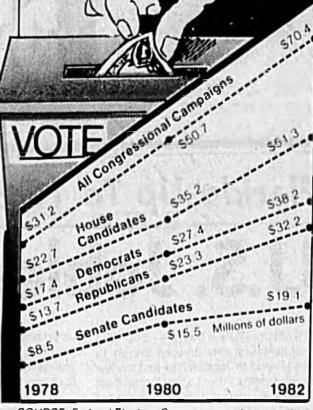

"The growing influence on the political process by PACs, both on a national scale and throughout Florida, is a frightening distortion of the democratic process," he said. "We need to take steps now to reverse this trend."

He imposed a $250 ceiling on individual contributions to his state Senate campaign and refused to accept political committee money. Despite his announced ban on committee money, he says he received more than $10,000, which was

The legislation would prohibit a candidate from accepting campaign funds if he or she is unopposed at the end of

"It has been a common practice for political candidates to continue to accept campaign contributions after the qualifying dates even though they know they have no opposition," Mann

"For an incumbent officeholder to be offered such money, usually from PACs (political action committees) or other vested interests, in such a circumstance amounts to nothing more than a legal bribe."

The growing influence of Political Action Committees (PACs) on elections has prompted a Florida legislator to propose a law curbing the PACs power. As the graph shows, PAC contributions to candidates nationwide during Election '82 were 40 percent more than in 1980 and more than double in 1978.

Attorney General Replies To Bundy's Appeal

'Jurors Must Be Impartial, Not Ignorant'

THEODORE BUNDY ...his appeal of a death sentence seems to seek jurors who had never heard of him

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - Condemned mass murderer Theodore Bundy and other accused criminals with notoriety cannot demand jurors who have never heard of them, the attorney general's office has told the Florida Supreme Court.

Assistant Attorney General Gregory Smith told the court Thursday that Bundy seems to be demanding exactly that in his appeal filed last month of one of his three death sentences.

In that appeal, Bundy, 36, claimed his trial for the 1978 murder of 12-year-old Kimberly Leach of Lake City should have been moved from Orlando because of "horrendous publicity."

In his reply brief, Smith noted the trial had been moved twice and said Bundy seemed to be demanding a jury who had never heard of him or his earlier convictions of the murders of two Chi Omega sorority sisters at Florida State University in Tallahassee.

"Were that truly the standard, then persons known to the public, Spiro Agnew and John Dean as examples, would have virtual immunity from prosecution," Smith wrote. "Instead, the constitutional standard requires not that the jurors be totally ignorant of the facts or issues but that they retain their impartiality."

Bundy's trial was moved twice from Columbia County, the site of the crime, first to Suwannee County, then to Orlando.

"It would be interesting to hear appellant's suggestion concerning where the trial could have been moved yet a third time if his second motion for a change of venue had been

The state's brief said of the 12 jurors, only four had clear knowledge of the Chi Omega case. Three had no knowledge of the sorority murders and of these, two had never heard of Bundy. Another five jurors had "little more than sketchy idea of what had occurred."

"All the jurors, including the four with knowledge of the previous crime, stated without hesitation that they would put aside any opinions they might hold and decide the case only on the evidence presented," Smith

Bundy, a former law student who is a suspect in at least a dozen other slayings around the country, also has an appeal pending of his convictions and death sentences for the 1978 Chi Omega murders.

In Wake Of Homestead Exemption Ruling

Legislature Eyeing Statewide Impact Fees

state Supreme Court has given new Florida residents too big i break on their property taxes.

In a 4-2 ruling Thursday, the high court declared the fiveyear residency requirement for the $25,000 homestead exemption on school district property taxes unconstitutional.

The decision expanded the court's controversial Dec. 16 ruling that struck down an identical residency requirement for the homestead exemption on general property taxes. The justices also rejected petitions by Attorney General Jim

Smith and the Florida House that it reconsider its earlier House Speaker Lee Moffitt called this "a setback to Florida's efforts to fairly apportion the costs of growth" and added: "Unless a mechanism is established to recoup these costs from new arrivals, all Floridians must pay for them." The ruling was another victory for Daytona Beach lawyer tending the residency requirement was unconstitutional.

Because of Osterndorf's success, residents of the state for less than five years - about one of every six homeowners will be allowed to join other homeowners in subtracting $25,000 from the assessed value of their property beginning this tax

Moffit said the two decisions mean a $118 million loss in revenues this year for cities, counties, special taxing districts and school districts.

"During my tenure as speaker, we will be exploring alternatives to remove this court-imposed burden of assessing growth costs on existing residents and fairly apportion the tax burden," Moffitt said. The Legislature already has begun studying a series of "impact fees" as alternative sources of local government revenues. Impact fees are charged at the time a house is Rovernment services.

Legislative leaders do not expect statewide impact fees to be enacted until next year, however. The court majority held that the exemption for school district taxes is "Indistinguishable" from that for general property taxes and, therefore, "unconstitutional for the same reasons expressed in our previously rendered majority opinion in this case."

In the earlier case, the justices said the residency requirement violated the state Constitution's equal protection provisions by creating "a second class of citizens in Florida."

After the first ruling, the state Department of Revenue concluded that the justices had considered only the exemption on general property taxes. Osterndorf, however, successfully argued that his initial suit had also covered school district

Chuluota Woman, 45, Guilty In Husband's Death

By VICTOR ASSERSOHN Herald Staff Writer

A 45-year-old Chuluota woman will be sentenced April 7 for the manslaughter of her husband who died on September 25 after being stabbed. Cora "Sami" Louise Cannon had been charged with the second-degree murder of her 36-year-old husband, Lawrence, after they had been out drinking, but the charge was reduced to manslaughter by a six-member Seminole Circuit Court which deliberated for about four hours Thursday following a Mrs. Cannon was jailed pending sentencing. She faces a maximum sentence of 15 years in state prison. Had she been found guilty of second-degree murder, she could have been jailed for up to 30 years. After the verdict, Assistant State Attorney Steve Brady sald: "It was a compromise verdict. The jury could have felt that the evidence did not warrant a second-degree murder charge and returned one of manslaughter."

During their deliberations, jurors had to look at Mrs. Cannon's different versions of how her husband was stabbed.

The first, told by Mrs. Cannon to investigators in a taped interview, revolves around her husband grabbing her by the throat and her stabbing him in self-defense.

Then during her four-day trial, Mrs. Cannon said she wanted to scare her husband. She testified that she had walked back into the bedroom shouting at him to leave her alone, warning him that she had a knife. Apparently either too drunk or enraged to care or hear, he jumped from behind a door and grabbed her pulling her toward him and forcing the knife into his leg, Mrs. Cannon said.

Cannon died from massive internal bleeding after the knife severed an artery.

Brady said that had she wished to avoid her husband, and was really scared of him, she could have left the house in a robe without going into the bedroom, where he was stabbed, to get her car keys and clothes.

But Assistant Public Defender Don West said that had she not tried to retrieve her clothes they would have been

DRUG ARRESTS

Two men were being held in the Seminole County jail today under $8,000 bond each following their arrest for allegedly selling cocaine to undercover narcotics agents.

Arrested Monday night were Stephen Joseph Feigel, address unknown, and Jack David Shareshian, 1500 North Street, Longwood, who were arrested by undercover agents from the Seminole County Drug Task force after the pair offered to sell agents one-eighth of an ounce of cocaine for $250.

They were arrested outside the Barrel Pub, Maitland Avenue, Altamonte Springs, at about 11:30 p.m. When agents moved in to arrest them Feigel reportedly hit one of them in the face before running away. He was captured and agents found an open switch-blade knife on Shareshian.

POLICE OPT FOR UNION Casselberry's five police sergeants have voted to join the Orange County Police Benevolent Association.

The city's 21 patrolmen and detectives are already represented by the Orange County PBA. Three of the sergeants voted to join the association, one voted against it and the fifth ballot was not returned to the Florida Public Employee Relations Commission office in Tallahassee. The state agency counted the votes, received by mail during the last two weeks on Wednesday. The four shift supervisors and a detective supervisor will join the other officers in collective bargaining with the city. The sergeants said they favored increasing the pay differential between supervisors and shift personnel. One nineyear officer earns $663 more than the lowest paid sergeant.

The pay scale for officers and detectives ranges from $15,286 to $17,992. The sergeants are paid from $17,329 to $18,928. The Casselberry police officers joined the Orange County PBA in July 1961. Their first contract with the city was ratified In November.

A short-term contract with the sergeants is expected to be negotiated next month, an official with the PBA said. Negotiations will begin this summer for a contract for the officers, detectives and sergeants. TIRES STOLEN

The seven women and five men have deliberated for more than seven hours without a verdict in the case. Thursday, the jury first requested all the testimony of five witnesses be read to them, but then decided on just certain portions of it after presiding U.S. District Judge Edward Gignoux said it would take a full day to

At its request, the jury also listened to a replaying of two tape-recorded conversations, part of the government's circumstantial evidence case against Hastings. Hastings, a 46-year-old native of Altamonte Springs, if convicted, could go to prison for a maximum of five

The government accused him of plotting in September and October 1981 with Washington lawyer William Borders to solicit a $150,000 bribe from two racketeers convicted in Hastings' court. In exchange, prosecutors said, Hastings agreed to mitigate the sentences he ordered for the racketers. . . -

Chagra Case Goes To Jury

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) - A government prosecutor told a federal court jury it would be "a travesty" if it failed to convict Jamiel "Jimmy" Chagra of the murder of a Texas federal judge.

The defense, however, asked Thursday for an acquittal as "a tribute" to the judge's memory.

U.S. District Judge William Sessions gave final instructions to the jury on questions of law this morning. Then the jury, which was sequestered Thursday night, began its deliberations.

Chagra, 39, a Las Vegas, Nev., gambler and convicted narcotics trafficker, is being tried on charges he paid $250,000 to convicted hitman Charles V. Harrelson, 44, to kill U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr., who was scheduled to preside at his narcotics trial

A Lesson To Be Learned

Fifty years ago, a little-known 44-year-old troublemaker named Adolf Hitler stood on a Berlin balcony for hours acknowledging the celebration of his followers in the National Socialist German Workers Party, the Nazis.

This is an awful anniversary to contemplate for a world that needs to relearn its lessons.

Although the Nazis never won a majority in the German elections, party toughs had kicked up so much violence that the aging president of the republic, Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg, sought to buy domestic tranquility by summoning Hitler to form a new government. One of the memorable pictures in this century of unforgettable photographs depicts Hitler as an altogether uncharacteristic Uriah Heep, unctuously bowing before von Hindenburg, the proud symbol of honor and order in German civilization

How the gifted German people exchanged their freedom, with its chaotic problems, for tyranny and its ordered solutions should warn succeeding generations in every land. By piecemeal surrender of their rights for some alleged national good in this crisis or that, the Germans let themselves become helpless cyphers under an absolute dictator.

Hitler was a consummate politician, a spellbinding orator, who persuaded various segments of Germany that he was the answer to their problems. Once all-powerful, he revealed himself to be an egomaniac, a monster with few peers in the darkest catalogs of human crime. Having conquered Germany, he set out to conquer the world, just as he had said he would in his book,

"Mein Kampf."
Sickened by the slaughter of World War I, the Western democracies responded to Hitler's aggression with unrealistic hope and appeasement. They acquiesced when Nazi armies marched into the Rhineland and subsequently gobbled up Austria and Czechoslovakia. Only after Germany attacked Poland did France and Britain go to war after, as Winston Churchill said, forfeiting every advantage and being left with no recourse but to fight with little chance of winning.

The 12 years of Nazi rule brought death to perhaps 50 million persons, 13 million of whom perished in Nazi concentration camps. World War II, which Hitler personally ordered, devastated Europe and forever altered human history. Depravity and destruction on such a scale tend to elude individual sensitivity. The Hitlerian era seems as remote for some as the savagery of Genghis Khan. But, whereas most historic massacres were committed during and after the heat of battle, the Nazis murdered 6 million human beings in cold blood, including little children, for no other reason that that they happened to be Jews. The enormity of the holocaust defies explanation.

If the past, as it is said, is prologue to the future, we should beware. For as we forget the lessons of Hitler and Nazi aggression, we invite perhaps even larger tragedies. Today, the Free World faces a challenge to its very existence from the communists, who are merciless as were the Nazis and far more subtle, deceiving, and dangerous.

For those with personal recollections of the Hitler years, there is a harrowing sense of repetition in communism's spreading menace. Now, as then, there are those who demand, in effect, peace at any price. Now, as then, there are those who resist stronger military defense in the fatuous hope of assuring peace. Now, as then, the Free World is in retreat, reacting defensively and inadequately to the aggressor. Now, as then, Western leaders choose to ignore the aggressor's plan of conquest that has been carefully spelled out for all to know.

History need not repeat itself. But the 50th anniversary of Hitler's accession to power is a powerful reminder of what the Free World must do to prevent this from happening.

BERRY'S WORLD

Seminole county court judges who earn around $50,000 a year have been so overworked that they are gathering evidence to press for a fourth county judge to join them.

More attorneys, city police and sheriff's deputies have been moved into Seminole county since 1977 and despite two requests in 1980 and 1981 for an additional judge, none has been appointed since 1976, say the Seminole judges.

And all the time the caseload is increasing the judges argue, in support of their case for another colleague.

The increase in cases is explained, they say, by the increase in population in Seminole county which grew from 141,000 in 1977 to 179,800 in 1980 and is expected to rise to 204,000 this year.

"The high rate of commuters and the relatively young median age of the population have created problems in transportation, schools, alcohol and drug abuse, and have impacted the county court accordingly," says a report by the judges to be submitted to the Chief Judge of the Eighteenth Judicial Circuit.

In the last five years the number of attorneys practicing in the county, excluding those working for the judiciary, has risen from 81 to

Between 1977 and this year there have been an additional 38 sheriff's deputies appointed to Seminole county; 23 more police to Altamonte Springs, six to Casselberry, four to Lake Mary, nine to the city of Longwood, two to Sanford and eight to Winter Springs.

This makes a total of 90 more police officers to police the county and the judges are saying: We need none more judge to help out.

In 1982 the three county court judges handled 54,094 cases between them—or 18,031 each and the figures for 1985—even if a fourth judge is appointed—will be greater than in 1982. That figure, they say, will be 18,655 cases for each judge in 1985, compared with the 18,031 in 1982.

Dangers In Some Thinking?

NEW YORK (NEA) — Ever hear the story about the teacher who had to leave her classroom for some reason?

"I'll be the a few minutes," she warned the students, "and when I come back, don't let me catch any of you praying."

The incident may have occurred in New Jersey, to judge by recent events there. The state legislature not long ago passed a law requiring all New Jersey public school students to observe a "minute of silence" at the beginning of each school day. Nothing in the law required students to pray during that silent minute; they were equally free to engage in introspection or, for that matter, to spend the time contemplating how to put a large wad of used chewing gum on the teacher's chair.

But Gov. Thomas Kean vetoed the law anyway, declaring he was afraid it was unconstitutional as merely a sly attempt to circumvent the prohibition against prayer in the public schools.

The legislature promptly repassed the law over his veto, and the American Civil Liberties Union has now hauled the New Jersey school system into court to have the law invalidated on precisely the ground specified by Gov. Kean in his veto.

There are two separate types of objection to school prayers, but it is hard to see how either of them can apply to a mere "minute of silence."

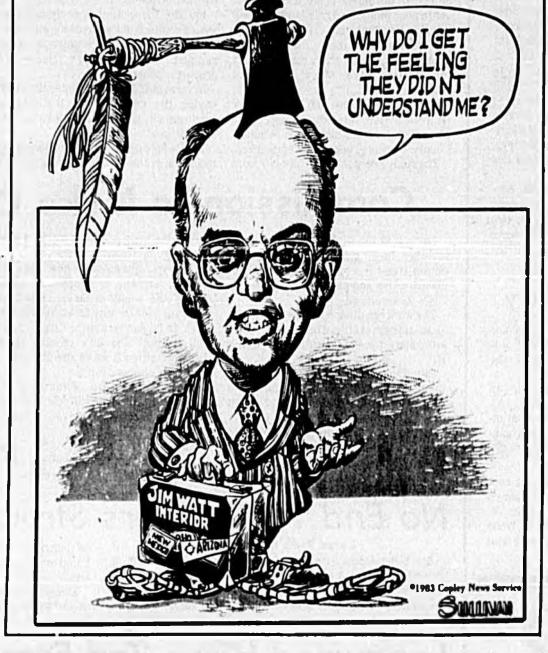

One is the objection that any form of prayer, no matter how bland and seemingly innocuous, may, or at any rate might, be offensive to some students' religious beliefs. By refusing to participate, the student in question would to that extent be ostracizing himself from the community, and might well suffer social penalties — from having fun poked at him to far more serious sorts of discrimination.

But even where the form of prayer is entirely acceptable to everyone involved, the American Civil Liberties Union and similar critics have opposed such prayers anyway, on the ground that America's public schools simply have no business, in view of the constitutional separation of church and state, prescribing conduct that implies the existence of a deity.

That is why the New Jersey legislature's solution is so ingenious. It prescribes no conduct implying the existence of a deity, let alone any communication addressed to Him. All it requires of students is a minute of silence, and all that can legitimately be inferred from that requirement is the proposition that people benefit from an occasional brief pause in the day's occupation.

Surely that is not an unreasonable proposition. Most of us get up slightly later than we probably ought to, and spend the day racing from pillar to post. An enforced moment of contemplation — even of vacuity - would be a healing experience in our hectic lives. It would at least give us a chance to review our objectives for the day, or (if this concerned us more) to consider our own behavior. If, despite more than two centuries under the enlightened reign of secular humanism, we still suspected that our lives are related to, and perhaps even governed by, the imperative of some external being, we could undoubtedly use the silent minute to acknowledge that fact.

But it is preposterous to argue, as the ACLU is doing, that such a minute of silence can have no other meaning. And that contention reveals, rather strikingly it seems to me, how terrified the anti-prayer forces secretly are of the religious impulse whose public manifestations they are so determined to

Let Reagan Be Reagan

By JOHN P. CREGAN (Editor's Note: John P. Cregan, a former aide to the late Rep. John Ashbrook (R-Ohio), is a staff writer for the United States Industrial Council Writers Group).

Few presidents in recent memory enjoyed the kind of dramatic successes experienced by Ronald Reagan during his first year in office. The new President appeared to be charting a bold, new agenda for America. From the first, Reagan worked to restore a badly weakened presidency to its rightful position as a vehicle for leadership of

Now, midway through his term, Mr. Reagan is being portrayed as a President confused, his administration in disarray. Varied voices are heard predicting that the remainder of his tenure in office will be largely ceremonial.

What went wrong? The criticisms and inneuendoes now being aimed at the President cut deeper than mere disapprovals of policy. Reagan's administration is seen as attempting to limit its setbacks by abandoning the conservative initiatives of its first year.

The most vivid contrast between Rengan's first and second year is seen in the two historic tax bills of July 1981 and August 1982. The administration that followed the Congressional lead on a $100 billion tax hike last summer was decidedly different than the one that crusaded for the largest personal tax cut in history one year earlier. It is clear now that there has been a struggle in the White House between those Reaganites who wished to continue the bold course exemplified by the tax cut and those who preferred to "play it safe;" to moderate that course. This latter group has obviously come out on top. What is less obvious is whether this group had won over the President himself or, rather, had slowly worn down the Reaganites through firings and administrative power plays.

A turning point can be traced to the end of 1981. In December of that year, David Stockman's ramblings as to his doubts about the President's program were prominently recorded in the now famous piece in the Atlantic Monthly. That Stockman, one of the chief architects of the program, remains in office today, is an indication of Presidential confusion at the very least. The Stockman episode symbolizes the infighting and divisiveness that now characterize the administration.

Parallels are easily discerned between President Reagan at mid-term and the Ronald Reagan of the early days of the 1980 Presidential campaign. Then as now, Reagan was advised to be less "ideological," and more "pragmatic." Reagan's original 1980 campaign manager, John Sears, believed that Reagan's strong conservative convictions would cost him the election. He attempted to cultivate a more "mainstream" Reagan. That strategy cost Sears his job. Reagan returned to a strategy of cummunicating his deeply-held conservative beliefs and cruised to a landslide victory.

Now, the "pragmatists" in the White House want their man to dilute his conservative philosophy once again. At the same time, the President's most loyal defenders simply want Reagan to be Reagan. Let's hope the President and his aides are listening.

No One Home At HUD?

WASHINGTON (NEA)—One of the most amusing events to come out of Ronald Reagan's first two years in the White House took place at a White House dinner a few months after the inauguration.

Among the quests at the dinner was Samuel.

Among the guests at the dinner was Samuel R. Pierce Jr., Reagan's secretary of Housing and Urban Development. In greeting his HUD secretary, the president reportedly said, "Hello Mr. Mayor—you're doing a great job running that city of yours."

It has never been made clear exactly who the president thought Pierce was, but he can be forgiven for the slip. Every administration has at least one "forgotten" department, and in this administration, that department is HUD.

However, recent revelations imply that there may be a reason for HUD's silence: It seems that many of its top-level people are rarely there.

Take Emanuel Savas, for example. Savas, HUD assistant secretary for policy development and research, is a former New York City official and Columbia University professor, and his family still lives in the New York area. In the last 10 months, Savas traveled to New York 20 times at government expense, usually on a Thursday or Friday.

Savas says that every trip was made to give a speech or to meet with urban officials. However, he admits that every trip ended up with a weekend at home, and in most cases he requested and received reimbursement for cab fare between New York City and his home in Tenafly, N.J.

What did Savas do on all of those weekends when he wasn't going home at taxpayer expense? His 1962 travel included two trips to London, two to Paris and one to Athens. Why all the European travel? Savas told a reporter that one of his most important functions is "the proper articulation and presentation of the policies of the administration." We'll have to assume that the British and the French are very concerned with Reagan urban policy.

If Washingtonians haven't heard much about what HUD is doing, it's just that they aren't located correctly: If they lived, say, in Madison, Wis., they'd know a great deal more about HUD. Madison is the home of HUD Under Secretary Donald Hovde. Last year he made nine official trips to Madison—each time to give a speech or meet with a group interested in urban policy—and he also carried HUD's banner to Italy during the

But the junket of the year was taken by HUD boss Pierce: Last summer, he and a good-sized staff made a 30-day grand tour that included stops in Hong Kong, China, Japan, Singapore and Egypt.

HUD officials defend their travel as necessary and point out that, under their tenure, the overall HUD travel budget has been cut from $16.6 million to $13.8 million. In part, this is because senior HUD officials have been encouraged to accept free travel from trade associations and other groups, although these groups' members are regulated by HUD.

Under a policy that was begun in the Carter administration, such industry-paid travel "may be accepted," as the regulation puts it. But in a memo, Hovde said that the acceptance of travel expenses not only "may be accepted, but encouraged" and that "willingness to reimburse expenses" should be a major factor in determining whether to attend a meeting or give a speech.

HUD records show that officials have traveled all over the United States and to a number of foreign destinations at various trade groups' expense. In the last year, Hovde reportedly took almost two dozen such paid trips, while Stephen Bollinger, HUD's assistant secretary for community planning, took a dozen.

Deaths At Home For Aged Probed

I AM THE GHOST OF DEFICITS FUTURE!"

WASHINGTON—The strange settlement of a corporate murder case will be taken up today by the Senate Special Committee on Aging.

The first murder charge ever filed against a corporation was brought in 1981 against a Texas nursing home chain. Thirty-nine counts of murder by neglect were filed against the Autumn Hills Convalescent Center Inc. of Houston in connection with the deaths of eight patients at its Texas City home.

A settlement was reached, then set aside. The case has now been reopened. But Sen. John Heinz, R-Pa., the committee chairman, wants to know why the nursing home was let off in the first place.

The district attorney for Galveston County, James Hury, engineered a plea bargain in December that let Autumn Hills plead no contest to a single charge of involuntary manslaughter. The punishment was a mild 10 years' probation.

This led David Marks, an assistant prosecutor who Hury fired for opposing the settlement, to file a series of sworn statements challenging the eleventh-hour settlement. Hury has now left office for a seat in the state legislature.

"Mr. Hury has no knowledge of the facts of the case," Marks charged in a sworn the case," Marks charged in a sworn statement. "This total absence of knowledge has been continual from October 1979, through the present."

Marks alleged that Hury spent only about 15 minutes discussing the case during its early stages. "Mr. Marks is welcome to any opinion he has," Hury told my associate Tony Capaccio. "I had more than adequate time to develop a view of the case."

The former DA stands by the plea bargain.

He said that while there was reason to believe the nursing home did show neglect in the deaths of the eight patients, it would have been difficult to prove that "they intentionally decided to kill those people."

One explosive bit of testimony Hury had not seen when he OK'd the plea bargain was that of Dr. John Thompson, professor of clincial pharmacy at the University of Southern California School of Pharmacy. Thompson examined the medication records of the nursing home and concluded, in a sworn statement: "Improper medication handling is a policy with Autumn Hills. The results have led me to the conclusion that Autumn Hills has a total disregard for the life of their patients."

Thompson's analysis found an error rate of 33 percent in the administering of drugs by Autumn Hills personnel at the home, which he said is "extremely high when compared to the usual 5 percent error rate."

Thompson's affidavit will be presented to a new grand jury by Hury's successor, District Attorney Michael Guarino. The climate of investigation is expected to be different this time. The old grand jury's report noted that Hury "should have shown more interest in our grand jury...instead of throwing obstacles along the way."

Footnote: Autumn Hills attorney Roy Minton characterized the plea bargain as "extremely reasonable." The nursing home asked the court to dissolve the agreement when the new district attorney requested a finding of guilty instead of no contest. Minton said he feels "extremely confident that the state cannot prove beyond a reasonable doubt that anyone died because of negligent care."

...Restoring Little Pieces Of History

The original kitchen in the old Howell House was destroyed when the house was cut up into five apartments during the 1940 War years. In restoration, the kitchen was designed as much as possible to look much like the original, except for the gas range and the stainless steel sinks.

operating fireplaces with a little help from space heaters. The Howells bought the 3,800-square-foot, three-story structure for $32,000 and they have invested another $30,000 in materials plus their labor over the past 31/2 years.

The 14-room house has six bedrooms and three bathrooms, plus nine closets, he boasts.

Howell said he has become a scavenger of sorts in the restoration project. He found French doors that had been discarded and he and Jackie have searched for antiques to fit the house's decor all the way to Georgia.

Staircases and the hardwood floors were stripped of layers of paint, sanded and revarnished. With the aid of a steamer, untold thicknesses of wallpaper were taken from the ceilings

The Howells searched through magazines showing the interior decor of old houses and matched their home in the restoration as much as possible. Wallpaper of similar design to that fashionable in the Victorian era replaced the old. In some of the rooms, it took two days to steam the old paper

In the kitchen, new cabinets were built, again in the Victorian era design.

Oriental carpeting, discovered in used furniture stores, was purchased and cleaned to reveal its former splendor and placed in four of the rooms.

"The carpeting was very reasonably priced," he said. An old-fashioned chandeller is the focal point of the living room. Lace curtains of several designs decorate the windows. In one bedroom, the canopy of a bed is made of embroidered

A tiny room can be seen off the staircases to the second and third floor. A small gate leads into the room which is open to full view on one side. In the wall of an enclosed side is a small door, apparently leading to a closet or storeroom.

The room is so tiny it's hard to imagine what it could ever have been used for.

Howell said he heard or read somewhere that this type of room was used in the late 1800s to lay out the bodies as the final viewing place of deceased family members prior to burial. Mrs. Fox said the story may well be true.

Howell estimates the house today, if located in Winter Park, would be worth about $300,000. Asked what he would accept for the house, Howell said, "I've put too much of myself into this house to sell it. I love it."

Sanford is one of the last areas in Central Florida where old homes exist to be restored, Howell said, adding that when the old houses are converted back to single family homes, the value of all properties in the immediate area goes up. The exterior of the Howell house is just as attractive with its porches and gingerbread as the interior. It is now painted in Putnam Ivory and Monterey white tones. "There are probably 15 old houses being renovated or restored on Oak Avenue, Park Avenue, Magnolla and some on Palmetto," Howell said. "All through this area old houses have been discovered. "We'd like to preserve these neighborhoods and make them safer," Howell said. He is inviting persons who are interested in preserving the historic character of the neighborhoods to meet at his home at 7:30 p.m. Saturday. Those interested may call Howell at 322-6779 after 6 p.m. or at 339-7078 at work.

Grindle Files Tough DUI Bills

Two bills on the continuing problem of "manslaughter on the state highways by drunk drivers" have been filed in the Florida House- of Representatives by state Rep. Art Grindle, R-Altamonte Springs.

"Even though Florida has one of the nation's toughest DUI (driving under the influence) laws, there is a public outcry and need to strengthen these laws further," Grindle said.

One of Grindle's bills would increase the period of suspension of driving privileges of persons who refuse to take a breath, urine or blood test to determine intoxication from three months to six months for a first refusal and from six months to one year for a second or repeated refusal.

The other piece of legislation would require the state Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles to suspend the vehicle registration of any person driving while under the influence of alcohol or other substances or with an unlawful blood alcohol content if such person's license is suspended or revoked.

The suspension of registration would be for six months for the first arrest and for one year if the person's registration had been once previously suspended. A third suspension would mean that a person's privilege of registering a motor vehicle in this state would be permanently denied.

Grindle's proposed legislation also would prevent a person from allowing another to drive his car if he knew that the operator's license was under suspension or revocation.

The penalty would be suspension of the owner's registration after a hearing before the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles.

Sanford's Golden Age Games Won't Seek National Sanction

By JANE CASSELBERRY Herald Staff Writer

The question of whether the Golden Age Games should seek official sanctioning of some events by national athletic organizations never came to a vote by the executive com-

Chairman Jim Jernigan, director of parks and recreation for the city of Sanford, announced to the committee at Wednesday's meeting that he made an executive decision not to seek sanctioning at any Games' activity.

"In keeping with the philosophy of the original Games, I am adamant that we are losing our identity as a Sanford-based operation to any other organization," said Jernigan. "We even made this clear when we first sat down with Post (General Foods' Post Cereals is co-sponsor of the annual senior citizen event together with the Greater Sanford Chamber of Com-

"We will not seek sanction of any activity at this time," he said. "We are not going to ride piggyback — we have our own claim to fame and our own claim to disaster."

The question of obtaining the blessing of a national organization came up at a meeting of the committee in January when Dan Dittmer, owner of the Sharidan Aquatic Club in Longwood, recommended holding sanctioned events to draw more and better competitors. To do so would mean meeting outside criteria and rules and regulations, probably paying some sort of fee and surrendering some local control, Jernigan said. Dittmer hosts the swimming and diving events for the games at his facility.

As far as Sanford's Golden Age Games being an official national senior competition where winners in regional games would come each year to compete in finals, Jernigan said in order to guarantee it as a national event, franchises would have to be issued to other communities or states. "I don't think we're ready for that," he said. "We have an open invitation and encourage participation from other areas by teams or individuals."

Sanford Golden Age Games officials have helped set up senior games in many parts of the country. For example, the Good Life Games III will be held March 12 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Clearwater.

In other business Wednesday, the committee authorized the preparation of 1,000 embroidered patches with the Golden Age Games logo to have for sale during the ninth annual Games to be held Nov. 7-12, in Sanford. It also approved preparation of a pin-on plastic identification badges to be given away to Games participants. Bumper strips promoting the event will also be printed.

Individual sponsors also set deadlines for entries in various

The next meeting of the committee will be on March 2 at 8 a.m. at the Chamber of Commerce building when any will be discussed.

Lake Mary Says Thanks

A simple "thank you" was Lake Mary Mayor Walter Sorenson's response to an action of the Seminole County Commission earlier in the week that saved the city $10,000.

After the fifth district Court of Appeal at Daytona Beach turned down Lake Mary's appeal of a circuit court decision invalidating the city's annexation of the 1,400 acre Heathrow planned unit development property off Lake Mary Boulevard west of Interstate 4, the court granted the county the right to recover its attorney fees in the case.

After a panel of three circuit judges at Sanford ruled the annexation invalid, the city appealed the decision to the appellate court at Daytona Beach.

Night Work On SR 436 Backed

A resolution directed to the state Department of Transportation urging the state agency to schedule the widening of part of State Road 436 during night-time hours has been unanimously adopted by the Council of Local Governments in Seminole County.

The widening of the highway from Boston Avenue west to Douglas-Wymore roads is slated to begin late this summer. Completion is expected to take two years.

Altamonte Springs City Commissioner Lee Constantine, chairman of the council, wednesday urged adoption of the resolution, similar to resolutions already attopted by Altamonte Springs, the County Commission and the city of Longwood.

The reason for requesting that the widening from four to six lanes on the highway be done at night is to alleviate traffic tie-A DOT spokesman said earlier this week that night construction on the $3.7 million project would be a lot more expensive and create safety and noise problems. Longwood officials have said that during the construction period, some of the traffic which usually jams 436 would shift to State Road 434, already clogged with traffic during peak periods everyday. The construction is also expected to cause traffic problems in Casselberry. The council is composed of delegates from each of the

Rooney Hopes For Top Dog In Super Bowl

NEW YORK (UPI) - You'll never guess where Tim Rooney is going this Saturday night.

To the Super Bowl.

He's a little late, you say. No, he isn't. He knows what he's doing and where he's going. He should. Everytime the Pittsburgh Steelers go to the Super Bowl, Tim Rooney goes with them and he's got a perfect record. They've gone four times and won each time.

Rooney's allegiance to the Steelers isn't very hard to understand. His father, Art, Sr., owns them and Le chairman of the board, and two of Tim's four brothers, Dan and Art, Jr., work for the club as president and vice president, respectively.

The Steelers didn't quite make the Super Bowl this time. The Chargers came from behind twice in the same game to eliminate them. So where does Tim Rooney think he's going? Don't worry about him.

He's going to the Palm Beach Kennel Club in Palm Beach, Saturday night for the second annual $120,000 Greyhound Grand Prix, the premier event in greyhound racing with entries representing 23 different tracks and 12 states. Rooney, who runs the Palm Beach Kennel Club owned by his family, doesn't get excited often, but he is over the race this weekend.

"This is our Super Bowl," he says.

For years, the Rooney family name has been almost as synonymous with thoroughbred and harness racing as it is with professional football. The family owns Yonkers Raceway in Yonkers and had the Liberty Bell track outside Philadelphia before selling it last year. Both are harness

The Rooneys also own Green Mountain, another greyhound track. in Pownal, Vt., and one of Tim's younger brothers, Pat, operates that. Pat's twin, John, was President of Liberty Bell until it was sold, and now is involved in a variety of the family ventures, including Shamrock Farms, which boasts a number of promising young stallions, not the least of which is Christopher R.

"I look at the dogs as an attractive business in the parimutuel industry without nearly the problems or the investment that's necessary in thoroughbred horses," says the urbane, 45-year-old Rooney who has almost as many friends in the realm of sports as his extraordinarily popular father.

"One of the big differences between the dogs and the thoroughbred and harness horses historically is that we never had a major dog stake race like the Kentucky Derby or Hambletonian until last year. Our association of dog track owners came up with the idea of holding a major race where you could bring in all the leading dogs from all the dog tracks in the country and have eliminations and the final with a real big purse like we're having for the race Saturday night. This is our Kentucky Derby, our Hambletonian, our Super Bowl."

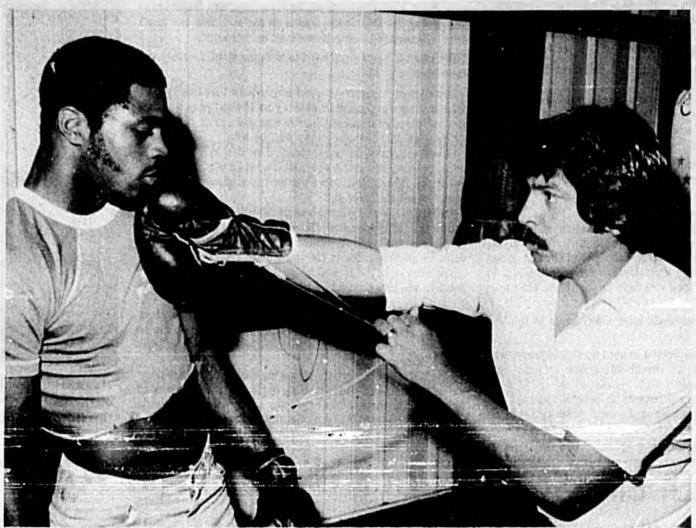

One of the co-favorites in the race will be Army Brat from the Jo-Bett Kennel in Tampa, Fla. Yankee owner George Steinbrenner's wife, Joan, and Betty Hatter are joint owners of the dog. Two other finalists in the race, My Problem and Saucy Tobasco, come out of the same litter of pups handled by a Jacksonville, Fla., breeder.

Greyhound racing is the sixth largest spectator sport in this country. More than 21.5 million people attended dog races last year and there are 45 greyhound tracks in 14 states providing 100,000 people with annual employment.

Rooney says the common core of his family is his 82-year-old father, whom he makes a point of speaking with

Tribe Takes Step Toward 5 Star Title At DeLand

Among all the athletic achievements Seminole High has made, there is still one vacancy in the Tribe's trophy case. Seminole has never won a Five Star Conference basketball title.

Tonight, coach Chris Marlette's Seminoles travel to DeLand for the biggest game of the season for both teams. The winner should go on to win the conference race and earn the top seed in the district tournament. Seminole stands 16-8 overall and 9-2 in the conference, one-half game in back of coach John Zeoli's Bulldegs who have a 10-2 conference mark.

"We've got to rebound and play a patient offense," Marlette said. "And we have to shoot better than we did last

"We don't want DeLand to intimidate us physically," Marlette said. "That's why we're going with Gilchrist."

DeLand's leading scorer is Brown who averages 20 points per game while Derrick Watson, the Bulldogs' senior point guard, averages 13 per game.

TAMPA (UPI) - Quarterback coach Bill Nelsen and offensive line coach Bill Johnson have been fired by Tampa Bay Buccaneers Coach John McKay.

Rumors had persisted for several weeks that Nelsen and Johnson were on the way out and a spokesman confirmed today they had been "dismissed."

The Bucs made it to the NFC playoffs three of the past four years but their offense fell short and McKay said he planned a full review of the situation.

"We'll have to find out if it's what we're doing that's wrong, or how we've been going about it." McKay told the St. Petersburg Times Wednesday. "I suspect the McKay said Johnson had brought young offensive linemen a long way but "we need more consistent performance from our offensive line."

McKay said it came down to a question between the coaching and the scouting system that brought in the players.

TAMPA (UPI) - Kim Kelton, offensive coordinator and offensive line coach at the University of Miami, will be hired as offensive line coach of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, The Tampa Tribune reported today.

Bucs' Coach John McKay has indicated he will move Boyd Dowler from wide receivers coach to quarterback coach, the position he handled for the Green Bay Packers and the Detroit Lions before joining

Chiefs Name Mackovic

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) - First the city of Dallas gave Kansas City a professional football team and now it has given that football team its new head coach.

The Kansas City Chiefs, who as the Dallas Texans of the old American Football League were run out of town by the NFL Cowboys back in 1963, dipped into the coaching staff of Tom Landry Thursday to hire John Mackovic as the fifth head coach in franchise history.

Mackovic, 39, had served the past two seasons as quarterback coach of the Cowboys and was given a five-year contract by the Chiefs as the replacement for Mary Levy, who was fired two days after the completion of the 1982 regular season following a 3-6 finish by the Chiefs.

Davis Joins USFL's Express

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - Former All-America halfback Anthony Davis, Southern Cal's career touchdown leader, has signed a contract with the Los Angeles Express of the United States Football League, it was announced Thursday.

Davis, 30, is joining his fourth professional league. He also played for the Southern California Sun of the World Football League in 1975, the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Pootball League in 1976 and in the NPL for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, Los Angeles Rams and Houston Oilers from 1977-78.

JV Rams Run Past Lyman

George Williams poured in 25 points and Kent Alloway added 22 as Lake Mary's junior varsity ran past Lyman's JV, 74-67 Thursday night at Lake Mary. "The kids are finally starting to play good basketball." Lake Mary coach Charles Steele said after his team raised its record to 7-6. Andre Gray was impressive under the boards as he hauled in 18 rebounds for the Rams. Curtis Bradley added 12 points and Kevin Patrick had a hand in the victory as he hit 4 of 5 free throws in the fourth quarter. The JV Rams travel to New Smyrna Beach Tuesday

In girls action, the Lady Rams' JV got two free throws in overtime from Tasha Coleman to escape with a narrow 38-36 victory over Lyman. Lake Mary trailed 36-34 with 1:50 to play in the game but managed to tie the score and send it into overtime. Coleman led the Rams with 13 points, Cindy Herman added 10 and Lisa Simkins eight while Denise Stevens led Lyman with 13 points.

Lake Mary now stands 14-4 overall and 6-1 in its district. The top two junior varsity teams will play for the championship and as it stands now, Lake Mary should be one of the teams.

Someone owes the Calgary Flames an apology, and In the meantime all their opponents may be sorry. "We've squeiched the rumor that Calgary can't beat the upper-echelon teams," Calgary center Jim Peplinski said Thursday night after the Flames hung a 7-3 drubbing on the Montreal Canadiens.

Clippers Stall Pistons

United Press International The San Diego Clippers have slopped getting in their own way long enough to send some opponents stum-

"We've been playing better ever since we started playing good pressure defense," Clippers' coach Paul Stas said Thursday night after rookle Terry Cummings scored a team-high 29 points in a 115-108 victory over Detroit that sent the Pistons to a closed-door meeting after the game.

Tom Chambers had 21, Jerome Whitehead 19, Al Wood 16 and Lionel Hollins added 15 as San Diego won for the fifth time in its last seven games.

"Down the stretch with about three minutes to go our defense really picked up," said Silas. "We started to deny them (Pistons). That was the key." Detroit lost for the fourth time in its last five games

- the last three to the NBA's lowest teams and, after the game, the Pistons held a 20-minute, closed-door meeting.

The Pistons' Kelly Tripucka had 33 points and Isiah Thomas added 28.

San Diego led 82-80 entering the final quarter but Detroit, 23-25, rallied and at one point held a five-point lead midway through the period. The Clippers, 15-33, responded with seven straight points to take a 101-99 lead with just over four minutes remaining. "We didn't play as well as we're capable of, we played as if we were tired," said Detroit coach Scotty Robertson, "They out-defensed us, pressured us and took our passes away." Pistons star guard John Long was alightly injured in a twocar auto accident Thursday night en route to the Pontiac Silverdome and did not play.

In other games, Denver hammered Atlanta 126-112 and Philadelphia held off Golden State 117-111.

Likens, Rawls, Olson Seek District Mat Titles Saturday

It's the same old David-Goliath routine for the Lake Mary Rams. This time the youthful Lake Mary wrestling team goes up against the established powerhouse, Bishop Moore, as the District Wrestling meet gets underway Saturday afternoon at St. Cloud High School.

Bishop Moore will be the overwhelming favorite and if any teams are going to dethrone the Hornets it will be either the Rams or Kissimmee-Osceola. Still, several Lake Mary grapplers have an excellent chance to advance to

Wollek Takes Pole For 24-Hour Race

DAYTONA BEACH (UPI) - Frenchman Bob Wollek, the 1982 Porsche Cup champion, grabbed the pole position for this weekend's 24 Hours of Daytona during qualifying Thursday.

Wollek, setting a Camel GT circuit record, toured the Daytona International Speedway at an average speed of 135.324 mph in his Turbo Porsche 935. Wollek's time broke the record of 134,900 mph that he set in November on the same track.

Defending champion John Paul Jr. took the outside pole in his Turbo Porsche. His time was 129.992.

The 21st annual running of America's only 24-hour endurance race begins at 3:30 p.m. EST Saturday.

The top 10 starting positions were set Thursday. The rest of the 70-car field will be qualified Friday. Eighty-eight cars have entered the qualifying phase.

In other qualifying Thursday, Doc Bundy, Bob Aiken and Hurley Haywood

Washington State has never won at UCLA. And after Thursday night's 89-87 overtime loss in Los Angeles, the Cougars will have to wait another year to break with tradition.

The streak is 25 games and counting. But Washington State Coach George Raveling is not ready to concede.

"The sophisticates down here who think they know so much about the game found out that the little guys up in the country can play the game too," he said.

The Cougars, 17th-ranked in the nation, played the game all right. They led by 10 points in the second half and were still on the brink of winning in the closing seconds of regulation. With the score 75-75. Steve Harriel missed a jumper from the lane and a tip-in by Aaron Haskins rolled off the rim at the buzzer.

In overtime, Kenny Fields (26 points) carried the seventh-ranked Bruins. Craig Ehlo put the Cougars ahead 85-84 with two free throws with 1:03 left. Fields then provided a 15-footer with 52 seconds to go and a dunk with 16 seconds left following a Cougar turnover.

Ehlo's layup cut it to 88-87 with seven securus lett and the Cougars were still breathing after UCLA's Michael Holton hit a free throw with four seconds to play. But Washington State's Don Rubin missed from half-court at the buzzer and the UCLA hex continued.

The victory pushed UCLA into first place in the Pacific 10. The Bruins are 15-2 overall and 7-0 in the league. Washington State is 15-3 and 7-1.

Darren Daye had 25 points and Stuart Gray 16, both career highs, for UCLA. The Cougars, whose 12-game winning streak was ended, were led by Harricl with 29 and Haskins with 19 points and 13 rebounds.

Elsewhere in the Top 20, No. 2 Viginia defeated Wake Forest 89-75; No. 6 Indiana defeated Wisconsin 83-73; No. 13 Iowa lost to Illinois 62-61; and No. 14 Illinois State stopped Drake 65-59.

At Charlottesville, Va., Ralph Sampson scored 25 of his 30 points in the second half as Virginia hiked its record to 18-2. The Cavaliers trail North Carolina by a half game in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Wake Forest, which hasn't won at Virginia in six years, was led by Anthony Teachey with 21.

"When he is really going good, like he was in the first half, most teams tend to lay back," Wake Forest coach Carl Tacy said of Sampson. "It was an astounding performance."

At Bloomington, Ind., Ted Kitchel scored 29 points and Randy Wittman 20 as Indiana moved into a tie with Minnesota for first place in the Big Ten. Wisconsin, ahead 40-36 at the half, was led by Brad Sellers with 23 points.

"Kitchel was frustrated in the first," said Indiana coach Bobby Knight. "But in the second half he took the ball to the bucket." At Champaign, Ill., Derek Harper missed 4-of-5 free throws for the game give Illinois the Big Ten victory. Steve Carfino of Iowa, guarded by Harper, missed a 15-footer with eight seconds left. Greg Stokes, Iowa's center and top scorer, had just 11 points and fouled out with 8:03 left. At Normal, Ill., Dwayne Tyus scored 15

but hit a foul shot with 1:37 remaining to points and Illinois State shot 60 percent from the floor in raising its record to 17-1. Melvin Mathis had 16 points for Drake.

"ISU is a legitimate Top 20 team," said Drake coach Gary Garner. "They do everything well and they don't beat themselves."

Bradley Leads Bulls

TAMPA (UPI) - The nation's leading scorer, Charlie Bradley, hit 30 points in leading the University of South Florida to a 95-90 win over Bethune-Cookman Thursday night.

The 15-5 South Florida Bulls chased the 3-14 Bethune-Cookman Wildcats in the first half with the Wildcats taking a twopoint lead (33-31) at halftime.

But the Bulls caught fire at 11:59 on a William Conner jumper and opened a sixpoint spread to 18 with 4:05 on the clock. Subs finished the game for South Florida but Bethune-Cookman did not have enough time to close the gap.

The high scorers for South Florida were Bradley with 30, Conner with 15 and Jorge Azcoltia and Jim Grandholm both Bethune-Cookman was led by Jarvis Smith with 23, Ronnie Weston with 29 and Kenny Boynton with 22.

YOUR BIRTHDAY February 5, 1983

Do not stray from your area of expertise this coming year. This is where you are likely to find your greatest success. Strive todevelop further what you already have going for you.

AQUARIUS 20-Feb. 19) Pay your fair don't be the only guy in the party who reaches for the check. Give your wallet a rest and let others ante-up as well. The 1983 predictions for Aquarians are now ready. Send $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign. Send an additional $2 for the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet. Reveals romantic combinations and compatibilities for all signs.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Even though you may feel eager to launch a new project today, don't do so unless you are absolutely sure the timing's right. It may pay to wait.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Try not to be too demanding of friends today. Even pals who are easy-going could overreact if they feel you are bossing them around.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be very careful today not to be overly attentive to a member of the opposite sex disliked by your mate. It will be asking for trouble. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Although you are basically an artistic person. these skills might not be too evident today. A project you're working on could reflect poor taste.

For a long time I've hated living in my house, I have no interest in doing any housework and I don't like to go to bed at night. When I do, I hate to get up. I can't go on living like this as I have no happy feelings.

Should I go to a psychiatrist or would it be good to have electric shock treatments? I have three sons but I don't tell them how I feel as I am ashamed of myself.

DEAR READER - Yes. you should see your doctor about this and he may want you to consult a psychiatrist. Some people might think that you are simply having memory changes associated with age but that may not be the case. One of the common causes of changes that resemble senility is depression. Evidently your doctor thinks you may have some depression ness of breath. It is worse at of mood or he would not be giving you Etrafon. Depression is one of many

"Open the ace of clubs," says Kit. Then take a look at the whole hand now and you will see that you have saved an important overtrick.

Here is a paraphrase for Kit's explanation. It is not hard to visualize North with seven solid spades and South with five hearts. The suit may not be solid, but your heart holding is likely to make it solid. So, if you lead your king of diamonds you would see South take the first 13 tricks.

Then consider that at some tables North will be declarer at six spades. Your partner will have a blind lead and may well open a diamond, whereupon North would score that overtrick for plus-1,460.

By taking your club ace you will beat or tie all no-trump defenders and any spade defenders who didn't get their club ace. By not cashing the ace you will have tied for bottom. World class expert. It is (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN)

It's The Season For Swarming Drywood Termites

This is the time of year that central and South Florida need to watch for swarming drywood termites.

In Florida, the peak swarming times are from January through May, although the termites may swarm in other mon-

Drywood termites, unlike subterranean termites, infest dry wood such as the woodwork in buildings and furniture and do not need contact with soil. Therefore, soil treatments are ineffective in controlling them.

They are social insects and live in colonies consisting of kings, queens and soldiers, and their food consists of cellulose in the wood they consume. Drywood termite infestations may be noticed in several ways, but the best time of year to discover if you have drywood termites is during the swarming season because at this time, the termites emerge from their colonies and swarm to establish new colonies.

Drywood termites are often mistaken for winged ants or for other species of termites that do not usually damage houses, such as the Florida dampwood

Winged ants, can be distinguished from winged termites because termites have a thick waist while winged ants have a wasp-shaped walst. Other signs of infestation are the appearance of termite wings in the home, and pellets of partly digested wood that are straw-colored to reddish-brown and about the size of grains of sand. These pellets are usually found on surfaces beneath the infested Infestations usually occur in the attic or in window frames and sills. Advanced infestations may be indicated by surface blisters because the termites sometimes tunnel close to the surface.

You can test for infestations by tapping the wood every few inches with the handle of a screw-driver. If the wood is damaged, it sounds hollow. A sound like a papery rustle may mean that there are tunnels just under the surface.

Friday, Feb. 4, 1983-9A

There are several measures to protect against drywood termites. First, lumber. furniture and other wooden items, especially from coastal areas in Florida, Georgia, the Carolinas, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas should be carefully inspected for termite infestations. Drywood termites may enter a building through the abia. foundation vents, through shingles, or under eaves. We recommend that all window, doors and vents, especially those in the attic, be screened with 20 mesh screen.

against termite entry. Before you paint, however, fill all cracks and crevices with putty or plastic wood. Wood treated with a wood preservative also gives protection from termites. Some woods are naturally resistant to termite infestations. These woods include heartwood of redwood, bald cypress, mahogany and Spanish cedar. However, these woods do become susceptible to termites after several

If drywood termites are detected in early stages of infestation and damage is localized, the colony may be controlled by removing and replacing the damaged wood or by applying an insecticide.

Brotherly Love For Widow Now Takes Romantic Turn

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I were close to my brother and his wife. We took many vacation trips together and were a very compatible foursome.

Two years ago my wife passed away and I have been very lonely since. Two weeks ago my brother died very suddenly. During the few days I spent with the entire family, it occurred to me to speak to my bereaved sister-in-law about a possible future together, but I thought it would be much too premature and in poor taste, so I said nothing.

Naturally she will have a period of mourning, followed by a period of adjustment, but after that I think she and I could find companionship together in the years ahead.

My question: How long should I wait? I'm afraid if I wait too long some other man may step in ahead of me. She's a very attractive woman.

I have a hunch she would favor me if she knew I was interested. How can I handle this in good taste? AN EYE TO THE FUTURE DEAR EYE: As a member of the family, you have an inside track, but don't crowd her. Be attentive, solicitous, sympathetic and available for handholding in a brotherly, nonaggressive manner. Don't make any moves until she indicates that she has more than a plantonic interest in you. Just be there with a soft shoulder to cry on, and if your hunch is right, when the time is right, she'll drop into your palm like a ripe

DEAR ABBY: I'm a college student who has dated this young man (also a college student) for a year. We've become very close, see each other often and, of course, he has met my parents. (I live at home, and so does he.) In all the time we've gone together, I have never been to his home, nor have I met his parents. I have hinted that I would like to met them, but he always says it's not convenient because we live so far apart (45-minute drive). I have offered to drive over to his house, but he's never taken me up on it. I really can't understand it. I'm not ugly or stupid, and I have good manners. I can't think of any reason why he should be ashamed of me. I've met the parents of other guys I haven't been nearly as close to.

What do you think is wrong here?

PUT OFF AND PUZZLED DEAR P AND P: I think he's ashamed of his parents. Or his home. And possibly both. DEAR ABBY: Plese don't mention my name if you print this letter. I visited a home and was shocked to find that the lady of the house had hung a lot of family pictures in her bathroom!

I could not restrain myself and told her how shocked I was.

Please let me know if you have ever heard of this. CAN'T GET OVER IT DEAR CAN'T; I have not only heard of it, I've seen such a gallery. Decorating is a matter of personal taste, and there is no reason why people shouldn't hang pictures wherever they DEAR ABBY: You often receive letters from young girls asking, "Should I or should I not go all the way before marriage?" I was given a beautiful reason why I should not, and I never forgot it. There were no heavy warnings or confusing explanations. It was simply this: "Intimacy between man and woman is God's wedding gift to the newlyweds, and his gift is not to be opened early."

Grindle To Address FPE

Art Grindle will be the speaker at the luncheon during the Annual Convention of Florida Professional Educators on Feb. 19 at the Mount Vernon Motor Lodge, Winter Park. During the morning session of the convention, Dr. Garfield Walker from the Florida Office of Teacher Certification will bring the latest information about teacher tests.

Also, Dale Brushwood of the Orange County School Office will conduct a workshop on the uses of computers in the home and in the classroom, according to Elizabeth Boyd.

Mrs. Betty Howard, president of the Greater Orlando Pro-Family Forum and hostess on a weekly Christian radio program, will give her views on the dangers of humanism in education. There will be a time for questions after her presentation. FPE and its allied National Association of Professional Educators (NAPE) offer educators at all levels an alternative to the teacher unions, and work toward excellence in education.

Interested parents and educators are invited to attend any or all sessions of this convention, but reservations for the luncheon must be received by Feb. 15. For information, call 322-4641.

Shuffleboard

Area Retirees Take The Game Seriously

By JANE CASSELBERRY Herald Staff Writer

For many retirees, shuffleboard is more than simply a game; it's a way of life.

To senior citizens such as A.C. Madden, shuffling doesn't mean dragging one's feet. For them, playing shuffleboard defines who they are and what they do. The 82-year-old Madden, who lives at 701 Magnolia Ave., Sanford, is at the city's courts in Fort Melion Park every day. He has been playing shuffleboard for more than 40 years — ever since the Sanford Tourist and Shuffleboard Club was organized in the 30s.

"We used to have courts where the filling station is now at Second Street and Palmetto Avenue," he recalls.

The club's 16 concrete courts are in use seven days a week, year round, but get their heaviest use during the winter months when the "snow birds" flock here from the North. The club's 100 members include folks from many states — Michigan, Minnesota, New York, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Vermont and Ohio.

The club's oldest member is 94-year-old James Mason of Bram Towers, Sanford, who plays a mean game of shuffleboard when he isn't winning bowling honors or competing in the annual Golden Age Games.

"It's good recreation for older folks," says Madden, "we visit with one another and it keeps us out of trouble." "We do it now just for the fun of it," says Mike Kuck of

"We do it now just for the fun of it," says Mike Kuck of 2847 Gale Place, Sanford, who, along with wife, Gesine, has played shuffleboard for 11 years. "It beats sitting around the house," they say.

Out on the courts, it was the first day for Betty Blazynski of Deltona, but with a little basic instruction and a lot of encouragement from Madden and the Kucks, she was scoring well.

"I guess I'm hooked," she says, "Think of the nice tan I'll get."

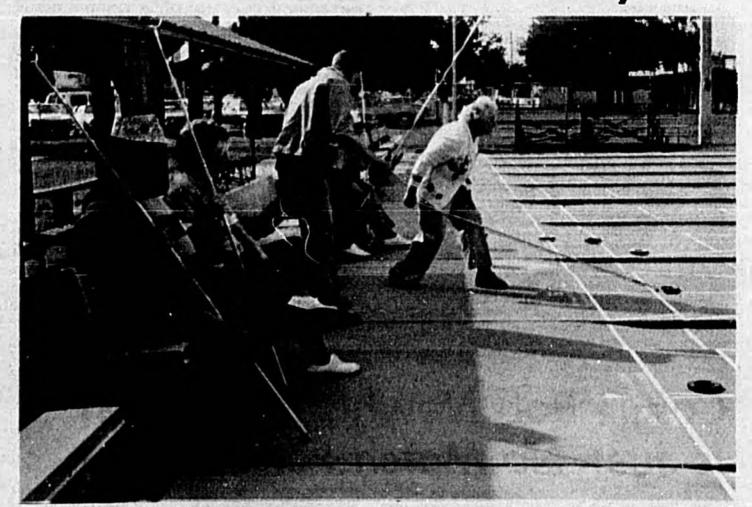

Lloyd Obine, 75, of DeBary, is president of the Sanford Tourist and Shuffleboard Club and has been playing the game since 1970.

"I like everything about it; it is a great game," he says.
"It is great competition."

The club membership fee is $10 a year. The club furnishes the red and black discs called blocks that are pushed down the court with a cue, which can cost from $2. to $30, Obine says. Some are made of fiberglass and some aluminum. The player must furnish his own cue. Courts are owned and maintained by the city.

The club participates in inter-city matches held each Wednesday either in Sanford or one of the 13 other cities in two district leagues in Volusia, Lake and Orange counties.

There is a club tournament each year and one for each of the two districts.

Tina Perkins of Rabun Court, Sanford, gives it her all during an afternoon at the Sanford Tourist and Shuffleboard Club Courts in Fort

"Our main thing," says Obine, "is competing in state and district tournaments. They have as many as 100 couples entered from all over the state."

"It's easy to learn the few fundamentals, then after that it's a matter of developing the skill to put the blocks where they count the most," says Obine. Keeping them there may be something else, because part of the game is trying to knock your opponents blocks out of the numbered spaces. The players with the red blocks go first and then the black. They continue to alternate until one racks up a score of 75 points.

"Red & Black" is held each Saturday. Players draw numbers and match up for partners for three games. Then Mellon Park. Seated (left) is club president Lloyd Obine of DeBary.

there is a play-off between the winners on black and the winners on red.

On the first and third Tuesday, the club has a covered dish dinner at 6 p.m. in the clubhouse adjacent to the courts, located on East First Street just east of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce parking lot.

"We have a lot of fun," says Obine. "A lot of our members are in their 80s and they play pretty good shuffleboard."

Newcomers are welcome. Anyone interested in shuffleboard or joining the club can drop by most afternoons between 1 and 4 p.m. except Wednesdays. Instruction as well as equipment is available for new members.

Cute, but...

Alas, Bob Newhart's new show just doesn't quite measure up to his last series, TV critic David Handler claims. Still, "it's an amusing little sitcom with some amusing flights of fancy." Read the rest of Handler's review on Page 2.

Video digest

'Reader's Digest,' that widely-read magazine chock full of homey tales, helpful hints, bits of wit, and news, has branched out into television and is currently selling its programming to the networks, cable companies, whoever will buy it. Page 5.

'War' was hell

'Winds Of War' director and producer Dan Curtis and Herman Wouk, the man who wrote the massive novel of World War II, strongly disliked each other when they linked up to create ABC's 18-part mini-series. Page 8.

'Blues' Memoriam To Dominique Dunne

DEAR DICK: I'm a falturul watcher of "Hill Street Blues." Recently, the program started with "In memoriam to Tominique Dunne." His name was listed in the east at the end of the program. Who is this person and what part did he play in the show? ** L. Jensen Beach, Fla.

Dominique Dunne was a beautiful and talented 21-year-

Dominique Dunne was a beautiful and talented 21-yearold woman who was murdered not long ago. She had played the oldest daughter in the family in the movie "Poltergeist." Her last work was on "Hill Street Blues," where she played the character named Cindy, a young unwed mother who abandoned a baby in a squad car.

DEAR DICK: Could you tell me how old Henry Thomas, who played Elliott in "E.T.," is? S.S., Mesa, Ariz.

Thomas was 10 when the film was made and is a year older today.

DEAR DICK: Not long ago, I saw a movie called "Willard." What was the name of the man who played Willard, and what else has he done? B.B., Kalamazoo, Mich.

Bruce Davison is the actor in question and he's done quite a few films without rats. He was in "Mame," "Mother, Jugs and Speed" and "Brass Target," after "Willard," but hasn't been too active lately. Acting is a tough business, and the competition is keen.

DEAR DICK: My father and I were watching "The Muppet Show" and we were wondering what kind of bird is The Great Gonzo? Everyone knows Kermit is a frog and Miss Piggy is a pig and Raiph the Dog is a dog. Could you find out if Gonzo is supposed to be any certain kind of bird? M.R., Trenton, N.J.

I put the question directly to Mr. Muppet himself, Jim Henson, who said: "I don't know what kind of bird he is. He hatched from an egg, that's all I know. I think he is distantly related to a turkey."

DEAR DICK: Can you tell us who played the blond guy in "Carrie" who took Carrie to the prom? Was it William Katt? Also, who were the actors who played the fathers in both "The Munsters" and "The Addams Family"? E.R., Scottsbluff, Neb.

Yes, that was Bill Katt, now "The Greatest American Hero." The Munster father was Fred Gwynne, and John Astin headed the vile brood on "The Addams Family."

DEAR DICK: Where was Donna Mills born and raised? She looks like someone (with the same name) I grew up with in Braintree, Mass. L.I.M., West Covina, Calif.

This Donna Mills is a Chicagoan, through and through.

DEAR DICK: I'd like to know how a movie or TV series acquires theme songs. Do they hire someone to write and sing the song or do they adopt a song that has already been written? C.D., Manitowoc, Wis.

Ask Dick Kleiner

A movie or TV series is really a business, like any other business. It takes raw material — words, film, music — and fabricates a finished film from that. For music, it goes out into the open market and hires composers to write a theme song and musicians to play that theme song. On rare occasions, they will use previously written music and, on even rarer occasions, previously recorded music, as themes. Generally, though, it's all new.

DEAR DICK: A friend of mine and I have had a bet going for at least five years. We are wondering if Roy Orbison is blind or not. I heard be was blinded in a car accident, but I don't believe it. Please clear this up. R AND B, Ontario, Canada

You're right not to believe it. Orbison is not blind. He chooses to wear dark glasses, which is probably how the rumor started, but his eyesight is fine.

DEAR DICK: Who was the actor who played Bob on "Not Just Another Affair" on TV? Is he related to Warren Beatty? They look so much alike. D.W., Ashtabula, Oblo

That was Gil Gerard, no kin to Warren Beatty.

DEAR DICK: I hated to see the "Berney Miller" show disband, and I'm now watching reruns. On some of them, I see an actor in the role of Chano. Who is he? And why haven't we seen him in other roles? E.B.G., Hollywood, Fig.

Gregory Sierra played Chano for one season on "Barney Miller" and then was written out, because of a personality clash. Sierra is a fine actor, and has been on many things. Watch CBS sometime this winter for him in a movie called "The Fire at County General."

DEAR DICK: Please tell me the name of the television show that starred James Franciscus as a doctor in Colorado. I believe the title was also his name. E.B., Klamath Falls, Ore.

You're right. Franciscus played Doc Elliott in a 1974 ABC show called "Doc Elliot."

Ali MacGraw and Jan-Michael Vincent star as lovers in a war-torn world in "The Winds of War," a seven-part mini-series airing Sunday, Feb. 13 on ABC.

MONDAY

Paula Prentiss and Richard Benjamin star as a couple who moves to Oregon looking for a simpler life in the comedy "Packin' It In," to air Monday on CBS.

Comic Bob Newhart's Newest Is Just No Match For His Last

By David Handler
Bob Newhart's last sitcom was solid-gold lunacy, peopled with Bob's zany neighbors. Bob's zany patients and Bob's sweet, adoring wife — who at no single moment let him forget she was capable of heaving him headfirst through a wall. Newhart, the prince of underplayers, held it together.

A gem, to be sure. Even though it went off the air in 1978, "The Bob Newhart Show" remains a big hit in syndication, especially with younger viewers. So much so that its oft-heard greeting, "Hi, Bob!" has formed the basis of a college campus ouaffing ritual.

pus quaffing ritual.

It's hard for the buttondown cool comic's new series on CBS, "Newhart," to measure up. It doesn't.

It's a whimsical little sitcom, with some amusing subsidiaries and flights of fancy, but it's also kind of flat.

Scratch an urbane, highpressure Manhattanite and underneath you'll often find a weary soul whose dream it is to run away to rural Vermont and open a little inn. In the old days, we used to call it getting away from the rat race. Now we call it getting off the fast track.

And that's our premise. Dick Loudon (Newhart) is a successful author of how-to books who has convinced his wife, Joanna (Mary Frann), to give up their big-city home and friends for the ramshackle Stratford Inn in Vermont. The inn's a piece of history, dating back to 1774.

It's also a good arena for Newhart. Dick deals with his upstairs guests by means of the front desk phone, affording Newhart a chance to do his patented deadpan phone monologues. (When someone calls down to complain there's no heat, he suggests they close their window. Long pause. "You say there is no window ... Uh-huh ... It fell out ... I see.")

Meanwhile, Dick's confronted with all sorts of dotty small-town types. George Utley (Tom Poston) is incredibly forgetful and thick-headed. Not to mention incompetent. "Remind me to fix that," is his motto. Not that he can.

BOB NEWHART

Neighbor Kirk Devane (Steve Kampmans), who runs the Minute Man Cafe, is a compulsive liar. "I bring it up," he tells Dick, "because it's part of my therapy. Actually, I'm not in therapy. I lied."

Chambermaid Leslie Vanderkellen (Jennifer Holmes) is a cute, spunky, world-class skier with several degrees and enough millions to finance the Cousteau expeditions. Why is she a maid? "I want to find out what it's like to be average," she says. "It's ... fun," advises Dick.

There are plenty of good story opportunities.

Still, "Newhart" misses. The Dick and Joanna relationship is the problem. Partly, on-camera chemistry is to blame.

Newhart is a non-threatening, reactive comic performer, a counter-puncher. Tough-lady Suzanne Pleshette worked so well with him in his old show because she came out swinging right at the bell.

Mary Frann, however, is more of a conventional, Flo Henderson TV wife, as well as being a counter-puncher herself. Ask any matchmaker: Put two counter-punchers in the ring together and what you get is a dance, not a fight.

The other problem is that no element of comic contrast has been written into their relationship. One of them should be really at home in the country, for instance, while the other is totally out of place. Or maybe the move was her idea, not his. Friction. They need friction. Without it, they're a dull couple.

And they set the tone for the whole show.

Dr. White (Terence Knox) takes to the arms of another woman (Jane Kaczmarek) after he separates from his wife in "St. Elsewhere," to air Tuesday on NBC.

'Reader's Digest' Goes Video; Focuses On Entertainment

UPI TV Reporter

NEW YORK (UPI) What do you get when you cross a television producer with the Reader's Digest?

No, the answer is not "Nicholas Nickleby' in 60 minutes." And, Jeffrey S. Grant, the producer in question, hates jokes like understands television is a

What you get is Reader's Digest Entertainment, Inc. - the newest supplier in a burgeoning television industry of everything from sitcoms and soap operas to movies and miniseries.

The Digest, founded 61 years ago and read every month by 39 million people all over the world, announced its plunge into television this week after hiring Grant away from Group W's yet-to-belaunched Disney Channel.

Grant said the output of his new production subsidiary, which has been optioning shows for the past month and next two weeks, will reflect said Grant. "Reader's the catholicity of the Digest has an army of magazine itself.

"It's very important to understand we are not limited to Digest material," he sald. "We will be obviously taking advantage whenever possible of Digest material ... but the company contemporary medium interested in stories about

"We're going to be concerned with developing and producing materials for the commercial networks, the cable networks, syndication, clients - whatever. We're going to try to make as much of it as we can. There are no limits."

The subsidiary Grant will be running comes on line with an advantage enjoyed by few, if any, new suppliers of television software. Its hardware already is in place.

"One of the real assets Reader's Digest Entertainment enjoys is an ex-

By KENNETH R. CLARK will start selling them in the tensive story department," editors who are very, very accomplished - who are reviewing and keeping their ears to the pulse of the literary marketplace all the time.

"We will enjoy one of the best, and certainly one of the largest, story departments in the entertainment business."

The Digest recently has moved from its traditional editorial menu of reprints and condensations to its own brand of investigative journalism, but Grant said he will shy away from news documentaries in his production schedule.

"We will concentrate on pure entertainment." he said. "The networks, themselves, do their own documentaries and they do it very well."

What Grant hopes to do well is to turn such timehonored Digest features as "Life in These United States" into video fare.

"Thank God I listened to him. It's been the greatest adventure of my life."

For those capable of wedding themselves to a television set for seven consecutive evenings, starting Sunday when the first installment runs from 8-11 p.m. it will be quite an adventure too.

"The Winds of War" is more than just a big picture. It is a vast picture retelling the horror and immensity of World War II through the eyes of naval officer "Pug" Henry and his family from Hitler's rise in Germany to Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor.

The cast is every bit as big - Robert Mitchum, Ali MacGraw, Jan-Michael Vincent, John Houseman, Polly Bergen, David Dukes, Topol, Peter Graves - and apart from Mitchum, Curtis said picking the cast was one of his biggest headaches.

Of Mitchum who, as "Pug" Henry, finds himself in councils of power ranging from F.D.R. to Adolf Hitler, Curtis said, "I can't think of anybody who could have done it better."

"The character of Pug Henry is tough," he said. "He has to be able to stand up in Roosevelt's presence Hitler, Stalin and Churchill . than 4,000 camera setups and budget.

"One thing that Mitchum has, other than being a brilliant actor, is a tremendous presence. Mitchum can stand there and not say a word and his presence is felt."

The role of Natalie Jastrow, the Jewish-American girl who falls in love with Henry's son, Byron, was another tough part to cast.

"She had to be adult, not an ingenue," Curtis said. "She had to be grown up. She had to be magnificent. She had to be obviously bright and she had to have a crazy streak that allows her to do some wild things.

"I was getting desperate . . The studio was saying things like, 'let's find an unknown.' Then my associate producer said, 'What about Ali MacGraw and I said, 'no, no, no - Ali's too old . . . but Ali came in and I fell instantly in love with her. She was Natalie the minute she walked through the door."
