SANFORD SHRINE CLUB HOST TO DISTINGUISHED VISITORS SATURDAY NIGHT

POTENTATE HOYT, WITH OTHER MOROCCO OFFIC- IALS MAKE VISIT WERE BANQUETTED

At Valdez Hotel and Noble Frank Miller acted as Toastmaster in Great Style

The Sanford Shrine Club was host Saturday night to illustrious Potentate H. B. Hoyt, Chief Raban, Giles Wilson, High Priest and Prophet Jno. D. Baker and Recorder Barney Smart, of Morocco Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S., and many visiting Nobles of jurisdictions other than that of Morocco, at a banquet given in the Palm Room of the Hotel Valdez.

Frank L. Miller, president of the local club, was the toastmaster, and made a good one for the occasion, keeping things moving throughout the evening. After Noble Dr. Walker had invoked Divine Blessing the toastmaster introduced Noble Judge Housholder, who in a short, but very appropriate address, welcomed the illustrious potentate and his supporting officers, and the other visitors.

The potentate was then introduced and for thirty minutes kept those in attendance at rapt attention to his address. He explained that the innovation of having the officers of Morocco Temple visit the Shrine Clubs throughout the jurisdiction was of his own making, in which his brother officers were staunch supporters. He was amazed at the wonderful attendance and size of the Sanford club, and said that if his one ambition 'to be past potentate' was ever achieved he would not forget the good times he would have on his visits, and would try to go on, when his successors in office should, in the future, make these little visits to the cities of the great.

The potentate then asked permission to introduce Nobles Giles Wilson, explaining that only he knew Noble Wilson. This was granted by the toastmaster, and then in a short talk about a certain health reviving beverage sometimes known as Re-cure-na, and maybe pa, too, in which Giles was interested—in the hope that he could some day build a hotel in Sanford—Potentate Hoyt presented Noble Wilson.

The Chief Raban was profuse in his praise of Florida, and in the achievements of the gem of the state—Sanford—stating that he had been coming to Sanford for 10 and one-half years, at intervals of three to six months, and every time he came back he was glad to get lost in the city, because of the rapid growth and civic improvement evidenced. He stated that he was glad to make the trip with the Potentate and in fact that it was necessary for him to do so, in order to keep the potentate straight. He also claimed credit for having written the potentate's speech, but this was denied. In the natural order of things Noble Wilson will be the potentate for next year.

Forrest Lake was next introduced, and given the task to tell "How and Why Sanford has Made Such Rapid Growth." He answered that one of the best reasons why it had, was because he had something to do with it—but that was not the only reason he gave. "It is because such men as are gathered here tonight, gave co-operation, one with another, not only among those assembled, but with others of like spirit, that Sanford has achieved its present standing in the world," he said, and continued, "and it is by that same co-operation of the same men, and others coming every day, to help that Sanford in the next few years, will surpass what it has already done, and will be hailed as the city of the Southland," and a city that the entire state will be proud of."

The toastmaster called upon the High Priest and Prophet, Noble Jno. D. Baker, and he began his address by saying that he knew Sanford before any one then present had known it. But in this he was corrected by Noble Theo. J. Miller, who had been living here four years before Noble Baker came. Noble Baker stated that he was charged with keeping all Shriners of Morocco in touch with religion, and hence it was necessary that he accompany the visitors on the little trip through the state, but that

CLEMENCEAU PEACEFUL TODAY FARMING TALK

THE TIGER WILL SKEATHE HIS CLAWS AND TAKE UP THE HOE

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—Delegates to American Farm Bureau Federation convention here today expected to hear Georges Clemenceau take tacit difference from that followed in his speeches on his American tour. The Tiger has for his subject "The Farmer as a World Citizen" and would deal mainly with foreign markets it was announced. Representatives of agricultural organizations from all parts of the country were here to meet the Tiger.

NATIONAL GUARD PAY APPROX- IMATES $25,000.00

Twenty-five thousand dollars in round figures is what the pay checks of the Florida National Guard covering the period from July 1st to September 31st will amount to when the outstanding pay rolls of one of two organizations come in.

This money is for army drill pay of the guard units situated in sixteen cities and towns of Florida, while the engineer companies at Panama City and Century did not draw pay for this period, having just been mustered into service.

This amount would be practically doubled if every man in the Guard drew pay for a one hundred percent attendance, and every officer qualified for maximum pay status.

It had been a great worry, and had succeeded in making him well nigh bald, as well as turning the remaining few hairs into gray. He then removed his Fez to exhibit the proof.

Noble George A. DeCottres was scheduled for an address but explained that he had a headache, and was left with a witty story about prohibition enforcement in Okeechobee county.

Noble Mains was introduced as one of the poor boys of the Shrine, and on being asked to tell who he was and why, he explained that he was "the boy that drove the jackass" and went on to say that "Sanford was the best place in the world for a poor boy to come to—that all of the well-to-do citizens of Sanford had arrived here 'walking' and so he urged the poor boys, as well as the rich ones, to give Sanford a tryout.

Noble Bary Smart, the recorder of Morocco, a former Sanford citizen, urged all Shriners to subscribe to the "Black Camel Fund"—this being a fund that is apportioned to a Noble's widow or beneficiary immediately upon the Noble's death. He stated at this time there was 2,616 Nobles in Morocco jurisdiction, 316 having been added during the year now closing.

Nobles Wilson and Gibb as visitors, expressed their appreciation of the Sanford Club and of Sanford in general. Noble Gibb remarking that Oliver Curzon had made a mistake in saying that the Northwest was truly God's Country, and apologized for Curzon's ignorance by the fact that he evidently had never visited Florida, and particularly Sanford.

QUESTION ABOUT CONTROL OF THE DARDANELLE STRAITS BEING ASKED AT CONFERENCE

WHETHER THRU SOME ONE UNDER LEAGUE OF NATIONS OR INTERNATI'L WHOLLY SEPARATE

From League Urged by Members Who Have No Representation Among Experts

(By The Associated Press)
LAUSANNE, Dec. 11.—The question of how to control the straits will be administered, whether through somebody under the league of nations or under the sole international unit wholly separate from the league, was being asked by members of the Near East conference delegations which have no representatives among military naval experts now discussing the Straits problem informally with the Turks. It now seems unlikely there will be a cessation of discussions for longer than Christmas day unless it is possible to sign some sort of tentative agreement before that time.

Disrespect for Law is Court's Trouble in Dealing With Crime

Judge Peacock Tells People of Dade City Something

(By The Associated Press)
DADE CITY, Dec. 11.—Paul and Preston Overstreet, two of a family of six men indicted for the murder of A. F. Crenshaw and J. V. Waters, deputy sheriff and prohibition agent, are on trial in circuit court here today. Seventy veniremen and a score of witnesses were called for trial. The other defendants will be tried later.

DADE CITY, Dec. 11.—Seventy veniremen and more than a score of witnesses have been summoned for the trial of Paul and Preston Overstreet, who go on trial here today for the murder of A. F. Crenshaw and J. V. Waters, last October 4. Paul, Preston and Bascom Overstreet, and Wilson Connell, were indicted at a special session of Pasco county grand jury on charges of first degree murder. Taft, Bird and George Overstreet were indicted on charges of being accessories to the crime.

At a special session of circuit court two weeks ago, State Attorney Wilson announced the intention of the prosecution to place only Paul and Preston Overstreet on trial today, holding the other defendants for trial at a later date.

On the eve of the trial of the two men, H. Blaine Peacock, Tampa, assistant attorney in the prosecution, delivered an address on "Law enforcement" at the Dade City Methodist church last night, in which he called upon local citizens to not neglect their duty in administering justice, and to make law enforcement, "just," but swift and certain.

No mention of today's trial was made by the Tampa attorney, though he laid stress on the need of prompt punishment of murderers and criminals as the only way to curb violations of the law of the people.

"One of the greatest and most serious obstacles in the way today preventing the proper enforcement of our laws is the attitude of law-abiding citizens when called upon to aid in its actual administration," he said. "A noticeable fact is that the American temperament adjusts itself to sympathize with the accused and a corresponding disregard for the rights of the public. In cases of where much public feeling is aroused the man of affairs too often deserts the cause of justice.

"The desire to sympathize, if not the actual disrespect for the law, reaches up to the highest stations and extends down to the lowest. The final and last stage, or the ultimate enforcement of the law, rests upon the jury box. If the average American citizen in the past had realized and accomplished his duty without fear, sympathy or prejudice, the frightful record caused by lack of law enforcement could not be written."

More rain and then cold weather for Christmas.

REPULSED IN SORTIE TODAY KENTUCKY MOONSHINERS FIGHT WITH MANY MEMBERS KILLED

Officers Determined to Avenge Death of Agent Duff, Who Was Shot From Ambush

MOUNT STERLING, Ky., Dec. 11.—Repulsed in sortie yesterday with the death of additional members of their band federal officers, and sheriffs forces are waging war on Menifee county moonshiners to avenge the death of Agent Duff, slain Saturday, have temporarily suspended steps of the mountain stronghold of the Ballard gang. With the death of David Treadway yesterday's attack score is entirely in favor of the mountaineers.

MOUNT STERLING, Ky., Dec. 11.—Within a few yards of the spot in Menifee county, where Prohibition Agent Robert C. Duff was shot to death by alleged moonshiners Saturday afternoon, Dave Treadway, 28, federal officer and member of a posse seeking the slayers of Duff, was shot from ambush and instantly killed yesterday afternoon. Treadway was a member of a sheriff's posse which accompanied federal officers in the search. After visiting the home of Jeff Ballard, the sheriff's posse proceeded to the mountains where they found a still. The posse had destroyed 1,400 gallons of mash and was preparing to leave the scene of the still when fired upon from ambush. Treadway fell with a bullet wound in his neck. He was rushed to a hospital but died later. Immediately after the shots were fired the officers saw three men run from the bushes. They trailed them until darkness prevented further search. The hunt will be continued today. Treadway was 30 years old. He was carrying a machine gun when he was slain. Investigation yesterday showed that Duff's body had been stripped of badge, money and papers after he was slain. He was shot ten times.

After the governor's address a selection by the band was to be followed by the dropping of flowers upon the field by five airplanes and a salute of twenty-one guns.

From now until Christmas the merchants of Sanford should advertise as they have never advertised before. Holidays are trading days, and this is the harvest for business. But business at this time of the year needs stimulating and unless the Sanford merchants advertise and let the public know what they have the public will go elsewhere to trade. This is really the secret of the trade at home spirit and when the Sanford merchants show their wares to the public through the columns of the Daily Herald there will be but little trading in other cities. We have the finest Christmas stocks of goods in this city that have ever been shown here but the people as a whole will not know it unless the merchants keep in touch with them through daily advertising. Tell them about it every day.

SANFORD HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

For the last two years the schools in all parts of the United States have observed National Education Week. The object of this week, set aside by the president of the United States, is to stimulate the interest, and arouse the enthusiasm of the pupils in educational progress. This year the week from December 3 to December 9 was set aside for this purpose. It was observed in the Sanford High School by essays written along this line.

Superintendent Lawton in a short talk in Chapel Thursday morning, brought out some important facts regarding education, and the school system in our own county.

In chapel Friday morning four of the best of these essays were read. Marie Stepper read a splendid paper on "Illiteracy as a blot on our Nation." William Moyo also read an essay on this subject, which was delivered in an emphatic manner and a true oratorical style. Margaret Tichenor and Estelle Starr, of the Freshman English class read excellently prepared papers on "Children of Today, Citizens of Tomorrow," bringing out the fact that the education of the children of today greatly affects the kind of citizens we will have in later years.

In concluding the National Education Week program, Superintendent Lawton gave the personnel of the school a word of appreciation for their observance of this special week and for their effort to arouse interest in education.

Miss Dyer and Mrs. Blair brought down the house with their splendid acting and on the whole the parts were well taken, showing real talent on the part of the performers. Much credit is due Miss Radford for her work with this club.

What makes Winter Park a beautiful city to the traveller is the manner in which every resident vies with every other resident in making beautiful lawns and fine homes and pretty parks.

It is an example worthy of emulation by other cities.

Dispatches say that Japan is veering to the world's viewpoint according to the views of Japanese leaders.

Well, little old Japan always did have plenty of horse sense and we are glad to see her keeping up that reputation.

The Russians tried to put something over the balance of the world by joining hands with Turkey.

No other nation ever joined hands with the Turks without getting stung and Turkey promptly went back on Russia at the first chance and now Russia is complaining about the Turks' conduct. We don't care how much the Reds fight the Turks.

KNOW YOUR OWN COUNTY!

Know your own county! That is the slogan of the Jacksonville Woman's club and it is a fine rallying cry for the women of any county, say the Pensacola News.

Among the studies to be taken up are building highways for Florida, beautifying highways, county highways, the study of county officers and their duties, county government and how administered, the cost of same, county courts, and other such subjects will also be discussed during the coming year by the Americanization department of the club.

This is certainly a movement in the right direction and the example of the Jacksonville club could well be followed to advantage, not only by the county federation, but other county and civic organizations.

At this time particularly, when Florida is at the threshold of a new era of progress, the example of the Jacksonville club might well be emulated all over the state.—Eustis Lake Region.

LOVING TWO WOMEN AT ONCE

Can a man love two women at once? He can, and he ought to.

The two women he ought to love at the same time, each supremely, are his mother and his wife.

In each case the love is the working out of a basic instinct. And the instinct which draws the man to the woman who is his wife and that which draws him to the woman who is his mother are entirely different, and are wholly compatible with one another.

When Lord Northcliffe was dying he murmured in his last words of consciousness, "Tell mother—she's the only one."

The dying Benson said to his wife, "In thy face have I seen the eternal." Often a wife is jealous of her husband's mother, and quite as often a man's mother is jealous of his wife.

THE WINTER PARK HERALD

Winter Park and Orange and Seminole and all of central Florida now have a Sunday morning weekly paper that judging from the first issue will be a winner.

A Sunday morning weekly paper is an innovation there being only one other in the state that we know of.—The Tampa Citizen—there are only a few locations that would really support a paper that from its inception must contain a world of different subjects as to be a very expensive proposition.

The first copy of the Winter Park Herald carried full leased wire service and the International News Service as it carried front page special material from special writers that brought it right up with the Sunday morning daily papers of the state.

A GOVERNMENT CANAL

The taking over, widening and deepening of the East Coast canal from Jacksonville to Miami by the government; which we have reason to believe is being favorably considered will mean great things not only to the east coast, but to all Florida.

Despite the handicaps of all newspaper starting before they are ready to go the Winter Park Herald, as a well-printed 16-page paper with fine illustrations that tool the public at once and many thousands were delivered in the first of the state Sunday morning here will be a Sanford delivery made very Sunday morning and the Winter Park Herald will carry Sanford item and boat Sanford in every way possible and Sanford people can patronize the Winter Park Sunday Herald with the feeling that they are boosting a Sunday morning paper of their very own.

The Sanford Herald wishes to say to the men who made the Winter Park Herald that they have never looked wistfully in the short time they had to get ready for the firm and it is a very creditable sheet it deserves, should have and will be the patronage of an appreciative public that recognizes a real newspaper when they see it and one that tends to boost for Sanford as well as Winter Park and Orlando and all of the central part of Florida.

REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPERS SAY DYER BILL IS A "SHAM"

Defeat of the Dyer anti-lynching bill by a filibuster frankly conducted by Democratic senators has not been mastered even by leading Republican newspapers as a Democratic denunciation of lawlessness or willful antagonism to necessary and salutary legislation. Those newspapers, in company with thousands of individual Republicans, are in the filibuster only successful, if not laudable, attempt to prevent the Republican majority in congress from robbing the state of their sovereign rights and outraging the Constitution to make a show of concern for the Negro and of gratitude for his vote.

In this opinion they had the concurrence of staunch Republicans and excellent lawyers like Representative G. Hersey of Maine and Senator William E. Borah of Idaho.

"Lawyers from the north, who have a possible interest to excuse the time of lynching and who cannot be equaled in any way against the bill," said Representative Hersey, when the measure was under discussion in the House, "have presented you lawyer-like arguments that are unanswerable against the constitutionality of this bill and at the same time have pointed out the awful consequences that must follow the enactment of this very unwise measure."

Can congress divide the states of the right of carrying their own affairs under the constitution? The Boston Transcript, organ of Senator Lodge, is one Republican newspaper that has not been deceived or willing to deceive others with reference to the Dyer bill. Under the caption, "The End of a Sham," the transcript, speaking of the anti-lynching bill said, in part: "The only purpose of dragging this sham before the Senate at the session ending next week (December 4) or a better regular session that follows is to pass the buck to the Democrats and afford an alibi to the Republicans in the campaign of 1924."

After declaring that only a Constitutional amendment would be sufficient to authorize legislation of the sort contemplated in the Dyer bill the transcript continued: "But the Republican party in general and the Republican senators in particular ought to have the honesty to tackle the problem by suggesting a solution that is straightforward and sincere, instead of resorting to the ham and hypocrisy demonstrated in no senate during last week by a feeble attempt to pass through that body a bill that is certainly doomed to death by filibuster and is all probably would be declared unconstitutional if enacted into law and brought before the Supreme Court."

COMMUNITY CHEST PLAN EXTENDING

Kansas City completed its first nited charities campaign a week ago, over-subscribing the huge budget of $350,000 agreed upon as the necessary community chest quota for that thriving metropolis. Several hundred workers gave their time liberty. The number of individual contributions to the fund totaled 74,418. Nearly $175,000 was raised on the final day under the pressure of necessity.

That's a fine record for Kansas City. It's also a real endorsement for the community chest plan of financing charities and social service institutions. The job is done now until November of 1923. Every organization in the campaign is assured of the quota assigned. For the next 12 months they all can settle down to their ministry of human service.

Wichita is another city where this plan has been adopted, while in Topeka three welfare associations have joined forces and made a start in the same direction. The idea is spreading through the country rapidly.

The reason is simple, of course. It's a better idea than the one which has prevailed heretofore. It is more efficient, if we may employ that over-worked adjective. The men and women who give their time month after month to one after another of these splendid community organizations can accomplish the same net result in one week of hard work when they carry the appeal of all the organizations together. They save their own time and that of busy business men who otherwise are walled upon in turn by committees from each association. They save the general public's time on the street and in the home too.

Moreover the campaigners who know they have just one big week of work will naturally pursue their task with more enthusiasm than will be some individuals engaged upon one drive after another. Likewise it is a far easier for the newspapers and other media of publicity to concentrate attention upon a single great movement than to give adequate service to every individual drive, large or small.

The snag which usually obstructs this community chest plan from being adopted is inability to secure agreement among the different associations upon their respective ratios in the total budget. Now and then one or two organizations will block the plan on consideration of individual preference. This is unfortunate.

But there is a remedy and one not hard to take. In Jacksonville's case for instance, if the hundred odd workers who are called upon to volunteer for every one of these charity drives, month after month, would simply put their feet down and say "We strike on this wasteful system. Give us the community chest plan they could very quickly come to an agreement.

It is unfair to suggest, perhaps, that tactics so decisive as these would be required here. The directing leaders of the various organizations are reasonable persons and, once convinced that their individual needs could be met under the new plan, they doubtless could reach a satisfactory agreement. But on the other hand, it is generally agreed that Jacksonville would have adopted the community chest by this time, if it were not for disagreements resulting from personal conferences on the subject.

After all, the trouble is in the minds of those who collect the dollars. It is not fair to call upon busy folks one after time during the year to separate their business or family responsibilities in order to make solicitation calls which might just as well generally drawn from one small pail. That argument is all the more effective because the membership of the money raising committees for all of the different organizations is practically generally drawn from one small group of public-spirited people. As an interlocking directorate, they ought to insist upon a conservation policy for the charity drives.—Jacksonville Journal.

THIS IS NOT A REPRESENTATIVE GOVERNMENT

Discussing the program of the insurgent bloc in congress, the New York Herald has this to say of one of its demands:

Again, there is no question that provision should be made for having a newly elected congress get into action in regular session sooner than it now does or can do. Under the present system the American people elect a congress early in November to do something they want done. But that congress does not come into existence until four months later, on the fourth of March, following the election. Even then, unless it is called into special session by the president, it does not assemble for about thirteen months from the time of the election to do what it was elected to do.

The insurgent bloc is right to say that when the national voters have elected a congress to do certain things that congress should get on the job promptly, as parliament does in Great Britain and as most national legislative bodies do the world over. And it will be to the credit of the insurgent bloc if it definitely starts the amendatory legislation necessary to bring about such a change.

But at that the insurgents will have made no new discovery as to this matter and will have to put no new proposal before the country. The newspapers and public men of all political convictions and shadings of convictions have been urging this change for years. It has merely been a case of an admittedly desirable and ultimately necessary thing that has been allowed to drift along while other things more urgent or more talked about were getting attention and action.

All of which is respectfully referred to the Palm Beach Times and other critics of its way of thinking who have challenged the statement of The Times that this is not a representative government.

As was so strikingly presented in an article reproduced from Collier's Weekly in Tuesday's issue of The Times, the congress now in session is largely made up of men who were repudiated by the people at the November election. Therefore, this congress is not representative of the sentiment and aspirations of the people—of that statement there can be no question. But the emphatic verdict rendered by the people may be further legitimately interpreted as repudiating and condemning the policies of the majority faction of the government, from the president on down.

We repeat, the policies of the government as now constituted are out of harmony with the masses of the people and therefore it is not a representative government.—Tampa Times.

ADVERTISING IN FLORIDA

Here's some of the best expressed sense in regard to "advertising in Florida," which we have read. It comes from the Miami Metropolis:

"Miami is urged to join with the rest of Florida in a general advertising campaign for all Florida—that is, Miami is being asked to contribute to a big fund to the proposed general fund for the advertising of the state of Florida.

"And because Miami has not accepted this invitation with alacrity, there have been some harsh words spoken concerning Miami's 'national spunkiness' and 'foolish shortsightedness.'"

"The Metropolis likes to see Miami criticized. It believes, too, that the advertising of all Florida would be of direct benefit to Miami. But does the rest of the state—especially those people who criticize Miami's failure to join in the movement for general state advertising—really believe that Miami is wrong in preferring to improve itself rather than trying to have her advertising money spent by her own enthusiastic representatives?"

"The fact is that Miami cannot advertise Miami without advertising practically all the rest of the state. Miami says 'Come and see four your selves.' That is all Miami asks. And when these people come to see for themselves they must travel through most of Florida to get here."

No Florida place of any importance, or even of the least importance, can advertise itself without advertising all Florida. The very fact that it is in Florida is the basis of interest in it. Take Tampa, or Webster, or Loughman, or Sanford, or Tampa, or St. Petersburg, or Jacksonville, or Miami, and when a person reads of them it is not the place, but Florida, that is in the mind as a picture either of imagination or of memory. St. Petersburg has not spent a dollar in publicity which has not benefited all Florida because of the mere fact that St. Petersburg is in Florida. That it has benefited St. Petersburg most is but natural, and intended, and that it has been made to benefit St. Petersburg and Florida is because it has been written around some peculiar advantage that St. Petersburg, in particular, and Florida in general possess.

The merchants of a city benefit business generally in that city by their individual advertising, because they cannot draw a customer who will not spend some money with somebody else than they while there. But there never has been a time when the merchants of any city ever considered "advertising all business" generally by them, and putting the writing of those advertisements in the hands of some "expert" whose admitted ability it is to write pleasing, glittering generalities, such as "Trade in Tampa" instead of in the hands of their individual advertising managers who will tell in plain language what Mann Bros. or The Gliddens Clothing Company, or the Knight and Wall Hardware Company, or some pressing and cleaning company, offers as an inducement to come direct to it.

The Miami Metropolis is very felicitous in its concluding appeal to the people of its city and in that appeal it talks with equal directness and force to the people of every other city and town. It says:

"Miami says, 'Motor down to Miami.' And motorists hearing the call drive down through north Florida, down through middle Florida or down the east coast—some day they will come down the west coast and across the Tamiami Trail—on their way to see for themselves." As they come, if they like any part of Florida extra well, they will defer their trip to Miami. Or they may come to Miami and decide to go back to what to them is a lovelier part of Florida.

"Better let Miami keep on saying 'Come to Miami and see for yourselves'—better let Miami keep on urging folks to 'motor all the way.' Miami could well afford to put into all its advertisements, 'Come and see every town and every wonderful section of Florida. Miami invites you.'"

—Tampa Tribune.

BY THE WAYSIDE

In my travels over the city from time to time I like to stop and talk to people. It gives one an insight to the life of the city, and better still an insight to the lives and aspirations and ideals of people in general.

While looking at the site of the Pullman-Branley building the other day I asked Dr. Sam Puleston and passed the time of the day with him. Sam is one of the most versatile people, some writers and broad vision folks in our city and if you have ever been with him on a camp hunt where his mind has plenty of time to wander on different subjects you will know what I mean. By profession he is a doctor, but he should have been a writer of poems and like a lot of us his ambitions were warped for other lines of business and he only has time to play now and then when he does his shows his inner soul and the light of the real artist shines through. It would surprise you perhaps to know that there are more good writers in the world that have never written anything for publication than there are writers who are receiving money for it. But Dr. Sam Puleston told me something in front of the new building that demonstrated he is not a dreamer of impossible dreams even though he may have the ideas of a dramatist and writer. Said Sam to me:

"Old fellow, if we would all have that far-seeing vision of the Sanford of the future we would make this a city of twenty thousand people in the next ten years. All we need to do is to get the habit of boosting and the spirit of building and then join hands and put it over."

"Why, do you know, that if a bunch of us were to go right now to any part of this city and start laying out it would boost the price of real estate, start building and create a new market for this property at once?"

And as Sam is known by his works and he is doing all he can in the building of Sanford I believe he is right. And yet I would like to hear him recite another one of his original poems by the camp fire.

ARE JUST "PA" AND "MA" NOW

Modern Children Lack Oldtime Dignified Titles for Their Parents, Declares a London Writer.

When I was a small boy, forty years ago, children almost without exception addressed their parents as "papa" and "mamma." When a boy grew older and went to school he frequently took to saying "sir" to his father, though, behind his back, he usually referred to him as "pater" or "the governor."

At the same time he gave up saying "mamma," which he considered childish, and took to calling his mother "mother," or sometimes "mater."

It was about twenty years ago that the abbreviations "pa" and "ma" began to be generally used. They came from America, where they had already been in use for many years.

Some children used "daddy" instead of "papa," and after a time "papa" went out altogether, and was replaced by "dad" with those of older growth. Today "dad" is almost universal. Even the little shaver of four or five calls his father "dad." As for "mama," it is as obsolete as "papa," and "mother" is now known universally as "mum."

TO BE MODELED IN BRONZE

Winners of British Dog-Racing Contests Will Have Memorias Preserved by American Sculptor.

Captain Cuttle, winner of the Derby; Music Hall, winner of the Grand National, and Guards' Brigade, winner of the Waterloo, are among the 25 British champion dogs to be modeled in bronze by the American sculptor, Herbert Haseltine. The King's Labrador retriever, a champion of his class and declared at one show to be the best dog of the year, has already been modeled.

Haseltine is an inspired sculptor of the horse, says an art critic. Besides achieving a perfection of detail that delights the most fastidious owner, he has the gift of imparting the animal's character to his studies. Horses talk with their ears, and in each of Mr. Haseltine's models the set of the ears most common to his subject is carefully reproduced.

That other animals can and do inspire him he has shown in bull-fight sculpture. One study of his shows a proud, powerful beast with light in every line.

Historical Error.

The new stamp for Christopher and Nevis, two Leeward Isles in the West Indies discovered by Christopher Columbus in 1493 and now British possessions, shows the discoverer looking through a new spy-glass, remarks the London Daily Mail.

The "Bulletin" of the Entomological Society expresses of matters at what it terms of course, Christopher's error. Zachariah Haussen, number spectacles, made some one else's fortune by devising the telescope.

His children, playing with some of his lenses, had found that when two lenses were placed at a certain distance apart the weathercock, away on the top of the neighboring church steeple, could be seen through them as distinctly as if it had been brought nearer.

Copper and Calcium.

It is reported that Professor Hartley of Dublin has photographed, in ordinary air, spectroscopic lines, due, among other things, to copper and calcium. It is believed that they arise from the dust consisting of these substances, projected into the atmosphere by road vehicles and by smoke and the sparks of trolley wires. It is from the latter that copper is supposed to come. The quantity of copper thus found is excessively slight. Indeed, it is only the delicacy of the tests that renders it appreciable. Lines due to lead, carbon, iron, manganese, nickel and magnesium have also been detected, but the quantity of these substances is even less than that of the calcium and copper, the lines of which are always prominent in the spectra.

Rare Edition of Bible.

The only known copy of the first Protestant Bible printed in Latin has recently come into the possession of the public library at Cambridge, Mass., says the Popular Mechanics Magazine. It is valued at $100,000 by the library authorities, which seems reasonable in view of some book transactions. The printing of this edition was done in 1627, at Cologne, by Peter Quentel, who shortly before had printed an edition of the New Testament for Tyndale. The text is in black letter, with numerous woodcuts by Anthony of Worms, some of which had been used in the Grenville edition of Tyndale's English New Testament, published in 1526.

Good Indications of Oil in Bolivia.

A company has been organized recently for the purpose of exploiting the petroleum deposits said to exist near Cochabamba, Bolivia. It is reported that numerous indications of petroleum have been found in the vicinity of Cercado and of Quillacollo, including readily inflammable gases emanating from two wells in the locality. Favorable reports on this section have been previously made by reputable geologists.

DEAD GIRL'S FACE SEEN IN MIRROR

Photographic Likeness Appears on Glass Nine Months After Death.

Shreveport, La.—At Campit, La., a photographic likeness of a girl, dead nine months, has appeared on the mirror of the room in which she was placed after her death, according to a report of the phenomenon by C. M. Cunningham, former state senator.

The girl was a member of the Trichel family, who lived about five miles from Campit. The body was laid in front of the mirror with a large bouquet clasped in the hands. Next day she was buried and the room has been occupied since that time by her older sister.

About a month ago, it was related, the sister was thrown into violent agitation when she saw what appeared to be a likeness of her dead sister etched on the silver surface of the mirror.

Gradually the likeness developed from top to bottom, appearing first as a distance of 18 inches in the top of the mirror, and then clearly visible.

It is the accepted theory of local scientists that the photograph is the action of sunlight on the window panes and the silvered surface of the mirror, although so far unknown there is no similar case on record. Some are inclined to believe it to be a divine manifestation.

The picture most closely resembles an old-fashioned daguerrotype and efforts to wash or rub it off the mirror, both from the front and back, have proved unsuccessful.

HAIR-EATING CHILD IS CURED

Stomach Trouble Goes as Mass 18 Inches Long Is Extracted From Girl.

Northampton, Mass.—What is said by surgeons to be one of the most unusual series of operations in their memory, was successfully concluded when a mass of human hair was removed from the stomach and intestinal tract of an eight-year-old girl, who had suffered from acute stomach trouble several years.

An X-ray photograph showed a dark mass in the stomach. Questioning revealed that the girl had been in the habit of pulling out her hair and swallowing it. One portion removed by the surgeons was more than a foot and a half long. The child is recovering.

BOY COOKED ALIVE IN VAT

Falls Into Boiling Water and Dies From Burns Five Hours After He Is Rescued.

Milford, Del.—Norman Pettyjohn, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pettyjohn, was cooked alive when, while playing about a vat of boiling water at the plant of the Ellendale basket company, he fell in.

He went under twice before his screams brought rescuers. His condition was such that little could be done to relieve his sufferings and he died five hours later. Nurses and surgeons could not even remove his clothing to apply ointments.

Mother Rabbit Kills Large Blacksnake

Colonial Beach, Va.—A rabbit killed a four-foot blacksnake near the home of W. H. Ward of Lyells, Va. The reptile had just swallowed one of the rabbit's offspring. After kicking the snake into unconsciousness the rabbit finally killed it by gnawing two large pieces out of its head.

PUBLIC FORUM

APOLOGIZED?

Some time ago a Mr. Teatsma, posing as a State Bee Inspector, called on me in regard to inspecting bees. This conversation did not terminate very pleasantly and I was informed by this gentleman that he would have another man from Gainesville call on me.

This gentleman, Mr. Gaodum (arrived). When I told him I had no bees to be inspected, he departed, presumably for his home in Gainesville. I have learned since that he now claims I apologized for what I had said to the first inspector. This I emphatically deny. I did not apologize, nor have I any apology to make.

QUAKES KILL TWENTY-TWO

By The Associated Press

TOKIO, Dec. 11.—Twenty-two persons were killed in the recent earthquake in the Shimbara peninsula on the island of Kjusuu, according to an official announcement today. This is considered conservative as efforts are being made to allay the fears of the inhabitants, who are panic stricken.

Earthquakes were reported also at Amori and Hakodate, but no details have been received. The shocks continued for more than thirty hours without interruption. Unofficial estimates place the death list in excess of 100. Most of the casualties were caused by houses collapsing.

SANFORD BASKET BALL SEXTET SLIP A COG AND Ocala WALKS OFF WITH THE BACON—34 TO 7

First Half of Game Close But Ocala Wears Sanford Down in Last Half and Win With Ease

The large crowd that assembled at the Grammar School court Saturday night were somewhat disappointed at the Sanford girls inability to put up a better showing against the strong Ocala aggregation, but they left with the knowledge that Sanford's defeat was caused by a more superior team. The Ocala girls were on the job and thoroughly understood their business and their team work was the best seen on the local courts so far this season.

All during the first half it looked as if Sanford was holding her own and when the whistle sounded for rest the score stood close, 10 to 5.

It was during the last half of play that Ocala showed their real strength and Miss Woods and Miss Murray kept shooting field goal after field goal while the Sanford forwards were well looked after by the Ocala guards, and when the finals were tabulated it found Sanford with but seven points to the thirty-four made by Ocala.

The game itself was a little slower and longer drawn out than usual, there being four quarters played instead of two halves. In the last two quarters of play the Sanford team with the exception of "Bill" Hand showed signs of exhaustion and were only ment for Ocala. "Bill" Hand, however, showed the old fighting spirit and fought all the way through to the finish.

But this defeat at the hands of a strong team like Ocala has will not keep our girls from coming back and showing their real class in the next game.

Miss Louie Spencer, of Ocala, refereed the game with Mrs. Helen Peck Whitcomb umpiring.

The line up and summary follows:

Sanford	Position	Ocala
Holly (4)	F.	Woods (20)
Spencer (3)	F.	Murray (11)
Hand	J. C.	Brooks
Echols	R. C.	Rugh
Caraway (Cpt.)	G.	McKey
Maxwell	G.	Bullock
Field goals—Holly 2, Spencer 1, Woods 4, Murray 4.
Free Goals—Spencer 1, Woods 4, Murray 2.
Referee—Louie Spencer.
Umpire—Helen Whitcomb.
Time of quarters—Two-sevens and two eights.

MIAMI BEATS PLANT CITY

MIAMI, Dec. 9.—Miami qualified for the finals in the state football championship by defeating Plant City here, 25 to 0 Saturday afternoon. Superior following of the ball and taking quick advantage of the breaks turned the tide of victory. By winning, Miami took its sixth consecutive victory.

Though each team accomplished 13 first downs, Miami did most of its gaining in Plant City territory, while the Plant City eleven was inside Miami's 40 yard line but once, that time Miami holding for downs on its 25 yard line.

Allen's work in running the ends stood out for Plant City, while Chaplin and Ior carried the brunt of the Miami attack.

Miami made its first touchdown in the first quarter on a forward pass 35 yards from Chaplin to Ior, the latter running 20 yards for the score. Recovered fumbles, intercepted passes, and a blocked punt, put Miami in position to score all of its touchdowns.

He played in scoring positions twice in the first minutes of play.

Duval came back strong in the second period and kept the Gainesville team on a nervous defense into the third quarter. Duval lacked coordination or sustained strength, however, to do more than make it a hair-raising affair for the time. The first two touchdowns which came during this attack were the result of individual spectacular runs by Lowenstein and Reid rather than the combined advance of the eleven. Costly fumbles played a prominent part in the game and in this respect Duval suffered the greater.

Lowenstein's 46 yard run before he was forced out of the game by an injury, and which led to Duval's score, and Reid's 50 yard dash for a touchdown were among the features.

Gainesville Wins Over Duval First Time in Years—To Play Miami

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 11.—Gainesville Saturday night reclaimed its high school football supremacy by vanquishing the Duval eleven of Jacksonville, 25 to 12. With the victory tucked under its belt, the Gainesville eleven stood with Miami as the only claimant for the season's state scholastic championship. Saturday's win brought added sweetness to the Alachua county lads for it was the first time in four years that Duval had been defeated in the state, and it was the second time Gainesville had downed Duval in eight years of playing.

In those years Duval, more or less, had stood in the way of Gainesville's claim to the titular honor.

With the exception of the first period of the game, it was a more erratic affair. Gainesville's first ten points bespeaking an onslaught from the far famed Ludwig. The ball was given to him on the first lineup, and on every play thereafter, it seemed, there was more than the usual share of errors.

He played in scoring positions twice in the first minutes of play.

CELERY SEED

Too bad, girls, but we can't win 'em all.

No disgrace to be beaten by a team like Ocala has.

And maybe "Bill" Hand didn't stay to the finish. She is there with the goods when it comes to real scrapping.

No regular match at the bowling alleys tonight. Too many players out of town. The Congregational and Roles will meet Friday night instead.

Better call the girls those "Yellow Jackets." Those yellow uniforms can be heard for a long ways.

Our advance dope was correct. Gainesville won, and that ain't all, if they play Miami they will win right on. Some team, Gainesville has, we'll say.

And the entire season went by with no one crossing Miami's goal line but Sanford. Plant City couldn't do it and yet they say Sanford has only a "fair" team.

Congregational-Rotary Game is Postponed Friday

The regular scheduled game between the Congregational and the Rotary Club that was to be played at the Parish House alleys tonight has been postponed until Friday night of this week. This postponement was caused by the absence from town and other important business of the majority of the Rotary members.

RELIGION BASED ON GRATITUDE

Truth in Assertion There Cannot Be the One Without the Other.

Therein Lies the Particular Betterment to All Men in the Devout Feeling and Celebration of Thanksgiving.

He that urges gratitude pleads the cause of both God and men, for without it we can neither be social nor religious," says the pagan philosopher, Seneca. "Thanksgiving, then, if this be true, is not only a net of worship, but an insurance for social advancement. Gratitude is the best of the rarest of virtues yet it is not a rare virtue like a golden chain through society, binding men together. Nor is it a rare virtue we are likely from experience and observation to think it is. Pious gratitude may be eloquent, but it is not easy to express real gratitude in words. "No metaphysician ever felt the delicacy of language so much as the grateful," and through that delicacy gratitude is often dumb. Neither is conduct a true test for circumstances may deny the opportunity of its expression, or conditions may prevent its expression when opportunity arises. There is much gratitude in the world, between men and men, for which evidence is lacking, yet there is probably no man who cannot recall a feeling of gratefulness within himself which he never voiced and for favors which he never requited. Knowing more of our own thoughts and feelings than we do of those of others we are likely to think the quality of gratitude is our peculiar possession, and cynically to agree with Rochefoucauld that "gratitude, in the generally of men is only a strong and secret wish to receive still greater benefits." Undoubtedly there is much on the surface to justify that view, but while the quality of real gratitude may vary considerably in its strength there are few if any who are wholly lacking, and the mere consciousness of it makes it a potent force in the social advancement of man. Whether thanksgiving be expressed or withheld it is an influence for betterment within every one of us, for the feeling toward others is the test of our souls.

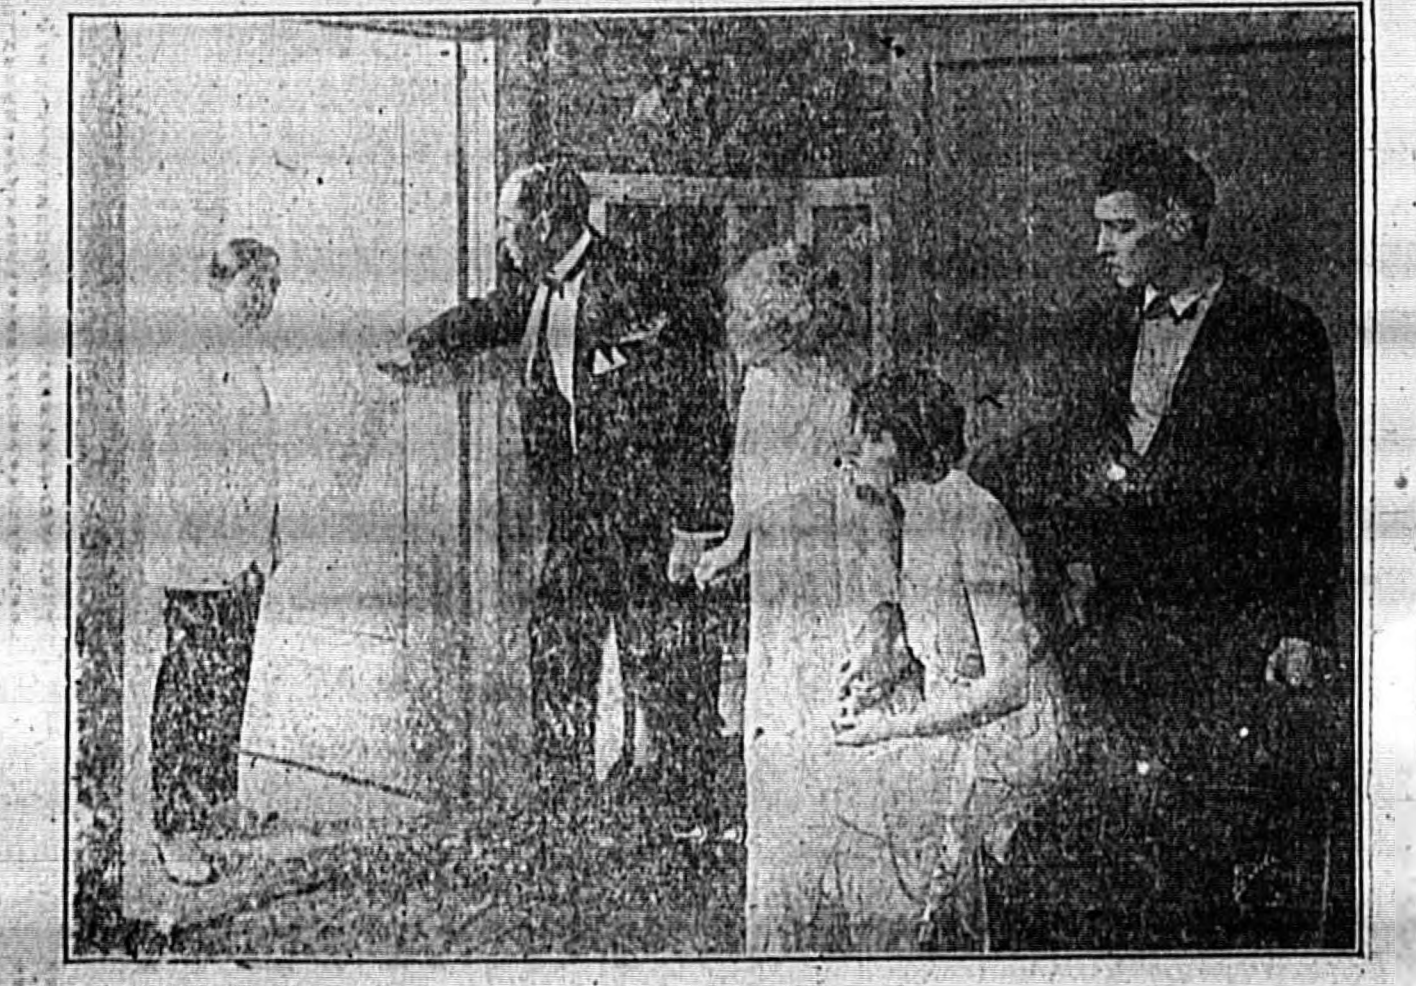

But if that is true as between men, it is much more true, and a much more potent influence, between men and God. The sense of gratitude is the measure of devotion. If it is a mere utterance of the lips it has no meaning, no matter how eloquently worded, reasons a writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. If it does not come from the heart it is a mockery; and the deeper its feeling, even though it be dumb, the closer it brings one to its divine objective. No pen of praise can reach one-half so high as the thankful thought, which in itself is a prayer. It is more than an acknowledgement of benefits. It is an outpouring of spirit, an uplifting of the invisible self into contact with Origin of Slang Term. Students of slang have found interest in an article in an English magazine on "Black Beetles," because it gives what is perhaps the origin of the use of "cuckoo" as a new synonym for crazy. According to the writer, the word cuckoo comes from the Spanish "cucaracha," which he says probably means a sort of bug, in Spanish "cucu." The word "bug" in a similar, if restricted, sense has become pretty well established in slang use in this country, and perhaps, say students of the subject, finding its way across the Rio Grande, has been exchanged for its Mexican equivalent in the same way that many other Spanish words have entered the American language—New York Evening Post.

When the new bridge made the old one of doubtful use, the railroad company offered it first to the state and then to the county, but without success. If no one accepted it, the company was confronted with the necessity of removing it, which would have been very expensive. So finally the company changed it from a railroad bridge to a highway bridge and considered it a lucky in finding a group of Maryland men who consented to accept the structure, which originally had cost $2,000,000, as a gift.

The recipients put up $700, to organize a company. Last year the net returns from the bridge were $65,000. The state will continue to collect tolls until 1938, by which date it estimates the proceeds will retire the bonds issued against the purchase price of $285,000.

"THE BAT" WILL HOLD THE CARDS AT PRINCESS MONDAY, DECEMBER 11TH

Psychologists will have a chance to make an interesting study and perhaps arrive at some unexpected conclusions, if they will only study the crowds which are certain to gather tonight at the Princess Theatre when Wagenhals and Kemper present their sensational dramatic success, "The Bat," by Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood, there. At any rate, they will be sure to get an entirely new angle on the ways and manners of crowds and incidentally, they may be able to answer several questions which puzzle those connected with this particular play.

For instance, while it is to be expected that any time a thousand or more persons are gathered together, one or more of them is likely to forget something when starting for home, there certainly is something curiously in the way people leave their belongings behind them after spending an evening watching "The Bat." And such belongings as they leave, "The Bat" played for over two years in New York and more than one year in Chicago. During the course of those long runs the ushers have picked up after the performance, men's hats, women's hats, umbrellas, keys, if the night happened to be a rainy one. But those have been just the ordinary belongings.

What those connected with "The Bat" can't understand is how they have had turned in by the ushers after performances such articles of wearing apparel as men's neckties; a set of false teeth, a bird cage, a single fur cuff from a lady's suit, a flask. Every conceivable kind of a thing that might be taken to a theatre has been left behind.

As for pocketbooks, money, pieces of jewelry—the character and quantity collected during the first year's run of "The Bat" at the Morosca Theatre, New York, was quite enough to equip a jewelry store or a bank. The same amount found in the theatre reached from a large nickel to a diamond necklace and earring case to $29,000.

The lost and found departments of great railways and railroads, at the late most lost articles to haste on the part of their owners in leaving trains at their destination. In the theatre where "The Bat" either is playing or has played at some time, there is evidence of ever any haste on the part of a person in leaving a receipt for a plot in a cemetery, an apple pie, a baby, but the list is interminable.

part of the audience to leave. Seemingly the men and women who sit through "The Bat" are in no hurry to start for home. That is particularly true of the night performance. This rather obvious explanation failing then, in this case, it remains for either psychologists or nerve specialists to supply the answer. "The Bat" of course, is just one thrill after another. The nerve tension of the audience is unquestionably great. But will high nerve tension, for example, cause a man to grasp at his necktie until he finally tears it loose and allows it to drop to the floor beneath his seat?

It's something to think about at any rate.

OCALA MAN WAS THE VICTIM OF PECULIAR ACCIDENT

OCALA, Dec. 10.—Robert Van Osten was the victim of a peculiar accident near here a few days ago and is nursing a sore shoulder and a badly crushed finger as a result. Van Osten was riding in the rear seat of a large touring car returning to Ocala from Orlando. The machine was traveling about thirty miles an hour when something struck him on the shoulder and then on the hand. He slipped from the seat to the floor out of reach of the murderous blows being rained on the side of the car and escaped farther hurt. Investigation developed that the lock ring which holds the tire on the wheel of the type with which the car was equipped had broken loose at one end and that with every revolution of the wheel the ring struck the side of the car. In addition to the injuries received by Van Osten, the rear curtain and bows of the car top were torn badly and a hole was driven thru the door of the machine.

COAST GUARD PREPARES FOR WINTER PERILS

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—More than 5,000 officers and men of the United States Coast Guard are at work at some 270 stations distributed along the coast from Maine to Alaska, busy clearing the fog and making out the work for the beginning of the annual cruising season, which is ordered each year by the President of the United States. During the cruising season, which lasts until April 1, vessels of 100 tons, or more, going to or from any port in the United States, or to or from any port in a foreign country, will be ready to depart from their stations on a mo-

HERALD COLLECTIONS

The Herald carriers manage and control their routes, pay in advance for all papers drawn, and absolutely depend upon their collections for their running capital and profits. When subscribers neglect to pay them it is the CARRIER and not THE HERALD that stands the "brunt."

Subscribers who do not care to pay the carrier each week may pay the Herald two or more months in advance and they will pay the carrier each week from this fund.

This system of delivery is known as the INDEPENDENT CARRIER PLAN and is used by most of the larger newspapers of the country and has proven beyond doubt to be the very best plan of delivery. When a boy manages his own route, buys and sells at a profit he is in business for himself in exactly the same sense as any merchant. He knows he must give service to be successful and he secures means more profit. In short, he knows he must conduct his business in a capable and efficient manner to be successful.

ment's notice for any point where danger lurks.

Due to the widespread use of wireless on ships of all classes, the last few years have seen radical changes in the Coast Guard cruising program through the severe winter season. Formerly it was the custom to send cutters out on patrol duty for five months allowing them to make port only to replenish fuel and food supplies.

Now, however, the improved and extended wireless communication have eliminated much of the unnecessary cruising, and rendered the Coast Guard Cutters more efficient when in constant touch with their shore stations. During the stormy season, all leaves are suspended, a capacity stock of fuel and food is aboard, and all life-saving equipment is ready for instant use.

The 270 stations along the 10,000 miles of American coast also take on new life in the winter months. The personnel is brought up to a maximum; several hours are devoted to drill each day, and the beach parties are augmented.

A report of the Coast Guard activities for 1921 shows that there were but two days during the year which did not bring a call for assistance from some quarter. Only 37 calls were answered.

The duties of the Coast Guard are varied and varied. The most important work, however, consists of rendering assistance to vessels in distress, and taking off the passengers and crews where necessary; destroying or removing derelicts and other dangers to navigation; enforcing the laws relating to quarantine and neutrality; extending medical aid to American vessels engaged in deep-sea fishing; suppression of mutinies on merchant vessels; protection of game and the seal and other fisheries in Alaska; and operating as a part of the navy in time of war.

When a passenger car is converted to a truck or a private use car is put in use for hire, the tag can be sent to the comptroller for cancellation and credit on cost of the truck tag or tag for hire.

OVERPAYMENTS WILL BE REFUNDED.
Be sure to send enough money. If you send too much, the Comptroller will refund the over-payment; if you do not send enough, your tag cannot be sent out until the proper amount is received.

FACTORY WEIGHTS ARE USED.
Factory rating of weights and capacity will govern unless the owner can furnish evidence to contrary, based on actual weighing of machine. Major fractions count as even burdens; for example, a machine actually weighing 1,550 pounds would be classed as 1,600 pounds; one weighing 1,500 pounds would be classed as 1,500 pounds.
