

Bobby Aids High, Burns Reiterates

PENSACOLA (UPI)—Gov. Haydon Burns showed north-west Florida voters material today that he said proved his opponents' campaign was being run by the same backers that helped elect New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The Governor told an early morning coffee crowd of about 250 supporters that campaign brochures for Miami Mayor Robert King High were nearly identical to material used by the successful campaign to elect Kennedy.

Burns took every speaking opportunity in this last swing through northwest Florida before the governor and Bobby Burns held into a round of hand-shaking at industrial plants and shopping centers. With the election only six days off, the Governor posted it up one side of the street and down the other, shaking every hand in sight.

"I'm going to slug it out like anybody else slugs," he said. "I'm not going to let anybody else slug me."

He said Kennedy was interested in the Florida governor's race to further his own desire to become president. He said Kennedy hoped to elect High who, as governor, would head of the delegation to the National Democratic Convention, could influence Florida's delegation to back Kennedy for the presidency.

"But that will never happen," Burns told the wildly applauding and cheering crowd. "Robert King High will never be governor and Bobby Burns will never be president."

He said the state could not afford to turn its affairs over to "radical extremists" under High. "We have come too far under the tradition of progressive conservatism in this state to make a change now," he said.

The Governor criticized High for injecting the race issue into the campaign, showing an April news story from a wire service that High brought up the race issue in a Miami speech to a Negro teachers' union, showing that Burns had accused High of being the NAACP candidate in this campaign but High brought it up.

He renewed his criticism of High for introducing a "known Miami gambler" to Atty. Gen. Earl Faloehin in an effort to find a loophole in the state gambling laws.

"A man is known by the company he keeps," Burns told the crowd. Faloehin acknowledged that High brought each and every person in question to a hotel room in Sarasota and asked Faloehin to help him if he could and that the man asked him for an interpretation that would permit some types of gambling on midway concessions at fairs and carnivals.

The man in question announced in Miami that he will use Burns for stender and denied he is a gambler or tried to get Faloehin to do anything clandestine or illegal.

Occasionally, Burns made light references to New York Negro Congressman Adam Clayton Powell's statement in Miami that if he were a Floridian, he would support High against Burns. High has received Burns supporters of hand-shaking at industrial plants and shopping centers. With the election only six days off, the Governor posted it up one side of the street and down the other, shaking every hand in sight.

Kidnaped Girl Freed

SHADE GAP, Pa. (UPI)—Peggy Ann Bradnick, 17, kidnaped and held in chains for seven terrifying days by a long-sought deranged sniper who turned killer, was rescued unharmed today. The kidnaper was shot to death by a 15-year-old farm boy.

"Thank God... Thank God... I'm safe... I'm safe..." she cried, blue-eyed, brown-haired high school junior cried over and over as she ran into the arms of Pittsburgh Press reporter Scott Romback, who pushed her to the ground to avoid being hit by bullets.

The kidnaper, William D. Hollenbaugh, 44, was shot through the neck, State Police said he was hit by the farm boy, Larry Rubick, who fired a .22 caliber rifle through a closed window of his home at nearby Post Litleton.

A short while before he was killed, Hollenbaugh shot and critically wounded a deputy sheriff.

The dramatic events outside the Rubick home took place only a few minutes after a heavily armed force of 675 men began an assault on nearby Mountain where the kidnaper was trapped with the girl Tuesday night.

Almost unbelievably, the wild, crazed kidnaper—who killed Edith Turner, a 12-year-old girl, and killed Terry Anderson from ambush on the mountain Tuesday — slipped through the large posse, which had maintained an all-night vigil around the mountain.

At about 4 a.m. today the kidnaper surprised Deputy Sheriff Francis Sharpe at a roadblock. He forced Sharpe at gunpoint into the driver's seat of the deputy's car, got in beside him and made Peggy Ann lie on the floor in the rear. He then ordered Sharpe to drive to the Rubick home. A few other state troopers were manning a roadblock at the house last night.

The kidnaper, Sharpe got out of the car to tell the troopers, Hollenbaugh got out of the car and, holding the girl in front of him, began firing. One of his bullets hit Sharpe, wounding him critically.

As the kidnaper moved toward the porch of the Rubick home, a trooper returned his fire and the Rubick boy ran from a barn where he had been doing chores inside the house. The boy shouted to his mother:

Beware Of GOP, Candidate Says

By Donna Eides

"Republicans will come crawling out of the woodwork like termites before the November elections and then look for your houses," Robert Petre, candidate for the Democratic State Executive committee, warned at Tuesday evening's meeting of the Seminole County Democratic Association.

Petre stressed the need for a strong, vigorous, dynamic party, calling himself a "liberal" who will devote all his energies to the office, if elected, and promising to "build such a party and not a machine which would interfere in the operation of the municipalities."

He also further barked at his opponent, incumbent Robert Billheimer, who was unable to attend because of a "previous commitment," by repeating his acceptance of Billheimer's factional endorsement of Petre for governor.

"If Billheimer will thus be encouraged and motivated to attend party functions," Petre then offered his endorsement of Billheimer for chairman of the Republican executive committee.

High Hits Sanford In Campaign

Robert King High, Democratic candidate for governor, will make his first public appearance in Seminole County at 8:30 p.m. tonight at the Civic Center.

Appearing with High will be Scott Kelly, who is campaigning with High. The two will be honored guests at a reception followed by dinner at 8 p.m.

Although High had no active organization in the county during the first primary, he has picked up support here from the Kellys. He and Kelly will motor here from Titusville and leave immediately after the dinner for another campaign appearance in Central Florida.

High's support here is a "governor's council" organized along the east-central coast today and accused Gov. Haydon Burns of failing to safeguard Florida's rivers and streams against pollution.

The Miami mayor, making a conservationist plank in the platform he hopes will unseat Burns in next Tuesday's runoff primary, promised to give "top priority" to conserving Florida's natural resources.

He told a group of supporters at a breakfast meeting in Stuart of plans to create a "governor's council on conservation" to advise the cabinet and state agencies on conservation policy.

County Charges Hazing Suspects

Seminole County Builders and Contractors Association today charged a group of high school students with hazing a new recruit.

The charge was made at a meeting of the association Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. tonight at Spencer's Restaurant.

Abatement voting is running heavier in Seminole County for the Tuesday runoff than for the May 3 primary. A total of 155 absentee ballots have been mailed so far in comparison with a total of 146 who voted absentee in the last primary.

Abatement voting continues until 5 p.m. Monday.

Yernon W. Dunn, former county commissioner, against annexation by Casselberry of a section across SR 430 is as follows:

"This would result in intolerable conditions. Many commercial establishments are considerable distance from the municipality of Casselberry and would request to have annexation in order to sell alcoholic beverages on Sunday."

Casselberry is a Sunday oasis in a "dry" desert.

The Seminole High P.F.A. Chapter has just recently received a new tractor. The boys of the vocational agriculture classes and the P.F.A. members will soon get to try out their skill of this new tractor. Other P.F.A. chapters receive are the Sanford Junior High and Crosses High vocational agriculture departments.

Surprise door prizes are the bait at the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Coffee Club meeting Thursday. Pete Knowles will show slides on lakefront development and answer questions. Coffee and donuts will be served at the USO room of the chamber building.

County Rescinds Paving Contract

A paving bid awarded to Orange Paving and Construction Company for work in the Johns River Estates has been rescinded by the Board of County Commissioners upon request of the bidder.

The bid of $44,808 was awarded the company to pave certain streets in the subdivision with bond money from the American Fire and Casualty Co.

Jack King of Orange Paving and Construction Company appeared before the board Tuesday and asked to withdraw the bid. His request was granted and his "good faith" money will be refunded.

There was a possibility that the bond money would be tied up in litigation and the county was reluctant to guarantee payment to the paving contractor.

In other action Tuesday, the Board agreed to set up a special meeting with Seminole County municipalities to discuss participation of the county in various city projects.

Councilman E. E. Williamson of Longwood appeared before the board to ask for aid in paving sidewalks to Longwood Elementary School. Action on adopting a directive for operation of the county's landfills was postponed to the May 24 meeting.

Youth Arrested

Anthony J. Wright, 18, of 1412 Lake Avenue, was arrested and charged with the May 1 burglary of Tip Top Super Market, 1100 West 15th Street. Approximately $50 in change, believed to be part of the loot, was recovered by Det. Sgt. Charles E. Pagan of the Sanford Police.

Rebels Down Yank Airplane

SAIGON (UPI)— Rebel troops at the Dien Hoa Buddhist pagoda in Da Nang shot down an American observation plane out of the sky tonight and cheered as it fell from the sky trailing heavy black smoke. Premier Nguyen Cao Ky had just left the city.

Ky made a dramatic flight to the anti-government city of Da Nang and installed a new military commander from the five rebellious northern provinces.

But rebel troops there circulated petitions demanding his overthrow and loop-up positions opposite loyal troops flown in by Ky.

Both the U. S. Army pilot and the U. S. Marine observer aboard the C-124 (Birddog) observation plane shot down in Da Nang escaped serious injuries and were picked up by a rescue helicopter after they made a crash landing on a wide dirt road outside the downtown area.

Jr. College Adds Fiscal Manager

Employment of A. R. Killiam as business manager of Seminole Junior College was approved by the Board of Public Instruction, on recommendation of the SAC advisory board.

Killiam served as finance director of Orange Junior College for 14 years and now is with the Orange County tax assessor's office.

In other action the board awarded purchase of a dump truck to the apparent low bidder, International Truck Company of Orlando. It also signed interim agreements on commodity purchases for county schools.

WINNERS of Haydon Burns scholarships at Lyman High School are Kristine Martin (left), Leslie Haselbacher and Carol Perrault. Kristine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Martin, Casselberry, will attend St. Petersburg Junior College, and Leslie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Hazelbaker, Lake Branley, and Carol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip R. Perrault, Altamonte Springs, will attend Seminole Junior College. (Herald Photo)

IBJ Scores 'Nervous Nellies' Over Vietnam War Policies

WASHINGTON (UPI)—casualties in the hundreds of thousands—perhaps in the millions.

"Your government is determined to resist this aggression at the minimum cost to our people, to our allies and to the world," the President said.

He urged again—as he did in Houston and Washington—that Americans and their allies in the division over the war in Vietnam pull together in the interest of a national policy that he said was above any purely political considerations.

"There will be some Nervous Nellies and some who will be frustrated and bitter and break ranks under the strain and turn on their own leaders, their own country, and their own fighting men," he said.

"Put away all the childish drive-thru things, if you want the maturity and the unity that is the mortar of a nation's greatness," the Chief Executive exhorted about 7,000 persons at a Democratic fund-raising rally in Chicago Thursday night.

"I do not think that those men who are out there fighting for us tonight think we should enjoy the luxury of fighting each other back home," he said, appealing to all Americans to "come together as a people and as a nation" to support the Vietnam policy.

The fighting tone of Johnson's Chicago speech followed the pattern of his political campaign, which has been an appearance than the other way.

In two previous affairs at Washington and Houston, Tex., he also urged Democrats to stand up for the policy in Vietnam before the voters, despite criticism from within their own party and from the Republicans.

The President told the Chicago rally that as of early morning 1106 Americans had died in Vietnam this year.

"But I tell you that, if we fall in trusting this aggression, the war that would surely come in Asia would produce more deaths."

'Agonizing Reappraisal' Due In Gemini Program

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—The remainder of America's Gemini man-in-space program may be in for what the late John Foster Dulles would have called an "agonizing reappraisal."

The reasons lay with 23 million worth of scrap space machinery on the floor of the Atlantic Ocean, with weeks of time lost in a delicately balanced schedule and with increased work demands piled on the shoulders of the remaining four flights by costly failures.

These major setbacks in seven months have eroded the time and worked margins in the $2.8 billion Gemini program. The least was the plunge that lost a $13 million Atlas-Agena into the sea to the later man-to-the-moon Apollo voyages.

—The so-called Augmented Target Docking Adapter, or ATD, satellite is launched on the next attempt at Gemini 9 in early June, the space agency will have exhausted its reserves. There are no more standby targets available.

—Further losses of Agena satellites could slip the Gemini 10, 11 and 12 launch dates to the end of 1967, with perhaps a corresponding delay in the start of the Apollo program.

—The work that astronauts aboard Gemini 10, 11 and 12 will handle must be increased, or the agency must run the risk of falling short of its goals in the project.

Fruit And Vegetable Supply Said 'Good'

(The following guide to the nation's food shopping buys for the weekend of May 19 was prepared by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.)

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rain in some areas slowed harvest but generally good weather has prevailed in most sections to provide a good summer supply of fruits and vegetables.

In many areas the spotlight is on beef. Various roasts and steaks are good buys in some sections. In pork, bacon, hams, and loin cuts are potential favorites for weekend buying. Lamb chops and broiler-fryer chicken continue on the list for "best buys."

In the plentiful vegetable bin are green beans, cabbage, celery, sweet corn, lettuce, onions, squash, sweet potatoes, and tomatoes.

Fruits are "busting out all over." Rain and frost slowed some harvests, but in most cases apples, avocados, bananas, cantaloupes, lemons, oranges, and strawberries are still in welcome the warm summer.

Nationally fish plentiful include fish sticks and portions, canned red salmon, and scallops.

Annex Approved At Casselberry

Casselberry city council Monday night instructed city Attorney Kenneth McIntosh to prepare an ordinance annexing several lots of the South Fern Park area and a tract of land on Lake Kathryn, the proposed site for an $4-million apartment complex.

At the same time, the council was acting favorably on the zoning board's recommendation the Lake Kathryn property be rezoned from R-1A single family dwellings to R-3 multiple family dwellings.

This action came over the protest of Julius Sienkiewicz, 270 Lake Kathryn Circle, and other property owners around the lake.

Also included in the property to be annexed, if council gives final approval, is the Club Juana nightclub on Hwy. 17-92. If this property is taken into the city, it will give an outlet for Sunday sales of package beer and liquor, allowed in Casselberry.

Prices Rising

For years Nebraska visiting here could attend a weekly dutch treat breakfast with congressmen for a Senate dining room charge of $1. The price jumped to $1.25 earlier this year and Tuesday was raised to $1.35.

Agonizing Reappraisal Due In Gemini Program

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—The remainder of America's Gemini man-in-space program may be in for what the late John Foster Dulles would have called an "agonizing reappraisal."

The reasons lay with 23 million worth of scrap space machinery on the floor of the Atlantic Ocean, with weeks of time lost in a delicately balanced schedule and with increased work demands piled on the shoulders of the remaining four flights by costly failures.

These major setbacks in seven months have eroded the time and worked margins in the $2.8 billion Gemini program. The least was the plunge that lost a $13 million Atlas-Agena into the sea to the later man-to-the-moon Apollo voyages.

—The so-called Augmented Target Docking Adapter, or ATD, satellite is launched on the next attempt at Gemini 9 in early June, the space agency will have exhausted its reserves. There are no more standby targets available.

—Further losses of Agena satellites could slip the Gemini 10, 11 and 12 launch dates to the end of 1967, with perhaps a corresponding delay in the start of the Apollo program.

—The work that astronauts aboard Gemini 10, 11 and 12 will handle must be increased, or the agency must run the risk of falling short of its goals in the project.

It's Banque - NOT La Bunk

Where do you bank?
As La Banque Continentale, we presume.
Not well, what are you—some kind of a bank?
The Banque Continentale, as you probably have read, has opened up in New York City—on Fifth Avenue, Suite 2000—giving "gracious, personal service to people of means."
"People of means," statistics are people who can open a checking account by sending down a minimum of $50.00 and keeping the old balance at that figure or above. Otherwise—O.K.?
And "gracious, personal service" means dealing with bank personnel who can speak as many as six languages if the people of means want that many to do their banking. And it means there's a butler on hand, made to serve tea to the people of means. And some of the times are in the world hanging on the wall.
Man, that's putting your money where it counts!
In describing La Banque's refinements, an official of the bank boasted, "We've got a lot of money, and we've got a lot of money. In recent years, banks have opened their doors to the masses, and the masses have really taken over the banks."
Those of us who have been cast by fate to be among those masses and for some reason can't maintain a minimum of $50.00 in our checking accounts may try to console ourselves by reflecting that even if we could, we probably couldn't pronounce La Banque.
It could come out sounding like la-bunk. Indeed it could.

Good Cause To Swear By

One project that is bound to draw at least cursory attention is Conrad Cormier's profligate party.
Each year barber Cormier installs the pot, or bowl, in his shop in Hartford, Conn., and turns curmudgeons into charity.
The format is simple. Anyone who cuts loose with a naughty word in the shop during Lent has to put a dime in the pot.
The Crippled Children's Hospital in Hartford received $101 in swearword revenue—a record high. Last year the hospital got 79.9¢.
Most of the 1966 increase, Cormier explains, came from the Casian Clay fight.
"I brought in $15 all by itself," he reports contentedly.
The way things are going at home and around the world, there is little reason to believe the barber's discussion group will contribute a lesser amount to the hospital next year.
The curmudgeon fund may, in fact, reach another all-time high—especially if taxes are raised and Clay keeps talking as profanely as he.
Go congratulations to you, barber Cormier, for helping a worthy cause and at the same time perhaps slowing down profanely a bit.
A heck of a good idea, a!

Dick West's The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The least surprising news of the week has got to be the report that voodoo, black magic and other superstitions serve as a substitute for psychiatry in so-called primitive societies.
I thought everybody knew that. It should be apparent even in this country, where psychiatry serves as a substitute for superstitions.
Yet the subject was brought before a meeting of the American Psychiatric Association as though it were a startling discovery.
You don't have to live in a primitive society to recognize superstitions promote mental health. Superstitions are among the oldest security symbols known to man.
As long as you believe that some good will come from treating your fingers or throwing salt over your shoulder you are in control of the situation and able to cope with vicissitudes of life.
It is when you come to regard such things as futile gestures that you lose your composure and start feeling naked, alone and apprehensive.
Nothing shatters a person's confidence more than to realize that he will have to struggle along on his own device.
Although papers presented at the meeting conclude that primitive people benefit psychologically from voodoo, some of the psychiatrists recommended that it be practiced in the United States.
Presumably there are very few competition from the voodoo doctor.
If our society is too advanced for voodoo, and since most of our traditional superstitions appear outdated, we obviously need a set of modern superstitions to allay our traumas, combat our nervousness and otherwise help us along the rocky path.
Instant superstitions are hard to come by, but here are a few for you that will suit something more comforting developments:
—A note that the Internal Revenue Service is auditing your tax return is a sign of good luck.
—Dancing all evening without touching your partner will make pimples disappear.
—Changing lanes just before rush hour traffic will help you get home sooner.
—Climbing the block will create a vacant parking place.
—A vacation is a good time to get some rest.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—A study circulating among high government officials...
The effect of a single election (atomic) weapon upon an American city would be very great, but America would be able to continue with only minimum effects.
"A selectively located nuclear explosion in Adala, Alaska or Caracas, on the other hand, could very effectively decapitate the American or Venezuelan society."
"Consider the effect of a nuclear suitcase bomb set off in Saigon in 1969 or a nuclear explosion in Los Angeles, at the height of the Vietnam war."
"Very small nuclear development programs can therefore be the greater significant cause in the underdeveloped world than in the great power relations."
Some officials believe the only effective counter to super-repulsive suitcase bombs will be to help threatened underdeveloped countries develop strong local decentralized governments that would not be destroyed by the nuclear devastation of their capital cities.
The report says:
"Very minimal programs... enough to produce a few suitcase bombs, could assume great strategic potential in these (underdeveloped) areas, especially where a national society is made very vital."
The suitcase "bombs" could be held under the operational control of the Red Chinese, Russian or Egyptian.

Russia Woos UAR
By Paul Newman
The reception accorded by UAR President Abdel Nasser for arriving Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin did not quite come up to that for Nikita S. Khrushchev two years before but it was impressive, and the visit was timely.
It also was apparent that after two years of consolidation following Khrushchev's ouster that the new Khrushchev leadership now felt itself ready to move out into broader fields.
For this move, it was natural that Kosygin should select Cairo.
For one thing, the Mideastern pot was bubbling again. For the Russians there might be a chance to reinforce and expand a position first assumed 10 years ago when they moved into the vacuum left by Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal and the subsequent withdrawal of U.S. and British aid for Nasser's pet project, the Aswan Dam.
Encouraging signs were another period of deteriorating relations between the UAR and the United States, and the clear indication that in the power struggle between the Soviets and the Red Chinese, Nasser's sympathies lay with the Soviets.
For Nasser, whose prestige has been on the wane of late, there was the lure to be gained from a visit by the Soviet premier plus the hope that, even if not willing to extend new loans, the Russians might at least be willing to extend or even wipe out some old ones.
Beyond this was the matter of mutual interests.

300 Attend Geneva Museum Dedication

Approximately 300 men, women and children attended the annual picnic of the Geneva Historical and Genealogical Society at Fort Lane Park. One-time residents of Geneva came from all over Florida, Alabama, South Carolina, Mississippi, and Virginia to renew old friendships, reminisce and enjoy the bounteous feast. In addition to the traditional fish fry and hush puppy, the table groaned under the weight of all sorts of goodies.
After burning the trash, packing the remains, those attending returned to Geneva for dedication of the new museum. A rain shower forced a change of plans so that the ceremony had to be held inside the building. Leo Rehbinder, of Fort Meade, cut the ribbon.
Don Cheney, of the Orange County Historical Society, was guest speaker. On the platform were: Mrs. W. G. Kibbe, vice president of the Society; Mrs. Vickie Young, third, for "Mama"; and Mrs. Della Hoffman, honorable mention, for "Paisante".

AMONG OLDER members of the Geneva Historical and Genealogical Society, who were young people together in Geneva some 50 years or more ago, attending annual picnic and fish fry were (top, seated, from left) Mrs. Annie Peters Wagner, Mrs. Bertha David, and Mrs. Mayme Steeven Mathieux; (back) Leo H. Strikes... Spares

By John A. Spohrer
Quite often, we are told by our bowlers that the game of bowling has helped them to overcome an arthritic condition. This fact, incidentally, verified by all those who feel real good in knowing that you've brightened the day for a soul or two.

After three months of persistent fishing in Deltona Lakes for the big one, Joe Schueeler's dream finally came true. At 6 a.m. on a recent morning, Schueeler headed for his favorite fishing spot. His first catch was a bass that weighed just a little over a pound. Then came another strike that led to the landing of a two-pounder. Then came the lucky number when Schueeler hooked the big seven and a quarter pounder picked here on the left. His bait was live shiner and he used an automatic reel with eight pound test monofilament line. The big catch measured 25 inches long.

In addition, fire fighting problems were discussed and emergency methods of dealing with certain possible fire sites in Sanford were mapped out.

Rounders Set
Jean Kerr Hit,
'Poor Richard'

"Poor Richard," the latest Broadway hit from the pen of Jean Kerr, will be the next production of The Rounders, in place of the previously announced "The Fourposter."

"I feel we have made a real coup in getting this play," says director Barry Laven. "The critics all called it a better—and funnier—play than Miss Kerr's big hit, 'Merry, Mary.'"

The play "Poor Richard" only recently closed after a lengthy run on Broadway and has just been released for staged production.

"The Rounders will be giving one of the first little theatre productions of 'Poor Richard' in the nation," Laven said. "In fact, it may well be the first such staging," he added.

The play concerns a young English poet, Richard, who has written a play in his beloved and recently deceased wife. The play (and Richard) have both become national celebrities, but Richard is convinced that the play (and he) are both emotionally bankrupt.

Kerr Richard's editor. He knows the poet is wrong about himself and his poem, but cannot for the life of him snap his young friend out of mourning. Enter the editor's secretary, she has long decided, in her forthright, girlish way, that there is only one cure for "Poor Richard": he must marry. She has also decided whom he must marry: her.

Using this hilarious, British play and a clearly American young woman.

There are five characters in the play: Richard Ford, the British poet in his thirties, temporarily in New York; physically, he might just as easily be taken for a gardener or a truck driver; Catherine Shaw, an American girl in her early twenties, newly a secretary; Sydney Carroll, editor for a large publishing firm in New York. He is only a few years older than Richard, but is the kind of man who always seems ten years older than he is; Ginny Baker, Angela's (Richard's late wife) sister. A straightforward girl in her early thirties, always impeccably dressed; and John McFarland, a writer on Time magazine in his late twenties, easy and intelligent.

Additions for "Poor Richard" will be held Monday night at the Sanford Women's Club, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. All interested persons in Seminole County are invited to read for the five roles.

The play is tentatively scheduled for public performances on June 24 and 25.

Organizing New Life Away From Home

By Masley J. Morda
Dean of the College Wesleyan University
Written for Newspaper Eastern States Assn.

(Second of a Series)
One of the most significant aspects of a college education is that it very often means a change of scene for the student. The old neighborhood and the old gang are gone. Direct reliance upon—or rebellion against—mother and dad are no longer possible. This is a consummation long and devoutly hoped by most high school students. Getting away seems to represent breakthrough into life. But many young men and women begin to have second thoughts as they near time to leave. Having impatiently awaited the adult status of a college student, they tend to hold back as time grows short. They worry about "the unknown." Once arrived on campus, they are relieved by the appearance of old friends who have come in the same way. Even casual acquaintances assume a new importance. While the reaction is natural, conditioning against it is wise. A college education presupposes change, challenge, ferment. There certainly is no reason to cling desperately to every scrap of remembered past. A surprising number of new students come down with full-fledged cases of homesickness during the first semester. Brothers and sisters, are, suddenly, remembered as being quite human. There is even some appreciation of parents. No matter how they aspire to get away while back in high school, some freshmen discover a homesickness that distances and finances make it all practical, they make a direct line for home every weekend. It is not necessarily a good idea. Dashing back every weekend weakens the commitment and immersion the student should feel in his new life at college. A good rule is to stay on campus during the "trial light." There is no need to bring an entire wardrobe and all books, records and athletic equipment. Having this well-worn gear at hand may have a tranquilizing effect. But it really is not needed. Dress on most campuses is extremely informal. A general rule is: "Live inexpensively. College students are not generally impressed by the big spender. Certainly their friendship is not bought." Many students have no choice but to "live inexpensively." At least 25 per cent of all college students must work in or more hours a week to keep up with their expenses. They have neither the time, the inclination nor the resources for the local equivalent of the vita dolce. Work, on the current campus, is customary and fully accepted. There is no stigma connected with taking, say, a part-time job. The student's office or going to work in town. A general principle is: "Be tolerant." This should guide the new student in his relations with all those with whom he has contact. An inability or unwillingness to understand or ride along with minor foibles encountered among students or faculty can only make adapting to the

Seagren Sets Pole Vault Mark

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI)—Tommie Smith, of San Jose State may be the world's finest track and field athlete as depicted out by that new measuring system, but for a while at least 19-year-old Bob Seagren of Glendale (Calif.) Junior College has to rate as his equal. Seagren, who spends at such time in the vaulting pits as Smith does running his sprints, set a world record in the pole vault here last Saturday night when he sailed 17 feet, 5 1/2 inches at the West Coast relay. That broke Fred Hansen's record of 17 and the fact that it came with less than half of

Sanford Scouts To Attend Camp

Silver Lake is the site this year of Citrus Council of Girl Scouts Day Camp for some 80 girls from the Sanford area. All registered Girl Scouts, Brownies through seniors, are invited to register through the Citrus Council office, P. O. Box 6046, Ocala, Fla. Non-Scouts may register after May 15. Day Camping is the Scout's big program in the outdoors. Campers from seven to 17 meet together in small groups with special adult leaders to plan and carry out camp activities. Girls will have fun hiking, exploring, cooking-out, singing, learning new crafts and getting to know girls from other troops. The natural resources of the site will be used extensively for outdoor activities based on the foundation elements of Girl Scouting. Core staff for the Day Camp will be Mrs. Don Riddle, director; Miss Barbara White, assistant director and field adviser to the Sanford area and Mrs. Max Malry, unit program consultant. Many adults have already shown an interest in assisting with the camp, but additional staff is needed. Special training will be given prior to the opening date of the Silver Lake Day Camp. For more information or application forms, please contact the Council Office or Mrs. J. J. Sporensky, neighborhood chairman, 322-2160.

Janet Leigh," says Robert Calkins, who is directing her in
"An American Dream." "I don't think she's ever gone so deep into herself to find character as she's going in this picture."
"The film may do more than just reveal her character," Janet Leigh as an actress.
It conceivably could change her life — at least, her way of thinking.

"The script has me all shook up," Janet said. "We were talking to Bill Phillips' cabin in Warner Bros. makeup department, while he did magical things to her eyes."
The script, based on Norman Mailer's provocative novel, has Janet playing a night club singer. Like everyone else in the story, her character is unsympathetic.

"We've all corrupted," Janet said, as Phillips applied some eyeliner. "And it's getting me started thinking — I can't seem to stop thinking about it."
In her career, she says, has this happened. Trying to search for the example of how a previous movie role had altered her way of life, she came up with "Psycho."
"I am not a brain girl,"

I lived in. I said that I was really a rich girl but my parents felt I should grow up with ordinary children, so every morning the chauffeur drove me to this house. And then I would go to school with the children on the block.
Well, the girl believed me.
And at school she began asking me about it again, but one of my girl friends — who knew me very well — heard her. I was caught good."

Band Boosters Set Fish Fry
By Jess Chubberty
The Lyman High School Band Boosters Association will sponsor a fish fry beginning at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Lyman Football Field with the public invited.

Officers for the coming year were elected at the final boosters meeting of the school year. They include Mrs. Betty Miller, president;
Donald King, vice president;
Mrs. E. Harville, secretary, and Mrs. Donald Murray, treasurer.

A gift of silver trays was presented by the Band Boosters to Band Director John Blair in appreciation for his help and cooperation.
The association has engrossed $1000 to date, and has given assistance with the band program this year.

Astro-Ant Dies
In Space Crash
EDMONTON (UPI) — A second attempt to launch the "Starlight I" failed when the space vehicle fell over and burned out on the launch pad during one of the "astronauts" on board.

The Starlight I, a single-stage rocket propelled by firecracker powder, was constructed by Kenneth Crotney, Hugh Boyd and Brian Reyline, all fifth graders in Edmonton.
The two passengers were ants.

High Cost Of Auto Accidents
WASHINGTON (UPI)—
Automobile accidents cost the nation $2 billion to $3 billion a year, costing the cost of man-hours lost to the economy as well as the actual property damage.

This estimate, made by J.
Herbert Holloman, assistant secretary of commerce for science and technology, is three times as high as previous estimates.
But Holloman said he figured that the 50,000 persons killed each year could have saved $10 billion over the rest of their lives.

Free Elections
But Not In D. C.
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House, which has refused to provide self-government in its own backyard, approved legislation providing for free elections for governors of territories of Guam and the Virgin Islands.

Once the Senate approves the measure, the District of Columbia and some scattered Pacific islands will be the only U. S. territories left without their own government.
Congress retains full control over the nation's capital, refusing to grant self-government to local residents.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—
Police said a serious traffic jam resulted when a bag containing $60,000 in currency fell from the back of an armored car and burst on the Ventura Freeway. Motorists stopped to give chase to the bills. Police were able to recover only about $1,000.

Police Chief Cites 29 Ways To Baffle The Criminal

This is Police Week . . . a week set aside for public recognition of this nation's law enforcement officers.
Sanford's Police Chief Ar-old S. Williams has taken the opportunity to speak out against an apparent public apathy toward crime.

"How many of us really care until crime strikes home?"
he asks. "Until we are attacked? Or a neighbor's house is robbed?"
"Too many people are casual even careless about home and property protection," Williams says. "Ironically, the person robbed usually has himself to blame. A professional burglar, with an eye for his own safety, looks for houses that are temporarily empty and easy to enter."

"Many homeowners obligingly advertise the fact they will be away from home," Wil-iams states. "Some leave their houses insecurely locked. Help the burglar by making a burglar's job easier and increase the chances he will get away with your possessions."
Williams offers these helpful hints for protecting property:

1. Keep a record of serial number and description of your jewelry, electrical appliances, bicycles, firearms, etc. You will have a better chance to identify and recover them should they be stolen.
2. Be cautious in turning over valuable furs or rugs to a cleaning firm you know nothing about. Check its reputation and reliability first.
3. Be careful not to display large sums of money in public or to give evidence of possessing expensive jewelry or furs.
4. If your home or business place should be burglarized at any time and the thieves over-
5. Never leave valuable clothing, furs, or rugs hanging on the line when going out.
6. Be careful in laying down your purse or handbag on the counter in a store while ex- amining merchandise.
7. Hold tightly to your handbag when walking along the street. A purse snatcher may suddenly take it away from you.
8. Watch out for pickpockets who are active in crowds, buses, trains, theaters, stores, at athletic events, and other places where there are large numbers of people gathered.
9. When visiting a public washroom, double check before you leave that you did not forget your watch or ring. They may be gone when you return for them later.
10. When entertaining guests, do not leave handbags, furs, coats, hats, or other valuables lying in the bedroom unless you are sure the windows are securely locked, and no intruder can gain entrance.
11. Cashing checks for strangers who do not have proper identification is risky, even for businessmen who are accustomed to handling such transactions.
12. Install proper locks and use them.
13. Cashing checks for strangers who do not have proper identification is risky, even for businessmen who are accustomed to handling such transactions.
14. Call the police if you see any suspicious persons loitering in your neighborhood.

'Free' Misnomer For Vietnamese Voters

By Tom Nolan
WASHINGTON (NSA) — Perhaps the most significant fact about the proposed election in South Vietnam is that it is being held in Washington, D.C., rather than in the country itself.

For good reason, the word simply is a misnomer when applied in any sense to the Vietnamese electorate.

A national election as promised by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, has never been held in South Vietnam. The possibilities of intimidation and terrorism along this "un-chartered path" are very real to many observers, including Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

"If people are threatened with assassination, with kidnapping, with torture — which is a very common thing in Southeast Asia — if there is intimidation, one has to wonder, then, of course, (an election) won't be a success," Lodge has said.

In the chaotic conditions now rampant in virtually every part of the Vietnamese countryside, one has to wonder if life stands out. An unknown person is automatically presumed to be an enemy by both sides.

More often than not, confrontations of this type are quickly resolved against the stranger — generally by a bullet in the back of the head. That this sort of procedure might indeed be used in many parts of South Vietnam to determine voters' registration lists is not ruled out by officials in Saigon or Washington.

But the real crux of the problem is that the term, "free elections," is generally interpreted in the days to mean "informed electorate."

And, as almost every American observer who has visited the Vietnamese farmer has reported, the Vietnamese farmer is more closely akin to the 18th century than the 20th century.

Probably more than half of the country's rural population is illiterate. The average adult's vocabulary is limited to a couple of hundred words. His power of reason, American officials estimate, develops only slightly beyond the level of a 15-year-old in the United States.

The U. S. Information Agency (USIA), conducting a study of peasant reaction to motion pictures, found that even the simplest five-minute film had to be shown four times to the same audience before it began to penetrate.

Another USIA effort — distributing matchbooks bearing a six-word message — ending support of the strategic hamlet program — failed because the peasants could not figure out

Restaurateur Faces Charges

MIAMI (UPI)—James Palmisano, 32, a Miami restaurateur operator was arrested by the FBI and charged with the abduction of a couple who own a restaurant in Hialeah.

Palmisano, 32, was charged with one count of violating the Hobbs Antiracketeering Act. He was accused of "attemping to extort money and place himself on the payroll of the Red Lobster Cafeteria," the FBI said.

Agents said he also attempted to obtain $1,000 from Mr. and Mrs. Milton Palmisano by "threatening force violence and fear."

Muffling The Population Explosion Up To Young Couples

By Tom Nolan
WASHINGTON (NSA) — Whether the U.S. population will rise to 300 million or more to an astronomical 400 million by the year 2000 is entirely in the hands of today's young (20-30) married couples.

Should each of these couples have one less child than they're expected to have, the population by 2000 would be slightly less than 300 million. But, should half of them have one extra child, the population would pass 400 million.

In those days of crowded schools, increasing juvenile delinquency and rising unemployment among the young, U.S. population experts feel the country would be a lot better off at the lower figure.

The world's first population expert, Thomas Malthus, a 19th century English economist, held that population increases at a faster rate than its means of support. Today's experts, with more sophisticated statistical tools, have been able to develop a more exact rule of thumb for America.

An increase of one child per family in the next five or ten years will mean an increase of 70 million people by the turn of the century.

Should it decline to 2.4, the population by 2000 would be 360 million.

The average number of children per family is now 3.3. Should this average lock up to 2.4, the population by 2000 would be 360 million.

That such a decline now seems "almost out of the question," there are a few encouraging signs:

• Nearly 80 per cent of the population is using contraceptive devices effectively. A recent Public Health Service study reported that a majority of couples questioned considered that the "ideal family" consisted of two to four children — a figure entirely a matter of choice rather than chance.

Sea Film To Be Shown In DeBary

By Mrs. John Lingo
The DeBary Civic Association film offering at the DeBary Community Center for Friday night, will be the popular documentary in color, "The Sea Around Us," based on Rachel B. Carson's best selling book.
The never ending battle of survival that rages in the depths of the ocean is thrillingly brought to the screen in this exceptionally accurate film. Beginning with the creation of the earth and encompassing time to the present, the film covers subjects ranging from the microscopic sea life, to the huge whales.
This science film will be supplemented by Historic Virginia, a short picture of the people, places, and ideas, in the old Dominion that contributed significantly to America's greatness.
Karl Merrill, chairman of the Civic film program, comments, "These two films will be of particular interest and value to school children in their natural science and social studies. Adults will find answers to the new food needs of the world's expanding population."
The public is invited to attend. Free will donations are accepted in help defray costs of showing.

Operation On Muck Completed
By Paul Brookshire
Dredging of 300,000 cubic yards of muck for the Sanford marina project is near completion and filling in of the 15-acre site will begin Friday. City Manager Warren E. Knowles today said the dredging work has gone much quicker than expected.

Rudolph Carlson Expires
Rudolph Columbus Carlson, 72, former chairman of the Longwood City Council for 15 years, died on route to Winter Park Memorial Home at 11:15 a.m. Wednesday night after suffering a heart attack.

Lyman Greyhound Band members will be selling tickets this week for a fish fry to be held Saturday at the school athletic field beginning at 2 p.m. and continuing until dark. A softball game is planned as part of the family fun. Proceeds will go for the loan and bond issue for the city's water system, building the new city building of the association and street lighting.

Sanford civic clubs are expected to join efforts to get a pay raise for policemen. Sanford has one police officer for every 800 citizens. This is below the protection offered in such cities as Leesburg, Ocala, St. Augustine and DeLand.

Pay for patrolmen is far below that of most cities in the 20,000 to 100,000 class. Gordon Frederick says defending five youngsters in the alleged bad incident is only going to cost them "five cents." His legal fee is one cent for each citizen.

Each year the Seminole High Future Farmers of America donate ten cents from each member to the J. F. Williams Memorial Scholarship Fund. These scholarships are presented each year to deserving Future Farmers at the state convention. Not only does the chapter provide this, but it also sets up a $25 savings bond award for the boy in the chapter who earns the highest grades. Andy Creamer was the winner of this award for the year of 1966.

Request To Cease Received
A telephone call by a representative of the State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission requesting that the City of Sanford cease dredging operations in Lake Monroe has been termed "warrassment" by City Manager W. E. Knowles who received the call.
