St. Johns Water District Proposing Tax Rate Increase

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The St. Johns River Water Management District Board of Governors is proposing an $11.4 million operating budget for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 with a property tax rate of 12.1 cents per $1,000 assessed value.

The tax rate represents a 37.5 percent increase over the current year's 8.8 cents per $1,000.

The St. Johns District includes Seminole County and many other Central Florida counties.

St. Johns River Water Management District Executive Director Sonny Vergara said $4.9 million of the district's operating budget will come from property taxes. The balance will come from: state funds from the "Save Our Rivers" bill for flood plain acquisition, $3.9 million; state aquatic weed control program, $561,140; interest bearing accounts, $450,000; and miscellaneous sources.

Vergara said major goals reflected in the budget include:

—Intensification of data collection and hydrologic investigations to assist local governments and fill in regional water resource information gaps.

— Review soils conservation service runoff information.

— Howell Branch Basin surface water management study.

— Econlochatchee River Basin surface water management study.

— Quality and quantity dynamics of Turkey Creek in Brevard County.

— Flood profiles for selected streams and lakes.

— Annual water use survey.

— Determination of ground and surface water budgets.

— District wide determination of floor and low-flows.

— Upper Palatka River Basin study.

— Shallow aquifer recharge in Brevard County.

— Aerial mapping in Little Wekiva Basin.

— Urban stormwater modeling.

— Plugging of free-flowing wells.

— District observation well network.

— Middle St. Johns hydrologic study.

The district also plans to enlarge its cooperative program with the United States Geological Survey of which 50 percent is funded by the federal government, Vergara said.

The district in the new budget year will be expanding its regulation of surface water projects, consumption of water, water well construction and underground injection control.

Vergara said the board of governors for the district, which encompasses 12,400 square miles, is committed to protecting the drinking water supply by prolonging the available potable water supply and protecting it against:

— Salt water intrusion resulting from concentrated over production.

— Degradation of surface waters caused by flood plain loss and uncontrolled discharges or withdrawals.

— Future ground water contamination from drainage wells, unknown bacterial infestation and hazardous waste leachates.

Reagan Not Included In Labor Day Parade

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Come as you work," urged the invitations for today's Labor Day parade, the first in 13 years to honor New York's union workers. But one name conspicuously missing from the invitation list was Ronald Reagan.

Local labor officials described the parade up Fifth Avenue as a demonstration of labor strength and solidarity in the face of what they perceive as a uniform policy of hostility toward labor by the Reagan administration — specifically over the air traffic controllers strike.

Organizers expected 200,000 workers to march, from plumbers shouldering plungers like drill rifles to printers in regulation aprons and folded paper hats, as well as some 2,500 members of the striking Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization.

Because the parade celebrates the AFL-CIO's 100th anniversary, union President Lane Kirkland was picked as parade marshal.

Reagan was scheduled to visit New York's Grace Mansion to present Mayor Edward Koch with a symbolic check of $45 million for Manhattan's Westway superhighway project, but union leaders refused to invite the president to march in the Labor Day parade. Nor did the White House seek an invitation.

A major point of friction between Reagan and organized labor has been the administration's decision to fire 12,000 striking air traffic controllers.

Discrimination Claimed

Waitresses To Picket

Several waitresses, fired last week from Lord Chumley's Pub, 600 E. Altamonte Drive, Altamonte Springs, said they will picket the restaurant Tuesday to protest their firings, according to former waitress Lee Capolla.

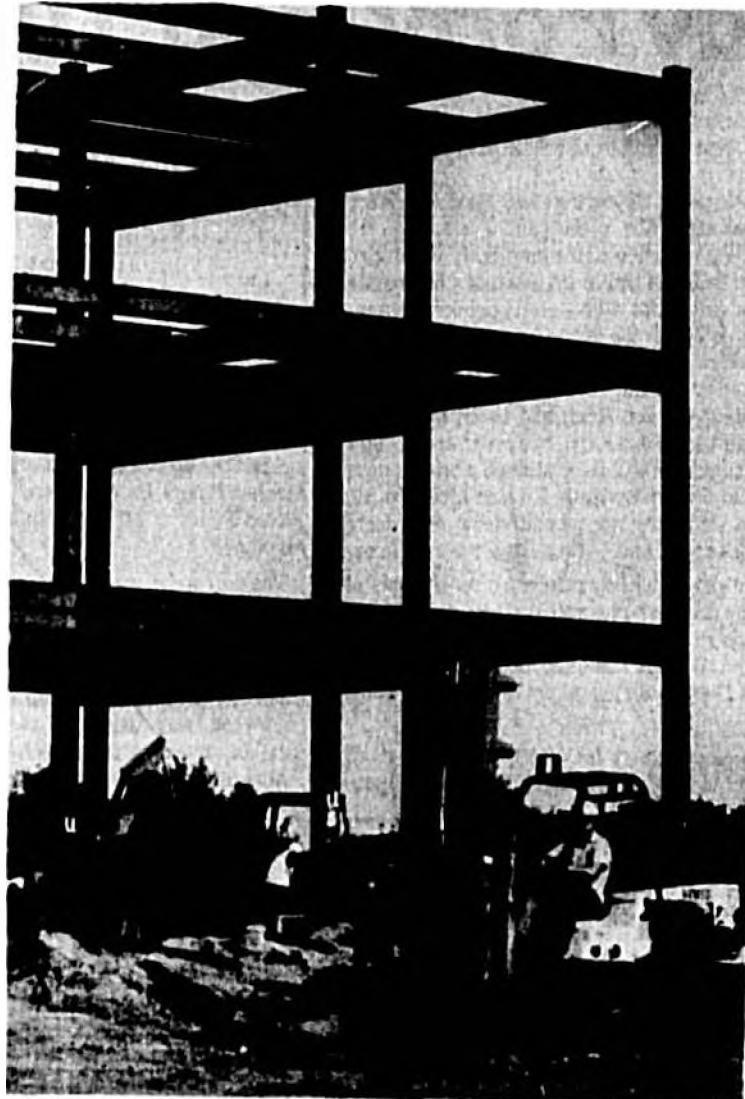

Ms. Capolla and five other waitresses were fired last week by restaurant manager Tom Galusha for "incompetence and inefficiency," Galusha said.

Galusha said patrons of the restaurant were not receiving prompt service from the waitresses. When food was ready for serving the waitress would stand around smoking cigarettes, he said.

Ms. Capolla said the firings are clearly discriminatory and she and four of the other terminated waitresses have filed or will file a complaint against the restaurant with the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission (EEOC). She said Galusha fired the waitresses to hire additional waiters.

Galusha said Capolla's complaint is unfounded.

THE LABOR AND THE LEISURE

Labor Day means different things to different people. It was "labor" as usual for construction workers building the Central Florida Regional Hospital on U.S. Highway 17-92 and Mangoustine Ave. in Sanford. For many, it was "leisure day" as hundreds headed to Lake Monroe for one last day of summer boating. The Sanford Marina was reportedly crowded with boats waiting to be launched this morning.

Longwood Eyes Water Rate Hike

By DARLENE JENNINGS
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood residents may soon be paying an additional 10 cents per 1,000 gallons of water over a 5,000 gallon minimum if the Longwood City Commissioners pass an agreed upon water rate ordinance September 14.

City Commissioners decided last Friday, during a work session to raise the water rates, to set a base rate of $4 per 5,000 gallons of water used, plus 60 cents for each additional 1,000 gallons. Consumers are presently paying 50 cents per 1,000 gallons used after the 5,000 minimum.

The board has had one public hearing on the water rates and established a lower 4,000 gallon minimum for water consumption with a 60 cent increasing charge. Last week's public hearing was continued for passing the newly proposed water ordinance until Monday, Sept. 14 at 7 p.m. in the Longwood City Hall. A new rate schedule was also developed during the work session.

Now, consumers that use between five thousand to 30 thousand gallons of water will pay 60 cents after the initial five thousand gallon minimum, and a flat rate of 70 cents per 1,000 gallons will be charged to water users of 30,000 gallons of water or more.

City Commissioner Steve Uskert pushed for the proposed rate schedule rather than 5,000 gallons proposed by City Administrator Dave Chacey. "Under that plan, the city would be charging 60 cents regardless of who the user is and how much he uses," said Uskert. "What we are trying to do is make ends meet and discourage use of water," Uskert added.

However, City Commission Chairman John Hepp said he did not want to see business "condemned" with higher rates for big users. "Big business is not wasting water because business is trying to keep their costs down. I don't think we should condemn a business man for being successful in business. Most of our water is being used by homeowners," said Hepp on Friday.

Chacey agreed with Hepp saying that 80 percent of water users in the Longwood area are residential consumers.

The commissioners also see the proposed water rate schedule as a positive change because the computer that is programmed for water usage billing will not have to be re-programmed to accept the change, Uskert said.

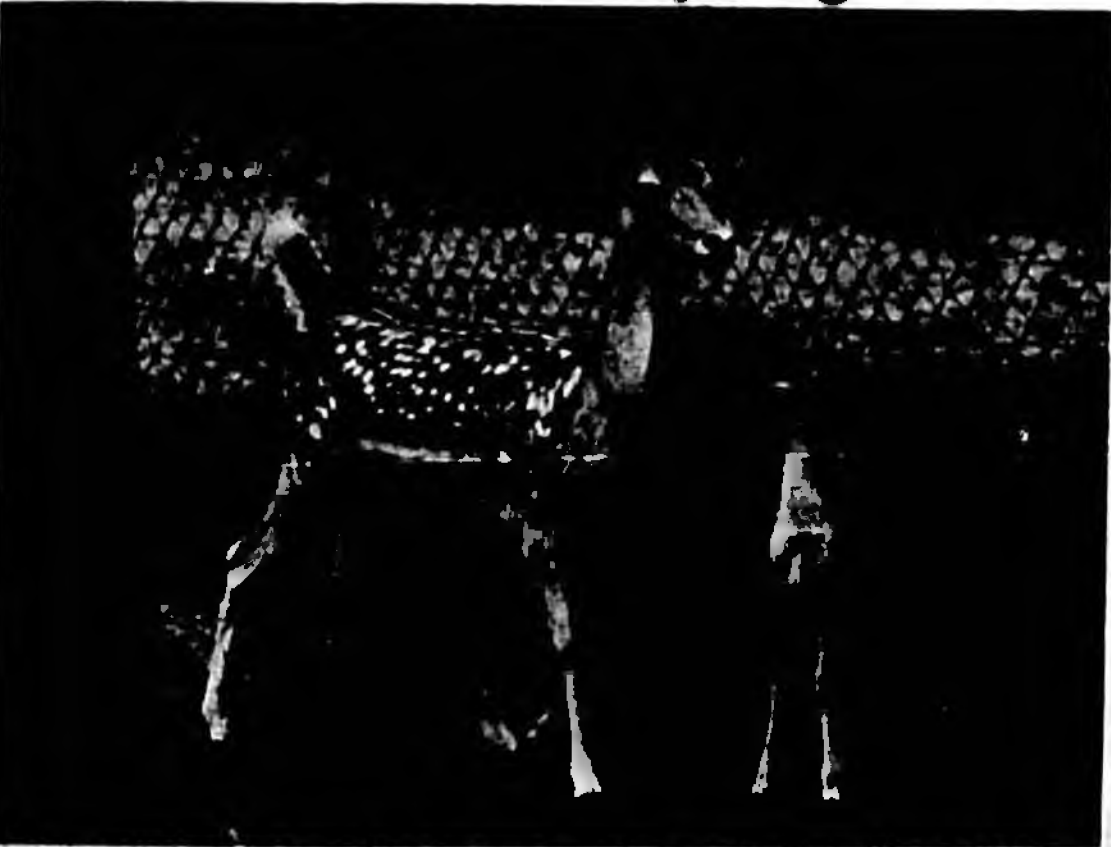

Under Chacey's original proposal to the commission, the city's water department fee for re-programming the computer would have been around $700 dollars.

Montgomery Road To Be Closed For Track Repair

Montgomery Road, Altamonte Springs, will be closed beginning Tuesday due to repairs being made of the railroad tracks by the Seaboard Coastline Railroad, said Altamonte Springs Community Affairs Officer Charlotte Richter.

Motorists are encouraged to avoid this area until repairs are completed, she said. No timetable for completion was announced.

Lovable Little Offspring Enhance Visits To The Zoo

A doe and baby fawn at The Central Florida Zoo.

Special to The Herald

If you haven't been to the Central Florida Zoo lately, now is an excellent time to do so. Zoo babies are the reason. Those lovable little offspring of the Zoo's animals are highly visible at this time of year and they provide the zoo visitor with a bonus.

Among the newborns that you may see are a baby Squirrel Monkey and a baby Spider Monkey. As do most monkeys, these primate infants cling to their mother's undersides during the first two or three months of their life. Later, they ride around on her back, so as to better observe life within the colony.

During their first year of life, the mother teaches them how to be a monkey... the proper foods to eat, social etiquette and how to safely get around in the branches. Among the Spider Monkeys, the other females function as "aunties" and assist the mother in caring for her young.

You will also see baby deer at the Zoo. Both Fallow Deer and the Whitetail Deer have recently become parents. If the doe feels her young may be threatened, she leaves them in a sheltered place where they instinctively "freeze", relying on their spots to camouflage them from a predator. The doe attempts to distract the intruder by leading it away from the hidden fawn. But, as the zoo keepers will tell you, if the fawn is approached too closely, the mother dashes to its defense, placing herself between her baby and the source of possible danger. She will use her sharp hoofs and, if necessary, sacrifice her own life to protect her young.

Perhaps the most interesting Zoo baby is a joey, or baby Wallaby, just emerging from its mother's pouch. Wallabies, small relatives of the Kangaroo, produce an offspring no larger than a honey bee at birth. It continues to develop inside the pouch and is not noticeable to zoo keepers for three or four months. The joey is now exploring its surroundings, but at the slightest hint of trouble, scrambles back into its mother's pouch.

The natural behavior of zoo animals is often altered by their captive condition. But their maternal behavior, in most cases, is very similar to that exhibited in the wild. Another reason not to miss the zoo mothers and their young now playing at the Central Florida Zoo.

Drinks On The House

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — The MGM Grand Hotel-Reno has agreed to give half-price cocktail show tickets or two free drinks to patrons given a watered-down or recycled drink in the Ziegfeld Room between August 1978 and September 1979.

The agreement, announced Friday, was worked out by attorneys for the MGM Grand and Terry Friedman, a lawyer who filed a class-action suit claiming 800,000 customers were victims of the fraud.

The tentative settlement, filed in District Court, requires the MGM Grand Hotel to advertise nationally in flight magazines and newspapers as notification to those who feel they are eligible for the rebate.

The MGM Grand admitted the liquor violations.

NATION IN BRIEF

Begin Meets With Advisors Preparing For U.S. Visit

NEW YORK (UPI) — Opening a 10-day U.S. visit, Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin is huddling with his top aides and Jewish leaders at a plush New York hotel to prepare for his first venture to the Reagan White House.

Begin's trip to Washington starts Tuesday and is complicated by conflicting goals.

The Israeli leader hopes to warm relations with the new administration. But he also is trying to muster enough congressional support to block Reagan's proposed $8.5-billion sale to Saudi Arabia of Airborne Warning and Control System planes, known as AWACS, and other advanced military equipment.

Congress has until Oct. 30 to vote on the proposal.

On his arrival Sunday, Begin stood firm on his opposition to the AWACS: "We can only repeat our position that it will endanger very seriously the security of Israel."

Asked if his meetings in Washington meant a new stage in Israeli-U.S. relations, he said, "Well, it's a new administration in the United States. It is a re-elected government in Israel, and so perhaps it will be a new era."

Boat Yanks Girl's Scalp

WILDWOOD, N.J. (UPI) — A 7-year-old girl's pigtail was caught in a boat's motor and her scalp was yanked off, authorities say.

Officials said the girl's hair was caught in the motor of a small dinghy on a ride called "Jungleboat" at Hunt's Theater and Entertainment Center, an amusement park.

"It pulled her scalp off," William Clark, Assistant Commissioner of Labor Relations and Workplace Standards, said Sunday.

Police said the girl, whose identity was not released, was reported in serious condition at Children's Hospital in Philadelphia, the nearest facility for youngsters to the amusement park.

Fortune Fish Not Caught

SEATTLE (UPI) — They used the fanciest lures or just a hook and worm, but none of the estimated 25,000 fishermen who participated in the Million Dollar Fish Derby could land what would have been the biggest catch of their life — a coho salmon worth $1 million.

Sponsors of the derby, staged for the benefit of Children's Orthopedic Hospital in Seattle, said they had hoped somebody would hook the tagged fish because the money would have been paid by an insurance company.

"Everybody here was disappointed except the insurance man, and he breathed a sigh of relief when the clock hit 8 p.m.," said Dan McConnell, derby promoter for Schuck's Auto Supply, which staged the event. Eight o'clock was the last moment somebody could have claimed the money.

Skywalk Metal Too Thin

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — A steel company president says it was "idiotic" for Hyatt Regency builders and designers to construct the hotel's skywalks out of the thinnest steel available, as charged by the Kansas City Star.

Declining to be named for fear of retribution by the community's construction companies, the Kansas City executive said he considered the lightweight material used to support the 32-ton aerial walkways too thin for comfort.

In a copyright story published Sunday, the Star quoted the company president as saying it was "idiotic" to use "the lightest ... channel (a rolled metal bar shaped like a squared-off gutter) they make" to suspend skywalks of the sort used in the Hyatt.

The Star said local experts agreed the support beams that kept the skywalks aloft were made of the thinnest steel commonly manufactured in the United States.

Cousin Arrested In Murder

MIRAMAR, Fla. (UPI) — Police arrested a 21-year-old man Sunday night and charged him with murdering his third cousin, a jogger who did not return from her Saturday night run, a police spokesman said.

Daniel Lee Doyle, 21, a pipe fitter from Miramar, was booked into the Broward County jail without bond and charged with first degree murder in the killing of his 18-year-old cousin, Pamela Kipp.

Doyle told police he suffers from blackouts but would not give a motive for killing his cousin, the spokesman said.

Miss Kipp, a jogger had gone out Saturday night to run in a subdivision of Miramar called Country Club Ranches, just north of the Dade-Broward county line. Her seven-month-old doberman pincher pup, Babbie, was with her.

Refugees Battle Police

MIAMI (UPI) — Several hundred Haitians chanting and carrying picket signs came nose-to-nose with a squad of riot-equipped Border Patrol officers Sunday during a demonstration outside the Krome Avenue refugee center.

The crowd of Haitians, which included relatives of refugees inside the camp, marched for hours during the hot afternoon in protest of the treatment being given to the more than 800 inmates of the refugee camp.

Twice, the demonstrators surged past barricades in an attempt to reach the camp. The first time, they voluntarily retreated after coming within inches of border patrolmen carrying batons.

During the second incident, several protesters were pushed back by guards and demonstration leaders asked the crowd to move behind the barricades.

The Rev. Gerard Jean-Juste, director of the Haitian Refugee Center, Inc., said the demonstration was held to draw attention to conditions inside the camp.

"We want the brutalities, the cruelties to stop against the black boat people," Jean-Juste said. "We are not slaves."

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

19 Die On Florida Roads During Labor Day Holiday

By United Press International

At least 19 people have died on Florida's roadways since the start of the long Labor Day holiday weekend, including a pedestrian who may have been hitchhiking, the Florida Highway Patrol reported.

The Highway Patrol has estimated that 35 persons would die in traffic during the weekend which began at 8 p.m. Friday and ends at midnight Monday.

A North Carolina man, Mark Lee Hine, 27, of Winston-Salem, died early Sunday in Volusia County. Hine, a pedestrian, was struck by a car that ran off the road onto the shoulder of State Road 9 eight miles south of State Road 442 in Daytona Beach.

Florida Highway Patrol troopers said Hine may have been attempting to hitchhike.

Two deaths occurred Sunday morning in Brevard County. Mark William Belcher, 31, of Daytona Beach, was killed in Titusville when his car ran off the shoulder of State Road 50 into a ditch. Mike John Goffetto, 21, Hubert, N.C., died at Cape Canaveral when his car swerved off State Road A1A and struck a road sign.

Vernon George Naylor, 61, of St. Petersburg, was killed Sunday morning when his car was struck by another auto while attempting to make a left turn in Pinellas Park in Pinellas County.

The long fitted sleeves of illusion ended at the wrists with lace appliques and pearls. Tiny satin buttons were used at the wrists and on the back of the fitted bodice. The bride wore a cathedral length veil of bridal illusion, outlined with scalloped lace border and enhanced with hand-embroidered lace appliques. The veil was held by a Camelot headpiece of lace and pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses accented with baby's breath.

The mother of the bridegroom chose a long dress of beige crepe chiffon with a scooped neckline accented by a wide cummerbund. This was complemented by a long sleeved pink jacket with subtle embroidery, sequins and ruffles on the sleeves.

Earring Not In Army Dress Code

DEAR ABBY: I am in the U.S. Air Force and have a good friend (I'll call him Duke), also in the same branch of the service. Duke decided to wear an earring in his left ear. Duke was in line for an honorable discharge shortly. Anyway, he got his ear pierced. About a week later he came to work in uniform wearing the earring (stud type) in his left ear. He was ordered by his supervisor to remove it as it was not in accordance with military dress code. He refused. Administrative action was taken, and after a long battle, Duke was sent up for court-martial and found guilty of disobeying a lawful order. Duke was reduced in grade, fined and sentenced to six months' hard labor. He will be returned to active duty when his time is up.

Abby, why would a man want to wear an earring? I think it looks feminine. What do you think of this whole business of Duke and the earring?

P. AT YOKATO AIR BASE, JAPAN

DEAR P.: I am informed that some men wear an earring as a signal to other men, but not all men agree on what the "signal" is. If a male civilian wants to wear an earring, it's all right with me.

Dear Abby

But when a man enters the military, he is expected to conform to the rules and dress code, and if he doesn't conform, he should expect to be penalized.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter and her three children (ages 4, 3, and 1 1/2) are living with us while she is going through a very trying divorce. After a difficult search for someone to help with the children a few days a week, we were fortunate to find "Lucy" (My daughter works full time.)

Lucy had been with us for three weeks when a neighbor, who is also a friend of mine and a fellow Women's Club member, visited my home in my absence one afternoon and asked Lucy if she had a "friend" who would be interested in doing housework for her one day a week.

Lucy took the job herself. But the day she works for this neighbor is the day I need her most. She continues to work for us, but don't you think this neighbor should have discussed the matter with me before approaching Lucy?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Quit wondering. The answer is yes.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently lost a beautiful son. He was premature and still born. We are slowly getting over our heartbreak and disappointment.

Here are a few of the so-called "comforting" remarks we have received from well-meaning friends:

- 1. "I didn't call or send a note because I didn't want to make you cry." (We need to cry to wash away our sadness. When we don't hear from those we know, we assume they don't care.)

2. "You'll get over it. I had three miscarriages." (Perhaps your grief was deep, but this is no time to play one-upmanship.)

3. "You're lucky you didn't have him long enough to get attached to him." (Don't you count as important the months we nurtured him, marveled at his growth, felt his strong little legs kick, and anticipated his joining our family?)

4. "You're young... there will be other babies." (Maybe we will never again be blessed with another pregnancy. Besides, there will never be another exactly like the one we lost.)

5. "You should be grateful for the two sons you already have." (We are, but our third son would have given us so much more to be thankful for.)

Abby, please print this to remind your readers to avoid such unintentionally cruel remarks in an effort to console friends who may experience a similar loss.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Tuesday, September 8, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY September 8, 1981 This coming year should be an active social one, but you might have to guard against trying to keep up with the Joneses. You'll quickly discover that it wasn't necessary anyway. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) There is a strong possibility you may not have the wherewithal to make the most of material opportunities today. Don't fret. You'll get a second chance. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Chances are, today you'll feel the control of important issues completely out of your hands. Be patient. You'll get your opportunity to regain the reins. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) This is one of those days when you prefer to be anchored in one place doing a lot of little tasks that you feel need tending to. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you expect more from situations than conditions warrant, you can count on being disappointed. Bank only on hard, cold facts. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Guard against being too domineering or dictatorial today. Instead of others complying with your wishes, they'll do all they can to trip you up. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The confusion about you today needs time to unravel itself. Time is your ally. The muddied waters will settle if they're not stirred up more. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The best rule to follow today: Mind your own business, even when another tries to drag you into his or her affairs. It's a good way to avoid being blamed in the end. ARIES (March 21-April 19) If at all possible, avoid bringing others into any decision-making today. About all you'd realize would be a big, fat headache and more confusion to be worked out later. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Co-workers may have a lot of little bones to pick today and you might feel you're the carcass. Keep your head, even if they're losing theirs. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Keep in mind today: The risk must be in proportion to the potential gain. Don't bet a dollar just to win back a dime. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your mate may be a little hard to please today. Ease the situation. Bend over backward to pacify him or her. One day, your spouse will do the same for you. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It's to your benefit to be extra-tolerant of co-workers today, even if they tax your patience to the limit. One's ship comes in over a calm sea.

Doc Has Given His Best Shot

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am 63 years old and have what my doctor has diagnosed as intrinsic asthma. Cigarette smoke, perfumes and strong detergents seem to trigger my coughing spasms. I can sleep through the night but with my first contact with irritants my lungs will partially close and I will have a wheezing rattle in my throat, which will also affect my speech. My doctor is a specialist in allergies and has put me through all the tests. He says there is nothing more that can be done for me and my best bet is to avoid the irritants that bother me. Of course that is impossible to do entirely.

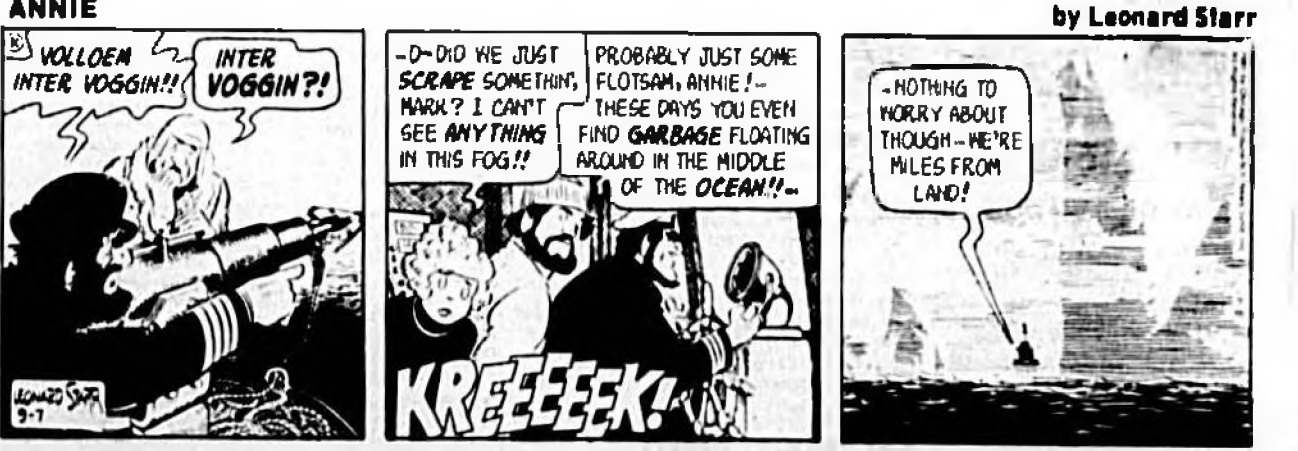

Is there a place I could go that may have newer medical treatments? My doctor is competent but if there is a chance other treatments would help I would appreciate knowing about it. DEAR READER - The chances are that your doctor has done all that can be done. However, it is quite natural that you would want to seek out anything that might enable you to do better. The solution for patients with this situation is to have a consultation. The American Medical Association actively encourages physicians to use consultations as a means of ensuring that patients get the best and the latest in medical management.

A good way to do this is to ask your doctor to refer you to a major clinic or medical center. That way their studies will be returned to him for your future care. Now, your story is not quite typical. Intrinsic asthma is usually not associated with specific factors that you are allergic to, but rather it is triggered by some internal mechanism in your own body.

External asthma is the more common type and is associated with allergic reactions. Your doctor is quite right that the best way to control asthma caused by specific allergies is to avoid those substances. And there are several types of asthma. Some people have mixed forms. To give you a better understanding of asthma I am sending you The Health Letter number 8-6, Asthma. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Incidentally, be careful not to use aspirin or any products that contain aspirin as these can cause asthma attacks in many asthmatics. There are some new medications that are helpful in preventing attacks. Your doctor may have already tried them. DEAR DR. LAMB - What role does iodine play in a reducing diet? My daughter has lost a lot of weight and this iodine pill is part of her diet plan. Can this be injurious? DEAR READER - Iodine combines with substances including food in the stomach to produce iodides, a salt. Small amounts are used to loosen secretions and aid as an expectorant. And if a person is iodine deficient, causing low thyroid function, it helps restore normal thyroid function. Otherwise, it has no role in enabling people to lose weight, unless they take enough to irritate the digestive system and cause diarrhea.

Vulnerable: Neither. Dealer: South. West North East South. Pass 3NT Pass 10. Pass 60 Pass Pass. Opening lead: ♠ 4. Oswald: "It was only a regional, but we won and winning is always a pleasure. You and Peter Weichsel certainly played well throughout." Alan: "You and Bob Hamman also did the expected job and Jim Chew was more than adequate. In fact he seemed always to be in the right contract when it was important. How did you bid that slam in the finals when our opponents, two of the best players in the world, failed to get there?" Oswald: "It was easy. I try to keep things as simple as possible and with a book three notrump response to Jim's opening bid, I just bid it. Then Jim made the key bid of five spades. This made it easy for me to bid six. My king of spades was the key card to get me there." Alan: "Jim's five-spade bid was the key all right, but your six bid was excellent. Our young, expert opponents stopped at four spades after several scientific and agonizing approach bids and then commented to each other that the slam was impossible to bid."
