School Budget

$113.5 Million Package And $6.99 Tax Rate Approved With Ease

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County School district's $113.5 million for fiscal 1982-83 was approved Wednesday with a minimum of opposition from county residents.

School board members approved the budget unanimously and also approved a tax rate of $6.99 per $1,000 of property valuation.

The budget is an increase over last year's $97.6 million but the tax rate is a decline from the $8.28 per $1,000 valuation rate last year.

The budget includes $4.5 million for construction at Lawton Elementary School in Oviedo and for a new school in Sanford.

Several residents complained about the budget and the tax rate.

Clay Jackson of Sanford told board members the taxes to fund the county school system "have been going up too high, too often."

Jackson said the tax rate has been growing faster than the student population and accused board members of being financially irresponsible.

"Your appetite for our tax dollars is insatiable," he said. Thomas Dockerty of Winter Springs had complaints as well but his concern was the tax rate. Dockerty said his tax bill increased this year despite the board's contention that the tax rate has declined.

School Superintendent Robert Hughes explained the tax rate has dropped even though the individual's tax bills may be higher because of a reassessment of property values.

He said the budget, which he called a status quo document because it does not have major new recurring expenses, is "very sound" and denied charges the board was financially irresponsible.

Hughes said actions taken this year by the board, including the institution of a self-insurance program, construction of a new warehouse, reorganization of the maintenance department, an energy conservation pilot project and studies of management, transportation and food service systems, have all helped to cut costs.

The self-insurance program could be the biggest money-saver, he said. "Volusia County saved a million dollars in three years. Even with the April storm and tornado we should reflect some savings."

Board member Pat Telson spoke in favor of the budget and particularly the construction projects. Mrs. Telson voted against last year's budget because she thought a capital outlay tax of $2 per thousand valuation, included in the overall tax rate, was too high.

Mrs. Telson supported the $1.38 capital outlay tax included in this year's tax rate for construction at Lawton and in Sanford. "I voted in favor this year because Lawton School in Oviedo is grossly inadequate," she said.

Mrs. Telson said the board still needs to get better utilization of its facilities. She said the current 10-month plan should be examined to see if a year-round program is feasible.

In other business, board members passed a resolution allowing a bid opening for construction of Tuskawilla Elementary School to be changed to fit state guidelines.

Hugh Carlton, director of auxiliary services, said state law allows a district to open bids on a project prior to state approval if the Department of Education has had the plans for a month or more.

The bid opening on the $1 million school project is set for Sept. 14. However, if the plans are not returned by then the bid opening will be held on Sept. 17, one month after they were sent to the state. The bids will be opened in Hughes' office at the school board office, 1211 Mellonville Ave., Sanford.

The candidate qualifying period will end Nov. 2. Sanford residents, in addition to voting in two city commission races Dec. 7, will choose whether they want to retain the current city charter, approve a new charter without districting or ratify a new charter requiring city commissioners to live in certain geographic areas and run at large. Sanford City Commissioner Milton Smith was the first candidate to qualify.

Pitman Confident Of Chances — Still

By DORIS DIETRICH

Miss Florida, Deanna Pitman, is a "tough competitor," according to a Sanford cousin, Jack Schirard. She likes to win. The green-eyed beauty has always had a positive attitude about herself, he says.

Is Miss Florida still positive that she will win the Miss American crown Saturday night?

"Yes ma'am, uh-huh," Doris Hamm said

Wednesday night in Atlantic City, Ms. Hamm, an elementary school teacher in Apopka, is a member of the Miss Florida Pageant Board of Directors and the official state traveling companion of Miss Florida.

Explaining that she and Deanna are having "a wonderful time" and "everybody's so nice," Ms. Hamm was pleased that a picture of Miss Florida appeared in the Atlantic City newspaper in her parade gown.

Green, the shade of the dazzling gown, is the green-eyed beauty's favorite color. She abandoned a hot pink swimsuit for the green suit that was her good luck charm in the Miss Florida Pageant in June.

Although Miss Florida's display of legs in a daring pose on the back of a convertible drew raves and "sex symbols" claims, the beauty queen's legs did not make a showing in the swimsuit competition Wednesday night.

Debra Sue Maffett, Miss California, won the swimsuit honors Wednesday night. Tonight, Miss Pitman will compete in the formal gown competition.

Carole Pegram, co-chairman of the Miss Sanford Scholarship Pageant, sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club of Sanford and Deanna's claim to fame to Miss Florida, said previously that Deanna's swimsuit presentation was not her best feature.

About Saturday night, Carole says, "I'm excited about it. Deanna certainly has the qualifications and ability to represent Florida extremely well. For Sanford to send a winner on to the Miss America Pageant is thrilling. You know, we never dreamed it would happen on our (club's) first time out."

Absentee Votes Widen Margins

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The counting of the absentee votes in other counties involved in four Seminole County contests on Tuesday's primary election ballots have increased margins of victory by the earlier apparent winners.

Seminole-Brevard Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffler in official returns from the two-county judicial circuit was the big winner, carrying 77.1 percent of the vote.

The final total in the Leffler contest with Fern Park attorney Irving Gussow showed Leffler garnered a total of 39,095 votes to 10,458 for Gussow.

Final results in the race between Jim Lavigne and Carl Selph for the GOP nomination for the District 34 seat in the Florida House of Representatives are being held up in Orange County.

Orange County Elections Supervisor Betty

Carter said today that neither unofficial nor official results including absentees will be available until late today.

Only one Orange County precinct, in Christmas, is included in that district. On election night, the count from Christmas was 15 votes for Lavigne and 22 for Selph.

With counts from Seminole and Brevard counties and using the early figures from Christmas, Selph has won the primary and will face Winter Springs Mayor Troy Pfland, a Democrat, in the Nov. 2 general election.

Totals at this point are: Selph, 1,933, and Lavigne, 1,608. The margin of Selph's victory is 325 votes.

The district includes 25 precincts in Seminole County and nine in Brevard County, in addition to the one in Orange.

Meanwhile, in the contest for the Democratic nomination for the five-county District 11 Florida Senate seat, Mrs. Florence Hunter, the 69-year-old women's and senior citizens' rights advocate won with 375 votes to spare over Gary Barnhart, also of Lake County.

Official results in that contest show Mrs. Hunter with 8,450 votes to Barnhart's 8,075. Mrs. Hunter will face incumbent state Sen. Richard Langley, R-Clermont, in the Nov. 2 general election.

District 11 includes 40 percent of Seminole County, all of Lake County and parts of Sumter, Marion and Volusia counties.

For the Group 3 Seminole-Brevard circuit judgeship, official counts confirmed the selection of attorneys Jere Lober and Edward Jackson, both of Cocoa, to run off in the Nov. 2 general election. Lober received 16,594 votes while Jackson received 15,201.

The two losers in the election, Eugene "Gene" Collier collected 11,561 votes and Franklin Kelly, a former public defender of the circuit, was given 8,291 votes.

Many Troopers Help Officer After Heart Attack

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Larry Fontaine should have died weeks ago. At least, that's what the doctors said. But today, Florida Highway Patrolman Fontaine is alive and the doctors are calling it a miracle.

Several weeks ago, 35-year-old Fontaine of Orlando had a heart attack. The six-year veteran trooper has been in the Orlando Regional Medical Center (ORMC) cardiac care unit since that time suffering numerous other attacks and ailments.

Recently, Fontaine underwent a tracheotomy to help him breathe easier in his bout with pneumonia. He's been hooked up to a dialysis machine for his failing kidneys, suffered with pancreatic problems and doctors said only one-third of his heart had survived the attacks.

It has been a roller-coaster ride for Fontaine's wife, Mary, and their children, Brian, Jack, Kim and Donnie. One minute their husband and father is improving and the next his life hangs in the balance of life and death.

It was two weeks after the first attack before Mary ventured out of the hospital to her home while friends, family members and church members at Delaney Street Baptist Church in Orlando which the Fontaines attend cared for the children. Finally, Larry seemed to be improving and Mary went home only to receive a call shortly afterwards from doctors who told her to come back to the hospital and not to leave because it was doubtful Larry would live through the night.

But to everyone's amazement, the next morning found Larry not only alive but Fontaine will live and he and his family are crediting his recovery to the prayerful support of the Florida Highway Patrol, other law enforcement personnel, church members, family, friends and God.

Doctors also discovered that not only did Larry still have the use of one-third of his heart but that two-thirds of the vital organ was still working.

With the help of his ever-present trooper colleagues and doctors, Larry stood beside his bed after doctors decided to appease his demands to walk around. And Wednesday doctors announced Larry will be moved out of cardiac intensive care to a progressive care unit for additional treatment.

Today, all indications are that Larry allowing Larry to be operated on and handling tiresome insurance matters.

But Larry was not the only "trooper" anxiously waiting for her husband to improve. Mary befriended another woman from out-of-town whose husband also suffered a heart attack.

Mary encouraged the woman and even allowed her to stay at her home while her husband was being cared for at the hospital.

But while Mary had almost accepted the doctors' prognosis that Larry would die, she never expected that her husband would live and this new friend's spouse would die. But while being flown to another hospital for treatment he man died, Mary continues to help the grieving woman.

So, what now? Larry is improving. Mary has gone home and the children are with her.

Someone has to pay the bills. During

Someone has to pay the bills. During his now 26-day stay Larry has accumulated exorbitant medical bills. An updated financial total was not available.

While the trooper's insurance policy will cover some of the costs, it won't be nearly enough, coupled with the fact the Fontaines also are paying about $600 a month for the next year or two for special hormone treatments for one of their sons.

In an effort to help offset the costs, Seminole County Sheriff's Department personnel have been collecting money and accepting donations to give to the Fontaine family.

Troopers have been holding car washes in Central Florida while church members and friends have held garage sales to raise money for the family.

The Fontaines have almost won one battle—Larry's recovery. Now, with the help of co-workers, friends and family they are trying to win another—the economic battle.

Persons who wish to donate money toward the Fontaine family relief fund or desire additional information, please contact Sheriff's Spokesman John Spolski at 322-5115.

NATION IN BRIEF

3 To Return To Florida In Professor's Murder

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jail guards kept a suicide watch today on three young male prostitutes waiting to return to Florida to face first-degree murder charges in the sadistic slaying of the University of Florida's "junk-food professor."

The three, including a 15-year-old, waived extradition at a hearing Wednesday after they were arrested with the help of New York's homosexual community, police said.

Gary McNichol, 21, of California; Paul Everson, 19, of Roslindale, Mass., and Stephen Peterson, 15, of Wilton, Conn., appeared before Manhattan Criminal Court Judge Helen Friedman on fugitive warrants charging them with the ritualistic killing of Howard Appledorf, 41.

The charge carries a maximum sentence of death.

Anti-Abortion Lobbying

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, calling on his powers of persuasion, is putting his prestige on the line once more, this time for the New Right's top priority — anti-abortion legislation.

Reagan has asked senators to "stand up and be counted" on what he called "one of the most important issues of our time." But Reagan's strong entreaties for support may not be enough. A vote was scheduled for today.

The amendment would ban federal funds and insurance coverage for abortions and abortion research. It also would encourage states to pass laws and get a quick review of the 1973 Supreme Court decision giving women a broad right to seek an abortion.

Budget Veto Showdown

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan is urging the House to sustain his veto of a $14.2 billion supplemental funding bill, setting up another spending showdown with Democratic leaders.

The Democratic-dominated House was scheduled to vote today to override or sustain the veto. A two-thirds vote of both the House and Senate is needed.

The House overwhelmingly approved the supplemental appropriations bill, which would keep federal agencies funded through the end of the fiscal year — Sept. 30 — by a 348-67 vote Aug. 18. The Senate approved it on a voice vote two days later.

Reagan vetoed the measure on Aug. 28, complaining it contains too much in unrequested funds for social programs. The measure also cut funds from an area Reagan has sought to boost — the military.

Liddy Must Pay Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government is moving to seize the profits from G. Gordon Liddy's books, movie rights and lectures to collect the $23,813 unpaid balance of the Watergate mastermind's $40,000 fine. "He was convicted in 1973 and was to pay a fine and he has not paid it," said Joseph Degeniva, an official in the U.S. attorney's office. "He's had plenty of time to pay it, and he's making a lot of money."

Assistant U.S. Attorney Royce Lamberth said the Justice Department obtained a court order Wednesday to attach earnings from Liddy's two books, sale of the movie rights to his best seller and fees from his lecture circuit.

Liddy has paid $16,187 on the fine, but has made no payment since Aug. 1981, officials said.

3 To Implicate Ex-Cop Jones In Arson

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

The testimony of three people who say they were solicited to torch an ex-Sanford police officer's home is expected to be heard as the arson trial of Walter Lee Jones begins in Circuit Court, Sanford, today.

Jones, who was fired in February following 13 years on the police force, is slated to appear before Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi at 1 p.m. to face charges of solicitation to commit arson, second-degree arson and burning to defraud an insurance company. If convicted on all three charges, he could face up to 35 years in prison.

The state contends that Jones asked former Sanford resident Sharon Meeker, who is currently serving a 10-year probation sentence after pleading guilty to second-degree arson, to burn his vacant home at 1839 Jerry St. in the Goldsboro section near Sanford, between Nov. 1 and Dec. 30, 1980.

Ms. Meeker, who maintains she committed the crime out of love for Jones and not for profit, said she, along with Patricia Williams and James Mical Williams, both of Lake Mary, set fire to the home. Ms. Williams later confessed to her participation in the crime and is currently serving a 10-year probation sentence. Williams is serving a one-year jail term for his role in the arson.

"In opening testimony, I plan to call Jimmy Williams first, then Patricia Williams and Sharon Meeker," prosecutor Steve Brady said. "But as far as how long will this case last, God only knows when it will end." The state has a list of 37 potential witnesses in the case, Brady said.

Jones, who is represented by Sanford lawyer Jack Bridges, is also scheduled for trial in Orange County next week on two counts of defrauding the insurer of his Goldsboro home. Jones collected between $30,000 and $40,000 in damages after the fire.

MAN CHARGED IN BANK ROBBERY

A 24-year-old Orlando man is being held in the Orange County jail today on charges that he robbed a south Seminole County bank in May.

Deputies said a man and woman entered the Flagship Bank at 1716 N. Orlando Ave., Fern Park, at noon May 19. The man, armed with a gun, forced the bank teller to hand over an undisclosed amount of money.

Deputies arrested Prentiss Simpson, of 4122 Chaddy Brook Court, and charged him with armed robbery. Deputies said they are still investigating the woman's role in the robbery.

MAITLAND MAN JAILED

A 32-year-old Maitland man was being held in the Seminole County jail under $8,000 bond following his arrest on charges of resisting arrest without violence, spouse abuse, and possession of a firearm by a convicted felon.

Steven Robert Greb, 778 Lake Howell Road, was jailed Tuesday after his wife, Gail, told deputies her husband, whom she is currently suing for divorce, threatened to kill her, deputies said.

Mrs. Greb notified deputies at 11:50 a.m. Tuesday that Greb came to her parent's home, where she is currently living, and threatened her with a .22-caliber revolver. Deputies searched for Greb and upon finding him at his home, issued him a trespass warning. Deputies said a weapon was found in a wooded area near the home and that it was turned over to Mrs. Greb.

However, at about 5 p.m. Tuesday, deputies were called to Butler Plaza concerning a man, described as Greb, with a knife.

Deputies said they observed a man, identified as Greb, walking near the shopping center and upon ordering him to stop, the man fled. Deputies chased the man in a patrol car and then on foot when he ran to a wooded area near the plaza.

With the assistance of other deputies, Greb was arrested along Lake Howell Lane, deputies said.

Deputies determined that Greb is currently on probation following his conviction in Hawaii on assault charges and charged him with possession of a firearm by a convicted felon, deputies said.

FOOD HEIST

Someone broke into the A Child's World nursery school, 2854 Sanford Ave., Sanford, between 6:30 p.m. Friday and 7:30 a.m. Tuesday and stole frozen meats, milk and other foods from the refrigerator, police said.

BANKS ROBBED

Someone broke into a Sanford woman's home between 7:30 p.m. Friday and 7 p.m. Tuesday, broke into six piggy banks and stole about $150 in change.

Janet Marie Brown, 32, of 1214 Myrtle Ave., told police the thieves broke into five piggy banks in her living room, stole a basketful of pennies which was placed next to the fireplace, then broke into a piggy bank in the bedroom.

GOP To Spend Big Bucks To Defeat Key Democrats

MIAMI (UPI) — Florida GOP leaders have already launched an intensive media campaign against the Democrats in an effort to send more Republicans to Washington, even though there are still Republican primary runoffs in four congressional districts Oct. 5.

In addition, the National Republican Party has reported it will spend more than $1 million to help gain control of the Florida governorship, another U.S. Senate seat and several key House posts.

Henry Saylor, Republican state chairman, said Wednesday that the party will run radio spots throughout Florida for two weeks informing voters that Democrats "are responsible for this mess." He said 30-second spots are being aired on stations in Jacksonville, the Tampa Bay area, Fort Lauderdale, West Palm Beach and Orlando.

Seminole Joins State Library Hookup

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Commission has voted to join an inter-library cooperation program which would catalog books listed with libraries throughout the state in a computer file.

The state Division of Library Services will pay the county $45,000 for expenses involved in purchasing equipment and making the computer record. The agreement obligates the county to become part of a network of libraries in the state.

The library network would make resources at all the participating libraries available to other members and would streamline the listing of the various libraries' inventories.

In other business the commission:

- Applied for an unspecified amount of state funds for the county's libraries for 1982-83. Commissioners have allocated $1.24 million for use in the libraries this year.
- Granted a one-year extension of the county's Guardian Ad Litem program's lease at Kirk Plaza in Sanford. The extension runs through September 30, 1983.
- Approved changes in the Animal Control Division's operational manual to allow officers to work on an emergency call system. The revision eliminates the straight 40-hour week for some officers and gives them pagers so they can respond to emergency calls.

- Awarded a bid of $18,969.50 to Control Specialist Co., of Orlando, to install traffic control equipment for the Department of Public Works.
- Released a maintenance bond on Greenwood Lakes Unit 3 following final inspection of the subdivision's facilities.
- Accepted a 15-foot right of way on Douglas Avenue near Altamonte Springs from Branimir Botic.
- Accepted an 80-foot right of way from Florida Land Co. in accordance with a planned unit development agreement for future development of Greenwood Lakes in southwest Seminole County.
- Adopted a resolution accepting a drainage easement to satisfy remaining engineering requirements at Hunter's Point, near Lake Brantley.
- Authorized a work order for Watson and Co. of Orlando to prepare detailed plans for relocation of Casselberry utilities in conjunction with the Howell Branch Road construction project.
- Adopted a resolution to participate in a railroad signal project on Southwest Road and Main Line Track near Sanford.
- Accepted 600 feet of Fairview Avenue in Sanlando into the county road system.

- Approved travel pay for Ken Hooper and Sherry Williams from Environmental Services and planner Anthony Vanderworp to attend a wetland study conference in Gainesville Sept. 16-17.
- Applied to the state for a permit to continue operation of the Upsala sewage transfer station southwest of Sanford.
- Approved the establishment of a petty cash fund for the refuse disposal division. The fund would be used to purchase minor items for the division.
- Awarded a bid of $18,969.50 to Control Specialists Co. of Orlando to install traffic signals for the Department of Public Works on Maitland Avenue in Altamonte Springs.

Traffic Engineer Gary Lester said the signals will be located at the intersections of Maitland with Ballard Street and Spring Lakes Road.

War Tensions Mount Amid Hints Of Arab Peace Plan

United Press International

Israeli warplanes battled Syrian forces in Lebanon's eastern Bekaa Valley, heightening fears of all-out war despite the Arab League's apparent adoption of a Middle East peace plan.

Speaking to a raucous parliament Wednesday, Prime Minister Menachem Begin announced Israeli jets returned safely to their bases after destroying a SAM-9 missile battery, one of Syria's most advanced weapons.

In Fez, Morocco, official Persian Gulf news agencies said the leaders at the 12th Arab League had asked Syria to remove its 25,000 peace-keeping troops from the Bekaa Valley simultaneously with the withdrawal of the Israeli army.

Police Storm Embassy

BERN, Switzerland (UPI) — Police stormed the Polish Embassy early today and freed all five hostages held by gunmen since Monday. There were no immediate reports of casualties, but explosions were heard inside the building.

The Swiss government said all four gunmen were captured.

The liberation of the five hostages came at 10:43 a.m. (4:43 a.m. EDT), less than 24 hours before the gunmen threatened to blow up themselves and their hostages, if martial law were not lifted in Poland, Justice Ministry spokesman Ulrich Hubacher said.

Beating Victim, 14, Still Critical

By TENI YARBOROUGH

A 14-year-old Longwood girl lies comatose in her Orlando Regional Hospital bed today while Seminole County sheriff's deputies try to determine who beat her in the head with a hammer.

Katherine Suzanne Greco of 1685 Glenethel Court underwent surgery late Tuesday at the Orlando hospital and is listed in serious condition today, hospital officials said. Doctors said the young girl was beaten with the blunt head of a hammer, causing at least 14 or 15 head wounds.

Deputies are continuing their investigation of the incident, saying the attack does not appear to have occurred in a burglary attempt because nothing appears to have been taken from the home.

Deputies discovered the teen's bleeding body at 6:55 p.m. Tuesday after receiving a call from her father, Richard J. Greco, 37, from his office at Cardinal Industries where he is a vice president of single family dwellings. Greco reportedly asked deputies to check on his daughter after having received a call from his 16-year-old son, Richard David, who was in hysterics, deputies said.

When deputies arrived at the Longwood home, they discovered the boy lying on the front porch, apparently in shock, saying, "My sister, my sister." Upon entering the home, deputies were met by a neighbor, Michael Young, who directed them to the kitchen where the young girl was lying.

The girl was taken to Florida Hospital-Orlando and transferred to Orlando Regional Medical Center about three hours after an Orange County judge issued a court order authorizing Dr. German Montoya to operate, using whatever means necessary to save the girl's life.

The delay in operating came when doctors at Florida Hospital learned the family are Jehovah's Witnesses and would not permit blood transfusions for their daughter because of their religious convictions, deputies said. Attempts were made to use synthetic blood but because the substitute blood contains a portion of whole blood, the family rejected it also, deputies said.

Florida Hospital doctors said they then contacted County Judge Michael Cymmanick who issued an order permitting Montoya, a neurosurgeon at Orlando Regional, to operate using whole blood.

U.S. Must Produce Jobs

Unemployment is usually portrayed as a number or a line.

But unemployment is experienced neither by numbers nor lines: The painful experience of being told, "You can't work here," falls on the shoulders and heart of a human being.

The experience is not pleasant. It can last for a day or it can extend for months.

For some of the people laid off in August, the future will be an unending wait for a job that never comes.

In the current parlance of economists, the unemployed are America's inflation-fighters. They get no medals for helping our system weather the business cycle.

Some get unemployment checks. Others get welfare. A few, sympathy. But most get the spoken and unspoken disapproval of their working fellows and the censure of our society.

In a society based on work, the unemployed live under a stigma of failure. The fear of being fired is supposed to keep workers productive, but the toils of unemployment — humiliating waits in government offices, calls from creditors, pleas from children — wear down self-respect and sometimes destroy the will to work. By expelling surplus workers to make businesses more efficient, our system puts an immense burden on our government, making it even more inefficient.

Unemployment may ease inflation, but the wages of unemployment mean less money for medicine and schools — the future.

"Citizens of the USSR shall have the right to work." So reads the Soviet constitution. The Soviet economy is inefficient and the Soviet standard of living is low in part because of the unproductivity of the Soviet worker, often employed in make-work jobs. But the Kremlin can claim the Soviet Union has succeeded in employing nearly all members of its labor force.

Not so the United States. We can produce enough of everything, it seems, except jobs. In 1946 Congress attempted to pass a full employment act: It was watered down to mean nothing.

In 1978, the Congress passed the Humphrey-Hawkins Employment Act, directing the government to adjust fiscal and monetary policies to reduce unemployment to 4 percent by 1983. Instead, unemployment has grown to the highest level since the Great Depression.

That is, hard-headed Americans will say, how it should be. Capitalism provides more food, more housing, more freedom for more people than any other system on Earth, and if firing people in bad times is necessary for it to survive, so be it.

They are right about capitalism's gift for production, but wrong not to direct that gift for producing jobs.

Japan has succeeded in generating an industrial revolution on imported energy while keeping nearly all its people employed. Japan's secrets?

Efficient management, stronger company devotion to employees and a homogenous population.

The vast majority of Americans would rather be capitalist than communist, but would also rather be employed than unemployed.

The current unemployment crisis will not spark revolution, but rather cause suffering. The production of jobs remains the greatest challenge facing our society and our way of life.

"What next?"

About two weeks ago, an 18-year-old Lake Mary man died when the motorcycle he was driving collided with a camper-trailer along U.S. Highway 17-92 in Sanford.

Martin "Marty" Mann, of Pine Tree Road, has since been buried in his family's cemetery plot alongside his grandmother and great-grandmother.

But friends of Mann, those who grew up with him, went to Seminole High School with him and played soccer under his leadership as captain on the school team, want to do something for him.

Ronnie Stafford, of Elder Road, Sanford, a former schoolmate of Mann's is organizing a clean-up squad to beautify the privately-owned cemetery where Mann is buried. Stafford, and his cousin, Joe Andrews, are calling on as many of Mann's friends as may want to help, to pitch in at 8 a.m. Saturday at the Sylvan Lake Cemetery off Wayside Drive in Paola and help clear the cemetery of debris, growth and other obstructions.

According to Mrs. Stafford, Ronnie's mother, the Manns' property is well-kept but the surrounding lots are overgrown with weeds and sprinkled with tree limbs and other debris.

"We don't anticipate any problems in cleaning up the lots because it is privately-owned and many of the gravesites date back as far as the 1800s," she said.

"They just want to do something for Marty," she said. "They just want to show they care."

Mrs. Stafford said she will be providing refreshments for anyone—male or female—who shows up to Saturday. She added that if anyone has gardening equipment, it would help in clearing the property.

"But they don't have it, they should come anyway, because either we'll have something they can use, or we'll put them to work on something that doesn't require a tool," she adds.

If you plan to attend the clean-up effort and need additional information, call Mrs. Stafford or Ronnie at 322-4048.

Stick It In The Ear?

By KATHLEEN SILVASSY

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Although the warning printed on cigarette packs cautions that smoking is hazardous to your health, a piece of the paper inside can be the best remedy for a punctured eardrum, a local surgeon says.

Dr. Ralph Caparosa of Pittsburgh's Eye and Ear Hospital has performed about 4,000 operations using cigarette paper sutures to repair eardrums injured in swimming accidents and those afflicted with otosclerosis, a genetic disease.

Dr. R.E. Jordan, now retired from Eye and Ear, invented the procedure in 1957. The idea grew out of the observation that little bits of toilet paper are often used to stop the bleeding from shaving cuts.

Although toilet paper couldn't make the jump to repairing injured eardrums, cigarette paper has proven itself effective over hundreds of other substances, said Dr. Nancy Snyderman of Eye and Ear.

Dr. Snyderman, the hospital's chief resident in otolaryngology, the study of the ear and ear diseases, said physicians experimented with sutures made from cow intestines, gelatin and silk before Jordan tried cigarette paper.

She said the hospital uses the paper almost exclusively now because "it's easy to store, easy to obtain and doesn't require lots of preparation to use."

"It's just plain old Topps cigarette paper," said Caparosa, noting the procedure to repair a punctured eardrum is fairly simple.

"Most punctured eardrums heal on their own," he said. "We increase the percentage by adding the paper bandages."

Caparosa paints the patches with a glue-like anesthetic to hold them in place, then inserts them in the ear using a microscope and forceps.

"The paper is applied to the top of the eardrum, the eardrum heals underneath. As it heals the hole gets smaller and the paper is sloughed off into the ear canal," he said.

After the ear heals, the paper patches work themselves out through ear wax.

"The unique part of an eardrum is that its skin is migratory," Caparosa said. "The paper will work its way to the hairs in the ear in about six weeks. The eardrum moves as it grows."

Dr. Snyderman said most patients have a good chance of regaining full hearing if their wound is a simple one. If there are other factors, like a traumatic wound or infection, the chances decrease.

Caparosa also uses the paperpatching procedure in an operation known as a stapedioplasty, a treatment for otosclerosis, which is a calcium-hardening of the stapes bones in the middle ear that can cause deafness.

Caparosa removes the middle-ear bones and replaces them with stainless steel devices resembling little peg legs. The paper bandages then temporarily bind tissues that are too small or too delicate to stitch with surgical thread.

Otosclerosis is a genetic disease, said Caparosa, who noted he has performed the procedure on seven members of the same family.

Preparation of the patches is fairly simple. An ordinary paper punch is used to cut small circles from the papers, which are sterilized by dry gas and kept handy in a plastic bottle in the hospital's emergency room.

Patient reaction to having cigarette paper placed in their ears varies, Caparosa said.

Sometimes, he said, he gets a comment like "hey, I didn't know you were using cigarette paper in my ear," from a nervous patient, but usually they are just curious.

Why Reagan Was Tough With Israel

WASHINGTON — The story behind President Reagan's sudden firmness with Israel over the West Bank is told in secret State Department dispatches. They make clear what the president's advisers fear Israel might do in the occupied territory unless deterred by the United States.

One secret report seen by my associate Dale Van Atta puts it bluntly and ominously: "There is reason to fear that the Israeli government might capitalize on demonstrations in the occupied territories, or even provoke such demonstrations, in order to expel large numbers of Arabs as 'security risks.' (Israeli) defense officials admit such contingency plans exist."

It's no laughing matter to accuse an ally of willingness to stage a provocation, especially an ally with as much domestic political clout as Israel has. So it is a measure of the concern that top U.S. officials have over Prime Minister Menachem Begin's actions and suspected intentions that they unanimously urged the president to get tough with Israel. ROBERT WALTERS

Where Campaign Begins

DETROIT LAKES, Minn. (NEA)—Stale cigarette smoke fills the air in the dreary function room of the local Holiday Inn. The music of a rock band working in a nearby bar seeps into the room but the audience is oblivious to the intrusion.

About 60 local residents, many of them farmers, have been mustered at the motel by Gene Wenstrom, a livestock farmer from Elbow Lake, Minn., a two-term member of Minnesota's state legislature and currently the Democratic candidate for a seat in the U.S. House of Representatives.

In return for the $10-per-person admission fee, those present have an opportunity to buy drinks at a cash bar, munch on what passes for hors d'oeuvres in east-central Minnesota and meet the star of the evening, Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo.

For Hart and other politicians mounting 1984 bids for the White House, this is where the presidential campaign begins—on a ceaseless tour of the country attempting to make a favorable impression on people preoccupied with getting the kids ready for school, scraping up enough money to pay the bills or harvesting the crops before the weather turns bad.

On this particular day, Hart awoke at 6 a.m. in Washington and went to bed at midnight in a Fargo, N.D., motel. Much of the intervening 18 hours was chopped up into half-hour blocks of time in which he was expected to charm a seemingly endless succession of local politicians, aspiring office-holders, journalists and grass-roots political activists.

Hart's brief but frenetic tour of the Upper Midwest was typical of his political travels during the past 18 months. During that period, he has:

—Been the featured speaker at Democratic party Jefferson-Jackson Day dinners in Denver; Detroit; Honolulu; Milwaukee; Lincoln, Neb.; Boise, Idaho; and Everett, Wash.

—Addressed other Democratic party gatherings in Philadelphia; Los Angeles; Houston; Catonsville, Md.; Raleigh, N.C.; Billings, Mont.; and Birmingham, Ala.

—Participated in fund-raising events for Democratic candidates in Dallas; Salt Lake City; Wilmington, Del.; Waterloo, Iowa; Yuma, Ariz.; Mamaronock, N.Y.; Cheyenne, Wyo.; Lake Geneva, Wis., and Tenafly, N.J.

The 44-year-old senator is hardly alone in his quest. When the Gallup Organization sought recently to identify the preference of Democratic voters for a 1984 presidential candidate, it compiled a list of no fewer than 15 prospects, including six other senators and four governors.

Hart didn't fare well in that nationwide survey but that's hardly surprising because at this early (if not premature) stage of the campaign, the leaders invariably are men with previously established nationwide reputations—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy Jr., D-Mass., and former Vice President Walter F. Mondale in the case of the recent Gallup poll.

A growing number of thoughtful Democrats believe, however, that Kennedy and Mondale are irrevocably tied to an outdated political philosophy becoming increasingly inapplicable to the issues confronting the nation and the world.

Hart has become perhaps the country's leading advocate of "neo-liberalism"—an approach that retains the Democratic party's traditional concern for low- and middle-income citizens while searching for new techniques to improve their lives without resorting to cumbersome government programs requiring massive infusions of federal funds.

In addition, the senator stresses the importance of preparing the nation for the transition to a post-industrial society, developing alternative sources of energy and enhancing the quality, efficiency and cost-effectiveness of the nation's military establishment.

It's an appealing program being promoted by an attractive candidate, but Hart—like most other contenders—must sell himself and his ideas on a retail rather than a wholesale basis.

That means another 18 months of private meetings with state legislators, "exclusive interviews" with local journalists, posing for photographs with voters, and attendance at dreary receptions for fellow politicians.

"If you have any doubts about this process, you ought to resolve them early," Hart says stoically. "If you can't resolve them, you shouldn't participate in it."

DON GRAFF

Price Isn't Right

Honduras wants help. The country has had the good fortune so far not to have shared the internal warfare wracking its Central American neighbors, but it has not been spared some of the unpleasant consequences. It is unwilling host to a flow of refugees and as it has just informed the United Nations High Commission for Refugees in Geneva, it is not fair that the poorest country in the region should have to carry the heaviest burden.

And Honduras is poor — so poor, as some cynics put it, that it can't even afford a revolution of its own. Not that it is unfamiliar with the basic ingredients of Central American revolution.

What wealth there is in Honduras is not shared equitably. But, in part because there is less wealth and more land, the disparity between land-owning elite and largely Indian peasantry is not so grotesque as in El Salvador.

The country has been misgoverned and exploited, but not as ruthlessly as Somoza's Nicaragua.

The real power is held by the military. But it has not been exercised as ruthlessly as in Guatemala. And in January, the army actually made good on a promised transition to civilian rule.

Poor it may be, but Honduras, which traditionally has sought to remain on the sidelines of Central America's more turbulent affairs, has been an oasis of relative stability in the region's current troubles.

For that reason, it has also become a focal point of U.S. activity. Particularly of the military type.

It is receiving some $10 million in arms aid this year and more than $60 million has been promised over the next several. American "Mobile Training Teams" are teaching Honduran troops the rudiments of handling sophisticated new equipment. Several Honduran airfields to be modernized at a cost of $21 million could handle U.S. planes should need arise.

The Honduran army is being strengthened and the jet-equipped air force is already regarded as the most powerful in Central America.

None of this is being forced upon the Hondurans. The new civilian president, Dr. Roberto Suazo Cordova, apparently is in basic agreement with the Reagan administration as to the threat posed to the entire region by Nicaragua and requested assistance in a July visit to Washington.

But it is a heavy burden to be placed on a country in Honduras' underdeveloped condition. The basic banana republic, the country has been hit along with the rest of Central America by declining world prices for the agricultural products it lives on while the cost of imported energy has escalated. Unemployment is chronic and increasing.

On top of all this, there are the refugees — some 30,000 by latest estimate. Most numerous and unwelcome are the Salvadorans, a continuing flow that has brought the Honduran army into cooperation with the Salvadoran military in an attempt to stem.

Most worrying are the Nicaraguans, especially several thousand veterans of Somoza's national guard waging a border war against Sandinist forces — some quarters charge with the assistance of the Honduran military. There is a real danger that the clashes could escalate into a full-fledged conflict, a new front in the Central American wars.

By their own civil administrators, Begin presumably meant the village leagues, the organizations of Arabs who are not inflamed by Palestinian nationalism and are willing to live in an Israeli protectorate. Needless to say, they are regarded by fervent Palestinian nationalists as Israeli puppets.

There seems increasing reason to believe that Begin and his top associates intend to keep the West Bank — or, as they persist in calling it, Judea and Samaria. Whether they do it by outright annexation or in the guise of a protectorate, this is sure to keep the Palestinian issue boiling. That's why President Reagan was persuaded to make his rhetorical pre-emptive strike against Begin's suspected intentions.

Longwood Completes City Hall Remodeling

By JANE CASSELBERRY

About 100 invited guests, officials and board members will get a preview of Longwood's new addition to City Hall at an open house Friday from 4 to 6 p.m.

The public will get its first chance to try the comfortable theater-type seats in the new city commission chambers Monday night at the public hearing on the budget.

City Clerk Don Terry said a new overhead sound system will permit the audience to hear what is being said by the commissioners in all parts of the room. The facility was formerly the quarters for the fire department before the new fire station was built. The building was renovated, expanded and furnished at a cost which is expected to reach $54,000, including the new sound system and other last-minute expenses. It will include offices for the mayor and commissioners and a conference room in addition to the meeting room, which also will be used by the various city boards as well as the commission. There are about 100 seats for the audience.

The present commission chamber will provide additional office space for the City Hall staff.

As part of the general updating of the City Hall facilities, the receptionist now has a new Mitel SX-20 PABX switchboard described by City Administrator David Chacey as "state of the art."

The modern phone system is more efficient and provides the capability for monitoring lines, transferring calls, putting callers on hold and making conference calls. New lines can be added on as the city grows, Chacey said.

"Before we got the new switchboard, whenever a call came for Mr. Chacey, the receptionist would have to get up and walk to his office to see if he was talking on his phone," said Terry.

He explained that after Winter Park Telephone Co. recoups its capital investment, the monthly cost will be much less than it is now.

Coaches Tab Mainland To Win Conference

Fearless Fister Picks Rams, Astronaut, 'Hounds, Hawks

Well, it's finally here. Football 1982. Professional, college and high school fans alike have been anxiously awaiting the first full weekend of football and it promises to be an interesting one.

While Lyman and Lake Howell will be in a dogfight with Mainland and Apopka for the Five Star Conference title, the Lake Mary Rams kick off varsity season number one. Oviedo should be tough again under new coach Jack Blanton and Trinity Prep, Lake Brantley and Seminole face tough seas ahead.

Here's a look at this weekend's games:

SEMINOLE AT TITUSVILLE ASTRONAUT

The 'Noles electrified a lot of people by winning the Five Star crown a year ago. Although they could be unpredictable, Astronaut will be able to solve Posey's Tribe as the boys from Titusville are tough at home—or anywhere for that matter—Astronaut by 6.

ROCKLEDGE AT LAKE MARY

Coach Roger Beathard and his assistants—Fred Almon—defensive coordinator and linemen, Al Parker—defensive backs, John Jarrett—offensive backs and Jack Dryton—offensive linemen (better late than never), will put the Rams through their first test as a varsity football team. Rockledge was 6-4 last year but they don't have a clue to what the Rams will look like in Friday's season opener. Lake Mary will use the home field advantage and the element of surprise to hand Rockledge a "big" upset — Rams by 2.

BOONE AT LYMAN

Bill Scott may be a little concerned about the condition of his team (star running back Vince Presley is out for three weeks with a bad leg). At least he's not the coach of Boone, this year anyway. The Braves will gain more yardage traveling to Lyman this Friday then they will the entire football season—Lyman by 25.

UMATILLA AT OVIEDO

Jack Blanton gets his first taste as Oviedo coach as he lets the Lions loose against Umatilla's Dogs. For Blanton, the taste will be sweet in his debut as the Lions will collar the "Dogs—Oviedo by 12.

a run for its money. But the Hornets usually get shortchanged. Lake Howell is a contender for the Five Star crown and will control the line of scrimmage both offensively and defensively en route to victory over the Hornets—Silver Hawks by 20.

LAKE BRANTLEY AT COLONIAL

Colonial plays like the Pittsburgh Steelers one week and Wymore Tech the next. The Grenadiers are not very consistent. Lake Brantley is in a rebuilding year after only three regulars return from last year's 4-6 squad. It should be a close one, but Colonial will rally behind its home crowd for the win—Grenadiers by 6.

TRINITY PREP AT TAMPA TEMPLE HEIGHTS

It's a long way home from Tampa—ever longer if your team just lost. Fortunately for Trinity Prep, Temple Heights rates among the worst in the state (behind Wymore Tech, of course). The Saints may get off to a slow start but they will rise to victory—Trinity Prep by 9.

UCF VS GEORGIA SOUTHERN AT JACKSONVILLE

The transition to Division II football was a big step for the Knights. However, Sam Weir and his troops face the toughest Division II schedule in the nation. The Knights might not win this one, but they will raise the victory flag a few times in '82 — Southern by 10.

USCAT FLORIDA

For the first time in a while, Gator fans don't have to bring a bag to enjoy the game. Although the Gators are tough, they aren't national title calibre. Florida will battle it out with Georgia for second place in the Southeastern Conference behind eventual national champions, the Alabama Crimson Tide. —USC by 3.

HOUSTON AT MIAMI

The Hurricanes were cured of national title fever after losing to the Gators. Houston's Cougars usually field a solid team but most of them get the bubonic plague or injured, or something, Jim Kelly will take charge and lead the 'Canes to victory — Miami by 7.

The Bucs are stronger than ever and should repeat as Central Division champs. Minnesota lives and dies by the pass but even Fran Tarkenton couldn't resurrect the Vikes this weekend—Tampa Bay by 14.

MIAMI AT NEW YORK JETS

If you looked in the Dolphins locker room you would probably find four leaf clovers, a rabbit's foot, Aladdin's lamp and the other team's playbook. The Dolphins, by some miracle, always manage to contend. But, the Jets have one of the best teams in the NFL this year, and they aren't superstitious either—New York by 13.

To be a football prognosticator you must pick at least one upset every week. Any prognosticator who always goes with the favorites is merely a frontrunner. Look here again next week for another Fearless Fister Forecast.

somewhat because of injuries or illness to running back Vince Presley and Todd Marriott, a glue-fingered wideout. These two casualties have sent Scott for the crying towel.

Depending on whom you desire to believe, Presley was injured playing basketball or football. Scott expects the hurt leg to keep the flashy running back on the sidelines for three more weeks. Presley was to see a doctor this week for another prognosis.

Marriott, meanwhile, has had more trouble the past six months with injuries and illness than with enemy tacklers. During the summer, his boss ran him over with a golf cart while he was working at the Sanford Flea Market. Midway through fall practice, he sprained his ankle and just this week he came down with the flu. He's questionable for Friday's game against Boone.

The Bucs return excellent speed in halfbacks Isaac Bell and Emerson Williams, who, like Presley, has a 9.6 100-yard dash clocking to his credit.

Heading the offensive line is Brad Davis. The hulking senior made the first-team all-conference list as an offensive guard and a defensive tackle. He was also accorded second-team, all-state status. He teams with left guard Pat Reese to give the Bucs some excellent blocking up front.

At Lake Howell, coach Mike Bisceglia hopes the Silver Hawks are on a route similar to the Buccaneers. Howell was the same 3-7 last year and Bisceglia is confident the Hawks will turn those numbers around.

At Apopka, Gierke, as usual, is downplaying his Blue Darters. "People look at (6-4, 245-pound) Jerry Speicer and (6-6, 255-pound) Jim Davis and say 'look how big they are.'"

"Outside of those guys, though, we're just a bunch of rag tags."

Lefttander Rodney Brewer is back at quarterback and he has speedy (9.9 100-yard dash) Sylvester Smith and two-year starter Hosea Shuman to run under his bombs. Hard-hitting linebacker Ulysses Harper is back also.

"I just don't see how we can play with Mainland, Lyman and Lake Howell," cried Gierke.

Sure, sure. Sounds like a Chip off the old Scott.

Evert Survives, Austin Perishes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Chris Evert Lloyd can be excused if she thinks her task has been made much easier.

Evert, the second seed, managed to get by Bonnie Gadusek, 4-6, 6-1, 6-0, in the quarter-finals of the U.S. Open Wednesday. Andrea Jaeger, the No. 4 seed, also survived a shaky first set in beating Gretchen Rush of Pittsburgh, 3-6, 6-1, 6-0. But Tracy Austin became the second favorite to fall in the women's section, as she was toppled by No. 5 Hana Mandlikova, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

The third-seeded and defending champion Austin fell prey to the Czechoslovakian's aggressive net game and vigorous groundstrokes, the same fate that befell top-seeded Martina Navratilova the day before.

"She won it," Austin said of Mandlikova. "I was disappointed on the way I played the big points because that's where I think I am the toughest."

While Mandlikova went on to face Pam Shriver — Navratilova's eliminator — in the semifinals, Evert drew Jaeger and said her match against Gadusek would help her prepare.

"Basically Andrea has the same type of game," Evert said. "She hits a lot of loopy balls and is very patient."

Rush, like Gadusek an 18-year-old, was not overly disappointed with her performance at the Open.

"I came here as a wild card — and only found out the Tuesday before the tournament started," Rush said. "I hadn't played tennis the whole week before that and I had a cram session in tennis. Things went my way for awhile and I really feel good about the way I played and my results here."

Before losing to Jaegar, Rush had ousted Pam Teeguarden, 11th-seeded Mima Jausovec, Jennifer Mundel, and sixth seed Wendy Turnbull.

In today's feature matches, two men's quarter-final matches were scheduled: No. 2 seed Jimmy Connors against upset-minded Rodney Harmon of Richmond, Va., and, at night, fourth-seeded Guillermo Vilas facing unseeded Tom Gullikson. The two women's semifinal matches were planned for Friday.

The first two men's semifinal berths were determined Wednesday, as No. 3 seed Ivan Lendl trounced Kim Warwick of Australia, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1, and topseeded John McEnroe took out No. 6 Gene Mayer, 4-6, 7-6 (7-4), 6-3, 4-6, 6-1, in a 3½-hour taster.

Lendl said he "had to be careful" of Warwick, but he wasn't. From the start he attacked Warwick's weak serve and, after breaking him in the fifth game of the first set, he had few problems.

Chris Evert-Lloyd returns a backhand in her three-set victory over Bonnie Gadusek.

O'Brien Charges Sixers' Offer To Malone Violates Agreement

NEW YORK (UPI) — The status of Moses Malone, the mountainous center caught somewhere between Houston and Philadelphia, has taken a new legal twist.

Saying the offer sheet given to Malone by the Philadelphia 76ers includes a number of illegal provisions, NBA Commissioner Lawrence O'Brien announced Wednesday the league has filed an enforcement proceeding against the star center and the 76ers.

The six-year $13 million offer sheet was signed Sept. 2. The commissioner said

Pro Basketball

Malone's club, the Houston Rockets, has joined the league in filing the proceeding.

Malone's attorney, Lee Fentress, however, said his client will fight the Rockets' attempt to match the offer.

The matter will be heard by Kingman Brewster, the special master who rules on NBA arbitration cases.

O'Brien charges the 76ers with violating the league's agreement governing offer sheets by offering Malone a bonus if his team is not among the top six in the NBA in road attendance and another bonus if his team has home gate receipts of less than $3 million.

"Since the Philadelphia 76ers have been among the top six teams in the NBA in road attendance for the past several years and anticipate gate receipts of considerably more than $3 million, these clauses violated the provision of the (Oscar) Robertson Agreement that expressly prohibits an NBA team from making an offer which is designed to defeat the prior team's ability to match that offer," O'Brien said.

Fentress said in a message to 76ers' General Manager Pat Williams that Malone would not approve the transfer of his contract from the Malool family, who sold the Rockets earlier this year, to Houston automobile dealer Charles Thomas.

Under the NBA's collective bargaining agreement, the Rockets have 15 days in which to match the 76ers' offer. That period began last Friday.

Union Calls For 'Selected Strikes' For Sunday Games

United Press International

NFL Players Association leaders aren't looking to strike any of Sunday's first regular-season games, but it appears the union won't discourage teams that decide not to play.

The union's executive committee members agreed Wednesday night not to call for "selected strikes" Sunday. But the door was left wide open for any team, particularly those where player representatives were cut, to strike.

NFLPA Executive Director Ed Garvey talked with committee members in a conference call Wednesday night and the committee formally rejected a contract proposal presented earlier in the day by the NFL Management Council.

Garvey was in Philadelphia addressing the Philadelphia Council of the AFL-CIO and talked with committee members along with union officials in the NFLPA's Washington office.

"We're not going to pick any individual games to be struck, Garvey said following the meeting.

Seattle Seahawks players met Wednesday night to decide on whether to play their home opener with Cleveland.

Dave Meggessey, of the NFLPA West Coast office, attended the meeting and said the players "are solidly behind" Sam McCullum, the club's player representative who was cut Monday.

Garvey said the executive committee agreed Wednesday night to set a deadline for a league-wide strike "between the first and fourth games" of the regular season unless a new agreement is reached or substantial progress is made in the sporadic talks.

The union filed unfair labor practice charges with the National Labor Relations Board over the cutting of McCullum and two other representatives — Mike Kadish at Buffalo and Herb Orvis at Baltimore.

Two other player representatives — Benny Ricardo at New Orleans and Dallas Hickman, the Washington Redskins' alternate representative — were cut. Three have been traded this summer, all to the San Diego Chargers — Tim Fox from New England, Dewey Selmon from Tampa Bay and Bruce

Pro Football

Laird from Baltimore.

The union called for reinstating the player representatives who have been cut. A union spokesman said the NLRB "is expected to rule by Friday" on the charges.

Garvey said the union wants the NFLMC to "come to bargaining table immediately with a new proposal." He said, however, the union will not accept a federal mediator in the negotiations.

Jack Donlan, executive director of the NFL Management Council, presented the leagues' proposal for "career adjustment and severance pay, improved and relaxed first refusal compensation and additional fringe benefits he said would cost the owners "420 million in brand new money."

Panthers Try To Cage Bryant Tonight On TV

By United Press International

Those expecting a one-quarterback show when they tune in to tonight's nationally televised Pittsburgh-North Carolina game may be in for a slight surprise.

For months before the season, talk has been centered around Pitt quarterback Dan Marino as a genuine Heisman Trophy candidate. But the sixth-ranked Tar Heels have a pretty fair quarterback of their own in senior Rod Elkins.

"I'm expecting a big year from Rod," North Carolina Coach Denny Crum said. "He's the kind of competitor who always thinks he can do better."

Crum expects Elkins' senior year to resemble his sophomore season, when he led the Atlantic Coast Conference in passing.

But the top-rated Panthers have more to worry about than just Elkins — they have tailback Kelvin Bryant, the nation's third leading rusher last year, to contend with as well.

Murphy Singles Braves Into First Place

Garber's Scoreless Relief Stint Cements 12-11 Victory Over LA

ATLANTA (UPI) — Joe Torre had the ultimate weapon in Wednesday night's battle for the National League West lead — his team batted last.

That's what it took for the Atlanta Braves to pull out a 12-11 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers in 10 innings, moving the Braves back into first place by one-half game.

"About the fifth inning, Bob Gibson (Braves pitching coach) looked over at me and said, 'One good thing about this game is we bat last.' That's about how it was," said Torre. "We didn't have to go back out there and protect the lead."

The lead bounced back and forth in the early innings of the slugfest, which featured 35 hits, including seven home runs.

The Braves won it on Dale Murphy's one-out single in the bottom of the 10th which scored Caudell Washington from second base.

"It was a fast ball and I was just thinking get a better swing than I did the first time," said

National League

Murphy. "Steve Howe (Dodger pitcher) has excellent stuff."

Torre said he was especially pleased that the Braves, who had lost nine straight to the Dodgers, "were not intimidated and kept coming back after falling behind early."

With one out in the 10th, Washington singled for his fifth hit of the game. He moved to second on Rafael Ramirez' single and scored on Murphy's liner off reliever Steve Howe, 6-4.

Gene Garber, 7-8, pitched three scoreless innings to help the Braves snap a four-game losing streak.

Atlanta tied it 11-11 with an unearned run in the seventh when Washington singled in Larry Whistenton.

The Dodgers took a 1-0 lead in the first on Dusty Baker's RBI single but the Braves came right back in the bottom of the inning with a three-run homer by Bob Horner, his 29th of the year.

The Dodgers went ahead 4-3 in the second on Sak's three-run homer and then made it 5-3 in the third on Pedro Guerrero's 28th homer of the season, a 420-foot blast into the left-field bleachers.

The Braves tied it 5-5 in the bottom of the third on Washington's double and Murphy's 34th homer of the season. The Braves went ahead 8-5 in the fourth on Washington's 420-foot homer to center that knocked out Dodger starter Bob Welch.

Phillies 4, Cubs 3
At Chicago, pinch-hitter Bill Robinson lined an 0-and-2 pitch for a single to score George Vukovich with two out in the eighth inning to lead the Phillies.

Mets 9, Pirates 1
At Pittsburgh, Ron Hodges hit a grand slam,

Dave Kingman added a three-run shot and rookie Rick Ownbey tossed a eight-hitter for his first major-league victory, to lead the Mets.

Padres 9, Reds 4
At Cincinnati, Garry Templeton's single to left-center, drove home Tim Flannery with the go-ahead run in a five-run ninth that carried the Padres.

Cardinals 1, Expos 0
At St. Louis, Keith Hernandez tripled in the only run of the game in the third inning and Bob Forsch scattered eight hits to pace St. Louis.

Astros 8, Giants 1
At Houston, pitcher Joe Niekro drove in three runs and rookies Bill Doran and Kevin Bass each collected their first major-league RBI, to break a five-game San Francisco winning streak.

Yankees' Power Show Ends Palmer Streak;

White Sox Trip Mariners; Royals Roll On, 6-2

United Press International

It didn't take long for Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver to look for a new beginning after the New York Yankees abruptly ended a couple of Oriole streaks Wednesday night.

The Yankees used a three-run homer by Ken Griffey and solo blasts by Jerry Mumphrey, Roy Smalley and Dave Winfield to snap the Orioles' 10-game winning streak and Jurr Palmer's personal string of 11 straight victories, with a 10-5 triumph.

"Maybe it means Palmer won't lose for the rest of the season," said Weaver, whose Orioles dropped four games behind Milwaukee in the AL East.

The Yankees chased Palmer, who hadn't lost a game since May 30, after 2 1-3 innings with five runs, all the result of the homers.

Jay Howell, who was called up by New York Aug. 31, when Tommy John was traded to

American League

California, didn't allow a hit until the fourth and limited Baltimore to four hits over eight innings. He was delighted to best one of the AL's best pitchers.

"It sure is thrilling to beat a future Hall-of-Famer," said the Yankee rookie.

Dave Winfield's 30th homer of the year made him only the ninth player in baseball history to hit 30 or more homers in both leagues.

In other games, Toronto edged Oakland, 6-5, Cleveland blanked Boston, 2-0, Texas zapped Minnesota, 2-0, Milwaukee defeated Detroit, 9-7, Chicago beat California, 5-3, and Kansas City topped Seattle, 6-2.

In the National League, it was Philadelphia 4, Chicago 3; New York 9, Pittsburgh 1; San Diego 9, Cincinnati 4; Atlanta 12, Los Angeles

11, in 10 innings; St. Louis 1, Montreal 0, and Houston 8, San Francisco 1.

At Oakland, Calif., Barry Bonnell went 3-for-5 with two RBI and Jesse Barfield hit his 13th homer of the year to lead Toronto to their fourth straight victory.

Indians 2, Red Sox 0
At Cleveland, Andre Thornton doubled home Toby Harrah for a first-inning run and rookie Kevin Rhomberg hit his first major-league homer to support Ed Whitson's seven-hitter.

Brewers 9, Tigers 7
At Arlington, Texas, rookie George Wright hit a two-run homer and Jon Matlack, Danny Darwin and Paul Mirabella combined on a four-hitter to pace the Rangers.

Royals 6, Mariners 2
At Seattle, Vida Blue tossed a five-lutter and Hal McRae raised his major-league leading RBI total to 118 by driving in two runs to help Kansas City snap a four-game losing streak.

White Sox 5, Angels 3

At Anaheim, Calif., pinchrunner Jay Loviglio scored the tie-breaking run on Mike Squires' two-out single in the eighth to lead surging Chicago.

At Seattle, Vida Blue tossed a five-lutter and Hal McRae raised his major-league leading RBI total to 118 by driving in two runs to help Kansas City snap a four-game losing streak.

UNC Study: Ugly Men Get Ahead

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Nice looking guys finish last in the race for status while their uglier counterparts come out with better jobs and better educated wives, a study says.

J. Richard Udry and Bruce Eckland of the University of North Carolina, reporting the 27th annual meeting of the American Sociological Association, said looks had no effect on income in the survey "but otherwise attractiveness (in men) impedes status attainment."

"First, the least attractive males have the most education," the researchers said, citing a study of 601 men and 745 women. "Second, their occupational status is higher on the job classification score."

The job status rating decreases as "we proceed up the attractiveness score." Only the "outstandingly" good-looking men attain jobs as prestigious as those of the least attractive.

The study showed the more attractive woman, the more highly educated her husband, while the opposite was true for the man.

The survey showed the less attractive men performed better in school and had sexual relations at a later age than the better-looking males.

There was no correlation, however, between a woman's looks and her school performance, or adolescent sexual activity.

"Exceptionally homely men are socially handicapped in high school, which leads them to concentrate on educational achievement, which pays off in job prestige (but not earnings) later on," Udry said.

The fact the more attractive men had the less-educated wives was explained by "the high level of sexual activity and the low academic achievement of the better-looking males."

"Perhaps being good looking gives a man so many heterosexual opportunities he loses sight of other objectives and marries at an earlier age, thereby probably marrying a younger woman than the less good-looking man and, therefore, a woman with less education," said Udry.

The study also showed, "to no one's surprise," the least attractive women were the least likely to marry, Udry said.

Administration Backs Off Relaxing Requirements For Educating Handicapped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Faced with massive protests, the Reagan administration may delay adoption of its most controversial proposals to relax some requirements for educating the handicapped, Education Secretary Terrell Bell said Wednesday.

Bell made the disclosure to more than 200 people who crowded into a government auditorium for one of 11 public hearings on the administration's wide-ranging proposals to relax rules implementing the 1975 Education for All Handicapped Children Act.

Bell said some of the proposals — particularly those weakening parental consent requirements, relaxing deadlines for school officials to write education plans and allowing them to remove disabled children from regular classrooms if they cause "substantial disruption" — may be put off for a time.

He said those provisions provoked "a lot of attention and concern" and "may need considerable revision."

Bell said the administration may adopt a proportion of the proposals that are not controversial and hold off on those that are.

He emphasized his suggestion to delay some of the rules was "highly tentative."

"We need to assure the rights of the handicapped to a free and appropriate public education," Bell said.

"These are proposed regulations," Bell told the crowd. "We are sincerely holding hearings with a feeling of openness and a desire to receive your input on them."

Bell said the administration would not impose final rules before the first of the year, so that Congress would have time to consider them after it gets back from Christmas recess.

Brrr! It'll Be Colder Than Normal This Winter

ORLANDO, (UPI)—Central Florida will have a colder than average winter, says one of the world's leading climatologists.

The brisk winter will only come after a milder-than-usual fall that forecasters at the National Weather Service predict.

Both predictions may be right, experts say. And What could be at the heart of the weather, experts say, is the monumental amount of pollutants circling the Earth.

But there are at least two different schools of thought about how the contamination from man and volcanoes being thrown into the atmosphere will affect humans.

One school claims the haze is creating a "greenhouse effect" that is trapping heat. That, the line of thought goes, will result in the rise of temperatures, the melting of polar icecaps which will cause the flood of coastal areas and eventually, general chaos.

The other school says the haze will do exactly the opposite — cool the surface of the Earth, bringing another Ice Age.

Husband's Latest Flame Sparks Wife's Slow Burn

DEAR ABBY My husband has this infatuation (maybe love) for a good friend of ours. She is a very dear, sweet person. When she comes around, old Herb lights up like a Christmas tree when only minutes before he was an old grouch. The minute she leaves, Herb goes back to being an old grouch again.

This has been going on for a long time, but lately it's been getting worse. I have a hard time handling my feelings around this woman. Poor dear, I'm sure she's not aware of my feelings, and I can't blame her for the way my husband acts. She does nothing to encourage him.

Incidentally, Herb and I have a very platonic sex life. What is your advice?
JEALOUS AND HURT
DEAR JEALOUS: Your central problem seems to be lack of communication between you and "old Herb." Instead of silently resenting his brightening up when your friend comes around, find out why he's grouchy in your presence. Get a dialogue going without becoming angry or judgmental. His grouchiness may be related to your "platonic" sex life. It's easier to effect a cure when you know the cause.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY I have a mother (divorced and living alone) who wants me to call her each time before I drop in. Sometimes I just happen to be in the neighborhood and feel like stopping by to say hello.

Yesterday she became very angry when I popped in on her. She said, "Why didn't you call me? I was planning on going out for the day!"

Do you think a daughter (I am 25) should have to call her own mother and make an appointment to see her? Thank you kindly.

UPSET
DEAR UPSET: In most cases, no. But since your mother asked specifically that you call her, you should respect her wishes.

DEAR ABBY I feel like a heel writing this, but I must. A woman comes to my home three days a week to do the laundry and housekeeping. She is an excellent worker and I pay her top salary. The problem? She has started to bring her 4-year-old child to work with her very day. At first the little girl sat quietly alone in the kitchen, but lately she feels more at home, so she's been following me around asking questions. When her mother sees her doing this, she reprimands her, the child cries, and it upsets me.

Please don't think I'm criticizing the child. She's behaving like a normal child. When she gets bored she looks for company. (I've bought her coloring books and she watches television, but she can't do that six hours a day.)

I don't have the heart to tell the woman not to bring her daughter here anymore, but I dislike feeling uncomfortable in my own home. I am not a mean person and I like children, but I feel sorry for the child. What should I do?

NO CITY, PLEASE
DEAR NO CITY: Ask your housekeeper to please make arrangements for the care of the child (away from your home) while she works for you. Tell her you feel sorry for the child. It's true.

Highway 436 RR Work Will Slow Motorists

So you thought traffic was bad on State Road 436 in Altamonte Springs, well, things are going to get worse before they get better.

There's good news and bad news for motorists who drive the heavily-traveled road.

The good news is the rough Seaboard Coast Line Railroad crossing on 436 just east of Langwood Avenue (State Road 427) is going to be corrected and rubberized for a smoother passage at a cost of $60,000.

The bad news is traffic will be reduced to one lane in each direction on State Road 436 for two weeks while the work is in progress. Motorists are being asked to take an alternate route whenever possible to avoid the bottleneck.

According to Jack Sellers, maintenance engineer for the State Department of Transportation, the work will begin at 7 a.m. on Monday and the lanes will be closed until Friday night, Sept. 17.

All lanes will be open at the crossing over the weekend and will close down to one lane each way again on Monday morning and remain closed until the afternoon at which time the work is scheduled to be completed, Sellers said.

The project is being done jointly by the Seaboard Coast Line and the DOT.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Friday, September 10, 1982

YOUR BIRTHDAY September 10, 1982 This coming year you will be instilled with greater ambitions and stronger drives to make your mark in the world. Once you are motivated, your chances for success are good. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your possibilities for gratifying your self-interests look good today, but you must be very careful how you go about it. Don't be too single-minded. Predictions of what's in store for you in the seasons following your birthday and where to look for your luck and opportunities are in your Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Rely upon your logic today, not your hunches or intuition. Your emotions could cloud your judgment and cause you to make unwise decisions. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Persons you feel you can depend upon may be the ones who cause you complications today. Your support is apt to come from least-expected allies. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) In order to fulfill your ambitions today you must be very careful not to do anything which could jeopardize friendly relations with associates. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Normally you're well-organized in your work habits and you operate productively and efficiently. Today, however, poor planning could disrupt your timetable. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you expect others to accept you for what you are with all of your faults and shortcomings, you must be prepared today to overlook their annoying habits. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Do not make any major changes today which will have an affect upon the family or household without first consulting your mate. Both must be in complete accord. ARIES (March 21-April 19) Regardless of how justified you feel about commenting on a co-worker's shortcomings, it's best to keep your criticism to yourself today. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Continue to manage your finances and resources with extreme prudence today. Don't let your extravagant urges impel you to live beyond your means. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Try to find the middle ground as promptly as possible today if you find you and your mate taking opposing positions on a major issue. It's up to you to make the compromise. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Beware of tendencies today to anticipate problems in situations which you have yet to attempt. This could defeat you before your start. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Try to devise ways today to limit your nonessential spending. You'll be sorry later if you let your budget get out of balance.

Reader Asks Help For His Impotence

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am impotent and I'd like to cure myself if it is possible. I can be right in the middle of the act and then boom, it's gone. It is really frustrating. I am 30 years old and in good health. I noticed it when I was 17 years old. Then I went to prison and got out at age 25. I've had this problem ever since. I'd appreciate it if you would help me. I am 5 feet 10, weigh 220, not fat; I have big bones. Please tell me what to do to overcome my problem or to understand it better.

DEAR READER — I have made it a point to stress in columns in the past that most cases of impotence are NOT due to psychological factors. Usually a man is not impotent because he hates his wife or resents his mother. Most impotence is because of a medical problem, commonly diabetes, alcohol, depression, a hormone imbalance with too much prolactin from the pituitary or a reaction to a medication. However, there are cases of impotence that are on a psychological basis. Whereas impotence in middle-aged and older men is more often caused by disease, impotence in young men is more often from psychological factors. I do not know if you have a psychological problem, but you should first be carefully evaluated in case you do have a medical problem. That should include a measurement of testosterone levels, prolactin levels and blood glucose levels. It is hard for me to accept that your height and weight are normal. Perhaps that is a clue that you have some imbalance in hormones. If you prove to have no underlying medical problem then you need psychological counseling. The most common psychological problem causing impotence in young men is fear of failure. Your prison term and lack of sexual opportunity at that stage of life may have caused you to lose confidence in yourself. But don't guess, get some professional help.

Meanwhile I am sending you The Health Letter number 18-6. Help for Impotence. Others can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I recently read a nutrition book that said if you followed its diet you could retard the aging process six to 12 years. The diet is high in nucleic acids, seafood, asparagus, spinach, onions, mushrooms, oatmeal, wheat germ or bran plus two glasses of milk, four glasses of water, one glass of fruit or vegetable juice and chicken liver. Can the fountain of youth be found in a sardine can? Is aging caused by inherited factors or can such a diet help?

I've been eating spinach every day and would like to know if I should go on. Spinach in the freezer, spinach in the vegetable bin, spinach in cans on the shelves. Ugh. DEAR READER — I wish the problem of aging could be solved that easily.

The diet doesn't sound like it contains anything that is harmful, but chicken livers do contain lots of cholesterol. A high nucleic acid diet could increase your uric acid level, particularly if you have any susceptibility to gout.

Yes, inherited traits have a lot to do with how soon you age. But a sensible diet, staying slim, keeping active and avoiding fatty foods and tobacco help a lot in getting the most out of what you inherit. But you will have to look beyond sardines and spinach for optimal results.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Bridge hand diagram showing North, South, West, and East cards. North: A45, K32, K53, K754. South: KQ1098, A, A4, AQ8. West: 742, J109, Q8, J10832. East: 3, AQ1754, 109762, 9. Vulnerable: Both. Dealer: North. Pass: 10, 17, 4NT, 6. Opening lead: ♠J.

When South looked over dummy he saw that the slam was a good one. A 3-3 club break or a successful diamond finesse would give him 12 tricks and there just might be some sort of a squeeze. South let the jack hold the first heart trick. He ruffed the heart continuation, carefully retaining the king of hearts in dummy. He drew trumps with three leads and then played three rounds of clubs, being careful to win the third one in his own hand. He also noted that East had shown up with singletons in both black suits. When the last trump was led, West, who had already chucked a club, had to let his last heart go to keep the high club so dummy's last club was thrown. This left dummy with king-five of diamonds and king of hearts. East had to hold the ace of hearts and therefore was forced to come down to just two diamonds. Now South did not have to worry about the diamond finesse. Each opponent was marked with exactly two diamonds and the queen was sure to drop. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)
