Restrictions On Press Freedom Are Asked By Nehru

NEW DELHI, India, May 15.—Prime Minister Nehru, defending his proposals to amend the freedom of speech clause and other sections of India's constitution, told parliament today the habit seemed to be growing abroad "to criticize us whatever we do."

Nehru said "there has been criticism, not only in India as there should be, but also in some foreign countries, where some of our friends—or those who were our friends—have got into the habit of criticizing us whatever we might do."

"If we seek peace, they criticize us. If we do something else, they say we are not peaceful. But we welcome this criticism, because in matters of this kind the more scrutiny the better."

Moving to refer a constitutional amendment to a committee of 21 members of parliament with instructions to report by May 21, Nehru said the amendment was "an enabling measure clarifying the power of parliament" and not to empower the government as such.

Terminating the present period "a kind of prewar stage of the great crisis for which we have to suffer the consequences," Nehru denounced as "irresponsible" elements of the Indian press.

"What are we to do about these little sheets, coming out day to day, which poison and vitiate the atmosphere?" he demanded. "There is a limit to the license one can allow freedom carriers to carry. Responsibility, obligation, discipline, if these are freedom, a negation of freedom."

Nehru declared that "there is no such thing as freedom with no country in the world where regard to the press as India. But it is a matter of the deepest distress to me to see day to day these news sheets poisoning the oyster shell on state owned water bottoms and use of fish and oyster research.

A few new bills came in a constitutional five-man Salt Water or Fish Commission was proposed in the Senate by Senator Gaudier of New Smyrna Beach.

The commission would supervise regulation of shell fish, sponges and other forms of marine life. It also would operate hatcheries and laboratories.

Senator Ripley of Jacksonville proposed another change in the State Constitution to provide for a collector of revenue. He would be an administrative officer assisting the Governor and would be named by him. His term of office would be the same as the Governor's and he would "collect all revenues accruing to the state."

Rep. Carlton of Duval county proposed a single registration for all vehicles owned by the State. It would mean State cars and trucks would not need new license plates each year.

Reps. Turfington and Whitlock of Alachua introduced a bill to appropriate $1,275,000 for an agricultural laboratory and classroom building at the University of Florida and $325,000 for an addition to science hall there. A similar bill has been received in the Senate.

Legislators put aside money matters for a while.

They have 16 days left to decide how much the State should spend for the next two years and where to get any additional revenue that may be needed.

Bills putting tight restrictions on transmission and publication of racing information that would be helpful to illegal bookmakers are a step nearer to being the law of Florida.

There are among a dozen anti-crime bills which cleared through the Senate yesterday and are on their way to the House, some for no more than minor changes in measures already adopted by the house.

One would make it unlawful to print, sell or possess "wall charts, tip sheets, newspapers, scratch sheets, bookmaking tickets or other items in furtherance of gambling."

Another would prohibit transmission of any racing information from a Florida track in the hour immediately before the first race daily. It also would ban transmission of results until half an hour after each race has been made of the younger generation.

"Imagine our soldiers and sailors reading this day to day," he said. "The way untruth is handled about it is becoming impossible to distinguish truth from falsehood."

Referring to an amendment to enable state governments to abolish Zamindari (absentee landlordship without compensation) Nehru continued, "The essential problem for India and all Asia is land reform."

In the interests of stability, Nehru said, he preferred to pay "adequate compensation, but not too much of it" for the end of the Zamindari.

The Socialists and other opposition parties demanded abolition of Zamindari with no compensation.

Stressing that it was unlikely the amendments would be the basis for legislation by the present government and parliament, Nehru said, "I repudiate the suggestion that any of these amendments are designed for any political or party (congress)."

Acheson Squelches Resignation Rumor At Press Meeting

WASHINGTON, May 16.—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said today he has "no intention" of resigning and intends to stay in the Administration "as long as the President wants me to stay."

Acheson was asked about his attitude toward his job at a news conference and made this statement which he later authorized for direct quotation:

"I have no intention of resigning."

"The matter has been talked about many times and my position has been stated many times. I am prepared to stay as long as the President wants me to stay."

Acheson also hotly maintained the United States is absolutely opposed to Red China's membership in the United Nations and so far has succeeded in convincing a majority of U. N. members to take the same view.

That is the important part of the question, Acheson told a news conference. With unusual sharpness, he advised reporters not to fiddle around with a secondary question, as he called it, such as whether Red China's admission should be vetoed by the United States, if it ever came to that.

Secretary of Defense Marshall finished—except the last race of the day, when the embargo would be only 15 minutes. The ban could be lifted, also, for two feature races such as the Hialeah Flamingo Stakes each week.

Mons came on Nov. 1 when the "Chinese came into the picture," he declared. "With the Chinese coming down over the Yalu River, our job was to knock out bridges. Diving through canyons to hit bridges was difficult, he said, "but we did get some." He added that some anti-aircraft fire from the other side of the Yalu was experienced.

He told of the big Chinese breakthrough, and the period when the nearly-trapped Marines retreated to Hungnam. His air group worked in close support with ground troops, and on one occasion when he received a radio report from a jeep that a U. S. column had been stopped, his 12 planes plastered a Chinese occupied wood with napalm, and the column was able to go ahead.

"One of the big factors that surprised the Chinese was the fine

American troops, somewhat time in a two and a half week lull, thoroughly bolster their defenses. A division spokesman said the best positions they held the Allied forces are pro-actively manned yet. He said they're confident and in good spirits.

AP correspondent John Randolph reported that while Allied officers differed on just when the Reds will strike they agreed: "The Chinese are loaded and cocked and can explode southward any time they want."

The Chinese sharpened their probing attack Wednesday morning concentrating on the central front. They have moved in considerable strength across the Pukhan and Soyang rivers on either side of Chunchon.

Plymouth's New "Safety-Flow Ride" Takes Bounce Out of Bumps

MOTION PICTURES made by our engineers show how little the new Plymouth goes up and down when passing over a bump, compared to cars that do not have the new "Safety-Flow Ride." New Oriflow shock absorbers, along with balanced weight distribution, synchronized springing, and other engineering features, hold the car closer to a level plane. They give Plymouth the riding qualities of a car weighing a thousand pounds more, in the opinion of Tom McCahill, automotive expert, writing in Mechanix Illustrated.

OUR TEST DRIVERS repeatedly drove the new Plymouth across ditches and deep holes. Instead of the terrific pitching and tossing you'd expect, the car absorbed the impact and stayed under easy control.

"SAFETY-FLOW RIDE" IS SO STEADY, even on rough roads, that you don't worry about giving rear seat passengers a toss or thump. This means peace of mind as well as bodily comfort. It's relaxed and restful—a completely new experience in riding comfort.

HEADS UP! With "Safety-Flow Ride" you can forget about the condition of the road immediately in front of the car and give your entire attention to oncoming traffic, pedestrians, and intersections ahead.

Bill Is Introduced To Strip Hialeah Of Choice Race Dates

Proposal Would Leave Allocation Of All Racing Periods To State Commission

TALLAHASSEE, May 17—(AP)—The old fight between horse race tracks, which has plagued the Florida Legislature since it took a hand in awarding racing dates four years ago, flared again today.

Nineteen members of the House joined in presenting a bill in the public amusement committee to repeal the 1947 law which in effect gives Hialeah Park the choice 40-day racing period at the height of the racing season.

The effect of the bill would be to leave awarding of racing dates solely up to the State Racing Commission, which does it for dog tracks and used to do it for horse tracks.

A battle by operators of Gulfstream Park to write into law a new formula that would give them the second-best dates tied up the 1949 regular and special seasons for days with some of the bitterest debate, parliamentary maneuvering and most determined lobbying in recent years. It was defeated on a vote in the Senate.

Although eight members of the Public Amusement Committee—a majority—were co-sponsors of the bill to repeal the 1947 Hialeah law, the group put off action on whether to send it to the calendar for floor debate until after a public hearing Monday.

In the Senate, Senators Gautier of Duval and Lewis of Broward, who led rival forces on the Gulfstream dates bill two years ago, joined in introducing today a bill that would let one race track lease another and operate it on dates granted the leasing track.

Gautier said the bill had no significance.

Plans of today's legislative session were made by the committee. The Senate Finance and Taxation committee approved a bill taking tax collection responsibility away from the State Revenue Department and giving the task of collecting beverage taxes to the State Comptroller. The Revenue Department would retain its enforcement duties under the measure.

As originally presented by Senator Davis of Manatee the bill would have abolished the Department of Highway and Public Safety and transferred its duties to the State Board of Pharmacy.

The Senate's public health committee rejected unconditionally a bill which would have brought the sale of cosmetics, toothpaste and home remedies under rigid state control. The measure would have required all states which sell these items to secure permits from the state board of pharmacy.

The House received a proposed constitutional amendment from Rep. Jernigan of Escambia county and Melvin of Santa Rosa county which would do away with the county fee of officers. Under the proposal all county officers would be paid straight salaries and all (Continued on Page Six)

Armed Forces Day

Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, General Omar N. Bradley.

This Armed Forces Day is observed in the midst of a steady mobilization of America's power. Our goal is security and peace. It is a mobilization of strength to deter further aggression.

The advantages of a successful war are doubtful. The disadvantages of unsuccessful war are certain. Real security lies in the prevention of war.

The men and women of the Armed Forces are today protecting America, North Korea and the world to the heart of Europe. They are giving us all of their best; they deserve all of ours.

Low Flying Naval Aircraft Are Making Simulated Carrier Landings

Naval planes flying over Sanford during the last few days at relatively low altitude are following a set pattern necessary in practicing landings similar to those on a carrier. Air Group Comdr. Walter Madden pointed out today.

He declared that some telephone calls had been received at the Naval Air Station from citizens complaining of the noise of the planes at low altitude, and asking if the planes cannot fly higher. The reason that the planes stay low is that if they flew higher they would have to make a gliding approach to the runway during the tests, and this would result in poor landing for this type of test, he stated.

Many of the pilots who practiced landings this morning had seen carrier action in Korea, and now find it necessary to practice the "bounce" after a five month interval.

Cross winds made landings somewhat difficult this morning, but most of the pilots were able to make good landings, making a turn to the left onto the runway, controlling speed properly and coming over "the deck" edge at about 15 to 20 feet altitude, touching the runway in a simulated aircraft carrier landing and then taking off again for another circle and try. The prevailing east winds made a circle over the city necessary. Lieut. G. E. McGovern, senior U. S. O. (landing signal officer) waved the signal flags. If a pilot appeared to be at proper altitude and speed he would be signalled to land; if not, he made another circle and tried again.

Present at the landings were Erickson, U. S. N. R., an L. S. O. officer and Lieut. Patrick Budge, an exchange officer of the British Royal Navy, and formerly attached to a British carrier in the Mediterranean. A signal officer technically is known as a "lateman."

Word of an approaching storm on the east coast was received at the Station this morning and Comdr. Madden ordered all proper precautions be taken to secure and protect planes in event of hard winds.

In recognition of Armed Forces Day will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:00 P. M. to 4:00 P. M. It was announced by Capt. J. L. Chittenden, commanding officer. The Station now has four jet planes, and additional aircraft here soon, and Comdr. Madden here today was practicing landings with propeller type planes, mostly Corsairs.

Russian Attempt To Stop Embargo On Chinese Fails

Soviet Delegate Says Security Council Must Pass On Plan

NEW YORK, May 17—(AP)—A worldwide arms embargo against Communist China was approved overwhelmingly today by the United Nations Political Committee.

The committee announced today that steel supplies for arms and other "hard goods" will be cut about one-third below pre-Korea levels on July 1.

NEW YORK, May 17—(AP)—Russia failed today to shift debate on a proposed world arms embargo against Red China to the United Nations Security Council, where a Soviet veto could hit it.

The question was settled without a vote in the General Assembly's 60-nation Political Committee after the Soviet bloc announced it would not participate in the committee's discussion on the ground that the Security Council was the only competent agency to debate the question.

However, Russia's Jacob Malik insisted that he was not asking the committee to vote on the question of competence. Chairman Roberto Arias-Cano, Colombia, then gave the floor to U. S. Ambassador Ernest Gruening to introduce the embargo proposal.

The Soviet bloc delegates remained in their seats. Russia's Jacob A. Malik seized the floor on a point of order at the opening of the Political Committee.

He argued that any question of world peace or security—like the embargo proposal—advanced by a Special Assembly Panelists Committee belongs in the Security Council.

Russia does not have veto power in the Assembly and over-riding approval of the embargo plan had been foreseen. The Assembly took over all phases of the Korean question last fall after Russia paralyzed the Security Council by using the veto.

After making his objections, Malik said: "In view of the lack of competence of the General Assembly in this, the Soviet Union will not participate in consideration of this question."

Poland's Julius Kats-Buchy quickly supported Malik's stand as the committee chairman, Roberto Arias-Cano, Colombia, announced he would put the question to a vote.

Before the meeting began Malik laughingly declined comment on a merrill (Newsweek) story (Continued on Page Six)

Massive Chinese Offensive Breaks Against UN Defense; Bradley's Silence Is Upheld

Committee Votes 18-8 Not To Demand Testimony On Confidential Truman Talks

WASHINGTON, May 17—(AP)—Senate investigators upheld today the refusal of General Omar N. Bradley to testify about President Truman's private talks with his advisers on firing General Douglas MacArthur.

Senator McMillon (D-Conn.) said the vote was 18 to 8. The action sustained a decision by Senator Russell (D-Ga.) chairman of the Joint Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committee that Bradley had a right to keep silent on the talks.

Bradley declined on Tuesday to tell the committee, in response to questions by Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) what was said at a White House conference Apr. 3 which led to the President's dismissal of MacArthur as Pacific commander on Apr. 11.

A vote to overturn Russell's ruling could have led to a formal demand that Bradley answer the questions or face possible charges of contempt of Congress.

While the senators were settling this matter, President Truman put in some links for his point of view in the controversy with MacArthur over Korean war strategy.

In a speech to a national conference of citizenship, the President lashed out at "some senators and some other people" who he said would have this country "for an all-out war in China all by themselves in 1950."

Iranian Declares War Is Threatened By British Action

TEHRAN, Iran, May 17—(AP)—A national front deputy told the Majlis (Parliament) today that British pressure on Iran will cause World War III.

The deputy, Abolhasan Haeri-zadeh, a member of Premier Mohammad Mossadegh's Nationalist Party, referred to reports of the possibility of British parachute troops being sent to Iran to help the oil company.

"The British have not said where parachute troops placed or when they will be sent," he said.

"These threats do not frighten us at all," the deputy said. "We are not going to yield to the company's pressure. Any pressure on this country will cause a third world war. Iran should be free, independent and prosperous or it will be a pathway for Red forces to all other parts of the world."

Including the oil company, the British-controlled Anglo-Iranian oil company.

Tax Investigation Delinquent Girls Of Racketeers To Center On Miami To Broken Homes

Revenue Department Plans Crackdown On Illegal Operators

More than 74 percent of the girls at the Florida Industrial School for girls are sent there because of broken homes, Mrs. Alice D. McPherson, superintendent, told members of the Business and Professional Women's Club at their monthly meeting last night at the Yacht Club.

Mrs. McPherson, who was introduced by Mrs. E. B. Carter, second vice-president of the club, said that at present the school houses 115 girls whose ages range from 10 to 18 years. They are not sent there on a permanent basis but classified as delinquents.

The school activities and occupational training is geared as nearly as possible to outside activity so that when the girls return home they can adjust themselves easily, she said.

The reason for many problem children is that they feel that no one loves them or cares what happens to them," Mrs. McPherson declared. "Some of these girls complete their stay at the school without receiving a letter, package or visitor. They are not criminals but are unfortunate and should be given more consideration when seeking employment after returning home."

Mrs. E. J. Routh, club president, announced that a benefit baseball game between Orlando and Sanford will be sponsored by the club in the near future.

Mrs. Ed Little was appointed chairman of an entry in the Armed Forces Day parade on Saturday.

Plans were discussed for presenting the annual "Miss Sanford" beauty contest. Guests were Mrs. Helen Rinehart, Ocala, and Mrs. J. D. Land, Reading, Pa.

American Troops Plug Hole In ROK Lines; 500 Thousand Reds Launch Huge Attack

ROK OPEN ELEMENTS TOKYO, May 17—(AP)—Waves of attacking Chinese Reds failed today to break through the main United Nations defense line.

The Chinese smashed a hole in South Korean ranks and streamed through, but Allied troops rushed up and plugged the gap by nightfall.

Waves of Chinese stormed U. S. positions. But every time the Americans were pushed off a hill they counterattacked to recapture the high ground.

The actions were along the east-central front, hottest sector of the 75-mile wide battleground.

Field dispatches said 30,000 Chinese were attacking in the 25-mile length of the east-central sector in the opening stages of and all-out Communist offensive.

Another 25,000 Reds were reported gathering strength on the Pukhan Valley invasion route of the west-central sector. Slithering Chinese had crept close to American lines at the junction of the Han and Pukhan Rivers despite extensive aerial and artillery punishment.

Far to the west erupting attacks and mounting pressure threatened a major advance toward Seoul might be tried later.

All along the line Red reserves were packed deep behind the bugle blowing assault units.

Front line officers said Red strategy appeared to be to hit the center of the line regardless of losses.

Communists attacked relentlessly. U. S. planes, artillery and mine fields took a heavy toll.

"We are killing them by the thousands," a U. S. air officer said.

Artillery batteries fired at a second pace. "We are not firing except at groups of 100 or more," an artillery officer said.

The U. S. Eighth Army estimated Communist casualties Wednesday at 3,892. The Fifth Air Force said it killed 850 Thursday in 417 combat strikes between 6 P. M.

Heaviest fighting was on a 25-mile sector of the east-central front near the Chunchon to Inje line.

The Chinese breakthrough was south of Inje, north of the 38th Parallel. Two South Korean divisions were reported retreating from the Inje area.

Elements of two Chinese regiments had slipped through the gap in the Republic's ranks.

Essy field dispatch referring to the breakthrough was heavily censored. AP correspondent William F. Bradford on the east-central front reported the breakthrough exposed the flank of other Republic units. He said these troops were gravely threatened.

South Koreans to the west gave ground heavy pressure.

Still farther southwest, in the neighborhood of Chunchon, Americans generally held their positions in one instance U. S. troops counterattacked.

American lines were denied in spots.

The Communist version of the battle was broadcast by Pyongyang radio in North Korea. It said Reds "are successfully pushing through" American and British aggressors all along the front.

The attack began on the east coast Wednesday and exploded westward. AP correspondent Kate Polowatz compared it to a string of firecrackers exploding as the flame crept along the coast for 45 miles.

From east to west front line dispatches gave this picture Thursday night:

South Koreans on the east coast fell before the attack of Communist stream, of old mountain ridges.

Six hundred Communists penetrated South Korean lines north of Hangey. Allied troops rushed up to plug the hole. Hangey is 20 miles inland and seven miles northeast of Inje.

Communist struck hard all along the Inje sector, breaking through South Korean lines and (Continued on Page Six)

Ethiopians In UN Ranks

The arrival of Ethiopian soldiers in Korea to fight beside men from the other free countries of the world is bound to recall the other time when Ethiopians were resisting aggression. They were fighting for their homeland against the Italian legions of Mussolini, self-styled successor to Caesar.

Ethiopia stood alone in that fight. The other larger nations of the world were able to help little, for they were unprepared and apparently had not learned that a threat to the freedom of men anywhere is a threat to the freedom of men everywhere.

Today, with aggressors again on the march, Ethiopia takes a place in Korea beside the forces pledged to resist. Perhaps the Ethiopians know from bitter experience that one cannot preserve independence by retreating behind mountains.

Treasure Hunt

Any country, even the United States, could use $250,000,000. That is why Chile is investing in airplanes and other modern scientific equipment in an effort to locate the treasure of that amount said to have been buried by Sir Francis Drake on Robinson Crusoe's island in the Pacific.

The island's most noted inhabitant, Alexander Selkirk, who lived alone there for four years, was too busy making a living to interest himself in treasure, particularly as there was nothing on which to spend it if he did find it.

Science In Israel

In the world's newest country, the ideals of science are being admirably served. The laboratories there are called by observers "oases of quiet, order and efficiency in the bustle of present-day life in Israel."

Two Nobel prize winners, Prof. Harold Urey, American nuclear physicist, and Sir Robert Robinson, British chemist, have characterized the work of Israeli scientists as of the utmost fundamental importance.

The Israeli national experiment, which for years before its inception was considered a visionary project, extremely unlikely to be realized, has proved to have a solid basis of practicality.

Sharp Cutback In Civilian Steel Is Ordered For July

WASHINGTON, May 17—(AP)—The government today ordered steel mills to set aside sharply increased quantities of steel products for July delivery on defense orders.

In telegrams, the National Production Authority notified iron and steel producers that "an even larger share" of their output may be reserved for priority buyers in August to meet mounting defense demands.

The action apparently is part of a move to make deeper cuts in civilian use of steel and other strategic metals later this summer.

In one case, all-country tularemia goods—mining pipes and equipment used in oil drilling operations—the agency ordered 110 percent of base period output set aside.

In Pittsburgh, where Western Union employees remained at work, Company officials reported no traffic in moving east to Philadelphia nor west to Cincinnati.

Philadelphia and Cincinnati are main switching points. Thus the two localized stoppages affected a wide area in nearby states.

In Philadelphia, Western Union office workers, including messengers, were being transmitted by telephone wherever possible because even the messenger boys are out.

A small picket line marched in front of the main office. In Pittsburgh, where Western Union employees remained at work, Company officials reported no traffic in moving east to Philadelphia nor west to Cincinnati.

These have been taking from mid steel products estimated at $1 to $500,000 monthly.

NPA said that while percentage increases "appear high" in relation to 1949 output, there have been increases in production which are expected to leave "some tonnage available for civilian consumption."

The effective date of the new program will be August 1, 1951, when the steel industry will be allowed to resume production.

The dangerous dispute over Iran's nationalization of the tremendously rich British oil concessions in that country appears to be approaching a showdown.

It's a tense moment, for there's enough dynamite in this crisis to set off another World War unless the situation is handled with utmost caution.

Oil-rich Iran (Persia) is a key position in the Middle East, and three great powers—Britain, Russia and America—have for many years been vitally interested in its status.

The crisis concerns the Anglo-Iranian oil company, in which the British government owns more than half the common stock.

London is said to contemplate sending a high-level mission to Tehran to try to negotiate a settlement. Meantime indications are that Britain is looking hopefully to Washington for close cooperation in handling this impasse.

"If the United States allowed British concessions to be torn up without protest, she would help her very silence to create an ugly precedent for her own foreign oil interests.

Some informed British circles put it even stronger and say that this is the time for London and Washington jointly to tell Iran what to do.

Apropos of this the British war office has got in readiness a 4,000-man parachute brigade of British troops to be sent to Iran to protect British lives and property.

There is a strong feeling in some Washington circles that Britain's handling of the oil developments is less judicious and that a more liberal attitude should have been adopted.

As a matter of fact, the United States has advised Britain in previous developments to make terms.

The above appraisal can be qualified by the statement that the British are not alone in this "big stick" attitude.

While the United States isn't likely to join Britain in any "big stick" program, I believe it can be said with certainty that there is no possibility of any break with our great ally over this issue.

Tax Investigation

And said Dunlap, "all individuals known or suspected of being in illegal activities or racketeering will be investigated."

In this class were professional gamblers, bootleggers, narcotics peddlers, extortionists, bookmakers, abortionists, operators of brothels, operators of handbooks, those involved in numbers games and operators and owners of slot machines, gunsheds and confidence games.

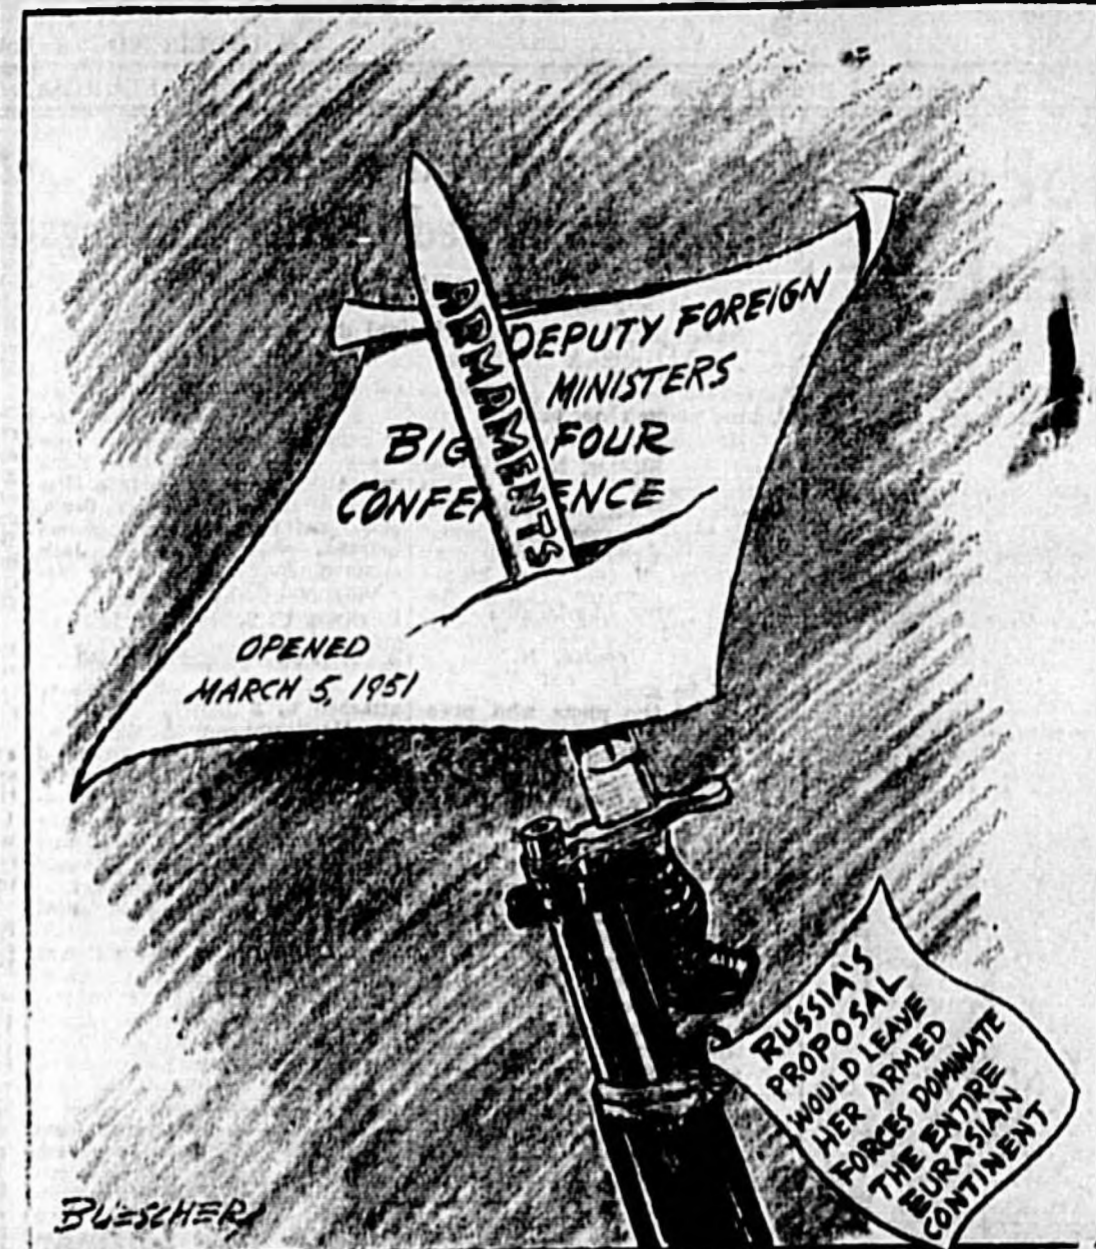

The Kefauver Crime Committee hearings put the spotlight on the need for this kind of drive, and swung the public completely behind us," Dunlap said.

Dunlap emphasized that the Revenue Department's authority extended only to violation of income tax laws. Further prosecution will be up to local and state authorities.

The drive on racketeers is not necessarily from the conviction that on returns of average citizens could not estimate how much the drive would cost but that in the past three years $400 million had been lost to racketeers.

In addition to Dunlap, who formerly was U. S. Internal Revenue Commissioner, the committee is headed by Sen. J. Lee Rankin, D-Miss., and Sen. E. P. Hefner, D-Miss., who are joined by Rep. William E. Davis, R-Missouri; Marion Allen, A-Laurel; William P. Rogers, R-Mississippi; John F. Johnson, D-Mississippi; and J. Morgan Kousser, D-Mississippi.

WASHINGTON, May 17—(AP)—The riddle of Russia in the No. 1 problem in the Truman-MacArthur argument over how to wage the Korean war.

Would Russia come in if we widened the fighting in Asia by bombing the Chinese bases in Manchuria? If she did, both sides agree a new world war might follow.

General MacArthur has urged bombing the Manchuria bases in order of several steps he thinks should be taken to end the Korean war faster.

Does either side know whether the bombing would bring in Russia? No. Both can only guess MacArthur guesses no, Marshall guesses maybe.

It's right there the biggest split comes. MacArthur would bomb and take what he thinks is the unlikely risk of a Third World War. Marshall thinks the risk is greater, and wouldn't bomb.

It was MacArthur himself who used the word risk. During his testimony before Senate committees, MacArthur said: "Everything that is involved in international relationships amounts to a gamble, risk. You have to take risks."

General Marshall said it clear the bases in Manchuria would be bombed if it weren't for fear that it might bring Russia in on the side of the Chinese.

Marshall told the Senators: "If there were no danger whatever of Soviet intervention, I would say that certainly the bombing would start almost immediately."

country depends on them."

Mr. Truman was greeted with standing applause as he entered the presidential room of the Hotel Statler with Mrs. Truman.

He pleaded for consumers to put pressure on Congress for a drop price and rent controls and for higher taxes.

"Never was there a time when the right decisions were more necessary than at this time," he said.

He said "the hardest thing in the world to find out the real facts" while the "easiest thing in the world to do is to garble and distort the facts."

Poppy Day Sales To Aid Vets' Children

How the purchase of poppies on poppy day, May 26, will aid the children of needy veterans was pointed out today by Mrs. Joseph Field, child welfare chairman of Post 53 Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, which is sponsoring the poppy day program here.

"Funds from poppy day contributions will enable our unit to come to the aid of any child of a veteran who is in need," Mrs. Field declared. "We believe that no child should suffer because his father served for America, and we are carrying forward constantly an effective child welfare program to aid children of veterans, as well as to improve conditions for all children."

"When a person drops a coin into the box carried by a poppy day worker, he is helping us to care for these innocent little victims of war. When death, disability or other war-borne causes break up the family of a veteran, it is the children who suffer most. Wearing a poppy is a way to help provide for their immediate needs, and give them a fair start in life," said Mrs. Field.

The artificial poppies, made by veterans at the Lake City Veterans Hospital, arrived at the home of Mrs. D. S. Whid den, and are being sorted in readiness for distribution throughout the County by volunteer workers on poppy day.

Palatka Azaleas Snap Sanford's Winning Streak At Four Games

All servicemen will be admitted free to the double-header baseball game between Cocoa and Sanford being played at the Municipal Ball Park tomorrow at 6:30 P. M., Charley Morrison, business manager of the Sanford Giants, announced today.

By ED HARPER
Avengeing an earlier defeat on their home grounds, the Palatka Azaleas last night snapped a four-game Sanford winning streak defeating the Giants 10 to 5.

Blasting out 11 hits, the Azaleas sent new Sanford hurler Bill Ward to the showers in the 8th inning after touching him for eight hits and seven runs. Big Carl Thies, operating in the fireman role for the Giants, came in to relieve in the ninth and was greeted with a three run barrage himself.

The Azaleas took a two run lead in the second frame on a double by Mike Kassaban and a booming circuit clout by Pistol Pete Pichan, Palatka centerfielder.

The Giants, exuding confidence after four straight victories, ing as did Don Bailey, but Gene Kistler, playing in Parise's right-field slot, walked to load the sack.

Davis was now in trouble with three men on and two out with the pitcher up. Unable to find the plate, he walked Ward and on's run crossed—then the dam broke. Therina and Dolan singled driving in three runs and Therina came home on an error after stealing second. That ended the Giants' scoring.

Palatka chipped away at Sanford's three run lead pushing one run across in the fourth frame on a single and a pair of errors and delivering another in the fifth on a free pass and a single. McBride, Therina and Pfeifer combined in a double play to get Ward out of a hole in that inning.

The Azaleas knotted the score in the sixth after Davis drew a baseon balls and came home on Lyle Judy's blistering single.

In the 8th Caswell led off for Palatka with a single, reached third on a brace of fielder's choices and came in, as did lead off man Don Curtis, on a single by Judy.

Judy, with three hits in five trips, was credited with three runs-batted-in during the evening.

Hutson relieved Davis in the 8th and set the Giants down in the last two frames without difficulty as the Azaleas picked up three insurance runs in their half of the final inning.

Three successive singles opened the inning with Enquist scoring on Kassaban's blow and Urban being cut down at the plate. Pichan walked and scored behind Kassaban on a brace of fielder's choices.

Joe Parise was out of the lineup for the first time all season last night after being beamed the night before. Joe said he still felt a little dizzy. Gene Kistler, holder-joy of the club, took over in right field. Gene is rapidly turning into the Giants general utility man. Urban robbed his opposite number, Mickey McBride, of a hit in the 8th with a look-what-I-found

English Wins Local Marble Championship

Bill English, eighth grade student of the Sanford Jr. High School, is the new marble champion of Sanford by virtue of his defeat in three straight games of Garney Bohannon Sanford Grammar School Champion.

Both boys will receive cash prizes from the local Veterans of Foreign Wars Post who sponsored the tournament. Bill Petty was runner up to English in the Jr. High School and Kenneth Murphy was runner up to the Grammar School Champion Bohannon.

reached the finals through stiff competition. Bill English was runner up last year to Jimmy Butler in the Jr. High eliminations. Sanford Grammar School leads two to one in the three year competition all of which have been sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars local post.

Alabama-Florida Loop Sets Scoring Records In South

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
High scoring games are becoming common in the Alabama-Florida circuit. The latest example was Ozark's 20-3 blasting of Panama City last (Wednesday) night.

Tallahassee started the trend with a 21-6 decision over Enterprise Apr. 30. Since that date there have been several other games in which the winner scored 20 times or more, and Tallahassee did a repeat to Enterprise last Wednesday tallying 30 runs.

In other tilts last night, Enterprise blanked Headland, 6-0, and Tallahassee edged the Dothan Browns, 6-5.

In the latter game, Al Frezza tossed four frames of scoreless relief to protect the Citizens' narrow margin. Shortstop George Wilmeyer of Tallahassee got two hits, the only player to have more than one for the night.

The Ozark-Panama City fracas saw the league-leading Eagles wallop four Panama City pitchers for 22 hits. Manager Rosie Humberston of the Flyers, normally a third baseman, took the mound during Ozark's five-run eighth inning. Lefty Jake Moore rationed eight hits for the winners and got four hits in as many times at bat.

George Weeks hurled Enterprise's shutout triumph over second-place Headland. He doled out only six hits. The defeat dropped Headland to a game and a half out of first place, but the runners still have a comfortable five-game margin over the third-place Tallahassee Citizens.

NATIONAL OPEN BIRMINGHAM, May 17—(AP)—Regional competition for the national open golf tournament will be held June 2.

One of the principal contenders will be Lee Mackey, Jr., unattached Birmingham professional, who toured the Merion Course at Ardmore, Pa., in 54 last year.

Mackey didn't maintain the brilliant pace in later rounds of the National Open, but his opening performance startled the golf world.

Herold Williams of Tuscaloosa, Ala., pro, was one of the 20 low finishers in the 1950 Open, so he is exempt this year.

WOMEN'S GOLF INDIANAPOLIS, May 17—(AP)—America's best women golfers will match shots at Meridian Hills Country Club tomorrow and Saturday in the third double round of the Weatheravane Open Golf Tournament.

This will be the next-to-last stop in the 144-hole Transcontinental Tourney. Babe Didrikson Zaharias and Patty Berg are tied at 305 after 36 holes at Dallas and 36 more at Pebble Beach, Calif.

Louise Suggs of Carrollton, Ga., is third with 307.

Ty Cobb won 12 American League batting championships. Nine of them were in succession.

Yankees And Giants Release Page And Kramer To Make Legal Limit

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK, May 17—(AP)—Joe Page's return to the minors was the most dramatic move in the last day scramble by major league ball clubs to cut down to the 25-man limit.

Page, the fabulous "Fireman Joe" of the 1947 and 1949 New York Yankee champions, at least has a job and a salary in the $25,000 bracket. He goes to Kansas City to work out the kinks in his arm.

Jack Kramer, another big name pitcher of the past in the American League, was given his unconditional release by the New York Giants.

But most of the players to go were rookies. Follows like Steve Bilko, the St. Louis Cardinals' big first baseman, back for another year on the farm—Columbus of the American Association this time.

Even with the cutting of Bilko and third baseman Eddie Kazak who went to Houston, the Cardinals were one over the limit. They were given a special 12-hour dispensation due to technicalities involving an already completed deal with another big league club.

The Yankees also wound up with 26 but it was legal. They have infielder Billy Martin just back from the Army, reinstated from the national defense list.

All 16 clubs waited on Page who hasn't pitched an inning all year.

The Yanks also shipped Max Peterson, 27-year-old righthand pitcher, drafted from Toronto last winter. He returns to Toronto without throwing a ball for the Yanks all season.

Detroit lost pitcher Ray Herbert to the Army and sent infielder Hal Daugherty to Toledo, that left the Tigers one under so pitcher Merrill Stuart was recalled from Toledo where he was sent Sunday. Earlier in the day the Tigers traded pitcher Saul Rogovin to Chicago for pitcher Bob Cain.

Dick Littlefield, one of the pitchers obtained from Boston in the big winter trade, was shipped by Chicago to Memphis to make room for third baseman Job Dillinger, bought from Pittsburgh.

Washington acquired pitcher Hank Wynn from Philadelphia. The A's sold utility infielder Tom Davis to Los Angeles and returned pitcher Frank Robinson to Buffalo.

Pittsburgh followed up its sale of Dillinger by optioning outfielder Tom Saffell and second baseman Monty Bassall to Indianapolis, their American Association farm.

The Phillies farmed out pitcher Charles (Buz) Bowers to Terre Haute in the Three Eye League, pitcher Jack Britton to Baltimore, and outfielder Eddie Sanicki to Schenectady, N. Y., of the Eastern League.

Brooklyn got down to the limit by optioning pitcher Earl Moser to St. Paul.

Big Players Are Need Of Hatters, McMullen Asserts

DELAND, May 17—(Special)—The Stetson Hatters are still looking for some big tackles and a big center. Head Coach Joe McMullen said today in checking over his prospects for the 1951 grid season.

With a reasonable supply of ends and guards as well as backs McMullen is woefully short of big men for the keystone position and tackle slots in the line.

To make matters worse, high school graduates reporting for the several tryout periods this year have been backs, ends or likely material that can be compared as backs and ends, but not as tackles.

Likewise, McMullen believes there must be a shortage of big centers and tackles, as men who have sought transfers to Stetson from colleges giving an football have all been for positions other than those he needs.

The three-day tryouts last week brought more small men, many who would be definite candidates any other time but this year. They showed plenty of promise as backs and ends, but not as tackles.

McMullen hopes that the fall term will bring some big men, but he is not going to depend on this alone. During the summer months, he and Coach Jay Patton, as well as others in the physical education department, are going to be on the lookout for players of adequate size to fill the positions in which they are needed.

Full practices will get underway September 1, with approximately 45 men reporting. These men have been measured for equipment so there will be no delay when the grid begins. A practice game probably will be played at the end of the first two-week training period. A regular season is being sought for September 22, possibly with some service team in this area.

BOYS SOFTBALL

The Lake Monroe boys softball team defeated the Sanford Grammar School 22 to 8 on Wednesday afternoon. Both teams played rugged ball in the field but the Lake Monroe boys had better pitching and clutch hitting.

Batteries for Lake Monroe: Flowers and Williams; for the Grammar School: Gentry, Dunn, Gardner, Wright and Warner. The game was played at the Lake Monroe diamond.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT-CERF

WHEN LARRY JANSEN, the star pitcher now known as the "meal ticket" of the Giants' hurling staff, first came up to the majors in 1947, he was nominated to face the Cleveland Indians in a spring exhibition game in Tucson, Ariz. A wicked liner from the bat of "Rapid Robert" Feller struck him just above the mouth, and he was carried off the field on a stretcher.

In a Tucson hospital that night, Mel Ott, who was manager of the Giants at the time, asked Jansen why he was crawling around the pitcher's mound after he had been struck by the line drive. "I was groping for the ball," explained Jansen. "I thought I had a play at first base." That was the moment Ott realized the Giants had added a real big leaguer to their roster.

At a recent dinner in honor of Averell Harriman, that matchless master of ceremonies, George Jessel, observed: "Life's been good to Ave from the very beginning. He was born with the Union Pacific in his mouth!"

Gator Track Stars High In National Field Rankings

GAINESVILLE, May 17—Florida trackmen, high jumper J. (Papa) Hall and dash man Scotty Peck, are high in the national rankings this week in their special events.

Hall, the big, blonde sophomore from Tallahassee who set new records this spring in the southern indoor and Florida Relay meets, has the third best collegiate high jump in the nation to his credit, while Peck is tied with ten other runners for fourth place in the 100 yard dash.

Hall's jump of six feet, eight and one-eighth inches in the meet gives him the third spot among the nation's high jumpers. The best jump of the year was turned in by Charles Holding of East Texas State at 6 feet, 9 3/4 inches and Walter Davis of Texas A and M in its second place with a leap of 6 feet, 9 inches.

The best 100-yard dash record of the year was turned in by Tom Williams of Los Angeles State when he paced the century in 25 seconds. Joe Preston of LSU and Mervin Brock of Oregon State have run the 100 in 26 and Florida's Scotty Peck is among the ten who have racked up times of 27.

The Gators ended their regular season undefeated with victories over Georgia Tech, Georgia, Auburn and Miami and are currently getting ready for the South eastern Conference meet in Birmingham this week-end.

Jacksonville Tars Take Over Second In Sally League

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
With a big assist from their Augusta "cousins," the Jacksonville Tars are in second place in the Sally League, just one game back of the leading Charleston Rebels.

The Floridians belted three Augusta pitchers for a 10-4 victory last (Wednesday) night. It was their fifth in six appearances against the Tigers and their fifth straight triumph. Bob Hoving clinched a grand slam homer for the Tars.

Charleston avoided a tie with the onrushing sailors by blasting the stumbling Columbus Cardinals, 12-3. Fewer than 500 fans saw the slaughter, the sixth defeat in succession for the Cardinals.

The visiting Rebels pulled a triple play in the eighth inning. With two on, Cardinal Tom Weccott smashed a liner directly to Charleston third baseman Dick Smith. A quick toss to second and a relay to first and the bewildered Birds were retired.

Columbia downed Montgomery, 6-3, and Macon clubbed Savannah, 12-3, in other games.

Lefty Ken Polivka threw a six hitter at the Montgomerys, Gray and got two hits himself as the visiting Columbia Reds evened the series. The last-place Red-bird Gray leftlander for Kirkland 11 times. In addition to Polivka Reds Buddy Messina, Ed Wolan and Cotton Chafin got a pair of hits apiece.

The Macon Peaches earned sole rights to fourth place in their one-sided decision over the Savannah Indians, snapping out of their recent streak of eight hitting, the defending champions clinched four Redskin pitchers for 17 hits.

Every Peach hit safely at least once, and manager Ed Hartness inspired his charges with three. Roy Peterson was tops in 14 hits with a triple and a double. Teams were reminded by league president Earl Blue that player and salary ceilings become effective after tonight's games. The player limit for each club is 18, or 17 exclusive of a player-manager. The salary top is $5,700 a month for the entire playing club, not counting the manager's salary.

Brannan Says Beef Price Rollback To Hurt In Long Run

WASHINGTON, May 17—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said today the government's recent price ceiling rollback on cattle may put more beef on dinner tables over the next year or two, but less than three to five years hence.

This forecast was given in a statement the Secretary prepared for the House Agriculture Committee had asked for information from the department in connection with its study of the rollback order.

Brannan's prediction that the price order might have a damage prevention picture for cattle was a slight modification from Senate Banking Committee yesterday. He said then that the rollback would not "jeopardize production."

In today's statement, Brannan qualified his prediction with the word: "that it is too early to be sure of the answer, and we shall have to watch developments in cattle marketing and production closely during the months ahead."

The Secretary explained that when the long-range price prospects for cattle are favorable, farmers tend to hold back more cattle for breeding purposes and herd expansion. In other words, the number of cattle sold for beef is below the rate of production at any one time.

But when future prospects turn less favorable, cattlemen tend to sell off more than their current rate of production. This has the effect of swelling beef supplies production, with a consequent reduction of cattle numbers and smaller beef supplies later on.

Under the rollback, cattle prices by fall would be down about 10 percent from recent levels.

Brannan emphasized, however, that there are other factors which control meat production.

War In Korea

Reds strained southwest down the Inje-Hongchon highway. Allied artillery pounded the road heavily.

Between this road and Chunchon, highway hub of the no-man's-land on the central front, Chinese plunged into American units before dawn and forced a slight penetration.

Early Thursday afternoon 1,000 Chinese hit a single sector of an American unit. Americans withdrew from a hill and another Allied group promptly attacked to regain the hill.

The main U. S. line held. The Reds used some 150 MM. artillery, antitank guns and recoilless rifles. But mostly they used automatic weapons and mortars.

South of Chunchon Americans, astride the Chunchon-Hongchon highway, repulsed two regimental attacks. They reported killing 400 Reds and taking 50 prisoners.

Slightly to the west "very large numbers" of Chinese were reported moving south. U. S. fighter planes swooped in for the kill.

Through this sector, Harman reported probably 20,000 south-bound Reds have crossed the Pukhan and Choyang Rivers.

Small Chinese groups attacked south of Kuyong, 32 miles north-east of Seoul.

Ten miles southwest of Kuyong, the Reds threw a roundhouse blow at Allied troops southwest of Changdong. They struck frontally and on the left flank of American units. The attack began with about 500 men in the early morning and grew to about 4,000.

Chinese emerged from abandoned gold and silver mines and streamed south along mountain trails. Their columns were well spaced, making poor targets for constant hammering by U. N. artillery and planes.

These Reds opened up at dusk with long range guns on U. N. troops on the north bank of the Han River. They used mortars and howitzers and more were coming south on pack mules.

OVIEDO NEWS

OVIEDO, May 17—(Special)—The Katie Sue, Mary Lawson and Nettie Farnell Circles of the Oviedo Baptist Church sponsored the annual Mother-Daughter banquet Monday evening at the Church.

The spacious room was a scene of beauty, amidst a setting of baskets and lattice-work trellises of flowers. The speaker's and guests' table was placed before such a trellis, the table being centered with an artistic arrangement of flowers, lavender streamers and green fern. Baskets of flowers graced the centers of the other tables, joined together with the mothers and daughters.

The program was a very entertaining one, starting with the devotional given by Mrs. Milton Gore. Then, Marilyn Mathers and Julie Gore each rendered piano solos, followed by a piano duet, given by Melaine Jackson and Carolyn Cox. Vocal selections were given by Eleanor Morgan, Linda Harris, Marjith Jean Hardy, Hazel Priest, Dorothy Malcolm and Jeanne Sheldon.

Mrs. Pearl Hansell of Sanford, the guest speaker, used as her main topic of the evening "Mother Love". Mrs. A. J. Peterson of Sanford, Seminole County WMU president, was also an honored guest.

Other included in the guest table included Mrs. Frank C. Morgan, local WMU president; the two sponsoring circle chairmen, Mrs. Theodore Aulin and Mrs. C. M. Arle. The Nettie Farnell circle chairman, the third sponsoring circle, was not present. Mrs. Joe Beasley, Jr., the visiting circle chairman, was also seated there as well as Mrs. Ed Farnell, WMU treasurer.

The gold crown for the circle showing the most progress in growth during the year went to Mrs. Theodore Aulin, making her queen of the evening as well as chairman of the Katie-Sue circle.

Special tribute was paid to Mrs. George Means, whose wonderful talent in decorating was again displayed, more brilliant than ever, for all to admire in the lovely decorations for the evening. She was assisted by Mrs. L. Ragdale, Mrs. R. F. King and Mrs. Frank C. Morgan.

A round of applause was also given to Mrs. Frances Cartledge, Social Chairman of the WMU, who together with Mrs. R. F. King, Mrs. C. M. Arle, Mrs. J. B. Jones, Jr., Mrs. G. M. Arle, Mrs. A. D. Rep. Okell Calls Beasley Liar On Floor Of House

TALLAHASSEE, May 17—(AP)—For a deep-voiced, Rep. Okell of Dade county and slight, shrill-voiced Rep. Beasley of Walton county exchanged hot words on the floor of the Florida House today as Okell charging Beasley with telling an untruth.

The heated verbal wrangle developed over the sending of an amendment to the Florida Constitution to limit the State sales tax to its present 3 percent.

It was approved by the House Committee on Finance and Taxation and sent to the calendar. Beasley, chairman of the Committee on Constitutional Amendments, asked the House to take it off the calendar and sent it to his committee. This motion failed 34 to 23.

Okell rose to declare he had "either been deliberately or unknowingly misled on this bill." He told the House he had been under the impression his measure was sent to the constitutional amendments committee and had gone three times to Beasley to ask for a hearing.

He said the hearings had been set but when he showed up for them he was told they had been called off.

"Why did he tell me three different times that he would hold a hearing on my bill," asked Okell.

Beasley said as far as he remembered "Mr. Okell never asked me for a hearing and if he did I was either drunk or crazy—no one has asked to have me committed to the Chattahoochee lately and I don't drink liquor."

"How could I reasonably offer a hearing when I didn't have the bill? I think the truth is he wanted to slip it by this House without my knowing what he was doing. I think he knew it wasn't in constitutional amendments."

Beasley offered to have a hearing in the morning if the House would send the measure to his committee.

Okell rose again to insist he had asked Beasley for a hearing and roared "I'm telling you that you're telling an untruth."

Speaker B. Elliott pointed for order as the red-headed Beasley cried out "Mr. Okell has never been to me and asked me for a hearing."

General Bradley

He urged that President Truman "release General Bradley and any subsequent witness from any pledge, open or implied, to withhold confidential information, and direct them to come through."

Only yesterday, the White House said Mr. Truman did not want Bradley to testify about the private talks. Bradley himself told the senators, however, that he had not consulted with Mr. Truman before deciding he wouldn't talk about them.

Russell said he protested that he should not vote on his own ruling but that other senators insisted he should since it was a question of major importance.

Russell also said, in reply to a reporter's question, that he hoped the stormy controversy will have no effect on the course of the inquiry.

"The debate bordered on the acrimonious at times," Russell added, "but I hope we've got it out of our system."

As for whether his ruling would set a precedent, Russell said he didn't know about that. He said that in the past, some rulings which have been regarded as precedents have later been struck down.

Wiley contended, however, that the decision in effect meant "carte blanche" to keep silent on the part of "any individual who has ever discussed any matter—however insignificant—with the President of the United States."

"How ridiculous. Only the President has this power," Wiley said.

Today's debate and action came behind closed doors, but reporters were given a stenographic report of the proceedings.

This disclosed Russell and Wiley made the main arguments. Russell based his argument chiefly on legal precedents.

NO METALLIC DEPOSIT!

Most engine wear comes from engine deposits—Amoco-Gas leaves NO METALLIC DEPOSIT!

The kind of gas you buy has a direct connection with the bills you have to pay for engine repair.

For science now knows that most engine cylinder wear is caused by deposits remaining after combustion, and contamination. These cause wear, serious wear to pistons, cylinder walls and valves.

Amoco-Gas helps prevent this wear because it contains no harmful ingredients. It leaves no metallic deposit.

Moreover, Amoco-Gas can burn completely because it is all petroleum with no harmful ingredients added. This means more useful power, superior performance and mileage.

Use Amoco-Gas—for longer car life. There's nothing like it!

Rubber, Tin And Wool Prices Fall But Are Above Pre-Korean Levels

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK, May 17.—(AP)—

Three of the world's high flying commodities—rubber, tin and wool—have taken a price tumble. But all are still well above their pre-Korean levels. An economic stabilizer Johnston, asked by a Senator what he planned to do "to stop the gouging of the United States by the people we are helping," says we may have to "get a little tougher."

Uncle Sam got much of the blame for sending the prices of these imported commodities skyrocketing by his announced stockpiling policy. "We must out-buy the Reds," Green the green light by that, rubber planters in Malaya, tin miners in the Far East, wool growers in Australia listened on the world buying spree that followed.

Then Uncle Sam announced that his stockpiling program was near enough completed that he didn't need to pay ridiculous prices. Stockpiling halted. With one of the chief buying props pulled out from under them, tin, wool and rubber prices began to fall.

How is their price curve now? Tin sold in New York at 20 cents a pound when the Korean war started. It hit a price peak of $1.24 late in January, a jump of 440 percent. Since stockpiling buying stopped, tin has dropped 24 percent and is now officially priced at $1.3 a pound.

Rubber sold at 24 1/2 cents a pound before Korea. It peaked at 66 cents in March 24, a jump of 163 percent. Then the United States said its stockpile was about full. The official price here, set by the government which in the case of rubber and wool, is now 66 cents a pound. But in Singapore, where there's plenty about it, the price has dropped 11 percent to around 56 cents a pound.

Wool of the popular grade, sold in Boston at $1.70 a pound before Korea. Realization that larger military forces would need large quantities of woolen uniforms coupled with an United States plan to stockpile raw wool sent the price to a peak in March of $3.80 a pound, a jump of 126 percent. Mar. 14 the United States announced its raw wool stockpiling plan "will be suspended until further notice." In Boston the price is now nominally quoted at $3.10, down 18 percent from the peak, and lower than the selling price of $3.35 announced by the government.

All three are still well above their pre-Korean levels. Tin up 84 percent, wool up 78 percent, and rubber up 131 percent.

American stockpiling policies weren't the only thing that sent prices up and down. There was a worldwide scramble to buy tin after the Korean war started. And the record high prices brought some marginal tin mines into production in other parts of the world, helping to increase supplies. The U. S. government had been all buying from foreign sources and all selling to domestic users here, and cut back sharply the amounts they could use for civilian goods, thus helping to control demand.

Rubber was also sought by many countries beside the United States. The British shipped sizable amounts to the Chinese Reds, and Russian agents bought freely in the Indonesian and Malayan markets. Malaya shipped a record 1,108,699 long tons during 1950.

The price tide turned for several reasons: U. S. synthetic rubber plants were taken out of moth balls. The civilian use of rubber was cut back in this country. The British stockpiling program ended they would stop selling rubber to the Chinese Reds. The Malaya found they had large stocks of unsold rubber and prospects of a surplus on their hand this year.

Wool is still in the strongest price situation of the three. It was on an uphill price road before Korea, because world demand for fine apparel grades exceeds world production. Military demands since Korea coupled with the desire of several nations to lay in stockpiles against the threat of war sent the price to record peaks.

Weakness in recent weeks has been attributed to several things: The United States decided not to stockpile raw wool; man-made fibers made important inroads into the clothing market; European mills stopped buying while waiting on price controls; and retail sales of suits at the new high prices began to slump. There's a little less demand for wool than there was, and a larger supply of substitutes. But the trade thinks there'll still be a shortage this fall and forecasts no great price slump, unless international price controls are drafted.

Lighter Cars To Be Encouraged By New Steel Restriction

WASHINGTON, May 17.—(AP)—

The government was reported today to be planning a new step in the use of steel for automobiles on July 1, for a total reduction of possibly 30 percent under 1950. A new type limiting order also is under study which, some officials said, would encourage auto manufacturers to concentrate their output on smaller, lighter models rather than the heavier and costlier ones.

The National Production Authority has called a meeting of the industry's ten major producers for Friday. The invitation said NPA would present proposals for further copper and aluminum restrictions as well as steel limitations but gave no further details.

Officials indicated, however, that a further five percent cut in auto steel is in prospect. Steel usage now limited to 50 percent of the consumption a year ago, is to drop to 25 percent in June and 20 percent in July under existing regulations.

The reported new restriction would deepen the July curtailment. Most major household appliances are under similar curtailment orders. Auto trade sources, when questioned as to the industry reaction, said they are not sure they would be necessary but would insist that other durable goods such as refrigerators and washing machines be reduced to the same extent.

The proposed revision of NPA's limitation order would provide not only a restriction on metal usage, but would couple this with a limitation on the number of cars which could be produced. Details of the formula were not divulged.

It was indicated, however, the order would be aimed as to encourage the manufacture of lighter cars requiring less steel.

12 Truck Lines Are Established By Railroad Company

WILMINGTON, N. C., May 17.—(Special)—

The Atlantic Coast Line Railroad inaugurated 12 over-the-road truck routes for the handling of interstate less-than-carload freight today.

The coordinated rail-truck service will afford speedy and more efficient service on LCL shipments. Officials said the trucks will be operated to and from stations already served by the rails of the Coast Line, and the freight charges applicable are the same as those now in effect.

The inauguration of the substituted truck service will shorten the transit time of some shipments 24 to 48 hours and will release many freight cars now being used for less-than-carload shipments to the vital link of transporting defense materials.

The fleet of trucks, painted to resemble the Coast Line's latest type streamlined equipment, will travel approximately 2,000 miles per day collecting and distributing LCL freight shipments. The trucks will radiate from such points as Jacksonville, Sanford, Lakeland, Tampa, St. Petersburg, Gainesville and Ocala.

Authority for handling interstate shipments in truck service was recently granted by the Coast Line by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The railroad company has made application to the Florida Railroad and Public Utilities Commission for authority to transport interstate shipments in less-than-carload lots over the same routes.

Coast Line officials said that

URGENT STUDY of possible use of combined Greek and Turkish forces in event of a Red attack on Yugoslavia is being pressed by U. S. officials through the Greek, Turkish and other channels. An alternative would be an alliance of Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia. An attack is believed likely to involve western Europe as well as the Soviet Union itself. Experts think if Moscow and the Red satellites make the move, Bulgaria would attack both Yugoslavia and Greece, with Hungary and Rumania moving into Yugoslavia from the north (inverted). Defense strategy would call for Yugoslavia and Greece to occupy satellite Albania.

Jet Planes Become Tropical Jungles At High Speeds

By HOWARD W. BLANKS
Associated Press Writer
DENVER, May 17.—(AP)—

The outside skin of jet planes gets so hot from air friction that movie stars occasionally fall inside the cockpit.

The weather test was described by aviation doctors at the Aero Medical Association today. The cockpit becomes a bit of infernal tropical humidity unless air cooling is used. If the pilot delays in turning on the cooling, the sudden temperature change may cause a snowflake that cuts visibility.

The most serious problems were and jet service will be utilized for handling interstate LCL traffic immediately after permission is granted by the Florida Commission.

Unscheduled Sun Spot Discovered By Ohio Scientist

COLUMBIANA, May 17.—(AP)—

The sun's surface is dotted with spots, but a new type of sun spot was discovered by an Ohio scientist.

The phenomenon was discovered by Dr. J. H. Van Vleet, director of the Ohio State University's solar observatory. He says the new spot was first seen on May 10, 1951.

The spot was about 100,000 miles long and 25,000 miles wide. It was located in the sun's northern hemisphere.

The spot was discovered by Van Vleet while he was studying the sun's surface.

B-36 Air Strip Is Built On Okinawa To Defend Japan

By WILLIAM TORREN
OKINAWA, May 17.—(AP)—

A huge air base here that will bring all East Asia under the wings of America's most powerful strategic bomber.

The $25,000,000 construction program is a vital transformation for the Air Field into one of the strongest outposts of American power in the Orient. Air Force officials disclosed that when complete Kagawa can easily handle the B-36.

Okina's role is to discourage any aggressive move by the Communists or to help check such a move if and when it comes.

Air Force officials disclosed that, in addition to the new building program, Kagawa Air Base, about $42,000,000 is being spent to expand the fighter base at Naha.

These other fields are being maintained as standby strips. The five air fields are known as the Kagawa complex.

Of major importance is the fact that from Okinawa big bombing can range over an area including western Siberia, Manchuria, all China and southeast Asia to far as India.

Resignations Of 2 Members Of Racing Board To Be Asked

Group Is Accused Of Restoring Known Bookies To Tracks; Budget Bill Raised

TALLAHASSEE, May 18.—(AP)—The Florida House will be asked next week to call for resignation of two members of the State Racing Commission who have been under fire before the Haley Committee for voting to readmit ousted bookmakers to horse tracks.

The resolution, which probably will be introduced in the House Tuesday, will ask Governor Warren to accept the resignations of Racing Commission Secretary E. P. Beville and chairman and member Roy Palmetto of Crescent City.

Rep. Sheppard of St. Johns, who drew the resolution along with Rep. Haley of Sarasota, said he has "reason to believe" it will be accepted for sponsorship by the full Resolutions Committee. Sheppard and Haley were named as a sub-committee to study a proposal to ask all five Racing Commission members resign, but they narrowed the proposed action to Beville and Palmetto.

Both men have appeared before the Haley Committee investigating reported corruption in state politics. They were questioned sharply about the Commission's reinstatement of bookmakers and touts to race track privileges after having been kicked off the premises.

The Committee expressed dissatisfaction with reasons given by the Commissioners for their actions.

The Sheppard-Haley resolution says "it is essential that every action of said Commissioners be of the highest nature and consistent with the espousal of all unambiguous and persons participating in the field of regulating racing in the State of Florida."

It declared the action of Beville and Palmetto "portending an attitude of abuse of public office, demonstrates a lack of realization of the public trust placed in them, exemplifies a most blatant interference to service in the public interest and has placed in jeopardy the legitimate racing industry in the State."

The resolution calls it imperative that Beville and Palmetto "immediately resign in order that a group of individuals who will be harmonious in their operations and willing to accept the responsibilities and properly discharge the same."

Holland To Speak On NPA Controls

Senator Spearhead Holland's eighth broadcast on Congressional activities may be heard Sunday night over station WTRR at 9:00 o'clock.

Among the highlights of the broadcast is an interview with Manly Fleischman, administrator of the National Production Authority. This will cover vital problems, including small business priorities, school construction and production controls which will be removed.

Senator Holland will state his views on reducing appropriations, with all of the latest industrial developments and war contracts in Florida, and will outline his new committee assignments.

FARMERS' AUCTION

The first sale of locally grown watermelons at the Sanford Farmers' Auction took place Wednesday night, said C. B. Dawson, president Saturday afternoon at 8:00 o'clock, another auction will be held, and will include the sale of farm implements.

Armed Forces Day

Chief of Naval Operations, Admiral Forrest Sherman: "A year ago, on the occasion of the first celebration of Armed Forces Day, we honored the concept of individualism of the fighting Services. Now that concept has been tested in combat and further welded by battle."

Today let us, as Americans, honor the American fighting man. For it is he who holds the salter, the Airman and the Marine—who has fought to preserve freedom. It is his valor that has given us the hope to the free world of a peaceful future.

Two Platoons To Represent Naval Air Station On Armed Forces Day

Capt. J. L. Chittenden, commander of the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station, will lead the Armed Forces Day Parade tomorrow with General J. C. Hutchison, commander of the 18th National Guard Division.

Two platoons of about 30 men each, will represent the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station in the Armed Forces Day Parade tomorrow morning, it was announced today by Capt. J. L. Chittenden, station commander.

It had been previously planned to have only a Color Guard to represent the Air Station because of equipment shortage and the progress of duty related to the re-activation of the station.

Capt. Chittenden also announced that the Air Station will hold "open house" Saturday from 1:00 to 4:00 P. M., and the public may see jet planes on the ground.

Reds Are Slaughtered By UN Troops In Huge Offensive; Truman Remark Is Explained

President Considered Firing MacArthur After VFW Letter, Short Tells Press

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—The White House said today President Truman had considered firing General Douglas MacArthur last August when he wrote a controversial letter to the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short told reporters Mr. Truman had this incident in mind when he said yesterday that he had considered MacArthur's dismissal from time to time for about a year.

Short talked with Mr. Truman last night about a year ago when Mr. Truman first considered firing MacArthur of his Far East command.

Short said it was after, and not before, the VFW letter that MacArthur as commander in chief of the United Nations forces that he first began to consider the appointment of a new general in that post.

The reported questions were prompted by MacArthur's assertion in New York last night that he had not considered the VFW letter in his decision to resign.

MacArthur said it was difficult to reconcile what Mr. Truman said with his appointment by the President as United Nations commander after the Korean invasion last June.

"When the President said yesterday that this had been going on for about a year he was thinking of the first time he read the VFW letter to me in the month of August," Short told reporters.

He said that when Mr. Truman decided to dismiss MacArthur, he was not speaking in a general way—he had not intended to do so before or since the time MacArthur received the VFW letter.

MacArthur's resignation was announced August 11, 1950.

Four Are Slain In Raging Gunbattle On Alabama Farm

BOAZ, Ala., May 18.—(AP)—Three officers and a man they sought to arrest died in a multiple gun battle at a farm home three miles east of here.

A fourth officer, seriously wounded, is in a Gadsden, Ala., hospital.

Five persons are being held without charge in jail at Gadsden pending further investigation.

Those killed were Sheriff E. M. Boyles of Marshall county; Chief of Police Leonard Floyd of Boaz; Ashby Kilpatrick, a farmer; and Chief Deputy Sheriff W. M. Bennett, who died in a Gadsden hospital at 3 A. M. today.

The officers had gone to the Kilpatrick home to arrest him and another man on charges of assault with intent to murder.

Boaz is a rich mountainous farm area about 70 miles northwest of Birmingham.

Coroner Howard Hardin said charges against Kilpatrick arose from a neighborhood fight not involving any of the officers who made the midnight trip.

The coroner said Sheriff Boyles and the other officers were greeted with a hail of gunfire from a second man on charges of assault with intent to murder.

Two pistols, three shotguns and a sawblade were found early today in and near the Kilpatrick home.

More than a score of Alabama State highway patrolmen and other officers combed the area around the Kilpatrick home. Coroner Hardin ordered the five persons held for investigation and taken to the Gadsden jail in adjoining Etowah county.

Hardin listed those killed as Kilpatrick's three young sons, 16, 11 and 12 years old, and Tom Up-ton and Fred Goble. He named the Kilpatrick boys as James, Billy and Harold.

Goble and Upton are neighbors of the Kilpatricks. Goble was charged with Kilpatrick with assault with intent to murder.

Deputy Lang in a brief statement at Gadsden said all the officers were shot before anyone of them got inside the Kilpatrick home. He said the sheriff fell mortally wounded after "saying just a word or two."

The wounded officer added that "at least two or three men" were involved in the shooting.

Sheriff Boyles was serving his third four-year term. Prior to that he had been chief deputy and chief deputy Bennett also were veteran officers.
