Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Nicholson came over Sunday from Daytona. Mr. Nicholson returned to Daytona Tuesday, but Mrs. Nicholson will remain for some time with her father Mr. T. D. Peters.
Mr. G. D. Hart of Sanford paid Geneva a business visit last Tuesday.
Mrs. Clara Coffey came up from Miami last Saturday to take her mother, Mrs. S. Williams, back with her. Mrs. Williams has spent the past year here with another daughter, Mrs. C. F. Harrison.

The Geneva schools opened on Monday of this week, there being no more cases of scarlet fever.
Mrs. Harry Rivers and children left Sunday for their home in Macon Ga., after having spent the past two months with Mrs. J. N. Prevatt.
Word has just been received that Ed Raulerson of Palm Beach has married Miss Maude Martin of Jupiter.
Mr. and Mrs. Fred of Bloomington, Ill., arrived last Wednesday to occupy their cottage at Lake Harney.
For State Senator:
I hereby announce as a Candidate for the State Senate from the 19th District, comprising Osceola, Orange and Seminole Counties, and I earnestly solicit the support of all Democrats in the Democratic primary to be held June 8th. I have served Osceola County in the State Legislature the last three sessions and I respectfully refer to my record there.
If elected I will serve the district to the best of my ability.

HAD QUIET YEARS

Chief Executives Who Lived Long After Retirement.

Of Them All, the First John Adams Holds the Record, Twenty-Five Years—Wilson the Oldest Since Buchanan.

John Adams, who was sixty-three years old December 25, is the oldest man to occupy the White House since Buchanan, who entered it at sixty-six and retired at seventy.

Anyone who runs over the history of the presidency will be struck by the rise and fall of the age at which presidents have entered and retired from office, and the varying length of time by which they have outlived retirement, remarks the Philadelphia Record. Of the first eight presidents, all but two of whom served two terms each, six retired when past sixty-five, one of them, Jackson, within 11 days of his seventieth birthday. The first Adams retired at sixty-two, Van Buren at fifty-nine. Of these eight, four lived to be past eighty. One passed seventy-eight and another passed seventy-nine. Washington alone of them failed to reach seventy. The first Adams outlived retirement by twenty-five years and Jefferson, who died on the same day with Adams, July 4, 1826, the fiftieth anniversary of independence, outlived retirement seventeen years. Monroe, who retired at sixty-seven, died July 4, 1831.

Since Jackson, no president except Wilson, Buchanan, Taylor and the first Harrison has sat in the White House when sixty-one years old. Of all who have served in that time, ten retired or died in office before reaching fifty-seven, and only two outlived retirement twenty years. Not one lived to be eighty, and only six passed seventy. Polk outlived retirement less than six months, and died at fifty-four, younger than any other president. Few presidents in the last fifty years have lived to see three of their successors, and several have not seen two, though Pierce saw four.

Although the average length of human life in the United States is greater than it was when the republic was young, distinguished public men have hardly shared in the boon of lengthened days. The presidency, indeed, while never exactly what everybody folk call a soft soap, was a far less exacting office in early times than it is today. The Napoleonic war gave Washington, the first Adams, Jefferson and Madison a good many trying hours, but they all had their periods of respite. Washington, wherever he happened to be as chief magistrate, managed to escape now and again to the spacious and dignified quiet of Mount Vernon. John Adams, the first president to occupy the White House at Washington, the domestic arrangements of which appeared "impossible" to his thrifty and orderly New England wife, often returned to the quiet of his home at Quincy. Jefferson found repose at Monticello, and Jackson made the long journey to the Hermitage, where rest awaited his coming.

All of the early presidents were safe from intrusive messages by telegraph or telephone, and they received mail in no masses as now daily pursue a president on vacation. Even Polk could not have been much disturbed by the stammering words of Morse's new-fangled messenger, for it was publicly used for the first time in reporting to congress the result of the Democratic national convention at Baltimore in 1844.

Snow Doughnuts.
Snow doughnuts are now to be classed with snow-rollers as among the natural phenomena of winter. W. A. Price of the West Virginia geological survey, records that in a heavy snow fall of 1916-17 some roadside fences were covered with steep-walled drifts, having overhanging tops in places. From many of these tops numbers of snow rings, resembling doughnuts, had become detached and rolled down the drift, leaving their tracks behind. The rings were two to four inches in diameter and half an inch thick. The tongues of snow had bowed over from the top until their two ends met, and the completion of the ring seems to have been a matter of balance during the bending forward and rolling down. Some fragments had broken away and rolled on their sides without forming rings.

New Insulating Material.
A new product suitable for use in electrical insulation is being obtained from the treatment of kelp in Australia. The moist precipitate is subjected to pressure and formed under pressure, after which it is hardened by treatment with formalin. The finished article is made by turning on the lathe, a process which is said to be perfectly satisfactory, and a high polish is applied. The raw material is to be found in large quantities around the coast of Australia and particularly on the Tasmanian shores.—Scientific American.

Stoneless Prunes.
The stoneless prune, a new product, is promising to become a popular fruit.

War Dog Decorated.
Mrs. Walter Clover, dog fancier of Mill Valley, Cal., has welcomed back home with kind treatment her famous war dog Marine, which had been decorated by the French government. The dog shows the strain of his experience in the trenches, where he performed gallantly as a message carrier for the French army.

Art of the Truest Artists.
It would appear to be the object of the truest artists to give permanence to images such as we should always desire to behold, and might behold without agitation; while the inferior branches of design are concerned with the weaker passions which depend on the turn of a narrative, or the course of an emotion.—Ruskin.

Thrift in Peace Time

The first requisite for you to do is to think—this will bring forth ideas of two kinds; viz: Imperfected and Perfected Ideas. The Imperfected Idea is one where you think you will some day start to save but just seem never to do it. The Perfected is where you ACT AT ONCE and save for thrift's sake. Which course will you take? You know which is best and We Know where we can help you. Will you Come HERE?

And yet, without liquor in these past two months, the country manager to stagger along—Leesburg Commercial.

Stagger along is right and we note several "staggering along" on the streets of Sanford which give rise to wonderment about where they obtained this "stagger stuff" and why they are allowed to stagger along out streets in prohibition time any more than in wet times.

Sanford seems to be having a worse time with its privately owned light and water plant than we are with our municipal plant. Five days in succession without any juice is the record so far.—Leesburg Commercial.

Yes, we have searched the records in this country and all foreign countries and this has the world beat. Another record established for Sanford is the fact of being the only city in the world where they are expected to pay for service which they have not received. However we will have a municipal plant in another twelve months and pay our money to ourselves.

That awful freeze did not materialize yesterday. There has never been a freeze in Florida after February as far back as the present memory of man goeth and there probably never will be any. So this bright and sunny day we are giving out sympathy to the folks north who are digging themselves out of the snow banks and with poor prospects of coal for the fire and furnace. We may have a few drawbacks in Florida but the

There will be a most important meeting of the Board of Trade next Tuesday night at which time officers for the ensuing year will be elected and a new start will be made with the idea of taking up all the many heads of the city and county and putting Seminole on the map especially during the coming season. Be there Tuesday night.

CHARLIE WALTON RETIRES

C. H. Walton has disposed of his interests in the Indian River Advocate at Titusville after twenty eight years of service as the editor and general manager of the "pink sheet" as it is familiarly known all over the state and in many other states of the union. Twenty eight years is a long time to serve the people without money and without glory but Charlie Walton served them right royally and well in all that time and only his failing health makes it necessary for him to give up the reins to another after such a long and illustrious career. Mr. Walton states that he will still have an interest in the Advocate which is good news to his many friends in the "press gang" for the Florida Press Association could not hold a real meeting without Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walton. Success and long life to them and may they retire to their beautiful home on the Indian River to enjoy the sunset of life surrounded by their friends and with the knowledge that their work has been well done.

The Advocate has been purchased by W. B. Dobson of the Cocoa Star who will combine the two papers and call them the Star Advocate and thus give Brevard county one big paper and one that should prove very popular. Success to the new owners and the old.

PAY TEACHERS BETTER MONEY

I'm firmly of the belief that the teachers of this state are underpaid. I heard two young men talking on the street several nights ago, and just as I passed I heard one tell the other: "Well, with your regular pay and what you can pick up on the side it's dead easy to round-up sixty dollars a week." Gee, think of that, oh, you newspaper men! Think of it, too, oh you teachers! I'm betting that neither one of the fellows talking had even a high school education—and there was sixty dollars lying around ready to be hornswaggled! And a teacher has to pay for education—unless dad paid it all; and even then she has to keep trotting round to different institutes and things so she'll not be using last year's methods for next year's tuition, and she has to wear neat clothing, and she has a lot of expenses to pay—if she is to continue up-to-date in her work and render conscientious service. I'm for paying her fully as much as she deserves—and she deserves, if she is rendering the best that with in her lies, enough so that she will not wear herself to a shadow wondering how in thunder she is going to get back to her job once she goes home to eat off the old folks through a considerable of a vacation. And here's an odd thing about the wages she is getting. Everyone, or nearly everyone, is anxious to pay her more than the law allows but, darn it, the law limits the expenditures of any district, and this puts a quietus on the project unless there is a "subscription" taken—and that is mean, contemptible, pettifogging method of paying the help, isn't it? I'll say it is; an if there is any way of letting a school district use the brains and brawn and liberality that it possesses and taking from it the handicap of niggardliness glued to it by some economical members of some of the old time legislatures, well, I'm saying right here that I'm for using that plan in a good commonsensical way. I thank you, Thorn in Palm Branch Post.

Press Comment
 City folks will know a thing or two about rising prices of food when the farmer quits the habit of rising at 4 a. m.—Florida Metropolis.

When attending concerts or public speakings it would help some if people who always talk should leave their voices at home. Whisperers and conversationalists in public gatherings are nuisances to those within hearing distance of them.—Miami Metropolis.

When a Marion county farmer comes to Ocala and sells his eggs for 50 or 60 cents a dozen, then goes into a restaurant and pays 35 cents for two of the same, or two, just like them, with two or three slices of stale bread and about enough butter to grease the bill of a humming bird there is not much use to talk to him about Swift, Armour and the other packers being profiteers.—Ocala Star

Social Secretaryship As A Social Ladder. "The Lure of Ambition" At The Princess Tea-day.

The social secretary is a personage of rapidly increasing importance. Not only does she assume the social burdens of her employes, but frequently she bears the burden of important executive duties.

This was especially true of Olga Dolan, the heroine of "Lure of Ambition," the new super-production in which William Fox will present the Bara at the Princess tomorrow.

Olga Dolan, formerly a child of the slums, became social secretary to Lady Constance Bromley, and then secretary to the Duke of Rutledge. As secretary to the Duke she won from a foreign diplomat an important international concession which the Duke had been unable to secure. This achievement won her not only the Duke's admiration, but led to her becoming the Duchess of Rutledge, the highest social position in the land.

As evidence that this remarkable rise of an ambitious girl is not without parallel in real life, may be cited in the case of the woman who was secretary to David Lloyd George, British prime minister. So efficient was her work that she became practically an ex-officio member of the British cabinet—which position she now holds. One more reel.
