Better Days Seen Ahead Of Britain On New Money Basis

Washington Authorities See No Harmful Effects On Conditions In America

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(A.P.)—Struggling England is more surely headed for better days as the result of temporarily suspending the gold standard, in the opinion of governmental authorities here.

No vitally adverse effects on the United States are expected by the administration.

For months the tense situation of British finances has been watched. Uncertainty caused worry. It was known such drastic action as has now been taken was contemplated.

Tenacious over this now is gone. Relief evidenced itself in high quarters yesterday, so far as this situation was concerned. It was prompted by a feeling that the possibility of such action by the British had been more deterrent than the actual realization proved to be.

There was no evidence that the 10 per cent wage reduction announced by the United States Steel Corporation late in the day had damaged materially the faith of official Washington.

The president spent a busy time with his cabinet in the morning. Two of those present at the White House dinner on Friday, occasioned by the impending British step of Sunday, were with him longest yesterday. Significantly enough, they were Secretaries Edinson and Lamont—who have so much to do with the country's foreign and commercial relations.

As occupied was the cabinet session that although it met at 10:30 p. m. it had been continuing since the time for the regular Tuesday press conference. The president hurried to meet briefly with the cabinet.

One reason for the relieved feeling apparent in official quarters was that the British action on gold had little reaction on American and world markets.

It was held that the decrease in the gold value of the pound was temporary, even so far as Great Britain was concerned, and that world trade would continue to be (Continued on Page Five)

JOINT MEETING IS HELD LAST NIGHT BY KIWANIS CLUB

Program Of Singing, And Talks Followed By Dinner Dancing

With about 33 members and their wives in attendance, a joint meeting of the Sanford and Clermont Kiwanis Clubs was held last night in the form of a dinner dance at the Minnewanka Coffee Shop on the Lake front, with the Sanford club as sponsor and the Clermont club in charge of the program for the evening.

After the meeting was opened by A. C. Fort, president of the local club, B. C. Moore and Dr. H. W. Rucker led the guests in a number of songs.

Mayor T. L. Dumas gave a few words of welcome to the visiting members, which Professor A. D. Fishman, superintendent of the schools of Clermont, responded to. Harold Hopper, past district governor of the Kiwanis club of Florida, welcomed the women to the meeting.

Don Lochner, president of the visiting club, then took charge of the meeting as the entertainment features were presented. Stuart Rowman, of Clermont, lieutenant governor of the central division of Kiwanis club of Florida, gave a short address in which he explained how members of the Ki-

Prices Advance As Stock Market Has Substantial Rally

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(A.P.)—A lull in short selling by the board of governors of the stock exchange was lifted today as the market rallied and a broad share advance of two to 15 points up. Reports to the business conduct committee of the exchange on short positions by members, however, in confidence as a step designed to make the bears rally.

Financial markets rallied into another water yesterday, which arose from the British crisis, subsided and readjustment yet to be made could be considered more calm.

Stock prices inflated narrowly in a quiet session, closing with narrow changes in the main, although some prominent issues were off $1 to $2. The recovery of 2,100,000 shares was less than half Monday's.

The bond market again was called upon to absorb considerable liquidation, but some of the recently depressed issues were strongly supported.

Wall Street was cheered by the news that the London stock exchange would reopen today, by the improvement in the Paris bourse, and by resumption of trading in the Amsterdam and Brussels markets.

Trading in stocks in the New York market still restricted by the ban on short selling, but stock exchange officials are expected to return at least some of the restrictions shortly. The (Continued on Page Four)

Legion Committee Recommends Beer, Wine Legalization

DETROIT, Sept. 23.—(A.P.)—The American Legion's union (Detroit) committee today recommended that the leg on national prohibition give consideration to a modification of the prohibition act to legalize beer, expressing the belief that hundreds of thousands will be given jobs through such an action. The committee asked the extension to give the question under consideration when it was brought to the floor. Portland, Ore., was chosen as the next convention city.

Whatever the final action of the committee, a minority report submitted by Charles V. Falkenberg of Chicago, a member of the prohibition committee, said before the committee met last night: that some of the prohibition results have not been as good as they were expected to be. This will place the committee's decision in the hands of the members of the national convention to be held in Detroit until Thursday.

Opposes a drinking club charter in what probably was the greatest anti-liquor spectacle the nation has seen since Prohibition came into effect, was 14 years ago.

The long, colorful line moved past half a million or more spectators in the annual parade of the American Legion, which passed in the deliberation of its national convention to display its strength and spirit. It is one of the nation's (Continued on Page Five)

Huge Corporations Effect 10 Percent Slash In Salaries

I. C. C. DISMISSES PLEA FOR LOWER RATE UPON FRUIT

Comparison Cited Between Rates In California And Florida

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(A.P.)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today dismissed the complaint of southern fruit distributors against freight rates on citrus fruit in carload lots from Florida to a group of states east of the Mississippi river. Although the complaint attacked the rates to virtually every state east of the Rocky Mountains, evidence was confined almost exclusively to rates on fruit from Florida to points east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers.

In concluding its opinion, the commission gave a comparison of rates and shipments of fruit from California and Florida over a 10 year period showing that in 1920 Florida shipments were 207 percent of those of California; in 1922, 1923, in 1924, 1925, and since 1926 Florida shipments have been 81 to 85 percent of those of California, the commission said.

"As compared with rates from California of $1.65 to points west of New England territory and $1.58 to New England and territory, the rates from Florida to the official territory range from 84 cents to $1.38.

"Obviously, Florida oranges can be delivered to all markets east of the Mississippi river at a lower freight rate than from California. The record indicates that notwithstanding higher transportation cost in eastern markets and higher price of fruit, the demand for Florida oranges exceeds that for Florida oranges but it doesn't indicate this difference in demand is a result of preferential rates."

Steel, Motor, Rubber, And Copper Industries Announce Cut For October, First

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(A.P.)—Announcement of impending wage cuts in steel, motor, rubber, and copper industries was the subject today of a variety of interpretations. Organized labor proclaimed its resistance, some financial writers attributed to unnamed business leaders the belief that the step will hasten a revival of business.

The formal statements of corporations concerned merely stressed the unsatisfactory present conditions or new standards of value. United States Steel announced a 10 percent cut affecting 220,000 employees Oct. 1. Bethlehem Steel and Youngtown Sheet and Tube ordered corresponding cuts. The United States Rubber Company announced a five-day working schedule starting Oct. 1 which will mean a reduction of about nine percent in wages. The American Smelting and Refining Company and the Utah Copper Company announced a 10 percent wage reduction effective Oct. 1.

Last July United States Steel cut salaries and dividends. Then it was reported wage slashes would follow. Bethlehem also has cut dividends.

As compared with unexpected cuts in the volume of business, and extraordinarily depressed international conditions, virtually made real steel earnings non-existent. Officials feel the, waited perhaps long before taking the present drastic action.

Whether this was a signal for general cuts in other corporations, no one cared to predict. Chrysler Motor, Westinghouse Electric, Sinclair Oil, and many others have announced cuts; and many cuts have been made without announcement.

Some observers recalled that the final reduction in wages by United States Steel in the 1921 depression virtually coincided with the bottom, both in business and the stock market, and has been widely regarded as marking the end of the period of deflating the post-war boom.

Judge In Lea Case Denies He Is Biased And Kills Petition

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 23.—(A.P.)—Judge C. C. Gilchrist, in a ruling in the Lea case, yesterday denied the petition of Col. Luke Lea asking that he excuse himself from the case of the publisher, his son, Luke Lea, Jr., and four others charged with conspiracy to defraud the now defunct Liberty Bank & Trust company.

Judge Gilchrist, declaring there were several matters in the petition that might be "disregarded," dismissed the petition without allowing argument, and later overruled the Lea's plea in abatement to the indictment. He upheld the state's contention that the plea was filed too late and was insufficient in law.

The defense, arguing to the plea, said it should be given a "common sense" interpretation, and not decided on technicalities.

Trial of the Lea's and four co-defendants, all charged with conspiracy to defraud the Liberty Bank of $150,000, is set for Oct. 28. The others named in the indictment are E. B. Moseley, auditor, and E. P. Charlet, secretary-treasurer of Lea's Tennessee Publishing Company; J. R. Ramsey, president of the failed Holston-Union National Bank, Knoxville, and W. S. Chappell, former cashier of the Liberty bank. Conspiracy is a misdemeanor for which the maximum punishment is 11 months and 20 days in jail and a $500 fine.

China-Japanese Row To Be "Closed" Affair

HONGKONG, Sept. 23.—(A.P.)—A sensational danger of Russia being drawn into the China-Japanese struggle was apparently averted today by the decision of the Japanese military not to occupy Harbin. Tokyo seemingly has succeeded in keeping the Manchurian situation strictly a loan between Japan and Japan, and all the Japanese either by the League of Nations.

Plans To Be Made For Aiding Unemployed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(A.P.)—Plans for creating new employment and spreading work now available will be considered Monday in Chicago by a committee of President Hoover's unemployment relief organization.

The committee, now appointed with Harry A. Wheeler of Chicago as chairman, to consider hundreds of plans which have been suggested to the relief organization for providing employment.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, who is a member of the group, is expected to propose dividing the unemployed among industries for absorption on a proportional basis.

Weather Vagaries Withstrain Akron From Test Flight

Naval officials, chafing at the unrelenting conditions that are keeping them on the ground, doubted whether the perfect flying day they are seeking would be available until Thursday.

They were reluctant, however, to abandon hopes of flying this afternoon about Rear Admiral G. S. Day, president of the board of inspection and survey said.

"The possibilities for the first trial flight on Wednesday are slight."

Except for the loading of food supplies, the air monster was ready to take the air. The ship did take the air for a short time yesterday in a practice weigh-off in which she stratched at the halter, blowing her to the molle, mooring mast and ascended approximately five feet.

In the afternoon the eight engines, which will deliver a total of 4,500 horsepower roared together for the first time.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Sept. 23.—(A.P.)—Andrew Kelown, of Chicago, pilot, and Charley W. Shurr, Los Angeles, Calif., his passenger, were killed yesterday when a plane of the Nevin Air Transport Company of Chicago crashed in a field near Walden.

Roumillat Home Is Scene Of Attempt To Rob Last Night

The timely arrival of Mrs. E. E. Roumillat at her home, 919 Palm Street, last night probably interrupted plans of an unknown thief or thieves to loot the house.

Although several rooms were ransacked, with clothing scattered and pieces of furniture upset and a number of drawers left open nothing has been reported missing.

Mrs. Roumillat returned home at about 11 o'clock and immediately heard noises in the rear of the house. Upon investigating she found that the back door was open. Later she discovered other evidences left by the visitor. A telephone call to the police station was answered by Officer R. H. Anderson.

Few clues which might lead to the street have been discovered, but police are still working on the case.

POJICE CHIEF SLAIN

BLITHEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 23.—(A.P.)—Chief of Police M. G. Gaudin, 53, was shot to death yesterday in an alley near the Farmers' Bank. Fellow officers arrested a man giving the name L. H. Taylor, and charged that he shot the police officer five times after he was questioned concerning a series of recent robberies here. Taylor, 33, gave his home as Keister, Okla.

Four Liquor Cases Are Among Those Before R. W. Ware

Three other negroes were charged with reckless driving. They were Scott Bookman, W. L. Bentley and Sam Jones. Bookman and Jones were required to pay $12.50 and $1 respectively while Bentley was dismissed. Not the Williams, colored, was sentenced to pay a fine of $30 for the possession of liquor.

Highest Bidder To Get Two Memphis Daily Publications

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 23.—(A.P.)—Sale to the highest bidder of the entire capital stock of Memphis Commercial Appeal, Inc., publisher of two daily newspapers in Memphis, was ordered yesterday by Chancellor James B. Newman who set noon, Oct. 20, as the date.

The corporation controls the Commercial Appeal, morning paper, and the Evening Appeal.

Stock in Memphis Commercial Appeal, Inc., was pledged by Southern Publishers, Inc., a holding company, to secure $1,500,000 of the latter's bonds sold in 1927 to the Minnesota & Ontario Paper Company, Minneapolis, and interest on which was alleged to have been in default since May 1.

Until Southern Publishers, Inc., was placed in receivership last December, it was controlled by Col. Luke Lea and Rogers Caldwell, president of the now defunct investment banking house of Caldwell & Company.

The Nashville Trust Company, to which the stock was pledged as trustee for the paper company, petitioned for its sale and Chancellor Newman in his decree sold semi-annual interest due and unpaid amounting to $48,000.

The bond sale agreement provided the decree explained, that if interest should be in default for 90 days the trustee might sell the pledged stock and "apply the proceeds of the proceeds of the sale to the payment of the principal and interest of said debentures."

For the purpose of cleaning up various important matters before Karl Lehmann, recently elected secretary of the Economic Council Chamber of Commerce, announced his duties here, members of that body will meet at the city hall tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The announcement urged all members to be present.

Drastic Steps For Stabilizing Cotton Suggested By Fish

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 23.—(A.P.)—Temporary drastic legislation to stabilize cotton at 14 cents a pound, wheat at 90 cents a bushel and oil at $1 a barrel, was advocated here last night by Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr., Republican of New York.

Addressing the convention of the National Exchange Club, Representative Fish turned his attention from a plea for the protection of "free American labor against competition from Soviet Russia" to the conditions confronting American wheat and cotton growers.

"The southern cotton states have suffered more than any other sections of the country in the existing economic depression," he said.

"I have generally opposed artificial legislation in Congress such as the McNary-Haugen bill, and the failure of the stabilization corporations under the Federal Farm Board in handling wheat and cotton shows the fallacy of the government trying to hold up prices, which only results in the government holding the bag."

"Moreover, in view of the serious emergency confronting the cotton, wheat and oil States and most important commodities, I would favor temporary drastic legislation to stabilize cotton at 15 cents a pound, wheat at $1 a barrel, and making it contrary to law to buy or sell any of these basic commodities at less than the price fixed by law."

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 23.—(A.P.)—Temporary drastic legislation to stabilize cotton at 14 cents a pound, wheat at 90 cents a bushel and oil at $1 a barrel, was advocated here last night by Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr., Republican of New York.

Addressing the convention of the National Exchange Club, Representative Fish turned his attention from a plea for the protection of "free American labor against competition from Soviet Russia" to the conditions confronting American wheat and cotton growers.

"The southern cotton states have suffered more than any other sections of the country in the existing economic depression," he said.

"I have generally opposed artificial legislation in Congress such as the McNary-Haugen bill, and the failure of the stabilization corporations under the Federal Farm Board in handling wheat and cotton shows the fallacy of the government trying to hold up prices, which only results in the government holding the bag."

"Moreover, in view of the serious emergency confronting the cotton, wheat and oil States and most important commodities, I would favor temporary drastic legislation to stabilize cotton at 15 cents a pound, wheat at $1 a barrel, and making it contrary to law to buy or sell any of these basic commodities at less than the price fixed by law."

EARNSHAW LIKES PITCHING BETTER THAN BEING IDLE

Giant Twirler Moves In Best Society Of Philadelphia Area

By EDWARD J. NEIL, PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—(A.P.)—“Big Jarge” Earnshaw, who has a big rough fellow on a big field but out of the park he is a persuasive enough to own a highly profitable insurance business and could be enough to cut wide swath through the highest society of Philadelphia and Montclair, N. J. Earnshaw went to college at Swarthmore, the robust son of a family wealthy enough to have sent him far away from physical work if he had had ideas of that sort.

Instead “Big Jarge” was the college pitcher, now, 200 pounds of willing brawn stretching six feet three inches in height.

He carried that willingness into baseball although he displayed the stubborn streak in rookie history breaking into the game.

For three years after leaving college he was the property of Jack Dunn, manager of the Baltimore Orioles. Each spring Dunn sent him a contract and each year, without ever having thrown a ball professionally, he penciled the document “not enough money” and sent it back.

Now he sits on the bench of the champion Athletics and tries to find enough pitching work to satisfy him. When Connie Mack looks around for relief for some struggling hurler, Earnshaw tries to tempt Bob Grove to the nearest ball park that he can get out there and go to work.

Earnshaw, now the best right-hander in baseball, thinks he gets too much rest. He’d like to work every other day but Connie won’t let him.

“If I rest too much I lose my control,” he insists.

Earnshaw is a rollicking sort of fellow, good-natured with a bent toward the comedian, popular with the club.

He clubbed himself tremendously in a hitler and when he really is hitting well he confesses that he’d hate to be the pitcher who had to face him coming up to bat.

He got four hits against the Browns one day and was so proud that Al Simmons, the slugger, approached him with doffed cap in mock humility and inquired: “What is your weakness, Mr. Earnshaw?”

“Honest,” the pitcher replied, “I don’t know. If I had to pitch to myself right now I’d be absolutely puzzled.”

The subject of ambidexterity interests him deeply. He heard once of a fellow who could pitch with both arms equally well.

“Golly, that would be great,” he announced. “I could walk up to Connie in the spring and tell him I’d sign up all right for my left arm but I wanted more for my right. I could hold out one arm on him unless he came across.”

The thought intrigued him so he tried to warm up a couple of times with both arms.

For once this fall it seems as though he will get enough work. The world’s series schedule with the Cardinals is so arranged that there are rest periods between the first two in St. Louis and the three in Philadelphia and before the final pair in St. Louis, providing the last two are necessary.

If Grove wasn’t around Earnshaw would like to pitch every game. As it is he’ll pitch at least two and probably three.

Diamond Ball Game Scheduled Tonight

The game of diamond ball tonight will be between the Sanford-Oriole Truck Growers and the North Park Lake of Orlando.

This is the team that the Truck Growers took into camp by a one-sided score recently. It is understood that they have strengthened their team since then and are coming prepared to give the Sanford boys a royal battle. Therefore it should prove to be a mighty good game as it is going to take a good team to stop the Truck Growers the way they have been playing recently.

Due to the fact that it is getting dark so much earlier now, all games, beginning tonight are scheduled to start at 7:30 instead of 8 o’clock.

TULANE EXPECTS ANOTHER SEASON WITHOUT DEFEAT

Plugging Up Of Weak Spots In Line Seen As Only Difficulty

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 22.—(A.P.)—If Coach Bernie Bierman can plug up four holes in his line, he may drive his Tulane Greenies through a third year of clean victory in the South.

But it is a tough job to attempt to fill the big shoes of Preacher Roberts at center, Jack Hollack at end, Elmer McCasie at tackle and Morris Rodgers at guard.

So the brunt of the training has fallen on Ted Cox, line coach, who is striving to find among his flock of candidates brawny players with fleet feet. He believes that when the whistle blows next Saturday for the opening game with Ole Miss he will have them.

The backfield has caused the coaches no concern. Rather it has caused them joy as their problem has been which good player to use, especially at fullback. At present it is a toss-up between Felix and Payne.

Many southern experts point to Don Zimmerman, Bierman’s junior halfback, as one of the best the conference has seen in years, while Jerry Dalrymple probably has no peer in the south at end.

The Green Wave faces a handicap in the psychology of the situation. They have emerged undefeated from two seasons and the fans will be satisfied with no less this year. They go into the schedule with a spotty line and the hardest schedule ever prepared here with 11 games instead of the usual nine.

Knowing these facts the coaches and squad have ploughed up the turf in practice. Extra effort has been made to boost the spirits of the squad such as discarding a “scrub team” and substituting instead an “A” and a “B” team.

Even Bierman, who has been known for years as a blue coach even with championship material, expresses faith in his approaching team to win games and keep the Tulane flag flying. Some of the alumni, however, have said they would feel better if Bernie dropped back into the sad role.

The schedule: Sept. 26, Mississippi at New Orleans; Oct. 3, Texas A. & M. at New Orleans; Oct. 10, Spring Hill at New Orleans; Oct. 17, Vanderbilt at Nashville; Oct. 24, Georgia Tech at New Orleans; Oct. 31, Mississippi A. & M. at New Orleans; Nov. 7, Auburn at Montgomery; Nov. 14, Georgia at Athens; Nov. 21, Sewanee at New Orleans; Nov. 28, Louisiana State at New Orleans; and Dec. 5, Washington State at New Orleans.

Passes And Kicking Are Emphasized As Gators Enjoy Rest

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, GAINESVILLE, Sept. 22.—Kicking and passing were stressed in Gatorland yesterday as Coach Bachman allowed his University of Florida gridiron squad to relax after their strenuous practice scrimmage last Saturday. Coach Brady Cowell, of the Baby Gator squad, announced that his charges were coming along nicely after their first few days of hard work.

Bachman spent most of the time in a lecture session correcting the faults that he had noted in Saturday’s sham battle. Special attention was given to the backs in handling the ball, and to the ends and tackles on proper blocking.

After the boys had received their instructions, punting and kicks between the goal posts were practiced. Shaw Buck, the little quarterback contender, created quite a sensation with his

3 Fliers Believed Lost Are Rescued From Sea By Ship

They had completed about 2600 miles of their 3700-mile trans-Atlantic journey. The plane had no radio, and as they approached the Atlantic seaboard overcast skies and electrical storms confronted them.

When the time limit of 48 hours set by their gasoline supply expired early Tuesday without further word, they were believed to have been lost at sea.

Their plane carried two gallons of mineral water, a dozen bananas, two dozen apples and three loaves of bread, which probably was their only supply of food while stranded on the craft’s wreckage.

The motorship Belmorla was bound from Albany, N. Y., for Russia with a cargo of locomotives. Its agents in New York said the fliers undoubtedly would be transferred to some passing vessel, because the ship intends to proceed directly to Leningrad, and comfortable quarters for the airmen were unavailable.

Rody, 23-year-old aviation enthusiast, purchased the plane used by the trio with the proceeds of an inheritance which had come to him recently from his father, a native of Denmark, who had made a flight to China.

The dummy suspension machine got a terrific lacing at the hands of assistant Coach Higgins’ linemen, as the guards and tackles ended up their day’s labor on Murphree field, adjacent to the varsity practice field, the freshmen eleven sweated during a torrid signal drill, with Coaches Cowell and Pearson working the yearlings overtime in attempts to teach the newcomers the Rockne system. Cowell commented upon the first year men as being hard workers with several very promising figures in the squad, which numbers over 140 candidates.

The majority of line aspirants for freshmen honors are real huskies and give promise to an unusually heavy “rat” outfit.

The reticence of the fliers themselves during the weeks they were preparing in Germany and Portugal for the trans-Atlantic adventure made them comparatively obscure with the general public.

Just before the take-off the plane, once owned by Charles A. Levine, was christened the “Esa,” was a pilot during the World

“It is a special outrage to send them out with tin cups, begging in order to live,” Brookhart said. Read said “the men who fought for the country’s welfare are not going to fight against it now.” Wood said the legion “now has an opportunity to help the country solve its problems by setting an example.”

“I have faith in the legion to do that thing,” he said.

The war department said it had advised Col. Charles B. Robbins, chairman of the legion’s national defense committee, that the secretary of war “stands ready to cooperate fully with the president in his efforts to balance the budget.”

“The war department is therefore,” it continued, “now prepared to forward to the director of the bureau of the budget normal estimates in support of its military program closely following the estimates of last year and the current year.”

“In these estimates no increases are requested in the strength of any component of the army of the United States. On the other hand, certain economies will be effected.”

The department said that “any plans looking to a request for increased pay for officers of the army have been set aside for the time being and will be held in abeyance until our whole economic structure is again on a normal footing at some future date.”

A graduated reduction in salaries of government employees, including members of Congress, was suggested at the capitol by Representative Wood.

Discussing the proposal of Representative Treadway, Republican, Massachusetts, that salaries of members of Congress be reduced from $10,000 to $8,000 annually, he said he thought a 10 percent reduction would be adequate.

Returning yesterday from an inspection trip through four southern states, he reported the addition of 500 agents in July had resulted in a proportionate increase of cases.

The dry chief was enthusiastic over conditions in Florida, Mississippi, Georgia and Alabama. He said “it did me good to see the bureau we have in the South,” adding that the agents apparently were of a high type and that their work appeared to be proceeding satisfactorily.

Woodcock said there were “practically no speakeasies” in that section, and that the problem was mostly in stopping moonshine distilling except in Florida where a smuggling problem was presented by the long coast line.

“Our figures for August show it was the most productive month this bureau ever has had,” he said. “Agents entered 1600 more cases in the federal courts than during the same month last year, in addition to producing about 800 more cases in state courts.”

Washington, Sept. 22.—(A.P.)—Director Woodcock believes the prohibition bureau’s policy of expanding the force of federal dry agents to its highest point in history has proved its worth.

Dickson-Ives Will Hold Fall Fashion Show Friday Night

Officially inaugurating its fall fashion season, Dickson-Ives, of Orlando, holds its living model revue this Friday evening, Oct. 2, on the second floor of the store at 8 P. M.

More than a score of women will participate in the showing of apparel. A group of children will also show what the well-dressed young people will wear this season.

Preparing for the business of the new season, the Orlando store has made a number of changes this summer. Thrift frocks, formerly on the first floor, have been moved to the second, giving additional space to hosiery and shoe departments.

All second floor departments have been rearranged, the floor refinished and new cases installed.

On the third floor, the decorating department is moved in front of the elevator and the shop for girls and babies enlarged. Re-arrangement, allowing better service, has also been made in the boys shop on the fourth floor.

BLUE SUNOCO
THE ONLY TRUE BLUE

SCORES AGAIN!

ALLEN H. BLAISDELL, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR, CARNEGIE INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

SCENLEY PARK, PITTSBURGH, PA., July 6, 1921

Dear Oil Company, Philadelphia, Pa.

Contents:

The purpose of the economy test recently completed by me was to determine if Blue Sunoco, which sells at regular gas prices, actually delivered as many miles per gallon as the better nationally known premium-priced fuels which sell at 3 cents more per gallon.

I found that the consumption of Blue Sunoco was less than that of any of the other fuels tested— which means more miles per gallon on the road.

Brand	Make	Model	A	B	C	D	E	F	G	H
17	gals. per hour	2.217	2.244	2.230	2.260	2.216	2.198	2.256	2.202
28	gals. per hour	2.248	2.277	2.278	2.200	2.217	2.226	2.277	2.245

17 Blue Sunoco Power at 1800 r.p.m. approximately

This proved that for average road driving Blue Sunoco was from 2.5% to 8.7% more economical than any fuel tested.

The economy is even more apparent since Blue Sunoco sells for 3 cents less per gallon than the other fuels.

Very truly yours,
Allen H. Blaisdell

A Celery Growers' Clearinghouse

At the dinner given by the Florida Citrus Growers Clearinghouse Association last week, the work of this organization was clearly presented to a group of local citizens by a number of forceful and intelligent speakers; and while they were talking we could not help thinking what a truly fine thing it would be for Seminole County's farmers if they could organize and maintain a celery growers clearinghouse.

Then at the conclusion of the meeting, Karl Lehmann, who is the new secretary of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and who for the past few weeks has been doing some excellent work for the Citrus Clearinghouse, declared that the idea had been suggested to him by Fred Bender that such an association of our celery growers be formed. Mr. Lehmann did not say, but he intimated, that perhaps a good deal of his time after he takes up his permanent abode in Sanford might be devoted to an effort to get the celery growers, not only of this section but of all Florida, together, and to organize them into a mutual benefit association.

We do not know how the farmers will take to this suggestion. Such attempts as have been made in the past to organize farmers have not always met with brilliant success. Even the organization of the citrus growers, representing an industry of perhaps one hundred times the wealth of the celery farmers, must admit its ups and downs. In undertaking the formation of a celery growers clearinghouse, Mr. Lehmann could not have bitten off a bigger mouthful to chew.

Yet if he succeeds in this undertaking, he will have, in our opinion, achieved the most important goal to which Seminole County citizens could at present direct their efforts, and if he does nothing else, he will have made himself well worth while not only to the farmers of this county, but also to every business and professional man in it. It seems to us that there is no undeveloped resource of the county which could be made as profitable as the thorough organization of our most important existing industry.

The advantages which would accrue to the farmers as a result of a clearinghouse association would be very similar to those which mark the success of the Citrus Growers Clearinghouse. Marketing problems could be materially simplified. The glutting of certain markets could be systematically avoided by means of more general distribution. The demand for celery throughout the entire country could be materially increased by a judicious use of advertising.

Celery prices, which in the final analysis, are the lifeblood of the farmers' success and of the prosperity of the community, could be generously enhanced.

The New Season

At exactly 7:24 o'clock tonight, the sun which for the past few months has been spending its vacation in the upper half of the torrid zone, slowing up business wherever its brilliant rays shone down too directly, crossed the equator on its way south to give the Northern Hemisphere a change of climate, and to bring to an official end the summer.

It has been a long hard summer. Economic adjustments throughout the world have taken their toll in business failures. Tottling governments have cracked up, and others have been forced to resort to drastic emergency methods in order to save themselves. The cry of depression has given convenient excuse for the rich to retrench and for the poor to further increase depression. But where the people of the world entered this summer with these adjustments all before them, they emerge with most of the ordeal safely behind, with nothing but hope for the future.

Here in Sanford we have fared particularly well considering the status of the rest of the world. A fairly successful celery season last winter put our farmers, and through them our merchants, in such condition, as to weather an unusually exacting summer. In spite of generally declining receipts, there has been little talk of hard times in this city, comparatively no failures or other reverses which might cast another cloud of gloom over this community.

Now we find ourselves upon the verge of October. Adequate acreage for the coming celery crop has been financed. The farmers are putting in their seed beds. The negro workmen who have been more or less idle all summer are going back to the fields. Our crate mills and other industrial concerns are resuming operation. The Chamber of Commerce will soon undertake an extensive program under the guidance of a new secretary who has a statewide reputation for constructive achievements.

In short, Seminole County seems to be peculiarly blest, the one bright spot in a world of shadows.

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA OPENS

FLORIDA TIMES-UNION

The University of Florida, which enjoyed a very large attendance last year and has but recently closed the most successful of summer courses, opened for the regular term a few days ago and with the promise of operation at full capacity during the Fall, winter and spring. There was indicated a record enrollment of new students, and the young men coming from many states, with diversity in their ambitions and a desire to get whatever of educational value presented. The freshman, numbering more than eight hundred, heard an interesting address delivered by President Tigert, on Wednesday, and his serious appeal made by this splendid educator for real application to the work undertaken, must have impressed the students. The president emphasized the particular importance of attention to what was undertaken in this time of depression: the world expecting those given opportunity to "make good" in their endeavors.

Upper class men will be registered Monday and Tuesday and the University will be in full and complete operation very soon. It is remarked that there continues to be great number of students seeking degrees in engineering, in the liberal branches of this profession. But all of the colleges have good enrollment, and there will be activities along the many lines of educational effort. An agricultural state, Florida would appear to need more expertly trained men in the many branches of agriculture, and at Gainesville there is the finest equipment and the greatest advantage to students in that department. But the University draws students from everywhere in the country, and the majority are inclined towards the professions and industry to a great extent.

In the past year of the history of the University the accommodations have been almost stretched to accommodate all who were admitted. Admissions were somewhat restricted at least to the point where it was made necessary for applicants to show more than merely a desire to enter. There were some disappointed youths, naturally, who had thought to go in although not properly equipped for university life. Many of these have since last Fall given time to study and brought themselves up to a higher point, and will start in this year after proving their qualifications as well as their ambitions.

The University of Florida is easily one of the State's greatest assets. With enrollment last year of 2254 and 160 instructors, it stood well in the lists of universities and colleges of the country in numbers, and was probably ahead of many in matter of equipment and opportunity. Standing with the State College for Women, at Tallahassee, the opportunity offered the young men and women of the state is very good indeed, and the fact that there are many students coming from far away states proves the excellence of the institutions.

The University, besides furnishing higher education to more than two thousand students in each regular term, carries on extension service that enables students to continue studying at home and also sets up a special course of eight weeks intensive study, mainly for teachers, each summer beginning immediately after commencement week. Particularly featuring the agricultural department of the University, special short courses are held for farmers and for the juniors of the farms, the 4-H Clubs, and thus advances interest and aids in developing the industry.

The new term seems to be opening auspiciously and all of Florida will be glad to feel that the student body is likely somewhat better accommodated than before. There is a new infirmary a modern, perfectly equipped building replacing an outgrown and GAINESVILLE, Sept. 23. — Gone are the days when football equipment is burdening.

A complete outfit, shoes, stockings, pants, jersey, thigh pads, hip pads, shoulder pads, and headgear, weigh 10 pounds this season.

That is what Ed Parnell, star University of Florida end, discovered this week. And Coach Charlie Bachman, designer of considerable football paraphernalia, says it is the lightest complete outfit any Gator team has worn.

Mr. Football Fan may not know where most of the weight is concentrated, but the shoes and headgear weigh almost four of the ten pounds.

Parnell scaled 172 1/2 pounds, stripped, and attired in a complete new Florida outfit, the balance, at 182 1/2.

“Why My Next Car will be A FORD”

When you buy a Ford there are two things you never have to worry about. One is reliability. The other is long life. Here's an interesting letter from a Ford owner in North Carolina:

"My Ford was purchased May 8, 1928, and has been run 131,167 miles. It has never stopped on the road for repairs of any kind whatsoever except punctures.

"The brakes were retined at 101,000 miles. My gas mileage averaged 21 miles to the gallon, and on tires, 19,000 miles per tire. I travel over all kinds of road conditions—mountainous and flat.

"I consider this a wonderful record and I assure you my next car will also be a Ford."

This is just one of many tributes to the reliability and long life of the Ford. A Ford owner in Iowa tells of driving his Ford 73,000 miles in a single year. Another writes of 120,000 miles of good service.

Think ahead when you are considering the purchase of an automobile and consider what it will be like after thousands of miles of driving. Will you still be satisfied? Will you still say "it's a great car"?

If it's a Ford, you know everything will be O. K. It will be taking you there and back in good style, just as it has always done. And you will have saved many important, worth-while dollars in cost of operation and up-keep and low yearly depreciation.

Sowing And Reaping

As Ye ADVERTISE . . .

So Shall Ye REAP . . .

As ye ADVERTISE, so shall ye REAP— This business axiom is more true today than in any time of prosperity. Despite cries of lament from many sources, some business concerns are increasing their revenue while others stand by and wonder how. The answer can usually be found in the one and magic word, ADVERTISING.

A Rochester, New York coffee shop has increased its business 25 percent in the past 12 months and its owner says: "It was our newspaper advertising that did it. We have confined all our advertising to the newspapers and we have come to the conclusion that we simply cannot get along without using them. We are devoting 5 percent of our sales to newspaper advertising and consider it the best investment we can make."

You And Your Child

BY JANE HERBERT GOWARD

If blindness to the faults of our children is instinctive, then it is one of the kindest gifts which nature has bestowed upon the human race. It is the parent's duty to see to it that the child's requirements are different. There is but one solution to this universal family problem, and that is full acceptance of each child for what he is. Most serious faults have their roots in heredity and we must try to face the truth. For the backward child with all his faults is ours as much as the brilliant child, and the plain and each has his own redeeming traits. If we could train ourselves to look, we would find them even in the extent of manufacturing them out of our heads.

What more can any parent ask? You can put more water in the cup than it contains. All the good you can give children, will be more than they are equipped to receive.

MAN WHO PASSED BAD STOCK NOTES SOUGHT IN NORTH

Police Seek Counterfeiter Who Got $50,000 From Exchange

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(A.P.)—A hunt was begun in several states yesterday for a man accused of obtaining $50,000 from one of New York's large brokerage houses by the use of counterfeit stock certificates. The scheme was described by officers of the firm as the most perfectly worked out they ever had encountered.

The man sought is Emmett Sheridan of Philadelphia, who obtained the money from the house of P. F. Cusick, Kent and Company, by drawing against 2760 shares of counterfeit General Motors stock which he had placed on deposit.

"The certificates were the most beautiful example of counterfeit I ever saw," said one officer of the firm. "If they were passed into me again tomorrow I probably would accept them, for it would be impossible for me to tell them from bona fide stock."

As detectives of the intelligence division of the New York Stock Exchange, New York police and officers of the bonding house which insured the brokerage firm against such loss began a hunt for the man, the method he used was explained.

Sheridan had been known by officials of Cusick, Kent and Company for several years, they said. Frequently he came to New York from Philadelphia and sought advice on the stock market from the brokerage firm.

Last Wednesday he appeared with the 2760 shares of stock and asked that they be kept for him in the company's safe.

"On Friday," said a statement issued by the company, "Mr. Sheridan appeared at our office and requested a check for $50,000 drawn against the stock. There was nothing unusual in the transaction as the shares at that time were worth approximately $22,000. The shares were delivered to the stock clearing corporation with the request that they be transferred to the name of Cusick, Kent and Company, and the fraud was discovered. A general examination of all General Motors stock was started in a number of brokerage houses to ascertain if counterfeit certificates had been sold to any other firms."

ORLANDO PLANS RELIEF WORK FOR VAGRANT HORDE

Citizens Emergency Committee Will Be Formed For Work

ORLANDO, Sept. 23.—Preliminary plans for formation of a citizens emergency relief committee in Orlando were laid yesterday morning at a conference at the city hall at which Mayor James L. Gilles presided and representatives from the relief departments of various city and county welfare agencies were present.

Allen Johnstone, representative of the national relief program, was present and outlined what is being done in other cities. He cited the cases of Raleigh and Winston-Salem, N. C., as towns of Orlando's size and told what has already been done there in preparation to meet the unemployment and relief conditions anticipated as necessary this winter.

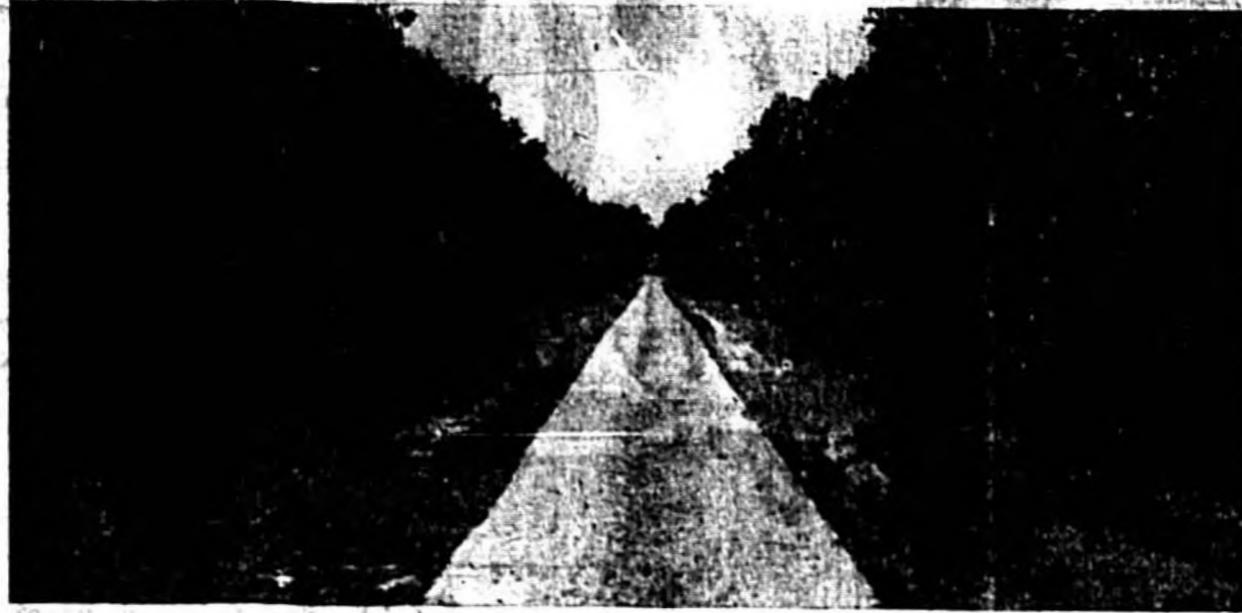

Another meeting was held at city hall yesterday afternoon to consider the names of various citizens fitted to serve on Orlando's committee and it is hoped that the committee can be shaped into shape without delay so as to lay the groundwork for the winter's program.

The chief duty of the committee will be to conduct a drive in October and November to raise $100,000, which is what such agencies as the Salvation Army and Associated Charities anticipate will be needed in addition to the $4,800 provided by the city for relief work.

Johnstone discussed fully and frankly the transient problem, which will be especially troublesome in Florida this winter. He said that Orlando could not possibly hope to take care of all the unemployed transients that drift into town and suggested that the city give publicity to the fact that it does not intend to take care of transients.

He added that experience in other cities had demonstrated that it is cheaper to buy transportation for these cases than to keep them and provide food and lodging. He said that it is cheaper to buy gasoline and oil than to keep them in the city.

TYPICAL GROVE SCENE NEAR OVIEDO

The section surrounding Oviedo is full of grove scenes. Paved roads are frequently seen winding their way through well-arranged orange groves. In this particular scene the fence between the road and trees is so constructed that a would-be "orange snatcher" would have difficulty in carrying out his plans.

SCENE ON LONG LAKE

Mr. Williams is chief of Sanford's police force and has established an enviable record for efficiency and courtesy as well as law enforcement.

Woman Last Seen With Slain Man Is Finally Identified

ATLANTA, Sept. 23.—(A.P.)—The woman seen Monday night with Benjamin L. Lichtenstein, wealthy wholesale grocer, shortly before he was killed at his bachelor apartment in a fashionable residential section here, was identified yesterday by police, who continued their search for a maroon-colored automobile in which the slayers escaped.

A coroner's jury yesterday afternoon returned a verdict that the grocer died "at the hands of a party or parties unknown to the jury."

Lieut. T. O. Sturdivant said Mrs. Estelle Peterson, a traveling salesman, admitted she dined with Lichtenstein Monday night and attended a show with him. She said he took her to her apartment about 10 o'clock and left her at the door. He was killed about midnight.

Friends of the Petersons and of Lichtenstein told Lieutenant Sturdivant that both husband and wife were reported enroute to Atlanta from Augusta, Ga., where he had gone yesterday on business.

It was said that in some cities plans were being made to have the transients leave their cars in exchange for railroad tickets to be provided by the relief committee.

Florida Sheriff Is Held For Trial By Court In Georgia

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 23. (A.P.)—Sheriff R. J. Flanders of Calhoun County, Florida, yesterday was held for trial after his arrest Monday by E. G. Stanley, deputy United States marshal of Marianna, Fla., on charges of conspiracy to violate the National Prohibition Act.

Sheriff Flanders was released on $5,000 bond by W. H. Milton, United States commissioner, at Marianna. The commissioner set Monday as the day for a hearing on the government's application for Flanders' removal to Opelika to face trial.

The Federal Grand Jury in the United States District of Alabama two weeks ago returned indictments against Flanders and about 50 other persons.

Among other defendants jointly indicted with the sheriff were the mayor, one commissioner, the chief of police, five policemen, two members of the Alabama Legislature and the fire chief, all of Phenix City, Ala.

Better Harmony Is Reported Between Religious Groups

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 22.—(A.P.)—Increasing harmony between the Protestant Episcopal church, entering the second week of its general convention here, and the Presbyterian and Methodist denominations, was noted in a report yesterday to the house of deputies.

Seven members of the conference commission, headed by the chairman, the Rt. Rev. Edward L. Parsons, bishop of California, indicated in their majority report that organic unity of the three is not deemed impossible of attainment. A minority report written by the late George F. Henry, its lay delegate, and concurred in by Bishop Charles Fish of central New York, diametrically opposed every point in the majority report.

Consideration of another social question involving the sterilization of criminals and insane persons, requested in a resolution introduced Monday, was adjourned when the deputies voted to table the resolution.
