Lake Mary students attacked

LAKE MARY - Two Lake Mary High School students were attacked by a group of students after school on Wednesday afternoon following an exchange of words.

According to an incidence report filed with the Seminole County Sheriffs Office, the two young men were leaving the school when they encountered about 20 students sitting on a picnic table just off campus in a park area behind the school.

The large group orally assaulted the two as they moved by, according to accounts in the report.

Saddam: I'm ready Boast seems to assure imminent ground war

Associated Press

NICOSIA, Cyprus - Iraqi President Saddam Hussein said today his country and army are ready for a ground battle if President Bush continues to reject the initiative his leadership offered last week.

There is no path except the path that we have chosen...and which Tariq Aziz has carried to Moscow," Saddam said. He referred to Iraq's response to the Soviet peace plan which his foreign minister, Aziz, was expected to convey to the Kremlin later today.

Saddam complained that the United States and its allies had stated the war would end and negotiations would start when Iraq agreed to withdraw from Kuwait but later changed their minds.

"The word withdrawal was stated by Iraq. What did Bush say? What did his loyal servant (Saudi King) Fahd say? Bush rejected it as a ploy without careful study. This has unveiled the reality of the aggression." Saddam said in his Baghdad radio speech.

It was not clear from Saddam's 40-minute address, the first in his own voice since Feb. 10, if Aziz was carrying more concessions to Moscow. Saddam did not accept or reject the Soviet proposal, details of which have not been disclosed.

The proposal was given to Aziz by Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev at a meeting in Moscow on Monday. Aziz returned home with the proposal and Saddam summoned his miling Revolutionary Command Council to a meeting Wednesday to consider it. Saddam then sent Aziz back to Moscow-

"What Iraq wants is peace in the gull. Peace that opens the door to a real comprehensive and durable solution to all the problems of the region foremost of which the issue of Palestine," Saddam said. His address was monitored in Nicosia.

Lake Mary on its own over road?

By LAURA L. SULLIVAN Herald staff writer

LAKE MARY - After two years of haggling with Seminole County over financing for the Lake Mary Boulevard landscaping proposal, Lake Mary now says the city may go it alone.

Lake Mary's latest proposal, made yesterday by City Manager John Litton, comes after the city and county have bounced several versions of an interlocal agreencent back and forth. The city commission will vote on his proposal at a meeting tonight at 7 p.m. in the commission chambers of Lake Mary City Hall, 100 W. Lake Mary Blvd.

The initial agreement called for Seminole County to pay a $230,000 share of the project, with the city forgiving a $40,000 debt for work on a Lake Mary Boulevard retention pond. In that agreement, the city would take responsibility for Country Club Road, or C-15. Responsibility for the road would include the $160,000 cost of realigning a curve near County Road 427, according to the agreement.

anegeory made an obscene gesture toward group, the report stated. Two members of the group then knocked the boy who had made the gesture to the ground while the others in the group surrounded his friend.

The two assailants allegedly "rammed (the boy's) face into his knee, causing his nose to break."

The report stated that the victims did not know the names of the attackers, but stated that they could identify them on sight. The victims stated that they were Lake Mary High School students.

Suber files suit

SANFORD - Seminole County Property Appraiser Bill Suber filed suit against five present and past county officials Tuesday over decisions they made last August to grant tax-saving agricultural classifications on several properties.

Almost $71,000 in taxes were lost to the county, schools and other taxing agencies because of the decisions made by the Property Appraisal Adjustment Board. Members of the board include county commissioners Jennifer Kelley, Pat Warren and Fred Streetman and school board member Joe Williams and former school board member Larry Betsinger.

Among the biggest tax-savers were Viola Kastner, who saved over $34,000 on land proposed for multi-million-dollar retail, residential and office developments, and members of a famility that includes former Seminole Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Leifler, who saved nearly $22,000 in taxes.

Animal board's Albers blasts 'politics'

By J. MARK SARFIELD Herald stalf writer

SANFORD - For the first time in the 15-year history of the Seminole County Animal Control Board, chairman Diane Albers will not represent the county on the board she helped create.

County Commissioner Pat Warren has nominated Paula McMillan, co-owner of Tiger's Eye Productions in Oviedo, to replace Albers. The appointment was approved by county commissioners, Warren said she sought to replace Albers. only after she learned Albers would continue to serve on the board as a representitive of the Humane Society of Seminole County,

"I would not want to lose her talents on that board," Warren satd.

Warren said she became concerned about potential conflicts last year when she learned Albers had been hired by the Humane Society as executive director. Warren said she requested county attorneys review potential conflicts between Albers' Humane Society duties and animal control board service but didu't get a conclusive. answer from them

"I thought this would clean this situation up." Warren said.

But Albers blasted Warren's decision as political.

She said recent board appointments were largely political paybacks, not efforts to staff the board with people with experience with animals. She said she asked Humane Society directors to appoint her to the Society's board position last month after talking with Warren and learning she was out of favor with the commissioner.

"It's so sail to see a board that has done so much for the people of Seminole County to get hacked down with political appointments," Albers said. "We're not talking about paving a stupid street or curring down a free, we're talking about life, not only the life of an animal but the life of some child or person who could get manled or killed.

During the early 1970s, Albers was instrumental in the advancement of county animalcontrol from a rural operation to a progressive agency that was the first of its kind in the state.

"We're talking about a time when they would put all the dogs in a concrete building, back a truck up to it and hook up the exhaust." Alberssaid. "If any of the dogs weren't dead, they'd bash 'em in the head."

Workers accused in 'exorcism'

FORT LAUDERDALE - Workers at a juvenile detention center are accused of taking part in an "exorcism" during which a minister pounded on the head of a teen-ager with a Bible, a state official said.

The incident in January came to light this week after another employee at the Broward County Juvenile Detention Center filed a child abuse complaint about the incident, said Reuben Betancourt, spokesman for the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services in Fort Lauderdale.

The complaint says several detention center workers held the 17-year-old on a mattress while Lois Parchment of Jesus Help Ministries performed what she described as an exorcism, but Betancourt said he couldn't confirm that an exorcism actually occurred.

High count of manatees found

ST. PETERSBURG - A second aerial survey of Florida's manatec population found 1,465 of the endangered creatures, almost 200 more than were seen last month in a survey that produced an unexpectedly high count.

Biologists spotted 813 manatees Sunday on the east coast and 652 Monday on the west coast, said Jamie Serino, spokesman for the state Department of Natural Resources' Florida Marine Research Institute.

The first survey - conducted Jan. 23-24 - recorded 1.268 manatces, with 679 on the cast coast and 589 on the west coast.

Hospital profits are down Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE - Caring for patients is a losing proposition for more than half of Florida's hospitals, especially small rural hospitals, an industry group has reported.

"We hope to make the public and legislators aware of where profits are going for hospitals." said John Mines, director of financial services for the Florida Hospital Association Inc. "I think that over the next year we can predict probably four or five closures."

But the state agency that collected the data used by the hospital group disagreed with its conclusion. Most hospitals are not in danger of closing, according to a spokeswoman for the state's Health Care Cost Containment Board.

"In the last three or four years, we've only see maybe three or four hospitals close because of financial problems." Kim Gerato, a board spokeswoman, said.

According to an analysis the hospital group did of data collected by the state board, 51.5 percent of Florida's 293 hospitals failed to make money on patient care alone.

Donations, taxes and other sources of income helped some. but even with that money, 38.9 percent of all hospitals operated in the red.

Some hospitals face "serious financial difficulty," the group's report, issued Tuesday, warned. Three-quarters of the state's rural, general-care hospitals lost money on patient care in 1989, the last year for which final statistics are available. That compares with fewer than half of urban hospitals.

While general-care hospitals sold more services, they made less money than the year before. Profits on patient care fell 90.4 percent to $10.7 million.

Certain specialty hospitals, such as rehabilitation facilities, had a much better year. Profits. rose nearly 600 percent to $11.39 million.

Disturbance leads to arrests

Two charged in alleged theft of an automobile

By VICKI DeSORMIER Herald staff writer

On Tuesday afternoon, Sanford Police Department officials, responding to a disturbance in the parking lot of Sanford City Hall, 301 Park Ave.. found Arthur Lee Wilson and Melanie Mohr arguing in a brown Ford Acrostar van.

Witnesses reported that the two had been arguing loudly for quite some time before officers were summoned to break up the fight.

The two had allegedly not left the vehicle during the duration of the argument though it had, witnesses said become physical on at least one occasion.

Wilson, 32, of 1238 Pine St. in Altamonte Springs and Mohr, whose address was not given in the Sanford Police arrest report were allegedly arguing loudly when officers arrived on the scene. The passenger window was allegedly broken on the vehicle and the radio had been removed from the dash. It is not known if those items were broken and removed during the argument or at another time.

A routine computer check of the vehicle's tag revealed that it had been reported stolen last week.

Wilson and Mohr were arrested on charges of grand theft auto.

They allegedly named Robert Earl King as the driver of the vehicle.

King, 25, of 2150 Roger Ave. in Maitland, was located in the Seminole County Courthouse where he was appearing in court on other charges.

He allegedly told police that he was driving the vehicle with the permission of a friend. He allegedly said that Mohr had broken the passenger window.

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE -Vice President Dan Quayle wrapped up his two-day tour of Florida with an "emotional" meeting with the families of 14 missing crewmen from a gunship that was shot down over Kuwait.

Quayle held the private meet-ing with the families Wednesday after giving a pep talk to thousands of cheering, flagwaving military personnel and relatives of airmen and women serving in the Middle East.

Earlier in the day, the vice president met with space workers at Kennedy Space Center, urging them to keep the space program "strong, safe and affordable.'

Quayle said his meeting with the families of the missing crewmen was an "emotional" one.

A few years back, scientists developed something that could keep you warm in winter without burning a single drop of oil or molecule of gas in your home. And keep you cool in summer without using one kilowatt of electricity more than necessary. They called it a "heat pump," that innocent-looking thing you see at the right. But it wasn't until today that anyone developed something to help the average homeowner afford such sophisticated technology.

We call that the "FPL Heat Pump Discount."

You don't have to understand all the technical details of how

This war is hell for Arab-Americans

Saddam Hussein never conceived that his barbaric invasion of Kuwait would bring Americans together in a rare display of ethnic and religious unity. But that unity has taken a grievous toll in the isolation of one ethnic group.

Recently, 202 Americans of all backgrounds came together to express their solidarity with Israel by condemning Saddam's Scud missile attacks on that nation's civilian population. In effect, they were replicating John F. Kennedy's famed declaration at the Berlin Wall.

But this time, each signatory was declaring, "Ani Yaraeli" (I am an Iaraeli). "We Are Outraged," proclaimed the headline over a full-page at in the New York Times.

The ad was signed by representatives of 17 American ethnic groups, including Armenians, blacks, Chinese, Croatians, Cubans, Greeks, Indians, Indochinese, Italians, Japanese, Koreans, Lithuanians, Mexicans, Poles, Puerto Ricans, Turks and Ukranians. "We share the pain of the Israeli men, women and children who have been targets of these missiles." the ad told the world.

The ad was also endorsed by prominent white and black members of the Catholic and Protes-tant churches, as well as by presidents of seminaries and five mayors of major cities. It was coordinated by the American Jewish Committee. If outrage prompted the ad. love inspired its expression. But just as Paul's epistle to the Corinthians lovingly told them that they had been "bought with a price." so has American ethnic unity behind Israel been purchased for a price - the tragic isolation of Arab-Americans.

Hazem Farasa of Burke, Va., com-pared the treatment of Arabs in America to the treatment of blacks in South Africa.

On the other hand, Arab-Americana have had their loyalty questioned, despite the fact that 66 percent of all Arab-Americans support America's position in the war. "I'm an American, and I feel everything we're doing is right," said Heather Haddad of Jackson, Miss.

But religion divides Arab-Americans, just as it does all Americans. Whereas 77 percent of all Christian Arabs support the war, only 36 percent of Moslem Arabs do. Among all Americans, those same religious divisions are replicated among Catholics, Jews (where support is highest) and Protes-tants, especially black Protestants where support is lowest. For centuries, members of various religious groups have grappled with the concepts of "double consciousness." or dual loyalty. The double consciousness of Arab-Americans is similar to the two-fold tug of love exercised by American Jews for Israel, blacks for Nelson Mandela and Poles for Poland. But for Arab-Americans, that two-fold tug has not been permitted to operate.

Multi-ethnic silence on this issue indicts all Americans, just as their multi-ethnic outspokenness for Israel commends them.

JACK ANDERSON Animal aid chief lives 'good life'

WASHINGTON - John Hoyt, president of the Humane Society of the United States, once told the society's animal lovers how they could become more humane: "We begin, I suggest, by living more simply, more sparingly."

Hoyt lives in a $310,000 house bought by the Humane Society, using money that donors gave for prevention of cruelty to animals.

The California At-torney General's Office is now taking a look at that perk and other curious finan-cial decisions made by the national animal protection agency based in Washington, D.C. After reviewing

A judge's recent refusal to impose a minimum prison term of 17½ years on a drug offender, as required by federal guidelines, is only the latest episode in a mounting dispute over mandatory sentences and judicial discretion.

U.S. District Judge Harold H. Greene, sitting in Washington, D.C., felt the mandatory sentence was too harsh for a defendant convicted of selling only one tablet of the drug Dilaudid.

Judge Greene ruled the stiff sentence was contrary to the Eighth Amendment's prohibition against cruel and unusual punish-ment. Noting 80 tablets of Dilaudid have the narcotic effect of a single gram of crack cocaine, the judge found an "enormous disparity" between the crime and the specified penalty.

Under the sentencing rules, however, other relevant factors had to be taken into account. As it happened, this minor drug transaction was the defendant's sixth felony offense. He earlier had been convicted twice of armed robbery and once each of jumping bail. distributing heroin and illegally possessing a prescription drug. Altogether, this added up to a mandatory prison terms of 171/2 years to 2115 years, according to the sentencing guidelines.

Congress created the sentencing rules because of widespread concern expressed by prosecutors and defense attorneys alike over huge disparities in sentences handed down for similar crimes. The 1984 Comprehensive Crime Control Act established the U.S. Sentencing Commission, which drafts the sentencing rules and revises them annually. The guidelines, which are extremely detailed and overly complicated, rank federal crimes in severity from 1 to 43. Such factors as a prior criminal record or parole violations add points to a sentence. Such factors as a clean record or cooperation with law en-forcement authorities lessen a sentence. Once the points are totaled, judges set a sentence within the established parameters. Sentences outside the parameters - like the three-year term Judge Greene imposed in the Dilaudid case - require a formal explanation and constitute grounds for appeal by either the prosecutor or defendant. Under the old system, nearly half of all convicted criminals were not even sentenced to prison. Of those who were, most served little more than half their time before being paroled.

In the seven months since Saddam Hussein invaded Kuwait. Arab.Americans have been exposed to a double irony. On the one hand, they have become the collective new "invisible man."

Arab Americans have been e::posed to a double irony.

Data compiled by the U.S. Sentencing Commission show that the 1984 law has had its intended effect of both lengthening prison terms and making sentences more uniform.

But it also has built in a number of inequities that did not exist before. The criticisms voiced by judges are not without foundation. In fact, there are several aspects of the guidelines themselves that need to be reformed.

The Dilaudid case raises one problem --namely, that drug offenses are treated far more severly than any other crime on the books short of murder.

No matter how egregious the offense, a prosecutor can cut a deal with a defendant. perhaps to acquire information that might lead to the arrest of outer criminals. By reducing the number of charges filed against a defendant, the prosecutor can shorten his sentence significantly, because the number of charges figures in the federal calculations. Under such circumstances, the prosecutor effectively imposes the sentence rather than the judge. This perpetuates the kind of disparity in sentencing that the reforms were intended to eliminate.

These shortcomings of the sentencing reforms appear to run afoul of the constitutional guarantee of equal protection under the law. They need to be addressed promptly by the U.S. Sentencing Commission, which was delegated broad powers by Congress to set the length of sentences.

If the commission acts to bring drug sentences in line with other crimes, curb the discretion of prosecutors to cut deals with crably, judges may find the guidelines far more palatable. defendants, and streamline the rules consid-

Future depends on opportunity

NOTE: The month of February is designated as "African-American History Month." To mark the 1991 observances, here is the conclusion of "The African-American Experience," a series produced by Newspaper Enterprise Association.

"Separate but equal" suffered a crushing defeat in 1954 when the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in Brown vs. Board of Education that American public schools could no longer be segregated by race. Blacks rejoiced, while many white Southern-ers sought ways to neutralize the decision.

Schools closed to avoid desegregation, and white citizens' councils were organized to resist the court. Violence ensued in Arkansas when mobs sought to prevent integration at Little Rock's Central High.

Flushed with the Brown decision, Afri-can-Americans took to the streets in massive displays of civil disobedience to desegregate lunch counters, bus and rail terminals and department-store dining areas. Supported by white volunteers, the civil-rights leadership. led by Martin Luther King Jr., filled Southern jails in their efforts to bring true equality to all

By the mid-'80s militants such as Stolely Carmichesi, dissuinfed with the slow pace of African-American gains, were crying out for black power, and younger blacks were turning to the flery rhetoric of Malcolm X and the Black Panther Party.

The continuing struggle over civil rights coincided with America's involvement in the Vietnem War. Initially, a vast majority sup-perted American participation. In 1967, how-ever, King declared that the war was immoral, and the inte '60s were characterized by young people taking to the streets in opposition to the war.

Meanwhile, African-Americans served in disproportionate numbers, and young blacks complained that, unlike middle-class whites, they did not have the luxury of draft they did not have the luxury of grant deferments. Returning soldiers found no cheering crowds or meaningful jobs. Bene continued drug habits picked up in Asis. Many have argued that the war in Vietnam and the government's neglect of urban pro-blems led to major rebellions by urban blacks. Rioting also erupted when an measury's bullet killed King in 1968.

Shocked by urban riots and the prospect that America was rapidly developing into two societies — one while and prosperous, the other black and poor — the federal government developed a program of affirmative action. In recent years, affirmative action has come under attack and it is viewed by some as reverse racism. African-Americans have argued that without affirmative action they will be denied opportunities to enter the maintream. Affirmative action has also been criticized for not addressing the needs of members of the nation's underclass, who seem permanently trapped in poverty. Stung by white hostility, more African-Americans are reviving the self-help philosophy of their 19th century forebears, and eliciting community support for constructing housing and developing jobs. The civil-rights movement not only developed leadership, it led to demands for greater political participation. Buoyed by the 1955 Voting Rights Act and feelings of racial solidarity, blacks turned to electoral politics and have scored impressive victories in mayoral elections.

arting with the 1987 victories of Richard Hatcher in Gary, Ind., and Carl Stokes in Cleveland, blacks went to to win mayoral Cleveland, blacks went to to win mayoral elections in Chicago, New Orleans, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and New York. If they believe those opportunities exist, there is hope that Americane of good will will find solutions to a problem that undermines the future growth of this country. Failure to address these concerns may lead to what the novelist James Baldwin declared in "The Fire Next Time":

The first of two internal reports said that a series of "self-dealing" transactions by the charity had benefited Hoyt and the society's vice president and treasurer, Paul Irwin. The big-ticket item was Hoyt's house, which the society bought and lets him live in rent-free. Since our initial reports, six members of the Humane Society board were not invited to stay on when their terms expired. One former member told us that all of the rejects had questioned the way the Humane Society spent its money.

After our first reports in 1968, instead of cleaning house the Humane Society hired a consultant for advice on how to handle "negative press." The consultant suggested that the society should have responded to our initial questions two years ago. Apparently that advice fell on deaf ears. The Humane Bociety's attorney did not respond to our questions this time around either. The latest rub at the Humane Bociety is the bitme of David Will Humane Bociety is the hiring of David Wills as vice president for investigations. In 1987, when Wills was running the Michigan Humane Society, Hoyt running the Michigan Humane Society, Hoyt tried to convince his board that the national society and the Michigan society should be merged. The national society is not tied to the many hard-working, independent state and local humane societies, and the merger with one state agency didn't make sense to the board, so it was vetoed.

Two years ago Wills left the Michigan agency in a financial condition that is still under investigation. Wills has since admitted that he lied about his educational background on his resume, which helped him to get that job. WASHINGTON - Three war correspondents told senators Wednesday that the Pentagon is denying the American public news about the Gulf War in ways never thought necessary in the history of major U.S. warfare.

The three, recently back from the Persian Gulf, were joined by former CBS anchorman Walter Cronkite in complaining about the Defense Department's refusal to allow reporters to go freely among U.S. forces and report what they see.

Cronkite advocated giving large numbers of journalists free access to the battlefront and subjecting them to military censorship - the method in use when he covered World War II as a young United Press correspondent.

'With a rational censorship system in place, the press should be free to go where it wants when it wants, to see, hear and photograph what it believes is in the public interest," Cronkite said.

Pentagon spokesman Pete Williams rejected Cronkite's proposal. He said modern, swift warfare makes it impossible to tell 1,400 reporters, photographers and technicians in the gulf 'y'all come to the battlefield.'

Williams and the journalists took their places before the Senate Committee on Governmental Affairs, which conducted a one-day inquiry into how Pentagon regulations are working.

In acidic testimony, the three gulf reporters said the Defense Department has perverted the pool system set up in the aftermath of the Grenada and Panama invasions. Under that system, a small group of reporters is allowed to cover the news and shares its reporting with those left behind.

Malcolm W. Browne of The New York Times. Cragg Hines of the Houston Chronicle and Frank Aukofer of The Milwaukee Journal said the system was

The mail received by the White House correspondence section reflects the diversity of feelings about the war, but officials decline to categorize them. NEW YORK - They've seen the war, and now many Americans want to read the book. That's why four paperbacks about the Persian Gulf region lead next week's New York Times best-seller list.

No. 1 is "From Beirut to Jerusalem" by Thomas L. Friedman of The New York Times, a paperback best seller since it was published last which came out in hardcover long before Iraq invaded Kuwait, the Miller-Mylrole collaboration was "an instant book" designed to capitalize on the gulf crisis. It was written in less than three weeks and published in October after a week's production work.

Dropping one place to No. 2 on the paperback list is "Saddam Hussein and the Crisis in the Gulf." by Judith Miller, a former Times Middle East correspondent, and Laurie Mylroie of Harvard University's Center for Middle Eastern Studies.

About 825,000 copies have been printed. Annik LaFarge of Times Books said that sales appear to be slowing, but "I've said that before, and we're still getting 4.000 to 5.000 reorders (from sellers) a week." No. 3 is "Not Without My Daughter" by Betty Mahmoody with William Hoffer, the story of an American woman held captive in Iran by a hostile husband. The book was first published in paperback in 1988 and became "a sleeper that just kept selling." said Maureen O'Neal. assistant publisher at St. Martin's Press. By last year it had sold 400,000 copies. Another 600,000 copies were shipped out last month to meet demand generated by a movie based on the book.

Current events have helped sales, as well. "The book helps bring the war home on a personal level," said O'Neal.

No. 4 on the Times list is "The Rape of Kuwait," by Jean P. Sasson. Knightsbridge Publishing in Los Angeles says it has published 1.3 million copies of the book, and publicizes it with the line, "Read it and you'll know why we're there."

Sasson, an American who lived in Kuwait for 12 years. interviewed numerous exiled Kuwaliis for the book, which is particularly critical of Iraqi President Saddam Hussein.

Moving onto the list at No. 10 is "Armageddon, Oil and the Middle East Crisis," an examination of the Biblical prophesies of

The U.S. grows and Americans move

Central Florida surges ahead

By TIM BOVEE Associated Press Writer

13

WASHINGTON - Americans flocked to big metropolitan areas near the nation's coasts in the 1980s, at the expense of the heartland, census figures show.

The Orlando area, Including Seminole County, was one of only two metropolitan areas to grow by more than 40 percent during the 1980s, the fastest in the nationthe data showed. The Orange, Osceola and Seminole countles area is now in the top 40 of U.S. population centers.

The pattern reflected the economic shift from manufacturing to service economies and the appeal of such Sun Belt states as California, Texas and Florida. Census Bureau figures released Wednesday show that 90 percent of America's urban centers got bigger in the 1980s.

Source: Bureau of the Censul

Nearly 12 percent of the people in America moved within a county — the most frequent kind of move — during the year ending in March 1987. Making such short-distance moves were 10.5 percent of all U.S. whites; 13.9 percent of all U.S. blacks; and 17.6 percent of all U.S. Hispanics.

although most of that growth was in the suburbs, not the core citics.

And for the first time, more Americans live in big urban centers - those with 1 million people or more - than in smaller cities and rural locales.

There are 39 urban areas with a million or more residents. Those located within 100 miles of the Atlantic, Pacific or Gulf of Mexico grew by more than 14 percent in the 1980s.

The interior metro areas grew by B.6 percent.

The changing shape of the economy accounts for much of the growth on the coasts and the decline of the interlor, said William Frey, a research scientist at the University of Michigan Population Studies Center.

The interior cities depend on manufacturing and farming to carn a living and declined when those sectors fell on hard times in the 1980s. The crosion of auto-industry jobs in Detroit and the collapse of the steel industry in Pittsburgh are examples.

The coastal cities depend on the growing service economy financial services and the like and so grew.

The success of service industries also helps account for the concentration of Americans in the larger urban areas, said Tom Kingsley of the Urban Institute.

Service industries "have always been more concentrated in larger cities, so when the structure of the economy expands, it's not surprising the larger cities would grow more.' he said.

But more businesses are locating in the suburbs rather than downtown, and the core city has become just another shopping and office center among many, Kingsley said.

Five large metro areas lost population, all but one in the Midwest.

The Pittsburgh area's population declined by 7.4 percent to 2.2 million. Greater Buffalo, N.Y., was down 4.3 percent to 1.2 million; Cleveland, down 2.6 percent to 2.8 million; Detroit. down 1.8 percent to 4.7 million: and New Orleans, hurt by the oll bust, down 1.4 percent to 1.2 million.

New York and its suburbs remained the largest urban concentration, with 18.1 million

Greater Los Angeles ranked second at 14.5 million, up from 11.5 million in 1980 for a 26 percent gain.

The Chicago area was third at 8.1 million, a slim increase from 7.9 million in 1980.

In Florida, greater Orlando's population grew by 53.3 percent to 1.1 million, largely due to tourism jobs spawned by nearby Walt Disney World.

Jones, 57 dominates Grammys

By MARY CAMPBELL Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK - "Back on the Block." an ambitious recording project that interwove the musical virtues of a divergent group of artists from rappers to Sarah Vaughan, was named album of the year at the 33rd Annual Grammy Awards. With its magical journey to the worlds of Jazz, rap. rhythm and blues and pop. "Back on the Block" won eight Grammys altogether on Wednesday night, including six for composer-musician-producer-arranger Quincy Jones.

Phil Collins, who had been nominated for eight awards at the ccremony at Radio City Music Hall, won record of the year for his bleak song about the homeless, "Another Day in Paradise."

Mariah Carey, with her extensive vocal range, was named best new artist and best female pop vocalist for her slow-grind ballad "Vision of Love.

The late Roy Orbison was named best male pop vocalist for "Oh Pretty Woman." He was nominated for that song the first time he recorded it, in 1965, and didn't win, but did for its re-release on "A Black & White Night Live."

Song of the year honors went to Julie Gold for "From a Distance," a ballad recorded by Bette Midler. Midler also recorded last year's winning song. "Wind Beneath My Wings." Academy president Michael Greene, commenting on the song of the year, said the National Academy of Recording Arts & Sciences "ends up being a sentimental bunch of people when it comes to message songs. This song delivers a powerful social message and a message for peace; we're glad when they win.

Still, the night belonged to the 57-year-old Jones.

Besides album of the year. Jones won non-classical producer of the year; best jazz fusion performance for the LP's "Birdland" track; best arrangement of an instrumental for "Birdland"; best instrumental arrangement accompanying vocals, for "Birdland"; and best rap performance by a duo or group for the title track, along with Ice-T. Melle Mel, Big Daddy Kane, Kool Moe Dee and Quincy D. 111.

Ray Charles and Chaka Khan won best rhythm 'n' blues by a vocal duo or group for "I'll Be Good to You." a track on "Back on the Block." The LP's engineer, Bruce Swedien, received the engineering award for a non-classical album.

After his triumph, Jones met backstage with reporters and said, "I don't take it for granted. ... I've lost many times. It feels better to win."

Collins told reporters that he'd been consoling himself that it was good to be nominated then said, with relief. "It was very nice to come out with one." Jones said "Back on the Block" took six or seven months to make but was 10 years late. "When you wait that long, you have to really dig down deep inside and make something you want to hear, yourself." he said.

GAINESVILLE - They say defense wins ball games.

On Wednesday night, the Seminole Community College Raiders proved this and moved to within one game of .500 in the Mid-Florida Conference with a 75-65 men's basketball win over the Santa Fe Community College Saints.

The victory not only clinched an overall winning record for SCC for the 25th consecutive year, but it also gave Head Coach Bill Payne his 200th win in just nine seasons as coach of the Raiders.

"Our defense won the game tonight," said Payne, who is now 200-94 in his nine seasons guiding the Raiders. "We're struggling so much on offense, our defense has been our offense.

The Raiders' tenancious second-half defense forced 13 Santa Fe turnovers and provided a flurry of easy baskets including several key buckets down the stretch.

Kennon, Seminoles romp ahead

From staff reports

ST. CLOUD - Koscia Kennon's at it again.

Kennon, senior shooting star of the Seminole High School girls' basketball team, has a reputation for kicking her game, up a notch come tournament time. Last year, she averaged 17 points per game in the post-season tournaments after averaging between 13 and 14 a game during the regular season.

On Wednesday night at St. Cloud High School, Kennon was one of two Seminoles to score 17 points as the Tribe romped to a 64-17 win over Kissimmee-Gateway in the first round of the 3A-District 6 tourney.

Seminole, seeded No. 1 in the tournament and ranked fifth in the most recent Florida Sportswriter' Association Class 3A state poll, will play Friday at 6:15 p.m. against the winner of tonight's Edgewater-Jones game. Should they get that far, the Seminole's would probably meet St. Cloud (seeded second and ranked eighth in the state) in Saturday's 7:30 p.m. championship game. Against Gateway (1-20), Kennon was one of nine different Seminole players that scored. Kayla Alex-ander also scored 17 points for the Tribe, who raced out to a 30-2 lead after one quarter.

LAKE MARY - The new director of the Seminole County YMCA. Ed Thomas, is looking ahead with great hopes for a market improvement this year in the programs offered for children, adults and seniors. Thomas has been director at the local YMCA since January 3 of this year. He came from Daytona Beach where he had been serving as director at Camp Winons.

While he is happy with the present offerings at the YMCA. he has a number of projects underway that will afford area residents with many more benefits.

"Right now," he said, "we are involved in a large scale after school program called "Prime Time" with 501 members involved in activities at 15 local elementary schools."

The YMCA is heading this program which helps with homework as well as getting the children involved in games and various sports. "We're also going well in the more awareness of what the Youth Sports Program at the YMCA has to offer to local people. He has served as guest speaker on that subject for a number of clubs recently, and plans to continue spreading the word.

"I want to tell everyone what the YMCA is, and what it can do for the community," he said. stressing that he means, "the entire community including all cities and rural areas in Seminole County."

Within two to three years, he hopes the building will have full facilities including a new gym. and three multi-purpose areas instead of one. He also is working on a pre-school day care program for children aged 2 through 10.

"For the adults," he said, "we're working with wellness and fitness programs that deal with a variety of subjects in-cluding diets and health."

These programs are offered through the cooperation of area hospital personnel who are helping in instructions and classes.

Thomas is also proud of the work presently going on or planned for the future at area schools such as the planned programs for Lawton Elementabe going to a year-round school operation in July of this year. With students having 15 day periods open between terms at various time of the year, the YMCA is working on special programs to deal with their needs.

At the present time, the Seminole County YMCA has a membership association of 1,739 families, which are estimated to total roughly 3,400 adults and children. Overall, the membership list includes anyone who has ever signed up for memberships or non-member courses, and totals 10,648 members.

Three times each year, this YMCA produces a publication showing all of the up-coming courses that are and will be available, and all the details about registration and attendance. These are currently being sent to over 12,000 area people. but are also available at the YMCA office. The next issue will be ready for release by March.

The Seminole County branch of the YMCA is located at 665 Longwood Lake Mary Road, south of Lake Mary High School.

DEAR ABBY: Guite some time ago, you published a letter from someone who had lost his mother or father and had failed to communicate his love to them. Then it was too late.

I want you to know that I benefited from that letter and your response. Recently, I lost my mother. She was only 69 and died of a heart attack. She was such a sweetheart. Thanks to you, my sadness was not due to guilt, because for the last 10 or 12 years of her life I telephoned her regularly, wrote letters from time to time and remembered

DEAR ABBY: I am the most brokenhearted person in the world. I could always find the time to go everywhere else, but never time to visit Mom and Dad. They sat at home and loved me just the same. It's too late now to give them those few hours of happiness I was too selfish and busy to give.

when a telephone rings. you have to run to answer it! I am a physician. and I've had a number of people come to my office due to injuries they have recived when they tripped and fell while running to answer the telephone. I say, if the phone rings while you're busy, let the blasted thing ring - if it's really important, the party will call back.

The other issue: Many lives could be saved if everyone including housewives - knew how to do CPR. One never knows when a friend or family member will black out or have a heart attack. Mot American Red Cross chapters offer excellent courses for home and workplace emergency care.
