ORLANDO MURDER SEEMS HIDDEN MYSTERY THUS FAR.

ORLANDO, Aug. 3.—It was with a revolver owned by Lena Clarke that Fred A. Miltmore was killed in Miss Clarke's room on the third floor of the San Juan hotel here Monday night. The woman, who is postmistress at West Palm Beach, stoutly denies that she shot Miltmore, who was owner of a restaurant here. She claims that she merely drugged him and left him "asleep" in the room, to which she had invited him, while she went to the police station to report to Chief of Police Ed. Vestel that Miltmore was in her room, drugged, and she thought that if the police searched him they would find evidence to connect him with the theft of $32,000 from registered mail in the West Palm Beach postoffice. That robbery occurred last Thursday.

When the police went to the room about an hour and a half later they found Miltmore lying on the floor dead, a bullet through his heart, and the pistol, which the woman admits is hers, was lying on the bed. There was no sign of the missing $32,000, but two empty registered mail pouches, in which it is said the money had been sent, were found in the room; also a registered letter envelope, was found. As a result of the coroner's inquest Miss Clarke is being held in the county jail here on a charge of murder, and H. H. Patterson, a garage man of West Palm Beach, who brought her to Orlando in his automobile and acted as her messenger to summon Miltmore to her room, is held as an accessory before the fact.

This is probably the most tangled crime case ever arising in Orange county and its details are the subject of rife speculation on the streets today. Miss Clarke arrived here Monday afternoon from West Palm Beach, having hired Patterson to drive her over. She paid him $100 for the trip. She brought no baggage and registered at the San Juan as "Mrs. Henry Wilson, Atlanta, Ga."

Shortly after registering at the hotel she sent Patterson to Miltmore with a note, asking him to call on her. This Miltmore did. The room is on the top floor of the hotel, and there were no other occupants of this floor that night. This fact probably accounts for no one hearing the report of the pistol.

Miss Clarke admits that the pistol found in her room was her own and that she left it in the room after she claimed to have drugged Miltmore in order to hold him for the police. She conferred with Police Chief Ed. Vestel about 8 o'clock Monday night. She told Vestel that she had Miltmore in her room, drugged and that he was guilty of the mail robbery. She described a registered letter, stolen from one of the pouches, which she said he had in his possession. She had the key to her room, which she gave to Vestel.

When officers reached the room, about 9:30 o'clock the lights were off and they found Miltmore dead on the floor, a bullet from a .32-calibre Smith & Wesson revolver having passed entirely through his body. He wore no coat when he visited the room. His spectacles were lying on the bed as was the pistol, Miss Clarke's handbag and her keys. Attached to the key ring was a gold knife. The empty mail bags were on the floor near the body. The seals were intact, the canvas having been cut, apparently with a short-bladed knife.

When officers reported to Chief Vestel that Miltmore was dead, Miss Clarke, who was in the chief's office, was placed under arrest. Patterson, who was in the car in which they made the trip, also was arrested. They were placed in the city jail. Miss Clarke retained E. W. Davis as counsel and requested Attorney Schillingworth of West Palm Beach to come here also to represent her. Patterson is not represented by counsel.

GARAGE EMPLOYEE HEARD REPORT OF GUN.

(By The Associated Press)
ORLANDO, Aug. 3.—The only new development in the Miltmore killing case here today was a statement by an employee of a garage near the hotel, who said at 8 o'clock 30 the night of the killing he heard a report of a gun and an outcry as if someone had been wounded. The time of the gun report as told by the clerk was a short time previous to that at which Miss Clarke called upon the police to tell her story. She continued to maintain silence today upon advice of counsel.

TWO HELD AS AFTERMATH OF WELCH KILLING

(By The Associated Press)
WELCH, W. VA., Aug. 3.—Two men are being held today for the killing of Sid Hatfield and W. R. Chambers, residents of Matewan, W. Va., shot here yesterday shortly before the former was to appear in circuit court to answer to a charge of being the instigator of the shooting of several detectives at Matewan two years ago. It is expected they will be turned over to the state. Through his name and the romance attached to his participation in Matewan in May, 1920, in which 10 men were killed, his death was of sufficient significance to bring comment from Gov. E. F. Morgan and from J. F. Kenney, president of district 17, United Mine Workers of America.

Gov. Morgan expressed his regret that the killings had occurred, and Kenney termed the act as murder. C. E. Lively, a Baldwin-Felts detective, and George Buster Spence, a Nowell county deputy sheriff, were the two men held for the five arrested in connection with the case. Chambers and Hatfield testified before the senate committee investigating the trouble in the West Virginia coal fields.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Seven former White Sox players and two alleged gamblers tried in the baseball scandal case today stood legally cleared of any connection with the alleged conspiracy for the White Sox to throw the 1919 world's series to Gincinnati, the jury last night having found them not guilty on the first ballot. Attorneys for the prosecution today had little to say of the case but the defense pointed to the fact that only one ballot was taken by the jury as absolute vindication of defendants.

PHOTOGRAPH PROVES IT

Mrs. H. L. Wiltoughy of Philadelphia, who was formerly Miss Fuller of Milwaukee, is a real fisherlady. Down in Florida recently she caught a tarpon weighing 100 pounds, and which measured 5 feet and 8 inches.

It is well to take a trip over Seminole county at least once each month and to see the many places of interest, to note the progress of the various sections of the county and to see the many great improvements that are being made. The editor of the Herald visited Geneva and Chuluota in a flying trip Monday and he wishes most heartily that he had time to spend a month in the hills of Northeast Seminole where the Econlockhatchie is fed from the crystal streams that come from the hills and flows on swiftly toward Puzzlo Lake and the upper St. Johns river, where the beautiful clear water lakes vie with the tropical foliage and the fruits and flowers and where for many years a happy and contented people have made their homes hewing out their fortunes from the wild and rugged wilderness and now living to enjoy the fruits of their labors and their victory over the forest primeval.

Geneva and Chuluota and other favored spots in Seminole county, are not experiments in farming and fruit growing. They have the goods and can show them. Inhabited by a happy and contented people who have lived there for many years these fine homes and farms and hustling little cities demonstrate what the soil yield where it is worked by experienced farmers and stock men. The merchants in this section all sing a song of prosperity. They are the barometers of trade conditions in their respective bailiwicks and they have had one of the best seasons in their history. The farmers have had a good season and with the growers of citrus fruits are looking forward to a better one in 1921 and 22.

Joined with a fine system of good roads and with future developments contemplated that will give Geneva and Chuluota an outlet east and west to ocean and gulf, with a good road to Sanford and many lateral roads that will be built later the transportation question is settled. With the splendid fishing on the upper St. Johns river, the clear water lakes and the rivers, with beautiful Lake Harnoy all teeming with fish, with the forests filled with game, there is no reason why tourists should not make this part of Florida the most popular in the state. For the man who would raise stock, who would grow fruits and vegetables, who would carry on general farming and poultry raising there is no better place in the state. For the seeker of health who would get away from the crowded places and want nature's solitudes in the high and dry hills and piney woods, where pure water and health giving breezes are there for the seeking, there is no better place in the south.

Away from the beaten path perhaps, not known to many strangers as yet, but once seen never to be forgotten, this northeastern part of Seminole county holds out inducements to the tourists and the homeseeker that will at some time in the near future cover the land with fine homes and farms and growing villages and cities.

And Sanford and the Herald are proud of these "wonder places" in our county. We intend to get in closer touch and keep in closer touch with them in the future. They are the best assets to this city because they offer so many inducements in pleasure and profit. They are our best assets because they are peopled with the class of citizens who believe in good homes and good farms and good groves and good stock; and with the class of citizens who take a pride in their own section and in the whole of Seminole county. The Herald will have more about Seminole county in future issues.

FLORIDA LEADS IN GRAPEFRUIT

CALIFORNIA, HOWEVER, GOES INTO LEAD IN ORANGE SHIPMENT

A statement has just been issued from the office of the Association of Railway Executives which shows that more citrus fruit, with the exception of lemons, has been shipped from California and Florida to date this season, despite the increased freight rates, than during the corresponding period last season. The statement shows Florida approximately 10,000 cars behind California both last season and this in orange shipments, and approximately 10,000 cars ahead of the far-west state in shipments of grapefruit.

California shipped 25,608 cars of oranges in the 1920 season to June 1 and 29,950 cars to June 1, 1921. Florida shipped 15,092 cars of oranges to June 1, 1920, and 18,782 cars to June 1, 1921. Total orange shipments to June 1, 1920, was 40,700, and in the present season to June 1 was 48,782 cars. Grapefruit shipments from California for the year ending June 1, 1920, were 316 6cars, and for Florida 8,945 cars. Grapefruit shipments for California to June 1, 1921, fell to 243 cars, while the Florida shipments in the same season increased to 10,490 cars.

Florida's increased shipments, despite the freight advances are explained by Florida men as due to many acres of groves planted before the freight advances. Local citrus men say a larger proportionate waste of citrus fruits is taking place now than ever before because of the increased freight rates.—Tampa Times.

KILLING AT ORLANDO HAS PECULIAR PHASES, RESTAURANT MAN VICTIM

the police, that he had some loot on him. She spoke of a registered letter which was later found near the body. This letter was one of those stolen from the mail pouch.

Not at first believing the woman's story, Chief Vestel called up the postal authorities investigating the robbery at West Palm Beach, and they identified the woman as the postmistress at that place. It was around 10 o'clock before the officers sent to get the man whom the woman's story claimed had been drugged. They received orders from Chief Vestel to make the arrest if the man was able to be brought to the jail and if not for one of them to remain with the man until he could be moved. When they entered the room it was a corpse they found.

Following the finding of the body, County Judge Smith was summoned, and a coroner's jury empaneled immediately. Its verdict after repairing to the scene of the crime and examining into the details of the finding of the body, was that Miltmore had met his death at the hands of parties unknown, and held the Clarke woman on a charge of murder. Baxter Lee, the chauffeur who drove the woman to Orlando, is held as an accessory before the fact.

According to the reports of the robbery which occurred last Tuesday the woman involved in the case has held the position of postmistress in that city for a number of years. She is about thirty-five years of age and is the daughter of a clergyman.

Miltmore came to Orlando about two months ago, and purchased the Arcade restaurant in this city. Up until about a year ago, he worked as a postal employe in the West Palm Beach postoffice. It was stated that he was in Palm Beach during the time the robbery occurred and that he only returned to Orlando yesterday.

TAMPA, August 2.—Investigation of the finding of the body of W. H. Miltmore with a bullet through his heart in an Orlando hotel last night is running in two well defined channels according to telephone advices received here. One theory is that he took his own life when he awakened and found he was discovered and definitely connected with the robbery of the West Palm Beach postoffice and another is that Miss Clarke, postmistress, held here in connection with his death, believed he would escape or that she would be unable to get the money from him so killed him.

LAKE WEIR.—The level of the water in Lake Weir is higher this season than at any time since 1887 and 1888, according to old residents, who declare that in those two years it reached the highest mark they had ever known. The club house on the east side of the lake is seriously threatened by the water. During the rise in 1887 and 1888 the Florida Southern railroad dug a small canal to carry off surplus water and it is hoped that the canal, which still is in existence, will perform the same service this season, if the lake rises to a dangerous level.

SHIPPING BY WATER NOT SO FAR DISTANT WITH MANY NEW IDEAS

generator. The New Era has only an electric motor, the current for which is supplied by the generator in the Dawn and conveyed by a cable.

The inventor of the new scheme referred with some sentiment to the fact that Robert Fulton's first steamboat, the Clermont, started out from the same piers off the Battery on her history making voyages. Pointing out that Fulton did not create anything but merely applied what had already been discovered, Mr. Donnelly said that he, too, had followed the same lead. The two boats slipped their moorings at 4 o'clock and proceeded up the river. Early this morning they will start for Oswego, on Lake Ontario.

Mr. Donnelly said that his idea is that of having a floating power station from which other craft having nothing other than motors installed in them might get their current. The practical application of this idea will revolutionize operations on the barge canals and inland waterways, he predicted. He pointed out that it would be a very easy matter to build five barges of 200 tons capacity each to be supplied with power by a cable running from a generator on the power boat. No barges of this type have been constructed thus far, the inventor said, but expressed the belief that they could be propelled economically under the patented arrangement.

The Dawn, with the generator installed in her, follows the New Era, which has only a motor. The New Era, however, is not solely dependent upon her consort as she has a large storage battery which will drive her motor. By this arrangement towing fees in port may be done away with. Mr. Donnelly said that the two ships had already made a voyage in Schenectady and one to Brunswick, Ga., on which he had sailed 3,000 miles and had gone out to sea 250 miles. The two ships on a tandem arrangement are able to make a speed of 9 knots.

The advantages of the floating central power station are that the boats are so much more easily controlled, obtain a cheap power supply and can operate safely on waters that are not navigable to other barges. It was noticed that there is virtually no vibration on the New Era when running. The boat can be operated more easily than an automobile, he said, as she is steered in the same manner and all speeds, both forward and reverse, may be attained by merely moving a control on the indicator. If barges are built they can be operated by men with no more training than a street car motorman has, Mr. Donnelly said.

"My invention, which will place the power plant in one vessel with others in convoy to carry the freight, is based on the same theory by which a central station on the land supplies current to hundreds of electric trains," he said by way of explanation. "It means increased efficiency and lower costs. Boats operating under the system will be able to make a trip through the New York Barge Canal in shorter time than required by a freight train for the same journey across New York State.

"I think that a 200-ton barge is the ideal size. It would be possible for a line of barges operating under the new system to deliver carload lots of high class freight from Schenectady in twenty-four hours, whereas the railroads require seven days for the same service."

GAINESVILLE.—A memorial tablet to the memory of Haisley Lynch, only Gainesville soldier killed in action in the world war, was unveiled in the First Presbyterian church here Sunday, the gift of Haisley Lynch Post of the American Legion. Members of the legion and other former service men attended the ceremony in a body. Haisley Lynch was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Lou Lynch of this city and a nephew of Capt. George M. Lynch, city superintendent of schools at St. Petersburg. His body was returned from France and buried here two weeks ago.

According to the Miami Metropolis, contractors are now making up their bids for the construction of the new steel and concrete theatre for J. H. Bradshaw and associates. The theatre is to be built at the corner of East Flagler street and Third avenue, and from the drawings and specifications it appears that this will be a very handsome and commodious amusement place. It is to be fire-proof and of size to accommodate the largest road shows. The plans for seating, ventilation and other details are complete and interesting.

According to a report in the West Palm Beach Post, the tomato season is about over for that section, and while the growers were very much disappointed because of unfavorable weather, at a most critical time, some made money and most others did not lose any. ## ENTERTAINS BRIDGE CLUB.

A delightful social event of yesterday was the bridge party given last evening by Mrs. W. C. Hill, at her home on Fourth street, when she entertained the members of the Evening Bridge Club, with her usual charm and cordiality.

A profusion of roses and petunias were used in decorating, baskets and vases of these lovely blossoms adorning the rooms where the card tables were arranged.

The card game proved most interesting and very attractive prizes were awarded. Mrs. Sam Puleston, making high score among the ladies was given two lovely Maderia handkerchiefs, a knife, given for high score among the men was won by Col. Knight.

Refreshments consisting of chicken salad, olives, saltines, and ice cream were served at the conclusion of the card game, and punch was served throughout the evening.

Among the guests enjoying this lovely party were, Col. and Mrs. Geo. Knight, Dr. and Mrs. S. Puleston, Mrs. D. L. Thrasher, Dr. Ralph Stevens, Judge and Mrs. E. F. Householder, Mr. R. E. Newman, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Roumillat, Miss Pattys Aycock and Mr. W. C. Hill.

HEADS SECURITIES COMPANY HELD AS LEADERS IN CRIME.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—A score of indictments returned Saturday and disclosed today by the arrest of two of the indicted men are declared by John V. Clinnit, assistant United States district attorney, to clear up mail robberies throughout the country aggregating nearly $6,000,000. Names of the other eighteen are withheld pending their apprehension.

The men arrested were John R. Worthington, president, and Owen T. Evans, vice-president Central Securities Co., of Chicago. This securities company, it is charged by government authorities, was used for the disposal of securities obtained in robberies, including liberty bonds which, it is alleged, were altered to make them saleable.

Mr. Clinnit declared that the ramifications of the plot to dispose of alleged stolen securities extended throughout the nation.

Among the mail robberies which the authorities declare Worthington and his associates have been connected with are:

Toledo, Feb. 17, 1921, $1,000,000.

Pullman, Ill., Aug. 30, 1920, $100,000.

Dearbon Street Station, Chicago, April 6, 1921, $350,000.

Centerville, Ia., March 22, 1921, $92,000.

In addition the recent disappearance of $3,000,000 worth of Sinclair Oil stock in New York is being investigated in connection with today's arrests.

ST. PETERSBURG—In an effort to minimize accidents on the municipally owned street car lines of this city, R. E. Ludwig, director of utilities, has just put into effect a bonus system under which motormen are given optional cash rewards or vacations for working stipulated periods without an accident. The motormen are arranged into two groups, those employed all the year and those who work only during the tourist season. In the former group a motorman going one year without an accident would receive $50 cash or a ten days vacation; eight months, $40 or eight days vacation, and four months $30 or six days vacation. Motormen working during the four months of the tourist season would receive $30 should they have no accident during that time. Mr. Ludwig says he believes the plan will not only tend to minimize accidents, but encourage a careful handling of the cars which will reflect in the cost of maintaining the equipment. During the past two years, 1,228 accidents, both serious and of minor nature have occurred, he says.

The business men of Sanford need to take a trip over Seminole county.

It would open their eyes to the wonderful possibilities of one of the best counties in the state.

And they would learn much to their advantage about the people who are expecting Sanford to help them become greater.

Yes, Pauline, it was hot last night. We hate to admit it, but the truth will prevail, and so will August weather. However, we can console ourselves with the thought that it is much hotter in other places than in Florida.

Everybody go out to Silver Lake Thursday and help the Boy Scouts in their work of clearing up and cleaning up the camp. The more you do for the boys the more they will do for you and your city in the years to come.

"Senator Fletcher says Ft. Marion is in no danger," says headlines in Jacksonville Metropolis. We are glad to hear that. We were afraid the Seminole Indians would sneak up on it some time in the night and take it. Ft. Florida is in danger also.

How unexpected comes death. The Gainesville Sun had a picture of Enrico Caruso recovering from his recent illness in one part of the paper and the announcement of his death on the front page. It just shows that a man could die while going from the front page to the third page of a newspaper.

Under the Republican tariff arrangements the home people will pay big prices for everything while the same articles will be sold much cheaper in Canada and South American countries where they have to compete with foreign manufacturers. That is, if the red blooded American citizen will stand for this hold up. Times have changed since the Republicans tried this before and people are doing some thinking along the lines of better government. And if we decide to change things we can do just that.

FLORIDA'S PROSPERITY.

The prosperity of this state is something to accept with gratitude rather than with boastings. It is the result of peculiar conditions, relieving the state from the operation of the natural laws which have brought a wave of depression to practically the whole country outside of Florida.

There are no large manufacturing centers here. It is not a grain nor a cotton growing state. Price depressions in those staples have had little effect upon us, while the prices of our products have kept up and the stream of tourists, bringing perhaps a hundred million dollars a year, has not failed. Hence, Florida knows nothing except from hearsay about the business slump from which so many other places are suffering.

But loud talk is not in order. We are not prepared to say to the rest of the country, "come here and prosper," because we have not the facilities for taking care of any large addition to our population. We can not give jobs to the five million laborers out of employment, though we can note with satisfaction that there is no unemployment here. We can not make good the billion dollar loss which metal trades are suffering from idle men and machinery. We can't restore the value of the various industrial stocks which are going down day by day on the stock exchange.

The plain, undeniable fact is that this country today, in common with the rest of the world, is feeling the weight of "hard times," and the administration, which assumed authority on the Fourth of March, with the promise of correcting all existing defects, is proving itself utterly powerless to cope with the situation.

The country is groaning under high costs of living; and congress is moving heaven and earth to impose a tariff designed to make the cost still higher. Business staggering under tax burdens, while congress is searching with a microscope for new subjects to tax. Interchange of domestic products is weighed with oppressive freight rates, and all we can hear is proposals for still further rate increases. Practically every public service utility in the country has raised its rates within the last eighteen months, and not one has reduced them.

That Florida has remained prosperous is true, and Floridians should be profoundly grateful to Providence that it is so; but we have no guarantee that such a condition will continue if the rest of the country is unrelieved. It is no time to play the ostrich. Things must be looked squarely in the fact. If tariff duties are piled up to the Fordney standard, and the burden of internal taxes augmented by many more hundreds of millions given to the railroads and the shipping board, while public service corporations are supported by the government in their exactions, Florida's turn will come.—Lakeland Telegram.

NOT GUILTY, MY LORD!

Commissioner of Agriculture Wm. A. McIne has the following to say about the famine and plague scare:

I enter the plea of "not guilty" for Florida in the charge that the South is threatened with famine and plague.

Florida has never known a "bread-line" or "starving period." She knows none now.

If there really is an unusual number of cases of pellagra in some of the southern states it is to be deplored, but states that do not have it should not be loosely classed with those that have it. There is no county of Florida that cannot produce green vegetables during each of the four seasons of the year, and fresh fruits can be secured, to say nothing of chickens, eggs, the finest fish known to man, besides beef and pork.

As it is claimed that pellagra is prevalent mainly in the rural districts in the states where it exists, it would seem that the department of agriculture would be apprised, of it if it existed in this state to any appreciable extent. Up to the present date not a case has been heard of at this office through any of the various avenues through which we keep in touch with the farmers of the state.

President Harding is to be applauded for his efforts to prevent the spread of disease or any other calamity that may overtake any section of the country. We hope that we may also applaud his interest in the economic and fair play for agriculture by his vetoing such items as the proposed tariff on potash which the farmer must use in his fertilizer to increase his yields. There is much greater need for potash in this country than there is need for an American trust on potash.

IT WAS JUST WHAT HE WANTED.

Some years ago Dr. Frank Crane told a story in one of his editorials about a farmer who had become tired of his farm. He had lived on the place all his life. He was born there. When a boy he drove the cows in from the field, gathered apples in the orchard, swam in the creek, and carried his books across the meadow and through the woods-pasture to the little box of a school house down the north road.

As a young man he plowed and harrowed in the spring, made hay and bound oats in the summer and hauled fodder to the cattle in the winter.

To the old home he had brought his bride. There his children were born that were now grown up and gone. He was sick of the place. He dreamed of some nice, quiet spot where conditions were ideal, where he could pass his declining days in comfort.

So he went to a real estate agent in town and listed his farm for sale. The agent drove out and looked the premises over. He said he thought he would have no difficulty in finding a purchaser, as the property seemed to be in fine condition.

When the farmer got the next week's issue of his county paper he read the real estate agent's advertisement. It stated that the Perkins farm, one hundred and sixty acres, was for sale. It was all fertile. A crop failure had never been known. There were forty acres of excellent timber, a good artesian well, plenty of pasture land, and a charming dwelling-house, with adequate barns, bins, and sheds. The place was well stocked with cattle, horses, pigs and poultry. It was of easy access to the city, and had telephone and rural free delivery advantages. Anyone looking for an ideal farm would do well to consult the agent at once.

The next day the farmer called at the agent's office and said:

"Say, I read your advertisement of my place in the paper, and as near as I can figure that's exactly the kind of farm I've been looking for. I'll keep it myself."

IT WILL PAY YOU.

Own your own home, and make it beautiful.

Nor does the making of a home beautiful square the expenditure of large sums of money. The really beautiful home is one that has the air of happiness about it, of flowers blooming, and of fresh cleanliness about the house and dooryard.

If you have been paying rent for the last ten years, what have you to show for your home-making? Could you not have spent the same amount of money and become an owner of your own property?

As one writer points out, "some people claim that after a person has paid the interest on borrowed money, the taxes and the insurance, his investment is not worth as much as if the difference between the rent and the expense of home-owning had been invested in a higher-interest paying proposition," but people who argue from that standpoint are placing no value at all upon the intangible and immeasurable value of the consciousness of ownership of one's home, says the Miami Metropolis.

In Miami, too, real estate increases in value so rapidly there is never any risk about home ownership. There is even a danger in another direction, the danger of property increasing in value so fast, the home-owner becomes a speculator with families living in a "temporary" fashion that destroys much of the finer part of home building, continues the Metropolis.

If instead of buying a lot on which to build a house to sell, young people beginning their married lives would buy a lot on which to build a home which only dire need would force them to sell, many dwellings in Miami would take on a different character, a sort of individuality speaking of permanence and content.

But even though you buy or build a house to sell, it is wise to own your own home. In the long run it will pay you to stint yourself in other ways in order that you may put your money into a home of your own.

JULY WEATHER

FAIRLY NORMAL.

Month Failed to Establish Any Unusual Record.

July was not particularly notorious for its weather, according to figures compiled by Weatherman W. J. Bennett. In many respects the 31 day period ending Sunday night was quite a normal one, with no records shattered and few extremes approached. Statistical fiends will get little satisfaction mulling over the figures given out by the local weather augur.

According to Meteorologist Bennett, the average temperature for the month was 80.7. Since July's average for the past 30 years is 81.2, it follows that the month just closed was cooler than might have been expected by about three pearly drops of perspiration. On only one day did it get "real warm, suh," which was July 9, when the column of mercury bubbled up to 94. The lowest was 68 on the night of the 23d.

Rainfall though reaching the rather high mark of 11.19 inches, which is some three inches above normal, missed the record by about four inches. In 1899 the weather bureau recorded a rainfall of 15.53 for July. As a figure that has not been approached since.

The year 1921 promises to be above normal in two respects. It has already proved wetter than the average year, having an excess rainfall of 1.83 inches since January 1. It also promises to be one of the warmest years on record, having already laid by an excess of 338 degrees since New Year's day was ushered in. This means that each day's temperature has been, on an average, 1.6 degrees warmer than that day had any business to be, if normal temperatures are considered.—Tampa Times.

AUTOMOBILE SIGNALS

Driving the one-horse shay or even a regular carriage, by whatever title it was called in the days that have passed, was something of an art. "Can you drive?" would be asked of a visitor, perhaps, and the cabmen and coachmen and drivers of teams and even single hitch would be expected to know the rules of the road and also to abide by them with dire results threatened if they violated them. But things are different now. Anybody drives an automobile and in many sections of the country there is yet no regulations requiring an understanding of the powerful engine that moves the car. Some states require all drivers to pass an examination and secure a license; Florida allows the pet dog to take the wheel if the owner of the car feels disposed to trust it—but at that we have only a fair amount of trouble and fewer accidents than in some parts of the country. Maybe our comparative immunity is an account of generally having lots of room, and then again it may be that we take things easier than the nervous North or West or East.

The Baltimore American printed a list of signals the other day that are good anywhere, and probably are known to most car owners. But as the owners let the neighbor's girls and boys run the car and all that it will not do a bit of harm to print the rules over again. For the general good and without suggesting that most people do not already know and observe them, the American's article on the subject is reprinted:

"Proper signals are not acts of courtesy—they are absolutely vital to safety.

"The driver behind you is not a mind reader, and every driver should guard his own safety and that of other drivers by following signals:

"1.—When pulling away from the curb.

"2.—When turning at intersections.

"3.—When turning in street.

"4.—When changing course.

"The arm above head—

"1.—When stopping.

"The sounding of the horn—

"1.—When passing overtaken vehicles.

"2.—When approaching intersections.

"Don't signal in a half-hearted way.

"Every day the danger is increasing.

"Strict obedience to the laws of the state is incumbent on every citizen."

There are nine million so-called "pleasure cars" in use in the United States. It would seem that anything tending to make the drivers and passengers and pedestrians and onlookers safer was worth while considering.—Times-Union.

GOOD YEARS COMING.

The Tampa Times thinks "the next ten years are destined to be years of wonderful development in Florida." That is true. We come nearer to knowing where we are "at" and are further away from the baneful influences of the federal reserve board than any state in the Union.—Clearwater News.

The Gadsden County Times tells of the sale of a crop of shade tobacco at 70 cents a pound. "This is one of the first crops reported a sold," says the Times, "J. T. Willis, of Gretna, having reported the sale to a Philadelphia buyer." The Times says that two other crops were sold during the week. C. H. Willis and Joe Woodberry, also in the Gretna section, making contracts for their crops. No buyers have yet appeared in Quincy looking for sun-tobacco as yet, but these may come later. "Previous to the planting of this crop the American Cigar Co. sent circular letters to the growers announcing that they would be in the market for sun tobacco, as usual," adds the newspaper. "It is understood that this company has proposed to the planters that they will pack and cure for their tobacco if desired."

County Agent Wm. Gomme reports that Polk county shipped through the Citrus Exchange of Florida 1,666,166 boxes of citrus fruits during the season just closed. Additional shipments bring the total number of boxes shipped to 2,082,727. From these figures it is without question that Polk is a great citrus growing section. According to the last census, farm values of Polk county during the last ten years increased more than 618 per cent.

"Building permits issued for the Palm Beaches exceed one million dollars in value," says the Industrial Index, published at Columbus, Ga. "A fine showing indeed for that growing and prosperous section." The "beaches" include Palm Beach and West Palm Beach, and it can be added that many very beautiful homes are being added to the already large list of show places in that vicinity."
