Jewelry Salesman Robbed Of $8,000 In Lake Mary

It was back to the books at Longwood Elementary School today for Scott Kaley, 10, (above) and Randy Graybill, 9 (below), "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," as they called themselves, had wandered into Welkva Springs State Park Sunday and weren't found until about 24 hours later — bug-bitten, hungry, muddy, but well.

Broward Official Will Accept County Attorney Post, If, If ...

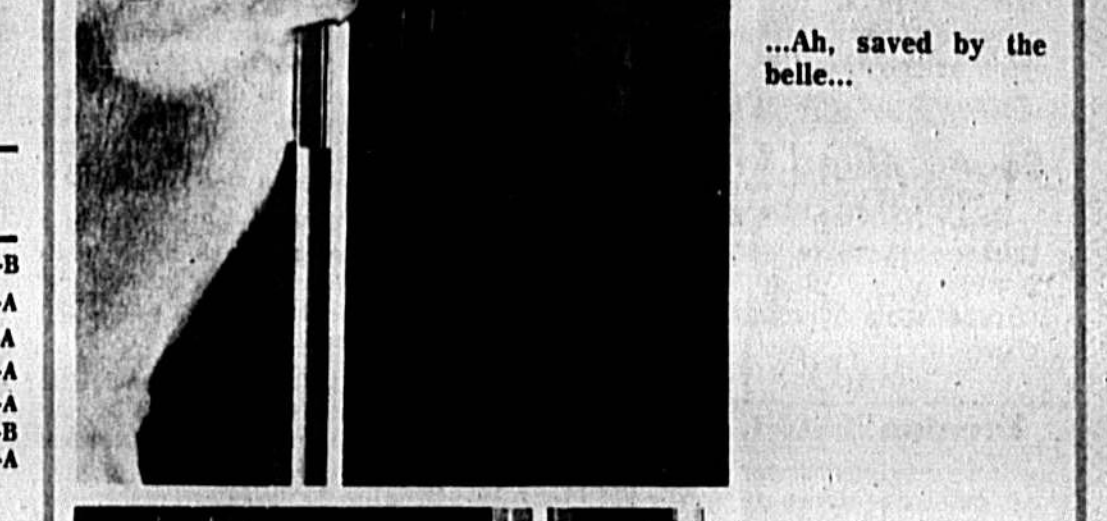

Unless he receives any unexpected information on the salary or complexity and size of the workload of the Seminole County Attorney's job, Harry A. Stewart is likely to accept a Tuesday offer from the county commissioners to be Seminole County's full-time county attorney.

After the man got Cuddie's cash, he took off from the robbery scene on foot and apparently met with his accomplice who had followed them to the orange grove in their car. The robber apparently took off with his accomplice in the car Cuddie described as a black Granada or Monarch."

Police have still been unable to determine if Cuddie was in the habit of carrying huge sums of money. "He did tell us, however, that he had been carrying this particular $8,000 around with him for some time," Myers said.

Police said Cuddie had gone to Sanford for lunch but changed his mind and headed for home. There was no jewelry in the car at the time of the robbery. And, according to L. Myers, he was not insured against the $8,000 loss, police added.

By bowing to these salary demands, the commission would be setting a very bad precedent," Kwiatkowski said. Stewart was selected from among 60 applicants for the county attorney job. County Administrator Neiswander last week gave commissioners his recommendations of the three best-qualified candidates.

GOP To Carter: Scrap That Bad Energy Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — While House-Senate conferees are stalled on a key utility rate cap of President Carter's energy package and congressional tax writers bid their time, Republicans offer a suggestion: Scrap the whole bill.

That message was delivered into American living rooms Tuesday night as the GOP responded to Carter's public plea for Congress to deliver to him a document along the lines he wants, not that sought by the oil industry.

Sen. Robert Packwood, R-Ore., and Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., said in the joint televised rebuttal that the president's energy plan was not worth salvaging.

Military: 40% Dropout Rate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon's top manpower expert says the all-volunteer force, which officials until now have called a success, has a dropout rate approaching 40 percent for reasons that include discipline and unsuitability.

Assistant Defense Secretary John White said at a news conference Tuesday the wash-out rate during first enlistments has risen considerably since the draft ended five years ago.

"This is a phenomenon peculiar to the all-volunteer force," White said. "There is a whole variety of problems."

Corn Surplus Plan Eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A plan to reduce next year's surplus of corn and two other feed grains was announced by the administration Tuesday, but officials said the plan will be abandoned if the outlook for the world's grain supply worsens.

The proposal for farmers to idle, or "set aside," acreage equal to 10 percent of the feed grain they intend to plant next year is similar to a 20 percent reduction announced earlier for wheat.

Pollo Boy's Parents Sue U.S.

DETROIT (UPI) — The parents of a 3-year-old boy who contracted polio after taking three doses of the oral antipolio vaccine have filed a $11 million lawsuit charging federal officials failed to warn of possible adverse effects.

The suit is the third filed in U.S. District Court by Charles and Mary Schindler of Marine City on behalf of their son, Karl Michael.

The latest suit, filed Monday, charges federal officials did not notify doctors that persons suffering from immuno-deficiencies, such as their son, are susceptible to polio if given the oral vaccine.

GREENSBORO, Ala. (UPI) — Officials said seven persons were killed Tuesday when a twin-engine plane exploded in air and burned about 10 miles northwest of Greensboro.

AL ROZON, executive director of the Central Florida Zoo, said the male jaguar donated was not needed by the zoo as it has an additional male and female.

Lake Emma Road Site Eyed Private Landfill Plan Won't Deter County

By MARK WEINBERG Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Commissioners in a Tuesday work session indicated they would continue to seek a centrally located site for a new county-operated landfill despite the possibility of a privately-operated landfill in the county that could compete with a county-operated landfill.

Commissioners also heard County Planner Bill Kercher and Public Works Director Jack Schuder report a 340-acre site on Lake Emma Road south of the NCR plant — and located partially within Lake Mary city limits — was the best of three sites offered the county for a landfill. Commissioners will consider the site when they meet next Tuesday.

Kercher is the chairman of the county's solid waste team, a group of county officials which has been searching since June for a centrally located site to replace the county's remotely-located, 110-acre landfill at Osceola in extreme northeast Seminole.

In June commissioners refused to accept a proposal from Waste Management Inc. to provide county-wide landfill services which would cost garbage haulers $5.50 per ton of garbage delivered to Waste Management's landfill.

The county's current rate for dumping garbage at the county's three transfer stations (in the Sanford, Altamonte Springs and Oviedo areas) is $5.75, but county staffers say they can reduce the cost to $5.20 if a centrally-located landfill site is found and if the county discontinues operation of its three transfer stations.

"Our goal should be to insure a system with the cheapest cost to the consumer," said Commissioner John Alexander. "I would be hard-pressed to see how that could be done with a private landfill in the county. A county-run operation would have the lowest cost to the consumer. Even if we keep using the Osceola landfill site, it would be cheaper than a private landfill. There's no necessity for more than one landfill in Seminole County."

Alexander added that localities now must prepare solid waste resource recovery plans due to federal regulations and that "we shouldn't lose the possibility of future federal funding of resource recovery. The county should stay in the garbage disposal business."

Waste Management on Oct. 18 applied for permission to operate its own landfill on 275 acres west of Interstate 4 on SR-46. The company filed a request for a special exception to the site's agricultural zoning which would allow a landfill.

The county's Board of Adjustment will consider the request Monday night at 7 p.m. in room 303 of the courthouse in Sanford. Representatives of the Sylvan Lake Association say they will argue against granting the special exception at the meeting.

The board of adjustment's ruling is likely to be appealed to the commissioners, who will have the final say in the matter, according to Commissioner Bill Kirchoff, in whose county commission district the proposed private landfill is located.

If the special exception is granted, commissioners will be asked to grant Waste Management a franchise to operate a landfill in the county, and the state Department of Environmental Regulation (DER) must grant a permit to Waste Management to operate a landfill.

The franchise provision was part of a month-old revision of the Seminole County Code, and commissioners have yet to designate procedures for granting franchises in the county. "If someone can locate a landfill out of our control, it will throw off revenue projections for our landfill," said Commission Chairman Dick Williams. "Can we deny a franchise based on factors that are land use in nature? Could we make the decision based on zoning?"

"You can do it on the basis of health, safety and welfare of county residents," said Alexander.

"If we own the landfill, we can deal with problems of health and public safety more rapidly than we could force a private company to take care of them," Williams continued.

"I'd like to see what the other company is offering," said Kirchoff. The commissioner was referring to a request by A.B. Peterson Jr. of St. Johns Realty Co. in Sanford that commissioners consider locating a landfill on 1,000 acres along the western shore of Lake Jesup.

Peterson's Sept. 30 letter to Williams said two Osceola businessmen were interested in operating the landfill privately.

Commissioners last March issued a formal "request for proposals" inviting proposals for a privately-operated landfill. Only Waste Management responded with a proposal, which the commissioners turned down as too expensive.

"If we buy a new landfill site and issue bonds, how can we protect the bonds if there's another landfill?" asked Kirchoff.

"A county-operated landfill in a central location is the best way to go," said Commissioner Bob French. In a privately-operated landfill, "nobody has control over their rates. Waste Management could charge a dollar a ton (of garbage) for the first year and drive everybody else out."

Commissioners also heard County Planner Bill Kercher and Public Works Director Jack Schuder report a 240-acre site on Lake Emma Road south of the NCR plant — and located partially within Lake Mary city limits — was the best of three sites offered the county for a landfill. Commissioners will consider the site when they meet next Tuesday.

6 Youths Beat, Stab Pedestrian

A 45-year-old man told police he was beaten and stabbed by six juveniles while walking in Fern Park.

Clint Downing of the St. John's Village Apartments, Fern Park, said he was walking on a dirt road adjacent to Freddie's Steak House on State Road 17-92 when the attack occurred.

He said six youths, one female, came from an abandoned building in a wooded area 200 yards east of State Road 17-92. He suffered a bruised left eye and cheek and a stab wound in the back of the left thigh. He was treated by the county fire department, rescued and taken to Florida North Hospital before being released.

BATTERY STOLEN Someone stole 15-year-old Walter Dormelster's motorcycle battery, but he wasn't about to let it happen to someone else.

Dormelster reported his battery stolen at 11:10 a.m. Tuesday from Sand Lake Road in front of Lake Brantley High School, Forest City.

At 1:20 p.m., he saw two youths apparently stealing two motorcycle helmets from another motorcycle at the same location.

Dormelster, of 2400 Palmto Drive, approached the pair and said "You better give me those helmets you just stole," according to police reports.

The youths gave him the helmets and offered him some marijuana but he refused. The incident, police reported, Scott Little of 2111 Camella Drive was with Dormelster and went to the school to call police. The two youths left on their motorcycle.

The helmets were turned over to an assistant principal and returned to its 17-year-old owner.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Anita Bryant's Contract Expected To Be Renewed

LAKELAND (UPI) — The $100,000-a-year contract Anita Bryant has with the Florida Citrus Commission is expected to be extended through August 1979, ending speculation her controversial stand on homosexual rights may have cost her the lucrative contract.

Miss Bryant is under contract to the commission through August 1978, and the commission has an option to extend the contract for an additional year.

Edward A. Taylor, executive director of the Florida Department of Citrus, has said he will recommend the commission pick up the option and commission chairman Dan Richardson of Vero Beach has said he expects the 12-member commission to do so.

Oldest U.S. Man In Hospital

LAKELAND (UPI) — Charlie Smith, an ex-slave and former cowboy who, at 135, has been acknowledged by Social Security Administration officials as the oldest living person in the United States had his right leg amputated Tuesday in an effort to stop a gangrene infection.

Officials at Lakeland General Hospital listed him in "satisfactory condition" following the one-hour operation performed by Dr. Gordon Moore, a cardiovascular specialist.

Bevis To Resign For New Post

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Bill Bevis is resigning from the Public Service Commission to accept an appointment by Gov. Reubin Askew to the new crime victims compensation board, UPI has learned.

Bevis' resignation is effective Jan. 1 when the three-member board, which has the authority to pay crime victims up to $10,000, goes into existence.

Bevis was in New Orleans attending a convention of the National Regulatory Commission and could not be reached for comment, but his decision was confirmed by several independent sources.

Lori Gets People Power Pact

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Sen. Lori Wilson hopes "People Power," the non-profit corporation she chartered Tuesday, will get homemakers and biscuit bakers behind the Equal Rights Amendment.

Sen. Wilson, I-Cocoa Beach, was issued a People Power charter by Secretary of State Bruce Smathers. She will be president of the group which she hopes to turn into a national organization during the International Women's Year Conference later this week in Houston.

Rev. Davis To Be Installed

ST. PETERSBURG (UPI) — The Rev. Cornelius B. Davis of Lakeland will be installed tonight as the new president of the Florida Baptist Convention, largest Protestant denomination in Florida.

Davis, pastor of Lakeland's Lakeside Baptist Church for the past 13 years, was elected Monday to succeed Barney B. Burks, former mayor of Pensacola.

MR. RUFUS C. Senn, 79, of 401 Mangoustine Ave., Sanford, died Tuesday. Burial will be held Friday at 2 p.m. at Brison Funeral Home with Dr. J. T. Comato officiating. Burial in Evergreen Cemetery, Brison Funeral Home PA in charge.

Still Challenging Disclosure Order Plante: I'll Fight Expulsion In Court, Too

TALLAHASSEE, (UPI) — Sen. Ken Plante, who is challenging the constitutionality of Florida's stiff financial disclosure law, says if he is expelled for refusing to tell his financial worth, he will fight that in court too.

Plante said he probably will also have to go to court to qualify as a candidate for reelection next year — because the law requires candidates to file the same financial information as elected officials.

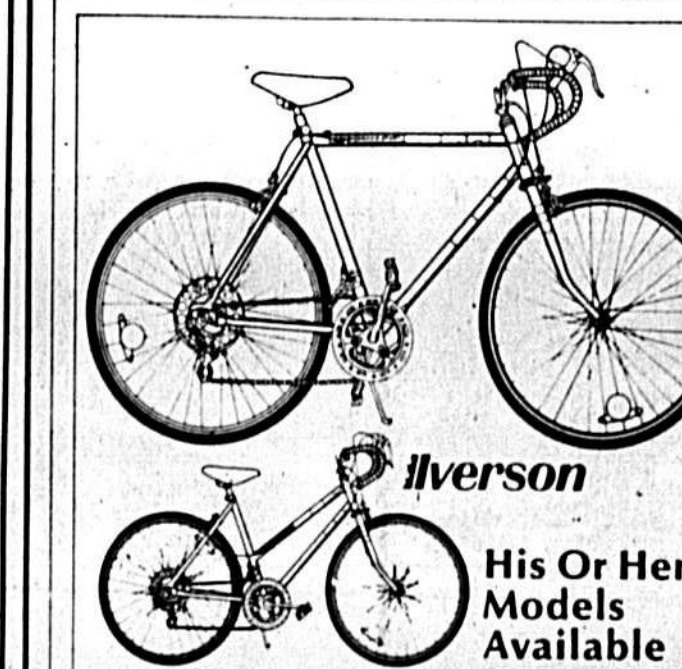

The Winter Park Republican, who is Senate minority leader, joined four other powerful senators in challenging the law in federal court as an invasion of privacy. They lost the first round in U.S. District court and have appealed to the 5th Circuit Court in New Orleans.

Plante told the tri-state chapter of Sigma Delta Chi professional journalism fraternity last night that the suit could take another two years to settle because he anticipates having to go to the U.S. Supreme Court.

He said attorneys for the five senators have agreed to go the whole way for a total fee of $60,000. They have received about $1,000 in contributions, he said, and are splitting the balance.

He said his decision to fight the law — which requires filing of a net worth statement plus either an income tax return or a list of all income sources exceeding $1,000 — is unpopular with his constituents in the Orlando-Winter Park-Maitland area.

Unfulfilled Promise

The most recent unemployment statistics show that blacks, and particularly blacks younger than 25 years old, were unemployed this past summer in percentages as high as 50 per cent.

Black leaders like Benjamin Hooks, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, have comprehended these statistics as evidence of a general black unemployment problem. But they also insist that black unemployment is not a unique problem; in fact, it is merely a part of a persistent unemployment problem affecting blacks, whites — everyone.

Looking back, however, one notes that since May, 1975, the overall rate of white unemployment has declined from 8.5 to 6.1 per cent, while that of black unemployment has increased from 14.3 to 14.5 per cent. It thus would seem that black unemployment is a unique problem, and that approaches to reducing unemployment in general, like the Humphrey-Hawkins bill, would fail to solve it.

The "special programs" strategy of recent years hardly seems promising, either. Herbert Stein, former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors under President Nixon, has pointed out that for all the special programs of the past 16 years to end discrimination against blacks in employment and education, the black unemployment problem has not improved, and, what's more, may have become worse.

The reasons the problem has not improved concerns Walter Williams, an associate professor of economics at Temple University. Williams believes that government-sanctioned restraints, however well-intentioned, actually have reduced economic opportunities for blacks. Accordingly, writes Williams: "Perhaps one of the best strategies to raise the socioeconomic status of Negroes as a group is to promote a free market."

Now, Williams is not the only economist to say this, nor the only black economist. But his solution rarely receives the hearing it should. And indeed, Williams makes some "very good sense."

For example, on the minimum wage: "(It) sets a labor price whereby it is uneconomical for firms to hire (and hence train) the most low skilled individuals. The law produces a racial effect because minorities are disproportionately represented among the low skilled. Evidence for this effect is seen when we recognize that as late as 1948, black youths had a lower unemployment rate than white youths."

On the Davis-Bacon Act, which allows the Labor Department to set minimum wages for federally funded construction projects: "This law has the effect of discouraging non-union contractors. This law produces a racial effect because more minority construction workers (and contractors) are non-union. While today's supporters of the Davis-Bacon Act may not have racial motives in mind, we cannot say that about the originators of the Davis-Bacon Act. Congressman Allgood said at the 1931 hearings: "That contractor has cheap colored labor — it is labor of that sort that is in competition with white labor throughout the country."

On the government's occupation and business licensing: "In many cities a person who wants to own a taxi must pay license fees upwards of $40,000. In those cities there are few black-owned taxis relative to the black population. In the District of Columbia there is only a nominal entry fee (under $200) and subsequently we observe many more black-owned taxis relative to the black population. Moreover, the service is cheaper and of higher quality."

Williams has lots more to say, and interestingly, most of it has to do with the red tape in the economy, which prevents or impedes economic transactions.

Around

The Clock

By NANCY BOOTH

Instead of "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon Us," the song should be, "The Eyes of Florida Democrats Are Upon Us." And so they are. All Florida Democrats are watching, with a good deal of interest, the progress of the associate membership committee, sponsored by the Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee.

The purpose of the new committee is to show that the Democratic party is alive and well here in the county. It is also an effort to allow rank-and-file Democrats to take a more active part in party activities.

Several months ago, while attending an executive meeting as a guest, Betty Eastland, made the proposal for the associate membership committee. After winning an at-large appointment to the executive committee, she was made chairman of the committee. At the last meeting, the complete package was presented.

Kick-off month for the membership drive will be December.

Under state law, county executive committees are made up of one man and one woman from each precinct within the county boundaries, and a few at-large appointments. This method has led some people to feel excluded from party actions.

It is hoped, by creating an associate membership committee, that all Democrats will feel "included." Membership fees of $2 per year per person will bring to the applicant a membership card, a quarterly newsletter on all party activities, allow the member to join in all discussions, assist on special committees, attend all executive committee special functions, and take part in campaign activities. A special lifetime charter membership can be obtained for $25.

Never one to let the grass grow under his feet, popular perennial Seminole County candidate Sid Vihlen Jr. was walking on the sidelines for an opportunity to become an executive committee member. His chance came when Jim Ryan, Sanford

Port Authority director, missed three consecutive committee meetings without an excuse. Under state law, those absences require dismissal from the County Executive Committee.

Vihlen is now the Precinct 33 Committeeman. Sorry, Jim!

Hey, you Democrats, it could be you. You could be the one chosen as "Democrat of the Month." You never know.

The Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee, beginning in December, will honor a hard-working Democrat from the county each month at a special presentation, during its monthly meeting. Judges for the selection are executive committee chairman Rod Cable who will chair the group; Peggy Hattaway, Richard Russo and Mary Lou Miller (who came up with the idea).

ANGLE-WALTERS

Eastland Outmoves Kennedy

WASHINGTON — He didn't actually say it, but he might as well have.

In announcing he will run for re-election next year, Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., was sending a message three-fourths of the lobbyists in Washington had been praying for.

"Reddy Kennedy is gonna be chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee over my dead body."

Eastland, 73, had been privately telling his colleagues for months that he expected to retire at the end of his current term, the sixth he has served.

But that would have elevated Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to the chairmanship of the Judiciary Committee, which Eastland has ruled for the past 10 — a prospect which sends shudders through the business world and conservatives of every variety.

For weeks on-end, Eastland's office was inundated with letters, phone calls and visitors beseeching the cigar-chomping old senator to spare the nation from the liberal scourge.

Even Jimmy Carter, very quickly and very privately, let it be known he would hate to see Eastland retire. Kennedy, after all, is enough of a potential threat as it is without the added stature and publicity which goes with a major committee chairmanship.

More than half the legislation introduced in the Senate each year is referred to Eastland's committee, including all civil rights bills, constitutional amendments, immigration matters and anti-trust measures.

Conservatives consider the panel so crucial that earlier this year they persuaded Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., to give up the top GOP position on the Armed Services Committee in order to block liberal Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., from becoming the ranking Republican on the Judiciary Committee.

At the moment, the 17-member committee is evenly split between liberals and conservatives with Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., holding the decisive vote.

The committee is no longer the burial ground it used to be for civil rights bills and other major liberal proposals. On really significant measures, Byrd consistently votes with the eight liberals to send the bill to the floor for action by the full Senate.

But with Eastland as chairman and Thurmond as ranking Republican, conservatives still maintain full control of internal committee procedures, scheduling and rules.

As long as Eastland remains in the Senate, his chairmanship is secure. He is scrupulously fair to the liberals on his committee, even when he disagrees with them, and generous with subcommittee chairmanships and staffing allowances.

WASHINGTON — In the continuing saga of the CAPOO power works versus Shippingport, Pa., the great electrical combine has just demonstrated its awesome power.

The townships besieged last summer with pleas to stop the project, their beloved Beaver Valley was slowly being poisoned, they complained, by the fallout from the energy compounds that the CAPOO consortium has erected on the nearby banks of the Ohio River.

We sent our associate, Howard Rosenberg, to Shippingport to investigate. He made repeated trips to the area. At a clandestine meeting, the townships presented their complaints. They told him of the deadly white dust that sometimes covered their roofs and filled their clothes. They charged that their water wells and backyard gardens had occasionally been contaminated.

They showed him chunks of calcium fluoride that had fallen on their property. He brought one plate-sized chunk of pollution back as a souvenir.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Cardinales Vs. Boveros

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Last Monday night, television had an option of watching filmed violence in "The Godfather" or live violence in a professional football game between Dallas and St. Louis.

I opted to switch back and forth between the two. For the benefit of those who saw neither, here is a brief resume:

Basically, it was a story of a violent clash between two rival gridiron gangs, or "families" — the Cardinales and the Boveros.

In the opening sequence, the "capo," or boss, of the family is seen on the "linea laterale" (sideline) and jetting, he rarely changes expressions. There is something about him that is vaguely sinister. It may be his snap-brimmed hat, which went out of style about 30 years ago.

Occasionally, he turns and gives terse instructions to the "vice-diretores" and other "associati" (assistants).

During a "tempo spento" (time out), the capo is approached by the family's "quarto dorso" (quarterback).

"Godfather," "Yes, my son, what can I do for you?" "Godfather, I need your help to take my 'unita' (unit) across the 'linea porta' (goal line) and into the 'termino zona' (end zone)."

"But is that termino zona not occupied by a unita of the Cardinales?" "Yes, Godfather."

"And do you know what it would mean if a unita of the Boveros were to trespass upon the termino zona of the Cardinales?" "Yes, Godfather. I am well aware of the consequences. After the next 'pedata romolo' (kick-off), the Cardinales will feel honor bound to retaliate by crossing the linea porta of the Boveros."

RONALD REAGAN

Who's 'Agin' Now?

Anybody who makes a flat-out prediction that Jimmy Carter — after less than 10 months in office — is going to be a one-term president either has a very good crystal ball or premature judgment. Probably the latter.

Just the same, Mr. Carter is in trouble on nearly all fronts. In fact, he has yet to get a single legislative initiative through Congress in anything like its original form.

What's the cause? Poor communications with Congress? Partly. Inexperience? Partly. Stubbornness? Partly. Incompetency? Partly. But there is also a strain of negativism that runs through many of the Carter initiatives, and it may hand the Republicans their best opportunity in years.

In fact, the parties seem to be in the early stages of role reversal. For as long as many of them can remember, Republicans have been "agginers," and negativism doesn't win elections.

Historically, the party of optimism has taken the high ground in U.S. politics. From just after the Civil War until early in this century, the Republicans were the party of growth, expansion, progress. They were, again, in the '20s when America waded prosperous.

But, after the stock market debacle of 1929 and a Republican administration's miscalculation of how to deal with it, it was the Democrats who took over not only the rhetoric of optimism, but the policies of it as well.

Their message was that we would tax and spend our way back to prosperity (with a boost from World War II), and it continued on into the '60s. We would get the Country Moving Again. We would Close the Missile Gap, land on the moon, win the War on Poverty.

But the liberal wing of the Democratic party has been growing in influence (if not in numbers) and has been trying to put the optimism genie back in the bottle since at least the days of George McGovern's candidacy. Its message is: lower your expectations from life; smaller is better; wind down the economy; stop growing; withdraw from international commitments; get out from the challenges of communism (life isn't worth the hassle); spend less on defense; don't use it either; and, if anything goes wrong pass a bill requiring that it be fixed — at someone else's expense.

This gloomy view of life finds expression in tax "reform," too. There is the perpetual search for mythical loopholes and the vindictive rhetoric that accompanies income redistribution schemes. This is sometimes called "populism" (which is another word for socialism) and it is reflected in the negativism of the Carter tax "reform" package now being readied.

Its unfavorable treatment of capital gains, for example, would discourage capital formation, which is needed to create jobs.

Figuring the rest would be anti-climax, I turned off the set and went to bed.

"This means, my son, that we must go to the 'facile da caccia' (shotgun formation)."

"Thank you, Godfather. I shall never forget this lesson. Now I must return to my unita, for the 'arbitro' is about to blow his 'fischetto' to signal the end of the tempo spento."

As the quarto dorso trots back to rejoin his unita, the camera shifts to the "aplausu guidar" (cheerleaders) whose blouses exhibit a stunning expanse of "nudo petto" (translation unavailable).

Figuring the rest would be anti-climax, I turned off the set and went to bed.

"Very well, my son. We'll make you a 'gioco progetto' (game plan) that can't lose."

"Yes, my son, what can I do for you?" "Godfather, I need your help to take my 'unita' (unit) across the 'linea porta' (goal line) and into the 'termino zona' (end zone)."

"But is that termino zona not occupied by a unita of the Cardinales?" "Yes, Godfather."

"And do you know what it would mean if a unita of the Boveros were to trespass upon the termino zona of the Cardinales?" "Yes, Godfather. I am well aware of the consequences. WORLD IN BRIEF

Britain Won't Budge On Firemen's Strike

LONDON (UPI) — The British parliament has voted overwhelmingly to support the government's hard-line stand against the nation's 35,000 striking firefighters. The firefighters stood fast on their demands for a 30 percent pay increase and left their picket lines Tuesday only to save lives. They watched one factory burn to the ground. Soldiers and volunteers battled hundreds of blazes but lacked the equipment and training to do the job and were plagued by a rash of false alarms. Scotland Yard launched a secret plan to track down the hoax callers.

IBM Ends India Stay

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — The International Business Machines Corp. has decided to end operations in India rather than comply with a government order to sell a 60 percent controlling interest in the firm. The announcement by IBM Tuesday marked the second American company to leave India since Prime Minister Morarji Desai's Janata Party government came to power last March. The Coca Cola Co., which refused to sell a majority-share of its Indian branch or reveal its secret soft-drink recipe, closed down two months ago.

Did Biko Bump His Head?

PRETORIA, South Africa (UPI) — The chief interrogator of Steve Biko has hedged on his statement the black leader bumped his head in a fight with policemen five days before he died. A lawyer for the dead man's family said the officer's testimony had "no value."

'Russkies, Cubanos Flinto'

MOGADISHU, Somalia (UPI) — Cuban military advisers and diplomats have flown out of Somalia in time to meet a 48-hour deadline and thousands of Russians prepared to leave by the end of the week. "Russkies and Cubanos, flinto," a customs official at Mogadishu airport said Tuesday as the 44 Cuban military technicians, diplomats and their families — boarded a flight for Aden, Southern Yemen.

Begin, Sadat Used Romania As Talk Test

CHANGE OF FACE

Career Day at Seminole High School found teachers and students dressed for different "careers." Student Laura Brister (left) came as a nurse, while teachers Pamela Knowles was a nun and Julie Williams, a priest. Student Mary Ann Daum was more concerned with her maid duties, making sure they all made room for her mop.

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — something happened there as well. Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin both used Communist Romania to sound each other out about a possible summit meeting. Begin's top aide said today.

Official sources treat the historic visit almost as a foregone conclusion and some say it could take place next week, possibly Friday, shortly after Begin returns from an official visit to Britain. Sadat arrived in Damascus, Syria, today to confer with President Hafez Assad, who is believed to oppose Sadat's dramatic offer to travel to Jerusalem. But Arab diplomats said it would be exceedingly difficult for Sadat to back out of the trip now.

Begin's top aide, Yehiel Kadishai, said today the question of direct talks between Begin and Sadat was raised during the prime minister's five-day visit to Romania in August for talks with President Nicolae Ceausescu. "It was all verbal, of course," Kadishai said. "All sorts of political questions were raised and a possible meeting was among them."

When Sadat visited Romania in October, he said, "I imagine invitation Tuesday to U.S. Ambassador Sam Lewis, who cable it to Cairo for retyping and delivery to Sadat. It was not clear yet whether Sadat had actually received it. Sadat Tuesday told a group of U.S. congressmen in Cairo he considered his visit to Jerusalem a 'holy job'."

Want to cut down on your electric bill? Check your plumbing.

That's right. Your plumbing. And you can start with your hot water heater. Next to air-conditioning, it's often the second biggest user of electricity in the home. But its cost can be substantially reduced. By simply adjusting the setting on your water heater thermostat. To 130 degrees. Or, if you have a large family or dishwasher, place the setting at 140. Any higher and you're probably wasting money. If you insulate your water heater with a blanket of fiberglass, you could save even more. Up to 75¢ a month. It may not sound like much, but every little bit helps. And if you're going on a trip, turn your water heater off until you return. It'll save money. Even if you're away for only three or four days.

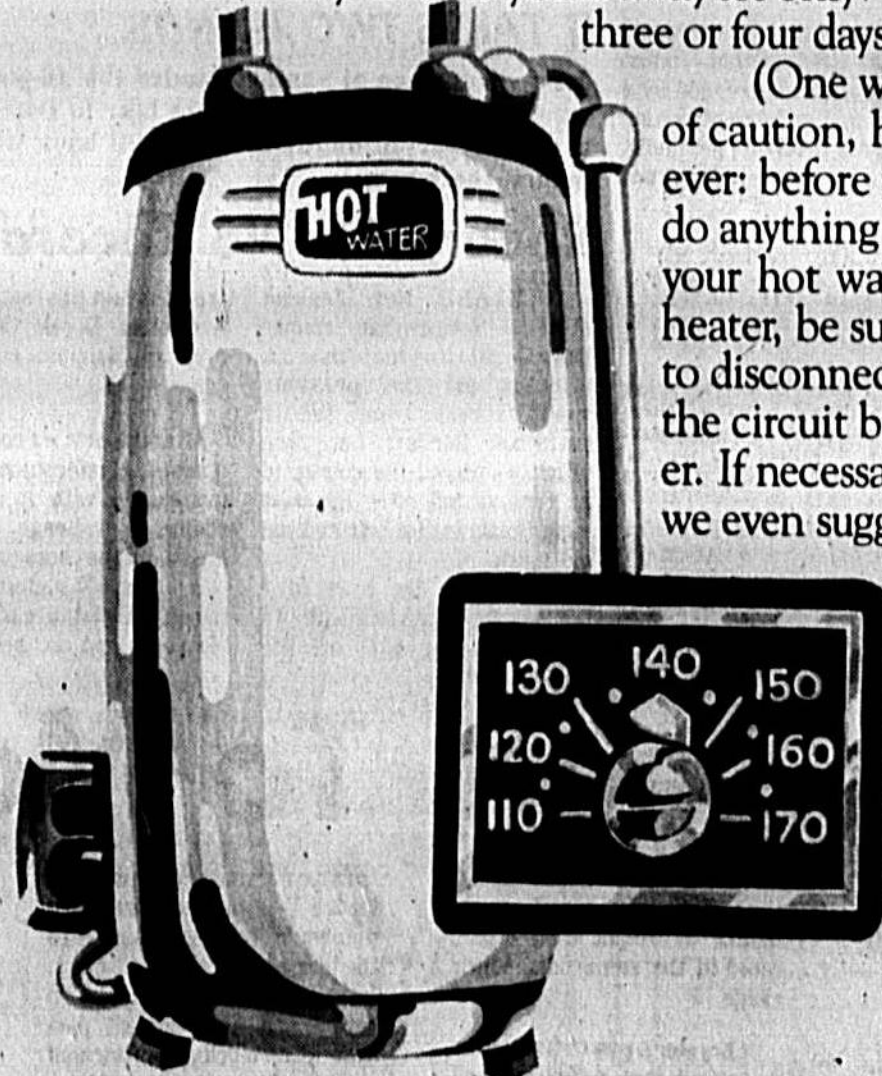

(One word of caution, however: before you do anything to your hot water heater, be sure to disconnect the circuit breaker. If necessary, we even suggest you call a serviceman.) Another possible drain on your electric bill are leaks in your hot water system. A leaky hot water faucet, for example, can cost you upwards of two dollars a month. So, if you see a drippy faucet, replace the washers. The savings could be quite significant. Some other helpful hints? Take showers instead of baths. A bath uses twice as much water as a shower. And when you shave, or rinse the dishes, don't let the hot water run. You could be pouring a lot of water down the drain. What's more, if you have to replace your shower heads, install flow restrictors to reduce the rate of water flow.

Finally, you can recover wasted heat by utilizing the hot refrigerant gas from the air-conditioner compressor to heat the water. This new technique could eliminate water heating altogether in the summer. But be sure to consult a licensed air-conditioning contractor.

If you'd like some more money saving ideas, ask for our folder "How to Save Money on Your Electric Bill." It's free. At all FPL offices.

Brantley, Evans In Rotary Bowl

By DAN RUTLEDGE Herald Correspondent

It will be a homecoming game for the Rotary Bowl Classic Nov. 26 when Evans High of Orlando battles Seminole County's top team, Lake Brantley.

Brantley uniforms will make it seem like old home week to him, also.

Weir was head man at Lake Brantley before going on to Evans.

Present Brantley head coach Jim Raley took over the Pals' controls at the end of the '75 season, upon Weir's departure.

record — in 10 years. This year, a victory over Brantley would set a new mark, 9-2.

Weir says he feels "no special emotion" about meeting Brantley in the bowl.

"It is interesting — seeing kids you know as youngsters all grow up.

"I feel it will be an exciting game, and an even one," Weir continued. "We run similar defenses, and both have explosive offenses."

Evans is led by senior quarterback Kenny Shaw and fullback Frank Kelly on offense. Defensive strong men for Evans are nose guard Freddy Butts and defensive tackle Kevin Atkins.

Rotary Bowl spectators from last year will remember Shaw, who threw two TD passes, the last a 49-yarder in the final period of the game.

Brantley, in its second campaign under Raley, is also having its best-ever season. The Pals are now 9-1, with a final game Friday night at arch-rival Seminole High.

The Patriots' offense is led by Tommy Albers, Dean Shackelford and quarterback Baird Lyons.

Weir remembers Albers well — he had him on the varsity as a sophomore.

Well, Since You Asked...

The upshot: Reason the Tampa Buccaneers haven't been using Anthony Davis much is that he's never been able to get his weight down to fighting shape since he came south from Canada. He's been up as high as 204 when he's more suited to romp at 185. And he's had some physical complications as well.

Q. Can you tell me something about the background of Ken MacAfee, the all-American tight end at Notre Dame? It seems to me I recall an end by the same name at the pro some time ago. — H.P., Pittsfield, Mass.

You recall right, Ken MacAfee Sr., a graduate of Alabama, was a tight end for the New York Giants from 1954 to '58. As a matter of fact, he was the original tight end to pro ball when the Giants picked him up in 1954. He was a first-round draft choice.

Q. How many players now in the National Basketball Association did not go to college? — V.S., Philadelphia, Pa.

Three prominent ones come to mind — Darryl Dawkins, the awesome brute who's beginning to log considerable playing time at center for the Philadelphia 76ers; Moses Malone, the talented offensive rebounder of the Houston Rockets; and Bill Wiloughby, a slender developing forward with Atlanta. All three went directly from high school into professional basketball.

Q. Is Bill Curry, who recently authored a book about his pro football experiences, still in the National Football League? — G.B., Grand Island, Neb.

Not as a player, Curry, 34, retired during the pro-season grind of 1975, the period in which his reminiscences with George Plimpton became the basis for "One More July." Bill is now an offensive line coach for the Green Bay Packers.

Q. What has happened to the two-point conversion? Where is it used? — E.S., Alameda, Calif.

In both high school and college football, where it frequently adds suspense to a game. The two-point conversion was also a pet project of Lamar Hunt, who helped found the old American Football League and incorporated it into the AFL rules. But when merger with the NFL was effected a decade ago, the older league hopped it off. Lamar still wants it back — if his Kansas City Chiefs can ever score any touchdowns.

Q. How many coaches saw in the National Football League did not have playing experience as pros? — B.L., Cincinnati, O.

Exactly half of the head coaches in the NFL — or 14 of the 28 — were not pro players. That includes four in the American Football Conference and 10 in the NFL. They are Chuck Fairbanks, Bum Phillips, Red Miller, Tommy Prothro, Don Coryell, John McVay, George Allen, Dick Vermeil, Tom Humphreys, John McKay, Loren Bennett, Chuck Knox, Hank Stram and Ken Meyer.

Q. I see where the refs have started wearing those Jim Shanklet began calling the plays. Do you feel the quarterback should call his own signals, or should the coach maintain control? — E.S., Alameda, Calif.

I think the issue is way overplayed. Sure, it's nice to have the quarterback run the game on the field. But you can't argue with the success coaches like Tom Landry and Paul Brown have had over the years sending in plays via messengers. What's more important than who calls the plays is who devises them and plots the pre-game strategy. Even a quarterback who calls his own plays is still within the confines of a game plan.

If football officials could penalize the way they should be called, according to the book, there'd be no game. There's a holding on virtually every play, especially up front among the pros.

Williams was 10-for-15 from the river while Zippo hit 7-for-11. Coldest of the 40-degree regulars was Lewis, who connected on only 3-of-17 shots.

"That was probably the biggest factor in us not putting in the first half," said Sterling.

"We didn't play all that well," said Sterling today. "They (Poks) were scrappy, and it was a closer game than the final score."

SCC opens its home schedule Saturday at 8 against Indian River in a game preceded by a high school jamboree beginning at 6 o'clock involving Seminole, Lyman, Mainland and Spruce Creek.

While five Raiders hit double figures — Willie Williams and Bob Zippo took 25 apiece — an unsung hero was Sterling's son, Joe Jr., who had eight assists and shot only twice.

David Krank scored 19 points and grabbed a team high dozen rebounds. Robert Lewis added 12 points and Smith 10.

Both game, as Palk wasn't able to handle the one-on-one situations well.

There Are Dolls And Dolls And Then There Are...

Richard's Great Big Beautiful Dolls

By ELLIE GROSSMAN
The Herald Services
NEW YORK—My dear, you'll never guess who showed up at Richard's the other day for a tuna-cum-cheap wine fete. (Richard is a love, but he never did spend with a free hand.) "Baby" was there, doing her best tacky imitation of some Italian sex symbol whose measurements are supposed to be 32-36-46. I must say she looked simply fan-TAS-tic in her bloomers and blue high button shoes. But her hair, I admit I lean towards the simple do - hair close to the face with a hank piled on top, but I'm not narrow-minded. But Baby's frizzes, well, the less said the better.

"Racy Lady" also stopped in, or should I say stomped. I do wish she'd do something about her legs. Her thighs are positively epidemic and she insists on emphasizing them in blue, tight, with red garters. And, my dear, she wore nothing on top - rien - but a polka dot halter over her, ahem, heart of gold.

Finally, there were two of the most outrageous "Ladies of the Chorus" I've ever seen. Heaven help me, one of them had green hair, a purple lame dress and orange shoes. Need I say more? Well, there I was in my boxer shorts classique, opera pumps and pearls, doing my noblest to be gracious and obliging, when Richard suddenly stood up, wine glass in hand.

Swaying ever so slightly, he actually began ranting that each and every one of us was an adult rag doll he'd designed. Richard Neibaur, a rag doll designer. I must say the boy is terribly amusing when potted.

He said we all sold for between $20 and $45 in better gift and department stores around the country.

And then he said - but let me quote verbatim:

"This adult rag doll business grew from a long-legged doll I did 15 years ago when I was designing sheets for a firm in California. My mother and aunt being frustrated housewives, I did a flapper doll in a lace teddy so they could have a part-time business. Well, it took them three weeks to make one doll and that was the end of that. Then I moved to New York..."

Suffice to say someone saw the doll in his apartment in New York, put him in touch with the right people, and volia.

"I borrowed $4,000 from my aunt and went into business. The first year we grossed $18,000 and now we're into the millions."

Well, when the dear boy claimed we're all stuffed, if you'll pardon the expression, with prime shredded cotton, I simply had to take refuge in the

Richard Neibaur and (lady?) friends: You start with a sack and end up with three Ladies of the Chorus (top), the Flapper, Baby and Kissey.

Cook Of The Week

Food Preparation Is A Family Affair

By ELLA NICHOLS
Herald Correspondent

Nancy Williams and her teenage daughter, Holly of Longwood, both learned to cook by baking Toll House cookies. "I really love the work. Because of working, I use my slow-cooker frequently," especially in cold weather. I hope to get a microwave oven in the near future for the convenience of fast cooking," she said.

Holly smilingly added, "I first made Toll House cookies because my Dad loves them so much. Today, my real specialty is crepes. In our French class at Lake Brantley High School, we made crepes as a 'cultural experience,'" she said.

Holly and her sister, Betsy, both are learning to cook at home. "Because I really do love to cook, I'm able to cook. Everyone should know how to cook," she said.

The Williams family has raised vegetables in their garden, including, cucumbers, green peppers, beans, squash, tomatoes, squash, collards, cantaloupes and watermelon.

"The garden is a family affair. My husband, Ted, signs up the ground and put in sprinklers. Holly and I make the rows and plant the seed, and Betsy is the picker of the crop," laughed Nancy.

Then she added, "We do make lots of desserts, because we all like them, but we like vegetables, also. Holly makes great chesecake from a recipe we sort of put together ourselves."

Nancy Williams and Holly Sample Cheese Cake

CHEESE CAKE
Crust: sifted all-purpose flour (sift before measuring)
1/2 cup sugar
1 tsp. grated lemon peel
1/2 tsp. vanilla extract
1 egg yolk
1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
In medium bowl, combine flour, sugar, lemon peel and vanilla. Mix well, in center with pastry blender blend in egg yolk and butter. Mix until meal size. Press in bottom of 9 in. spring form pan, (3 in. high) Spread evenly on bottom with pastry blender. Set aside.
Mix well:
1 cup granulated sugar
3-8 oz. pkgs. Philadelphia cream cheese
1 generous tsp. vanilla flavoring
4 eggs
1 pint commercial sour cream
Four above ingredients into spring form pan (the crust is as yet unbaked) and bake in preheated oven 10 min., then lower oven to 350 degrees for approximately 50 min. Do not turn off oven. Remove

2 chicken breasts, split, (about 1 1/2 lbs)
1/4 cup dry white wine or apple juice
1/4 cup chopped green onions
1/4 cup chopped parsley
Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Yield, 4 half-breasts. In heavy 2 qt. saucepan, melt butter. Meanwhile, on piece of wax paper, combine bread crumbs, Parmesan cheese, basil, oregano, garlic salt (I use garlic powder rather than garlic salt) and salt. Dip chicken breasts in melted butter, then roll in crumbs to coat. Place skin side up in ungreased 9 in. square baking dish. Bake near center of 375 degree oven for 50 to 60 min., or until golden brown and chicken is tender. Meanwhile, add wine, green onions and parsley to remaining melted butter, about 1/2 cup. When chicken is golden brown, pour butter sauce mixture around and over. Return to oven for 5 to 6 min. more or just until sauce is hot. Serve with sauce spooned over.

BREAD AND BUTTER PICKLES
Slice 6 cucumbers thinly
Pour 1/2 cup plain salt over the cucumbers and onions
Let stand for three hours. Drain and rinse.
1 cup water
1 cup vinegar
1/2 tsp. celery seed
1/2 tsp. turmeric
Bring all to a boil. Add cucumbers and onions. Bring them to a boil. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

FUDGE CAKE
Mix together:
2 cup plain flour
2 tsp. cocoa
2 sticks margarine, melted
1/2 cup buttermilk (to make it, add to 1 can milk 1 tsp. vinegar)
1 cup water

Blousson New?

23 Skiddoo To You Too

NEW YORK—Like it or not, one of the best things that ever happened to women was World War I.

It got them out of the house and gave them a chance to breathe.

Someone had to keep the factories and ambulances running, after all. And with the men huddled in the trenches, you didn't have to be a mathematical wizard to count the options.

If we're to shift gears and rivet and move like regular people, they said, we're going to wear clothes that allow for that. Which means shorter, fuller skirts and dresses that don't bind or constrict. (And besides, even if we stay home, they feel better.)

When the men came home from war, they did a collective double take. The women simply smiled, breathed deeply, and said, great to have you back, Wanna dance?

By the Twenties, they were stepping smartly on the dance floor and saying twenty-three skiddoo whenever the opportunity arose, and they were slipping into little crepe de chine dresses that flowed to the waist, poured over, and continued down.

The blousson had been born. Which is what this has been leading up to. The next time someone says something about the newness of the blousson, you'll be in a position to say, oh yeah! Twenty-three skiddoo to you, too.

A Recipe Book With A Difference

Try The Herbal Route To Beauty

By ELLIE GROSSMAN
Herald Services

NEW YORK - According to "Nature's Big, Beautiful, Bonifant, Feel-Good Book," published by Keats, there was a lady called Anne de Lenclos who died in 1620 at the age of 85 in France.

People said she liked parties and was a lot of fun at them, if you knew what they meant, ho ho. But she didn't care what anyone said because the hours de'oeuvre were good and Moliere and her other men friends told her swell stories.

In any case, she was a terrific looker, even when she died. "Her body retained its youthful curves, her skin remained moist and smooth for all of her 85 years. Her beauty secrets were many and varied but the one she felt to be most important was her daily herbal bath."

We thought you might like to know how she made it.

First, you go out and get one handful each of dried or fresh lavender flowers, rosemary, mint, crushed confrey root - if you can't get fresh confrey root, we don't see why you can't use the frozen - and thyme. Of course, then you'll have them on your hands but that's good for a bath.

Four a quart of boiling water over all these handfuls, cover and let steep for 30 minutes.

Then it says, "Pour the entire contents into your bathtub and soak for at least 20 minutes." It seems to us that there should be water in the tub to begin with because you can't do much soaking in a quart of water unless you crunch down a lot which is no fun at all.

If you just want to smell good and don't care what you look like at 85, try the recipe for "A Sweet-Scented Bath" that John Middleton recommended in 1774.

"Take of Roses, Citron peel, Sweet flowers, Orange flowers, Jessamy, Bays, Rosemary, Lavender, Mint, Pennyroyal, of each a sufficient quantity, boil them together gently and make a Bath to which add Oyl of Spike six drops, musk five grains, Amgris three grains."

And if Spgle gives you any trouble about those six drops, tell him John Middleton sent you. It always helps to have a reference.

You'll Taste the Difference when you try...

Stitchin' Time Knits Are High Fashion

By JUDY LOVE
The Herald Services

The shawl with a matching skirt in this year's fashion message. You can easily knit your own, in your favorite colors, and know that your's is truly custom made. It's fun to do and glorious to wear.

You'll find creating this chic outfit to be a bargain. Note the cost of a comparable skirt and shawl and you will know that nothing can beat this hand knit beauty. Try using color combinations which will go with your whole wardrobe. If you tend toward muted colors, such as beige or soft grays, use one of those as your background. Then add zip to the outfit by making the stripes tawny rust and deep aubergine. Or, to dress it up make your background black with deep peacock blue and the darkest of emerald green stripes. Use your imagination and flare for any number of exotic combinations.

Can't beat this hand knit ensemble when you note the prices of comparable skirt and shawl set in stores.

Husband Puts Foot Down On Her Business Travels

Dear Abby
VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I've been married less than a month and my husband has already given me an ultimatum. If I go on any overnight business trips with the professional group I belong to, we are finished! Abby, this is my third marriage, and I want it to be my last.

I am a professional woman and I've gone to these meetings for years. I am not going to give them up just because my husband feels threatened.

I made the mistake of telling him about a couple of flings I had on these trips, but that was long before I knew him. I swear I have no interest in any other man!

He won't believe me. He is an absolute nut on the subject! I'm 38, and don't need an extracurricular fling.

How can I convince this nut I'm married to that he can trust me out of town?

NOT GIVING IN
DEAR NOT: You should have settled this with your "nut" before you tied the knot. If you invite him to go along on the trips, he may feel less threatened. If that doesn't work, you will have to choose between your nut and your business trip.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's boss wants to transfer us to a bigger city about 50 miles from here. It has more advantages for our children, but every time I think of moving, I burst into tears. I've put off going there to look for a place to live because I hate the thought of leaving this town.

I've lived here all my life. My family lives here. Our children's friends are here. And we have just built a lovely home. I know I sound selfish, but I can't help it. My husband succeeded in business, his greatest asset is a wife who is always in his corner. Let him accept the promotion. You and your children will make new friends. Help your husband climb the ladder of success by being supportive, and you will have another lovely home that he "Jack" built.

DEAR ABBY: I've just had the biggest slapdown in my life. My insurance company has disallowed the prosthesis I bought for the mastectomy I had four years ago.

It's not a case of vanity or replacing a piece of female equipment. It's a case of restoring equilibrium. Without proper balance, a woman cannot walk straight. Also, her neck and shoulders ache from the lopsidedness.

Those little pads and "falseies" from the department store don't work. At my son's wedding, I was dancing and having a marvelous time, when my sister caught my eye and whispered urgently in my ear, "Please go to the ladies' room and check your false!" It had had a mastectomy!

After that, I phoned my local American Cancer Society to find out where to get a properly fitting prosthesis. Just two days after I had it, my neck and shoulder pain disappeared. And it feels so good and looks so natural.

If you print this, maybe some bright insurance executive will see it and realize that such a prosthesis is not simply cosmetic. It's vital to the health of a woman who has had a mastectomy!

ST. LOUIS WOMAN
DEAR WOMAN: Here's your letter. Insurance executives? Tell your troubles to Abby. For a personal reply, write to Abby, Box 9700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Right Kind Of Water Keeps Flowers Fresh

By BILL BUCY
United Press International

An expert in environmental horticulture says holiday season floral decorations can be given longer lives with just a little care and some innovative ideas.

George Staby, a visiting professor at the University of California at Davis, said cut flowers can last longer with preservatives. Traditional Christmas plants such as poinsettias may even last until Easter.

The first step in preserving cut flowers is use of water with low mineral content and a preservative, Staby said in a telephone interview. He said rainwater or purified water such as that used in steam irons or dehumidifiers is best.

Commercial preservatives containing a sugar plant food and a germicide to kill bacteria also are needed to extend the life of cut flowers, he said.

But even 7-Up or Sprite mixed equally with water will do if you want to make your own," he added.

Folklore to the contrary, aspirin or copper pennies will not help.

Staby should be recut whenever possible and put back into the arrangement and leaves should be removed below the water line.

Staby said low temperatures are best, but flowers should not be placed in refrigerators.

Staby favors indirect natural or incandescent light for the best display of all floral decorations. He said fluorescent lights often make red flowers such as carnations or roses appear blue.

"They won't last longer, but they will look better," he said.

Flowers formed into decorations and placed in Florida's foam should not be lifted out because an air pocket can form at the end of the stem and cause it to wilt. The water level should be kept "well above" the level of the foam, Staby said.

Poinsettias, a popular Christmas plant, have been improved since the 1950s and 1960s. Staby emphasized that research has shown poinsettias are not toxic, a common belief over the years.

"That was just hearsay evidence," he said, eating the leaves is not a good idea.

The best temperature for poinsettias is 55-60 degrees Fahrenheit, he said. Plants and flowers should never be placed on hot surfaces such as television sets or heat registers.

He said poinsettias require indirect sunlight, a drainage hole container and watering only when necessary, but "very thoroughly."

Christmas cacti should be treated the same as houseplants.

Staby favors indirect natural or incandescent light for the best display of all floral decorations. He said fluorescent lights often make red flowers such as carnations or roses appear blue.

"They won't last longer, but they will look better," he said.

Baking Decorations Kills Insect Life

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (UPI)—There's one drawback to holiday decorations made with dried pine cones, nuts and seed pods gathered outdoors. They can harbor insects and other unwelcome small animal life.

A free pamphlet prepared by the Agricultural Research Service here tells how to eliminate the problem before it can spread.

As soon as you bring the material indoors, dry it in a 150-degree oven 15 to 30 minutes.

The six-page folder also has directions for gathering and treating specific plant materials, and making them into decorations such as wreaths, miniature trees, corsages, table centerpieces and an imitation poinsettia.

Directions also are included for using a live Christmas tree indoors, then transplanting it outdoors.

For a single copy of the folder, send a postcard with your name and address to Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo. 81009. Ask for "Christmas Decorations Made with Plant Materials."

Before Dirt Gets Too Far Clean And Wash Your Car

By HERB ALEXANDER

Everyone has his favorite car-washing tricks. Some swear by laundry detergent and hot-water, others prefer special car wash solutions, while some are loyal to kerosene and water. Whichever method you use, certain procedures are basic. Washing is only half the job. To protect that finish, you should give it a coat of wax. That paint job may look absolutely smooth, but it is filled with microscopic pores that are subject to damage from dirt, moisture and heat unless sealed.

Waxing also saves work. Your car will need a thorough scrubbing before waxing, but after waxing you can clean off road dirt with an occasional cold water wash.

When a car needs re-waxing, remove what's left of the old coating with a good wash job. Keep your car parked in the shade for at least an hour before you start waxing. The surface should be cool. Cold water on a hot surface can damage the paint.

Wax down your car to remove much of the loose dust and dirt. Don't use a high-pressure stream of water.

Set the brakes before you start. The shoes pressed against the drums will keep the brake linings from getting wet, and also prevent any freak accident.

Always wet the car and wash it from the bottom up. NOT from the top down. Water running down over a dirty surface will cause streaks impossible to remove.

Don't allow the water to dry in patches. Wipe off with a chamois or soft cloth.

Now that it's washed, the car clean enough to wax? Not likely. There's a layer of dead lacquer that should be removed with a before-waxing cleaner. Some products combine a wax and cleaner. If you are using one of these, and you are satisfied with the result, you can stop after that one application.

Wax in the shade or on a dull day. The car body should be cool. Wax a small area at a time. Use a water-dampened cloth pad to apply, then spread evenly with a dry cloth. Give wax a few moments to dry, then polish. Be sure to read manufacturer's instructions.

A wax finish in good condition will cause water to bead and roll off. But if your car is in the rain and the water just spreads out, chances are it needs a new wax job.

Don't forget bumpers, hub caps and wheel rims. They need waxing and waxing, too. Use chrome polish wherever needed, and protect the surface with a wax coating.

Apply extra wax around the gas cap. Spilled gas will dull this area quickly.

It's Official: Amtrak Drops The 'Floridian'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Amtrak board of directors voted today to discontinue Chicago-Florida passenger train service Jan. 19 because Congress failed to appropriate enough money to keep the train running.

Instead, Chicago-Florida service would be rerouted some day through Atlanta and Savannah, Ga., if enough funds ever become available.

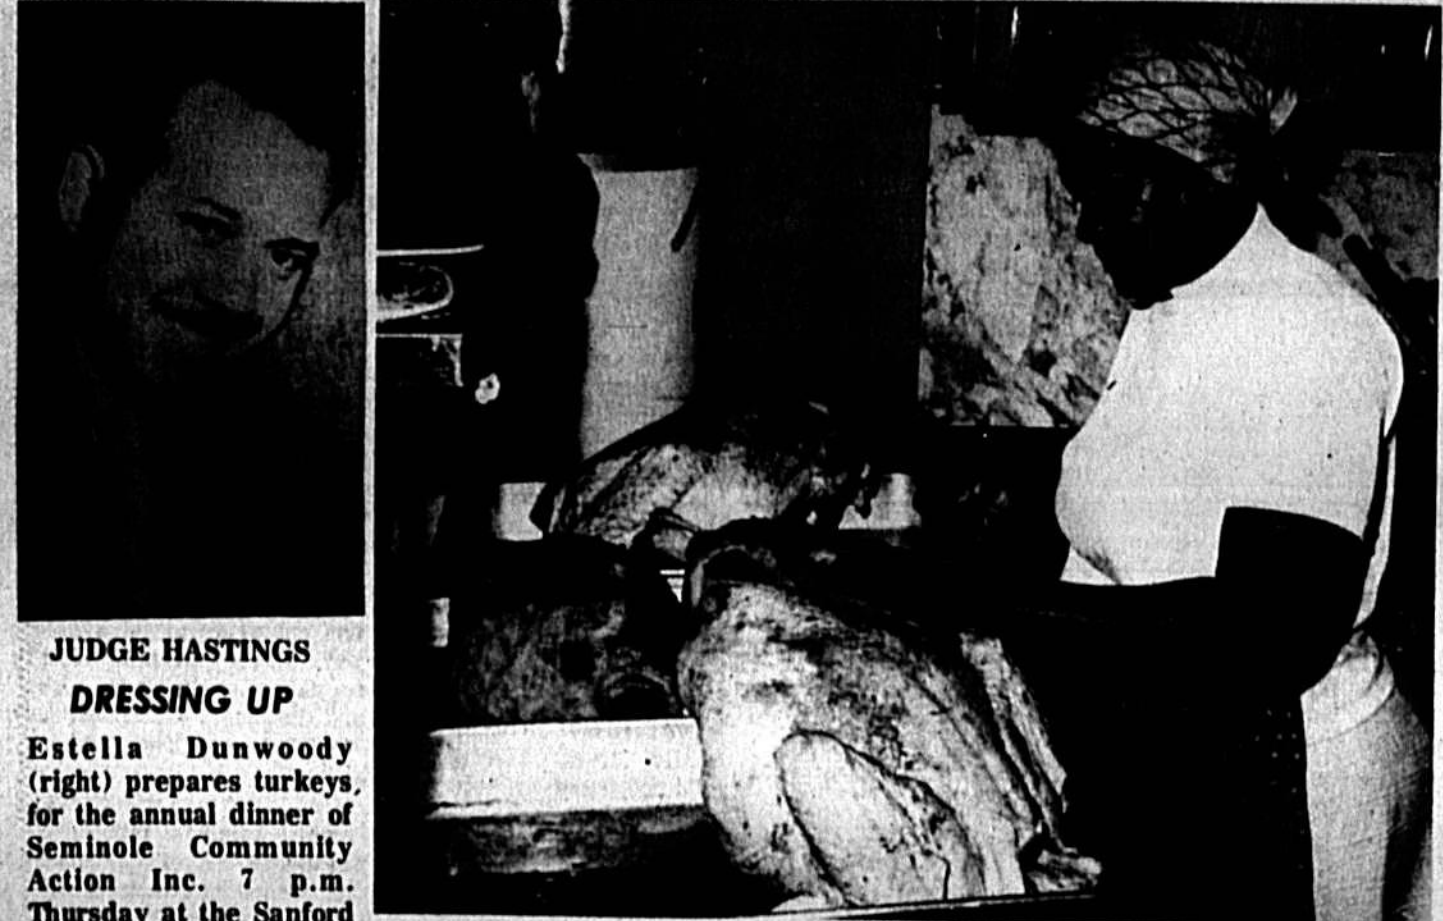

The train now operates via Louisville, Nashville, Birmingham, Montgomery and into Florida through Jacksonville. The new route, if it is started, would go through Louisville and Nashville, but then would turn down through Chattanooga, Atlanta, Macon and Savannah before joining the old route at Jacksonville.

The discontinuance was the first major route abandonment in Amtrak's six-year history. It was made necessary when Congress appropriated only $8 million of an additional $8 million requested by Amtrak.

At the same board meeting, the board voted to place four routes in a category of investigation which could lead to abandonment within the next few months. Those routes are:

- Chicago to Seattle.
- Chicago to Houston.
- Chicago to Laredo, Texas.
- Oakland to Bakerfield, Calif.

Public hearings will be scheduled in cities along these routes as part of the final moves in determining whether they, like the Chicago-Florida "Floridian," should be discontinued.

JUDGE HASTINGS DRESSING UP
Estella Dunwoody (right) prepares turkeys for the annual dinner of Seminole Community Action Inc. 7 p.m. Thursday at the Sanford Civic Center. Keynote speaker will be Broward County Circuit Court Judge Alice L. Hastings, a Sanford native. William H. Havenell, secretary of the State Department of Community Affairs, and regional director of the Community Services Administration, also are expected to attend. The dinner will be preceded by an open house of SCA facilities.

Ouch, Love!

Sometimes a boyfriend's kiss hurts.

Ask the 16-year-old Winter Park girl whose mother reported an incident today to Seminole Sheriff's deputies.

It seems the high school girl was wearing braces when her boyfriend insisted on kissing her, according to her mother.

"It hurt," the girl's mother told deputies. "So, she bit his tongue."

The boyfriend, in pain, knocked the girl to the ground, deputies reported. The boyfriend is being sought.

Holiday For Cook, Too

Bring-A-Dish Thanksgiving Feast Means Less Work

By AILEEN CLAIRE Herald Services

Conversation recently turned, as it will, at this special time in the fall to plans for Thanksgiving dinner. "Thanksgiving," one person said, "means turkey." Another chimed into the conversation with, "It's the only special holiday anymore that's really a holiday. In my family we just ease around all day."

Every family seems to have a special Thanksgiving routine, often worked around a very important high school, college or pro football game. And, even though family members and friends seem to come and go as their Thanksgiving schedules permit each year, it still is a "family" event with the family more often than not including new neighbors and friends.

Just as those who join hands at the Thanksgiving table in a blessing may have changed with the years so has the attitude toward preparing the very special meal. Few rise at 3:30 the morning anymore to put the turkey in the oven and make all the fixings. Yet, everyone wants that old-fashioned turkey dinner. This is an ideal time to turn that Thanksgiving feast into a bring-a-dish affair so family and guests truly can just "ease" through the day.

FESTIVE TANGERINE PUNCH
6 cans frozen concentrated tangerine juice, undiluted
1 1/2 cups light corn syrup
1/2 cup lime juice
5 quarts gingerale or champagne, chilled
Tangerine segments
Combine tangerine juice concentrate, corn syrup and lime juice and mix thoroughly.

Just before serving, add gingerale or champagne and float tangerine segments in punch. If desired, tangerine segments may be placed in sections of ice cube trays covered with gingerale and frozen. The tangerine ice cubes make an interesting "float" in the punch bowl. Makes about 50 half-cup servings.

MUSHROOM CANAPES
2 tablespoons olive oil or salad oil
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/4 pound mushrooms chopped (4 cups)
4 1/2 teaspoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons sour cream
2 tablespoons chopped chives
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
1 tablespoon dry white wine (optional)
Melba toast rounds

Heat oil in skillet. Add onions and cook them until transparent. Add mushrooms and cook until tender. Remove from heat and stir in lemon juice, sour cream, chives, salt, pepper sauce and wine. Chill. Drain off liquid and serve mushroom mixture in small bowl surrounded with toast rounds. Makes about 8 appetizer servings.

BROCCOLI QUICHE
Pastry for single-crust 9-inch pie
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese, divided
2 cups chopped fresh broccoli
1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
1/2 cup sliced scallions
3 eggs

Prick bottom and corners of pastry with fork. Bake in 450-degree oven for 5 minutes. Remove from oven and sprinkle with 2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese. Layer half the broccoli over the Parmesan cheese. Continue with layers of half Swiss cheese and scallions. Repeat with remaining broccoli, Swiss cheese and scallions. Beat eggs; add thickened cream, salt, and pepper sauce. Mix well. Pour over broccoli mixture in pastry shell. Sprinkle with remaining 2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese. Bake 10 minutes at 450-degree. Reduce heat to 325-degree and bake 20 to 25 minutes longer or until knife inserted in center of pie comes out clean. Let stand 5 to 10 minutes before cutting. Makes 10 to 12 appetizer servings.

GRAPEFRUIT-AVOCADO CHANTILLY
4 Florida grapefruits, sectioned
1 cup halved seedless green grapes
1/2 cup sliced scallions
Scrap out most of avocado and cut into cubes, leaving a shell. Combine cubed avocado with grapefruit sections, grapes and scallions in bowl; mix lightly. Spoon into avocado shells and serve with Grapefruit-Tarragon Dressing. Makes 8 servings.

Grains And Gourds

Harvest Of Traditional Foods For Fall

Apples, peaches, pumpkin pie — how traditional are you and I? Take advantage of the fall months. It's the vegetable season and a great time for new cooking ideas in the spirit of Southern Hospitality. With enriched self-rising flour and corn meal, fresh vegetables come alive in startling new guises.

Today's recipes evolve from hundreds of years of American traditions and customs. Autumn is perhaps, our country's most remembered season. When colonists first arrived, they had until November to prepare for winter. By that time, their chances of survival were fairly clear. If they did well, there was Thanksgiving.

Native North American crops saved many settlements. Imagine the wonder of discovering strange and marvelous foods like sweet potatoes — a member of the morning glory family. Squash is also native to the western hemisphere and thought to have been grown in Peru as long as 2000 years ago.

Today's southern menu is rarely complete without some kind of hot quick bread. With all these great vegetables readily available, use them — all of them — plain and in combination with other foods. Pumpkin adds flavor and moisture to quick loaf breads, muffins and cakes. Try our Pumpkin Cake or try our leftover sweet potato, add it to the batter, instead. Both give the bread a cake as it keeps well refrigerated for days or frozen for several weeks.

Winter squash, which actually begin ripening in October and November, include acorn, butternut and Hubbard. The winter squash are excellent sources of vitamin A as well as supplying some vitamin C, riboflavin and iron.

The pumpkin, another of the fall gourds, is native to Central America. It was brought north by the Indians and was growing extensively when the first colonists arrived. Pumpkin is also an excellent source of vitamin A.

Bring-A-Dish On Thanksgiving

(Continued from Page 18) To section grapefruit. Cut slices from top, then cut off peel in strips from top to bottom, cutting deep enough to remove white membrane. Or cut off peel round and round in a circle. Go over fruit again to remove any remaining white membrane. Cut along side each dividing membrane from top to middle of core. Remove section by section over bowl to retain juice.

Orange Rice Makes Flavorful Stuffing

In large skillet and cook with onion until meat is done and onion is golden but not brown. Add cooked rice, poultry seasoning, raisins, walnuts and orange sections. Mix lightly. Sprinkle salt and pepper in cavities of turkey. Stuff turkey with rice mixture. The legs together, then to the center, wings behind back to hold neck skin. Place in roasting pan with rub outside of turkey with orange juice reserved from sections. Cover loosely with foil. Bake in 325-degree oven for 2 hours. Uncover and continue baking 1 and one-half to 2 hours or until turkey tests done, basting occasionally with pan drippings. Remove turkey from oven; transfer to heated platter. Add water to drippings; bring to a boil. Thicken, if desired, with 2 tablespoons flour mixed with 1/2 cup cold water. Makes 8 servings.

HOROSCOPE
By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Thursday, Nov. 17, 1977

YOUR BIRTHDAY Nov. 17, 1977
This coming year some changes may occur not of your own making. Flow with the tide rather than back it, for it will carry you to areas of opportunity you would not have found otherwise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If everyone seems to give you a hard time today it's possible they're merely reacting to the way you treat them. Stand up and you won't snarl alone. Having trouble selecting a career? Send for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter by mailing 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The storm warnings are up today regarding problems of your own making. Be careful of what you do and also that which you neglect to do.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Financial dealings with pals today should be conducted along the most amicable lines possible, by all. Selfishness or stinginess will hurt the relationship.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Take nothing for granted, even in situations where you feel you have the upper hand. The rig should be pulled out from under you.

FIBRES (Feb. 26-March 26) There's a chance you can be manipulated today because of your reluctance to make a stand up for what you believe is right.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You will encounter severe resistance today if you interfere in situations outside your "beliefs." Don't do what you're not invited.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Treat with utmost concern today matters that could reflect upon your reputation. Wrong moves could leave stains difficult to erase.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Evaluate your priorities sensibly today so as not to waste excessive effort on things that will prove to be of small consequence.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Generally you're not prone to taking outlandish risks, but involvements of this nature may appeal to you today. Don't let the long odds tempt you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Unless you and your mate are in complete accord regarding a major expenditure today, postpone action till a compromise is worked out.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Whether this will be a productive day for you depends largely upon the way you deal with helpers and coworkers. Try to be benign, not bossy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Manage your assets with wisdom. This is not a day to squander what you have or assume the obligations of one who is a poor risk.

Skipped Beats Very Common

DEAR DR. LAMB — My problem is cardiac irregularity. I have many extra beats that occur all at one time with the feeling that the heart is struggling to beat regularly, but cannot come out of it. It is most frightening when they occur that way. An occasional one I can tolerate, but this scares me a lot.

They occur at any time, even at night while asleep. I work hard at trying to put them out of my mind, but then I'll read where they can mean sudden death and I'll be very upset.

Is it true they can mean sudden death? My clinic has several doctors, and one tells me to rest when they occur, another one tells me to exercise, and I have a feeling the others would tell me something else. I'm confused as to what is the solution and cause. Can you tell me?

I'm 46 in the menopause, 5 feet 10, weight 155. I don't smoke, drink coffee or liquor, only about three cups of tea a day.

I'm on a very tight amount of thyroid that my doctor says is not really needed according to the test, but might prove helpful anyway. My doctor says he has no idea what causes my extra beats. Can shed some light on it please?

DEAR READER — Extra beats, skipped beats, flip flops or whatever you want to call them, are rather common. You have to judge their importance by the rest of the patient's health status. In a person such as yourself, who apparently has no evidence of heart disease as you would see with abnormal heart sounds, heart pain or high blood pressure, they may have little significance other than the discomfort they cause you.

I saw a lot of these in the young healthy men in the U.S. Air Force flying personnel. Our group studied over 120,000 records and such extra beats were common.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 6-12, Heart Irregularities, Skipped Beats, Tachycardia to give you more details. Others who want information on such problems can send 50 cents, with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1851, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

We also know that nervousness can make matters worse. Tea, contains caffeine, and you might as well stop that. Coffee, tea, cola, cigarettes, anything that upsets the digestion can increase the frequency of these.

Then South solved his problem. He rose with dummy's ace of diamonds, led a low trump to his ace and then the lack of trumps to find both opponents following suit nicely. Then he took two of dummy's high spades. When everyone followed he was ready with a safety play. He ruffed a low spade, got back to dummy with the queen of trumps, discarded a club and diamond on the last two spades and led a club toward his king.

West won with the ace and the defenders scored two more club tricks, but the rubber bonus was safe in South's pocket.

Ask the Jacobys

A New Mexico reader wants to know if there were ever five-point scores possible in contract.

The original scoring table counted notrump at 30 points a trick and it was some time later that the current 40 for the first trick and 30 for subsequent tricks was adopted.

South studied the dummy for a long time. He wondered about how he could have reached three notrump. There were nine quick tricks if spades failed to break and 11 if they did.

There would also be 12 tricks at hearts if the spades broke and maybe even 12 if they didn't. But South's problem was to get 10 while guarding against both a 4-2 spade break and a misplaced ace of clubs.

Cranberry Leather: Culinary Adventure

Herald Services
By CECILY BROWNSTONE
When we told a friend what fun we had making summertime sun-dried peach-plum leather, she was inspired to concoct autumn oven-dried cranberry leather and to bring us some.
How lovely a sheet of the cranberry leather looked when we unwrapped it and held it up to the light! Why not use our cookie cutters on part of it to cut out garnishes for the holidays? The idea worked wonderfully well.
Our reaction: we love old-fashioned fruit leathers. There's a lot of gratification in achieving those beautiful, edible sheets of pureed fruit.
CRANBERRY LEATHER
1 pound fresh cranberries
1/4 cup orange juice
1/2 cup sugar

1/4 cup light corn syrup
Coarsely shredded rind of 2 large oranges (3 tablespoons)
1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ground clove
Line two jellyroll pans (each about 15 by 10 by 1 inch) with clear plastic film, having it extend 1 inch up the sides of the pan; secure with tape.
Place cranberries and discard any imperfect ones. In a 2-quart saucepan over medium-low heat, cook the cranberries and orange juice, covered and stirring often, until the juices begin to flow — 5 to 10 minutes. Add the sugar and corn syrup and stir thoroughly. Simmer, covered, for 20 minutes. Puree in a food mill over a bowl; return puree to the saucepan. Stir in the orange rind, cinnamon and cloves. Simmer, uncovered and stirring occasionally, until very thick — 10 minutes.
Four one-half of the cranberry mixture into each prepared pan. With a rubber or metal spatula spread the mixture thinly and evenly in each pan to within 1 inch of the edges. Dry and prepare for storage according to the following directions.
Oven-drying: If using an electric oven preheat it to warm (140 to 150 degrees) and turn off oven. Place pans on 2 racks in the middle of the oven, leaving door slightly ajar. Drying will take about 24 hours. The cranberry puree will be dry enough when, after loosening an edge with a small metal spatula, it can be peeled away from the plastic film in a sheet. Remove from plastic film and place the leather on a clean piece of plastic film, making sure that the film is several inches longer than the leather. Roll up from the narrow edge so that the plastic film touches each part of the fruit sheet. Seal ends with plastic ties or small rubber bands.
Storage: Refrigerate up to 3 months or freeze up to 6 months.
Makes 2 leathers, each 13 by 8 inches.
Note: cookie cutters may be used to cut garnishes from the leather in holiday shapes: turkeys, cornucopias, stars, hearts and so forth.

A Son Defends, Stumps For His Father

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The remark was directed toward a poised and calm 18-year-old Dale Christensen, who spoke on behalf of the candidacy for re-election of his father, Mayor Gerald Christensen.

At the conclusion of the forum, the young Seminole Community College student who is working toward a degree in public administration and hopes to be a city manager ultimately accepted handshakes and congratulations for his presentation. He said his father told him at 2:30 that he had a previous commitment and could not make the meeting.

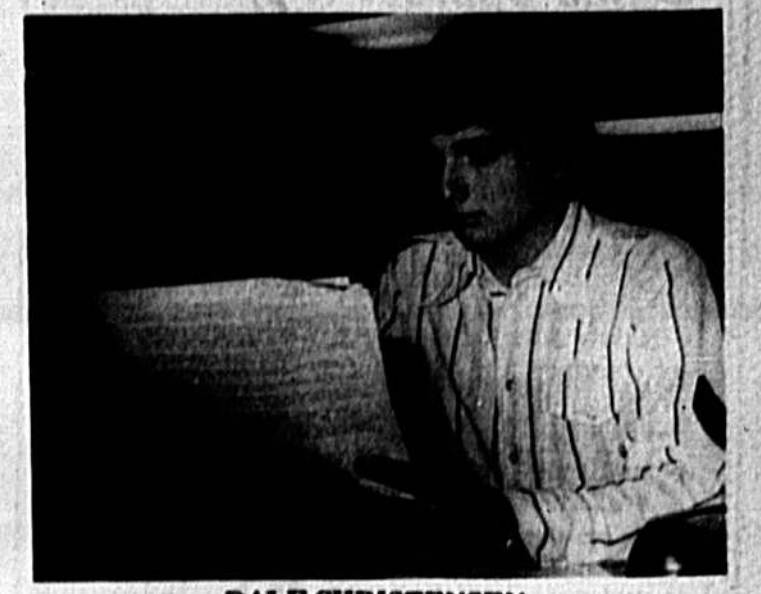

"He asked me to appear for him and I started to cram then," he said, adding that he hoped he had presented his father credibly. Dale attends most meetings of the city council.

Dale in brief opening remarks gave credit to his father, the city council and the county-at-large for advances and progress during the two-year Christensen administration of city government.

Among the accomplishments he cited were: reduction of property taxes; the cleaning of Gee Creek by prison labor; acquisition of the 60 kilowatt emergency generator at no cost for the city; the city's AAAA bond credit rating; the annexation of the Deer Run Planned Unit Development and the acquisition of the development's utility system at no cost to the city.

Young Christensen said his father opposes double taxation and would support a class action suit by all the

SCIDA-SCOPA Merger Study Panel Urged

By MARK WEINBERG
Herald Staff Writer

A Seminole County Commissioner who has been critical of operations at the county port Wednesday proposed the establishment of a study committee to help commissioners decide whether the port should be merged with Seminole County Industrial Development Authority (SCIDA).

Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski, who proposed setting up the committee at a Wednesday work session, said the group could make its recommendation to commissioners in time for the commission to submit a Seminole County Port Authority (SCOPA-SCIDA) merger bill to the state legislature in late January or early February.

During the county commission's budget deliberations last August, Kwiatkowski urged that an independent auditor be hired to audit the port's books. Commissioners voted to give $75,000 in county property tax support to the port—the first time in three years such financial support was requested by port officials.

Commissioners are preparing legislative proposals for submission next Tuesday to the county's state legislative delegation. Commissioners will meet with the four-person delegation next Tuesday at 3 p.m. in Courtroom B at the courthouse in Sanford.

Four of the five county commissioners have said they support some type of merger between the two agencies, whose goal is to increase industrial development and jobs in Seminole County. Commissioners favoring a merger are Dick Williams, Bob French, Bill Kirchhoff and Harry Kwiatkowski.

"Let's tell the delegation next Tuesday what we're doing so they will expect proposed legislation on this later," Kwiatkowski said.

"The county attorney's office says the two agencies could be combined by state legislation. We should take some time to evaluate advantages and disadvantages of a merger."

Commissioners will resume consideration of a proposed legislative program in a work session Monday at 9 a.m. in commission offices.

In memorandum to commissioners, Kwiatkowski said if the agencies were combined, he favors establishment of an industrial development advisory board to help guide the county's efforts to increase its tax base by encouraging industries to locate here.

"I don't know if I find any value in that way of operating the port," said Commissioner John Alexander. "I agree there's a margin of doubt as to how productive our industrial development efforts are, but I don't know if I can necessarily find a solution by combining the two. We need solid facts to see if a merged operation would be better."

Kirchhoff suggested the possibility of creating a single board of directors for both organizations but maintaining each organization separately. "The drawback of state legislation is the legislature might not adopt the kind of bill we want. What you get back might not be what you anticipated."

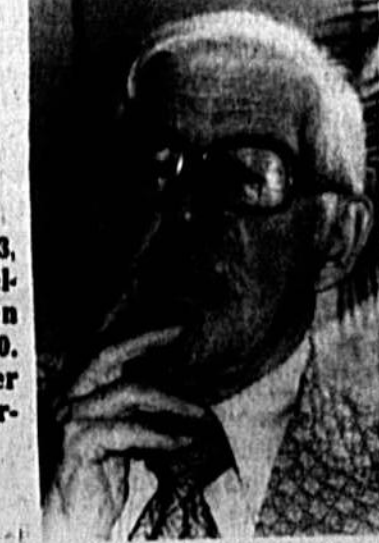

County commissioners last year have had the power to appoint members of the SCOPA board. Until the state law governing the port was changed last year, the governor made appointments of the board. SCIDA board members are appointed by commissioners as well.

Commissioners could merge the boards of directors by appointing SCIDA board members to the SCOPA board. The commission recently appointed SCIDA board member Georges St. Laurent to the SCOPA board.

"We're paying two people to administer two programs doing the same job," said French, also a member of the SCOPA board. "I'm against the current set-up."

SMOKE SCREEN

Henry Hainer, 83, 660 Iris Rd., Casselberry, has been smoking since 1910. "I read it in the paper yesterday, but I forgot all about it."

Former Seminole resident Bomer Bowen, 39, now of Louisville, Ky., smoked only one cigarette today. "We'll try and clear the air for one day anyway."

Edwin Loslewitz, 29, of 2422 S. Sumner Ave., Sanford, didn't know today had been proclaimed "The Great American Smokeout Day" and wouldn't have stopped for the day if he did. "I can't see where it would make much difference."

And How About Barbers?

Can Bartender Spot Mental Illness Sign?

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Specialists at the Western Mental Health Center are launching a program to arrest emotional disturbances at an early stage by teaching barbers, beauticians and bartenders to detect telltale signs of mental illness.

"I think there is real potential in this," said Dr. Robert Pogue, a psychiatrist at the center. "These people are often in situations to pick up the first signs of severe mental problems."

About 30 persons turned out for the first in a series of seminars designed to teach barbers, beauticians and bartenders symptoms of the various forms of mental illness. They are also being made aware of the services that area mental health clinics offer.

Pogue said steps have been taken to caution participants in the program against offending their patrons.

"We want them to try to make a person aware of the help he may receive at the center, or just to lend a sympathetic ear. That often is the best therapy," Pogue said. "We don't want them to alienate people."

Shandra Jackson, a mental health consultant, said barbers, beauticians and bartenders with regular clientele are often the first to spot a deviation in a person's behavior.

Armed with effective listening and counseling skills, Miss Jackson said the problem may be handled without ever having to resort to in-patient treatment, which she said still carries a stigma.

"Of course, they don't leave here feeling they can go and handle the world," Miss Jackson said, "but it's a start."

Tank Leak

Fremens said the chlorine leak occurred in a 100 pound cylinder in a truck at the Industrial Chemical Corp. at 1817 South Division, Orlando.

A five by eight block area of homes, industries and commercial businesses was evacuated, Fremens said.

Engineering Firm Selects Seminole For New Plant

By TOM GIORDANO

Seminole County's economic future continues to brighten today, according to Jim Daniel, executive director of Seminole County Industrial Development Authority (SCIDA), with the announcement another industry is locating here which will initially employ up to 100.

The newest company to locate in Seminole County is Arnold Engineering Co. of Marengo, Ill., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Allegheny Ludlum Industries of Pittsburgh, Pa., according to Daniel.

His emphasized, however, the industrial bond issue will be paid for by the company from earnings, "and no taxpayer money is involved."

The engineering company plans to construct two 30,000-square-foot buildings and employ, initially, 100 workers at a Southeast Seminole County site.

The firm manufactures electronic components which will be sold nationally and abroad to the computer, measurement and control, research and aerospace industries, according to a company spokesman.

Financing for the land purchase, site preparation, construction of the two buildings and necessary plant equipment will be through a $1.4-million industrial bond issue handled by SCIDA, Daniel said.

"We are presently negotiating with four or five other companies looking seriously at locating in Seminole County and that could mean up to 800 more jobs. Not all at first, of course, but at different stages of development leading up to an ultimate 800 jobs."

Why the continued interest by industry in Seminole County? Daniel pinpointed the answer: "I think Seminole County is beginning to get the kind of recognition it deserves from the industrial sector. We currently have high-caliber industry here, and indications are this county now is being looked at by high caliber industries around the nation, and just as significantly, by those industries in the northeast part of the country."

Industry from around the nation, Daniel pointed out, is continuously looking at the south and more specifically Florida to locate plants.

"And Seminole County is beginning to get the recognition that will lead to our getting a share of that new industry," he asserted.
