

Barry And Rocky In Last-Ditch Primary Pitch

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller kept fighting for votes today in the final hours of a California presidential primary campaign with managers of both candidates predicting victory.

The two Republican presidential candidates are matched in Tuesday's critical primary contest — the last and most important presidential primary of 1964. The winner gets 86 national convention votes.

Rockefeller was flying back overnight from New York, where his son, Nelson Jr., was born Saturday, for a 1,500-mile hedge-hopping trip up and down the state by chartered plane. His schedule called for 12 airport stops beginning this morning at San Diego, up as far north as Chico and back through San Francisco to Los Angeles.

If both Rockefeller and Goldwater keep their schedules, they will be holding separate rallies tonight, less than an hour apart, at Los Angeles.

Goldwater planned to fly this afternoon from Washington for his airport appearance at Los Angeles. He also will appear on a state television hookup tonight.

Victory forecasts came Sunday from Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, chairman of the Rockefeller campaign in California, and former Sen. William F. Knowland, the Goldwater chairman.

Knowland said his belief that Goldwater would win by 500,000 votes was buttressed by big turnouts for the conservative Arizona senator at campaign rallies Saturday.

No Mansion For Groundkeeper

READING, England (UPI) — The Berkshire County Council's planning department decided against building a cottage for the $28-a-week grounds-keeper of its new $6,600 recreation area and recommended that a house adjoining the property be bought instead.

Members of the planning department were red-faced when they were informed the house was a 30-room mansion valued at $98,000.

Parking Signs Are Mystery

LONDON (UPI) — Two large signs outside a Westminster telephone exchange read: "Do not park between these signs."

Mystified motorists cannot understand why three parking meters are situated in between the signs.

First Of 'Sunflavor' Mellons On Market

Carolyn King, of Bartow, national watermelon queen joined with Florida's Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner recently in launching the first shipment of watermelons bearing the new Florida SunFLAVOR seal.

WITH AN ASSIST from pretty Carolyn King, national watermelon queen, the first shipment of watermelons bearing Florida's SunFLAVOR seal have gone to market. The seal designates Florida's top agricultural products. Carolyn is sponsored by the Watermelon Growers and Distributors Association, a national trade group.

The seal, chosen in a contest which drew more than 10,000 entries, is used to designate only Florida's top agricultural products. Watermelons are the third commodity to qualify for use of the seal. Previously, potatoes and corn came under the SunFLAVOR designation.

While Carolyn reigns as the national watermelon queen, she is, appropriately enough, from Florida — the nation's principal producer of watermelons. Each year, Florida ships some $10 million worth of watermelons to markets throughout the country.

Carolyn, a student at the University of Florida in Gainesville, is sponsored by the Watermelon Growers and Distributors Association, which is headed by W. R. (Bill) Ward Jr., of Lakeland. The association, a national trade group, is observing its 50th anniversary this year.

Corpse Just A Dummy

CLACTON, England, (UPI) — Two police cars were dispatched to a hotel here Sunday night when a telephone caller reported: "Some men have just carried a corpse in through the back door."

The "corpse" turned out to be a tailor's dummy which was being used by a film company.

The lark is the monetary unit of Albania.

Little Mermaid Gets Back Head

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (UPI) — The little mermaid of Copenhagen, her new head affixed, to the harbor side. A crane gently lifted her back to the pedestal overlooking the harbor today after a five-week absence.

Vandals had decapitated her April 25. She gazed out again with that sad smile world tourists and Danes know so well and on the city that loves her like a daughter.

City Opens Water System Bids

Figures On 4 Categories Of Project Given

Bids were opened Monday afternoon for this city's $800,000 water improvement program and City Manager Warren E. Knowles reported the apparent low offers were at or near the estimates.

The city recently authorized the issuance of bonds for the work and Monday's formal opening was one of the major steps in getting the job done.

Knowles told the 29 bidding firms that the bids will be analyzed, presented to the City Commission and formal action is expected to be taken on them at the June 8 meeting.

The project was divided into four categories—water supply wells, prestressed concrete tanks, cast iron pipe and water treatment plants.

Assisting in the bid opening were the city's new engineer, Albert Shaw, who began his duties here this week, and B. C. (Cal) Conklin, resident engineer for the consulting firm of Clark, Dietz, Painter & Associates.

The apparent low bidder for the water supply wells was Meredith Corporation of Orlando with $23,473.

Other bidders included Layne Atlantic Company, Orlando; Central Florida Well Drillers, Orlando; Mechanical & Chemical Company, Brandon; and Locke Well & Pump Company, Orlando.

The lone bidder for the prestressed concrete tanks was Cron Corporation, Gainesville, with $161,290.

Apparent low bidder for the cast iron pipe was E. N. Murray Construction Company, Buena Vista, Ga., with $236,695.06.

Other bidders included Noll Construction Company, Charlotte, N. C.; Patterson & Wilder Construction Company, Birmingham, Ala.; Cambron Construction, Orlando; R. C. Riley Construction Company, Pompano Beach; Bumbly & Stimpson Construction Company, Orlando; Boyce Company, Clearwater; Mackle Brothers, DeLand; Hubbard Construction Company, Orlando.

Apparent low bidder for the water treatment plants was Mackle Brothers with $237,777. Lee Construction Company of Sanford was next lowest with a base bid of $258,000.

Other bidding firms included Hubbard Construction Company, Bainer Hull & Company, Winter Park; Wakeman Construction Company, Palm Beach.

12 Locations To Be Set Up Sabin Sunday

Plans are being pushed to completion for this Sunday clinics to administer Sabin oral vaccine to county residents.

The "feeding stations" will be set up in 12 locations throughout the county and each will be open from noon to 5 p.m.

The program is being arranged by Sanford-Seminole Jaycees in cooperation with the Seminole County Health Department.

This is the second project in a two-part series aimed at wiping out polio. The Sabin vaccine is taken in a cube of sugar or in distilled water for those preferring it that way.

Those who visited the clinics during the previous program are asked to adhere to the same schedule. If the person attended the first clinic then, he should do the same this time, officials point out.

If the person waited for the makeup Sunday a week later, he should skip this Sunday's clinic but be sure to attend the makeup scheduled for the following Sunday.

John Thomas Kyle, a 16-year-old high school student and son of the president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, was arrested a few hours after Diane's body was discovered.

Blackhawk County deputy medical examiner Dr. Eugene Smith said Diane, 19, the daughter of a prominent real estate operator, had been stabbed four times, twice in the left side of her chest and twice in the head. In addition to the teeth marks, there were bruises on her neck.

Diane had stayed home during the Memorial Day weekend while her parents went on a fishing trip at Harper's Ferry, Iowa. She stayed behind to catch up on work at her father's office, where she was employed as a secretary.

It does not seem that it is enough to just resolve—we must act on its resolution."

Rehearing Set In Kelly Case

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—One of the cases that triggered impeachment charges against circuit Judge Richard Kelly of Pasco County went back to the Supreme Court today on rehearing.

The court had ruled on the case in March, siding with Judge Kelly in a four-to-two split decision.

However, it turned out that Justice Richard Ervin, one of the judges who concurred in the majority opinion, was disqualified to sit in the case because he had been the attorney of record for Kelly while Ervin was state attorney general.

Upon this fact being called to its attention, the court granted a rehearing because it requires the affirmative votes of four justices for any Supreme Court decision.

Ervin was replaced at today's rehearing by former Justice H. L. Seligson of St. Petersburg, now dean of the Stetson Law College. Chief Justice E. Harris Drew, who disqualified himself because he presided at the Kelly impeachment trial before the state senate which resulted in Kelly's acquittal, was replaced by retired Justice Paul Barns of Miami University Law School.

Gov. Bryant On Ruling: 'Choice To Deny God'

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Gov. Farris Bryant said the U.S. Supreme Court ruling Monday that struck down Florida's law requiring public school Bible reading gives "citizen only" choice to deny God.

In Washington, Sen. George A. Smathers said the Supreme Court may soon be prohibiting the government from recognizing Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Most state officials felt it was just a matter of time until the law was ordered erased by the high court. The action Monday will have no practical effect until the schools open next fall.

And when schools reopen in September local school boards may use a new unratified state law that gives the board the option to offer in the schools "a secular program of education including but not limited to an objective study of the Bible and of religion." The law was passed by the 1963 Legislature.

Bryant said in a statement following the decision Monday: "I can not escape the conclusion that this nation must either place its faith in God or deny him and that the choice the Supreme Court makes in this ruling is to deny him."

California Vote May Decide GOP Future

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—California Republicans vote today in a primary expected to decide whether the GOP veers toward conservatism or hunts for a presidential candidate in the middle of the road.

The choice is between Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, hero of Republican conservatism, and the more liberal Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, who was given an edge by poll-takers.

They are the only candidates in a presidential primary contest for 86 national convention delegates. Write-in votes may not be cast.

Mild, fair weather was forecast for most of the state. About two million Republicans were expected to vote, along with 2.6 million Democrats, who have primary squabbles of their own. The polls are open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. PDT, (10 a. m. to 10 p. m. EDT) in most counties and to 8 p. m. (11 p. m. EDT) in five counties.

Both Rockefeller and Goldwater returned to California Monday for last minute efforts climaxed a campaign marked by bitterness and name calling. It has threatened to cause a deep rift inside the GOP and has caused a heavy drain on the energy and money of both campaign organizations.

When Goldwater arrived at the Los Angeles airport Monday night he was greeted by noisy cheers from his supporters. Some of them stayed on to give Bronx cheers to Rockefeller, who was finishing a tour of the state and trying to talk to his own backers. Polke kept on the alert to prevent trouble, and Rockefeller joked about his chance to talk to Goldwater fans, who were booing him.

COMSAT Stock Goes On Sale

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wall Street got the blast-off signal from the Securities & Exchange Commission today and the world's first stock offering in a space venture went into orbit.

The Communications Satellite Corp. COMSAT received final approval of its 5 million common share offering in Washington and the stock opened on the over-the-counter market at the official underwritten price of $20 a share at 10:08 a.m. EDT. Within a short time it shot up to $27, fell back to $22 a share then moved up again to $24 bid $20 offered.

Demand for the stock, mostly from small investors, has raised a problem of allocating shares. The company has imposed a limit of 50 shares per customer, but most brokers felt that few investors will get even that many.

Three Building Entries Probed

Three entries of buildings in the city are being probed by police this morning. The burglaries, or attempts, were made during the night.

Thieves were thwarted during the night when they attempted to enter the Hill Lumber Company office at 213 W. Third St. A glass in a door was broken but no entry was made.

Gasoline was taken from a nearby truck and keys to it were tossed on the ground, police report.

The Home Builders Supply Company on West Seminole Blvd. was entered during the night and the burglars made off with several power tools, a calculator and electric shaver.

The entry was discovered this morning by Wayne Burgess as he opened the establishment at 7:30.

The band tower at Crooms High School was entered by breaking a glass and check was being made to see if anything is missing.

Trial Of Catholic Officer Begins

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—The politically explosive trial of a Roman Catholic officer accused of ordering troops' fire on Buddhist demonstrators opened today amid mounting religious tension.

Maj. Dang Si went on trial charged with responsibility for the deaths of nine demonstrators in the city of Hue on May 8, 1963, which triggered the ouster movement against the late President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Interviews Set For Thursday

Representatives of prospective engineering firms to conduct a feasibility study for the Port Authority Committee of the Seminole Chamber of Commerce will be interviewed Thursday noon at the Chamber conference room.

The meeting has been arranged by Francis E. Roumillat Jr., Port Authority Committee chairman.

ACRES OF DEAD FISH cover Lake Jessup and the odor is described as "immense," Harold L. Moody, biologist for the state Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, said the presence of green poisonous algae is the cause of the giant fish kill. He said rain is sorely needed to correct the situation and a change in the temperature would also possibly help. He predicts the experience will last about a week and that fishing may even be better because of the kill. (Herald Photos)

No Two-Man Orbit Seen This Year For U. S.

Gemini Project Problems Cause Of Delay

HOUSTON (UPI)—A one-month delay that the federal space agency refused to admit has virtually washed out America's plans for sending two astronauts into orbit aboard a single spaceship this year.

Instead, astronauts Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom and John Young apparently will have to wait until January or February of 1965 for the chance to take a 7,000-pound Gemini capsule on a three-orbit swing around earth.

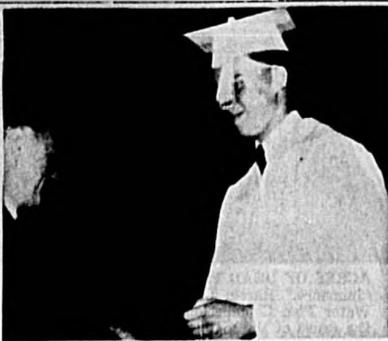

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), pressed to answer reports that the problem was the Gemini program has not been more than a week in the agency's answer to a query Monday by United Press International.

NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center near Houston said a Gemini capsule slated for a critical unmanned test was not scheduled for delivery to Cape Kennedy until "the last week in July."

Furthermore, the agency said, the capsule was due at the Cape eight weeks before launch.

That placed the earliest possible firing date for the unmanned capsule in the last week of September—a full month's slip from the target date of Aug. 16 that had held up until late last month.

Sources close to the program said a corresponding delay would be felt in the Grissom-Young mission. The astronauts' flight has been set for Nov. 27. Since a month beyond that falls into Christmas week, a postponement into early January appeared inevitable.

Bear Lake Girl Scouts Tour Home Of Winter Park Artist

By Maryann Miles. Bear Lake Girl Scout Troop III recently visited the beautiful home of Albin Polasek, widely known artist-sculptor, who lives in Winter Park.

The 85 year old Polasek is confined to a wheel chair and the use of only one arm therefore does most of his painting in sections.

He sketched for the girls and gave a step by step explanation of a painting of The Last Supper. They were taken on a tour of the entire home, studio and observatory where his work of sculpture, a gold Christus, is focal point of attention.

He explained that upon his death his home, furnishings and art work will be open for benefit of all religious faiths. He is Catholic and has done many beautiful objects pertaining to that religion. He has won awards on his Station of the Cross. Castro Executes 3 As Agents Of CIA

HAVANA (UPI)—Three men described as "members of the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency" have been executed in Cuba's Camaguey Province, Premier Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime announced today.

It was the second time in a week that alleged CIA agents have been executed by Cuban firing squads. Last Thursday, four men said to have been captured on the north coast of central Las Villas Province were executed. They were identified as Cuban exiles who had come by boat from Florida.

Today's announcement told of a five-man group. Two other "CIA men" were sentenced to prison for terms of unspecified duration. The executed men were identified as Alberto C. Fernandez Medrano, Manuel Paradelo Gomez and Marcelino Martinez Tapia. The two who were imprisoned are Jorge Bermudez Combar and Manuel E. Zayas Bayan, a former governor of Camaguey.

The official announcement said Fernandez was a former officer of the Lions' Club International. It said he was "the main CIA agent in a spy ring . . . which received orders and instruction from the United States and transmitted military, economic and political messages to the CIA."

Carson Gets In Swim With Porpoises

Johnny Carson, star of the Tonight Show, visited the World's Fair recently but never got much further than the Porpoise Stadium in the Florida Pavilion.

So delighted was Johnny with the performances of the talented porpoises that he donned a pair of trunks and joined them in the pool.

It was hard to say who had more fun, the man or the porpoises, as they swam around, played ball and sang together. Joy Cramer, a Florida mermaid, joined in the festivities.

Before leaving the pavilion, Mr. Carson was presented with a gold World's Fair Medallion, bearing the Seal of Florida by Mr. Wendell Jarrod, Chairman of the Florida Development Commission and a stuffed porpoise by a Tampa pirate hostess.

Embryo's Survival Astounds Scientist

By Delos Smith
UPI Science Editor
NEW YORK — To an embryologist the astonishing though underrated miracle of life can be captured in a few words, thus:
"Although the eggs of a turtle and a bird appear identical, the respective genetic potentials invariably develop

Academy Ready For Convention

The Forest Lake Academy grounds already look like camp meeting, although the actual beginning of the Adventists' annual convention is not until Friday. About 70 pastors and other denominational employees arrived yesterday to spend the week in final preparations for the meeting. They will pitch the rest of the tents, prepare auditoriums, set up public address systems, camp store, book store, traffic signs, and basic furnishings for the family tents.

Applications for reservations of the tents, cabins, trailer space, and dormitory rooms are more numerous than ever before, according to H. H. Schmidt, president of the Florida Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. The new air conditioned boys' dormitory is a new attraction. Its space was all taken up two weeks ago, he said.

Schmidt promises a good program, including speakers from Washington, D. C., Atlanta, Los Angeles and Seoul, Korea.

Because of heavy attendance beyond the capacity of the auditorium for the main preaching service on Saturdays the past few years, a double session is announced for that service this year.

one into a turtle and the other into a bird."

Warning to the wonder of it, Dr. Roberts Rugh went on as follows:

"One can bring together in a single finger bowl of sea water the fertilized eggs of sea urchins, starfishes, worms, mollusks and fishes. Yet each egg will proceed along its predestined path of development to become an integrated group of cells recognizable as a species, uncontaminated by the proximity of the other developing embryos."

Rugh, a professor at Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons, was being thus wide-eyed in his new textbook, "Vertebrate Embryology — the Dynamics of Development." Harcourt, Brace and World, Inc., New York.

It is not light reading for a layman. In fact, it requires close concentration even from scientists in related fields. Its distinction for laymen is that it enlivens the ancient scientific fascination with the embryo with the finds of the 20th century science of genetics.

Rugh's admiration for the embryo is boundless. What any nature creature survives in the way of natural dangers are almost nothing to what the same creature survived before it was born—or hatched. "The embryo must endure variations in temperature, moisture, salinity, oxygen concentration, and nutrition, and despite the adaptive and protective mechanisms it devises, extremes in any of these conditions are often fatal," he wrote.

"Of some 100 million eggs laid by an oyster in one season, only 3 to 4 per cent survive to the adult stage. The human female matures over 400 ova, and the human male billions of spermatozoa, during a reproductive life span, but rarely do even 15 or 20 develop into new individuals."

Rugh traced by tiny steps the embryonic development of five vertebrates, the frog, the chick, the mouse, the pig, and the human. These were enough to cover the field, from the relatively simple to the highly complex. Yet he confessed that even the simplest

Mansfield Asks GOP Aid To End Rights Debate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said today he would seek GOP support to introduce a petition next Monday calling for an end to the civil rights debate. The Montana Democrat said he would ask Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., to approve filing the petition June 8 so that a vote to curtail the 13-week-old debate of the measure can be taken June 10. Dirksen has indicated he felt a showdown might have to be delayed a few days beyond that. But he has predicted the bill finally will pass before the GOP's National Convention opens July 3. Mansfield said today that "this issue has to be faced up to one way or the other. It transcends other things." Other congressional news: Wilderness: Rep. John P. Saylor, (R-Pa.), said the House public lands subcommittee is making progress toward approving legislation to incorporate about 8.9 million acres into a wilderness area. The legislation would set aside parts of the nation's forests for recreation, water shed development and wildlife control. A similar bill was approved last year in the Senate.

Nurture Beats Nature

One line that contains as much truth as poetry is Wordsworth's "The child is father of the man."

What kind of man a particular child grows into is undoubtedly the chief concern of society, and it is a concern that must begin long before the official manhood age of 21.

According to Benjamin S. Bloom, professor of education at the University of Chicago, a child has reached approximately half of his development of:

- Height by the age of 2 1/2
- General intelligence by 4
- Aggressiveness (males) by 3
- Dependency (females) by 4

General school learning by 9. Bloom is clearly on the side of nurture in the old "nature vs. nurture" controversy.

"While men may not be born equal," he says, "many of the differences and inequalities at maturity are traceable to environmental inequalities."

"A society which needs highly skilled, well-trained individuals to carry on political, social and economic functions in an increasingly complex world cannot ignore the enormous consequences of what transpires in the first five years of life."

Still Not Too Late

BY ROBERT COCHNAR

There was no doubt in anyone's mind that Tom would go to college. After all, he was a better-than-average student in high school, a member of the football and swimming teams and vice president of his class.

Tom took his College Board exams, got satisfactory scores and applied to five or six well-known universities. He was interviewed by college admissions officers. Then he waited.

One by one, cordial letters from the universities arrived. "Sorry," they said, "but we've been swamped with many fine applications like yours. We just have no more room."

No more room. All over the United States thousands of high school students with records as good as Tom's are receiving academic rejection slips—and lack of space or intensity of competition are generally cited as the reasons.

As a result, students for whom college can be the gateway to the future are having the gates slammed in their faces.

Although the crush at the doors of many colleges is critical—with no relief in sight—a number of fully accredited colleges do need and want qualified students.

These colleges, generally, are not as academically prominent as the Harvards and the Yales and the Stanfords of this country. They may be smaller, less wealthy and lack world-famous scholars. But they are, according to the regional associations which rate them, quality institutions.

And it's still not too late to apply, according to an agency which should know—the College Admissions Center, a non-profit service of the Association of College Admissions Counselors.

This group serves as a clearing house for prospective college students. Student applications sent to the center are studied by representatives of several hundred member colleges who, in turn, directly contact the student. The center doesn't guarantee automatic admission to college for anyone who applies, but it helps.

So high school seniors who have been flatly rejected by the colleges of their choice should take heart. They can still go to college—if they really want to.

Here are some nonprofit agencies which can help:

- College Admissions Center, 610 Church St., Evanston, Ill.
- College Admissions Assistance Center, 41 E. 65th St., New York 21, N.Y.
- Catholic College Admissions and Information Center, 8805 McKinley St., Washington 16, D.C.

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It is almost impossible for a newspaper reader to be completely objective. We all have some sort of personal reaction to what we read.

After all, we do not live in a vacuum, although I would like to try that some time. Listed below are a few items that I have run across recently. The reader is invited to compare his reactions with those that I experienced when I first read them.

Item: Scientists at Indiana

University have found a microbe that ties itself in knots when it gets crowded.

Reaction: Big deal. I've been tying myself in knots for years without attracting any scientific interest whatsoever.

Item: The man who operates the "Tunnel of Love" at the Palisades Amusement Park in New Jersey is named Richard Burton.

Reaction: Big deal. I used to know a woman named Elizabeth Taylor who was a marriage counsellor.

Item: The telephone company is getting ready to open a three-city "picturephone" service that enables people to see each other while they are talking long distance.

Reaction: I hope nobody calls Aunt Merv. She's got a phono in her bathroom.

Item: The Agriculture Department has developed an "instant" process for aging rice. Within just a few hours, the rice ages the equivalent of six to 10 months.

Reaction: The same thing happened to me once in Chicago.

Item: When a horse dazes, a muscular reaction locks its leg joints in place.

Reaction: The same thing happens when I bet on a horse. In fact, I was at a race track in Chicago that time I aged six months in just a few hours.

Item: The latest Sears, Roebuck catalog is said to list "everything from a nine-cent box of tacks to a $5,500 diamond ring."

Reaction: Bet it doesn't list a Montgomery Ward butter churn.

Item: Tests conducted at a tlon regulations have been Florida country club indicate that golfers can improve their scores by drinking beer before they putt.

Reaction: I'm not surprised. I know some golfers who have a nine-bottle handicap.

Item: Federal meat inspectors are permitted to importation of horsemeat from Paraguay. Imported horsemeat is used "primarily" in pet foods.

Reaction: My reaction would be more favorable if horsemeat were used "exclusively" in pet foods.

Q—Of what use is the $100,000 bill?
A—It is for use in transactions between Federal Reserve System and Treasury Department.

Q—What is a crabapple?
A—It is the original, wild tree. Our native crabapples are stunted and produce small, sour apples better for jelly than for eating.

Q—What is the easternmost tree in the United States?
A—A red spruce beside the lighthouse of Lubec Point, Maine.

Q—What American explorer is buried on Mount Mikeno in Africa?
A—Carl Akeley.

SHUCKS, IT DOESN'T MEAN A THING!

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Much of the taxpayer's money spent on state universities is squandered on astinine projects like that which Dr. Zee assigned to her graduate students. We need a financial housecleaning in our universities with stress on "horse sense" vs. such nonsense.

CASE 8-480: Dr. Zee was a woman psychology professor. Since I was scheduled to deliver a paper on some research with deaf children, I had headed to Madison, Wis., to address the Midwest Psychological Association.

Since Mrs. Crane had never attended one of our psychology conventions before, she decided she'd like to go along with me.

It was a hot day and there was no air conditioning in the convention hall.

As I waited for my turn on the program, we listened to Dr. Zee.

She described at great length the nature of her research project, outlining in elaborate detail the methods, techniques, etc.

Then she explained that she had used graduate students to make a comprehensive survey of the wives in her area, who had become mothers for the first time.

And after a hot, boring half hour of details, she finally delivered this momentous conclusion from her exhaustive survey:

"After a woman has her first baby, it is harder to keep the house clean!"

Well, Mrs. Crane raised her eyebrows in quizzical surprise.

"Do you waste your valuable time on such axioms?" was her uninvited query.

So I shrugged my shoulders to disclaim any connection with such an astinine waste of valuable research efforts.

Many of my psychology colleagues in their "ivory tower" posts on cloistered campuses, resent my exposure of such astinine research. For I believe in standard American business efficiency, both in government as well as pedagogy.

Far too many braintruster college teachers haven't enough "horse sense" to tell the difference between a fruitful type of research topic versus an insane subject.

So they waste three years pliddling around on frilly research as they prepare a Ph. D. thesis, yet the results don't amount to a hill of beans, whether they come out positive or negative.

Such nitwit projects as that of Dr. Zee are silly and wasteful.

With so many crucial unsolved problems confronting mankind, no scientist should fritter away valuable years on axiomatic topics.

It is high time that businessmen and our shrewd taxpayers stop the waste of money now going down the drain in many state colleges.

Teachers are supposed to be salesmen of ideas, so said Glenn Frank, while he was president of the University of Wisconsin.

And salesmen in a competitive "free enterprise" society must have worthwhile merchandise.

They must also face direct competition for if they don't give prospects their money's worth, those prospects will go elsewhere.

We need more of this wholesome competition in our college offerings, so teachers who don't attract pupils will be forced to learn how to deliver interesting lectures, or else get out of pedagogy.

Nowadays, too many boring teachers are reducing college efficiency to polysyllabic meanderings way up in the scholastic stratosphere when students want to know how to live successfully down here on terra firma!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, including a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

SANTA MONICA (NEA)—Here in factories working on the manned trip to the moon, a new kind of potential technological unemployment is developing—a kind of technological obsolescence of the educated.

We hear a lot these days about the effects of automation on men and women who have had little schooling. But in the Apollo-Saturn factories I've visited on this trip to Louisiana and California, it's not the under-educated who are being hit.

Rocketdyne Division of Management is finding that a number of its college graduate engineers, scientists and managers—including men with advanced degrees—are not able to keep up with the fast-changing intricate technical problems that moon and space exploration present.

Says one top manager of a plant doing development and production work for the Apollo-Saturn man-to-the-moon project: "We're finding that if a man has been out of college 10 years, he's behind the times—unless he's spent his nights at school studying to keep up with the new concepts. He often can't keep up with the man just out of college."

Says another manager: "We've put our space systems division several miles away from our older plant. We want our sharp young space engineers off by themselves where they won't be held back by the less-advanced ideas of our older engineers."

"Our problem is finding men who aren't so tied to past ways of doing things they can't come up with new ideas."

Lyle C. Wilson Says:

Bill Will Pass

The pending civil rights bill will be enacted, of course, despite Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace and his invasion of presidential primaries in Wisconsin, Indiana and Maryland.

It is possible, even likely, that his performance in those states will tend to increase Senate inclinations to dilute the bill by amendment.

The Wallace vote, however, had a more important area of impact than the U. S. Senate. The governor averaged about 30 per cent of the vote in the three states he contested. His Maryland score of 43 per cent was his top.

The Johnson administration was amply alerted by the time Wallace invaded Maryland. The Wisconsin Democratic leadership underestimated the Wallace potential and he came up with a 34 per cent showing. That attracted national attention to his maneuvers.

Indiana Democrats organized to give Wallace a fight and were able to cut his vote under 30 per cent. In both Wisconsin and Indiana there was plenty of room for disagreement whether the Wallace totals accurately represented voters angrily opposed to the civil rights bill.

The administration turned out the guard against Wallace in Maryland. If he had been confronted with merely token opposition, Wallace might have won the Maryland presidential primary contest against a colorless stand-in for President Johnson.

The basically significant fact in the Maryland returns is that there is little if any dispute about who voted for what. The 43 per cent of the votes who cast Wallace ballots generally are recognized as having deliberately voted against the civil rights bill or against the tactics and speed with which Negro leaders seek to achieve equality.

The message of the Maryland balloting, therefore, is disquieting. There is in that message no comfort for anyone, black or white. The message obviously is that there is outside the Deep South some hard core opposition to the civil rights program which is sure to complicate enforcement of the civil rights bill when it becomes a federal statute.

There is, therefore, a dismal prospect of some degree of civil disobedience to civil rights legislation outside the South. The U. S. government will have no alternative—that is, the President of the United States will have no alternative—other than to call out the armed forces, if enforce a federal law. Or perhaps U. S. Marshals could do the job.

The point of it all is that northern as well as southern white opposition to all-out civil rights enforcement seems now to be reasonably predictable. Given such opposition with anything like effective measures and there would be no alternative than the putting down of the opposition by armed force of the federal government.

Given sufficient opposition, plus the government's ability to enforce civil rights laws, their repeal would be most likely. There is a parallel with prohibition which was imposed as an experiment noble in purpose on a protesting, widely scattered and determined minority. Prohibition was imbedded in the U. S. Constitution.

But it was unenforceable because too many voters would not accept it as a just and honorable proposition.

The minority opposing civil rights is large but it cannot be shown so far to possess the potential of the anti-prohibitionists.

Florida was named for her flowers by the Spanish explorer, Ponce de Leon. Today the beautiful blossoms make a major contribution to the state's economy—more than $16 million annually. Millions of gladiolus and chrysanthemums are shipped north each winter. Now with roses and carnations being grown on a field scale, the future looks even better.

About Sports

Thinking Out Loud

By Julian Stenstrom

We've received word from our old friend and San Francisco scout, Nick Shinkoff, that the Giants will hold their annual tryout camp at Legion Field in Lake Wales June 11-13.

Nick himself will conduct the camp which will be open to boys between the ages of 16 and 21.

Players who have signed to play Junior Legion baseball will be required to bring written permission from their coach or post commander. All players, says Nick, must bring their own uniforms, gloves and spikes.

Seasons will start at 9 a.m. Successful candidates will be assigned to the Giant farm system headed by Carl Hubbell, well known to most Sanford baseball fans.

Jim Paschal of High Point, N. C., was wondering when he'd break into the big money circles of stock car racing. He quit wondering Sunday a week ago when he won the Charlotte 600 and carried off more than $24,000 for himself and the Leo Petty Plymouth team.

Looks like the Rollins Tars are going after a cage title in a big way. They've just landed Dave Farman, a prep star from Louisville, Ky. via an achievement scholarship. This is the latest sign in a long list of prep stars, including Donnie Smith of Lyman.

When the Green Bay Packers meet the St. Louis Cardinals in a NFL pro football exhibition Aug. 8 in New Orleans, 5,000 free admissions will be available to high school football players in Louisiana, Mississippi, and parts of Alabama and Florida plus another 5,000 for boys and girls participating in area youth programs.

Jim Touhy, an AHS tackle who will graduate within a few days from Seminole, will report to Furman University Aug. 25 for two-day freshman football workouts with the full varsity and fresh coaching staff on hand. This fall the Paladins meet Mississippi College, Clemson, Wake Forest, George Washington, William & Mary, Presbyterian The Citadel, Davidson, Eastern Carolina, and Richmond. That's quite a line-up of opponents for any college grid team.

The Jaycees' junior golf tournament is on tap for this month. Date hasn't been announced but we'll let you know as soon as the Jaycees tell us.

With the end of the high school terms the American Legion baseball leagues start and representatives of the Sanford post of the veterans' organization already have a tentative practice schedule worked out with neighboring clubs, according to Manager Frank Thomas.

The run-down reads like this: June 5— at Ocala, two games beginning at 8 p. m.; June 13— Ocala HERE, two games beginning at 6 p. m.; June 20— New Smyrna Beach HERE, 7 p. m.; July 27— at DeLand, 7 p. m.; July 3— at DeLand, 7 p. m.; July 11— DeLand HERE, 7 p. m.; July 18— at New Smyrna, 7 p. m.

In mid-July the Sixth District elimination starts with Essex-Umatilla, two Orlando teams and Sanford in contention. This will be a two game elimination, and the winner moves into the state play-offs at West Palm Beach.

From West Palm Beach the Florida champion will play in Staunton, Va., for the Regional title, and from this elimination series the winner becomes a contender in the Little World Series at Little Rock, Ark.

Thomas, Glenn Price and J. B. Kuykendall as well as their young baseball players would surely like to make that trip to Little Rock. The coaches as well as the glove and bat men, however, have been "in the business" long enough so that they are playing "one game at a time." But the battle cry is "See you in Little Rock!"

Yogi's Yanks Drop To Fifth When Hitting Collapses

New York Drops Tenth Contest Out Of Last 18

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

Yogi Berra keeps saying he isn't worried about the Yankees.

That makes it almost unanimous because most of the other American League clubs are beginning to feel the same way, too.

Yogi still is sure the Yankees are going to win and maybe he's right although they seem to be going about it in a rather unorthodox manner.

They dropped two notches Monday night from third place to fifth when they absorbed a 2-1 licking from the Minnesota Twins that represented their third loss in the last four games and their 10th setback in 18 contests.

The Yankees' primary problem is hitting, which has always been their primary asset in the past.

Southpaw Dick Stigman of the Twins, whom they beat three times last year, turned around and beat them with a five-hitter Monday night and blanked them until the eighth inning when Elston Howard homered.

By then it was too late because the Twins already had nicked Ralph Terry for both their runs to hand him his fourth defeat in five decisions.

Tony Oliva, far out front in the race for the batting title and for rookie of the year honors, had two hits to boost his average to .386.

Elsewhere in the American League, Baltimore kayped Kansas City, 8-4, Boston knocked off Los Angeles, 4-3, and Cleveland won its fourth straight by defeating Chicago, 3-0. Wet grounds caused postponement of the Pittsburgh-Los Angeles game, the only one scheduled in the National League.

Oilers Slide Pop Ivy Out; Employ Baugh

HOUSTON (UPI) — Houston Oilers owner K. S. Bud Adams turned out the fire beneath the boiling Oilers cauldron Monday by abruptly firing head coach Frank Pop Ivy and replacing him with pro great Sammy Baugh.

Adams, who had steadfastly refused in public to acknowledge the unhappy, disension-troubled situation on the club under Ivy, said he made the change to clear the "general climate of professional football in Houston."

Baugh, hired by Ivy as his assistant only last week, becomes the fourth Oiler coach since the team was created in 1960.

Assistant General Manager Carroll Martin was moved up to take over as general manager. Ivy had insisted on handling both jobs when he signed a two-year contract last year.

Adams said he decided to buy up the remaining year on Ivy's contract.

Baugh, the leather-faced west Texas rancher who wrote the passing manual for the NFL, had sought the Oiler job when the team was created. He had turned in a creditable job in the position he finally got, compiling a 14-14 record in two seasons with the talent-short New York Titans of Harry Wismer before leaving because of a contract dispute.

Strikes . . . Spares

By John A. Spolaki
If you weren't one of the more than 150 to 200 persons out here at the lanes for the kids party Saturday morning, you missed a ball. I mean a big ball!

I thought it'd be just 's kids with the big smiles 'n their faces but you know, the moms and pops had as much fun as their kids!

And you talk about kids, wow! No wonder they were happy! They won more than 60 trophies! That's the absolute most that I've ever heard of being awarded at any one setting.

The catered food of Mrs. Homer Little was out of this world. Everyone expressed compliments on this part of the program and the behavior of the children. (That's no surprise to us, however, 'cause they're taught good manners along with bowling techniques!)

The winning teams and individual presentations made included the M's—champs of the Junior Division. Teammates included Frank Patterson, Linda Ethel, Robert Driscoll and Steve Bassett.

Second place went to the Pin Boys — Run Frederick, Jim Patterson, Mike King and Jim Wood.

The high average of 174 was won by Steve Bassett and his 648 series was tops in that category. Second high series was won by Jim Woods—611.

Don Nicholas' 250 scratch game gave the adults something to ooh and aah about.

In the Bantam division the Moon Rollers took first place for those children between the ages of eight and 13. The Moon Rollers included Billy

Controversy On Gasoline Still Rages At Indy

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) —The U. S. Auto Club officials will meet next week in the midst of a controversy over the use of gasoline as a fuel in race cars.

But they have indicated no "snap decision" is in the works and Speedway chief Stewart Harlan Fenger hinted it may be some time before a decision either way is made.

The dispute broke out after veteran driver Eddie Sachs, Detroit, and rookie pilot Dave MacDonald, El Monte, Calif., were killed in a second-angle tangle of cars which erupted in flames, trapping them.

Owners and drivers said the fact both cars were carrying high octane gasoline in side tanks was a factor in the deaths. Most of the conventional front-engined roadsters use exotic alcohol mixtures.

The Speedway "500" classic was won by A. J. Foyt in a conventional roadster. The cars involved in the crash were rear-engined machines powered by Ford engines.

Second place finisher Roger Ward, Indianapolis, drove a similar rear-engined car but carried the mixture instead of gasoline.

Racing officials said it is a "known fact that gasoline is more combustible than alcohol."

Pitching, Home Run Leaders Announced

Skipper Senkarik of Hunt's, Scott Harris of the Navy and Andy Rufus, also of the Navy nine, lead the pitching department of the City Recreation Department's Little League baseball program.

Meanwhile, David Lee of the Locomotive Engineers and Bill Schmidt are tied for top honors in the home run department. Both Lee and Schmidt have rapped out seven circuit blows so far this season.

Senkarik has racked up seven mound victories without a setback, Harris has a record of five and zero while Rufus has four wins and no defeats.

Shrine, Rotary Set Pace In Junior Loop

The Shrine and Rotary teams in the City Recreation Department's Junior Boys League continue to dominate the loop's second half of play. Both clubs chalked up victories in Monday contests.

The Shrine won their fifth in a row—the longest winning streak of any Junior League club this season. They turned back the Civitans by a score of 8 to 3, thanks to the very effective relief hurling of Steve Leach.

James Warren, the Shrine starter, didn't allow a hit but did permit three runs when he encountered control difficulty. Leach took the mound and returned 13 of the 16 batters he faced. He whiffed 10 in the process without a loss.

Don Dudley had two hits for the Shrine and Chuck Piggott had the Civitan's only safety—a sixth-inning single.

Meanwhile, the Rotarians kept pace with the Shrine's by beating the Kiwanians, 6 to 3.

Estridge Hurls No-Hit Shutout For Kingswood

The hottest thing in Sanford besides the temperature is LeRoy Estridge, a Kingswood Bulldozer hurler, who Monday night accomplished the unbelievable in the Men's Softball League.

Estridge hurled a no-hit shutout as he and his mates blanked Longwood by a score of 12 to 0.

It was the first no-hitter in the annals of the Men's softball circuit. Estridge, who has the loop's top mound record, added his eighth straight victory and has yet to suffer a setback. But that's not all, the Longwood club that Estridge shutout in his hitless performance was on a nine-game winning spree—that is before last night. It was Estridge's third shutout of the season.

He has given up the least runs, 20, and the least hits—46. His support throughout the contest by his teammates was flawless. In fact, it was an errorless contest. At the plate for Kingswood, Don Harvey, Danny Underwood and John Emerson hit homers. Emerson, Harvey and Cook all collected three hits each for the Bulldogs.

In another loop contest, McRaney's Painters whipped Chase & Co. 6 to 3 with Frank Williams chalking up his ninth mound victory. Alex Szabo and L. C. Smith had homers.

'Plank-Owner' Custom To Be Observed

During the commencement program at the Sanford Naval Academy an old Navy custom will be observed—that of recognizing "plank-owners".

In the bygone days of iron men in wooden ships the original commissioning crew considered themselves, and came to be known as, plank-owners—inferring squatters rights and therefore figurative ownership of a plank of the vessel.

On June 5, at the Academy, the custom will be modernized slightly, but the spirit of the tradition will be preserved.

Each midshipman completing the first year's operation will be designated a Sanford Naval Academy plank-owner by virtue of his name being inscribed on a bronze plaque mounted on a symbolic plank.

The plaque has been donated by the parents of Midshipman Charles Richter and will be permanently mounted at the Academy.

Membership in this exclusive group will be closed out as of June 5, the completion of the shakedown cruise of The Sanford Naval Academy.

Highlights

TV Time Previews

7:30-8:30 p.m. NBC. Mr. Novak. "X Is The Unknown Factor." (Rerun) A story about an honor student who is being pushed toward a scholarship in science so hard he attempts to shortcut on his "non-essential" English course. The pressures of trying to make good in his specialized field are his excuses for cheating, but we have a hunch that if Mr. Novak (as portrayed stolidly by James Franciscus) were a bit less self-righteous, the boy might have been spared a lot of trouble. Interesting, but slow pacing deprives the story of its full dramatic impact. Dr. Frank Baxter appears in a dramatic role.

7:30-8:30 p.m. ABC. Combat. "The Long Way Home." Part 1. (Rerun) Richard Basehart stars as the vicious German commandant of a prison camp where our boys will be spending this week and part of next. This episode deals with the harsh treatment given the American prisoners and their plans for eventual escape. Basehart is a choice villain.

8-9 p.m. CBS. The Red Skelton Show. (Rerun) This show was taped before ex-"Wagon Train" star Robert Horton reached Broadway in "110 in the Shade," and at the time he surprised many viewers with his singing voice. He also proves adept at light comedy as a tax investigator who thinks bums, especially Freddie the Freelancer (Red Skelton), should pay taxes on their panhandling receipts. Skelton later scores with a pantomime as a dentist who makes his patients wish he were dead.

8:30-9 p.m. NBC. Moment of Fear. "Survival." (Rerun) If you missed this one on "G.E. Theatre" in November, 1959, this play marked the TV film debut for Jose Ferrer. The setting is the desert and the drama shows what happens when two partially helpless mortal enemies must join forces in order for either of them to survive. A tour de force for Ferrer.

8:30-9 p.m. ABC. McCall's Navy. "The Binghamton Murder Plot." (Rerun) It's all Joe Flynn in this episode as Captain Binghamton is convinced that McCall's crew is secretly planning to rub him out. It's a mistake (luckily for this series) but Binghamton's frantic efforts to remain alive are hilarious.

9:30-10 p.m. CBS. The Jack Benny Show. (Rerun) Once again Dennis Day is the focal point in the plot. Jack tries to arrange a surprise birthday party for his singer, but gets nothing but trouble for his efforts as Dennis proves to be an eavesdropper. Verna Felton is very funny as Dennis' mother.

10-11 p.m. CBS. The Garry Moore Show. (Rerun) Garry has a good group tonight, including guests Nancy Walker, Alan King, Chita Rivera and magician Mark Wilson. Nancy dances on skis and later joins Bernie West in a funny skit about a needed bolt at a missile base. Alan discusses wedding anniversaries and Chita has two solos. Mark, with the help of Garry, puts on an elaborate magic display. Miss Walker, Mr. King and Durward Kirby do a pantomime to that old classic, "Father, dear father, come home with me now," and there's the inevitable Beatles' wig bit. (In some areas, the first half of this show will be preempted by Campaign 64: "The California Crossroad," special CBS news report on the California primary. Please check local station.)

7-9 a.m. NBC. Today. The entire program is devoted to an examination of the myriad activities taking place in and around New York harbor. Considerable attention will be paid to the arrival and docking of ocean liners and there will be interviews with many of the people who make their livelihood from the harbor.

Dear Abby:

Tues. June 2, '64—Page 9

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please don't get the idea that we don't love children, because we do. But why do some people invite you to their homes for dinner and allow their young children to hang around all evening and dominate the conversation? When we invite guests to our home, our children are told to come in, say "hello," stay a few minutes and then run along and entertain themselves. Then we are left to hold an adult conversation, which is why we invited our guests to our home in the first place. All this togetherness with children is getting out of hand. Or should we do what our friends do and just let our children climb all over our guests in their conversations, and take the attitude if the guests don't like it they can stay away? What are your ideas on the subject?

second invitation, where the kind of "togetherness" you describe prevails, deserves what he gets.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's friends are getting sick one by one, and it seems that because I am a registered nurse I have to give them free bed care. They are all in the poor-house category because they drink and gamble. Am I wrong to resent this? I have all I can do to care for my own household and three small children. I never meet any of my husband's friends until they are flat on their backs.

DEAR POOPED: Your husband is very generous with your time and talent. But it is impossible to obtain nursing care from a nurse who is unwilling to provide it. Your problem is that you are just as tender-hearted as your husband.

DEAR ABBY: When a fellow asks a girl for her telephone number, should SHE produce the pencil and paper, or should he? It makes the girl appear too anxious when she has the pencil and paper handy, but after all, most fellows don't carry a pencil and paper with them.

DEAR GIRL: Who produces the pencil is unimportant as long as the boy gets the message.

DEAR ABBY: I just read "SORRYS" letter, who said it hasn't been easy living with her in-laws for 34 years. Does she think for one minute it was easier for her in-laws? There are two sides to every story.

Problems? Write to AR-Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Have to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, Box 6970, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069, for Abby's booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

Jacoby On Bridge

One feature of rubber bridge that really shocks the confirmed duplicate player is the total disregard for over-tricks by most declarers. If the contract is safe, they just pay no attention at all to the play.

South won the first trick with dummy's ace of spades and promptly discarded a club on the king of spades. Then he played three rounds of trumps and finally passed a second for station identification.

Then he remarked, "The contract is safe, but I might as well try to make an extra trick."

His remark was reasonable, but his method of trying for then proceeded to lead a diamond to his king. West won with the ace and from this point on South had no play for more than eight tricks. He had to lose four diamonds and a club.

If South had really thought things over at the time he was busy talking, he would have led a diamond from his hand and repeated the process each time he gained the lead. This would have insured at least one overtrick since he would have been able to ruff one diamond with dummy's fourth trump. Actually he would have made two overtricks because the ace of diamonds would have appeared on the third diamond lead.

We The Women:

A woman can get her own way most of the time, if she doesn't mind:

How many people she inconveniences, or how much she inconveniences them.

How long and hard she has to work to persuade others to do what she wants them to do, instead of what someone else wants to do.

Making up involved excuses for getting out of doing what she doesn't want to do.

Putting others in a spot where it would be embarrassing for them not to go along with her plans.

Getting a reputation for being inconsiderate of others.

Leaving nothing to chance, but instead carefully figuring out in advance just how to get others to agree to her suggestions.

Being a wet blanket when someone else comes up with what he or she thinks is a good idea.

Seeing the look of disappointment on someone else's face when she refuses to even consider doing what the other person is eager to do.

Making someone else look like a chump for daring to differ with her.

Talking loud enough and long enough to win a point others don't feel is quite worth arguing about.

Being known as a "manager."

or" whose husband is pitted for being henpecked.

A woman can (and some women do) manage to get her own way most of the time. But is it worth it?

Candidates Named For Boys State

By Jane Casselberry
American Legion Memorial Post 256 of Casselberry has announced the selection of two Lyman High School Juniors to attend Boys State at Tallahassee during the week of July 5-11.

Andy Hinely, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hinely of Tanglewood and Dan Casselberry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Casselberry of Casselberry, the latter being sponsored by Boy Scout Troop 841 of Casselberry.

Both of these youngsters take an active part in the various programs of the school. Andy is a member of the Beta Club and the Bowling Team. Dan was recently elected president of the Student Council and is Junior Assistant Scoutmaster of his troop.

These boys will join with some 40 others from the Sixth District, leaving by chartered bus early Sunday morning, July 5, and will register in at the Florida State University, where they will be quartered during their stay.

The American Legion, Department of Florida, annually entertains over 600 boys from all over the state to educate them in the duties and privileges of citizenship and teach the fundamental precepts of government.

DeBarry HD Club Studies Foods

By Mrs. Adam Muller
The May meeting of the DeBarry Home Demonstration Club was held at the Community Center with workshop demonstrations in charge of Mrs. Louis Ritter and Mrs. George Wright.

At noon Mrs. Anthony Oppel and Mrs. Charles Schless demonstrated the making of rice pudding and a cherry tapioca dessert. Beverage was supplied by the regular committee to supplement the sack lunch brought by members.

Topic for the afternoon discussion, presented by Mrs. Oppel, was "You and Your Food." Vitamin and mineral content was illustrated through use of a colored chart and tips were given for good nutrition. Recipes for various foods using a sweetener instead of sugar and for salad dressings and sandwich fillings were given for the weight watchers.

Mrs. Oppel pointed out that food becomes a part of the personality and emotional stability reminding that good nutrition insures radiant health, energy and stamina.

5th Circuit Vacancy Civil Rights Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A vacant seat of the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals is a prime target in the civil rights struggle.

Anti-discrimination leaders feel their legal efforts would be bolstered considerably with the appointment of a racial liberal or moderate to fill the vacancy.

The Fifth Circuit embraces a crucial civil rights area — Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana and Georgia — and the nine-member appeals court is called upon to settle many racial disputes.

The court's vacancy resulted from the death of Judge Ben Cameron of Meridian, Miss., a conservative whose decisions often went against the civil rights forces.

A campaign to have a Negro attorney in Jackson, Miss., named to succeed Cameron was begun by a handful of integration strategists here but it apparently died a quick death after failing to pick up any heavyweight backing.

"We make no positive recommendations on judgeships," explained the NAACP's Clarence Mitchell. "However, we will do all we can to prevent the appointment from going to a racist or someone who will defy the Supreme Court."

Mitchell says the appointment "will have a big impact on the implementation of future civil rights legislation." If President Johnson follows tradition, he will pick another Mississippian for the job. But finding a highly qualified attorney in the state who is not considered a "racist" by civil rights advocates will be no easy chore.

Former Gov. J. P. Coleman, a crack constitutional lawyer who is considered moderate by Mississippi standards, answered speculation that he would be the nominee with a statement that he's not interested in the job.

The Justice Department and the offices of Sens. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., and John C. Stennis, D-Miss., report that a nomination is not yet in sight.

A nominee is generally recommended to the President by the attorney general after conferences with senators from the state involved.

A critical consideration for Mr. Johnson is that the nomination will need Senate confirmation and this can come only after its approval by the Senate Judiciary Committee, headed by Eastland.

His influence in such matters was illustrated when scores of new district judgeships were created during the Kennedy administration. The first one filled was in Mississippi and the nominee was Harold Cox, a longtime college roommate of Eastland whose rulings have been unpopular in the civil rights camp.

The nomination of a successor to Cameron is a potential roadblock in the Democrats' election-year effort to keep everybody happy. It could be delayed until after the election.

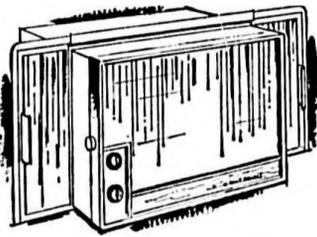

Former Florida newspaper publisher Edwin A. Menninger was awarded an honorary Doctor of Science degree by FSU for his contributions to tropical horticulture. He is called "The Flowering Tree Man."

Goldwater Clinches Key Victory

51 Percent Of California Vote For Barry

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Conservative Sen. Barry Goldwater defeated Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York today in the California presidential primary and took a commanding lead in the GOP presidential race.

The see-saw triumph gave the Arizona senator 86 more delegates to next month's Republican National Convention and put him in a strong position to win the GOP presidential nomination before Tuesday's primary, 317 of the 655 delegates needed for the nomination were in Goldwater's column. He now has 633.

The silver-haired Arizona senator, hero of GOP conservatives, seized the lead in the early count Tuesday night and claimed victory on the basis of a television network computer analysis that named him the winner before all the polls closed.

But at midnight Rockefeller pulled even and in the early morning hours took the lead on the basis of his northern California strength.

But a surge of votes from Goldwater's Los Angeles stronghold sent him into the lead at 7 a. m.

The UPI tabulation at 9 a. m. PDT noon EDT gave Goldwater 1,076,166 and Rockefeller 1,021,678 with 32,986 precincts counted of the 32,861 in the state. The county gave Goldwater 51 per cent of the vote and Rockefeller 49 per cent.

In New York Rockefeller supporters won 77 of the 82 Republican National Convention delegate posts at issue in Tuesday's New York primary with the five others going to uncommitted delegates.

Alabama: Six incumbents and a newcomer won nominations to Congress in Alabama's Democratic primary Tuesday but veteran Rep. Carl Elliott, D-Ala., apparently was the loser to State Sen. John Tyson of Mobile in a low-man-out race for the eighth nomination.

Mississippi: Sen. John C. Stennis and five congressmen won renomination in Mississippi's Democratic primary Tuesday. The contests featured the largest number of Negro candidates for major office in the segregationist state since Reconstruction days.

Montana: Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield easily defeated his opposition to win renomination in Montana's primary Tuesday.

South Dakota: An uncommitted slate of delegates to the Republican National Convention defeated a slate pledged to Sen. Barry Goldwater in Tuesday's South Dakota primary.

LBJ Tells Of Awe Inspiring Might Of U. S.

NEW LONDON, Conn. (UPI) — President Johnson today told the United States is stronger than the combined might of all the nations in the history of the world. He said this improves prospects for peace.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Coast Guard Academy commencement here, Johnson predicted that American strength would continue to grow more rapidly than the might of all other nations.

He said United States' superiority extended over the ability to deter atomic destruction, the ability to fight less than a full out war, strength in the struggle against subversion, development of new weapons for deterrence and defense, and the ability of the American fighting man.

"Those who would answer every problem with nuclear weapons display not bravery but bravado, not wisdom but a wanton disregard for the survival of the world and the future of the race," Johnson said.

"This country's military might allows it to take more tangible steps toward peace than at any time since the cold war began, Johnson said.

The mention of Whitten's name reminds me of the Clock Winders that the last time he heard the chief make a "speech" was a recitation in a fourth grade class at Southside Primary (called that in the olden days). We believe it was in a class taught by Mrs. S. J. Nix.

Mystery Code Broadcast To Cuba Resumed

MIAMI (UPI) — A mysterious code broadcaster was heard again on Tuesday after two weeks of silence, beaming shortwave four-digit code numbers to Cuba.

The mystery broadcaster was heard again as UPI monitors here recorded a sharp increase in "urgent" traffic on shortwave broadcasts between government outposts on Fidel Castro's Communist island.

The voice of the mystery broadcaster appeared to be the same lusty American male who took to the airwaves during the height of exile announcements of new guerrilla campaigns against the Castro regime two weeks ago and broadcast a series of four-digit code numbers in Spanish.

Tuesday the mystery broadcaster beamed the code numbers toward Cuba in English. The broadcast apparently came from somewhere outside the island.

Much of the increase in radio activity on Castro's government bands appeared to be in code also.

Many of the Cuban government broadcast codes were in three letter codes and one broadcast requested the immediate transfer of personnel to certain zones because "it's raining there."

The word "raining" was presumed to be some form of code.

DALLAS (UPI) — Dr. Hubert Winston Smith, the most recent Jack Ruby defense lawyer, has quit as the condemned killer's fourth chief counsel. Ruby's sister chief counsel, Ruby's father chief counsel, Ruby's mother chief counsel, Ruby's brother chief counsel.

At the same time, the sister, Mrs. Eva Grant, said Ruby had refused to take the medication — presumably tranquilizers — offered to him in his cell by psychiatrists.

Mrs. Grant said Smith's quitting was a "completely friendly" disassociation brought about because he was "cut off financially and unable to carry on the defense due to lack of funds for himself."

Rains Needed To End Fish Loss In Jessup

State officials are looking for a hard rain to help ease the problem of dead fish in Lake Jessup, a condition which erupted over the weekend and killed thousands of fish.

Algae in the water is blamed for the kill, a condition which has created what one visitor to the scene said is "a horrible stench."

A game warden surveying the site said it appears that over 90 per cent of the dead fish are of the rough fish variety — gizzard shad, stingers, stink fish and other varieties.

In some parts, the Lake Jessup water has turned green from the rapid increase of the algae.

Something good may come of the fish kill, officials say. They indicate sport fishing may be better than ever once the rough fish are killed off.

Plane 'Crash' Just A Fire

The Navy today dispelled news reports that an A-3H Skywarrior jet bomber had crashed at Lake George last night, touching off a fire which burned through a two-to-three-mile strip of woodland on the eastern bank.

No traces of aircraft wreckage were found during an intensive search of the area last night and this morning by air units based at the Sanford and Jacksonville Naval Air Stations.

At the same time, Naval attachés from Sanford to Ocala, Fla., reported that all their aircraft were accounted for, nor were there reports of missing aircraft from carriers operating in the Atlantic.

The Navy operates a practice bombing range at Lake George which is used extensively by fleet units along the Southeastern seaboard.

Structural Fire Chief Claude Whitten of NAS, Sanford, said his crash crew was unable to determine the cause of the blaze after working with other fire-fighting officials at the scene for nearly five hours. He said earlier news reports had misquoted him as saying that an A-3H Skywarrior had crashed.

Treated for facial lacerations and abrasions was Mark Chishko of 109 Wilkins Dr. City police report the Chishko boy darted into the path of a car driven north on Hays Drive by John E. Dodson of Lake Mary. The mishap was unavoidable, police said.

$534.30 Bonus Distributed To UF Agencies

Mechanical methods — cutting, raking and digging out weeds and algae — can be used with success but, more often, chemical control is recommended. And, most commonly, copper sulfate is suggested. The bright blue crystals, available at seed and hardware stores, are a safe and inexpensive chemical.

Phelps Dodge Refining Corporation's Information Service suggests the following procedure for care of lake or pond.

Copper sulfate concentrations of 1/2, 1/4 or 1 part per million should be used — preferably in solution sprayed over the pond by means of a portable tank spray although the crystals can be strewn in the water as is.

To determine the amount required, Phelps Dodge explains, find the volume of the pond in acre feet by multiplying the surface area by one-half the maximum depth. Rule of thumb for 1/4 part per million is to use 1 ounce of the chemical per one-tenth acre feet. For 1/2 part per million the figure is doubled, etc. It is important that only the required amount be used.

Ponds should be treated when algae and weeds first appear. Shallow, unshaded areas should be checked constantly for appearance of algae.

The copper sulfate solution should be sprayed evenly over the pond surface from a plastic, stainless steel, enameled or copper lined container.

On large ponds, treatment should be in sections, rather than treating the entire area at one time with larger amounts of the chemical.

Treatment is more effective when water temperature is 60 degrees Fahrenheit or higher.

Repeat treatment may be necessary because no permanent way of controlling algae is known.

Some states require a permit before a pond may be treated. Check with your local health department.
