If Easter Be Not True

If Easter be not true,
Then all the lilies now must lie,
The Flanders poppies fade and die.
The Spring must lose her fairest bloom
For Christ were still within the tomb.

If Easter be not true,
It Easter must not true.
Then hope must mount on bok
on wing;
Then hope no more immortal spring;

Then hope must lose her mighty urge;
Life prove a phantom, death a dirge—

If Easter be not true.

If Easter be not true,
Then Easter must mount on bok
on wing;

Then hope no more immortal spring;

Then hope must lose her mighty urge;

Life prove a phantom, death a dirge—

If Easter be not true.

If Easter be not true,
Easter foolishness the cross to bear;
He died in vain who suffered there.

What matter though we laugh or cry,

We good or evil, live or die.

If Easter be not true?

If Easter be not true—

But it is true, and Christ is risen!
And mortal spirit from its prison
On life and death with him, may rise!

Meanwhile, the struggle, sure
we prize.

Since Easter, ay, is true!

—Henry H. Barstow.

Most of us would be glad to get our hands on some of that not.

To put it another way, as a friend of ours told us yesterday, he wouldn't trust Mussolini as far as he could throw a hull by the tail. We don't know just how far that is, but somehow we have pretty much the same idea about

Heck Rumbley who was recently accused in this column of supporting Dave Shull for Senator, has denied the charge was for him, says Heck, "but he betrayed me". Latest indications were that Heck is going to seek his support to Mark Wilson, the farmer's friend.

the facts of cancer. It takes courage to carry that jump up over feet down to the doctor and admit if it is cancer, but you'll feel better for having done it.
There is nothing so disturbing as uncertainty. Find out. If it is, then cut out. If it isn't, go to work and dream sweet dreams.

The Herald is delighted to learn from Representative Joe Hancock that a bill has been reported out by committee to study the state of the Mediterranean Fruit Growers, have waited a long time for their money, are not out of getting it yet, but they haven't collected in times like these. Millions are being spent to prime the pump; there must justice in Washington.

The House Labor Committee has had upon a wage-hour bill which provides a 40-cent an hour
minimum for the entire country for three years. The first year would be 25 cents an hour, the second 30, then 35 cents, and the third 40 cents. The South opposed the bill, saying it would raise wages in the North despite the fact that labor is more readily on a par with labor in the

The way to bring back prosperity under this system is to encourage private enterprise, to assist business and industry to grow, expand, develop and to make a profit, to avoid public harangues or legislative enactments which frighten people with money or discourage investments, to prohibit sit-down strikes or any other arbitrary and uncooperative conduct which tends to destroy property rights; in short, to put recovery first and reform second.

There is no doubt that a great deal of reform is needed, but that should come when the country is on a prosperous basis and able to stand it. Needed a great deal more than reform is recovery, a chance to make a reason-

The Resurrection

The chief priests and Pharisees, remembering that Jesus Christ had said to His Disciples that He would rise from the grave on the third day after His death, went to Pilate and prayed that the sepulchre might be well taken care of until that day, lest the Disciples should steal the body, and afterwards say to the people that Christ was risen from the dead. Pilate agreeing to this, a guard of soldiers was set over it constantly, and the stone was sealed up besides. And so it remained, watched and sealed, until the third day, which was the first day of the week.

When that morning began to dawn, Mary Magdalene and the other Mary and some other woman, came to the sepulchre, with some more spices which they had prepared. As they were saying to each other, "How shall we roll away the stone?" the earth trembled and shook, and an Angel, descending from Heaven, rolled it back, and then sat resting on it. His countenance was like lightning, and his garments were like snow; and at the sight of him the men of the guard fainted away with fear, as if they were dead.

Mary Magdalene saw the stone rolled away, and waiting to see no more, ran to Peter and John who were coming towards the place, and said "They have taken away the Lord and we know not where they have laid Him?" They immediately ran to the tomb, but John, being the faster of the two, outran the other, and got there first. He stooped down, and looked in, and saw the linen clothes in which the body had been wrapped, lying there; but he did not go in. When Peter came up, he went in, and saw the linen clothes lying in one place, and a napkin that had been bound about the head, in another. John also went in, then, and saw the same things. Then they went home, to tell the rest.

But Mary Magdalene remained outside the sepulchre, weeping. After a little time, she stooped down, and looked in, and saw two angels, clothed in white, sitting where the body of Christ had lain. These said to her, "Woman, why weepest thou?" She answered, "Because they have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid Him." As she gave his answer, she turned around, and saw Jesus standing behind her, but did not know Him. "Woman," He said, "Why weepest thou? What seekest thou?" She, supposing Him to be the gardener, replied, "Sir, if thou hast borne my Lord hence, tell me where thou has laid Him, and I will take Him away." Jesus pronounced her name, "Mary." Then she knew Him and, starting, exclaimed, "Master!" "Touch me not," said Christ, "for I am not yet ascended to my Father; but go to my Disciples, and say unto them, I ascend unto my Father, and your Father; and to my God, and to your God!"—from "The Life of Our Lord" by Charles Dickens.

Credit Expansion

Outstanding among the current recovery policies of the government is the general relaxation of credit restrictions. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has been authorized to lend $1,500,000,000 to industry. Reserve requirements of member banks in the Federal Reserve system have been reduced by 12½ percent increasing the available cash on hand with which to make loans.

Desterilization of $1,400,000,000 in gold and other easy money policies now being put into effect are increasing deposits in the banks by $3,882,000,000. This huge fund will provide the basis for an enormous credit expansion aggregating nearly $40,000,000,000. Needless to say such a maneuver should inaugurate a far greater degree of prosperity than the comparatively small sums which the government is spending on relief.

There remains, however, the problem of getting business and industrial interests to use the credit which is being made available for them. No matter how much money is put into the banks in the form of government deposits, or otherwise, it does not benefit our national economy unless it is put to work. Unless the banks can find substantial borrowers who have the necessary collateral and who are willing to risk it in some business venture, the excess deposits will remain idle.

This huge credit fund is being made available in the hope that a factory owner who needs new equipment to replace some of his wornout machinery will borrow and refurnish his plant, that other capitalists holding large blocks of government bonds will place these bonds with the banks as collateral for loans with which to erect office buildings, apartment houses, and stores, and that others who see a chance for making a profit, will take the chance, borrow the money and go into business.

All this is but the normal working order of our capitalistic system. That is the way this country has been doing business for 150 years. Every period of prosperity which this country has ever seen has been brought about by an expansion of private credit. Every period of hard times has been precipitated by a drying up of credit and a curtailment of investments.

The basis of such credit expansion is confidence, not confidence on the part of the unemployed that they are going to be fed by the government, but confidence among financial institutions that their loans will be repaid and confidence among business men and investors that there is a chance for making a profit and that if they make a profit, honestly and legitimately, they will be permitted to keep it.

This may not be the best economic system which the modern world can devise, but it is the system under which we operate and always have operated. Unless we are going to destroy completely the capitalistic system and adopt some form of socialism or communism or some other economic system which no one has yet defined, the efforts and energies of all of us should be devoted toward making the capitalistic system work as smoothly and as efficiently as possible.

The way to bring back prosperity under this system is to encourage private enterprise, to assist business and industry to grow, expand, develop and to make a profit, to avoid public harangues or legislative enactments which frighten people with money or discourage investments, to prohibit sit-down strikes or any other arbitrary and uncooperative conduct which tends to destroy property rights; in short, to put recovery first and reform second.

There is no doubt that a great deal of reform is needed, but that should come when the country is on a prosperous basis and able to stand it. Needed a great deal more than reform is recovery, a chance to make a reason-

WHO loves to lie with me—
A New England lady in a Florida wood introduced me to Kenneth Grahame last week. Do you know him? If you don't, you're about and secure an introduction
because you and I have been mazing something.

I wish you could meet him as I was in this wood. He is a right setting.
The New England lady, who is a starch and has silver hair, young blue eyes, and a young tooth to match, and her husband,
F. Avery Gould, who was in Hampton Holt's class at Yale and has a twinkle too, have a hunting lodge in the middle of a Florida
wood where they spend the winter.

From the minute you drive down
the deep-rutted sand road that seems not to lead anywhere but to the heart of a forest, until you come to the heavy hand-hewn wooden gate miles from anywhere,
you have the feeling that this is going to be a special sort of place. Once inside you know that you were right. In a hammock of tall pine trees where the needles
lay thick and fragrant under foot, there is a group of log cabins that looks as if it might be a community of early American settlers in rugged frontier days. But this is one of the family affair with the birds and animals as the other members of the community.

One of the cabins contains the dining room and kitchen, one the parlor and servants' quarters, another cabin is for bird dogs, and the main cottage is for the New England couple, with unusual rooms and contains the bed-room,
living-room, and a room for guns and fishing tackle. The livingroom has a great fire-place, book-lined walls, hand-made natural wood furniture, with a table where bird books and pipes hobnob with the London Spectator. There is no telephone, no radio, no connection with the outside world.

We walked in the wood, an enchanted sort of wood, and when querest rustlings went up in the trees, I knew the elves were watching us with tolerant amusement even just as they did Malme in Kensington Gardens after lock-out time. The sparkle berry trees were their white lily-of-the-valley blooms; the late afternoon sun came through the pines in long golden shafts; the lake lay primose under a primrose sky. A breeze stirred in the fresh green of the young cypresses on the bank bringing to the teeth the delicious smells of the woods. It was a magical green and golden world where anything might happen.

Just at that moment something did happen—a small brown fury
thing whisked across the path
as the path led through the woods.

"What was that?" I asked Mr.
Gould.
"Perhaps it was Kenneth Grahame's water rat." She looked at me for a responsive gleam and when she saw my uncomprehending stare, she gasped, "Don't you know Kenneth Grahame?"

When I admitted that I didn't, I was hustled back to the cabin and there in the little book-lined room with the live oaks looking out the window, I met Kenneth Grahame, that is I met enough of him to feel that his friendship is very precious. To be sure, what is more of Mr. Grahame lies in the soil under an English heaven,
but the part of him that once dwelt in Arcady, that knew the wild wood, the open road, the spirits of small animals, and the hearts of children, was there on the table between the covers of his books, "Wind in the Willows"
and "The Golden Age."

"Wind in the Willows" is the story of a group of little animals
—a mole, a water rat, a badger,
and a toad, but they are no
dissident with the qualities of humanity, that we follow with keen interest the adventures of conflicting Mr. Toad, of the lowly mole who went forth to taste the delights of the world, and of his faithful companion, "Ratty," amicable, cheerful, and gallant.

"Wind in the Willows" is adult entertainment because of its sly humor, because it is distinguished by a singular beauty of style and spirit, and because the very perfumes of the woods hang over it like a fragrance. I understand, however, that "Wind in the Willows" is on the fourth grade reading list of New York's Board of Education, and I have a five year old who will go the same way with Mr. Toad and will want happily
one of the occasional verses:

"The clever men at Oxford
Know all that there is to be known
But they need not know much—
An intelligent Mr. Toad."

Mr. Grahame passed us in silence, as if he had no time to speak, and I followed him with my eyes, and he disappeared into the shadows of the hammock.

At the end of the 1934 fiscal year, the rest of the world was to the United States, had reached nearly $10 billion dollars.

The seven principal virtues in medieval Christian ethics were prudence, chastity, benevolence,
faith, hope, love and humility.

The "Hardy Family" Bob Burns Plays Composing Songs During His Sleep

With its theme counterpointed by gag-men of city song numbers, unique dances and the witt of a wise cat, RKO Radio's new comedy film, "Radio City Revels," plays Thursday and Friday at the Ritz Theatre.

Bob Burns, Jack Oakie, Kenny Baker, Milton Berle, Victor Moore, Helen Broderick, Ann Miller, Jane Frazee, Buster West and Melissa Mason have the top roles in the picture which ostensibly deals with a huge celebration of the fifth anniversary of Radio City itself.

The real theme of the story, however, is a merry one—the qualities of Mr. Burns' composing lovely songs in his sleep, although even with mail-order lessons from Oakie, his compositions efforts are terrible. On this slightly basis most of the plot development is built, and the film weaves this deftly into an entertainment structure. A liltin romance between Kenny Baker and Ann Miller and a comedy affair between Burns and Miss Broderick also add to the story.

Seven sparkling songs, composed by Herb Magruder and Allie Wrubel, are dotted through the picture with "Take a Tip From the Tidylip," "Speak Your Heart" and "Good Night, Angel" already among the current popular hits. Ann Miller, who will be remembered for her tan routines in "New Faces of 1937" and "Stage Door," and the noted Broadway dancer, Buster West and Melissa Mason, perform the unusual numbers in the film.

Bob Burns gives one of his finest performances to date as the amorous Arkansas "hill billy" and Oakie, as broken-down Tim Pan Alley composer, shares top honors with him. Kenny Baker proves to be a hit. Milton Berle is Oakie's loyal mate, Helen Broderick and Victor Moore all are excellent in their respective roles.

A young Irishwoman, who complained that her husband spanked her "as one would beat an unruly child," won a separation decree in Dublin on the ground of cruelty.

Judge Hardy and the irreducible brother and sister of "A Family Affair" and "You're Only Young Once" are back again in the third picture revolving about the human, down-to-earth family, titled "Judge Hardy's Children." It plays on the Ritz screen Thursday and Friday. Lewis Stone again plays the judge, Mickey Rooney the ne'er-do-well son, and Cecilia Parker his romantic sister.

In the far north where iron and wood are scarce the Eskimos build their dog sled without a single piece of iron. The runners are made with ivory.

Romantic stars, dancing stars—comedy stars, singing stars—

these are stars all around the screen's Number One star, Shirley Temple, in her best-of-all musical hit, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," 20th Century-Fox picture which opens tomorrow at the Ritz Theatre.

Randolph Scott and Gloria Stuart are gloriously happy; Jack Haley and Slim Summerville make merry; tap-kings Bill Robinson dances with Shirley at tap speed; and other top talent includes Phyllis Brooks, Helen Westley, The Raymond Scott Quintet, Alan Dinehart and J. Griffith associate producer.

Daryl F. Zanuck, 20th Century-Fox's hit-maestro, selected Alan Iwan to direct "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," with Raymond Scott and J. Griffith associate producer.

Deanna Durbin's Third Picture Is Acclaimed Best

For the third time in her short career, 15-year-old Deanna Durbin triumphs.

Less than two years ago, Deanna was an unknown Los Angeles school-girl, not even dreaming of a screen career. Her first picture established her as a child of promise. Her second, confirmed that promise. Her third, "Mad About Music," showing Tuesday and Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre, proves beyond doubt that little Miss Durbin is genuine star, firmly established in her niche of screen fame.

"Mad About Music" is a delightful picture. It presents Deanna in a different characterization from those of her previous pictures, and in a mood and tempo entirely different. "Mad About Music" is a comedy drama. Only a few years—and those in the most effective manner—introduce into the story of the little girl with the make-believe father and whose dreams come true.

Deanna sings as beautifully as ever. With the exception of Gounod's "Ave Maria," her selections are lighter, more in the popular ballad vein, than those of "100 Men and a Girl." She renders three songs, "I Love to Whistle," "Serenade to the Stars" and "Chapel Bells," by Jimmie McHugh and Harold Adamson, in addition to Gounod's "Ave Maria."

The cast including Herbert Marshall, Gail Patrick, Arthur Treacher, William Frawley, Marcella, Mae Jones, Helen Parrish, Jackie Moran, Christian Rub, Charles Peck, Nana Bryant, Elizabeth Risdon, Joan Tree, Charles Judels, Franklin Pangborn, Bert Rush and S. Gräuman, turn in fine performances. The story is by Fredrick Kohner and Marcelle Burke, with screenplay by Bruce Manning and Felix Jackson.

Norman Taurog, director of "Mad About Music," has brought out Deanna's acting abilities to a surprising degree in this Universal film.

Photography, by Joseph Valentine, is exceptionally fine. The recording, especially in the "Chapel Bells" number, is excellent.

Restrictions For Celery Shipments Lifted For Week

Thirds of the 190 acres to be cut in the Sanford-Oviedo districts this week have been marketed.

Regarding the market, sales managers for leading shippers report a fair to good market on good quality, large sizes and practically no demand for the smaller sizes and poor quality celery. Prices in the New York market yesterday, according to a report of the Federal State Market News Service, ranged from $1.50 to $2.25.

Track holdings at principle markets which declined to 125 cars last week and climbed to 216 cars on Monday has again shown a decline with only 184 cars in the market's for Friday.

Prices f. o. b. for muckland celery ranged from $1.10 to $1.60 yesterday, on sandland celery, most shipments rolled unsold or consigned.

Contrasting sharply with the poor market for celery were reports of Howell Fish, shipper member of the committee who also has interests in California.

California iceberg lettuce is bringing up to $2.50 per crate in terminal markets and selling for over $6.00 per crate f. o. b.

Shipments from the California lettuce producing sections are averaging 100 cars daily and are being sold at this price. Mr. Fish stated pointing out that this supply is only one-half of the usual lettuce shipments from the far west this season.

He also reported that the lettuce industry is planning another extensive, nationwide advertising program similar to the program in effect in the industry last year.

The meeting in Sanford last night was presided over by J. C. Hutchison and the meeting in Sarasota was headed by vice-chairman, Loring Raout.

Other members present at the Sanford meeting included: Allan Wilson, Howell Fish, C. S. Lee, B. V. Wheeler, Henry Nickle, R. H. Chapman, and John Meisch.

D. E. Timmons, marketing specialist of the Florida Agricultural Extension Service, and Floyd Hedlund, of the general crop section of the AAA were also present at the meeting.

LONGWOOD

A most pleasing amateur program, with Carl Whittemore taking part of Major Bowes, was put on at Lyman School Tuesday night for the benefit of the 4-H Girls camping fund in which prizes were taken by the seventh grade singers and by Doris and Charles Entzminger.

The audience was truly appreciative and a good sum netted for the object. In charge of the program were Mrs. William Lee, Mrs. Grey and Mrs. Avant.

On Saturday night, at Sunnydale Park a delicious fish fry with fixings was put on by Walter Goldard and assistants for members of the South Side and West Side Cards Club. Cards games were enjoyed at Mr. Goldard's home the remainder of the evening.

At Christ Episcopal Church Easter Communion service will be celebrated at 8:30 in the morning by the Rev. Martin J. Bryan.

The Civic League held their annual business session on Tuesday with Mrs. Niemeyer presiding.

A boy with very attractive dreams was picked by the members of the Children's Home at Jacksonville. Ice cream and cake were served by Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Crum.

The last regular dinner of the year was put on at the Park Wednesday with Mrs. Bridge, Mrs. Niemeyer and Mrs. Harris as committee for a joint group. Next week there will be a picnic dinner at the same time and place.

Attending the Robinoff concert in Orlando Tuesday night were Miss Alice Levina, music instructor, and a group of students.

DRYS DROP CASE

ATLANTA, April 12.—(AP)—Georgia dry leaders told a court here today that without the help of their friends in the state legislature they would never have a picnic dinner and a movie at the Robinoff.

Cheers, attorney and political leaders said questions in the case were covered before it reached the Senate, and William Morris, attorney for the drys, will be heard by the court May 12.

Tampa Company Will Build Cargo Ships

TAMPA, Apr. 16. (AP)—The Tampa Shipbuilding and Engineering company cleared the way yesterday for the job of building four steel cargo ships for the maritime commission at a contract price of $7,345,462.

The board of the reconstruction finance corporation at Washington formally approved its application for a loan to enable it to proceed with construction, which means that all financial arrangements have been completed.

The contract already had been approved by the commission. Plans for the ships are being drawn and Ernest Richey, head of the company, who has been at Tampa for many weeks, is expected here early in the week with everything in the bag.

The first two ships, which will be built at Tampa, will be delivered in November. The other two will be delivered in December. The total cost of the four ships will be $29,385,462.

Sanford Defeats Leesburg Team By Score Of 11 to 9

Pinder And Hunsucker Nicked For Only Seven Hits As Team Mates Bunch 11 Blows Off Gondoliers

McDaniels, Mihalic And Brown Smash Out Two Baggers For Lacy Club; Tally Five Runs In Sixth

Bunching 11 hits behind seven hit hurling by Joe Pinder and Bob Hunsucker, Manager Guy Lacy's Sanford Lookouts conquered the Leesburg Gondoliers in the last of a four game exhibition series by a score of 11 to 9 which evened the bracket of ties.

The Lookouts collected a total of 11 hits off the offerings of Lefty Travis, Roy Walters and Jake Circuit of the Leesburg aggregation while the Gondoliers went down helpless with a batch of errors to hurt them as they could only secure seven bounces.

Pinder started on the mound for the locals and save a bad fifth frame he allowed the Lake County team six hits for a total of nine runs. He got into hot water in the seventh chapter and after Leesburg had scored five times, Bob Hunsucker took over the hurling duties.

Hunsucker allowed one hit but by Joe Brown, the first run to face him. He retired the side in the eighth, sent three runs down in one in the ninth and also sent the heavy swatting tree of the Gons down in order.

The Lookouts jumped on Travis in the initial frame when Pineda McDaniels was hit by a pitched ball and scored when Pete Mahaffey doubled to deep left field. The locals tallied three more in the third when they gathered only two bounces but mixed them with two errors and a pair of free passes. The Gons got their first run in the third on a triple by Commons and a fielder's choice. They got another in the fourth Travis walked and scored on an infield grounder by R. C.

The Gondoliers tied the count in their half of the fifth when a walk, a single by French and a three bagger by Great netted a pair of marks. Sanford came back with a barrage of four hits bunched with two errors, two walks and a sacrifice to send five runs across the platter. A double by Wm Brown was the main blow which came with the bases full.

The locals made a serious threat again in the seventh but a pair of men were left stranded.

Leesburg, training by a score of nine to four in the seventh, brought the game again to close quarters when they pushed across five markers on three hits, an error and two walks. In the Lookout half of that frame they added another tally to make their total ten. McDaniels doubled to deep right field and scored with Mahaffey singled to deep left.

The local nine scored one more run in the ninth when with one out, Mihalic walked. Brown flied out to Drews at short and Bubba Young hit a high long fly ball into deep center field. Great, act centerfielder for the Gons, got under the ball but dropped it and Mahaffey crossed the plate.

Pete Mahaffey led the hitting departments for the evening when he bounded out three singles and a double in four trips to the plate. Great of Leesburg hit safely twice to carry second honors.

The most outstanding play of the tilt came in the sixth inning

LASSES-WHITE AND HONEY WILDS

A widely known blackface comedian set comes to Sanford to appear here in Lasses-White All Star Minstrels and Hollywood Babies. A complete new show, studded with big name attractions, will be presented in two performances at night beginning at 8:00 and 9:15 o'clock.

Lost Art Finds "Lasses" White Holding His Own

The drama, musical comedy and light music are now old men and women in the modern day forms of entertainment. Al G. Field, Nick O'Brien, Honey Boy Evans and many other once black face minstrel celebrities have also passed to their reward but not from the public memory.

Young master is "Tops" with any theater audience; the "Big Apple" and "Cuckoo" have taken hold of the popular fancy, the day of the snappy minstrel how has always been here and is still the most popular entertainment of the average family seeking an evening's amusement.

Among the names made famous by the bright cork performers is that of "Lasses" White whose rise to a point of eminence and world-wide recognition is known in every city and hamlet throughout the nation. His position today is that of a leader in the reviving popularity of minstrelsy. "Lasses" White has appeared with such celebrities as Al G. Fields, Nick O'Brien, Honey Boy Evans and others. He was while taking a leading part with the Honey Boy Evans minstrels that he attained the highest peak of stardom. This sudden rise made almost like fiction and proves that skill and ability is bound to win.

It was while showing in Mobile, Alabama that "Honey Boy" Evans was suddenly taken ill. That the show was pulled off it's headliner and greatest star. But according to the tradition of the show business it was necessary that the "Show must go on" and even "Honey Boy" Evans must be substituted for.

This was the opportunity "Lasses" White was waiting for and he capably did his fill the shoes of "Honey Boy" Evans that star of the first magnitude.

"Lasses" White has since become famous in radio, on the screen and has also appeared in the leading cities of this and other nations and is today upholding the traditions of the black face minstrel, always well come in any community and who never failed to draw large crowds of entertainment seekers.

"Lasses" White, in person will appear in this city on heading the "Lasses" White All Star Minstrel Show which brings with it other celebrities known throughout the nation as singers, dancers and comedians who never failed to provide an evening of entertainment not soon to be forgotten.

$1,156,546,000 Is Approved For Huge Expansion Of Navy

"Big Navy" Program To Be For Defense; $94,300,000 Sought For Rivers, Harbors

Florida Projects Are Recommended
Relief-Recovery Program Believed Discussed At Parley

WASHINGTON, Apr. 18.—(AP)—The Senate Naval Affairs Committee, approving $1,156,546,000 expansion in nation's sea forces, today called for a Navy for national defense only.

The Committee's report on the Administration's "big navy" program declared that "Navy" national defense should be one "that will be used only in case we are forced into war, but one that in war is strong enough to defeat the enemy fleet wherever it can be brought into action."

The House Appropriations Committee proposed that Congress give Army engineers $94,300,000 for the construction and maintenance of rivers and harbors projects throughout the country in the year starting next July 1.

The Committee approved without a change a bill recommending for a $27,665,000 appropriation for the maintenance of existing projects and $32,800,000 for new work.

It recommended appropriations for harbors and channels as follows: Jacksonville to Miami waterway, $20,000; Melbourne harbor, $15,000; and for intracoastal waterways; Caloosahatchee and Lake Okeechobee drainage areas, Florida, $400,000.

Congressional tax-hill conferees, recessing again with a report of "no progress," called Chairman W. O. Douglas of the Securities Commission to testify tomorrow on the proposed special tax treatment for utility holding companies undergoing liquidation.

Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex) after attending a conference of President Roosevelt with his congressional lieutenants, predicted Congress would adjourn between May 20 and June 1. Rayburn, Vice President Garner and Speaker Bankhead attended the conference believed to be concerned with charting a course of legislation embodying the President's $4,500,000 relief-recovery program.

Retirement Is Not Required To Get Old-Age Insurance

ORLANDO, Apr. 18.—It is not necessary to retire from work at the age of 65 in order to receive a lump-sum payment under the Federal Old-Age Insurance program. Paul K. Weiser, Manager of the Social Security Board's Bureau of Old-Age Insurance Field Office in Orlando, emphasized.

"In my contacts with business and industrial workers in Sanford and adjoining nine counties served by my office, I have found that there is a general belief among the majority of them that when they reach the age of 65 they will be compelled to retire from work to receive a lump-sum benefit payment," Mr. Weiser said.

"Under the present terms of the Social Security Act, a worker retires from covered employment in order to receive the monthly retirement benefit which will be paid beginning in 1943. However, the lump-sum cash payments are paid now to workers who reach age 65, and who have worked since 1936, to an employment record by the 1943 date."

The lump-sum payments general to those men and their dependents, without regard to the length of time they have worked or the amount received during the current period.

Every person is being given estimates, without charge, at the Social Security office, which is located at 80 South Orange Avenue, Orlando, Florida.

British Ready To Take Firm Stand In Orient

Japs Plan Strong Offense In Effort To Deal Powerful Blow To Chinese Forces

Thread of course and effect bound the world in a close knit that gripped one community in which observers saw a relationship between such things as the Anglo-Japan accord and a big-scale Japanese offensive on the battlefield of China.

Japan's launched a strong attack in southeastern Shantung province, designed to wipe out recent reverses and end the war with a swift, powerful stroke before China grows stronger and outside factors block Japanese ambitions.

The settlement between Britain and Italy was viewed as a clearing of British docks, preparing London to take a strong hand in the Far East.

Japan's warmakers also had an eye on SWITZERLAND.

Probably in fear that the weakness of Japan by a prolonged war would please Moscow.

In the world's other war, Spanish insurgents formed a front east of steel-bound coastal Tortosa and stabilized through the outlying government defenses. Insurgents felt the fall of Tortosa was imminent.

France, encouraged by British support, with Premier Mussolini of Italy, prepared to follow suit.

French leaders hoped that negotiations to expand Anglo-Italian pact into a three-power security pact could be completed before Germany's Adolf Hitler visits France next month.
