ings accounts through the country. His remarks were roundly cheered by the veterans, who jammed the convention hall during the address.

Commander Stevens declared that the navy and "the poor old regular army" have been reduced in size in disregard of the national defense act of 1920. As a result, he said, the army has become a branch of defense secondary to the national guard. Further, he asserted, Congress "is starving the national guard by reduced appropriations."

This, he said, took place in spite of the fact that "right now, in our own back yard in the Pacific, trouble has been brewing for months and months that may lead to what—we don't know that."

Elaborating upon his plea of continuance of the Legion's fight against unemployment, the national commander said 10,000 persons daily are being added to the list of employed through the Legion's efforts. The fight will not stop, he said, until 1,000,000 are given jobs.

"Tell the owners of small savings accounts to put their money into circulation," he advocated. "Tell industrialists to hire one or more additional men; till the fear of the depression and our war against depression is won."

He pointed to the body's work in caring for disabled children, and urged Legionnaires to raise their national membership to 1,250,000 men before the national convention at Portland.

In its afternoon session, the convention adopted a number of resolutions. They included request that the Naval hospital at Key West, not now occupied, be refitted and opened for use of disabled service men; request to the federal government that all ex-service men in Cuba be placed under jurisdiction of the Florida department with regard to compensation, insurance and hospitalization; recommendation to all State Legion posts to sponsor the Boy Scout movement; and a request that Congress act speedily on the widows and orphans bill.

Selection of the 1933 convention city was postponed until today, when new state officers will be elected. Havana has been prominently mentioned as the probable choice for a meeting place.

In closing session of the Florida vantage, 40 & S. F. E. Brigham, Winter Haven, was elected grand chief de gare to succeed Frank H. Willis, Tampa, who was elected to the national executive committee. Sam Roberts, Miami, was elec-

Schmelzing Arrives To Prepare For Bout With Shatkey

NEW YORK, Apr. 9.—(A.P.)

Max Schmelzing, German boxer of the world's heavyweight class, arrived yesterday for an exhibition bout and to begin a defense against Jack Shatkey in New York June 14.

The black Ulman looked fit and said his weight was only 194 pounds, within three or four of his best fighting weight.

Schmelzing indicated he believed himself a much better fighter than he was two years ago when he took a terrific beating from Shatkey before being fouled into the title in the fourth round.

Schmelzing's exhibition bout of last year and his winning 15-round fight with W. L. Young, Sr., in Cleveland, last July, had given him just the sort of experience he needed. Shatkey had beat him on eight occasions and had a draw in a 15-round contest last summer by Mickey Walker.

The champion's trainer, Man Machon, said he did not believe there was a man living who could stand up against Schmelzing for 15 rounds, the scheduled distance of the June bout.

Joe Jacobs, Schmelzing's manager, attempted to head off financial inquiries but he was not quite enough of a tactician to succeed in the champion's financial standing.

Schmelzing said he would have enough money after the Shatkey fight to retire and never fight again, if he so desired but that he did not intend to do that.

Schmelzing will begin an exhibition tour next week which will keep him busy until April 20. On May 10 he will start serious training near Kingston, N. Y.

MODERN WOMEN

SOME HAPPY MARRIED WOMEN KILL HUSBANDS LOVE BY ANTICIPATING TROUBLE

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

"I can't help but be jealous," writes a young bride, "and I don't want to be. You see my husband is the type that appeals to every woman here. Of course, he doesn't have anything to do with them, but I'm afraid of the future. I've never so much about the warning of a young dream and I have been disappointed if our love for each other doesn't last more than a few years. But no matter what comes up, I don't want to be a messenger of the jealous wives' club. What can I do about it?"

Spoken like a modern woman, Y. B. With the proper passion, not only present in our daily life but in our thoughts, it is a tragedy that some-day you and your husband will be together, each other would never have entered your head. No, I think you have realized that emotion is a foolish emotion. You will have married your John. Do not, therefore, immerse to any jealousy, which is assured that your love was the only end of its kind.

But in this age, we seem to sense danger ahead no matter whether the light shows green or every crossing. More than that, we want to know what to do in case the red does blink against us. The modern progression leans toward a more intelligent use of the happiness that is theirs because they are afraid of it will come to them.

It's rather a foolish way of looking at things, don't you think, Y. B. Why not be a little more adventurous? You're happy now. Why don't you let the possibility of a new life come into your mind? You're not a fool, you're a woman. You'll get it. You'll get it. You'll get it.

Well, that would be all right if you were not afraid of the consequences. You're not a fool, you're a woman. You'll get it. You'll get it. You'll get it.

But in this age, we seem to sense danger ahead no matter whether the light shows green or every crossing. More than that, we want to know what to do in case the red does blink against us.

CARDS, ATHLETICS AGAIN FAVORED TO WIN PENNANT

Poll Of Sports Writers Shows Belief Of 2-Club Contest

By ALAN GOULD. Associated Press Sports Editor. NEW YORK, Apr. 11.—(A.P.)—For the third successive year, the champion St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Athletics have the backing of the majority of experts to win the major league baseball pennant races.

The most striking feature of the sixth annual Associated Press pennant poll, compiled Saturday, is the apparent conviction it will be mainly a two-club contest in each circuit. The two Manhattan entries, the Giants and Yankees, are named as the only real challengers to the present rulers of baseball's big league rosters.

In the balloting by sports editors and writers of the major league ballclubs, the world champion Cardinals prove much stronger favorites than the Athletics to repeat. Professional betting commissioners rate the Red Birds an even money choice and the Athletics at 6 to 5.

Of the 67 predictions on the 1932 order of finish received in The Associated Press poll, 46 favor the Cardinals to make it three in a row while 28 pick the Athletics to set a new American League record of four consecutive victories. Last year 35 experts picked St. Louis and 41 named Philadelphia out of 61 ballots.

All but one of the remaining American League ballots goes to the Yankees, who, as the choice of 28 critics, muster the strongest backing they have had since they were toppled off the baseball throne in 1929. Cleveland gets one pennant vote for the coming campaign.

The Giants have the support of 15 observers who think they will surge back to the National League peak for the first time since 1921. The Chicago Cubs, second choice last season, get only three pennant votes this year. The remaining National League ballots go to the Phillies.

The failure of the Cubs to rate more highly in the poll comes as a surprise. The advance dope points to the team being greatly strengthened by the addition of Burleigh Grimes, plus the development of sensational young infielders in Hack and Hornan.

The widespread belief that the league races will be tightened up seems to be confined almost exclusively to the second division groups in each league. The experts manifest extreme uncertainty in rating the lower half of the brackets and wind up, surprisingly enough, in the American League by picking the Detroit Tigers to finish fifth, two notches higher than in 1931.

Observers figured there will be at least a three-club scramble in each circuit to keep out of last place. The Chicago White Sox and Boston Braves are nominated for the cellar, positions, analysis of the vote shows, but the experts see very little to choose in the part of the field.

The order of finish predicted by the poll in each league:

National—St. Louis, New York, Chicago, Brooklyn, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and Boston.

American—Philadelphia, New York, Washington, Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis, Boston and Chicago.

CLUB DIRECTORS TO MEET TONIGHT IN SHORT DEBATE

Fate Of Hold-Outs Will Occupy Major Part Of Important Meet

The fate of several aspirants to positions on the Sanford Baseball Club becomes known tonight as the Board of Directors, meeting at the City Hall at 7:00 o'clock, will discuss ways and means of financing the team during the summer, and completing other arrangements needed before a representative of the team sits in a meeting of the league directors at New Smyrna Tuesday night.

Bob Pittman, slugging fielding star of the University of Florida, who is anxious to land a job on the club here this summer, is the bone of contention. Bob has several offers from other clubs, but so far has refused them in the hope that he is worth the small guarantee he is going to guarantee any player a salary or not is unknown, but most of the directors have unofficially stated that the club can operate successfully without employing any guaranteed help.

Manager Joe Barnes sees a Pittman who one man in the league who can bolster an otherwise medium in ability infield. He feels that with Bach at second, Pittman at short or third, and Higgins at third or short, with himself at first, and Tills or Schirard behind the plate, that the infield will go far in league circles.

If the Pittman deal falls through, Manager Barnes has a good chance of securing the services of Ted Drossen, the Orlando boy who did well in the infield for Winter Park last year. Drossen asks only a guarantee covering his trip from Orlando and back twice weekly. Barnes may also have the services of Cox, a likely looking third baseman who formerly played at Wil Wood.

Until tonight however, just what players will be on the eligible list which must be handed in at the league meeting tomorrow night, is uncertain. Manager Barnes is sure that Cal Dennis, Walter Bach, Homer Tills, John Edward Higgins, Buddy Lake, Spot Lockett, Roy Harrison, Roy Britt, Pet-Schirard, Jack Peters, and several others will be ready to take their chances as members of the team, depending upon the "gate" for any remuneration. With the exception of Lockett, they are all local players who would ordinarily be doing nothing during the summer. Whatever they pick up as members of the team is profit, although it means appearing in games twice weekly, and attending afternoon practice tilts.

Manager Barnes is well satisfied with conditions as far as physical appearance of the players is concerned. Three weeks of steady workouts have left a clean-cut impression upon each player. No sore arms, chafed hands, or usual problems of the road.

Harlan, the four newspapermen were ordered to wait and "don't follow inside a half hour."

They obeyed orders, and when the time elapsed took a short cut to the Virginia Corridor, where they intercepted the students. They found them disheveled and wrathful. Lucien Koch, director of the college and their lawyer, told the story, assisted by interjections from the others.

"Just before we reached the Virginia line," he said, "the 'vigilantes' stopped the procession and on only one were taken into the woods. Our wrists were bound, with a piece of chain, the men cut heavy boughs from trees, forced us to take off our coats and beat us heavily."

"They struck me several times on the face, possibly because I was the leader, and Harold Coy (one of the students) received a hard blow on the jaw."

PIKEVILLE, Ky., Apr. 11.—(A.P.)—Capt. Ben S. Golden, of Pikeville, chief of defense counsel for a number of miners facing trial in connection with coal field disorders in southeastern Kentucky, said yesterday that T. O. Price, of Philadelphia, chief of the miners' organization had seven beaten and kidnapped yesterday by three unidentified men. Price had seen him for conference relative to trials of the accused miners.

Golden said he was "reliably informed" that Price was walking along a Pikeville street when an automobile containing three men drew up to the curb. One of the men, Golden said, he was told, forced Price into the car and sat him in the back seat and set the automobile in motion toward Cumberland Gap.

Golden said he intended driving towards Cumberland Gap in search for Price.

Golden represented W. B. Jones and W. B. Hightower, mine union officials charged with murder in connection with the disorders at Evans in which four men were slain last October. Jones and Hightower both were sentenced to life imprisonment.

WHITNEY SAYS "BEAR RAIDS" DO NOT EXIST

It was stated authoritatively yesterday, however, that the real purpose behind the sudden determination of administration leaders to press the investigation now as the failure of the new stock exchange rule, which went into effect on Apr. 1, to check enormous short selling operations.

This rule provided that all stock borrowed for short selling should carry the written consent of its owners. There is a belief at the Capitol that brokers have exerted influence to force written consents and circumvent the rule.

The conviction of the administration that a systematic bear campaign has been going on for months, breaking down every reconstruction effort, is not shared by all on Capitol Hill. Many there believe the low prices of securities have resulted from legitimate liquidations and reflect actual conditions. But all at last are determined to find out the true situation.

The President does not hold stock exchange officials to blame. He is known, however, to feel strongly that a group of major operators dealing in thousands of shares has been driving at five or six leading issues to knock down prices for personal gains, carrying the cost of the market along to dangerous depths with distress to the millions of stockholders and public institution investors. It is expected several days will be required to analyze the data expected to be received from Whitney.

Golden said he intended driving towards Cumberland Gap in search for Price.

Golden represented W. B. Jones and W. B. Hightower, mine union officials charged with murder in connection with the disorders at Evans in which four men were slain last October. Jones and Hightower both were sentenced to life imprisonment.

TWO Texans Have Important Roles In Drive for Business Recovery

Jesse H. Jones of Houston, Texas, a Director of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and M. A. Traylor, President of First National Bank of Chicago.

Selection of Jesse H. Jones of Houston as a director of this $2,000,000,000 credit corporation is generally regarded as recognition of Mr. Jones' talent for tackling large business problems.

Texas has a double interest in the success of the new Reconstruction Finance Corporation which has become an important business factor under the leadership of General Charles G. Dawes, former Ambassador to Great Britain.

Selection of Jesse H. Jones of Houston as a director of this $2,000,000,000 credit corporation is generally regarded as recognition of Mr. Jones' talent for tackling large business problems.

Of equal interest to Texans are many others in the Southwest is the fact that Melvin A. Traylor, a native of Kentucky and a former Texan, made one of the most important contributions to the organization of the Reconstruction Corporation. Mr. Traylor, who is now a Chicago bank president and often mentioned by his friends throughout the country as a potential Democratic candidate for the Presidential nomination, went to Washington and gave a Senate Subcommittee the benefit of his exceptional experience in agricultural banking. One of his outstanding suggestions was that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation be authorized to make loans to the receivers of closed banks as a means of alleviating distress of thousands of depositors in small financial institutions throughout the country.

Mr. Traylor's suggestion made such an impression that it was embodied in the bill as finally passed by Congress. He, more than any other man, is responsible for the timely assistance that will now be possible for many depositors of small banks throughout the country.

Honor Slaying Trial Is In Second Stage

HONOLULU, Apr. 11.—(A.P.)—The prosecution's story of the slaying of Joseph Kahanawai, Hawaiian, accused of attacking a white woman, is ready to be told in court today as the Fortasque-Masani honor slaying trial moved into its second stage. With the selection of a jury completed, Prosecutor John Kelley had before him the names of 29 persons who professed knowledge of one phase or another of the killing of Kahanawai, accused with four other men of attacking Mrs. Thalia Masani, wife of a naval lieutenant. The slaying is not involved as the defendants are accused of second degree murder.

White sumac, or thunderwood, is closely related to poison ivy, but persons are not likely to come in contact with it. It grows mostly in dense hammocks and is a rather tall bush.

PLANS MADE FOR ARBITRATION OF BUSINESS ROWS

Tribunal Would Settle Disputes Quickly, Economically

NEW YORK, Apr. 11.—Plans for setting up an inter-American arbitration tribunal in the United States to make it possible or business men in this country and representatives of business men in other American republics to dispose of a controversy immediately, and economically and under adequate legal safeguards, by arbitration procedure were discussed at a luncheon given by the American Arbitration Association at the Bankers' Club today.

Mr. Herman G. Brock, vice-president of the Inter-American Commercial Arbitration Council, said the proposed tribunal would be a center of experiment and of education through the actual conduct of inter-American arbitrations which will be useful in devising a method of cooperating organizations in other American republics. It would provide in advance for arbitration of controversies arising under arbitration clauses in inter-American commercial contracts which are enforceable in the same manner as other contracts under the United States Arbitration Act.

Already more than 150 arbitrators have been chosen for a permanent inter-American panel, which will serve without compensation as a contribution to commercial understanding and peace in the Americas, Mr. Brock said. Every American country is represented in the panel.

"In order to insure absolute impartiality in the proceedings, an arbitration committee of five persons is being selected, consisting of two Americans and three members representing other American republics," he said. "This committee has charge of the proceedings under the rules." In conjunction with the tribunal, an inter-American law committee is being formed of lawyers in New York City who specialize in the laws of the various American republics, he added.

The tribunal will serve parties who mutually agree to arbitrate under the United States act and will administer arbitrations to be held in any other republics in this hemisphere, Mr. Brock said. Mr. Francisco P. de Hoyos, acting president of the Mexican Chamber of Commerce in the United States, expressed the hope that similar tribunals might be established in Latin-American republics.

"There is a confederation of chambers of commerce in Mexico," he said, "which offers an excellent agency to develop this plan."

Your Numberscope
By CLIFFORD W. CHEASLEY

Every letter of your name, as well as the numbers of the month, by and year of your birth have a meaning far beyond the fact that they are figures. When we study the ancient science and philosophy of numerology, it will be seen that numbers are really the key. They will unlock for the individual a way of thought and action leading to greater happiness and the attainment of huge health, wealth, and success.

Those are the four and only things that both the fool and the wise man can seek or expect from life, and I shall be able to show you how the enjoyment of all of them can be increased.

The time when letters were first noted with figures is not exactly known, but 600 years B. C. Pythagoras, the early Greek philosopher and scientist, had a definite system of this so-called mystery which he taught his pupils how to use life as an art. How to learn about themselves, the world in which they lived, how to think, and act correctly, to insure their greater happiness and success. These are just the same old things that we all want to know right now, so that the valuable information which can be given to men and women will answer the questions that as often heard today.

Just so long as we think about numbers as just something to be dealt with, to balance our ledgers, to check up our small change and to make sure that we keep our books, we are inclined to pass up an opportunity to give us any information regarding our own character, the character of our friends, the character of our business, the best time to make important changes, the understanding of our opportunities.

Now we know numerology. This old science, simply as figures, has changed and we find a new meaning for them, a mystery and magic for them, which has been passed down through the ages, and which can be applied to our problems. The following may be asked:

SEEKS OFFICE

Mrs. Herman Damp, Sr. of St. Petersburg, who has entered the lists as a delegate-at-large to the Democratic National Convention.

"Why is it that numerology as a science is so old and numbers have so much to tell us about ourselves and our lives, that the public is only just beginning to hear anything about it, especially when there are so many people waiting for the right idea as to how to improve their health and to succeed?"

Reading these articles upon numerology will tell how we can use our thinking, our own imaginations, understand why our friends are like they are and how we expect them to be, whether we are in the right work, the associations that will make us happy and a hundred and one thing that everyone wants to know.

It is not necessary to listen to so many different people giving us all kinds of advice, telling us what they would do if they were you, which they never could be. We can figure it all out by the full use of two and two making four.

Lever Makes Plea For Co-Operation Among Farmers

GAINESVILLE, Fla. A plea for unattended and undisciplined cooperation among farmers was made in a recent address over WRIT by A. F. Lever, former congressman from South Carolina and now with the Federal Farm Board. Mr. Lever was addressing the annual conference of Florida county and home demonstration agents. He is co-author of the Smith-Lever Act which makes federal funds available for county agent work in every state.

The present depression as a whole, world-wide, and affecting every industry and that many of these have been halted, that agriculture has suffered the most, that the farmer is the one who is suffering the most, that the farmer is the one who is suffering the most, that the farmer is the one who is suffering the most.
