Ex-Sanford Family Dead In Murder-Suicide

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Virginia police today continued to search for a motive in the murder-suicide of a former Sanford woman, her two daughters and her boyfriend.

The four were found dead in their Virginia home 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Dead is Connie M. Dougherty, 29, her two daughters Tonya Jackson, 10, Tara Dougherty, 6, and Steven Gilliken, 27, all of Portsmouth, a city near Norfolk, Va.

According to police, each victim died from a gunshot wound to the head. Gilliken's self-inflicted. The woman and her children moved to Portsmouth from Sanford two years ago.

The Virginian-Pilot, a daily paper serving Norfolk, reported neighbors saying the couple were quiet and planning to marry.

Cpl. Gary Smith of the Portsmouth police said Thursday the police were asked around 4 p.m. Tuesday to check on the well-being of Gilliken. He was in the Coast Guard stationed on the cutter Cowslip in Norfolk and did not show up for work, Smith said. The Coast Guard, following routine procedures, sent a man to the house to check on Gilliken. When the man found the house locked, he called the police, the Virginian-Pilot reported.

A police officer arrived at the scene and entered the residence through a second-story window, Smith said.

Inside, he found Gilliken on his back in the downstairs living room with a .22-caliber handgun next to him. Mrs. Dougherty, in her nightgown, was found in her bed. She was apparently sleeping when she was shot, Smith said. The girls were located in their room, Tara in her bed, Tonya on the floor. Tonya may have got up to see what was going on, Smith said.

"They didn't have problems," Jessie Weidner, a next door neighbor, told the newspaper. "They couldn't have done this to each other. They loved each other too much," she said.

Ms. Weidner said Mrs. Dougherty was like a daughter to her and was very happy. She said the woman told her, just hours before she was killed, that she felt very secure with Gilliken, the paper reported.

"She was like a daughter to me... he was one of the nicest fellows you'd want to meet... He'd give you the shirt off his back," Weidner said.

The Virginian-Pilot reported that the couple had planned to marry after Gilliken rose in rank and was making more money. It was also reported that Mrs. Dougherty had been ill, missed several days of work, and was told by a supervisor that she may have to face discipline for her absence. She worked for Southland Industries, a company that makes automobile

Teacher Of The Year

Jackson Heights History Teacher Gets District's Highest Honor

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

A teacher who loved to "play school" when she was a child was selected Seminole County schools' Teacher of the Year for 1985-86 today.

Jean Rumsey, 58, was surprised with the news in her Jackson Heights Middle School classroom this morning. Superintendent of Schools Bob Hughes presented her with flowers and congratulations.

"I'm surprised," she said. "The teachers in Seminole County are the greatest."

It was the third time in five years a teacher at Oviedo's Jackson Heights has become the Teacher of the Year in Seminole County.

Mrs. Rumsey, a history teacher, was chosen from among 10 finalists by Hughes. She was given $500 by the state Department of Education. Red Lobster, Inc. is also expected to present her with $500, according to Karen Coleman, director of community relations and public information for the school board.

Mrs. Rumsey is "one of the rare ones left in the teaching profession," according to Bob Rainey, principal of Jackson Heights Middle School. "To visit Mrs. Rumsey's class is a truly learning experience in itself. Never have I found it dull, unattractive or uninviting."

Mrs. Rumsey's philosophy of teaching is based on the idea that learning is fun, but it is up to teachers and schools to "develop a good feeling toward learning."

"In order to instill the love of learning in others you must feel it within yourself," wrote Mrs. Rumsey. "The enthusiasm, curiosity, desire to learn and the eagerness to pursue this aim must be transferred to the student."

Values, such as integrity, respect for others and responsibility must also be incorporated into lessons, she says.

Jean Rumsey reacts with surprise as Superintendent of Schools Bob Hughes tells her she has been named Teacher of the Year.

for Teacher of the Year in April.

Two runner-ups are also expected to receive $500 a piece from Red Lobster, Mrs. Coleman said. They are Pamela McDonald, of Keeth Elementary in Oviedo, and Ellis King, an auto mechanics teacher at Lyman High School, Longwood.

Mrs. Coleman said each of the county's 41 schools nominated a teacher and a school board panel narrowed the field to 10. The panelists observed each of the teachers in the classrooms and then recommended three finalists to Hughes — each representing the elementary, middle and high school levels.

Hughes then made the selection Thursday.

The finalists were selected for their educational background, community, civic and professional activities, their ability to instill a love of learning in their students and their potential for being the best spokesperson for Seminole County schools, Mrs. Coleman said.

She said all of the finalists are "comparably outstanding people" but Mrs. Rumsey "embodies all the criteria."

The program is not intended to diminish the capabilities of other Seminole teachers, but the teacher selected is the "best of the best," Mrs. Coleman said.

A veteran teacher of 26 years, 16 of them at Jackson Heights, Mrs. Rumsey graduated from Cornell University in 1948 with a bachelor's degree in education and home economics. She taught in Alabama and Florida and in 1972 received her master's degree in education at Rollins College in Winter Park.

9 Officers Die In IRA Attack

NEWRY, Northern Ireland (UPI) — The outlawed Irish Republican Army launched a mortar attack on a police station that killed nine officers in the worst single blow against police in 16 years of bloodshed in Northern Ireland.

Police said 32 other people were injured in the attack Thursday, which also destroyed a three-story brick building and a canteen in the police station complex located at the town center of Newry, about 35 miles south of Belfast.

The outlawed IRA, which has been fighting to end British rule of Northern Ireland and reunite the province with the Irish Republic in the south, claimed responsibility for the attack in a telephone call to a radio station.

In another attack late Thursday, a bomb blast killed a member of the Ulster Defense Regiment, a mostly Protestant militia that backs the army and police, and seriously injured two others, police said.

Police said the bomb exploded as the men, who were part of an eight-man foot patrol, were passing through the village of Pomeroy, 70 miles northwest of Belfast. The bomb was hidden behind a wall, police said.

In Newry, seven policemen and two policewomen were killed when nine salvos of mortars fired from a homemade launcher whistled over the rooftops and catapulted into the heavily guarded police station complex.

Chief police superintendent Bill

Stewart said: "I have been in the Royal Ulster Constabulary for 25 years. This is the worst single incident in the history of the force."

The mortars destroyed the brick building and several of them also crashed through the roof of a wooden canteen building as officers sat down to a meal before the night shift.

"The building is devastated. It was chance rather than accuracy that the mortars hit the canteen," Stewart said.

Others claimed the IRA had perfected its aim with mortars and predicted even more devastating bombings.

In Dublin, Irish Prime Minister Garret FitzGerald denounced the attack as "the mass murder of fellow Irishmen" and said it was "the most cruel and cynical exercise carried out in this island within living memory."

The Rev. Ian Paisley, one of Ulster's outspoken Protestant leaders, visited the scene and called for the restoration of the death penalty.

Northern Ireland has been plagued by violence since August 1969 when a campaign for civil rights for the minority Catholic population escalated into bloodshed, bombings and terrorism.

A total of 210 policemen have been killed since then, and the overall death toll stands at more than 2,400.

In the worst single incident, 18 soldiers were killed in a landmine explosion at Warrenpoint, near Newry, in August 1979.

Young Galaxies Discovered With Mystery Energy Source

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Astronomers say if they can prove that our own Milky Way experienced the same events now going on in six recently discovered galaxies, it would be a major event in evolution.

A group of scientists from Caltech announced Thursday they have discovered six galaxies in recent months that are up to 500 times brighter than the Milky Way, indicating a mysterious and powerful source of energy is at work in the universe.

B. Thomas Soifer of Caltech said the astronomers want to know if all galaxies, including the Milky Way, have gone through the same sorts of events as those taking place in the newly discovered star systems.

If so, he said, "It's a major event in evolution."

The astronomers said they will have to wait until bigger telescopes are built in the next decade before they can identify the exact source of the intense infrared radiation of the galaxies, which were detected by the Infrared Astronomical Satellite and the Palomar Observatory.

Writing in the March 1 issue of Astrophysical Journal Letters, the scientists said the newly observed galaxies are so hot that their light is 500 times that of a "normal" galaxy like the Milky Way.

They said the intense infrared emission probably was produced by the heating of enormous clouds of dust that shroud the mysterious energy source within the galaxies.

The galaxies are between two and three billion light years from Earth, which means they are young in terms of the universe. The first such galaxy, known as ARP-220, was discovered last year.

In their latest paper, the astronomers led by James Houck of Cornell reported both optical images and spectra, or evidence of six infrared sources, identified from the IRA satellite's infrared survey of the sky completed in 1983.

The study showed the new galaxies are extremely bright, emitting from 30 to 500 times more energy detected in the infrared than can be seen as light.

The scientists said the source of the galaxies' energy could be an intensely brilliant object buried within the dense clouds of dust, or could come from young or colliding galaxies undergoing rapid bursts of star formation.

If the galaxies are being powered by such "starbursts," scientists said, they would have to convert from 40 to 400 suns worth of interstellar matter into stars each year.

"In this case such galaxies would process a galaxy mass of interstellar matter into stars in 100 million to one billion years," they wrote.

The scientists will have to wait until the 1990s to solve the mystery of the energy source, however. That is when two new telescopes — one in Hawaii and one to be launched by the space shuttle — become operational, Caltech said.

Other scientists involved in the discoveries were Charles Beichman and Carol Lonsdale of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory and Donald Schneider, G. Edward Danielson and Gerry Neugebauer of Caltech.

Firm To Help Solve Sewage Crisis

The Longwood City Commission is scheduled to meet in special session Monday to approve a contract with the Orlando engineering consulting firm of Dyer, Riddle, Mills and Precourt, Inc. for helping the city solve a sewage crisis which has had the effect of placing all construction-related activity on hold.

The commission is also scheduled to select a new city attorney to replace Frank Kruppenbacher who has resigned.

The special 7 p.m. session at City Hall will follow a 6 p.m. workshop with David Powers of Freedom Bank to discuss ways of financing capital improvements through revenue bonds.

A special meeting was held Feb. 20 to put the finishing touches on the contract, clearing the way for the hiring of the firm on an emergency basis to solve the problems with the city's two sewage treatment plants so they will be able to meet requirements of the State Department of Environmental Regulation.

Needed changes include new percolation ponds at the Skylark facility and upgrading groundwater monitoring and percolation ponds at Columbus Harbour.

Kruppenbacher, whose last meeting was Feb. 18, sent the contract via messenger to the Feb. 20 meeting with the recommendation that it not be approved, saying it did not comply with Florida's competitive negotiators act which requires government bodies to advertise openings except in an emergency.

Longwood attorney Gerald Korman was called out of the audience to temporarily serve as city attorney for the meeting, quickly reviewing the contract and making minor changes.

Korman is one of 10 area lawyers who have submitted applications to provide the city with legal counsel. They include James Patrick Curry of Curry, Taylor, and Carls, Orlando; Thomas G. Freeman, Altamonte Springs; William L. Whitacre of Stanley, Lovett, Livingston and Whitacre, Orlando; Broad and Cassel, Maitland Center; Kenneth Meer of Infantino and Berman, Winter Park; Clayton D. Simmons of Stenstrom, McIntosh, Julian, Colbert, and Whigham, Sanford; James A. Moreland of Moreland, Palmer and Marshall, Winter Park; Newman D. Brock, Altamonte Springs; Harvey Alper of Massey, Alper and Walden, Altamonte Springs.

Rotary Answers City Challenge

At least one Sanford service club has answered the challenge of the city commission to help out during a "clean up, paint up, fix up" campaign this month.

The Sanford Rotary Club called for a March 16 work day. City Commissioner John Mercer said 50 Rotarians with five or six pickup trucks are expected to turn out to help clean up properties from the lakefront south to 13th Street.

The city commissioners have set March 23 as their work day but their project has not yet been designated.

David Redwine of Sanford Auto Salvage has offered to pick up junk cars in the city at no charge and if anything can be salvaged from the junk he will pay the owners for them. Five junk cars have been picked up already, Redwine said.

Mercer said it is hoped the Rotary Breakfast Club and the Kiwanis Clubs in the city will also designate a project area for themselves.

Booked In The Buff

SEATTLE (UPI) — Two Seattle residents have received $110,000 in an out-of-court settlement of a civil rights lawsuit against police.

Mary Kate Gardner and Robert Srygley, both 22 at the time of their arrest in July 1982, charged in their suit that two officers refused to allow them to cover themselves after they were arrested for a "skinny dip" in Lake Washington. The couple were taken to police headquarters, arms handcuffed behind their backs and were booked in the buff, the suit said. Their clothing was confiscated as evidence.

"It was a combination of terror and harassment," said one of their lawyers. "It was very scary for them at the time."

Governor Faces Two Centuries In Prison For Racketeering

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Facing a 50-count grand jury indictment and more than two centuries in prison, Gov. Edwin Edwards fell back on the wit that helped him sidestep previous legal entanglements and vowed to outlive any prison term.

"I'm healthier now than I was a year ago," the 57-year-old Edwards quipped to reporters Thursday after being indicted with his brother and five others on 50 counts of racketeering and fraud. "I'll be able to live out any sentence I might receive from this."

A hospital development scheme that began while Edwards was out of office allegedly netted the governor $1.9 million. Edwards, a three-term Democrat, had escaped indictment by six previous grand jury investigations.

Edwards will be asked to return the $1.95 million he allegedly made in the hospital scheme. His co-defendants will also be asked to return money and luxury cars. If convicted on all counts, Edwards could face a maximum of 265 years in prison and $74,000 in fines.

Goetz Not Off The Hook Yet

NEW YORK (UPI) — The case of subway gunman Bernard Goetz, who shot four teenagers after they asked him for $5, may be submitted to a grand jury for a second time if new evidence or witnesses can be found, prosecutors say.

Manhattan District Attorney Robert Morgenthau said Thursday his office is doing everything possible to either find new evidence or the additional witnesses required to justify taking the case before a second grand jury.

In January, a Manhattan grand jury declined to indict Goetz for attempted murder in the Dec. 22 shootings and charged him with the lesser offense of illegal weapons possession. He could be sentenced to seven years in prison if convicted.

The possibility of another grand jury investigation was prompted by portions of Goetz's confession released Thursday that indicated the shootings were premeditated. The confession stated Goetz checked each of his wounded victims and when one appeared not to have been badly injured said, "You don't look so bad, here's another," and fired at the victim again.

Education's Turlington Leaving To Head Lottery Petition Drive

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington plans to forego re-election next year in favor of a lottery campaign to raise money for Florida schools.

Turlington's planned departure from the State Cabinet seat he has held for nearly a dozen years raised two political questions Thursday.

— Will he retire early, and let Gov. Bob Graham appoint a Democrat to succeed him, with all the political advantages of incumbency?

— Can Turlington's impeccable personal political reputation lend legitimacy to the controversial idea of lottery gambling, even for such a popular purpose as education finance?

Instead of running for re-election, Turlington, 64, said he would organize a non-profit committee to gather petition signatures for a constitutional amendment which — if approved by Florida voters next year — would set up a state lottery with proceeds pledged to education. Turlington said his committee would be called "MOVE," which stands for "Margin of Victory for Excellence."

Court Ruling Favors PSC

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Supreme Court has rejected a claim that the Public Service Commission favors utilities over ratepayers in its handling of certain profits.

Deciding unanimously Thursday, the high court ruled against Public Counsel Jack Shreve who had filed a suit on behalf of ratepayers challenging a new PSC rule involving millions of dollars.

The 1984 rule is intended to motivate the state's four major investor-owned utilities to purchase power from other companies whenever the purchase price is less than the cost of their generating the electricity themselves.

The rule provides that the seller and buyer can split the savings and the seller can shelter 20 percent of its take from its overall revenue base on which its rates are based. The effect is that 20 percent of the seller's profit on the transaction goes to its investors.

The high court determined that there was "competent substantial evidence" to support the rule.

Social Security Offices May Close.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than half the nation's Social Security field offices — the first line of contact for most benefit recipients — could be closed under a proposal the government is quietly circulating, said Rep. Edward Roybal, D-Calif.

"I have now learned that the administration is circulating a plan which would close Social Security offices with staffs of less than 15 and would possibly shut down those offices with staffs of less than 25 workers," Roybal said Thursday.

That action could mean more than half the 1,340 offices could be closed, he said.

But Social Security Administration spokesman Jim Brown said the agency is not planning to close a specific number of facilities.

"We're not intending to close half the number (of offices)," he said. "We are looking at all the installations we have to see if they are serving the public best."

The field offices are where most Social Security recipients first come into contact with the agency to apply for benefits or ask for changes.

Roybal said he asked Health and Human Services Secretary Margaret Heckler at a hearing about a memo quietly being circulated and she "agreed a number of Social Security field offices would be closed but was not yet able to provide specific numbers."

The internal memo, released by Roybal, calls identification of field offices to be "reviewed on a priority basis."

Offices "with staffs of 10 or less should be consolidated, closed or converted unless other considerations are overriding," offices "with a staff size of 11-16 should be reviewed for conversion, consolidation or closing" and offices with a staff size of 16-25 that are located within 25 miles from another full-service facility should be reviewed for possible consolidation, conversion, etc."

Brown said the memo is just part of a plan to look at Social Security's "overall service to the public."

The memo, he said, is being sent out to regional offices for comment by the end of March. At that time, review of all field offices will begin, he said.

"We'll look at all the offices we have," he said. "As an example, there's an office in Colorado with less than five people in it. Would we close that office? No way. Because the next nearest office is 125 miles away and you would have to go through two ranges of the Rockies to get there. So you're not going to close that office."

"We just want a better set of information," he said. "Are we doing the best job with what we've got?"

Stockman: Chop SBA; Agency Head Agrees

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Budget director David Stockman says the Small Business Administration is costly and unfair and has got to go. The head of the agency says he concurs.

In an appearance before the Senate Small Business Committee Thursday, the budget director said the SBA merely helps weak businesses to "compete unfairly with the 99 percent of businesses" that go to the bank for loans.

"Is it fair for a business firm paying a 12 percent bank loan rate to have to compete with the new guy next door who got a 10 percent or 11 percent SBA loan?" Stockman asked. "Why should somebody who's got everything on the line — worked like a dog for his life's savings — have to compete with the new guy on the block who's got an SBA loan to set up a pizza parlor?"

In his fiscal 1986 budget, President Reagan called for elimination of the SBA, which was budgeted at $726 million this year. Stockman said, however, that chopping out the agency would save $5 billion over three years because the agency's outstanding loans would be sold to private firms.

SBA Administrator James Sanders said later he could not fight the attempt to dismantle his agency because cutting the deficit would help all businesses, large and small, by lowering interest rates.

"Today, this agency is more responsive to the American small business community, which has naturally become more supportive of many of our program activities," Sanders said in a statement to the committee. "However, as you are acutely aware, the deficit spending crisis has taken on an overwhelming significance and forced a much more comprehensive review of budget priorities."

"The interests of small business will best be served by the adoption of the president's budget proposal," he said.

But Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark., said the SBA is a "generous, thoughtful and — quite frankly — economical program" set up to help people get started in businesses.

"What have you got against car washes and beauty shops?" he asked Stockman.

"Nothing," Stockman replied. But most of them, he said, have to go to banks for their loans, not the government.

"Most of us got where we are today because we were very lucky at some point in our lives or we got a little government help at some point in our lives or we chose our parents well,"

David Stockman

Bumpers retorted.

Stockman presented figures showing of the 4.7 million small businesses in the nation, 99.8 percent of them operate without SBA loans.

Stockman has earned the enmity of a number of special interest groups this year by singling out popular federal programs he says must be cut for the government to make any headway in the battle to drive down the $200 billion federal deficit.

Stockman particularly raised the ire of farmers and veterans earlier in the month by questioning the value of crop subsidies and whether military pensions were exorbitant.

Economic Indicators Jump 1.7%

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Led by manufacturers' orders for consumer goods, the government's index of leading indicators rose 1.7 percent in January, the Commerce Department reported today.

The increase followed a 0.5 percent rise in November and a 0.5 percent decline in December. It was the biggest monthly rise in the index since a 1.9 percent gain in June 1983. However, the figure is preliminary and subject to later revision.

The leading indicator index is supposed to be a barometer for the economy, indicating what lies ahead. However, the numbers frequently jump up and down, and economists, rather than focus on a single number, look for trends over several months.

In general, the index has appeared to have reached a plateau during the past several months.

The index level in January was 166.7, meaning it has risen 66.7 percent since 1967.

Eight of 11 indicators that make up the index contributed to the January rise. The most important of these was manufacturers' new orders for consumer goods and materials in 1972 dollars, the Commerce Department said.

Florida Man May Be Next Artificial Heart Recipient

OCALA (UPI) — Doctors said a retired diesel mechanic scheduled to leave today for Humana Heart Institute in Louisville, Ky. will not live without some sort of heart transplant, either human or artificial.

George Parramore, 51, has suffered from ischemic cardiomyopathy, a degenerative heart disease, for over 10 years, said Dr. David Sackin, Parramore's cardiologist. He indicated Parramore has less than a year to live if he is not approved for some sort of transplant.

"The prognosis for Mr. Parramore is not good," Sackin said. "He has extensive damage to his heart muscle and is not a candidate for conventional heart surgery."

Parramore, who was rejected by several heart centers for the transplant operation because he is over 50 years old and suffers from diabetes, hopes his evaluation at Humana will be favorable.

Ocala hospital officials said earlier that Parramore was lined up to become the fourth recipient of the Jarvie VII artificial heart, but Sackin said Parramore would primarily be evaluated at Humana for a human transplant.

"Mr. Parramore is being sent to Humana for evaluation for a human heart transplant," Sackin said at a hospital news conference Thursday. "Although he is not now a candidate for an artificial implant, I guess if they can't find a suitable donor, they might go with a prosthetic device. The artificial heart does represent some sort of option."

Humana was the site for the artificial implants received by William Schroeder and Murray Hayden, who are both recovering from the procedure. The first artificial heart recipient, retired dentist Barney Clark, died 112 days after the implant of complications following his surgery in Utah.

Sackin said Parramore's heart was only pumping at about 40 percent of its capacity, but could not give a specific time frame on how long Parramore could live without either a transplant or implant. He speculated Parramore could survive as long as six months.

"The best possible outcome for Mr. Parramore at this point would be a transplant," Sackin said. "He just wants to come back to Marion County and live happily ever after. With a transplant, it is feasible he could even seek gainful employment."

Parramore, though weakened by his failing heart and in obvious pain, managed to show a little enthusiasm about the possibilities for a new lease on life.

"My family is all behind me," Parramore said from his bed in the Munroe Regional Medical Center's cardiac care unit. "I'd prefer a human heart, but I'd go for the implant if it is necessary."

Hospital officials said a trust fund to help defray the costs of transporting Parramore to Humana and his costs at the hospital was being set up with Barnett Bank. They said the cost of sending him to Louisville was almost $3,300.

"Without a new heart of some sort," Sackin said, "Mr. Parramore's only other option is dying."

Operation May Be Needed To Stop Haydon's Bleeding

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Artificial heart patient Murray P. Haydon may have to undergo surgery late today to stem "a small amount" of bleeding in his chest, a Humana Hospital Audubon spokesman said.

The bleeding began Tuesday after lines were removed that allowed doctors to check the blood pressure in and around Haydon's plastic and metal heart.

"It's not been a lot. We're just talking about a small amount of bleeding," spokesman Robert Irvine said, who added Haydon received transfusions Thursday to make up for the blood loss.

Follow-up artificial heart patient Bill Schroeder experienced serious bleeding around the device after implant surgery Nov. 25 and doctors had to perform a second operation the same day to correct it.

Hope They Get The Point?

The United States sent a message to Mexico with its intensified inspection of luggage and vehicles entering the United States. The message needed to be sent, even if it appears that the wrong people suffered the greatest inconvenience.

Delays experienced along the U.S.-Mexico border are aggravating, but we trust there is no plan for a return to business as usual in the immediate future. That is the point of the message — that there can be no business as usual along our border so long as law enforcement officials in Mexico conduct business as usual with people producing illegal drugs.

U.S. officials are convinced that the Mexican federal police assigned to look for a U.S. drug enforcement agent kidnapped in Guadalajara were not really interested in finding him. A Mexican police official assigned to the case was seen in the company of members of the drug ring believed responsible for the kidnapping. Money is said to have changed hands so the investigation will not go too far.

The mordida system of bribery that is known to make the wheels go round in many areas of Mexican life can be tolerated only up to a point. The point is exceeded when such corruption endangers the lives of U.S. citizens sent to Mexico to enforce the law in cooperation with Mexican police agencies. It also is exceeded when the law winks at the production and transportation of illegal drugs that are causing untold misery in the lives of citizens of this country and others.

The White House has indicated that putting a squeeze on border traffic is a tactic that would have been employed even if Enrique Camarena of the U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency had not been kidnapped Feb. 7. The administration has been growing more and more impatient with the failure of Mexico to be a more determined participant in efforts to stem the international narcotics traffic.

The State Department's annual review of the drug problem released recently praised Colombia and Peru for their programs to eradicate coca crops used to produce cocaine, but mentioned that Mexico continues to be a major source of both heroin and marijuana. A major impediment to law enforcement, according to the report, is the existence of a mafia-like organization in Mexico that wields both economic and political power to protect its drug operations.

Officials familiar with the international drug traffic say the key to success in enforcement efforts is to convince the governments of countries where drugs are produced that all the bad consequences are not being exported. Countries that once were indifferent or not hospitable toward illicit drug production have become enthusiastic partners in stamping it out when their own people, especially young people, begin turning up for treatment as addicts.

The United States is employing another device to get the attention of a reluctant government. Delays at the border affect the income that Mexico otherwise enjoys from the easy flow of commerce between our two countries. The people of those Mexican border towns may suffer, but if they do, they should address their complaints to Mexico City. It is at the highest level of government where the power lies to replace corrupt drug enforcement officers with honest cops.

World Returns To Dollar Standard

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The astounding strength of the dollar in recent weeks reflects the fact that, like it or not, the world has returned to a dollar standard, a situation that has not occurred since the 1950's.

Investors have two basic choices for holding assets: paper money, which provides a substantial rate of interest but by definition declines in real value by the rate of inflation, and hard assets — precious metals, commodities, real estate, etc. — which invariably provide no rate of return but generally do appreciate in real terms during times of substantial inflation.

During the 1960's and 1970's, there were thought to be three choices: paper money issued by the United States, paper money issued by countries with "strong" currencies, and hard assets.

However, in the harsh light of the 1980's, this third category has melted away. Few investors other than those sheltering illegally gotten funds are still tempted by the negative rates of interest paid by Swiss banks.

The German economic miracle is at an end, the economy of the country in rubble, leveled by an overdose of socialism. While the Southeast Asian currencies are somewhat stronger, they are essentially closed to massive foreign capital flows. Japan cannot absorb $10 billion of foreign capital per year, let alone over $100 billion.

Thus worldwide investors essentially have two choices: the dollar, or hard assets. With low rates of inflation and high interest rates, the dollar has clearly replaced gold as the best store of value.

So long as this continues, the dollar will remain strong and inflation will remain relatively low in all major countries, not just the United States. A situation where the strong dollar permits exports of all other countries to increase rapidly may not impress U.S. manufacturers as ideal, but it certainly does nothing to impede the overall expansion of foreign trade. If anything, it is beneficial to the international financial system by providing another international monetary anchor in the form of the dollar.

Even a switch back to the dollar standard does not say anything about the future course of the dollar. However, any such prediction must take into account the climate that permitted the dollar to rise as dramatically as it did for the past four years.

It turns out that the principal determinants of the dollar are no longer such variables as the foreign trade balance, comparative trends in productivity or inflation, or relative growth rates of the U.S. and foreign economies. Instead, the value of the dollar depends mainly on whether international investors will choose paper money or hard assets as their principal store of value.

Given the former choice, the dollar will continue to strengthen, since all other paper currencies are inferior goods to the dollar at the current real rate of interest — particularly in view of the present political climate in this country.

EDUCATION WORLD

Corporate College Degrees

By Patricia McCormack
UPI Education Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Football teams, cheerleaders and mascots are missing from college fare sponsored for credit by industries and corporations — on company turf.

The absence of a rah-rah atmosphere isn't all that sets the corporate college apart. Most students attending company courses or colleges get no tuition or school bills. The education's free.

The brain fare is dished out to make corporate workers better able to help their company stay in the win column. In the black. Out of the red.

The mix on the corporate educational scene, including degree-granting corporate colleges, is identified in a new report from the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, in Princeton, N.J.

The report, "Corporate Classrooms: The Learning Business," estimates that corporations spend upwards of $40 billion a year to train workers. The programs begin with training seminars and institutes and become more elaborate.

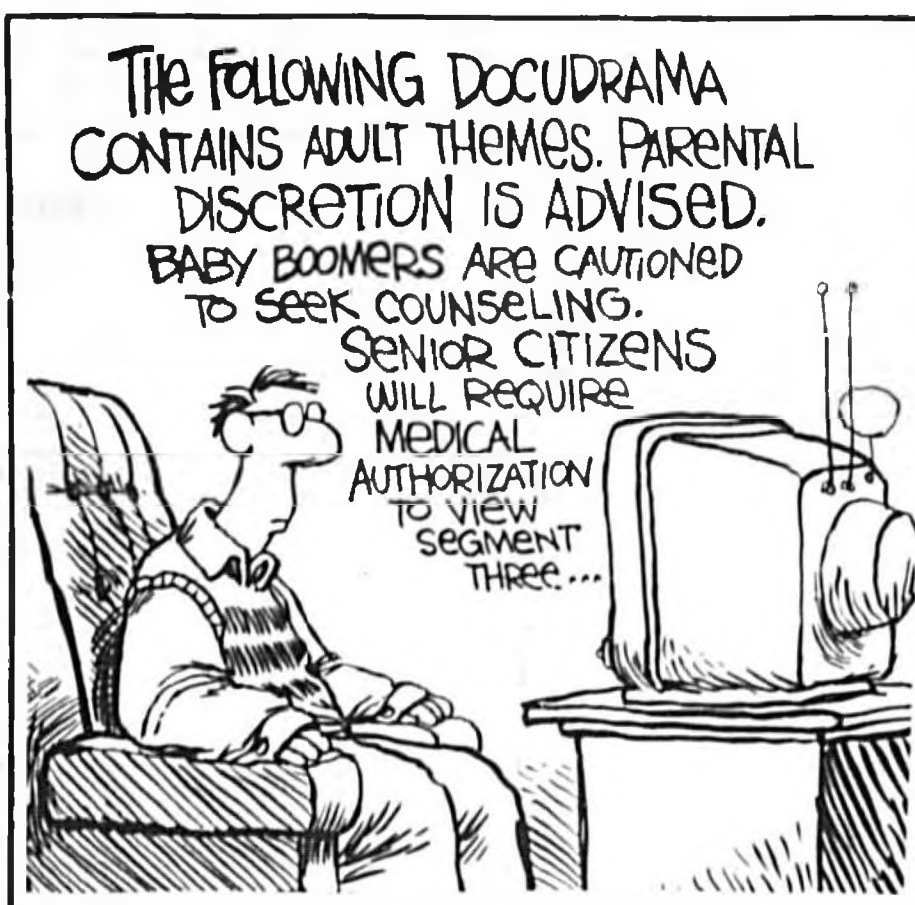

Some cover basic skills. These days, many employees come to companies from schools that failed to give them mastery of fundamentals, especially communication and computation skills.

"Other in-house courses range from computers to management techniques to sales and service," the report said.

"In addition to instruction in the work place, American corporations are building their own facilities for employee education. These places — the Xerox Center in Virginia, the R.C.A. campus in New Jersey, and Holiday Inn University in Mississippi — look very much like a traditional college campus. They have classrooms, dormitories, and recreational facilities.

"And yet ... their ambience is different," notes the report. "Behavior is more purposeful and activity more intense."

In the next 50 years, a recent analysis by U.S. News and World Report claims, hundreds of corporations will grant college degrees, most often in high technology, science and engineering. This is because the state-of-the-art equipment and research on corporate premises will surpass that on most campuses.

JEFFREY HART

Women As Proletariat

The feminist movement as it exists on the college campus and among numerous urban female literati has the form of the older Marxism, with "women" providing the substitute for the old "proletariat."

Now by "feminism" I do not mean the advocacy of practical, workaday measures like better pay, greater access to the professions and to executive positions and so forth. Feminism as used here is a much broader "liberation" movement that aims to transform human relations and by doing so transform human society.

It offers its own distinctive interpretations of human history. Susan Brownmiller, for example, regards rape as the central fact of history, and as the root explanation for all social institutions. All sexual relations between men and women she regards as "rape." Of course, since "rape" does not often literally occur, she has to broaden her term to include "unequal" relations, or relations that are in any way "coerced" by economic and social arrangements.

Brownmiller is taken seriously by academic feminists. Clearly, in her theory, "women" are the current equivalent of the old "proletariat," which was "exploited" — in Marxist theory — by the owners of the "means of production," that is, the capitalist class. In the older Marxism, the proletariat would be liberated and both society and human nature transformed when the proletariat acquired ownership of the means of production and eliminated the capitalist class.

But the older Marxism disintegrated. The "proletariat" watches pro football on TV, buys motorboats and campers, and votes for Reagan. The great revolution is not coming from that direction.

It will have to come from the oppressed female proletariat. The feminist academics and literati take theories like Brownmiller's seriously. They have their own interpretations of literature from a feminist perspective. What this means in practice is that they pick through Shakespeare and Dickens in a sort of Easter egg hunt for situations in which women are oppressed. Weeegotcha!

Needless to say, this ideological approach rapidly becomes boring and most college students soon tire of it. But that reaction is not important to the sisterhood. It merely represents "false consciousness," in the old Marxist sense, the distorted reaction of readers who have not yet been liberated and transformed. The Easter egg hunt goes on and on.

One thing is certain. "Women" will disappoint the feminists just as surely as the "workers" disappointed the old Marxists. The feminist sisterhood is the equivalent of the old Leninist vanguard party, but it is not about to acquire a military force or a secret police, and so the "liberation" will be indefinitely postponed. They are likely to ruin a few universities, however.

Soviets Violate Germ-Warfare Pact

WASHINGTON — In past columns I've reported on the threat posed by the Soviet Union's persistent efforts to develop new and ever-gristlier biological weapons. Now I have even more frightening evidence obtained from the most secret documents.

"The intelligence evidence indicates that the Soviets have maintained an offensive biological warfare program and capability since the (1971) Biological Weapons Convention," one CIA report states.

Though the Soviets signed the resulting treaty, they have consistently violated it — and just as consistently lied about their violations.

But the CIA has managed to penetrate the Kremlin's best efforts to cover its tracks on germ warfare testing and production. CIA sources told my associate Dale Van Aita the agency's experts on Soviet military organization have even been able to identify the unit responsible for all aspects of the Soviet program.

This "covert administrative and organizational apparatus" is hidden deep inside the Ministry of Defense and is called the "Seventh Main Directorate."

In fact, a separate division of the Microbiological Industry Organization — a supposedly civilian agency — was created by 1976 to help the directorate in its deadly work. The division, headed by a general, includes heavily guarded, military-sponsored facilities for the development and storage of small quantities of micro-organisms until they are needed for rapid, large-scale production of germ-war agents.

The CIA has also identified nine locations where the Soviets carry on their program.

The two primary sites — and the ones that have been confirmed beyond question as biological-weapons facilities — are at Sverdlovsk and Zagorsk. Sverdlovsk, the Siberian city known as Ekaterinburg in 1918 when the Bolsheviks shot Czar Nicholas II and his family there, was the scene of a biological weapons plant accident that killed anywhere from 200 to 1,000 people in April 1979.

The Zagorsk facility masquerades under the title of Scientific Research Institute of Sanitation. Not far from Moscow, Zagorsk is where the germ weapons boss, Gen. V.I. Ogarkov, spends much of his time.

Both plants were completed in 1968, with new construction continuing through last year. Both are known to be under military control, and a secret National Security Council report states that "of particular interest at Sverdlovsk and Zagorsk are highly secure special storage areas which are designed for weapons assembly and storage."

Despite their obvious military significance, the situation at Sverdlovsk and Zagorsk is somewhat confused — perhaps as a deliberate cover — by the fact that portions of the two facilities are engaged in legitimate research and production connected with the med-

SCIENCE WORLD

Play Room In Space

By William Harwood
UPI Science Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The astronauts aboard the shuttle Challenger plan to turn their cabin into an orbiting play room next week to show kids how toys like a yo-yo, spinning tops and a Slinky behave in weightlessness.

Ten toys will be demonstrated for a film for school children designed to explain physics principles in everyday terms and to answer such questions as: Will a Slinky sink in space? Will a yo-yo yo-yo? Is the game of jacks destined to remain an Earth-bound sport forever?

The shuttle is scheduled for blastoff Thursday on a four-day mission to launch two satellites.

The documentary is the brain-child of Carolyn Sumner, director of astronomy and physics at the Houston Museum of Natural Science, an enthusiastic educator whose eyes light up when she discusses the potential of the project.

"I've gone to several classes of fifth and sixth graders and inevitably when you ask kids if you drop a ball in space will it bounce, many are convinced it will not because we have tied bouncing and gravity and falling all together in a kind of mish mash in the thinking process of students," Sumner said.

"We realized what we needed was a way to take simple generic miniature mechanical systems, otherwise known as toys, and have them demonstrated in (space) so we could say gravity caused this because, look, when there is no gravity this is what happens."

The film is the result of a grant from the National Science Foundation to the University of Houston to develop a unique science curriculum to make science more interesting to young children.

Rhea Seddon is responsible for the spring-like Slinky and a game of jacks. Jeffrey Hoffman will play with magnetic marbles, a wind up toy car and a "Wheelo" and David Griggs will try to yo-yo in orbit.

Hoffman, who holds a doctorate in astronomy, is an enthusiastic supporter of the project.

"Young kids don't have the same intellectual conception of the world that adults do," Hoffman said. "Things that an adult may look at and think are strange don't necessarily seem strange to a child."

"But gosh, if somebody takes a yo-yo and throws the yo-yo up and it doesn't come back down, that's something the child can relate to."

Inmate's Gripes Bring Minor Change In Jail Policy

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

A Seminole County jail inmate's complaint about living conditions in the lockup has resulted only in the substitution of metal beverage pitchers for plastic ones and cleaner razors.

Jail Administrator Luke A. Stallworth said that the only change a county Health Department inspector ordered immediately following Wednesday's check was that the food service department switch from disposable plastic milk jugs to metal pitchers to serve powdered soft drinks.

The prisoner complained in his Feb. 24 letter — sent to the Health Department, the Florida Secretary of State and members of the news media — that the plastic jugs couldn't be washed between uses and scum formed in them. Stallworth contended the containers were washed, but the inspector ordered metal pitchers to replace the plastic.

Inspector Jack Gossette said the use of the disposable, porous jugs was a violation of health standards and was the most valid of the inmate's complaints.

Inmate Garry Lee Connelly, 26, of Casselberry, who wrote the letter, has been jailed since Aug. 8, 1984. He was initially jailed on a charge of armed burglary and in October was charged with felony criminal mischief after he allegedly broke a window in the jail, records show.

Connelly is awaiting sentencing on the charges and is being held in lieu of $5,000 bond. He is also being held for the state of Florida and is wanted in Orange and Marion counties. Jail and sheriff's officials did not know what charges Connelly faces outside Seminole County.

In his letter, Connelly alleged that 16-20 prisoners assigned to a cell block shared two razors for shaving. He claimed such usage was unsanitary.

Stallworth said the razors are shared, but the razors are passed from inmate to inmate by a guard with the razor blade changed and the razor cleaned between each shave.

Gossette said that he will ask Stallworth to take steps to further insure that the razors are properly sanitized.

Sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said that prior to the inspection the razors were cleaned in a solution of boiling water and soap. He said that to remove any question about the possibility of inmates receiving an unclean razor, each will now be issued a personal razor, which will be confiscated after a morning shave and sanitized in a chemical solution.

Connelly also alleged that when a jail toilet is flushed human waste passes into the toilet in the next cell.

Stallworth said plumbing failure is not a problem tolerated in the jail, although it occurs frequently after inmates flush T-shirts, plastic, paper and other items into the system, causing a backup. Plumbing problems, he said, are dealt with as soon as they develop.

Gossette said county workers assigned to maintain jail plumbing will be sent in to check the system, but he sees the plumbing problem as unavoidable because of inmate abuse.

Gossette said the jail will be reinspected in two weeks. In a separate letter to the American Medical Association, Connelly complained about the unavailability of medical care in the jail and that special diet needs of those with health problems are not being met.

Chief Deputy Duane Harrell said a staff nurse is on jail duty 24 hours a day. The jail doctor holds sick call at least twice a week, with a nurse holding sick call on other days. Any inmate who needs to see a doctor will receive attention, no matter what time of day a serious medical problem might develop, Harrell said.

Those inmates with medically certified health problems such as diabetes receive specialized diets, he said.

Jail records show Connelly is in good health, but is given a "mood altering" drug, Elavil, an antidepressant, twice a day. He is being treated for depression, Harrell said.

Connelly alleged in another letter to the American Civil Liberties Union that current state law books are not available to inmates, but Harrell said that the statutes are issued only periodically and are brought into the jail when they are issued.

After Two Escapes, Man Finally Jailed

An 18-year-old Sanford man who made a successful escape from a Florida juvenile detention center Feb. 18, escaped for a second time after he was picked up in Sanford Thursday. The man, who was not handcuffed, was recaptured about 10 minutes after he fled from a sheriff's patrol car.

Seminole County sheriff's deputy Sue Stephenson reported the man jumped from the rear seat of her patrol car when she and the suspect arrived at the Seminole County jail at Five Points at about 5:30 p.m. Thursday.

Ms. Stephenson had earlier been dispatched to 2519 S. Poinsett Ave., Sanford, where she picked up the suspect for his return trip to a lockup, a sheriff's report said.

Sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said the suspect was not handcuffed during his ride to jail. He should have been, Spolski said, and Ms. Stephenson's supervisor will review why proper procedure was not followed in the case. Spolski said if it is determined that Ms. Stephenson acted improperly she will most likely be suspended from duty without pay for three days.

Details of the man's first escape were not available, but Spolski said sheriff's records show he was arrested Sept. 6, 1984 in Clay County. He was apparently participating in some type of group counseling activity when he fled from juvenile authorities on Feb. 18, Spolski said.

The suspect has never been an inmate in the Seminole County Juvenile Detention Center, center director William Hughlett said.

In Thursday's escape the man ran into woods behind the jail. The surrounding area was sealed off by sheriff's deputies. Sgt. Matt Stewart, who knows the area, told sheriff's deputy Anthony Diaz where he thought the man might be, and Spolski said Diaz found him.

The man was captured near Canal Street at Fairlane Circle in Sunland Estates, south of Sanford.

Kevin A. Wolf of Route 2, Box #2-AB, has been charged with escape. He was being held in lieu of $8,000 bond.

COKE DEAL CAPTURE
Seminole County undercover drug agents reported charging two men with sale of cocaine, trafficking in the drug and conspiracy to traffic in coke after they allegedly made a deal to sell an ounce of the drug to agents for $1,600.

Lawmen were led to the pair through an informant and met with them to make a buy at about 12:30 p.m. Wednesday in the parking lot of Denny's restaurant, state Road 436, Altamonte Springs, a sheriff's report said.

The deal was reportedly made and the pair arrested. Samuel Ray Wing, 29, of 713 Park Drive, Casselberry, and Ron Wayne Crosby, 41, of Orlando, have been charged. Each was released on $10,000 bond and are scheduled to appear in court March 18.

YOUTH ASSAULTS KIDS
Casselberry police have charged a 16-year-old boy in connection with sexual assaults on an 8-year-old girl and a 5-year-old boy.

The youth was arrested Tuesday and charged with one count of sexual battery and two counts of committing a lewd and lascivious assault, police detective Greg Hepburn said.

The charges came after a state Health and Rehabilitative Services counselor told police of the allegations Monday, Hepburn said.

In an interview at a Casselberry school, the girl reportedly told police the suspect had tied her to a bed in her home by the suspect, fondled her and tried to get her to perform a sex act on him. This had occurred on several occasions in the past two weeks, police said.

The 5-year-old told police the youth forced him to fondle him several times during the past two years, Hepburn said.

The 16-year-old was turned over to juvenile authorities following his arrest, police said.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS
Melissa Gilley, 17, of 1820 Mulberry Ave., Sanford, gave deputies the name of a man she said ransacked and stole her purse. The purse, which was taken Wednesday, contained $200 and that combined with other items brought her loss to a total of $400.

A thief took a $200 rifle and a $250 handgun from the home of Arlie Lee Wood, 25, of 3301 Curtis Drive, Apopka, Tuesday or Wednesday, a sheriff's report said.

Michael S. Guild, 22, of 3544 Gorman Lane, Casselberry, reported to deputies his wallet containing $120 was stolen from his car along with other items including a leather jacket. The theft occurred Tuesday or Wednesday while the vehicle was parked at his home.

Timothy Allan Volt, 18, of 446 Homer Ave., Longwood, reported to deputies his 1966 Mustang worth $2,500 was stolen while parked at his home Monday or Tuesday.

Altamonte Springs Firms Sued Over Salary, Bonus

A Longwood man is suing the Kirchman Corporation and two other companies because they did not pay him a $65,000 bonus and did not pay him $115,000 a year as agreed upon. John Divine filed the suit Tuesday in Seminole Circuit Court. The case has been assigned to Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. No trial date has been set.

Divine is asking for an unspecified amount of compensatory and punitive damages in excess of $5,000.

According to the suit, Divine was hired in March 1983 by the corporation, and related businesses, Kencom Inc. and Florida Software Services Inc., all of Altamonte Springs. He states in the complaint that his salary was to be $115,000 a year paid in biweekly installments and that he would also receive a bonus of at least $65,000.

Divine states when the company fired him on March 18, 1984, he had not received the bonus nor all of the $155,000 in salary because of the way it was paid throughout the year.

Divine is also asking for attorney's fees and court costs.

Possible Cancer Cure Set To Undergo Testing

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A naturally occurring substance that kills cancer cells in laboratory animals without harming normal tissues will begin soon, and researchers say it could be a major advance in treating the dread disease.

The substance is known as tumor necrosis factor — or TNF — and has proved effective in killing or halting the growth of cancers in animals during a major research project conducted by the City of Hope in suburban Duarte and the Asahi Chemical Corp. in Tokyo.

Eight medical institutions in Japan will begin human tests of TNF next month, but similar tests in the United States require approval by the Food and Drug Administration and are not expected to start for several months.

"I am very cautious about saying this is the big hope we have been looking for," Dr. Charles Todd, chairman of the Division of Immunology at the City of Hope said, "but we're encouraged by the laboratory tests."

Todd, reporting in the current issue of Nature magazine, said malignant tumors in mice showed signs of disintegration within 24 hours of a TNF injection.

He said the substance "holds promise as a major advance in the treatment of many forms of cancer."

TNF, which occurs naturally in humans and other animals, shows a remarkable ability to destroy tumors, researchers said. Animals with cancer lost their ability to produce the substance in their bodies.

"Experiments by Asahi have shown that TNF selectively destroys malignant cells, and is effective against various types of solid tumors in laboratory animals," said Todd.

TNF, which is being produced artificially by genetic engineering techniques from a human gene, has shown a wide range of anti-cancer activity.

But the researchers said the substance leaves normal cells virtually intact.

"It has shown lethal or growth-suppressing effect on a broad range of cancer cells," Todd said. "That includes lung, breast, stomach and cervical carcinomas and monocytic leukemia."

Researchers also believe it will be most effective on patients for whom chemotherapy has failed.

Human tests will take at least two years before the effectiveness of TNF is known, Todd said.

Lady Raiders Advance

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

Seminole Community College's Lady Raiders had a case of the butterflies Thursday afternoon and their "Centipede" didn't have one of her stronger games but SCC still managed to wiggle its way to a 52-43 victory over Manatee's Lady Lancers in the opening round of the State Women's Junior College Tournament at the SCC Health Center.

In tonight's semifinal action, SCC goes up against top-ranked Indian River at 6 while Santa Fe tangles with Pensacola at 8.

"The girls came in with butterflies, they were really nervous," SCC coach Ileana Gallagher said. "We need to be more aggressive than we were. Juana (Coletti) hardly even played."

Coletti, a 5-10 sophomore forward, sometimes called "Centipede" by her teammates, had 11 points Thursday on 4 of 9 shooting from the floor and 3 of 6 from the foul line. But most of those points came on easy layups inside. Coletti also had five rebounds, well under her average for the season.

Freshman point guard Tammy Johnson led the way for the Lady Raiders with a game-high 16 points on 7 of 15 shooting. Freshman center Kim Lemon added 10 points and eight rebounds while sophomore guard Pam Lee tossed in eight points and grabbed seven boards. Freshman forward Raysha Roberts contributed eight rebounds and three steals.

Van Kelly was high for Manatee with 14 points. Sherry Snyder tossed in 12 and Pam Bellamy added eight. The Lady Lancers hit just 30 percent (19 of 63) from the floor while SCC shot 50 percent (21 of 42).

SCC jumped out to a 7-4 lead early but, for the next 10 minutes of the first half, the two teams traded turnovers and neither managed to score. Johnson then broke the ice with a layup that made it 9-4. Johnson hit one of two free throws for a 10-4 lead and came back with a steal and a layup for a 12-4 advantage with eight minutes left in the half.

Manatee got back within four, 15-11, with 2:10 left in the half on a Kim Constock. The Lady Raiders closed out the half with a 8-2 run for a 23-13 halftime lead. Roberts' offensive rebound and layup at the buzzer provided the 10-point cushion.

SCC led by as much as 13 in the second half but the Lady Lancers battled back within four, 47-43, with 55 seconds left on a bank shot by Constock. Manatee sent Lee to the line for a one and one with 49 seconds left and she missed the front end.

Elizabeth Dietrich came up with the rebound for SCC. Dietrich missed the followup but Lemon grabbed the rebound and was fouled. Lemon hit both free throws with 46 seconds left for a 49-43 lead. Lee then stuck up and stole the inbound pass and converted the layup for a 51-43 lead, sealing the win for the Raiders, with 42 seconds left.

"We went in very light-headed and took them (Manatee) for granted," Gallagher said. "We have a tough one in the semifinals (Indian River) and our defense has to be polished up."

In the Indian River-Brevard blowout, Denise Bussie, Theina Freeman and Joan Davis took turns tearing apart the Lady Titans. Bussie scored 14 of her 16 points in the second half while Freeman and Davis totaled all 10 of their markers in the first half.

Indian River jumped to a 24-19 first-half lead and expanded it in the second 20 minutes. Sharon Roberts added eight points for the Lady Pioneers. Kim Honote had 19 for Brevard and Pam Wells chipped in nine.

Santa Fe Triumphs As Maxine Cheers

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Sanford's Maxine Campbell didn't hit a game-winning shot Thursday night. She didn't have a chance. Campbell, a standout performer for Seminole's Five Star Conference champions last year, was a spectator as her Santa Fe Lady Vikings rallied to whip Edison, 49-35, in the first round of the Women's State Basketball Tournament at the SCC Health Center.

"I guess I bumped into a table or something," Campbell, a freshman at Santa Fe, said about her fractured shin bones. "I thought it was just shin splints but it was worse."

Just a few weeks ago, Campbell had drilled in a top of the key jumper to beat Florida Junior and she was looking forward to returning home to play in front of the home crowd.

And for one half, it looked as if her teammates would need her as Edison rolled to a 20-15 edge while Maxine bided her time with a few cheers from the stands. But the Lady Saints regrouped in the final 20 minutes behind Sheila Archer, Robin Mathis and Christine Kroger to pull out the win.

Archer finished with a game-high 18 points while Mathis went inside for 12 and Kroger did the same for 11. Barb Drachenberg led Edison with 12.

In another first-round game, Pensacola nipped Miami Dade North, 57-55, as Nathalie Cox scored 12 points and Cheryl Glover added 10. Aretha Sparks hit 20 for Dade North and Stacy McKnight chipped in 10.

Brantley Kickers, County Grapplers Reach For State Gold

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

In a weekend which is overflowing with athletic events, Lake Brantley's boys soccer team and Seminole County's 4A wrestlers will have a chance to carve their niche into sports history tonight and Saturday.

At Altamonte Springs, the Patriots of coach Jim Brody take on Fort Walton Beach Choctawhatchee tonight at 8 in a semifinal State 4A Soccer Tournament championship game. The winner will meet today's 3 p.m. survivor of the Miami Hialeah Lakes-Tampa Leto game. The championship will be at 8 p.m. Saturday.

The Patriots, who sport a 22-2-1 record, fought their way through a tough district test before picking up wins in the regional and sectional last week. Brantley pulled out a five-overtime win against Lyman and a nailbiter against Lake Mary by identical 1-0 scores.

"Those two games definitely got us ready for the regional and the sectional," said Brody. "Some of our toughest competition was in our own area."

Brantley picked up a 1-0 victory over Winter Park in the regional and a 2-0 win over Boca Raton Spanish River in the sectional. Standout goal keeping by junior Aaron Kindel and aggressive defensive play keyed both wins.

"Lake Brantley is like a pressing basketball team," said Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle. "They put the pressure on you all the time. They're relentless."

Despite the pressure, Brody would like to see a little more scoring punch from his squad. Mo Moghaddam, one of the top players in the state, has been a marked man all year. Chad Marien, Steve DeLong, Simon Trumble, Fred Raah, Steve Earl, Cory Sheffield and Chris McManus have taken up the slack.

"We've been playing against better defenses. The shots aren't on frame like they were before," said Brody. "The only time we really put a lot of goals in was against weak teams. We're just going to do the things that got us here."

If the Patriots can pick up a pair of wins Friday and Saturday, they will join Lyman's Lady Greyhounds to give Seminole County two state champions. Coach Tom Barnes' Lyman girls nipped South Plantation, 3-2, last Saturday to

County Teams Bow Out

Apopka Rips Rams — Mainland Drops Howell

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

PORT ORANGE — Apopka's Blue Darters zipped to a 10-1 lead early in the first quarter and, although Lake Mary's Rams made a few runs at them, the Darters were in control the entire way en route to an 85-67 victory in the 4A-9 District Tournament Thursday night at Spruce Creek High.

In tonight's semifinal action, Apopka goes up against Mainland at 7 and DeLard takes on Spruce Creek at 8:30. All four Seminole County teams, Lake Mary, Lake Howell, Seminole and Lake Brantley, were eliminated in the first round.

Junior forward Mike Lowman scored six of Apopka's first 10 points and 10 in the first quarter as the Darters built a 21-8 lead. Leslie Pierce's three-point play at the outset of the second quarter gave Apopka a commanding 24-8 lead.

Lake Mary then made its first run as it outscored Apopka, 12-2, to pull within six, 26-20, with 4:30 left in the half. Apopka punched it back up to 11, 31-20, before coach Earl Stokes was whistled for a technical after an Apopka foul. The Rams then hit 5 of 6 free throws and Ray Hartsfield dropped in a layup to pull Lake Mary within four, 31-27, with 2:16 left in the quarter.

Apopka came back with a run of its own in the last two minutes of the first half as it outscored the Rams, 14-2, to take a 45-29 halftime lead.

Apopka went up by 20, 49-29, early in the third quarter and Lake Mary never got closer than nine the rest of the way.

"We had our shots at them (Apopka)," Lake Mary coach Willie Richardson said. "But every time we'd make it close something crazy would happen. We missed too many layups and free throws."

Senior Darryl Merthie put on a one man show late in the fourth quarter but Apopka had already sealed the victory. Merthie wound up with a game-high 25 points to lead the Rams. Merthie, who also grabbed nine rebounds, was the only Lake Mary player in double figures. Juniors Ray Hartsfield and Chris Jackson added eight points each while seniors Don Grayson and Jeff Reynolds contributed seven apiece. Grayson also yanked down eight boards while Reynolds pulled down seven.

Kent Elmore's 24 points were high for the Darters while Lowman pumped in 21 and dished out five assists. Thaddeus Rice contributed 12 points and Daryl Bowers added nine.

MCLOUD TOO MUCH FOR HAWKS

George McCloud poured in 24 points Thursday night as Mainland's Bucs advanced to tonight's semifinals with a 63-50 victory over Lake

Basketball

Howell's Silver Hawks.

The Hawks played Mainland tough for the entire first quarter and most of the second. In fact, Lake Howell had a three-point lead midway through the second quarter, but Mainland scored eight points in the last minute of the first half and increased its lead from one point, 23-22, to eight, 31-23. McCloud, a 6-6 senior, scored six of the last eight points for the Bucs in the first half including a 25-footer at the buzzer.

Mainland kept the momentum going into the third quarter as it reeled off six straight points for a 37-23 lead. The Bucs took a 43-30 lead into the final period and then opened up a 19-point lead, 49-30, with six straight points in the early going for the fourth quarter.

Lake Howell had a chance to get back within 10 with 1:44 left in the game, but missed the front end of a one and one.

"We were outmached in size and quickness," Lake Howell coach Greg Robinson said. "But, except for the last two minutes of the second quarter, and the first two of the third, we played right with them (Mainland). We had it going our way for a while (three-point lead) but made some mistakes that cost us."

Senior guard Elrem Brooks concluded his brilliant career for the Hawks with a 20-point, six rebound performance.

McCloud also yanked down eight rebounds to go with his 24 points. George Anderson added 12 points for the Bucs while James Henry and Mike Polite tossed in 11 each.

"Our size was definitely a factor," Mainland coach Dick Toth said. "George (McCloud) was hot and the kids were looking to him. But for a while we were just going through the motions and we didn't get a lot of scoring from our subs. Are subs need to be ready to play."

right, Seminoles Tony Brown, Tracy Turner, Troy Turner and Sherallon Mays all finished in the top four in the region to earn a state berth. All told, 24 wrestlers will go.

complete a perfect 23-0 year.

"I don't know anything about Choctawhatchee," said Brody Friday morning about his 14-6 opponent. "We're assuming that they'll be tough. They're in the final four, they have to be good but I think we have a good draw."

At Tampa, Seminole County's wrestlers — all 24 of them — are hoping for a good draw today, too, when the State 4A Wrestling Tournament opens at Tampa Chamberlain High School. The first round began at 1 p.m. with the second slated for 7 p.m. The semifinals are at 10 a.m. Saturday while the consolation are at 6 p.m. and the championships are at 8 p.m.

Seminole, which is taking its largest delegation with four grapplers, qualified senior Tony Brown (142), sophomores Troy Turner (159) and Sherallon Mays (109) and freshman Tracy Turner (149).

Coach Roger Beathard said that Brown and Troy Turner has the best chances for a state title. Troy Turner has won 24 straight matches including conference, district and regional championships. Brown won 27 in a row before losing to Tim Melot of Jacksonville Sandalwood in the region final. Tracy Turner finished third and Mays fourth in the region.

Lake Mary's Rams boast nine qualifiers for the state, the most ever to come out of the county. Coach Frank Schwartz has his sights set on a top five finish with his talented bunch.

Senior Ivan Carbia is the best bet for a state championship. "Ivan saved his best wrestling for the region and state," said Schwartz about his 116-pounder. "He's peaking right now and he's going to do real well at the state."

Other Rams to qualify included Enrique Carbia (102), Sean McMorrow (123), Matt Broberg (130), Tom Olson (136), Todd Beauchamp (142), Scott Ross (149), Walter White (171) and Bill Caughell (223).

Lyman qualified region champ Pat Perkins (223), Chad Dubin (109), Pat Bell (116) and Derek Smith (171). Lake Brantley will send region titlist Jim Martin (102), Danny Black (130), Joe Waresak (159) and unlimited Andy Craft. Waresak was fifth in the state last year.

Lake Howell qualified Todd Miller (102), Greg Buckley (149) and Hal Crowley (223).

Flutie Looks For Touch, Corso For Positive Side

ORLANDO (UPI) — Two weeks and five interceptions after his pro debut, Doug Flutie returns to Orlando Stadium Friday night still looking for the passing touch and leadership abilities that made him irresistible to New Jersey owner Donald Trump.

Flutie had his first two passes picked off by Orlando linebacker Jeff Gabrielsen Feb. 15 in an exhibition finale won by the Generals, 24-14. Last Sunday, in his first regular-season game in the United States Football League, Flutie didn't complete a pass until the third quarter and was picked off three times as Birmingham beat New Jersey 38-28.

Despite Flutie's problems, the Generals are 12-point favorites for the 8 p.m. EST game against perhaps the weakest club in the league. The game will be televised live by ESPN and shown again at midnight. The Renegades were trounced 35-7 in their season opener at Tampa Bay, gaining just 42 yards in the opening half, but Coach Lee Corso is still promoting positive thinking.

"We're better than we were last week," insists the effervescent Corso, who wouldn't turn down an interview request by Mad Magazine. "We've improved considerably in practice and we hope to play much closer to our potential. New Jersey plays a physical, NFL-style defense — they don't give you anything."

"I feel like we have a good program being built here and last week's result wasn't exactly a major upset. We're not going get conservative just because we turned the ball over four times against the Bandits. We're going to go for it all and we've got a good chance against New Jersey to break into the win column."

Especially if Flutie continues to throw to the guys in the other jerseys.

"People are trying to draw conclusions about my pro career after one game, two if you count the exhibition game," says Flutie. "That's ridiculous. I'll have my good days and I'll have days when I struggle. Consistency makes a great quarterback and that takes a year or two to establish. I think I've progressed tremendously in three weeks, but three years from now I'll still be getting better and better. It's no fun when you're struggling."

Flutie's counterpart, Orlando quarterback Jerry Golsteyn, strung together some fancy numbers against the Bandits (25-for-43, 231 yards, 1 TD), but he was intercepted twice and his fumble led to Tampa Bay's first score.

"Anyone can have an off day and Golsteyn is still an experienced quarterback who can read a defense," says New Jersey

Lee Corso has a word with a player during 35-7 loss to Tampa Bay Bandits. Corso and Renegades look for their first win tonight at home against New Jersey.

Coach Walt Michaels. "When I looked at their films, I saw a team that got behind 21-0 through no fault of their own. We had six turnovers ourselves and that's enough to take you out of any game."

Stewarts Dominate; Oviedo Faces Jones

KISSIMMEE — James Stewart scored nine of his game-high 15 points in the third quarter Thursday night as Oviedo's Lions built a 15-point lead and held off a fourth-quarter surge by Leesburg's Yellow Jackets for a 56-51 victory in the 3A-8 District Basketball Tournament at Osceola High.

Oviedo, the only Seminole County varsity team still alive in district play, goes up against top-seeded Orlando Jones tonight at 6:30. In tonight's second game, Bishop Moore takes on Osceola Kissimmee at 8.

"We're going to try to give Jones a run for their money," Oviedo coach Dale Phillips said. "We're going to have to slow down their running game and maybe put pressure on them defensively."

James Stewart, a senior, and younger brother Mark, a junior, combined for 26 points and 16 rebounds Thursday night. Along with his 15 points, Stewart tossed in six rebounds while Mark tossed in 11 points and ripped down 10 boards.

"The Stewart brothers dominated inside for us," Phillips said. "It was our inside game that hurt them (Leesburg) the most."

Also scoring in double figures for the Lions was sophomore Robb Hughes with 12 points and he also grabbed seven rebounds. Terry Campbell added eight points, including four clutch free throws in the fourth quarter.

Oviedo jumped out to a 12-5 lead after the first quarter and held on to a six-point lead, 25-19, at the half.

James Stewart then took control in the third quarter as the Lions outscored the Yellow Jackets, 19-10, to take a 44-29 lead into the fourth.

Schmit Tests Livernois As Lyman Puts 9-Game Win String On Line

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor
Derek Livernois vs. Mike Schmit.

Mike Schmit

Livernois, who has three of the nine Lyman wins, has been almost untouchable in his three outings. "Livernois has a good fastball but it's his curveball that really impresses me," said Lake Mary coach Allen Tuttle. "We're going to have to really swing the bats Friday."

Schmit, meanwhile, is 1-1 for the 4-1 Rams. The junior right-hander tossed a three-hitter while beating Winter Park but then was roughed up by the same Wildcat team a week later. He hasn't pitched since Feb. 20.

The Greyhounds and the Rams have already played once this year. Lyman, which won, included the game in its overall record while Lake Mary counted it as an exhibition.

In other action today at 3:30, Seminole coach Mike Ferrrell sends right-hander Brian Sheffield at Lake Howell. The Tribe is 4-4 overall and 0-2 in the conference. Lake Howell will probably go with lefty Damon Marlette.

In Saturday's key game, Lake Brantley, 2-0 in conference, hosts 2-0 Apopka.

SCC Roughs Up Baltimore, 18-2

Daryl Badger socked a solo homer while Leonard Thigpen and Steve Loerzel each drove in three runs as the Seminole Community College Raiders roughed up the Community College of Baltimore, 18-2, in junior college baseball Thursday at SCC.

SCC, 7-4-1, has won five of its last seven games. Coach Jack Pantelias' squad travels to Fort Pierce to play Indian River today before returning home to play Baltimore again Saturday. The Raiders open Mid-Florida Conference play Tuesday in Gainesville at Santa Fe Community College.

Six runs in the first inning made things easy for ace Chuck Brant, who allowed just five hits in going the route.

Badger's homer was his first of the year. Thigpen had a double and a single to account for his ribbies while Loerzel had two singles. Tim Johnson drove in a pair of runs with two singles. Shortstop Jack Smith chipped in two singles and a double.

Miller, Mitchell Ignite Daytona

DELAND — Sanford's Daytona Beach duo of Fred Miller and Willie Mitchell are just two games from the State Junior College Basketball Championship. Both played key roles Thursday afternoon as the Scurryin' Scots overhauled Chipola, 73-69, at Stetson's Edmunds Center.

"Daytona came back from the grave," said SCC coach Bill Payne about the comeback. "Miller really did a good job for them. If Daytona gets an early lead, they can beat Dade North."

Miller combined with Anthony Anderson to score 14 points as the Scots charged back from a 13-point deficit. Anderson topped all scorers with 25 points while Miller finished with eight. Mitchell popped off the bench to grab eight rebounds and convert four straight free throws.

Daytona will play Miami Dade North tonight at 9 in the semifinal round. Dade North, the defending state champion, drilled Florida College, 84-69. In other first round play, Pensacola pulled out a 78-75 win over Florida Junior and Manatee dropped Indian River, 78-71. Pensacola and Manatee play tonight at 7.

Rams Not Trinity Prep, 7-0

Lake Mary's boys tennis team rolled to its fifth win in eight matches with a 7-0 rout of Trinity Prep Thursday at Lake Mary High School. Coach Randy Kelley's Rams have a chance to avenge one of those defeats Tuesday against Lake Howell.

Carston Basile, Shea Whigham and Robbie Shakar pushed the Rams to a good start with 8-5 victories over Will Morgan, Lawrence Golomb and Tim Van Dyke, respectively. Mike Renaud handed Richard George, 8-2, and Trey Seibold trimmed Jeff Golomb, 8-3.

Coach Karen Lyster's Lady Rams were swept, 7-0, by the Lady Saints at Trinity.

Odors May Indicate Physical Ailments

DEAR DR. LAMB — What is the relationship between body smells and health problems? My friend has a very unusual odor to his breath. At times it smells like lilac.

including the type of virus and your general health.

I read that some doctors can pinpoint a body dysfunction by analyzing certain body odors.

I don't recommend that you catch a cold. Colds and flu can be particularly hard on older people, since their immunity to diseases is not as good as it once was.

DEAR READER — Did you ever smell alcohol on someone's breath? That sums up the mechanism. The alcoholic beverage is absorbed into the bloodstream and is carried by the circulation to the lungs, and the volatile elements are released into the lungs and exhaled. The same thing can happen with any chemical that is absorbed into the blood.

Colds and flu are contagious diseases caused by viruses. One can avoid catching colds by not having contact with people. That is a little hard to do, and people

A person who has diabetes that is not well controlled, and who therefore is producing ketones, will have a special breath odor resembling that of alcohol. The tragedy is that such a diabetic may be in a near-coma, but may be regarded as drunk and end up in jail instead of in the hospital.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Is the common cold a necessary evil? Since there is so much mucus discharge during a cold, I've wondered if it is useful to clear out the respiratory system. My voice always seems clearer and stronger after a cold. I haven't had a cold or flu for 30 months. Would it be better if I caught a cold? I'm 71.

Excessive zeal in eliminating carbohydrates from the diet can also produce this odor.

At certain stages, liver disease may give a particular fruity odor to the breath. This might be what you mean by a "lilac odor." Certain infections also impart an odor to the breath. A lung abscess causes a particular foul odor.

DEAR READER — The only reason there is more mucus discharge is from the inflammation caused by the cold. A cold does not clean our respiratory passages. It inflames them.

The only benefit of having a cold is that it helps to boost your immunity to subsequent colds. If you have not had a cold for a long time, when you do get one it is apt to be more severe. However, many factors determine how severe a cold is.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
When you know with absolute certainty the location of a key card, you can use an unusual encircling play called a backward finesse.

West had shown up with the spade jack and the club ace. East had to hold the diamond queen, or he would not have held the 15 high-card points he needed to open one no-trump. Of course the diamond queen might be doubleton, but there was a better play.

You have stuck in a little nuisance bid over East's one no-trump opening, but partner took you seriously — he bid four hearts. At least you weren't doubled.

Declarer ruffed the spade, drew a second round of trumps, and ruffed a club in dummy. He then led the jack of diamonds. When East covered with the queen, declarer won with his king and led a diamond back.

The jack of spades was led and when spades were continued, you trumped. You then played the king of hearts, won by East's ace. East returned a club, won by the ace in the West hand, and back came another spade. Since

When West played low, the nine of diamonds was played from dummy to make the hand.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY MARCH 2, 1985
In the year ahead you will be extremely fortunate in projects or enterprises that cater to the public's basic needs. Luck and circumstances will contribute to make these profitable ventures.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Funds you have earmarked for essential expenditures should not be blown frivolously today. Don't let your extravagance get the best of you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be consistent today or you'll incur the ire of those you're involved with. Don't be warm and gushy one minute, then chilly the next.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today there's a possibility you might be attracted to someone you shouldn't be. What starts out as a harmless flirtation could lead to complications.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It's best that you leave your credit cards at home if you plan to go shopping today. Spend your time just window-watching or you may make some foolish purchases.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It will create dissension among your companions today if you espouse an unpopular cause or try to force your desires upon them selfishly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Others will find your company more enjoyable today and have greater respect for you if you're just yourself, instead of putting on pretenses.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Business and pleasure aren't likely to mix well today. In social situations, don't try to inject issues of a commercial nature.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In order to gain the cooperation of others today you must show a sincere concern for their feelings and points of view. Be as considerate as possible.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Do not be stubborn about changing your mind today, especially if wiser heads tell you that you're saddling yourself with unworkable ideas.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Fun and games should be enjoyed today for what they have to offer, so don't make winning all that important. Being too competitive could spoil things for everyone.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Disagreements between you and your mate should be handled privately today and not voiced in front of outsiders. Discretion is a must.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Tasks you perform in a hasty fashion today will probably have to be done over later. Pace yourself so that what you do, you do well.

Don't Forget To Feed Hungry Landscape Trees

Sometimes, we forget that our landscape trees get hungry. It seems that we make sure our azaleas, hedges, shrubs, and lawns get their fair share, but completely forget about our beautiful shade trees. And, this is a good time to get this chore out of the way.

The only way you can properly feed your trees is to know about the different fertilizers that are available. Most of our landscapes contain an assortment of trees. And, to simplify the job, you can generally use a complete fertilizer — one containing the three major nutrients needed for best growth. This means for most trees you can use a 6-6-6 or 8-8-8 all-purpose garden fertilizer.

To calculate the correct amount of fertilizer you need for a tree, you need to know the diameter of the trunk. This should be measured about four feet above the soil level. For trees with trunk diameter of six inches or less, apply three pounds of fertilizer for every inch of trunk diameter. For trees with trunk diameters larger than six inches, use five pounds of your complete fertilizer for each inch of diameter of trunk. The best way to apply the fertilizer that you have weighed out for each specific tree is to punch holes in the soil about a foot deep with a crowbar, jack handle or similar tool. Space your holes out about 18 inches apart throughout the area beneath the leaf canopy of the tree. Then, pour your fertilizer into each of the holes until the correct amount has been used up. Now, if you can't use this system for one reason or another, you can divide the total amount required for a particular tree into three parts. Broadcast one-third of the amount on top of the soil beneath the tree now, make your second application in mid-June, and a third application in early October. This is not as effective as the hole punching method, particularly if you have grass growing beneath the tree — it will grow like crazy! But the broadcast system is much better than no feeding at all.

Don't neglect your palms, either. They, too, need their fair share of fertilizer. You can use a special palm fertilizer mix or a regular all-purpose complete fertilizer with a high percentage of nitrogen, such as a 16-4-8 or 12-4-8. If you can get a complete fertilizer containing minor elements, the palms will certainly benefit.

Young palms with no clear trunk need about one to three pounds of fertilizer for each feeding. Palms with clear trunks should receive one-half to one pound of fertilizer per inch of trunk diameter per feeding. Feed your palms three times a year. Make your first application now, another in mid-summer, and a third in early fall. The fall feeding will help increase cold tolerance and reduce the chance of nutrient shortages that may occur when the roots are less active.

Your palms can be fed by the same method described for your shade trees, or you can simply broadcast the fertilizer beneath the normal canopy.

When we consider fertilizers, the word "complete" comes to mind first. A complete fertilizer is one containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium — the three major elements needed for good growth of any plants. But in our sandy soils, sometimes we have a shortage of some needed "minor" elements. These minor elements are needed in addition to the three major elements. Many of the all-purpose fertilizers contain these needed minor elements. You can tell by reading the contents on the fertilizer bag. These minor elements can also be applied in the form of a liquid spray. The all-purpose fertilizers containing the needed elements for plant growth including the minor elements may be a little more expensive, but from the plant's nutrient needs point of view, the extra cost is well worth it.

On many of our soils, iron is deficient. And, you'll find this as an added minor element in many fertilizers. Iron deficiency symptoms appear on many landscape plants where the soil pH is high, either naturally on some soils, or where someone has limed the soil thinking that the poor response of plants is due to a low pH — usually without having the soil tested before liming. Additional iron can be applied when needed by using iron sulfate or chelated iron mixed with water according to the instructions on the product label. No matter which fertilizer product you choose to use, always follow the manufacturer's instructions right to the letter.

After making your fertilizer applications to your shade trees and palms, be sure to give them a thorough, deep watering. This activates the nutrients in the fertilizer and the tree's roots will be able to readily assimilate them. Our landscapes are really dry now, unless you're fortunate to have an irrigation system and have been watering about once a week. If not, better drag out the old hose and give all of your landscape plants and trees a good, deep drink. They'll love you for it. Happy gardening!

Woman Takes The Backseat To Her Boyfriend's Daughter

DEAR ABBY: I've been going with a wonderful man for a year and a half, and I am hoping to marry him. We usually get along beautifully, but there is one problem. He's divorced and has a 6-year-old daughter, "Lori," who lives with her mother in an adjoining state. "Peter" gets Lori every third weekend and on occasional holidays.

Peter recently acquired a new car with bucket seats, and when Lori is with us, she insists on riding in front with her daddy. That means I have to sit in the back alone.

I say that as an adult, my place is in front with Peter. He says he sees more of me than he sees of Lori, and I should sit in the back and not make a big deal out of it. I refused to go along with this, but the last straw was when Peter suggested that Lori and I "take turns" sitting in front with him.

How would you handle this?
CAMEL'S BACK

DEAR BACK: If I wanted to land Peter, I'd quit competing with Lori and quietly plant my bucket in the backseat. If you make a fuss, you'll force Peter to make a choice between you and his daughter. Then you'll find that blood is thicker than water.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, 60 years of age. I recently met "Mr. B.," a gentleman, 82, who offered me a job in his home as a live-in homemaker. I accepted the position and have been very satisfied.

Mr. B. has been married twice. Both wives died. He has asked me to marry him and I have accepted.

The stepchildren from Mr. B.'s second marriage have been coming to his home and taking furniture, dishes and other valuables, saying that these articles were the property of their mother! Mr. B. said, "The things they took from this home belonged to my first wife, and those stepchildren have no right to come in here at all!"

Is there anything I can do to stop this aggravating situation? His stepchildren have told me that I am only the "maid" and I should mind my own business!

Mr. B. said that everything accumulated during both his marriages is his — that neither wife brought any valuables to his home.

What should be done?
ANXIOUS IN CANADA

DEAR ANXIOUS: Mr. B.'s stepchildren have no right to enter his home without his permission, nor do they have a right to remove any valuables from that home. Ownership of said valuables should be established, and if they are indeed the property of Mr. B., his grasping stepchildren should return them immediately. Canadian law is the same as U.S. law in this regard: "He who takes what isn't his'n, must give it back or go to prison."

DEAR ABBY: My problem? Painful rheumatoid arthritis in my hands and fingers. I'm a 38-year-old female executive medical secretary in a large medical center, and in my job I greet salesmen and others on a daily basis. I am expected to offer my hand when introductions are made, and therein lies the problem.

Most of the men who shake my hand have such firm grips that I have all I can do to keep from screaming with pain.

What can I say or do to let these well-meaning macho men know that they do not have to shake hands that hard?

Members Of The Thrust And Parry Set Get The Point

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

You might have been thrilled by the swashbuckling heroics of Erroll Flynn slashing his way through Captain Blood, or the more recent swordplay of Darth Vader and Ben Kenobi in "Star Wars," but modern fencing wouldn't make the movies.

However it is that Zorro-like image — flying from roof to roof or hanging from a chandelier — that lure some to take up the sport. But even after they learn what it's really like (and Flynn's theatrics have nothing to do with it) the determined continue on to make their point in this fast-paced game steeped in the romantic traditions of Fencing enthusiasts work hard to thrust their way to the top of their sport. But outside of an elusive Olympic gold medal and intense personal satisfaction, there's little reward the days of duels.

Cindy Muller cautions you not to laugh when she admits she was first attracted to the sport by Flynn's antics. (It's tough laughing at someone carrying a sword).

"I like the swashbuckling thing. I've always been interested in the very intricate working of the swordplay," she said.

Miss Mueller, a 27-year-old executive secretary from Altamonte Springs who has been fencing for a year, said the sport "lives up to my expectations, but we don't leap around. We learn which moves block an opponent and how to attack.

"There are quite a few women involved in the sport," Miss Mueller said. "It's a great conversation piece, especially with men. They say 'How did you get involved?'"

"You have to be aggressive. That's one thing I'm learning to do. It's not a game where you just get in there and start throwing a sword around. It's very much a mental game and I've been learning that — who's going to make the first move. You have to watch certain things."

Jeff Cole, a seven-year fencing veteran who along with other members of the Orlando Fencing Club have introduced Miss Mueller and other amateurs to fencing, said it's very much a mental chessgame, but also requires physical stamina and guts.

"There must always be an attacker. If both fencers were to stand and just look at each other they should just get rid of the weapons and go play chess," 32-year-old Cole said.

"I would say it takes a combination of physical fitness, terrific manual dexterity, hand and eye coordination and a quick mind. There's a lot of psychology involved. Basically you're trying to play up your strong points and seek out your opponent's weak points."

The physical and mental aspects aside, there's also a tremendous amount of determination involved. "You have to want to fence," Miss Mueller said, "because you have to learn to fence and that takes a little bit of time. It's isn't natural, because the stance, the en garde (that's French for on guard) position is very uncomfortable at first."

Miss Mueller is one of those who persevered and she says it has paid off in other areas of Miss Mueller's life. Since becoming a sword-wielder she finds herself thinking about two to three steps ahead in projects in which she's involved, she said.

"If more people knew about it they'd do it," Miss Mueller said of fencing. But Cole, a graphic artist who sees his interest in the sport as a natural offshoot of his 20 years of experience in marital arts, said it's unlikely fencing will ever rival tennis in popularity.

"I would like to see it reach that level, but it's a little bit more of an elite sport," he said, adding quickly, however, that it "isn't a snob's sport. I just think people aren't aware they can go out and join a fencing club, have a great time and meet a lot of people. Our club is like a family. There's not many of us so we do become a family and help each other out."

Cole said "it's a matter of educating the public that this is an absolutely fantastic sport. It's a mental and physical game and is one of the oldest original sports in the modern Olympics."

And although the action is swift, Cole said, after about 15 minutes of watching a match the formerly fencing-ignorant spectator can pick up on the ins and outs of the game well enough to enjoy the meet.

Then if you want to get off the sidelines and into the fun count on investing from six months to a year to get down the basics in the use of a foil — a lightweight dueling rapier. There's also a more substantive investment required, about $200 for gear. A little short right now? Not to worry. Miss Mueller said more experienced sportsmen will usually loan to beginners.

Fencers can progress from the foil, which is limited to attacks to the torso, to the epee — the modern version of the dueling sword. It can be used against a challenger on any part of the body. And then it's on to the sabre, a version of the slashing cavalry sword with which you can thrust toward any part of the upper body, Cole said.

The chance of injury is almost nil, because the points and edges of the weapons are blunt, Cole said, adding that strict rules govern the gear fencers must wear.

"The standards set by the U.S. Fencing Association are extremely high and rigid along with the code of ethics and rules. I don't know of any other sport that is as well regulated in every aspect down to the specifications of the type of clothing we're allowed to wear for safety precautions," he said.

Fencing is certainly not sartorially flashy. No black cape and mask here. Fencers must dress all in white, from their snug-fitting short trousers and padded safety vest, to the white knee socks, flat-soled shoes and gloves. The outfit is topped off with a mesh-covered face guard that has a built-in throat shield.

Want to learn to fence? The Orlando Fencing Club, which has about 20 members, meets Mondays and Wednesdays from 7 to 10 p.m. in Orlando's Loch Haven Park Community Center. Novices are welcome to join. Annual club dues are $10.

Recovered Beatles' Music Could Be Worth Millions

MIAMI (UPI) — Unpublished Beatles music that could be worth millions of dollars has been recovered by FBI agents with the arrest of a New Jersey man who is believed to have taken the taped recordings from a vault.

Michael Keith Reibel, 30, also known as Michael Gabriel, was arrested Tuesday in Boca Raton, Miami FBI spokesman Joseph Delcampo reported. Agents recovered a stolen master copy of original taped private recordings of unpublished music and conversations of the musical group.

Reibel was being held on a federal charge of interstate transportation of stolen property.

A former employee of Studio Systems Inc. of Jersey City, N.J., he is believed to have taken the safety master copy from the company vault between Feb. 12 and Feb. 15, Delcampo said.

"The tape is owned by Richard Smulian of R-S Distribution Inc. of Houston, Texas. He had given it to Studio Systems for production and editing," Delcampo said. "To date, an estimated $250,000 has been spent for acquisition and production of the tape."

If convicted of interstate transport of stolen property, Reibel would face a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and $10,000 fine.

'Punky Brewster' Sentimental Slop

By David Handler

The football season is over. That means two things — the baseball season is still many, many cold weeks away and I no longer have any excuse for ducking "Punky Brewster."

See, here on the East Coast football games often run into the early evening. That means "Punky," which airs Sunday at 7:30, kept getting pushed back or bumped. I had trouble finding it. Plus I often had more important things to do. Like buying some new sponges.

You may as well know — I hate gooey shows about crabby old-timers and heart-melting moppets. Especially precocious heart-melting moppets named Punky who have precocious, heart-melting puppy dogs named Brandon. Brandon, you see, happens to be the name of NBC's precocious, heart-melting chief of programming. Isn't that sweet?

Oh, did I mention that the credits are made to look like a kid's crayon lettering? And that Punky exhorts viewers to send in a drawing of her and Brandon so she can show one on the air every week?

I know. I'm being a dour old critic. The point is, I watched "Punky Brewster." I kept an open mind. I was as professional as I know how to be. I hated it. OK?

This is the story of Henry and Punky. Henry (George Gaynes) is single and works as a photographer and is used to living alone.

Then along comes Punky (Soleil Moon Frye), a 7-year-old with pigtails and a puppy and an uncanny knack for working an audience. She is an abandoned child. She becomes Henry's foster child.

Except for the odd run-in, they seem to get along well. In a two-parter I watched, Henry's old high-school sweetheart shows up to have a passport photo taken. She is now a widow and a millionaire with a Rollers Royce, as Punky calls it.

The old spark is still there. "Come on, admit it, Henry," says Punky. "She pops your cork."

Trouble is, Henry's fiancée wants to put Punky in a Swiss boarding school. Henry won't stand for it. Rather than come between them, Punky runs away.

She decides to head west. "I wanna buy a ranch," she says. "I got eight dollars."

She and Brandon hit the road. Naturally, it is snowing. She ends up in a junkyard, where she is befriended by a teen runaway who lives in a tent. Henry finds her and brings her home. The wedding, he tells her, will wait. The differences will be worked out. She, Punky, is his first priority.

I suppose there are people out there who will be touched by all of this. It may even remind them of the old Shirley Temple movies they used to sob over. Well, I never liked those either.

Viewers Are Yawning At Late Night TV

NEW YORK (UPI) — Americans are beginning to yawn at late night network television offerings — particularly rich Americans.

That's the news from the N.W. Ayer research department in the ad agency's report on who was watching what from 11:30 p.m. to 1 a.m.

The figures show that in the late night time period, the number of homes using television — called HUTs in the industry — has increased from 23.4 percent in 1979-80 to 27.5 percent in 1983-84.

The network slice of the pie, however, has dropped from 72 percent in the 1979-80 season to 55 percent in the 1983-84 season.

Where have all the viewers gone? About equally to independent channels, PBS, pay cable and other cable, Ayer concluded.

The slip in network late night viewing was evident in every age group, with the exception of women 55 and older. The number of working women dropped a whopping 30 percent in the five-year time span.

What could hit networks hardest in the pocketbook is the decline in viewers among the $30,000-plus income group. The Ayer report notes that since 1960-81, when the A.C. Nielsen Co. began measuring the income group, high-income late night viewing has dropped 2 percent for the time period, while overall viewing has increased 6 percent.

An Ayer Media Report says that for the networks alone, high income homes have defected by 24 percent, while homes with an income of less than $30,000 remained constant.

"The entire loss of the network audience is being caused by the defection of the affluent households — the ones most attractive to most advertisers," the report said.

When illness strikes someone you know, it makes you think — and that's what someone you know on television, Jim Lehrer of the MacNeil-Lehrer NewsHour, wants to make you do about heart disease.

Lehrer's medium, of course, is television, and he told his story this week in "My Heart, Your Heart" on PBS.

What made "Your Heart, My Heart" distinctive is Lehrer, who suffered a heart attack last year at age 49 and underwent double bypass surgery. Lehrer took the viewer through his experience, from the first tightening in his chest through his the attack itself, the surgery and recovery.

He changed his diet, quit smoking, began exercising and learned to control stress.

"Having gone through this whole experience caused me to take some hard looks at my priorities — professionally and personally."

'Christian Truths' On Television Don't Sell

DEAR DICK — I am wondering if there is any series coming up with real biblical truth in it? Something with truth, brotherhood and Christian education in it. I would be so interested in learning the truths in show form. The Christian soap opera on CBN is so boring. There is a real blank space about this on television in all the series. A.N., Bismarck, N.D.

Unfortunately, the network executives think that kind of material isn't commercial. They may be right, but it should be worth a try. I think many of the TV specials and movies do touch on those values you mention, but it might be time for a series in that same area. I doubt, however, we will see it any time soon.

DEAR DICK — I would like to know why they keep changing the people on the daytime dramas. D.T., Willard, Mo.

If you mean the actors, then the changes are made for a number of reasons. Either the actors quit because of restlessness, boredom, a better offer, or the show decides a replacement is necessary for one reason or another. If you mean the characters, then the changes are made when the writers decide they want to give the show a new look. They write out some old story lines and some old characters and write in some new ones.

DEAR DICK — I am an avid "Gone With the Wind" fan. I was wondering if you could tell me what happened to Vivien Leigh. Is she dead? If so, when did she die? If not, how old is she? Also, didn't she lose most of her money and resort to stealing things? I need this info for a report. M.M.L., Powell, Tenn.

Ask Dick Kleiner

Your report should indicate that Vivien Leigh died in 1967. You have her, I think, confused with Hedy Lamarr, who had some problems involving shoplifting. Miss Leigh's problems were physical and mental.

DEAR DICK — I would like to know if Redd Foxx is actually his real name and, if not, what his real name is. There is a bet riding on this — I say it is not his real name and my son says it is. I.T., Ralston, Pa.

The name he was given at birth was John Elroy Sanford.

DEAR DICK — I have never been able to find it in the "Knight Rider" credits — but who is the voice of KITT? It sounds like William Daniels (Dr. Craig on "St. Elsewhere"). My husband says no. No bet, just curiosity. S.K., Amarillo, Texas.

It is William Daniels, no matter what your husband says.

DEAR DICK — Could you please tell me the names of all the James Bond movies? For the life of me, I can't remember them all and it is driving me nuts. C.R., Talbott, Tenn.

In the interests of your sanity, here they are: Sean Connery played Bond in "Dr. No," "From Russia with Love," "Goldfinger," "Thunderball," "You Only Live Twice," "Diamonds are Forever" and "Never Say Never Again." Roger Moore was Bond in "Live and Let Die," "The Man with the Golden Gun," "The Spy Who Loved Me," "Moonraker," "For Your Eyes Only" and "Octopussy." George Lazenby was in one Bond film, "On Her Majesty's Secret Service," and there were several Bonds in the disastrous "Casino Royale."

DEAR DICK — I've seen Susanne Pleshette reciting some of her poetry on Johnny Carson's show. I've looked for a published book of her poems, but can't find one. Can you help? C.M.B., Houston, Texas.

Not really, because there is none. She writes them generally just for her appearances with Carson, but there has not been anything published.

ABC's 'Moonlighting' Bicker, Bicker, Bicker

By Joan Hanauer
UPI TV Reporter

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you like watching other people's arguments, you'll love ABC's new series, "Moonlighting."

The show makes its debut as a two-hour movie Sunday, 9-11 p.m., then moves into its regular time period and one-hour format on Tuesday.

It is billed as a romantic comedy involving spine-tingling adventure, but it ought to be retitled "The Bickersons" because that's what Cybill Shepherd and Bruce Willis do for two hours — bicker, bicker, bicker.

She plays a fabulously successful model — the former "Blue Moon Shampoo" girl — whose lavish lifestyle is interrupted by insipient bankruptcy. Her business managers gave her the business and stole all her cash.

What remains of her fortune are some businesses acquired as tax losses — a dog grooming outfit, a fingernail boutique, a bait and tackle shop, a dirty bookstore — and a detective agency. She is advised to shut them down.

The proprietor of the detective agency is Willis, a slick-haired, fast-talking caricature of a private eye with an ego the size of the Ritz.

He tries to talk her into going into partnership with him, and before you can say Raymond Chandler they are up to their lapels in murder and mystery, involving a killer-turned-corpse with a German name and a Mohawk hairdo, and a pair of middle aged villains.

Everybody is looking for a watch that doesn't work, and as any amateur sleuth in the audience could tell by all the German names involved, the solution goes back to Nazi Germany. It takes Shepherd and Willis the whole two hours to figure that out.

One aspect of "Moonlighting" is absolutely believable — Shepherd as a top model. She is gorgeous and elegant. She wears beautiful clothes and spends a lot of time narrowing her eyes and telling Willis to go away.

"Moonlighting," despite the faults of its premiere, might settle down into an amusing show, more suited to the one-hour format, if the script writers can just cut down on the friction between its main characters, and give them better lines when they bicker.

The heroine of "Secret

Weapons" is an innocent Russian girl who thinks she has been recruited as a translator-in-training.

After she has been forced to strip in front of the other girls in her class, taught to pick locks and shoot a handgun, she writes to her aunt. "I never realized how much one had to master to become a translator — so many new skills."

If you were Sally Kellerman and James Franciscus, the Soviet husband-and-wife team of spy trainers, would you want someone that dumb in your espionage service?
