The sheriff said he had no official information but understands the chain of evidence is complete and expects to have warrants in next few days. Carpenter said that while forty-five citizens might be involved in the plot he did not believe this number were actual participants in the kidnaping of Mer Rouge citizens and the death of Matt Daniels and Thomas Richards. He declared survivors of kidnaping party informed him there were not more than eighteen or twenty in the masked band.

BLIND FROM BIRTH BUT IS TO BE GRADUATED ASTRONOMER

(By The Associated Press) ANN ARBOR, Mich., Dec. 29.—Blind from birth, with his conception of the heavens formed by descriptions from others, Joseph Caldwell, of Indiana, Pa., is studying astronomy at the University of Michigan in order that he may meet the scientific requirements to permit him to be graduated from the College of Literature, Science and Arts.
Mr. Caldwell, a sophomore and 16 years old, is doubly handicapped. In addition to his blindness, he lacks the mechanical aids for the study of astronomy that often are afforded students who take up other studies. Blind students of astronomy are so rare that there are no text books with raised type. Therefore, he depends upon fellow students to read his lessons to him. So proficient has he become, his professors say, that he frequently memorizes a lesson by hearing read only a few times.
In addition to astronomy, Mr. Caldwell is studying psychology, German, French and Italian. He ranks as one of the most adept students in his classes.

The preliminary hearing in the county court will be held next week.

WASHINGTON—Without debate and with a chorus of Ayes from Democratic senators and silence from most of the Republican side, the senate adopted a resolution offered by Senator Harris of Georgia, expressing "pleasure and joy of the senate" upon recovery toward health of former president Wilson.

MIAMI—Charged with selling fifteen grains of morphine to Federal Narcotic Agent Dickinson on the steps of the post office this morning Ross Ferrell was arrested immediately and was ordered held in his own recognizance by United States Commissioner Graham for federal court.

NEAR EAST CONFERENCE IS ON VERGE OF FAILURE; DANGER OF BREAKING UP

South Florida Fair and Gasparilla Crew Will Hold Forth

(By The Associated Press) TAMPA, Dec. 29.—Pomp and pageantry in liberal assortment will be features of the South Florida Fair and Gasparilla Carnival that opens in Feb. 1 next and continues throughout Feb. 10. Returning to plans of several years ago, abandoned during the period of the war and immediately thereafter, parades are to be prominent among the attractions at the fair.
First of these is to be the military parade on the opening day, Feb. 1, when Tampa's recently organized artillery battalion, the 16th Field Artillery is to parade, preceding the military maneuvers, exhibitions of stunt riding and sham battle to be staged at the fair grounds. The parade will be the first public appearance in full equipment of the artillery organization, and the opening day of the fair called "Army Day" is to be in the hands of the gamblers, who are making military parades that has been seen in Florida since the days of the Spanish-American war.
Following this the Mystic Krewe of Gasparilla is to present what is expected to be the most gorgeous and colorful pageant ever witnessed in Florida on Monday, Feb. 5. The Krewe is arranging for a number of magnificently decorated floats including representations of pirate craft and its buccaneer "krewes" and floats delineating various phases in the development of South Florida. Plans on foot also provide for a magnificent display of fireworks on the night of Feb. 5.

Shrimers from all over Florida are to stage a monster parade on Thursday, Feb. 8, which is to be "Shrine Day" at the Fair, and Shrimers from all parts of the jurisdiction are planning to participate in the affair. It is announced that this is to be the biggest and most thoroughly representative demonstration the Shrine has ever presented in South Florida, and this, to those who are familiar with the manner in which the Shrine makes good its promises, is sufficient assurance that the pageant will be worth going miles to see.
Besides these, a fourth parade is under consideration, to be held on "Governor's Day" when Gov. Cary A. Hardee and his official staff will attend the fair. Arrangements for this demonstration, however, have not been definitely determined. With the three big pageants already planned, the Gasparilla Carnival of 1923 is certain to be the most entertaining fair from a spectacular point of view that ever has been held in Florida.

FROM SEVERAL CAUSES CHIEFLY OVER OWNERSHIP AND CAPITULATION

Allies Stressing Capitulation Issue Taking Firm Stand on Foreigners

(By The Associated Press) LAUSANNE, Dec. 29.—The Near East peace conference stood today on the verge of failure, danger of breaking up facing it from several causes chiefly the contest over the ownership of Mosul oil fields and the question of capitulation. The Allies stressing the capitulation issue are taking a firm stand against the subjection of foreigners in Turkey to the jurisdiction of Turkish courts and insisting upon special courts with foreign judges sitting in them must pass upon cases in which foreigners are involved.
LAUSANNE, Dec. 29.—Ismet Pasha has failed to persuade the United States and the European powers that Turkish laws and Turkish courts afford adequate protection to the life and property of foreigners residing in Turkey, and the Near East conference stands in grave danger of breaking up on this question.
Europe and America insist that special courts, upon which foreign judges sit, must administer justice to foreigners in Mustapha Kemal's republic. Ismet Pasha declares that such courts would be an infringement on Turkish sovereignty. In fact, he reiterated this declaration so often at yesterday's stormy meeting of the commission on capitulation that Lord Curzon retorted:
"I beg that Ismet Pasha wrap up and place carefully away in a cupboard this question of Turkish sovereignty, which nobody wishes in the least to offend. Turkey is not the only country which enjoys sovereignty; many other powers have it, and frequently greater powers than Turkey submit questions to international tribunals without fear of impairing their sovereignty rights."
Ismet had declared that Turkish laws and Turkish courts were the equal of any in Europe so often, Lord Curzon continued, that he had actually come to believe it.

AIMS TO BE PECAN SUPPLY CENTER OF WORLD

(By The Associated Press) SAN SABA, Tex., Dec. 29.—San Saba county and its neighboring district is out to become the chief pecan production section of the world. Already supplying a goodly portion of the output of the nuts, it is increasing its present pecan area of 1,000 acres to 5,000 acres, which, according to J. E. Bell, secretary of the chamber of commerce, will make its position of supply less disputed.
"In 1919, San Saba shipped three million pounds of pecans" says Mr. Bell, "included in the customs being the King of England who paid one dollar a pound for them. Native pecans here average three and one-half inches in circumference and weigh thirty-five to the pound."

PUBLIC LIBRARY IS VALUABLE ASSET

Not everyone appreciates a public library—yet a city lacking an institution of that sort, properly functioning, is a degree behind in educational facilities.

Few persons can afford to secure by purchase the multitude of new volumes published at frequent intervals.

Palatka has in its library a fund of interesting material that is practically free to all who comply with its easily obeyed regulations.

It is a matter of regret that there is but a limited clientele—but it is equally a matter of satisfaction that there is being a gradual growth in the patronage.

habit which must be cultivated strenuously to prove its educational worth. The constant reader is at a loss to understand why all people are not better versed in the literature of the present day.

Parents should urge the reading of good books by the members of the household. Heads of families would do well to set an example along that same line that the children may emulate.

Good books are like good musical compositions; familiarity increases fondness and age adds interest.

There is an additional value possessed by the book which the song never can have; the latter comes as a recreation and an amusement.

The Palatka public library has a large number of volumes that fill the bill; that cater to the tastes of all people; and that will prove a source of advancement for the readers—more especially to the younger class.

The books are good alike for all ages—there is something for all classes and all minds—and the greater publicity that can be given the Palatka public library the better will it be for the entire city.

To show appreciation of its value there should be a more rapid growth in the roster of patrons.

"One acre of celery, which is a four-months' crop, brought $5,000."

This is an excerpt from a well written description of a remarkable farm near Sebring, published in a recent issue of the Sebring White Way.

Rotating crops, from three to six a year, are planted continuously.

It is an interesting statement from the same article. Farmers and horticulturists, from other sections of the country, who are well pleased with a yield of $50 per acre and one crop each year are invited to consider the possibilities of farming in Florida.

Much wonder is expressed, over the eastern side of the continent, as to how California has come to be so much more known and talked of than Florida.

HOW CALIFORNIA DOES IT

"We have benefited from an enterprising news syndicate in California the offer to supply a weekly feature article, generously illustrated, dealing with various phases of the California fruit industry, for a very small sum per week.

"We are not taking advantage of the offer after the fashion intended, but we do wish to take it as a text for some thoughts on things nearer home. The fact is that California is just about the best advertised state in the union, and this is largely due to the California Fruit Exchange and its allied organizations, which clamor not when it comes to the matter of publicity."

Two truths in one short statement! There isn't a county in the South, but some paper in it carries "stories" about "Sun-kist," or "Sun-maid," or some other California trade named fruit and product, written in the most attractive style, and just long enough to appeal to the hurried busy editor of a small paper.

Conceded in the guise of "Housekeepers Suggestions," or something else of a Woman's page nature the California-Fruit Exchange keeps a constant flow of fresh "news" matter going to the papers of the country. Thousands of columns of it were published daily and weekly, without cost to the paper but at a tremendous cost to the product near home.

The California Fruit Exchange advertises "California Fruit." That is the whole theme it has for the public, and it is getting by with it in wonderful shape.

There's a lesson here for Florida fruit and truck growers. Interesting short articles, of from two inches to a quarter of a column, stressing something fine about a Florida product, and laying the lightest stress possible on the source of the article, if sent to the papers of the Middle West would, in a short while, be read as eagerly and often as California stuff is being read now.

Paid advertising, and palpable "publicity," are all right in their place; but the stuff that gets home to the heart of the housekeeper is the little modest interesting article which she reads in her county paper or in her favorite woman's, or farm magazine.

We are talking of "a million dollars to advertise Florida," when ten thousand paid out for a good man and the right kind of equipment to send out short newspaper articles as pure news or as feature stuff, would reach far more than the other, and would bring back the results.

Florida will soon be "long" on production. It will then be in a bad fix unless it has created a "demand" which will take up that production. Given, the demand, and the production, the distribution will be the easiest of the three-sided problem to be solved.

AN UNWARRANTED STORY

Under big headlines spreading across its first page in its issue of the 21st, the Tallahassee Democrat published this sensational story:

"Oil gusher in Florida! Well producing 1,000 barrels daily completed at Oldsmar! There is no longer any doubt about oil being found in Florida. A well producing 1,000 barrels daily is now in operation at Oldsmar, Hillsborough county, according to a telegram received today by W. A. Mellae, secretary of agriculture, from W. E. Bolles at Oldsmar.

The telegram says, 'Oil well completed. Drillers say 1,000 barrels daily.' Mr. Mellae, elated over the good news, sent the following reply: 'Heartiest congratulations on your bringing in the first successful oil well in Florida. This will mean to this state added millions in dollars and many thousands of new people.'

The reaction from these sensational and unfounded publications is bound to be very damaging to this section of the state.

The statement that a well producing 1,000 barrels daily has been brought in at Oldsmar is not true. The Times would gladly herald the fact to the world did it have reliable information that oil had been discovered, but it has no such information, and will not lend itself to the perpetration of such injustice as the publication of false reports of this character may prove to thousands of people.

The publication of this report widely may be reasonably expected to start a stampede of people to this section from all parts of the country. It may be anticipated that men will make sacrifices in order to "get in on the ground floor." And when they discover that they have been deluded and duped, it may be expected that their resentment will be violent.

We have no purpose to discredit the operations of the men who are spending their money to discover if there is oil in paying quantities in Florida. We concede that if they are successful the benefits to the state will be tremendous.

We make no pretension to expert knowledge, nor have we any inside information. Indeed, we are hopeful that oil may be found, for, of course, we would share in the great prosperity that would inevitably result. But its readers may depend upon it that The Times will not knowingly delude them. It will use every resource at its command to get the truth, and will publish the news as soon as it breaks.

REALTORS WILL PRACTICE THE GOLDEN RULE

The Lakeland Realtors in this issue of the Star-Telegram have started something that will be a great boon to the prospective purchaser of Florida property or land.

They have agreed not only to protect each other but to see that any person who desires to locate in Florida will not be gouged and swamped down upon like a bunch of buzzards after a dead carcass.

The situation among the real estate men and so-called real estate dealers of this state has given Florida a black eye all over the country for the simple reason that the man without principle, who deals here one month and in another town the next, who peddles his office in his vest pocket or on the street corner, takes advantage of the visiting people from other states and actually steals their money without regard as to how and where they get it.

The legitimate business man in the real estate business must naturally bear the brunt of such tactics and many people have come to Florida with considerable money only to be fleeced out of it all in a short time by unprincipled so-called real estate dealers who promised everything under the sun necessary to get the money.

There have been those in the same class that have even stolen property or clouded the titles of property of other people, because these so-called real estate men know the defects of the state law and they have realized the crops and products from the property and then perhaps finally sold it through the simple method of having nerve and brazenness to go ahead and camp on the other man's land.

If the realtors of this state do nothing more than to prove to the visitors and prospective investors that they are going to fight for a square deal; that they intend to deal with the other fellow according to the golden rule, they will have accomplished more than their purpose and in the end will protect the general public and good name of this fair state as it should be protected.

There is no need to go out and misrepresent Florida. The facts will be better than you can find them in most states and no person will believe many of the fake stories that are circulated each year about conditions and the wonderful things which Florida can do if the real estate men will just make a fight for what they know is right and help get a decent and fair title system on the statutes so that all a fellow has will not be taken up in the payment of fees and taxes when a deal on property is made.

When the real estate men and others realize that they must treat the people that come to this state just the same as they would like to be treated themselves, then we will have reached a point where it will be a pleasure for them to deal with men

A BUSINESS EDITORIAL WRITTEN BY A MERCHANT

The story of the growth of a small town general store to a department house doing a half million dollar business a year in a small town was related at the Better Business Convention at St. Paul, Minn., recently by Fred P. Mann, owner of that business at Devils Lake, N. D.

Mr. Mann told of the complaining small town merchant who ascribes his failure to the mail order competition and to the chain stores, and then contrasted the experience he has had with stores in just as small or smaller locations by using the consistent and unique advertising.

Figures to show that there are few merchants in the smaller towns who know even the rudiments of merchandising were quoted by Mr. Mann.

"In 1918 mail order houses shipped into North Dakota seventy-eight carloads of mail order catalogues," he read. "That same year there was a total business of $90,000,000 done in the state in the retail lines. Of that tremendous sum, one-third, or $30,000,000, went to the mail order houses."

"It doesn't pay to bewail and bemoan the fact that the mail order house is taking away business. Advertise. That's what they do."

"If you can't write an advertisement, or think you can't, which is the same thing, take one of their catalogues and study the reading matter about the same merchandise for your ad."

"Put your business on a cash basis. Buy for cash, be a discounter, and sell for cash. The credit business all over the United States is bad. More than 50 per cent of the credits are poor. Just think of that. Can your business or any business stand for that drain?"

"When you are in business for yourself don't think that the public is going to walk into your store without being invited or that they are going to purchase unless they can see just what they want and know just how much it is going to cost them."

"Tell them what you have, give 'em its price and then ask them to patronize you. Do it in person, by advertising and by means of a satisfied customer."

"Hook up your local advertising with the national advertising. Use the benefit of the hundreds of thousands of dollars of advertising being invested by the manufacturer, wholesaler or jobber."

"My closing message is 'advertise.' Tell your people what you have, and tell them continually. It pays."—Reprinted from "The Fourth Estate."

If this merchant in a small town in North Dakota can build up a half million dollar business, the merchant who has the courage to use the same methods in Sanford can do a business of ten times that amount. Advertise! That is the key-word to success in merchandising profitably.

The Resolution You Make

What better New Year's resolution could you make than to save for a purpose? Set for yourself the task of getting further ahead in 1923 than ever before.

When you have done this, begin putting every dollar you can spare into the Savings Department of this bank.

It is within your grasp to make this the greatest year of your life. Thrift is the magic watch-word of the hour.

PEOPLES BANK OF SANFORD Sanford, Florida

A tree cracked to pieces or bent to the ground is the selfish man's way of bringing the holly home. It takes a few years to grow a holly to any size. It takes only a few moments with a hatchet to ruin and mutilate the beautiful result of years.

The Garden Club of Florida appeals to the men and women and children who go into the woods to cut branches sparingly, not mutilate or tear up by the roots, and to remember that if care is not taken it will mean the extermination of the tree in Florida.

Teach the children to protect the native plant life as they do in California, where a certain motorist was stopped by little children from cutting a branch from a peculiarly lovely wayside tree with the wonderful plea: "Please don't touch that tree; it belongs to our state, and what belongs to our state must be protected."

A sentiment like this bred in the mind of children means a more beautiful state spiritually as well as horticulturally. And so the Garden Club of Florida appeals to everyone to protect our trees, to cut sparingly, to preach to all that trees can be ruined by fools like me—but only God can make a tree!

The Garden Club of Florida has started out on a fine big piece of work. Florida's beauties are infinite and by no means developed to their fullest. The protection and preservation of our native growth is our first concern. The good women of our Garden Club and of Garden Clubs all over the state can do much to educate boys and girls, men and women, to be thoughtful of our God-given blessings. And where education cannot reach, laws should be made to.

Through the Christmas season is past, the Garden Club of Florida in this good work can help to spread the Christmas spirit of thought of others through all the year, thus saving and protecting the many natural beauties of our state.—Jacksonville Journal.

THE GARDEN CLUBS APPEAL

The reason just celebrated is one of thoughtfulness of others. But there is no reason why such thoughtfulness should be restricted to Christmas day. The week before Christmas or the fifty one weeks after Christmas might well be filled with a little more thoughtfulness and the fact, the week preceding Christmas the joy of the season was a bit dimmed for us by seeing the damage done by thoughtless hunters of holly. We spoke editorially of the pity of it and the lack of thought of others which it showed. We are glad to see that one of the youngest clubs in the city—the Garden Club of Florida—has taken the cudgel on behalf of the flowers, the plants and the trees of our state. One of its members, Mrs. Thomas P. Denham, appeals to the citizens of Jacksonville and of Florida to respect the beauties of our state and to protect them. She writes:—

"The Garden Club of Florida which has recently made its law to the state, appeals to the public to aid in its work for the protection of the holly trees and later of the dog wood. This is not a request peculiar to this club, but is unusual, because until now, there has been no organization through which the request could be made. In other states the request is almost a law, and one hesitates long and weighs the consequences well before felling a holly.

"God made the woods a thing of beauty with flowering and fruiting plants to brighten the revolving seasons. One can help himself beautifully and get leave no brutish trail—if only he uses the intelligence of unselfishness.

"Branches of holly cut, not pulled from the trees, is the intelligent way to bring Christmas into the house; committee might get busy. There are a few other instances where the expert should be trimmed.

Nothing hurts a city more than to get the reputation of taking advantage of people in the matter of privileges. It is to be hoped that some one will wake up to the situation.—Orlando Reporter-Star.

GET STRENGTH EASILY NOW

New Product Proves That "Run Down" and Dependent Folks Can Be Robust And Strong Again

People nowadays must have plenty of energy and endurance. It is only forced on them by the requirements of modern methods. Their ambition spurs them on to "keep in the swim," but many can't ordinarily survive the nerve-racking pace of modern times, because they have disregarded the laws of God and humanity until they have become victims of nervousness, easy exhaustion, lack of energy and strength. That's the reason that when they realize the condition they are in, one by one they join the multitude which with almost one mind is searching for revived energy, strength, health and endurance.

Thousands of these folks are learning every day that the one reliable way to revive their lost health and run down system is to use the phenomenal new treatment known as RE-CU-MA. It puts those vitamins into their blood which nourish, without taste, starving nerves and flabby muscles. Consequently they soon almost immediately feel stronger, have greater endurance, look brighter and show the change is taking place in their body by their cheerfulness.

RE-CU-MA is sold in Sanford by the Union Pharmacy and the leading druggists in every city.—Adv.

Musical Notes

Do you know that the Woman's Club of Sanford possesses one of the finest concert grand pianos to be found in the state; that some of the world's greatest artists have played upon, or had their accompaniments played upon it? The company in Atlanta from which it was purchased had kept it especially for concert work of celebrities visiting that city. Melodist found it worthy of her autograph. It was through the efforts of the Music department that this piano was secured for the Woman's club.

Mrs. Seth Woodruff and Mrs. Tachach will use this piano for the accompaniments and incidental music to "Madame Butterfly" which will be given for the benefit of the music department, January 5 in the Woman's Club house, at 8 p. m.

"Madame Butterfly" is a dramatic reading from the story "Madame Butterfly" and will be presented in costume by Mrs. Wren McGuin. The beautiful soprano arias from the opera will be sung by Lucille Aspinwall Takach and her accompaniments will be played by Mrs. Seth Woodruff. In this attraction an evening of enjoyment is assured to those of literary taste as well as to the music lovers.

Will the "home town" "trade at home" and greet the "home artists" with a "full house"? If it does the Music department will have received the necessary aid to carry out this season's program, helping to develop the musical side of Sanford. Tickets for adults will be $1.00.

THE HOME MERCHANT VS. MAIL ORDER HOUSE

People are prone to say "Why I wouldn't think of purchasing it locally for I can buy cheaper if I order by mail. There is exactly the same thing priced in So and So's catalog at a lower price." Then comes the sometimes endless circle of cash remittance, the receipt of inferior merchandise, or of an article that does not fit or is not satisfactory necessitating expense in returning, and finally, to say nothing of an angry letter and trouble in letter writing.

A state exchange recently carried the following story which illustrates, in a very clear fashion on the advantages to be found in buying at home and it will probably "strike home" to many local people, who have at one time or another made the mistake of long distance purchasing.

Mr. Mail Order Customer the other day wanted a saw. He needed it very much, and went to the Hardware Store to see what he could find. Mr. Merchant, of course, gladly gave him his time showing his stock. Mr. Mail Order Customer found the saw he wanted for $2.25. "I won't pay that" said he; "I can get that same saw from a mail order house for $1.75."

"Very well," said Mr. Merchant. "I will sell it to you at the same price in the same way that they sell it to you." Mr. Customer looked happy. He surely thought he had gotten one over right," he said, "I'll take it."

Mr. Merchant asked him for $1.75. "Isn't my credit good at this store?" queried Mr. Mail Order Customer. "Certainly," answered the Merchant, "but I am selling you this saw just like the mail order houses sell it to you."

So he gave Mr. Merchant $1.75. "Now," said Mr. Merchant, "I want three cents for a stamped envelope, and three cents for a money order." He looked it up in the parcel post book and found it would cost 45 cents for postage to deliver it here. By this time Mr. Mail Order Customer looked pretty glum, but he handed that over, too.

"Now give me my saw," said Mr. Customer, "before you hold me up for more money."

"Oh, no," said Mr. Merchant, "you will have to wait ten days. Then if I have this saw in stock, I will give it to you. If not, I will give you your money back, less the six cents for postage and money order. You don't get the saw the minute you drop the letter in the postoffice. You must wait a week or ten days. You see, I am selling this merchandise like the mail order houses sell it."

Next day he came back to the store and asked Mr. Merchant if he would sell him that saw for $2.25 as he would save money and time buying at home. —St. Augustine Record.

List Your Rooms With Secretary Pearman of Chamber of Commerce

They Have Many Calls for Them and Will Rent all You Have

In order to provide accommodations for the large number of tourists who have advised their intentions of spending the winter in Sanford, the Chamber of Commerce is again urging the people of Sanford to list all available light housekeeping furnished and unfurnished rooms with that organization. Light housekeeping rooms have been in greater demand to date, although from now on it can be expected that furnished rooms will also be needed to provide for the tourists visiting Sanford. The local Chamber is leaving nothing undone to locate these visitors, but it is necessary that the cooperation be secured of all who have or can arrange accommodations.

The wide publicity that has been given Sanford throughout the country has resulted in people expressing their intention of looking over the city with the possibility of making investments. Local hotels at this time of the year are taxed to their utmost, leaving no other alternative but that of securing rooms in private homes. A number of inquiries received have been for furnished bungalows, and the Chamber of Commerce believes that it will be possible to interest sufficient outside capital to construct a bungalow colony to provide for next season's demand. This year, however, it will be necessary for our local people to assist the Chamber of Commerce in providing accommodations for the tourists. Those having rooms of any description available are requested to phone 51, the secretary's office, and give full particulars regarding them. It is not at all unusual this season to have rooms listed in the morning and rented in the afternoon of the same day.

Beira, in Portuguese West Africa, is built on sand so deep that horses cannot travel on it.

Commodore Mills and Family Here on Palatial Yacht

President of Detroit Stove Works Likes Sanford and the River

Commodore M. B. Mills, together with his wife and daughter, were visitors to Sanford yesterday on their palatial yacht Cynthia. Capt. B. Payton, a guest of Commodore Mills, was also in the party.

Commodore Mills is the president of the Detroit Stove Works, one of the largest of its kind in the United States, and would have made a more extended visit if he had not previously planned to spend New Years at the guests of friends in Jacksonville.

The Cynthia draws seven and one-half feet of water and it was not believed she would be able to navigate the shallows in the river. This fear necessitated them proceeding rather slowly, which consumed a portion of the time Commodore Mills intended spending in Sanford. It is the intention of the Commodore to return again next year. He stated, after a short auto trip taken about the city, which was made late yesterday afternoon, that Sanford had made wonderful progress since his previous visit in 1916. He was advised of improvements to be made on the Lake Front and expressed his belief that it would do more than anything else to attract yacht owners to this section during the winter months.

AMOS SEEKING TO FORCE OIL FIRMS TO PAY PENALTIES

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 29.—Ernest Amos, comptroller, this morning announced that he had delivered to the sheriff of Leon county, writs against the Standard Oil company, the Gulf Refining company and the Texas company, for the enforcement of the penalties assessed by the comptroller against those companies for failure to report and promptly pay over the amount of the fine during the interim between the two supreme court decisions relative to the gasoline tax law, that is to say, between April 11 and August 18.

The amounts of the penalties, payment of which is sought by the writ to be enforced, are as follows: Standard Oil Co., $9,766.01; Gulf Refining Co., $10,092.07; Texas Company, $4,631.10. The statute provides for the enforcement of the payment of the penalties accruing and assessed under the law, by levy under the writs issued by the State Comptroller. Mr. Amos announces that a number of the smaller companies have deposited with him sums to cover their penalties to abide the outcome of the proceedings against the larger companies.

OCCUPATION LICENSE MUST BE PAID

Notice is hereby given that all persons required to have State and County Occupation License, and not having procured the same on or before January 8th, 1923, will be subject to prosecution without further notice. alties accruing and assessed under the law, by levy under the writs issued by the State Comptroller. Mr. Amos announces that a number of the smaller companies have deposited with him sums to cover their penalties to abide the outcome of the proceedings against the larger companies.

The comptroller declares that during the interim above referred to, he notified the companies regularly of the amount of tax due and that penalties were being levied. After the last decision of the court, the tax was paid by the companies with the understanding that the right to collect the penalties could be contested. In other words, the comptroller in receiving the amount of taxes due, did not waive the penalties and he is now proceeding to the enforcement of the penalties assessed.

The sheriff today executed the writs by levying upon the local plants of the Standard Oil, Gulf and Texas companies. It is said that the companies will furnish bond to release from the attachment and will fight the enforcement of collection of the penalties, denying all liability therefor.

SHORT FLASHES

The first national radio compass station on the Great Lakes was recently installed. Other stations will shortly be in service when the "icevoyard" of the lakes will have lost its terrors.

It is claimed that John Hayes Hammond, Jr., and Dr. E. L. Chaffee have invented an appliance that insures secrecy in wireless. The system is based on principle of producing characteristic waves to which only especially equipped receivers are responsive.

Secretary Hoover's force of "other cops" may take the form of special government detecting stations where aerial compasses could be arranged so as to detect the direction from which interruptions come. By a series of relays, the government station nearest the violating amateur could be notified and the source of trouble stopped.

Now the fans in England are having a hard time with their air. According to a report from England there are only 8000 authorized amateur operators in the United Kingdom. The London Daily Mail states that the reason for the air's tardy growth is the fact that "humping and senseless restrictions in this country prevent wireless amateurs from getting practice. The old fogies of the army and navy air forces are afraid of the amateurs and use their influence in having the postoffice authorities impose impossible and vexatious restrictions that limit the field."

HAIL—AND FAREWELL

Well, it's all over! The dear old Christmas tree That had such a luxuriant look, With its tinsel decorations, And tiny little electric bulbs Scintillating all over it, Has been stripped of its gifts And all its adornments And tossed out the back door, To be later labored upon And cut to fuel the proper size To heat the fireplace. The left-over turkey Is in the soup today, Erlong with the wilted celery And the unpicked bones; And tomorrow we'll all eat The remnants from the soup Boiled down exceedingly thick. And Saturday the market man Will get his pay for it— If we can make the raise. Grandma has her four handkerchiefs, A crocheted collar, Two Christmas cards, some candy, A pair of bedroom slippers, And a darling outfit So she can keep fairly busy For the balance of the family. Mother has a salt-and-pepper That will be common property, And a vanity box, all filled That daughter can occasionally use (Daughter figured on that When she bought the contraption), And an electric toaster That the family will use. Sister has a silk parasol, And some gray sport hose, And a new-fangled weegee board, Some handkerchiefs, of course, And a lot of other things That mother knew she needed, But that nobody ever sees Unless the automobile skids And she is thrown out. And brother gets his goods, Some of which he immediately Gives to his best sweetie, And the balance he'll eat, And drink, and wear, himself. Baby gets a doll that cries, And a train of little cars, A book, a performing monkey, Some candy, and the colic. Oh, yes, there's father, too; He had a box of cigars He dabsent smoke in public, A belt with a silver buckle, And a necktie that some girl Gave to his son last Christmas. The remainder of dad's surprises Will reach him next Monday

If the merchants get busy And make out their statements. It is a gay little life— And it has been declared The first forty or fifty years Are by far the hardest. Still, nobody would suggest The abolishment of Christmas Even were it possible; We make all kinds of fun of it And we roast the idea Of its annual appearance And declare that never again,

Nossir, never, never, never, Will we spend one cent Or donate one solitary gift. And the very next Christmas We go broke on it again. Ain't that the truth? Dad will emphatically declare That he would much prefer A nice, rich soup bone To a well cooked turkey, But when Christmas is at hand He buys no 20-cent soup bone, But orders a fine ripe turkey,

Though it pulls his purse For sixty cents the pound, And that weight includes The legs, head, feet, And all internal mechanism. You well know he likes turkey! But it's now all over. Everybody declares that it was "The nicest Christmas ever!" So it really must have been. And I'm joining with the rest. Yassum. I thank you.—Thorn in Palatka News.

Blazing Footsteps Mark Wild Flight of Boy

Chickasha, Okla.—Alvin Roberts, fourteen years old, put a tube of phosphorus in his pocket and is near death as a result. His clothing suddenly ignited and soon he was enveloped in flames. He rushed to a blacksmith shop, where he was sootied in a tub of water, but the fire started again when he was lifted out. The shop also caught fire. Rescuers' hands were sooted as they stripped the child's garments from him, but his bare body blazed. Papers and blankets were extinguished before the fire was finally quenched. Where the boy ran in his flight from pain, glowing foot prints were left, where burning phosphorus dripped down his legs. He found the tube in an alley.

MOTHER HEN TOO MUCH FOR CROW

Black Marauder Put to Flight When He Attempts to Carry Off One of Brood.

Lewis, Del.—A mother hen belonging to George Walls, a farmer living along the Georgetown-Relohoth Beach, has proved that the chicken is a better fighter than old Jim Crow. A day or two ago a hen of the common barnyard variety, while piloting thirteen fluffy youngsters through a wheat stubble, saw a big black crow poise on one of her little ones and attempt to fly off with it for supper. The mother then saw the peril of her progeny and leaped in the air, reaching the black kidnaper and beholding him so severely that he was obliged to drop the chick and fly into a high altitude for safety. Several automobilists who witnessed the battle declare the hen never showed the white feather for a moment nor hesitated in attacking the greatest foe of the chicken family.

They were, however, amazed at the ferocity with which she countered the black marauder, and the crow himself was evidently taken by surprise at the violence of his assailant, for he winged away at top flight to the nearest woods, leaving two or three meek feathers behind as testimony of the prowess of the mother hen. In such encounters the crow is considered almost equal to two barnyard

PLAYMATE MAY HAVE SHOT GIRL.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Brooklyn's keenest detectives, puzzled for a solution of the mysterious shooting of Theresa McCarthy, 20-year-old school girl in her home Tuesday, took note of the slightly upward course of the .22 calibre bullet that pierced the heart as disclosed by the autopsy and today inclined more to the theory that another child of similar age was responsible for the tragedy.

The belief was that the bullet's course would have been downward, rather than upward had an older or taller person fired the shot and in this belief search was made for one of Theresa's playmates, frightened into silence by the tragic consequences.

The police, working on various angles on hopes of the varied clue, spread a dragnet over the city and have in custody James P. Grace, of Brooklyn, 25, a collector, on complaint of the father of a six-year-old Bronx girl, who was attacked by a man in the hallway of her home December 4. Thus far, however, nothing has been established, the police said, to connect this man with the Brooklyn mystery.

The slain child's mother has been unable to aid the police by identifying any person whom she thinks may have been entering the house to see Theresa while she was alone in the day time.

"There were very few girls that Theresa ever played with in the house," she said, "and never were any boys there. Occasionally, on very cold

The pupils of St. Cecilia's school nearby also have been asked to help the detectives, but none could recall a child having one.

Towns and cities are very convenient institutions. It's mighty nice to be able to go a few miles and get groceries, medicine, lumber, clothing and many other commodities. However, if everybody bought outside the county—from the mail-order houses—there would be no towns like ours. There would be no businesses like ours to help pay taxes. The mail-order man contributes nothing to the upkeep of our town and county. He is not prepared to render services comparable to those we give you. Generally, we can meet and beat his prices. ## ROTARY CLUB BOWLERS WIN OVER COUNTER JUMPERS SPEEDY QUINTET

Ten Pins Difference in Last Two Games but First Darts Things on Ice. Rates Now in Fourth Place

The Rotary club and the Merchants have been tied for fourth and fifth place from the very start but the game last night between these two teams resulted in a victory for the Rotas by a small majority of 109 pins and placed them in fourth place one full game ahead of the Merchants.

The game itself was very close and exciting and the final outcome in doubt until the last frame. The opening game went to the Rotas by 99 pins, and although the Merchants picked up and showed more fight in the next two games, they were unable to overcome the lead of the first game. There were but ten pins difference in the last two games.

PAIR GOOD BASKET BALL GAMES AT PARISH HOUSE COURT TONIGHT

Both Sanford Teams Ready and Girls Game Starts First

Both Sanford Teams Ready, and the Girls Game Starts First. Cameron To Substitute for Carraway

The boys and girls making up the two Sanford teams that will play the Epiphany game tonight at Sanford are all in readiness and their prospects look bright for a pair of wins. The girls team is weakened slightly through the absence of one of their best guards, Miss Carraway being out of the city. Miss Cameron, a fast little player, will take her place and promise to show Coach Tillis that Miss Carraway's absence will not be felt.

Coach Wilkinson has his team all set, using the same lineup as last week, and both he and Capt. Bill Mays are confident that they will win their game by a large majority.

The first game will start at 7:30 sharp, the girls playing their first half and then giving way to the boys who will play their first half, and then the girls will follow with their second half allowing the boys a breathing spell.

These two games should be well worth the small admission price charged and from the records these two teams have been making it is predicted that an overflow crowd will be on hand.

Both the girls and boys teams will go to Jacksonville next week to play the first real hard game of the season and the speed and form shown in tonight's games should have some bearing on their chances for next week.

Turn out tonight and look them over.

CELERY SEED

Notes won a game. What's the matter?

And they moved a notch above the Merchants.

Biddy Burdick rolled a good game but waited until too late to get started.

Double header basketball game tonight at the Parish House court.

And everybody and his brother is not only invited but urged to be on hand.

Otis George is in town. Otis is the new professional at the Golf links.

If you want to take some lessons that will help in breaking that club record, see Mr. George.

'Tis rumored that the publication of the names of the football players that are entitled to letters for this last season will be made in a few days.

Which again reminds us that the boys haven't been given those little emblems in the way of "football fobs" They should have them.

Charley Henry was given a nice photograph of himself bowling. The Herald will have a cut made of it and run it in the comic supplement next week.

HOWE HOPES FOR CAPTURE OF BERGDOLL

With the telegraphic announcement that Grover Cleveland Bergdoll of Philadelphia, the noted slacker, had left Germany on a merchant vessel and was en route to a Gulf port, every ship and its crew, landing at these ports, is under close scrutiny.

The definite announcement by the German authorities that Bergdoll had sailed coming close on the report that he was aboard the steamship Jupiter whose port of call is said to be Pensacola has renewed interest in the case in Florida and throughout America.

There are perhaps few, if any, among the thousands of searchers for Bergdoll who would gain more pleasure in Bergdolls' apprehension than Leon Howe, United States department of justice agent in charge of the Tampa office.

Bergdoll's arrest is his ambition, because it was he who arrested Bergdoll on January 7, 1920, at the home in Philadelphia after a sensational gun fight with the slacker's mother, Mrs. Emma Bergdoll. The joy of Mr. Howe's know internationally famous capture was short lived, however, because after the slacker had been sentenced to prison he escaped and made his way to Germany.

Now Mr. Howe patiently hopes he can block Bergdoll and put him behind the prison bars again. Sitting in his office in the federal building on Thursday, Mr. Howe retold the story of Bergdoll's capture in Philadelphia.

Early in January, 1920, a large number of special agents of the department of justice had been collected in Philadelphia to round up a Bolshevik crowd. Then came the tip that Bergdoll was at his fine home at Fifty second street and Wynwood avenue.

Following this tip, 30 agents on January 7, were assigned to watch places where Bergdoll might be in hiding. To Howe, a policeman and two agents fell the lot to watch the Bergdoll home.

Mr. Howe said that about 5 o'clock on that morning his party went to the Bergdoll mansion. They were armed with search warrants, but even then were refused admittance. Finally he said they decided to break into the home, he and the policeman going to the back door while the other agents went to the front door.

Entrance was gained simultaneously through both doors. When he and the policeman reached the kitchen they were met by Bergdoll's mother, a 250 pound woman armed with a revolver. A fight followed which only ended when all the officers managed to subdue the maddened woman.

Mr. Howe escaped death during the fight by getting his thumb under the trigger of the woman's gun and thus prevented her from firing it.

A search of the house followed and Bergdoll was found hiding under a window seat in a alcove. Bergdoll had a young arsenal in his hiding place and in another room of the home another arsenal was found. Mr. Howe said, including many guns much ammunition and many Maxim silencers.

Bergdoll was eventually tried, convicted and sentenced to prison. It was while under armed guard on Governor's Island that he escaped. Since the thousands of government officials, ex-service men and patriotic Americans have been patiently awaiting the time when fate would turn the scales and make it possible to apprehend "America's biggest slacker." —Tampa Times.

ST. PETERSBURG PLACED SIGNS ON HIGHWAYS

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 28.—The St. Petersburg Chamber of Commerce in 1921 posted 1,000 signs on trunk highways south of Washington, D. C., and reports on the work this year show an additional 4,000 posted on highways in the north. The only expense to the organization was the manufacture and painting of the signs. Local persons who toured the country in automobiles placed them.

FIREMEN HURT IN BLAZE IN BUILDING AT LOUISVILLE, KY.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 28.—Two firemen were seriously injured and more than a score overcome by smoke and gas when a four story office building in the business district was gutted by fire early last evening. Investigation when the fire had been gotten under control failed to verify the early report that five men had been trapped on the roof of the building.

Explosions of acid in the plant of an engraving company on the fourth floor generated quantities of gas which added to the difficulty of fighting the flames.
