Big Sanford Cocaine Bust Lands 2 Miamians In Jail

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Two Miami men are being held today after federal and local law-enforcement officers confiscated 2.2 pounds — about $3.5 million worth — of cocaine in a drug deal at Sanford's Lake Monroe harbor on Tuesday night.

Jaci Alvarez-Cabillos, 36, and Carlos Herman Montoya-Robledo, 58, were arrested at about 9:30 p.m. on the lakefront, Sanford police said. Federal charges of delivery of cocaine, possession of cocaine with the intent to distribute and conspiracy to distribute cocaine have been filed against the two men, police added.

"They are being held in the Orange County jail pending an appearance before the federal magistrate this afternoon," said Terry Fernandez, DEA agent-in-charge, Orlando. "Their bond, if any, will be determined at the hearing."

"This drug deal and subsequent arrests equals a similar situation last Oct. 12," said Sgt. Herb Shea, assistant to Sanford Police Chief Ben Butler. "At that time we also confiscated about a kilo, or 2.2 pounds of cocaine, on the lakefront. To my knowledge, these two cases are the biggest for the Sanford and Seminole County areas."

"We assisted and cooperated with the state Drug Enforcement Administration in Orlando in the arrests," Shea said. "It's the DEA's case. We simply assisted them upon their request."

According to Fernandez, the arrests of the Miami men is the result of a month-long investigation into drug-related dealings.

"The cocaine, which appears to be excellent stuff, was flown into the United States from South America," Fernandez said. "It came into Miami, and our agents, learning of the situation, set up the drug deal in Sanford."

Fernandez said his agents met with the two men at the Sanford lakefront and offered to pay $65,000 for the cocaine.

"We didn't even have to swap the cash for the drug," Fernandez said. "When we saw the cocaine, we arrested them. It sounds very easy and it went down just that way. It was easy."

Fernandez added the two men were unarmed and no one was injured in the deal.

Fernandez said a vehicle, driven by the two drug suspects was also confiscated in the arrests but that the car will probably be released.

"It turns out that there is so much money owed on the vehicle that it wouldn't serve any use for us to keep it and have to pay for it," he said.

Fernandez said he did not feel the Sanford drug arrests are connected with Tuesday night's confiscation of a massive 3,748 pounds of cocaine in Miami.

"I don't see this as related to the big bust in Miami on Tuesday or other similar arrests," Fernandez said. "And as far as we know now, there are no other arrests pending in this case."

"I feel we're going to be seeing a lot more incidences of drug dealing in Central Florida in the near future," Fernandez said. "There's a lot of heat being put on drug dealings in Miami and southern Florida now, and that's causing a lot of the bad guys to move elsewhere, especially into this area."

3,748 Pounds Of Cocaine Seized In Miami

MIAMI (UPI) — The cardboard boxes in the airport warehouse were labeled "blue jeans," but a Customs inspector had been tipped they might contain something else. They did — 3,748 pounds of cocaine from Colombia.

"When he opened the (first) box, all he saw was white," said a federal officer. It was the largest cache of smuggled cocaine ever confiscated by U.S. authorities.

One pound of pure cocaine, after being cut, is sold (illegally at retail) on the street for $250,000 a pound, according to federal authorities. At that rate, Tuesday's seizure would be worth about $925 million.

Previous record seizures amounted to 825 pounds confiscated by the Drug Enforcement Administration in Miami last year and 614 pounds seized by U.S. Customs from a private plane chased to Tennessee in March 1980.

"There's been nothing of this magnitude ever confiscated before," said one federal law enforcement spokesman.

The first news of the seizure came late Tuesday in a brief announcement from the Washington office of Vice President George Bush, head of the newly formed President's South Florida Task Force to combat drug smuggling and crime.

A Bush spokesman said the cocaine was contained in 21 boxes intermingled with clothing that had arrived on a Boeing 707 air cargo plane from Colombia.

DEA spokesman Robert Feldkamp in Washington later disclosed other details of the seizure.

"It was a Customs seizure at Miami International Airport, based on information supplied from DEA," Feldkamp said. "The investigation, which has been underway for a couple of weeks, is still going on."

"The cocaine was in cardboard boxes, marked as blue jeans. We had reason to believe it was not blue jeans," he said. "The gross weight was 3,748 pounds, including the cardboard."

"The seizure was based on an arrest at the Miami airport two weeks ago — information was developed at that time. It was (on) a flight from Bogota, Colombia, on Tampa-Colombia Airlines."

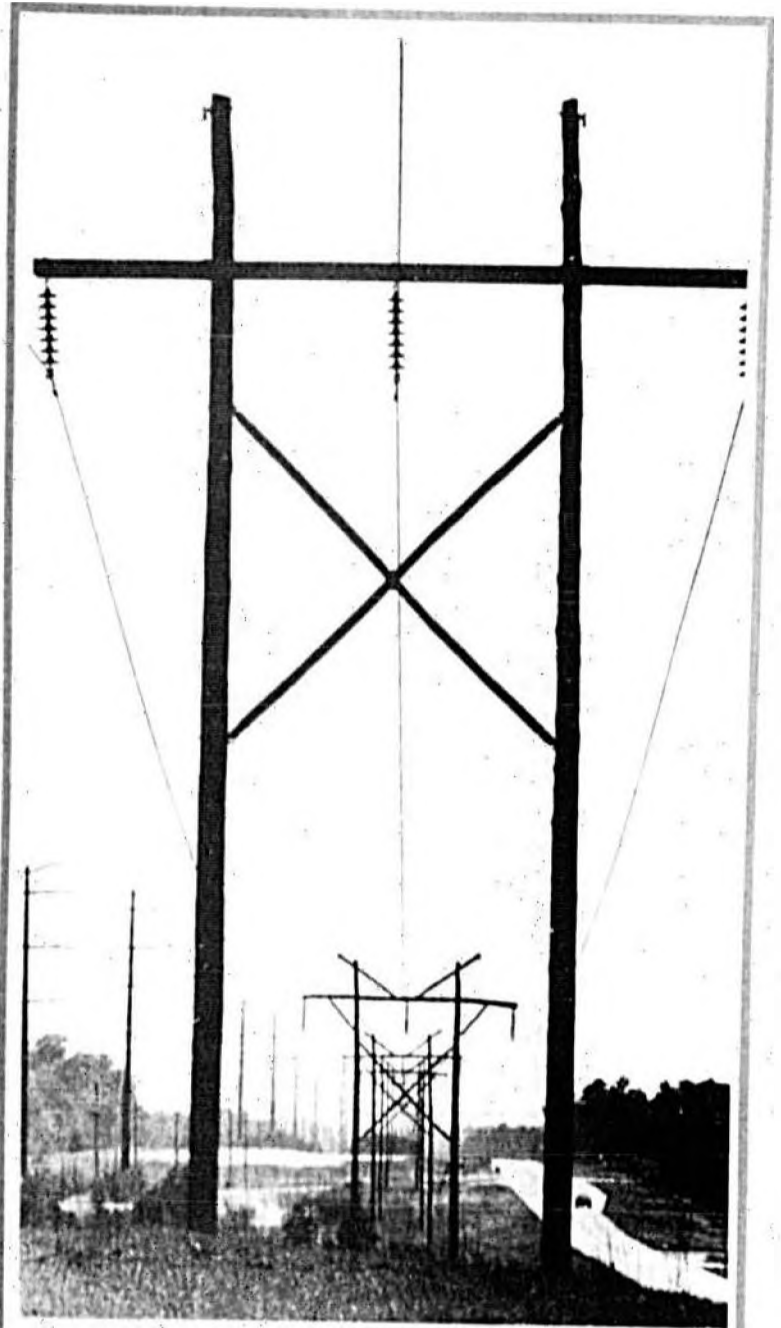

No arrests were made Tuesday. Customs inspectors checking the shipment against the plane's manifest said they felt they were being watched when they made the discovery. For that reason, they felt it would be futile to set up an undercover surveillance to see if anyone came to claim the shipment.

The cargo warehouse containing the boxes was sealed and those in the vicinity detained for questioning by DEA officials.

Bush praised the work of Customs and DEA officials in the case.

"This is encouraging news and is an indication of the success that can be achieved when various government agencies work together cooperatively," Bush said. "The Task Force is off to a good start and I am hopeful that future progress, while not as spectacular perhaps as this announcement, will continue for the benefit of the citizens of the area."

PUTTING IT IN PERSPECTIVE

Tall power lines stretch as far as the eye can see along Hinehart Road in Lake Mary, bringing essential electric service to thousands of Seminole County homes and businesses. The lines run parallel to Hinehart Road for about a mile and a half from Lake Mary Boulevard to State Road 46, near Interstate 4.

Sales Tax

Hattaway Compromises, Votes For It; Seminole Gets Goodies

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The name of the game in Tallahassee is "compromise," and State Rep. Robert Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs, compromised his way in the state capitol Tuesday.

He voted for the bill calling for a one-cent increase in the state sales tax, but he got two things for the county in return.

"I submitted an amendment to the sales-tax bill mandating property-tax relief," Hattaway said. But he dropped his amendment co-sponsored with 10 other Democrats after receiving two items he felt the county needed. They are:

— Restoration of $70,000 in the House appropriations bill designated for the clean-up of the chemical waste storage facility in Sanford, off Airport Boulevard and Jewett Lane.

— Inclusion in the appropriations bill of language assuring that the State Crime Lab, currently located at the Sanford Airport, will not be moved to Orange County. Instead, a new facility will be constructed on Lake Mary city-owned property off Rinehart Road.

When Hattaway and the 10 Democrats dropped the amendment, language was included in the sales-tax bill requiring county and city governments to use the receipts from one-half cent of the sales-tax increase for property-tax relief. If a county or city wishes to use the funds for other purposes, it must advertise the purpose and hold public hearings.

Hattaway said the other half of the one-cent increase is to be used for state projects.

He said that if the county uses the revenues it receives for property-tax relief, the County Commission can cut property taxes by $1.44 per $1,000 assessed value of real property. He said the increase will give Seminole County $1.39 million, while the seven cities will split up $515,000, according to population.

"So it's up to the cities and the county what it wants to do with the money," Hattaway said.

"It's a world of compromise in Tallahassee," he said, adding that the people of Seminole will make out well under the bill. And both "Sanford and Lake Mary should be pleased," with the chemical cleanup money and the Crime Lab," he said.

House members voted 80-35 late Tuesday to hike the tax to bail out cities and counties and increase funding to fight crime. Most of the opposition came from Republicans.

State Rep. Bobby Brantley, R-Longwood, was among those who voted against the increase.

Next up for consideration is a $10.1 billion budget that would include additional funding for criminal justice programs, prison expansion, teacher and state worker pay hikes, state universities and road resurfacing.

The House Appropriations Committee developed its spending plan based on the sales-tax increase.

Senate leaders had been opposing any tax hike, but on Tuesday Appropriations Chairman Jack Gordon, D-Miami Beach, said there was a growing consensus in the Senate favoring the increase.

The House adopted an amendment to its tax bill (HB 1134) earmarking half the revenue from the penny increase to property tax relief. However, county and city elected officials could use some or all of the money for other purposes after giving notice and holding public hearings.

"They can do anything with this money they want to if they are willing to stand the heat," House Finance and Tax Chairman Steve Pajcic, D-Jacksonville, said.

The tax increase would generate an estimated $772 million annually, to be divided equally between the state and local governments.

Abscam? No, Just Donutscam

Hey, Sheik, I Want A Doughnut

By JANE CASSEI BERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Crooms High School ninth graders in Evelyn Bales' civics class love doughnuts, and were willing to pay top dollar to get one today from Achmed Muhammad Muli, representing "DOPEC," a cartel which they were told has cornered the world doughnut market. DOPEC stands for DO-not Producing and Exporting Countries.

The students were taken in by the Donutscam, perpetrated by Flagship Bank of Seminole's Irene Brown, masquerading as a Mideastern sheik with a limited supply of doughnuts to sell. The students bid against each other with wooden nickels, buying up the scarce supply, but then the "sheik" brought out more doughnuts. These, too, were sold, but some students were priced out of the market.

Some enterprising students went into competition with DOPEC, undercutting prices and trading among themselves.

Memories of the long lines and fights that occurred at gas stations and the escalation of oil prices related the dealing for doughnuts to OPEC and the world supply of oil.

But in the end, doughnuts were given to students who were unable to buy any and did not have any "money," making these students happy but bringing indignant cries from those who had paid high prices for their doughnuts.

But, Mrs. Brown explained, she gave away the doughnuts to show that "this is life, and life is not fair."

This was only one of the lessons learned by the students through their active involvement in a program that is also fun and interesting, called Project Business. Project Business is a major division of Junior Achievement in every ninth-grade civics class in Seminole County through the cooperation of area businessmen.

Project Business is an activity-oriented program, said Betty Hoffe, its coordinator. Each class goes on a field trip to a local business.

Mrs. Brown plans to take her group to visit an area yacht-manufacturing company and to a bank and to a bank to show how an entrepreneur with an idea can get the financing to get his business started.

Mrs. Brown gives the students wooden nickels during the course for correct answers and good class participation to demonstrate incentives and the profit motive. They are used for activities such as buying the doughnuts, and at the end of the nine weeks they will use the accumulated coins to bid on a $30 cash award.

Fight On Power Line Going To Tallahassee

Seminole County residents fighting the proposed location by Florida Power & Light Co. (FPL) of a high-voltage power line through the Geneva area will take their battle to Gov. Bob Graham and his Cabinet on Thursday.

The Cabinet later this year will make the decision on where the power company will be allowed to put the line, designed to take less expensive power from Georgia to southern Florida.

The line is part of a $450 million system FPL is building to Martin County on Florida's east coast. The system is designed to bring less expensive power from coal-burning plants in Georgia to a grid connected to the southern part of the state.

A group of Seminole officials, including County Administrator Roger Nelawender and County Attorney Nikki Clayton, along with Geneva residents, were unsuccessful in appealing their cause at a January hearing before a state officer in Daytona Beach on the matter.

Nelawender said before the hearing that an argument against Seminole's position opposing the power-line location in the county is a 115-kilovolt line already located in the mile-wide corridor in Geneva designated for the new 500-kilovolt line.

Margaret Cammack, president of Owners of Seminole, the Geneva-based group fighting the location of the high-voltage line, says the line should be moved to one of two locations in Brevard County.

Brevard representatives testified at the hearing that the line should stay in Seminole. Mrs. Cammack said the line should either be routed along Interstate 95 or farther west in Brevard.

The proposed route in Seminole affects many owners of relatively small tracts of land, Geneva residents have said, and should be moved to a location where there are large undeveloped tracts.

Brevard representatives have said the I-95 corridor is an area of prime commercial development. The other location, farther west, stops at State Road 50 and would pass through state wildlife preserves, reportedly homes of the dusky seaside sparrow, an endangered species.

State Rep. Robert Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs, arranged the Thursday meeting of the Seminole group and representatives of the Cabinet and the governor. —DONNA ESTES

IN BRIEF

Embattled Reagan Taking 'His Case To The Country'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan is considering giving a nationwide television address to clear up "misconceptions" on his plans for increased defense spending and his "safety net" for the poor.

White House communications director David Gergen said Tuesday that Reagan, at the urging of some Republican leaders, "has been thinking for some time about taking his case to the country."

Houston Gets New Chief

HOUSTON (UPI) — Lee P. Brown, who headed the investigation of the Atlanta child slayings, appears unruffled by rank-and-file resistance to his appointment as the first black chief of a police department with a history of brutality and poor relations with minorities.

His appointment Tuesday breaks a long-standing tradition of promoting from within the overwhelmingly white male ranks of its 3,130 officers. Only 256 officers are black.

Stealing To Stay Warm

CHICAGO (UPI) — An 11-year-old boy who saw his mother worrying over letters threatening to turn off the heat at the family's shabby apartment took a hammer and tried to steal the $1,000 she needed.

"He told us he had to get $1,000 to his mother today or they would turn off their heat," Patrolman Edward C. Beale said Tuesday. The boy was caught trying to smash through the steel door of a check-cashing center.

Von Bulow Trial Nears End

The seven-man, five-woman jury sworn in Feb. 1 was set to listen to two hours of final argument from each lawyer today. On Thursday, the jury will retire to its 13-by-24-foot cubicle and go into the final act — deliberation and a verdict.

Controlling The Landlords

NASHVILLE, TENN. (UPI) — Evicted tenants may wind up living in a "tent city" or roaming the streets of Knoxville unless something is done about landlords who throw residents out to make room for World's Fair tourists, a law-maker says.

State Rep. Bill Owen, D-Knoxville, said Tuesday he wants to back a bill to make landlords pay evicted tenants the cost of finding a new place to live.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Up to a half foot of snow in Pennsylvania and record shattering lows in the Northern Plains made March a dead ringer for January in the Northeast and Midwest today. A warm front collided with the cold in Colorado sparking 95 mph winds. At least 26 deaths have been blamed on the latest onslaught of snow, rain, ice and sub-zero temperatures since the weekend. Winter, which returned with a fury last week, has less than two weeks before its official demise. Snow covered the Great Lakes from Indiana to north central Pennsylvania and western New York, but a warming trend crept across the Rockies and the western edge of the Plains creating ferocious winds through the Colorado foothills. Northeast of Fort Collins, Colo., Buckhorn Mountain had westerly winds gusting to 95 mph, the National Weather Service said. Winds to 80 mph blasted Boulder and the area west of Denver. A 3-inch blanket of snow layered Du Bois, Pa. Tuesday from the storm that centered over southwest Ontario. About two inches layered streets in the upstate New York cities of Buffalo and Albany, settling off a rash of traffic accidents. Four inches fell on Detroit in six hours Monday night, bringing the city's total snow accumulation to 63.2 inches in the worst winter in 39 years. An average 39 inches of snow falls during a normal Detroit winter. Bitter cold zeroed in on the Plains and the East Coast, once again hitting Minnesota the hardest. Duluth, Minn., broke a cold record Tuesday for the third day this month with a reading of minus 19.

Probe Continues Into Rape Of Girl, 14

By TENI YARBOROUGH
 Herald Staff Writer

An investigation is continuing today into the Saturday rape of a 14-year-old Casselberry girl as she walked south along Helen Street near State Road 434 in Casselberry.

The girl was reportedly raped by an unidentified man who put his hand over the girl's mouth, pulled her into a wooded area and sexually molested her at about 9:30 p.m. Saturday, sheriff's deputies said. However, the girl did not report the assault until several days later, fearing the assailant would harm her family, deputies said.

Deputies learned of the incident when the victim later told her father about the attack, deputies said. The victim's father then notified Casselberry police who, in turn, notified deputies because the incident occurred in county's jurisdiction.

DEATH PROBE CONTINUES

Seminole County Sheriff's detectives today were combing the scene near the Longwood Interstate-4 rest area where an unidentified body was discovered Saturday in an effort to find some clue to the death.

An autopsy performed Monday on the mostly skeletal remains by Assistant Medical Examiner Dr. Sara Irrgang failed to reveal the exact cause of death of if foul play had been involved.

Dr. Irrgang said she believes the body to be that of a male in early middle age who had been dead from one to four weeks. He was wearing what appeared to be denim work clothes. No identification was found on the body which was discovered in a wooded area about 200 feet from the highway shortly before 8 p.m. by 22-year-old Gregory K. Kane of Longwood.

Kane said he was chasing a dog which appeared to be injured when he made the grisly discovery.

RED LION HIT AGAIN

For the fifth time in a week, an apartment at the Red Lion Square Apartments in Winter Park has been robbed.

Elynn Liese, 32, of Apt. 2726, told deputies someone broke into her locked apartment through a bathroom window sometime between 11 p.m. Monday and 6:15 p.m. Tuesday, stealing about $240 worth of jewelry, deputies reported.

MAN JAILED FOLLOWING FIGHT

A 34-year-old Sanford man was being held on $500 bond in the Seminole County jail on a charge of aggravated assault, following a brawl at 8:35 a.m. Tuesday at Sanford Knitting Mills, Inc., 230 Power Ct., Sanford, deputies said.

Peter Willie Bly, of 1911 S. Summerlin Ave., was arrested after he reportedly hit Brenda Joyce Ward, 31, of 1715 Roosevelt Ave., Sanford, over the head with a chair, deputies said.

According to witnesses, a fight started between Bly and Ms. Ward, who are machine operators at the plant, when Ms. Ward reportedly shoved a chair into Bly's legs several times as he was standing by his machine, deputies said. Bly allegedly retaliated by picking up the chair and hitting Ms. Ward over the head with it, resulting in a small cut on her head, witnesses told deputies.

Deputies reported Ms. Ward then called her boyfriend, who came to the plant and got into a fight with Bly.

Bly was charged with aggravated assault and transported to the county jail, deputies said.

Plant employees said there has been an on-going feud between Bly and Ms. Ward for about two years, deputies said.

MOTORCYCLE MOVED

Thieves stole a $1,500 Kawasaki motorcycle from an Apopka man's home sometime between 9 p.m. Monday and 9:45 a.m. Tuesday.

Dario L. Marquez, 20, of 1134 Martex Dr., told deputies someone broke into his home and stole the motorcycle from his screened patio.

SANFORD MAN JAILED

A 21-year-old Sanford man is being held on $5,000 bond in the Seminole County jail following his arrest at about 1:14 a.m. today on a charge of attempted burglary.

Daniel Collins, of Water Street in the Midway community east of Sanford, was arrested after deputies were alerted to a possible burglary at Midway's Kool Breeze II bar on Sipes Avenue, deputies said.

According to sheriff's reports, an unidentified woman noticed a suspicious person near the bar and called the owner to alert him. Armed with a revolver, the bar owner responded to the scene and found a man on the roof of the building, deputies said.

The man jumped from the roof and fled into a wooded area near the bar with the owner in pursuit, deputies said. Several shots were fired during the chase but no one was injured, deputies said.

When deputies arrived at the scene, they announced a police dog would be sent into the woods to "flush out" the burglary suspect, deputies reported. Upon hearing that, Collins, surrendered to deputies, deputies said.

BAPTIST CHURCH BURGLARIZED

Thieves broke into the Palm Springs Baptist Church in Altamonte Springs sometime between 4 p.m. Monday and 7:30 a.m. Tuesday and stole an electric typewriter and a calculator.

Donald Taylor, pastor of the church at 5490 Palm Springs Road, told deputies the thieves pried open a side door, kicked down two interior doors and made off with the items valued at about $1,500.

MONEY BAG TAKEN

When Lillian G. Bernard reported to work Monday morning at Harbor Lighting at 801 Cornwall Road, Sanford, she found someone had entered the building, pried open the office safe and stolen a money bag containing $300.

According to Sanford police, the thieves entered the structure sometime between 5 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. Monday through a side door.

Casselberry OKs Northshore Townhouse Plans

By TONI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Fearing access into a proposed townhouse development would be inadequate, the Casselberry City Council will require developers of the complex to install an additional roadway in return for approval of preliminary construction plans.

"I don't feel the plan you have now will provide emergency vehicles with adequate turn-around room and I feel that should an emergency arise, there could be confusion as to where the emergency people should go," said Councilman Frank Schutte.

At Monday's meeting, council reviewed revised and approved the preliminary plans for Northshore Townhouses, which will include 94, two-story townhouses. The development is slated for construction on the south side of Seminola Boulevard north of N.

Lake Triplet Drive. The developers of the townhouse complex originally provided for a main entrance that branched out into a horseshoe with cul de sacs," according to city planner Dale MacMahan. "The developer, Gary Lazar of Classic Custom Homes, met the city code requirements with the original plan and had the approval of the city fire and police chiefs."

However, the council voted unanimously to require Lazar to add an additional street to provide what they called optimum safety to residents of the proposed complex.

"If a person answering an emergency call goes into that area and is not familiar with it, he could go down the wrong street, then have to turn around and hunt for an access," Schutte said. "With a connecting street, he could simply cut through the complex."

"If a person goes into the area and finds he is on the wrong street, there is also the possibility that he will not know that the added street will lead to the emergency area," countered Fire Chief Paul Algeri.

In other action Monday night, the council gave Orange-Seminole Cablevision the go-ahead to begin a research project to determine subscriber interest in a cable-delivered news information service.

The project, requested by Michael D'Ambr, general manager of Cablevision, was rejected by the council in September with council members saying they did not feel the company was providing adequate service to its subscribers, adding that additional programming would only make a bad situation worse.

However, since its rejection of the project last year, council members have received regular reports from Cablevision subscribers which indicated "substantial improvements in service," Councilman Bill Grier said.

In light of that the City Council voted unanimously to approve D'Ambr's request to undertake the project. The council further stated that should service to subscribers become unsatisfactory, it reserves the right to terminate the project, giving Orange-Seminole Cablevision 90 days to remove all testing units from subscriber homes.

"We are merely a vehicle in this project for the study being conducted jointly with Time, Inc. and the Sentinel Star," D'Ambr said. "We are providing the vehicle for testing to about 200 subscribers in the area and are not directly involved in the project analysis."

D'Ambr said if the project proves successful the news information service will be provided to Cablevision customers on the same basis as Cinemax or Home Box Office.

Supreme Court May Expand Police Power

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justices of the Supreme Court are signaling they may be ready to give police far greater power to stop and demand identification from people who are not suspected of committing a crime.

The justices said Monday they will review an appeal next fall by California police, challenging a ruling that struck down the state's vagrancy statute on grounds it turned "otherwise innocent conduct into a crime."

California's vagrancy law allows police to arrest a person who refuses to show identification, if he "loiters or wanders upon the streets or from place to place without apparent reason or business."

The case involves Edward Lawson, who was stopped by San Diego police 15 times between March 1975 and January 1977. He was detained or arrested on the basis of the vagrancy law each time, but was prosecuted only twice and convicted just once.

The court also warned the law creates a danger that police may use it to "harass citizens."

San Diego Police Chief William Kolender and the California Highway Patrol took the case to the Supreme Court, contending, "If police want to harass citizens, they can do so utilizing virtually any penal or administrative statute they might choose."

The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco agreed the vagrancy law is unconstitutional, concluding the statute's "serious intrusion on personal security outweighs the mere possibility that identification may provide a link leading to arrest."

The court also warned the law creates a danger that police may use it to "harass citizens."

They also said police only ask a person for identification in the same circumstances under which they would be allowed to conduct a pat-down search of the individual.

Literature Comes Alive In Longwood

Longwood Elementary School pupils are celebrating Book Month on the theme, "Literature Alive," as they learn about the arts through special speakers and programs.

The series of activities starts Thursday morning with a program of folk music presented by Miss Barbara Muller, folk singer and instructor at Seminole Community College (SCC) at 10 and 11 a.m.

On March 17, Kathy Kurtze, an SCC student and mother of a Longwood Elementary School student, will present a program on crafts in the school media center.

Ballet dancer Susan Hicks will present an introduction to ballet at 1 p.m. on March 18.

Linda Rapson, area author of the children's book series, "Kipper," will speak at 1 p.m. March 23 in the media center.

The Lake Brantley High School Players will perform at 9:30 a.m. on March 25.

During the week of March 22, a book fair will be held at the school at which students, parents and teachers will be able to purchase books. The goal is to sell $1,200 worth of books so the school can win a free computer for the school library.

Throughout the month, Longwood elementary pupils will be competing in a creative writing contest and to see who can read the most books. The activities will be climaxed with a storybook parade and contest beginning at 9:15 a.m. on March 30 in which the children will dress as their favorite storybook characters.

Awards will be presented at a special ceremony at 7 p.m. on March 30 with a performance by women's barbershop singing group, the Sweet Adelines.

Sanction With Teeth

Recently, President Reagan was asked at a press conference whether sanctions against the Soviet Union had produced any easing of repression in Poland. Mr. Reagan conceded that, despite the initial U.S. sanctions, the situation in Poland was deteriorating. And then he added, "... we're not going to wait forever for improvement in the situation there. We have other steps that we can take."

Since then, Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski's dictatorship has arrested and jailed several thousand more Poles, imposed longer sentences on some of those already imprisoned, attacked the Roman Catholic Church, and hinted that it will keep Solidarity leader Lech Walesa under detention indefinitely.

Thus, the question: How much longer will President Reagan wait before imposing tougher sanctions against the Polish dictatorship and, most especially, against the Soviet overseers of Gen. Jaruzelski's government? Any doubts about how vigorously the Soviets encouraged the crack-down in Poland should have been eliminated by the hero's welcome accorded Gen. Jaruzelski when he traveled to Moscow.

President Reagan doesn't have to look very far or very hard to find additional pressure points that would boost the cost for the Soviets of keeping Jaruzelski's heel pressed against the necks of Poland's people.

There is, of course, the matter of the Polish loans — whether the Reagan administration will continue to repay U.S. banks for those loans without declaring Poland in default. That question, according to Secretary of State Alexander Haig, is under constant review and the default option — which could trigger a credit collapse throughout the Soviet bloc — has been deliberately left open.

We think the default option ought to be invoked sooner rather than later lest the United States itself become a bankroller of the Stalinist thugs who murdered Solidarity — and with it the hopes for a breath of freedom in Eastern Europe.

But even if the debt issue is deferred for the moment, Mr. Reagan could deal the Soviets a painful blow by blocking the sale of industrial gas turbines the Soviets are counting on for their Siberian natural gas pipeline project.

The pipeline, to be financed with Western credits, could be generating the equivalent of $10 billion a year in hard Western currency for the Soviets by the mid-1980s. Better yet from the Kremlin's viewpoint, it would render Western European countries significantly dependent on Soviet natural gas and, thus, that much more vulnerable to political intimidation from Moscow.

The industrial gas turbines in question are needed to power the compressors that would push the Siberian natural gas through the 3,000-mile pipeline to Western Europe. The turbines, manufactured by General Electric and by several Western European countries under licenses granted by GE, are now an integral part of the pipeline design. Without the GE turbines, the pipeline's compressor technology would have to be redesigned at considerable cost in time and money to the Soviets.

The Reagan administration has already prohibited direct sale of the turbines to the Soviets by General Electric. But the White House hasn't yet decided whether to invoke existing U.S. export law and prohibit sales by foreign manufacturers building the turbines under licenses.

We trust that Mr. Reagan meant what he said last Jan. 19 when he warned that the United States would not wait forever for a less odious turn of events in Poland. The Soviets obviously need to be convinced as well that the Reagan administration is serious. What better way to send this message than by tossing a king-sized monkey wrench into a Siberian pipeline project that Washington should be eager to scuttle in any case?

BERRY'S WORLD

"He had urea formaldehyde foam insulation in his home, but he was WARM!"

By JANE CASSELLBERRY

Anybody who has ever had cause to deal with Virginia Longwell, executive assistant at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, knows that she and her staff cheerfully go out of their way to be helpful.

A case in point was documented in a letter she received recently from the mother of a fourth grader in Corpus Christi (Texas) School thanking her for the prompt and efficient way in which the chamber responded to a request by the boy for information on Sanford.

The mother said that the fourth graders wrote to different cities asking for information and her son, Julio, was the first to get it. "We were happy, excited and proud to write a paper about a town that cared to answer a request so promptly," she wrote, "but we needed to know more and wrote again and Peggy (Horner) answered. We wrote some more and the city answered. You not only sent us all the information we could use, but you bought the postcards (very pretty) and the map."

"I can't tell you enough how happy we feel that you people from Sanford have shown us that your city is a truly friendly one. My son is only nine years old, but he will spend several days reading and writing about Sanford, thanks to you all.

"We already love your community and hope some day to go and see you since it is not so much the monuments that make a town, but the character and heart of its people," the mother wrote.

Yes, Virginia, there is such a thing as Southern Hospitality and friendliness and it's alive and living at the Sanford Chamber of Commerce. Its warmth was felt all the way to Texas.

Follow the 128-member Seminole High School Band to the Sanford Civic Center on Saturday, March 20, for a spaghetti luncheon and auction sponsored by the SHS Band Parents Assn. The band will parade in downtown Sanford and play during the dinner which will be served beginning at noon. Art Grindle, at auctioneer, at 2 p.m. will begin selling everything from Twiggy's Sanford's water skiing quirel first pair of skis, to horseback riding lessons.

You'll have a chance to bid on such bargains as wallpaper, a set of tires, pest control for your house and yard, oil paintings, savings bonds, Western clothing, one-year's cablevision, green's fees at the Mayfair Country Club and a paddleboat for two.

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Senior Citizen Committee is making plans for two events... an Information and Safety Seminar at the Sanford Civic Center in late May and a Golden Wedding Anniversary party honoring couples who have been married 50 years or more in October. Last year's Golden Anniversary event was such a success with 48 couples attending said Committee Chairman Pauline Stevens that it was decided to do it again. Mrs. Stevens said Linda Giddens will be co-chairman of the seminar.

"Literature Alive" is the theme this month at Longwood Elementary School where students will be participating in events such as a reading contest, storybook costume parade, and a book fair and hear special speakers and performing groups. The school hopes there will be $1,200 worth of books sold at the book fair the week of March 22 so that the school will win a computer for the library.

EDWARD J. WALSH Capsule History: El Salvador

The air waves, headlines, and Congressional hearing rooms are currently filled with outraged liberal criticism of the Reagan administration's support of the ruling junta in the tiny, war-torn Central American nation of El Salvador. Thus far, the argument against U.S. military aid to El Salvador, which amounts to a barrage of condemnations of a pro-American government and near-total indifference to the consequences of its destruction, has had a free ride. A few facts are in order.

For many years, El Salvador was ruled by military regimes that protected the interests of wealthy landowners. The governments largely ignored, when not actively repressing, the welfare of the masses of the Salvadoran people, who were and are mostly small farmers and farm laborers, living in appalling poverty. The economy, almost totally dependent on the world prices of coffee and cotton, has never developed an authentic middle class with real political power. Salvadoran society was composed of the extremes of wealth and deprivation.

Since the early 1960s, leftist guerrilla bands conducted bombings, kidnappings and acts of extortion against the establishment. In 1970 the Popular Forces of Liberation Farabundo Martí (FPLI) was formed, after a split in the Salvadoran Communist Party. In 1975, the FPLI set up a political arm, the BPLI, which organized strikes and political demonstration against the government. Violence and political tensions in El Salvador continued to increase through the late seventies, as other guerrilla and terrorist organizations were formed, including overtly communist groups. By 1979, the country was on the brink of violent revolution.

In October 1979, a remarkable thing happened. A group of young military officers, in a bloodless coup, overthrew the corrupt, far-right government of Gen. Humberto Romero and established a coalition government that included members of the moderate Christian Democrats as well as a broad spectrum of political views ranging from right to left. Jose Napoleon Duarte, the Christian Democrat who had been denied the presidency by the military in 1972 was given the office. The far right immediately began sabotaging the delicately-balanced coalition through use of vigilante "death squads," as well as extremist factions within the armed forces that opposed the coup.

The Duarte government, beset on all sides by relentless political and military attacks, is barely surviving. Liberal U.S. Congressmen have failed to recognize the uniqueness of the October 15, 1979 revolution, and speak as if it never took place. They condemn the junta for the acts of its bitterest enemies on the right, and, by opposing U.S. military aid, push it closer to destruction by the Left.

The Reagan administration, almost alone in its support of the Duarte government, must stay the course. U.S. military and economic assistance to the coalition is the only hope for survival for the Salvadoran people. The alternative is a military victory by fanatical Marxists, who will impose a dictatorship that will make the old rule of the generals seem positively enlightened by comparison.

JACK ANDERSON

White House Following Lenin's Advice?

WASHINGTON — Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y., is not a man who should be taken lightly in a political scrap. The erudite Harvard professor has the wit and argumentative skill of an Irish pub patron, combined with the prestige of a senior senator from the nation's second most populous state.

Utilizing these attributes, Moynihan has managed to tie a tin can to the Reagan administration's tail on the issue of anti-communism. Quite simply, what the white-haired senatorial leprechaun has done is accuse the stridently anti-Soviet White House of following Vladimir Ilyich Lenin's line.

What led to this awesome display of ideological eye-stabbing was the Reagan administration's decision on Poland and its international debts. The Polish government fell badly behind in its payments on U.S. bank and government-guaranteed loans, and President Reagan was urged to declare the Poles in default. Among those who recommended this was Sen. Moynihan.

But the president decided instead to offer the bankers the money due on their Polish loans, thus sparing the communist regime from defaulting on its debts. This was viewed by Moynihan as a bailout of the Polish Communist leaders and a tacit acceptance of their military repression. Others suspected that Reagan really wanted to bail out the bankers.

For their part, Reagan and his minions claimed their action on the Polish loans was actually tougher than letting the Poles default. With certain poetic license, they explained that if the Polish government was allowed to default, the Red regime would be able to weasel out of its debts altogether — much like someone who files for bankruptcy and leaves his creditors holding the bag.

"We didn't bail Poland out in doing this," the president insisted at a recent press conference. "Default is literally like bankruptcy," thus absolving Poland of its debts, he declared.

The controversy is too complex for most Americans to understand. It's tough enough for us to figure out our mortgage situation, much less the arcane workings of international finance.

Enter Moynihan with his cherubic demeanor — and his academic research expertise. The senator dug up a pertinent quotation attributed to the architect of the Russian Revolution. "The capitalists of the whole world and their governments," Lenin wrote, "in their rush to conquer the Soviet market will close their eyes... and will thereby be turned into deaf-mutes."

According to Moynihan's research, the Soviet prophet then went on to say of the greedy capitalists: "They will furnish credits which will serve us for the support of the Communist Party... and, by supplying us materials and technical equipment, which we lack, will restore our military industry necessary for our future attacks against our suppliers."

ROBERT WAGMAN Business Tax Break Debate

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Does business really need the whopping tax breaks that it received last year?

"Definitely," say representatives of business groups.

"Critical for capital formation and creation of jobs," say members of the Reagan administration.

"An unneeded giveaway," say opponents whose numbers are growing and who now include leading figures of both political parties. It's beginning to appear that business taxes will be one of the most hotly debated economic issues in the months ahead.

It's not certain how much the new corporate tax breaks will cost. No one has seriously challenged an estimate that puts the loss to the treasury at about $145 billion between now and fiscal 1986.

The bulk of these corporate tax savings will result from the "10-5-3" depreciation schedule that allows companies to write off more quickly their new plant and equipment investments and from the large investment tax credits they receive in the year of purchase.

The "10-5-3" refers to the number of years over which various types of investments can be depreciated. The more fixed the asset, the longer the depreciation period.

Opponents contend that these provisions are structured so that the biggest return to a corporation comes not from long-term plant investments, which might create jobs, but from equipment investments, which allow maximum depreciation over a shorter period along with the full investment credits.

These critics say that such short-term investments create no new jobs, just whopping tax write-offs.

Administration officials disagree sharply. Norman Ture, under secretary of the treasury for tax and economic affairs, strongly backed last year's corporate tax cuts at a recent seminar sponsored by the Heritage Foundation, the conservative think tank that has become the prime intellectual support of supply-side theory and Reaganomics.

"10-5-3 is vital for capital formation and job creation," Ture said. "It is the cornerstone of our whole revitalization package."

But even the president's Council of Economic Advisers is a little unsure. The panel's new annual report says that 10-5-3 aids capital formation but could also "reduce economic welfare and efficiency."

In other words, an inefficient corporation could gain far more from a short-term equipment investment than a more successful corporation could gain from a long-term plant investment that would be of greater benefit to the economy.

Also under attack is the provision that allows corporations to "lease" (that is, sell) any credits from the new tax package that they cannot use.

For instance, Occidental Petroleum had enough tax write-offs this year to avoid paying any corporate taxes with $94.8 million in 10-5-3 credits left over. Since the corporation could not reduce its own taxes any further, it sold the additional credits to the insurance-investment firm of Marsh and McLennan.

In summation, the "little father" of Bolshevism is quoted as concluding that the capitalists "will work on the preparation of their own suicide."

Moynihan has more substantial support for his opposition to the White House stand than the picturesque polemics of Lenin. The experts at the Congressional Research Service were asked to check out the legal niceties of the president's action on the Polish loans. They bluntly contradicted Reagan's claim that the Poles would have been able to wriggle out of their debts if they had been allowed to default.

"We know of no legal theory which would absolve Poland of liability for debts incurred," the researchers concluded in a report seen by my associate Lucette Lagnado.

The White House must now struggle with the characterization of Ronald Reagan as the dupe of V.I. Lenin. Meanwhile, the puckish Moynihan has been seen in the Capitol corridors grinning like a Cheshire cat.

IN BRIEF

Fearing Backlash, Senate Nixes Travel Allowance

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Senators turned down a chance to give themselves an unlimited travel allowance, figuring the public might not understand. West Palm Beach's Sen. Don Childers said legislators shouldn't have to dip into their own pockets for money to travel throughout Florida to "educate" the public. But the Senate's majority was unwilling to go along with Childers' bill. The proposal (SB 282) was defeated, 19-14, Tuesday.

Raise Rates Now, Ask Later

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Blue Cross-Blue Shield may not have to get the insurance commissioner's approval before raising rates much longer. The Senate approved, 33-1, Tuesday and sent to the House a bill (SB 599) saying Blue Cross-Blue Shield can raise its rates, then get the state's approval later.

FBI Hunting Outlaws

TAMPA (UPI) — Four members of the notorious Outlaws motorcycle gang were in jail today and the FBI hunted three others, described as "armed and dangerous," on charges of operating an interstate business distributing illegal drugs. U.S. Attorney Gary L. Betz announced Tuesday that the seven had been indicted by a federal grand jury. The indictment charged that the defendants used violence and threats of violence to carry on drug trafficking.

WORLD

Guatemalan Authorities Smash Peaceful Protest

GUATEMALA CITY (UPI) — Police and soldiers firing automatic weapons attacked a peaceful protest against alleged fraud in Guatemala's presidential election, wounding several people and beating or detaining eight foreign journalists, including a U.S. television crew. "It was a brutal repression of a peaceful demonstration," said a journalist at the demonstration late Tuesday. A hospital spokesman said a woman shot in the arm during the attack was admitted, and a Catholic priest said he saw two men lying in the street, apparently wounded in the shooting. The hospital spokesman said "numerous" people were treated because they had been severely beaten or inhaled tear gas.

Rebels Warn Of More Raids

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — Rebels fighting the U.S.-supported ruling junta warned of stepped-up attacks but a 1,500-man army offensive against the guerrillas entered its third day today in the province of Morazan. At the site of two guerrilla assaults this week, searchers Tuesday found the corpses of 24 men and a woman, including that of a male rebel showing signs of torture.

Where Is Robert Vesco?

ST. JOHNS, ANTIGUA (UPI) — Antigua authorities have intensified their search for fugitive millionaire Robert Vesco who they admit has been on the tiny Caribbean island "as a tourist." In the first public admission since Vesco was reported spotted on the Eastern Caribbean island of 70,000 last week, the government said Tuesday in a prepared statement. "Vesco had been visiting Antigua and Barbuda (The smaller sister island) from time to time, as a tourist."

Seminole Auction Set For March 20

Car dealer and Florida House of Representatives candidate Art Grindic will be the auctioneer at the Seminole High School Band Parents Association's auction and spaghetti dinner to be held Saturday, March 20 at the Sanford Civic Center. Proceeds from the event will go to buy instruments and uniforms for the 88-member band.

The band, under the direction of bandmaster Sylvester Polk, will march to the civic center through downtown Sanford at 11 a.m. to start the festivities. The dinner will be served beginning at noon with dinner music provided by the band.

The auction will begin at 2 p.m. with hundreds of items of merchandise and services donated by area merchants. Bargain hunters will find everything from a $800 utility shed to the first pair of skis worn by Twiggy, Sanford's famous water-skiing squirrel.

Among the other items to be auctioned include savings bonds donated by local banks, haircuts, permanent waves, a bathroom vanity, a paddle boat for two, tires, motor oil, dinners at several local restaurants, pool cleaning service, veterinary services, pest control, a gift certificate for wall paper, sewing machines, vacuum cleaners, luggage, oil paintings, passes for area attractions, horseback riding lessons, and bags of mulch.

There will also be a country store in conjunction with the auction at which small items, homemade food, and crafts will be sold.

Anyone wishing to donate items for the auction may call Suzanne Wolford, merchandise chairman, at 322-0308, or Leticia Cochran, fund raising chairman, at 323-1947.

The Jupiter Effect

Would The Last One Out Please Turn Out The Light?

United Press International

If you were disillusioned by the Kohoutek comet, today's Jupiter Effect planet alignment may be a letdown. The only people taking it seriously were an Indian astrologer, some insurance executives concerned about end-of-the-world claims and the extremely gullible.

The solar system's nine planets clustered in a 95-degree angle for the first time in 179 years and American scientists had nothing but scorn for anyone who believed the arrangement would bring on doom. They dismissed it as "pseudo-science," "a bunch of nonsense" and "bunk."

The planetary alignment, said the authors of "The Jupiter Effect," would create a gravitational pull that would bring cosmic winds from the sun and cause earthquakes around the world.

The authors have since backed off their predictions but planetariums, weather bureaus and scientists have been inundated with anxious — and often nearly hysterical — people, wanting to know what they can do to survive the end of the world.

"It was my hope this sort of thing was demodulated in the Renaissance but then I'd hoped that about astrology too," said Leroy Doggett, an astronomer at the Naval Observatory in Washington, D.C. "I'm the unfortunate person who started answering questions about it five or six years ago and I'm tired of it."

A Peruvian "cosmobiologist" predicted the alignment would increase the appetite of animals and cause humans to act strangely. He was right about the humans.

"One lady from some place in Ohio who was really scared, said her town was closing the schools for the day," said David Ross, a secretary at the American Museum of Natural History's Hayden Planetarium in New York.

"Another woman said her children who learned about the Jupiter Effect on television were so scared they didn't want to go to school tomorrow (today) because they feared the end of the world."

There also was high anxiety in Hartford, Conn., headquarters of the American insurance industry.

"A group of employees from a major insurance company called me to ask whether they should do anything about special insurance policies," said Craig Robinson, director of the Gengras Planetarium at the Children's Museum in West Hartford.

"They were really serious. They were afraid of the effects worldwide disasters would have on the company."

"I had one elderly lady who wanted to know what room in the house to hide in," Robinson said. "There was nothing I could say to convince her. She said, 'I know you scientists don't want to upset people.' Then she hung up on me."

An Indian newspaper predicted the Jupiter Effect would cause riots and disease. Indian astrologer B.V. Raman assured his believers it would not mean the end of the world — just Los Angeles.

University of Oklahoma professor Jim Lawson said studies show the Jupiter Effect has virtually no effect at all. Even if the planets were lined up straight as an arrow, he said, the force on Earth would be about 1-4,000th of the tidal force that comes from the moon and sun.

He blamed the media for spreading reports and high schools for not teaching enough science to allow people to recognize "such nonsense."

Today was the last time Mercury, Earth, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto would be grouped so closely until 2357 — assuming Earth is around to participate then.

"It's a lot of fun, I suppose," said Dr. Dan Purrington of the University of New Orleans. "It will be very embarrassing if something does happen."

Economic Upturn Seen For Summer

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Expected changes in the nation's economy later this year will mean a "Big bang or infusion of money" into Florida industry this summer, according to the state's economist.

Gary Cooper, addressing a luncheon of business writers from across the state, said he expects changes for the better in the state once the national picture brightens, probably in June or July, as a result of tax cuts and increased defense spending in the state.

Gov. Bob Graham, hosted the luncheon at the Governor's Mansion for legislators, reporters and state officials "to brag a little bit" about the health of the state and promote its attractiveness as a home for new industry.

"Florida is a place where serious business ... can take place," Graham said.

Recognition of this fact is the latest in a series of steps aimed at developing Florida into an industrial and manufacturing center, he said.

Sen. Pat Thomas, D-Quincy, said the Legislature views the business community as a healthy partner in the state and one to be "nourished."

"Those advocates of economic development have come out of hibernation," he said.

Sen. George Stuart, D-Orlando, said recently-passed legislation that will help the housing finance agency try to sell housing bonds despite changes in federal regulations, will aid Florida's economy.

Slow housing starts and a sluggish economy nationwide have resulted in diminished production, slack retail sales and inventories that businesses have been unable to sell, Cooper said. Fewer people have been moving into Florida and corporate moves also are down.

Cooper said, however, that Florida, which typically has fared poorer than the rest of the country during an economic recession, has not been so severely pinched as in years past because of diversification in the state.

"Areas that have done poorly in the rest of the country aren't our strengths," he said, citing the automobile industry as an example.

Furthermore, he said, national trends are expected to reverse this summer and Florida will be favorably affected.

As inventories are worked off, tax cuts become effective and increased defense spending is directed toward Florida contractors, businesses will start producing more goods and services, and people will begin spending again, Cooper said.

"When the recovery does come in the national economy — it will come strongly to Florida. There is a lot of pent-up demand waiting to be satisfied," he said. "What we're seeing for Florida is a slow first half of the year. As these problems get solved in the national economy, we expect a resurgence (in Florida)."

Florida is below the U.S. average in high school educated adults and taxes, he said, and higher in energy costs.

He acknowledged later that his study did not take crime into account and said, "Without question, it could hurt you."

Don't Cook Pork In Microwave Oven

ATLANTA (UPI) — The national Centers for Disease Control urged owners of microwave ovens not to use them to cook some pork because they sometimes fail to kill trichina larvae.

Dr. Peter M. Schantz of the CDC said Tuesday the use of microwave ovens to cook meat could be dangerous because they don't always produce uniform temperatures throughout the product.

"To be absolutely safe, you really have to take a thermometer and check the temperatures," Schantz said.

He said pork must be heated to at least 137 degrees in all parts to avert trichinosis.

"It's fairly well known certain microwave appliances don't always achieve a uniform temperature throughout the meat," Schantz said.

He said the even-heating rule should apply to all meats, but especially to pork because of the threat of trichinosis. Schantz said prevention against the disease is extremely important since treatment is not always satisfactory. Early symptoms include swelling, fever and muscle pain, he said.

USDA studies showed infected pork thawed in a microwave and cooked on a charcoal grill still carried the trichina larvae. The larvae also was present on pork cooked partially in a microwave and finished in a deep fat fryer.

Fear In Great Bend: Kan., 'It's Changed The Attitude Of This Town'

GREAT BEND, Kan. (UPI) — It wasn't so long ago front-door locks went unused for weeks at a time in the small central Kansas town of Great Bend.

Women might not shop alone at night. Children played in the streets well after dark. When men talked of guns, it was usually about the hunting season.

Crime and murder were something that happened in cities like New York and Los Angeles.

But the innocence is gone for the 20,000 residents who make their home at the confluence of Walnut Creek and the Arkansas River.

The feeling of safety that pervaded the town of America was shattered by the slayings of two women in liquor store robberies in less than five days last month.

Women now carry pistols in their handbags. Strangers on the street are eyed with a certain suspicion. It's difficult to quench a dry throat after 8 p.m. because most of the liquor stores close early. And the doors of the homes are locked.

"I think people are locking their doors now," says one man, leaning back and folding his hands behind his red John Deere cap. "We didn't use to bother to lock our door, but we're doing more of a job of locking it now."

"And people aren't trusting like they were. It's changed the attitude of this town."

Two homicides may not seem extreme to city dwellers, but to the people of Great Bend, nothing — not even the 1980 flood — has shaken them more.

A Kansas Power & Light employee and lifelong Great Bend resident offered to talk about the deaths and the feelings of the city, but before the use of his name.

"What's to keep him from reading this and coming after me?" he asked.

His office is next door to where one victim — Margaret Krom — was shot to death during a Jan. 16 robbery of a liquor store she co-owned. The other victim, Sarah Wittig, 62, was a clerk at another liquor store when she was stabbed to death Jan. 21.

Police feel the same person may have committed both slayings. But they have no suspects, only a vague description. One reason for the fear is the manner of the killings.

The fact that something like that would happen here is unbelievable to some people,' he said. 'It's really affected elderly people and women.'

George Donley

A man visiting Mrs. Krom at the time of the robbery said the killer already had taken the money from the cash register when he forced her to squat on the floor before shooting her twice in the back of the head. Two more shots wounded the witness, Henry Benoit.

Five days later the elderly clerk was stabbed to death during the second robbery.

"She was really cut up too," said a woman who also refused to give her name. "He had to enjoy that or he wouldn't have whacked her as many times as he did."

Besides fear, radio station employee George Donley says the overriding emotion in Great Bend is dismay.

"The fact that something like that would happen here is unbelievable to some people," he said. "It's really affected elderly people and women."

One resident estimates 99 percent of the townspeople with weapons had checked them to see if they were loaded and in a handy location.

"Hell, yes, I checked mine," he said. "I know right where it is."

The owner of Shooters Supply said he sold eight or nine handguns the first four days after the slayings.

Canadians Crave Expo Backstop

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — No other ballplayer, not even Babe Ruth or Fernando Valenzuela, could ever say legions of his followers traveled from one country clear down the length of another merely to see him, touch him or holler hello, but Gary Carter can.

The Canadians love him and they show it by the way they keep coming from all sections of their country just to greet the Montreal Expos' popular receiver, personally congratulate him on his whopping new $14 million contract or have their picture taken with him. He finds time for them all.

Sometimes, when one of the Expos' other catchers like Tim Blackwell, Bobby Ramos or Tom Wiegand, is working behind the plate in batting practice, Carter will meander out to right field to shag some flies. That's about the only privacy he gets.

His admirers, the great majority of whom are from Canada, where he and Edmonton's Wayne Gretzky take turns being the No. 1 idol of the country, lie in wait for him every day here at the Expos' training headquarters.

The distance between the main practice field the Expos use and the alternate one behind it is no more than 15 yards, and ordinarily Carter could cover the distance in three or four seconds, but sometimes it takes him as much as 20 minutes because he never refuses a request.

He has infinite patience, and whenever he's required to pose with some child or older fan for a snapshot, nobody has to ask him to look happy because he automatically does.

His recent signing of one of the richest contracts in baseball history, certainly in the history of any athlete in Canada, including Gretzky, who doesn't exactly work for popcorn, had made Carter much more of a media object than he was before his contract was extended through 1989.

Not a single interviewer this spring has talked to Carter without questioning him about some aspect of all the money he'll be getting.

"I don't mind talking about it," he says. "I just won't go into details because I believe it's a private matter."

Originally Carter had been signed through this season and negotiations on his new contract, or rather an extension of his old one, began more than a year ago. The Expos didn't want to lose their 27-year-old, four-time All Star in the free-agent draft. Although he hit only .251 last season and has a .265 lifetime average, he's generally recognized as the best catcher in baseball.

When he finally agreed to terms this winter, there were some stories saying he would be making $2 million a year with the Expos. Those stories are inaccurate. The way the money was spread out, with a big portion having been paid to him retroactively, Carter will be averaging more like $1.2 million a year. He shouldn't go hungry, anyway.

Jim Fanning, the Expos' manager, doesn't think all the money Carter is getting will change him. At least, he hopes it won't.

"I see Gary Carter as the same aggressive individual, with the same disposition and the same amount of fire, as when I first laid eyes on him at the age of 17 when he reported to our organization," says Fanning.

"... He hasn't changed. If it's possible to guarantee anything at all in baseball, you can guarantee he'll be a better offensive player now than all that hullabaloo is behind him. He can't get much better defensively."

While Carter and his agent were negotiating with the Expos, there were some comments from his teammates regarding the salary he was reported asking. Could that mean there might be some envy of Carter on the club? Fanning takes the view that would be a mistake.

"If I were any one of these guys," he says. "I'd say, 'Ain't that great: You mean if I get to be acclaimed as the best at my position by the industry, I can make money like that? I'm certainly going to try.'"

Grand Slam Sinks Apopka

Bennett's Blast Boosts Seminoles 5-2

It took a while for Beth Corso's Lady Seminoles to warm up with the bats Tuesday, but when Seminole did, it signaled quick curtains for Apopka's Lady Blue Darters.

The Tribe and Darters hooked up in a defensive struggle through the first five innings in Five Star play before Seminole unleashed the one-two power punch of Johnnie Bennett and Robin Riggins.

"We got down a run early and really went through a dry spell in the middle innings," said Corso. "For a while it turned into a three up and three down game."

While Corso was happy with the late inning offensive fireworks, some nifty defensive play by the Lady Seminoles was evident in the late innings also.

The Darters appeared ready for a seventh inning rally when a defensive gem cut their hopes short.

Thanks to some fielding errors, the Lady Seminoles found themselves on the short end of a 2-0 score heading into the sixth.

But Dee Hogan kicked off a Tribe rally by opening the frame with a leadoff single. Cindy Pendarvis followed up with another base hit and Susan Bagley loaded the leather for Seminole by reaching on a fielder's choice.

Apopka's leadoff batter crushed a pitch deep to the outfield, but Katty Barbour took it off the fence, delivered a perfect strike to Bennett at the cutoff and Bennett followed up with a bullseye toss to catcher Theresa Behrens to nip the runner at home plate.

"It was a super play to halt their rally," said Corso.

Bennett then stepped up to the plate and delivered a solid blast to right-center field. When the dust settled, Bennett crossed home with a grand slam and the Tribe had a 4-2 lead.

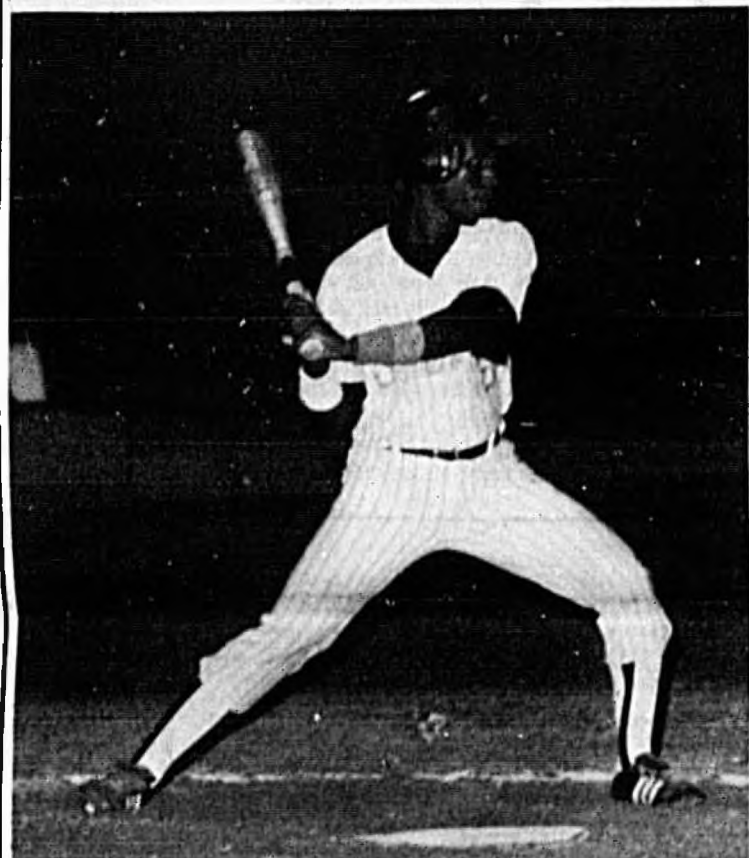

Not to be outdone, Robin Riggins stepped up next and cracked a solo homerun to give Seminole insurance with a 5-2 lead.

Seminole Hosts Lions, Hound JV's Blast Crooms

If the weather man doesn't interfere, Bobby Lundquist's Fighting Seminole High baseball squad will tangle with the Oviedo Lions tonight, putting the wraps on a busy day for Seminole County prep baseball teams.

Other Wednesday action has Lake Brantley meeting Mainland in a 4 p.m. contest. Deland travels the county line to play Lake Howell at the Silver Hawk field while Lake Mary's junior varsity hits the road for a 3:30 battle against Oviedo's young Lions.

Bob McCullough's Greyhounds are idle today but face a pair of games on Friday and Saturday.

Lundquist will have some impressive stats for the Lions tonight. Seminole boasts four of the top hitters in the county at the current time. Paul Griffin (.429), Alton Davis, currently injured was hitting at a .414 clip, first baseman Jeff Litton at .363 and Greg Register at an even .300 head the offensive attack.

Speedy Brett Von Herbulis ranks high in both runs scored and stolen bases. The swift Seminole has crossed home plate 11 times for the Tribe thus far in the season and has found time to swipe 10 bases.

Lundquist also has impressive pitching to turn to. Both Tracy Walker and Greg Hill have notched two victories on the mound this season. Walker has put together a perfect ERA through his first 14.1 innings of the year while Hill has been equally impressive, chalking up a clean 2.60 ERA over 29 innings of mound work.

In junior varsity baseball play on Tuesday, Crooms was no match for Lyman's hard hitting JV.

The young Hounds got a two-hit pitching performance from Quentin Baker while Chris Andrews slugged three hits and Derek Livermois added a pair to Propel Lyman to a 16-1 rout over the Panthers.

Grapefruit League Roundup

Barker Perfect In Tribe's Win; Bosox Rattle Tigers 9-1

By United Press International

Len Barker is in "perfect" form. Barker, who pitched a perfect game last season against the Toronto Blue Jays, hurled a spotless three innings at Scottsdale, Ariz., to lead the Cleveland Indians to a 5-0 exhibition victory over the San Francisco Giants Tuesday.

Alan Bannister and Chris Bando each drove in two runs in the first inning to propel Cleveland.

In other exhibition games, Boston ripped Detroit, 9-1, Atlanta blanked Baltimore, 1-0, Montreal downed Los Angeles, 4-2, the Chicago White Sox beat Toronto, 4-2, Texas edged the New York, 4-3, Cleveland shut out San Francisco, 5-0, and Pittsburgh trimmed Kansas City, 5-4.

At Lakeland, Fla., Carl Yazstrzemski, beginning his 22nd spring training, went three-for-three to key a 17-hit Boston attack and Glenn Hoffman hit a solo home run to power Boston to its second straight drubbing of Detroit.

At Miami, Fla., Phil Niekro, Larry McWilliams and Rick Matula combined to pitch a nine-hit shutout and extended Atlanta's scoreless inning streak to 31.

At West Palm Beach, Fla., Montreal scored three runs on five fourth-inning singles en route to victory. Burt Hooton had allowed just one pinch-hit single through three innings but Roland Office, Chris Speier and Brad Mills had run-scoring hits in the fourth.

At Dunedin, Fla., rookie Jay Loviglio hit a pair of RBI singles to support the seven-hit pitching of Rich Dotson and Dennis Lamp and led the White Sox.

At Pompano Beach, Fla., reserve second baseman Mike Richard hit a grand slam with two out in the bottom of the seventh inning to lift Texas.

At Fort Myers, Fla., Trench Davis singled home Johnny Hey with one out in the 15th inning to boost Pittsburgh.

At Yuma, Ariz., veteran pitchers Rick Wise and John Curtis and rookie Luis DeLeon combined to limit California to one run on six hits as the San Diego Padres nipped the Angels, 2-1, in the opener for both clubs.

At Sun City, Ariz., home runs by Lawrence Rush, Bob Skube and two by Larry Hise powered the Milwaukee Brewers to a 5-2 victory over the Seattle Mariners.

At St. Petersburg, Fla., Dave Kingman's first home run of the spring helped the Jumbo Franks tie the Small Fryers, 4-4, in the third and final game in the New York Mets' camp.

THERE'S ONLY 27 OF THEM!

Carrie Buettner probably didn't believe it when her daughter Linda, (third) from the right in the front row, told her she had some friends coming home from college. All 27 of them. Buettner the head track coach at Ithaca (N.Y.) College, brought her team to Sanford last week to train at Seminole Community College. Headquarters was the house of her parents — Cecil and Carrie Buettner — of 515 South Myrtle Ave., Sanford. The training and housing paid off a Ithaca broke all of its school records at Gainesville last Friday.

Cook Of The Week

Feast Of Purim Calls For Traditional Celebration

By LOU CHILDERS
Herald Correspondent

This week's special cook, Carol Albert, fills her daytime hours with her favorite hobby, playing tennis. After school hours, she car pools to get her three sons, Jonathan, 12, Daniel, 10, and Matthew, 9, to Temple Israel for Hebrew lessons. She is the wife of Altamonte Springs pediatrician, Dr. Stephen R. Albert.

Cooking plays an active part in Carol's life because on most Jewish holidays she finds herself with a few girlfriends at the temple kitchen preparing festive foods.

She explains, "Not many homes keep a kosher kitchen these days, so we do the cooking in the kitchen of the temple where there are two sets of everything."

Easy Chopped Herring and Cookie Dough Hamantaschen are two of Carol's favorite recipes. The hamantaschen were prepared for the special occasion of celebrating a religious feast with her family, the Feast of Purim.

The triangular shaped cookies are supposed to represent the hat of the evil prime minister, Haman, in the story of Esther. Carol said that she was fortunate enough as a child to have her grandmother living in their home — and many of the Jewish cooking traditions were passed on from her.

The old method for making chopped herring would have taken hours, and Carol recalls fondly how her grandmother took a large wooden chopping block, hacking and hacking, until the tough fish was tender.

Now, thanks to the modern electrical conveniences found in most homes, Carol just puts the ingredients in a food processor, flips the switch, and presto — Easy Chopped Herring.

When there are no religious feasts to be observed, Carol admits that she is a rather basic cook. "We like roasts and chops, and often enjoy barbecuing chicken on our gas barbecue," she says.

When it does come to observing the traditions of a Jewish home, Carol refers to a cookbook her mother gave her. The menu plan is even given, and if she has a family favorite, she substitutes it in place of the suggestion in the book. She adds, "Nobody can stuff a baking hen like my Mom, but I always use her recipe in an attempt to keep tradition alive."

Going back to her grandmother, Carol says, "She was a great baker — always using giant rolling pins and wooden boards she brought from Europe. Her fingers could knot pastries like magic," she continues. "Grandmother spoke mainly Yiddish, and so anything I learned from her, I learned by watching since I didn't understand but a few words of Yiddish."

Carol looks forward to the special holidays, and she says, "Jewish holidays are not to be spent alone." On Thanksgiving and Passover she says, "My friend, Cindy, and her family come over to enjoy the holiday because their own folks live too far away."

Carol says there is no such thing as too much food. She also thinks she is a good Jewish mother when it comes to entertaining, and she jokes, "Here, have some of this, have you tried this, here, eat, have some more!"

COOKIE DOUGH HAMANTASHEN

¾ cup sugar
2 cups flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ cup parve margarine
¼ teaspoon salt
1 egg, beaten
2 tablespoons orange juice
Filling: apricots, prunes, and poppy seeds
Sift sugar, flour, baking powder and salt into mixing bowl. Work in margarine. Combine egg and orange juice and add to crumbled flour mixture to make firm dough. Chill well and roll out on lightly floured board to ¼-inch thickness. Cut into 3-inch rounds with cookie cutter. Put a teaspoon of prepared filling in the center of each round. Bring edges together to form a triangle, pinching them to seal. Leave a small opening in the center of the cookie. Bake on greased cookie sheet for about 12 minutes at 400 degrees until golden brown.

EASY CHOPPED HERRING

2 jars (8 oz. size) tidbit herring in wine sauce
1 Mackintosh apple, peeled
1 onion, chopped
1 slice rye bread, soaked in herring juice
2 hard boiled eggs
¼ cup vinegar
sugar according to taste
Drain the liquid from both jars of herring and save the onions. Put the herring, onions, apple, eggs and rye bread through a food chopper or use a food processor. Blend thoroughly with a fork and add vinegar and sugar to taste.

MOHNS KICHLACH

(Poppy Seed Cookies)
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
3 eggs, well beaten
½ cup vegetable oil

Carol Albert prepares Easy Chopped Herring and Cookie Dough Hamantaschen for religious feast Tuesday

one-third cup poppy seed
¼ teaspoon salt

Sift the dry ingredients into a mixing bowl, make a hollow in the center and pour in the beaten eggs, oil and poppy seed. Mix from the center out to blend the ingredients together into a smooth, thick drop batter. Drop by teaspoon about 2 inches apart onto a greased cookie sheet. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) for about 20 minutes. Makes about 4 dozen.

Hotline Service Helps Hang Up The Past

DEAR ABBY: In reference to a letter asking if there is a "Hookers Anonymous": There is an organization made up of former madams, call girls and streetwalkers who counsel people trying to get out of prostitution. That group, formerly known as CAT (California Authority of Trollops), counsels at the Mary Magdalene Project in Los Angeles, where up to six prostitutes can live temporarily while they make the difficult transition into legitimate employment.

"Children of the Night" is a Los Angeles organization that helps 10- to 17-year-olds who have been forced out on the street to hustle as prostitutes. (About half of all prostitutes are 18 years old or younger.) Father Ritter renders a similar service to young male prostitutes at Covenant House in New York City.

It was my research and work with prostitutes that led me to develop programs for both adult and child prostitutes, who are often disregarded by more traditional agencies that provide social services.

Our hotline for referrals to specific programs for the prostitute is (213) 550-7188.

DEAR DR. LEE: Thank you for bringing attention to a widely neglected and often overlooked population of people who are entitled to social services like everyone else. If organizations such as yours do not exist in other metropolitan areas, they should.

DEAR ABBY: This is a rather unusual problem, but we desperately need your help.

On Oct. 1, the "Former Prisoner of War Benefits Act of 1981" became law. This law was enacted to give some much deserved benefits to Americans who were prisoners of war.

Please publish our address. We want to hear from anyone who thinks he (or she) qualifies for these benefits.

DEAR MR. FISHER: I am pleased to be a part of this generous, patriotic effort. Will it include Japanese-Americans who were placed in "relocation centers" (also known as "internment camps") for the duration of World War II?

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Unless you have active outlets to occupy you mentally and physically today, you could get very restless and be rather difficult to get along with.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
There may be some interesting developments today which could have a favorable effect on your future. You'll recognize them and know how to use them properly.

Confused About 'Mexican' Diarrhea

DEAR DR. LAMB—I am a 22-year-old female and I sincerely hope you can help me. I just got back from Mexico. Unfortunately, I got Montezuma's revenge. When I told my mother this she went crazy and told me it's V.D. I tried to explain that it's diarrhea. She will not believe this. I told her we would call a hospital and have them explain the terminology but the person we spoke to didn't know what the term meant. Please clear up this situation with my mother and me, and calm her down.

DEAR READER—The term is quite common in parts of the United States but since you live in Canada perhaps it is not used there. You may recall that former President Carter's use of the term while speaking in Mexico on a state visit caused some consternation. He was referring to the problem of tourists getting diarrhea in Mexico, often called Montezuma's revenge. But that is not a suitable diagnosis.

There are a number of causes for diarrhea during travels. The term traveler's diarrhea is also used. Don't overlook the role of different foods and drink. Probably a third to half of the diarrhea tourists get in Mexico is caused by a bacteria called E. Coli. Now we all have E. Coli in our colon and for years the organism that causes diarrhea was missed because it looks exactly like the harmless form we normally carry. But the Mexican variety behaves differently and is a different strain.

Diarrhea can also be caused by another bacteria called salmonella, often implicated in food poisoning outbreaks. And in more recent times giardiasis, which is a water-borne organism, has become a frequent cause of traveler's diarrhea. It is hard to diagnose and hard to treat. Our bowel contains a large number of bacteria. Sometimes an antibiotic changes the type of bacteria there and either eliminates diarrhea or may allow harmful bacteria to multiply and cause diarrhea. Also there are many causes for diarrhea that are not caused by organisms at all.

Your mother will feel better after reading The Health Letter number 13-8, What You Need To Know About Diarrhea, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB—My boy had a circumcision when he was a newborn. His pediatrician took away all of his foreskin. Now he is 5 years old and very active. What kind of harm will occur since he doesn't have the protection of a foreskin? What kind of problems might he have when he becomes an adult? And what kind of remedies can we take for him now?

DEAR READER—I wouldn't worry about it. The main complications from a circumcision, if any occur, are in the newborn period. The diaper problem can cause an inflammation for one thing. But by 5 years of age, if he has no problems from the circumcision he is not likely to develop any.

Some people claim that a circumcision decreases a man's enjoyment and others claim the opposite but I doubt it makes much difference. I am not an advocate of circumcision, but if there are no complications early in life you need not expect them later. It does improve hygiene but so will soap and water, properly used, just as soap and water cleans ears. As one anti-circumcision advocate put it, "You don't cut off the ears just to keep them clean."

WIN AT BRIDGE

We aren't going to discuss her bidding in Rixi's bidding was always entirely in her own style, but six diamonds is certainly a good contract. It trumps break 2-2, she has 12 easy tricks. If the king of clubs can score, that is also her 12th trick.

West opened the four of diamonds against the slam. East played the jack and Rixi won. At trick two she led a low heart. East won and led a second diamond which was taken in dummy.

Now Rixi played a low club. If East held the ace he might have made a mistake and played it, but no such luck. Rixi ruffed.

Things looked dismal, but they were not hopeless. There was one slight chance left.

Rixi ran off four spade tricks. If East could ruff in the slam would be kaput. But East had to follow to all four spades. Rixi was able to discard a heart from dummy, take her ace of hearts, ruff the last heart and claim her slam.

Note how easy it would have been for Rixi to lose her contract. Had she played a second trump before conceding a heart, East would have won and got to lead a third trump.

Tasty Low-Sodium Sugar Cookies

Anyone who has been on a special diet knows how difficult it is to give up favorite treats such as cookies.

If you are watching your sodium intake, you may have spiced sugar cookies that are prepared with low-sodium ingredients. The keys are low-sodium baking powder and lemon.

SPICED SUGAR COOKIES

1 1/4 cups flour

1 teaspoon low-sodium baking powder
 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
 1/2 cup plus 1 tablespoon sugar
 1/4 cup salad oil
 2 egg whites
 Grated peel of 1 fresh lemon
 1 tablespoon fresh squeezed lemon juice
 Sift together flour, baking powder and teaspoon nutmeg. In a bowl combine 1/2 cup sugar and oil. Add egg whites, lemon peel and juice, beat well. Add dry ingredients, mixing well. Chill 1 hour or longer.

Evening Herald, Sanford, FL. Wednesday, March 10, 1982—3B

Combine remaining 1/2 cup sugar and teaspoon nutmeg. To make cookies, shape dough into 1-inch balls; dip balls into sugar mixture. Place on greased cookie sheets. Bake at 375 degrees for 10 minutes. Cool on wire racks. Makes about 3 dozen (2 mg. sodium, 44 calories per cookie).

'Polo Diet' Dinner

Polo is familiar to most of us because Prince Charles of Great Britain, prior to his wedding to Lady Diana, made international headlines falling off his pony.

Polo—usually considered a millionaire's hobby sport—is a stick-and-ball game and derives from the Persians. It may be said to be the ancestor of hockey, hurling and, possibly, golf and cricket.

Currently, it is having a renaissance in the United States. It's even come to the attention of "dieticians," so you know it must be "in."

Those from the international set playing in Palm Beach, Fla., this season had available to them a special 1,000-calories-a-day "polo diet," so as not to be too heavy for their ponies. Here are a couple of recipes that you may want to try.

DINNER CHICKEN

1 Chicken breast
 1 tablespoon light rum
 2 tablespoons each chopped green onion, parsley
 1 small clove garlic
 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
 1/4 cup cooked rice

Marinate chicken breast in rum, green onion, parsley, garlic and ground ginger. Broil 15 minutes on each side.

Serve with 1/2 cup rice to which leftover marinade has been added. Preceding main course, serve cup crab meat in lettuce cup with 2 tablespoons cocktail sauce.

AMBROSIA CUP

1/2 cup orange sections
 1/4 cup sliced banana
 2 halved maraschino cherries
 2 tablespoons light rum
 1 teaspoon brown sugar
 1 teaspoon shredded coconut

Mix all fruit ingredients and let stand at least 1 hour to blend flavors. Spoon into cup or hollowed out orange cup. Garnish with green grapes.

Stir-Fry Dish Of Sub Gum

If you are in the mood for Chinese food, stir up a dish of sub gum. This may well be called "the grandfather" of chop suey.

SUB GUM

1/2 cup light corn syrup
 3 tablespoons soy sauce
 2 tablespoons dry sherry
 1-16th teaspoon pepper
 2 tablespoons corn oil
 2 large green onions, cut in thin strips (1/2 cup)
 1 clove garlic, minced or pressed

1 teaspoon minced ginger
 1/4 pound lean boneless pork, cut in thin strips
 1/4 pound boneless chicken, cut in thin strips
 1/4 pound small shrimp, peeled, deveined
 1/4 pound cooked ham, cut in thin strips
 1/4 cup very thin green pepper strips

1/4 cup sliced bamboo shoots, cut in thin strips
 1/4 cup water chestnuts, cut in thin strips
 1/4 cup mung bean sprouts
 1; tablespoon cornstarch mixed with

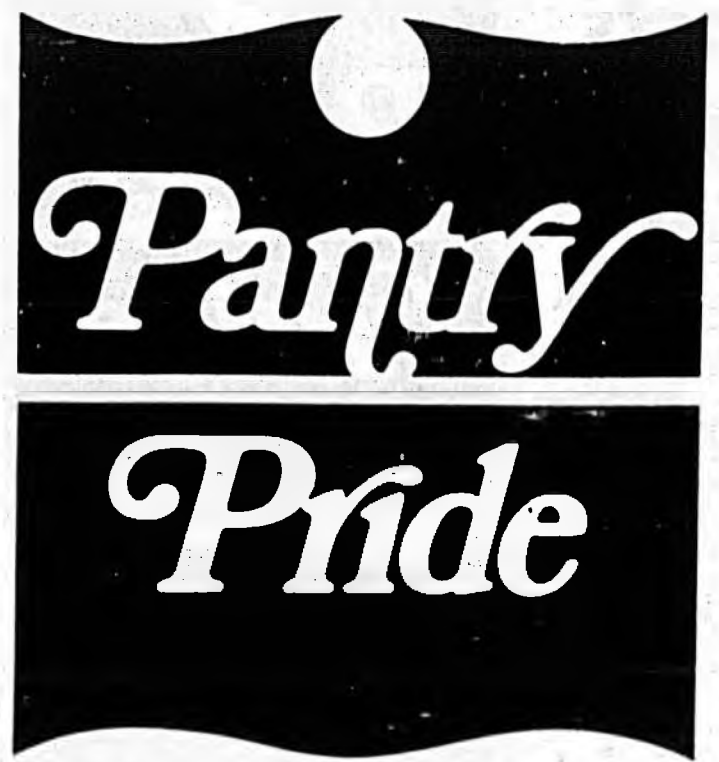

2; tablespoons water
 In small bowl, stir together corn syrup, soy sauce, sherry and pepper; set aside.

In large skillet or wok, heat corn oil over medium-high heat. Add green onions, garlic and ginger; stir-fry 30 seconds. Add pork; stir-fry 3 minutes. Add chicken, shrimp and ham; stir-fry 2 minutes. Add green pepper, bamboo shoots, water chestnuts and bean sprouts; stir-fry 3 minutes. Add corn syrup mixture; cook 1 minute.

Resist cornstarch mixture; stir into pork mixture. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. If desired, serve over rice. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

Facts Sealed In Jar

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Special to the Herald

An empty mayonnaise jar has taken on an important new role in the Falls Church, Va., home of Marjorie Deen Woodard.

"I pass the word along to all my friends and neighbors to look in my refrigerator on the top shelf for an old-fashioned mayonnaise jar if anything happens to me," says Mrs. Woodard, the retired chief of product publicity for an international food company.

"In that jar they will find many cards on which are written who to call in an emergency, my nearest relative, my family doctor and my preferred hospital," she explains.

The jar also contains identification information such as her age, her build and the color of her hair and eyes. "These facts will help identify my body in a catastrophe — of which there have been many reports in the newspapers," she says matter-of-factly.

She has made note of her Social Security number and the numbers of her Blue Cross-Blue Shield and accident insurance policies. "Of course, it is important that my bankbook number and general balance be given and any receipts for purchases recently made," she continues.

In addition, she has listed her food and drug allergies and the phone numbers of the local police and fire departments.

All of this information is written on cards that are placed in the mayonnaise jar. The jar is always kept on the top shelf of her refrigerator in the extreme left corner.

"I've torn off the label," she adds, "and replaced it with one that says 'Marjorie Deen Woodard, Emergency File.'"

Her jar also contains $75 in cash that could be used for an ambulance fee and some $1 bills for tipping messengers and others who might come in to help her.

This may sound morbid, Mrs. Woodard concedes. But it's quite practical.

Mrs. Woodard lives alone within a mile of her daughter, son-in-law and grandchildren. She continues to lead an active social life.

"My preoccupation with the future — even though I may not be there — does not prevent me from getting everything good out of today," she says.

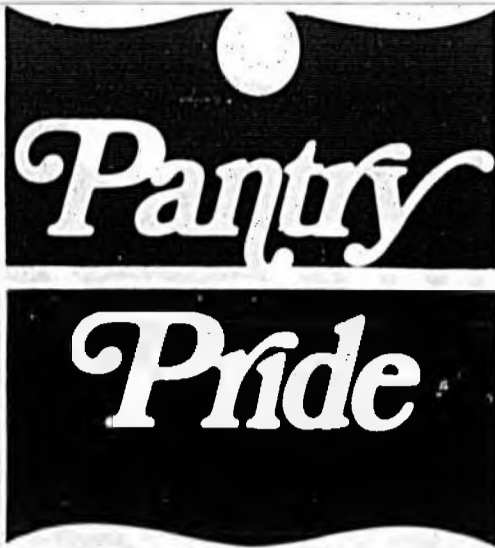

So, how did she use the original contents of her mayonnaise jar? She replies: "Mix one-half cup mayonnaise with 1 tablespoon prepared mustard and 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce; stir well. This makes a perfect sauce for fried fish and hot vegetables."

Tuna Casserole Truly American

Every day, millions of Americans eat tuna fish in sandwiches, salads, or casseroles. In a year, the average person eats nearly two and a half pounds of tuna. But it was not always so. Until World War I, tuna fish was a treat for those lucky ones who could find it fresh at the dock or a fish market. In 1917, America organized all resources to support its war effort, meat became scarce. The resourceful California sardine canneries introduced canned tuna fish to American menus. Since then, it has become a staple for favorite family casseroles. One of the most famous of these is Perfect Tuna Casserole developed at the Campbell Soup Company's Creative Food Center.

Brunch Coffee Ring

There is little to compete with the aroma of a yeast bread wafting from the kitchen.

DANISH APPLE COFFEE RING

1 package active dry yeast
1/2 cups warm water
1 cup butter or margarine, divided
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
4 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt

Dissolve yeast in warm water. In large bowl, cream 1/2 cup butter with sugar. Beat in eggs. Beat in 1 cup flour and dissolved yeast. Add salt and gradually stir in remaining 3 cups flour. Turn out on lightly floured surface and knead for 2 minutes, or until smooth. Cover and chill for 20 minutes.

Soften remaining 1/2 cup butter. Roll out dough to 18-by-12-inch rectangle. Spread half of softened butter over dough. Fold dough in half. Spread surface with remaining butter and fold again. Chill for 2 hours. Meanwhile, prepare Apple Filling.

Cut dough in half. On a lightly floured surface, roll out half of dough to 18-by-12-inch rectangle. Spread with half the Apple Filling. Roll up, jelly roll fashion, from long side and form a ring. Place on a greased baking sheet. Moisten edges of ring with water; press edges together to seal. Repeat with remaining dough and filling. Cover and let stand in a warm place until double in size, about 25 minutes.

Make cuts in rings 1-inch part, cutting from outside to about 1-inch from inside edge. Bake in 400-degree oven for 30 minutes, or until golden brown. Serve warm or cold. If desired, drizzle with confectioners' sugar glaze. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 2 coffee rings.

When cooked, the inside of spaghetti squash unravels to look like the popular pasta, spaghetti.

Spaghetti Squash So Versatile

In 1934 a prominent Japanese seedsman, Takeo Skata, introduced an entirely new vegetable which he called "vegetable spaghetti" because when cooked the inside flesh would unravel like strands of spaghetti. But sales were so poor he withdrew it from his catalog.

Puzzled by the lack of interest he waited 30 years and then re-introduced it as a low-calorie substitute for pasta spaghetti. In an increasingly diet-conscious society sales of this extraordinary vegetable took off, first in Europe and then in the USA.

Today, vegetable spaghetti is such a popular item it is even sold at the supermarket produce counter — the highest recognition a new vegetable can achieve.

In spite of its increasing popularity, few people realize just how versatile vegetable spaghetti can be, and to help promote its easy-to-cook and easy-to-grow qualities two talented writers — Derek Fell and Phyllis Shaudys — have combined their expertise to produce a fascinating cookbook with over a hundred delicious recipes and tips on turning your backyard into a veritable spaghetti factory.

Phyllis Shaudys explains: "The real beauty of vegetable spaghetti is that it does NOT taste like every other squash. It is subtle enough to taste like 'whatever you want it to taste like,' depending upon what you put with it. This aspect allows you to combine it with any of your favorite foods as the starch substitute 'base' of a meal."

The following recipes are from the Complete Vegetable Spaghetti Cookbook contains 96 pages and is available by mail from Pine Row Publications, Box 428, Washington Crossing, PA 18977.

HAM AND SWISS CHEESE CASSEROLE

A LASPAGHETTI SQUASH

- 5 cups cooked and drained spaghetti squash
 - 5 tablespoons butter
 - 8 ounces canned or fresh mushroom pieces
 - 2 cups lean cooked ham, cubed
 - 1 medium onion, diced
 - 3 tablespoons flour
 - 1/2 cup scalded milk
 - 1 cup hot chicken broth
 - 1/2 cup grated Swiss cheese
 - 1 1/2 teaspoon Dijon mustard
 - 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
 - Salt and pepper to taste
 - 1/2 cup slivered almonds
- Melt butter in large skillet and saute mushrooms and ham briefly, stirring to blend flavors. Remove with a spoon and place in a bowl with the drained squash. Saute the onion in remaining butter in the skillet; blend in flour, and gradually the hot chicken broth and scalded milk — stirring constantly till thick and smooth. Add 1/2 cup of the Swiss cheese, mustard, salt and pepper and stir until cheese is melted. Add this to the bowl of ham, squash, and mushrooms and mix. Place in a shallow, buttered baking pan, cover and heat through in a 350 degree oven for 20-30 mins. Sprinkle with the Parmesan, remaining Swiss cheese and the almonds. Place under broiler about 3 minutes until bubbly. Serves 6.

VEGGIE GIETTI ANCHOVY SALAD

- 4-6 cups cooked, chopped and drained vegetable spaghetti
 - 2 ounces (1 can) anchovy fillets, drained and chopped
 - 2 stalks celery chopped fine
 - 4 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
 - 1/4 cup wine vinegar
 - 1/4 cup salad or olive oil
 - Pinch of salt and pepper
- Beat together vinegar, oil and seasonings in blender or mixer; add chopped eggs. Toss all ingredients together and chill. Adorn with sliced green pepper and 6-8 sliced radishes. Serves 6.

VEGETABLE SPAGHETTI BREAD

- 3 eggs
 - 1 cup oil
 - 2 cups sugar
 - 2 cups cooked vegetable spaghetti
 - 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
 - 3 cups flour
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon baking soda
 - 1/4 teaspoon baking powder
 - 2 teaspoons cinnamon
 - 1 cup chopped pecans
- Beat eggs until foamy, add next 4 ingredients and mix. Add dry ingredients and nuts and mix together. Divide into 2 greased loaf pans. Bake at 325 degrees 60-65 mins.

SPAGHETTI SQUASH TRIFLE

- 6-8 1/2-inch slices vegetable spaghetti bread (above), 1 sliced banana, 1 8-oz. can apricots or peaches, drained and sliced, 1 3-oz. package strawberry or raspberry Jello, 1 package (2 cups) ready-made vanilla pudding, 2 jiggers apricot brandy or sweet sherry, 2 tablespoons grated chocolate or jimmies, 1 cup heavy whipping cream.
- Line bowl with half of the spaghetti squash bread, in a single layer. Top with half the bananas, fruit, and brandy. Repeat the layering. Make the Jello according to instructions and pour on top, allowing to "set" in the refrigerator. Then top with the pudding (or an egg custard such as Bird's, found in gourmet sections). Whip heavy cream till stiff. Decorate with the cream and chocolate curls. Serves 6.

Microwave Magic

Serve Traditional Corned Beef On St. Patrick's Day

We should soon be seeing many grocery ads with reasonable prices for corned beef rounds or briskets. The corned beef is a traditional meat served on St. Patrick's Day, along with cabbage.

This meat can be microwaved in a clay pot successfully. Be sure to soak the pot and lid in water as manufacturers directs. Place the meat in the pot with the fat side down.

Microwave as directed in the following recipe. Turn the meat several times during the cooking. Keep the vegetables on top of the meat. To serve carve corned beef diagonally across the grain in thin slices. A 3 pound corned beef will serve 6-8 persons. Leftovers make good sandwiches.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY CORNED BEEF

- 3 lbs. corned beef, round or brisket
 - 1 1/2 cups water
 - 3 medium potatoes, cut in sixths
 - 1 medium head of cabbage, cut in sixths
1. Place the corned beef with the seasonings that come with period to be tender. To complete the St. Patrick's Day dinner, prepare a green congealed fruit salad, Irish soda bread and a Cream de Menthe Parfait. You don't have to be Irish to enjoy these good things.

Next week: Florida Strawberries.

Simply Sumptuous Strawberry Desserts

We know spring is nigh when the first crop of strawberries appears in our markets. What a lift from winter doldrums to greet the beautiful red fruit and ponder the many ways to enjoy it.

Here are three simply sensational strawberry desserts designed for those whose pondering and preparation time is limited. They are beautiful, delicious and streamlined thanks to the cooperative effort between fresh berries and "convenience" products.

"Elegant but easy" is a good way to describe this Strawberry Chocolate Torte that "marries" two popular flavors in a scrumptious cake that serves 8 to 10 people. If you have the time and inclination bake four 9-inch layers from "scratch." Or, you may prefer to use a cake mix and back two 9-inch layers; cut them each horizontally into two. If you choose the quicker route, be sure to cool the layers completely before cutting them with a sharp knife. You may find it helpful to mark off the layers' midpoint with toothpicks before halving them. Incidentally, cake freezes beautifully, so you can bake the cake layers in advance of making the filling and assembling the torte.

For best results, thaw the layers slowly and do not remove the freezer wrapping until you are ready to proceed with the recipe.

For a truly quick and easy dessert treat, try the Strawberry Almond Pie. The delicious fresh strawberry filling is made in minutes by combining packages of fruit flavor gelatin and pudding and pie filling mix with water in a saucepan, bringing the mixture to a boil, then stirring in the remaining ingredients.

Dress up the pie with a garnish of frozen whipped topping or serve it plain. Either way, it's sure to become a "regular" at your house.

Finally, the impressive-looking Strawberry Tart is a perfect example of the wonders you can create when you combine fresh strawberries with handy "staples" — fruit flavor gelatin and frozen whipped topping. Beneath the fresh, gelatin-glazed berries is a wholesome, creamy filling of sour cream and whipped topping. The rich, crisp shortbread crust is easily prepared in a 9-inch springform or flan pan.

Celebrate spring this year with a fresh crop of strawberry desserts made quicker, easier and better with fruit flavor gelatin, pudding and frozen whipped topping.

STRAWBERRY CHOCOLATE TORTE

- 1 1/2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
- 2-3rd cup butter or margarine
- 4 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 3 eggs
- 1 package (3 oz.) strawberry flavor gelatin
- 2-3rd cup boiling water
- 2 cups ice cubes
- 1 container (8 oz.) frozen whipped topping, thawed
- 1 cup diced strawberries

Combine flour, sugar, baking soda, salt, baking powder, butter, melted chocolate, water and vanilla in large mixer bowl. Beat at low speed to blend; then beat 2 minutes at medium speed, scraping bowl frequently. Add eggs; beat 2 minutes longer. Pour into four 9-inch layer pans which have been lined with paper. (Layers will be thin.) Bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes, or until cake tester inserted into center comes out clean. Cool in pans about 10 minutes. Remove from pans and finish cooling on racks.

Dissolve gelatin completely in boiling water, stirring about 3 minutes. Add ice cubes and stir constantly until gelatin is thickened, about 2 to 3 minutes. Remove any unmelted ice. Using wire whip, blend in whipped topping, then whip until smooth. Fold in strawberries and chill, if necessary, until mixture will mound. Place 1 cake layer on serving plate; spread with 1 1/2 cups gelatin mixture; top with second layer. Repeat layers. Chill about 1 hour. Garnish with strawberries and mint, if desired. Store any leftover cake in refrigerator.

STRAWBERRY ALMOND PIE

- 1 package (3 oz.) strawberry flavor gelatin
 - 1 package (4-serving size) vanilla flavor pudding and pie filling
 - 1 1/2 cups water
 - 1 1/2 pints strawberries, hulled and sliced
 - 1/2 cup chopped toasted almonds
 - 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
 - 1 baked 9-inch pie shell, cooled
- Combine gelatin and pie filling mix in saucepan. Stir in water. Cook and stir over high heat until mixture comes to a boil. Remove from heat and stir in strawberries, almonds and almond extract. Let stand about 5 minutes; then pour into pie shell. Chill until set, about 3 to 4 hours. Garnish with thawed frozen whipped topping, if desired.

STRAWBERRY TART

- 1 package (3 oz.) strawberry flavor gelatin
 - 1/2 cup boiling water
 - 1/2 cup cold water
 - 2 cups ice cubes
 - 1/2 cup sour cream
 - 1 cup thawed frozen whipped topping
 - 1 baked 9-inch Shortbread Crust, cooled
 - 2 cups fresh strawberries, hulled and halved
- Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Measure 1/4 cup, add 1/2 cup cold water and set aside. Add ice cubes to remaining gelatin; stir constantly until gelatin begins to thicken, about 3 minutes. Remove any unmelted ice. Using wire whip, blend in sour cream and whipped topping and whip until smooth. Spoon into Shortbread Crust. Arrange strawberries, cut side down, on filling. Chill measured gelatin until slightly thickened; spoon over strawberries. Chill until firm, about 2 hours.
- Shortbread Crust:
- Blend 1/2 cup softened butter or margarine and 1/2 cup sugar together with a pastry blender or fork. Add 1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour and mix until crumbs are formed. Then mix thoroughly with hands to form a soft dough. Press evenly onto bottom and sides of 9-inch flan or springform pan. Prick bottom of crust with fork. Bake at 325 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool in pan. Loosen sides, and remove carefully. If crust sticks, heat gently a few seconds over low heat.
