

Doctors Differ On Smallpox

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two researchers from the National Communicable Disease Center recommended today that routine childhood smallpox vaccination be discontinued.

The scientists, they declared, no longer outweigh the risks. The recommendation came from Dr. J. Michael Lane, chief of the domestic branch of the center's smallpox eradication program, and Dr. J. D. Miller, director of the program, in a report to a meeting of the American Public Health Association.

TEAM TEACHING concept is discussed by Carol Murdock School faculty members of Cupertino, Calif., with local school officials. School Supt. John Angel (right) consults with Marion L. Pelech, Gloria Jensen, D'Anne Carleton and Toni Greene (top photo). Spring Lake School principal Richard Prater is briefed by Jan Felock and Ardette Percy. (Marvann Miles Photos)

Dr. Katz was quoted in the latest issue of Medical World News, a weekly journal for physicians, as saying he feels that reactions to smallpox vaccine which cause seven to eight deaths a year, are no justification for stopping mass vaccination.

Drs. Lane and Miller argued that the United States can expect a minimum of 210 deaths from vaccination reactions in the next 30 years.

Blood Cells Attack The Heart . . . ?

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — White blood cells—the body's shock troops against invading germs—might also be among the underlying causes of heart attacks, a team of New York researchers said today.

The possibility is suggested by research on rabbits, reported Dr. Sanford C. Sprague and several colleagues of New York City's Veterans Administration Hospital and Downstate Medical Center.

In atherosclerosis, arteries annual meeting of the American Heart Association's Council on Atherosclerosis, Dr. Sprague stressed that further work needs to be done before white blood cells could definitely be incriminated in human heart disease.

But he said the rabbit research adds up to this: "Certain white blood cells have the ability to invade the inner wall of an artery, lodge there, become inflamed cells called 'foam cells' and apparently can contribute to the process of 'atherosclerosis'—a technical term for a dangerous form of hardening of the arteries.

In atherosclerosis, arteries are clogged with particles of fatty substances deposited on the inner lining of the blood vessel. It long has been under suspicion as a major cause of coronary heart attacks. Dies high in animal fats and oils have been blamed by many scientists as being key contributors.

In the New York experiments, 3-month-old rabbits from the same litter were divided into two groups. Both groups were fed diets rich in cholesterol, a chemical component of animal fats and oils.

After ten weeks, white blood cells were isolated from one group of rabbits and injected into the other animals. The blood cells were tagged with a radioactive material so they could be located later in the recipients' arterial tissue.

It was found that transplanted white blood cells invaded the arterial wall, at the site of atherosclerotic deposits already formed there, and contributed to foam-cell formation.

Cuban Exile Studies English Here

By BILL SCOTT
From Camaguey, Cuba, to Maracaibo, Venezuela, to Sanford, Fla., U.S.A. This was the journey made by a well-dressed, mustached gentleman who will be observed by shoppers at Touche's Drug Store in downtown Sanford.

Humberto Peniche is his name and this is a portion of his story that cannot have an ending as long as the communist government of Fidel Castro remains in power.

Peniche is one of the many Cubans who refused to live under the communist yoke and left their homes with little more than the clothes on their backs rather than lose precious freedom and exist in the same manner as cattle herded by a madman.

Now 41, Peniche left his 300-acre Cuban ranch in September of 1961 for Venezuela, where he established himself in the tractor business.

With his wife, Angela, Humberto Jr., and Imacina, his two sons, Peniche settled at Caracas, Venezuela, for three months before moving on to Maracaibo and the start of another life as general manager of a tractor sales firm.

Recognizing the importance of being able to speak English at this is the commercial language of the world, the industrious Cuban decided to learn the language and for this reason came to Miami, where he became entangled in the "make or buy" controversy.

Peniche is learning English and would appreciate anyone stopping by for a chat about anything.

His conversation is still limited but he is getting better and would welcome the opportunity to try out his English.

He intends to return to Venezuela by the end of the month and once more will become involved in his tractor sales until the time comes one day when he can join other Cubans returning home to Cuba.

Television 'Camera' May Let Blind 'See'

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer
BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — A tiny television camera worn like a miner's headlamp to give sight to the blind should be ready for testing on human beings in three to four years, an eye research scientist says.

Physicist Herbert Schimmel of Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York told a seminar for scientists Wednesday that miniaturization of equipment will permit fabrication of a prototype device next year.

"Tests with animals should come in 1971-72," he said, "and by 1973-74, tests with humans is in development of a television camera small enough to fit in the eye socket might come within five to ten years, Schimmel said.

He said the artificial eye would work this way: Electronic signals from the camera would be transmitted to tiny wires implanted in the brain in an area known as the visual cortex, which normally receives impulses from the eye.

The brain would translate these signals into images which should show motion, depth and even color, Schimmel said.

Another speaker at the seminar, sponsored by Research to Prevent Blindness, Inc., a philanthropic organization, demonstrated a wheelchair with a television attachment which enables paraplegics to "see" through their slits.

Dr. Paul Bachy-Rita of the University of the Pacific Graduate School of Medical Science, San Francisco, said 40 blind students had learned to "see" with the device, some after as little as 10 hours of training.

The pigeons found on city streets are known as Columba livia or blue rock dove, a native of Europe, Asia, and Africa, who hitchhiked to the New World.

Apollo 12's Lunar Probe And Landing Ready

Apollo 12, second moon-bound manned American spacecraft, takes off tomorrow from Cape Kennedy with three astronauts ready for the second thrilling lunar walk ever attempted by mankind. It is less than four months ago that the saga of Columbia and its Eagle was indelibly written on the pages of history with Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin A. Aldrin, Jr., and Michael Collins doing the writing.

Now there are three new names to become equally familiar to our fellow-Americans and to the peoples of all the world during the Apollo 12 mission. These are Astronauts Charles (Pete) Conrad, commander, Richard Gordon and Alan Bean. This time it will not be a "one small step for man, a giant leap forward for mankind" as Armstrong termed it.

Sometimes it certainly is true that "you cannot see the wood for the trees." John Heywood, English sage of the 16th century included this saying in his "Proverbs."

Looking at his statistic from the viewpoint of percentage of increase, the figure is even more astonishing and pleasing. "Value of shipments increased 226 per cent during the period 1947-67 to $5.9 billion."

There has been very little change in the total number of daily newspapers during the past 10 or 20 years, while their circulation increased 7.2 per cent in 1968 over 1959 and 16.2 per cent in 1968 over 1950.

Capital expenditures for new plants and equipment totaled $285 million in 1967, almost $60-million above 1966 outlays and double those of a decade ago. Capital expenditures by newspapers in the past dozen years totaled slightly less than $2-billion.

There has been very little change in the total number of daily newspapers during the past 10 or 20 years, while their circulation increased 7.2 per cent in 1968 over 1959 and 16.2 per cent in 1968 over 1950.

Subscription income during the same period climbed 114.5 per cent for dailies 342 per cent for weeklies. Advertising income went up 234 per cent for dailies and 212 per cent for weeklies.

STRATEGIC HEIGHTS

Crane's Worry Clinic:

Chaucer As Psychologist

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D. CASE 1-429: Chaucer is one of the giants in the development of English literature.

But he also was a superb Applied Psychologist. For he records a story that all young people should read.

It deals with three men who were celebrating with Neutr until they crew untidy hotel. "We're not afraid of death," they boasted. "So let's go out and find Death."

As they headed down the road, they met an old man. Flirting that he was close to Death they asked him where they could find the Grim Reaper.

But there was nobody under the tree when they reached it, but they discovered a pouch full of gold pieces on the ground.

What Conrad and Bean, the moon-walkers will be planning is a seven-hour stroll on a surface which has now been somewhat better known as the moon rocks have been analyzed by scientists.

But what will be added to mankind's knowledge of the moon and the universe is surely still undecidable until after the event.

However, there are side-issues connected with the Apollo 12 flight which were not present in the build-up and highly-charged emotional atmosphere which enveloped the Apollo 11 blast-off.

Of course the most important is the fact that President Richard M. Nixon is to be watching from the VIP area on Cape Kennedy as the blast-off takes place.

Keenly conscious and grateful for the tremendous boost which was given American leadership by the success of Apollo 11 and which accompanied him on his Asian tour, President Nixon now comes to Cape Kennedy with the added aura of general support which has become his in the difficult Vietnam war issue.

Yet this trip and this event should not be obscured or distorted by lesser issues and political machinations. For what Astronauts Conrad, Gordon and Bean will be doing in space towers figuratively as well as practically above merely mundane affairs.

Now these well-prepared and brave young men will be engaged in the less dramatic but much more important task of looking at designated areas of the moon and seeking for specific answers to questions which emerged as the Apollo 11 data was analyzed.

Futile Fight On Marijuana?

NEA Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON (NEA)—A study of narcotics in Maryland on the outskirts of the nation's capital organizes to keep marijuana from their children at school and in neighborhood hangouts.

These men and women are concerned—and desperate. But neither are experts in their way through school. The parents pressure school authorities, local police and other officials to step up their efforts in eradicating the weed.

The parents pressure school authorities, local police and other officials to step up their efforts in eradicating the weed. They get together to educate themselves and their children on marijuana and other drugs.

These parents are not optimistic that much can be done. But neither are experts in their field. Though the official announcements of the strengthened Federal Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs sound confident, the data available to this reporter does not back up a rosy outlook.

From everywhere that has been learned, organized crime has not taken up the pushing of marijuana. So far as is known, it follows consistent patterns. Many are sophisticated. This means they are extremely difficult to catch. It means, too, that when you catch one you are sure to catch another. This is the nature of the business. It is a business that is not easily broken up. It is a business that is not easily broken up.

Interpretive Report: Hard Thinking On Mars Probe

By RICHARD WILSON WASHINGTON, D. C. — Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk has written a public letter advocating that the decision on whether to send a probe to Mars should be left to the next generation.

But there was nobody under the tree when they reached it, but they discovered a pouch full of gold pieces on the ground. Gladly they contented the gold; they decided this windfall merited a little celebration.

Moon Shot Prospect Is Bright

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL, Associated Press Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Apollo 12, man's second excursion to the moon, was back on schedule for Friday's launch today after technicians swapped out a leaking fuel tank and began the laborious process of re-loading it.

"We look real good now," said Paul C. Donnelly, launch operations manager.

The launching is set for 11:22 a.m. EST Friday.

Charles Conrad Jr., Richard Gordon Jr., and Alan L. Bean — the Navy commanders who are manning the flight—relaxed this morning by doing aerobics in the jet trainers at nearby Patrick Air Force Base.

Their condition was good and so were forecasts for Friday's launch weather.

President and Mrs. Nixon and Vice President and Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew are scheduled to be among the 300,000 visitors expected for the launch.

The leak in the hydrogen tank was discovered Wednesday when crews had loaded it to 80 per cent of capacity. It was removed late at night and replaced with one taken from a hangar being readied for launch next March.

The tank itself holds 28 pounds of hydrogen, kept in a liquid state by cooling to 423 degrees below zero. There are two such tanks for hydrogen and two for oxygen in a service compartment behind the main cabin.

"We're comfortable because we know our problem," Donnelly said. "The problem is in the tank. We have to get it out of there and get a new tank in."

150 Homes Planned In Sanford

Sanford monetary support in the amount of $8,000 is needed to provide a furnished common room to the proposed Bram Towers.

This will be explained by Harold Kastner, president of Sanford Towers, Inc., during the group's Friday noon meeting at the Seminole Chamber of Commerce building.

Kastner said the United States is going to require local residents to fund the cost of the common room as a means of participation before funds will be made available by U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to construct the 151-family apartment building for elderly and handicapped at a cost of nearly $2 million.

The site for the structure is still to be decided from among three locations now under consideration, Kastner said.

Bram Towers is being sponsored by Co-operative Parishes of Longwood, Delray and Sanford, which is required by the federal government before the HUD grant is approved. The non-profit group was first incorporated in 1967 with Lee P. Moore as temporary chairman.

Harold Jacobson, vice president; Vernon Mize, secretary; Howard Hodges, treasurer;

Moore, James Hoening, John Mercer, Howard McQuilly and George Touhy, directors.

The complex will be composed of 151 apartments; 115 must be rented in advance before construction is approved.

Projected rentals will be $75 for a one-bedroom apartment and $90 for a two-bedroom apartment, Kastner said.

Old Guard Repudiated

By MYRON BELKIND, Associated Press Writer

NEW DELHI (AP) — Three-fourths of the Indian Congress party's members in Parliament repudiated the party's old-guard leaders today and gave Prime Minister Indira Gandhi an overwhelming vote of confidence.

More than 200 of the 429 Congress members in the two legislative houses gave Mrs. Gandhi a cheering, desk-thumping ovation as she entered their caucus.

Then 310 of them adopted a resolution declaring "invalid and unjustified" her expulsion from the party Wednesday by the conservative majority on the party executive committee.

There was one abstention but no opposing votes because Mrs. Gandhi's opponents boycotted the meeting.

"Mrs. Gandhi continues to be leader of the party and enjoys the full support and confidence of the party," the resolution declared.

Supporters of Mrs. Gandhi said many of the absent 118 Congress members of Parliament had been unable to attend the caucus because they could not get to New Delhi in time. But at least 50 of these in the lower house are considered supporters of the old guard and are expected to refuse to support the prime minister when Parliament resumes Monday.

Red Cross Services Explained

Christian Bekke, president of the Orange City Red Cross Chapter, will speak at the monthly meeting of the DeLaney Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons, Friday, Nov. 14, at 10 a.m. in the DeLaney Fireman's Recreation Hall. He will explain the Red Cross services available to the Southwest Volusia area people through the Orange City Chapter. His address will be followed by a film showing the devastation from Hurricane Camille and the relief and rehabilitating activities of the American Red Cross in the damaged areas.

Mrs. Dorothy Bennett of DeLand, AARP Director for Northeast Florida, will install the new chapter officers.

Mrs. Dorothy Watson, who has retired to Deltona, has a successful career in planning and conducting several annual tours, was appointed Friday by the Chapter Board of Directors as tour director.

Mrs. Watson will discuss plans for tours for Chapter members at the Friday chapter meeting.

11 Yanks Killed, 38 Wounded

VCs Launch Major Attack

By GEORGE ESPER, Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops made their biggest ground attack along the demilitarized zone since the U.S. bombing halt more than a year ago, killing 11 Americans, wounding 38 and shooting down two helicopters, military spokesmen reported today.

Sixty-six North Vietnamese out of a force estimated at more than 500 were killed in 17 hours of close-range combat that raged until dawn today six miles southwest of the allied outpost at Con Thien.

More than 100 miles to the south, in the populous coastal lowlands south of Da Nang, 130 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were reported killed and 38 captured in the heaviest fighting in that region in 24 months. Allied casualties in eight actions in the area were seven Americans and three South Vietnamese killed and 26 Americans and 13 South Vietnamese wounded.

Another battle, on the edge of the U Minh forest in the Mekong Delta, brought total enemy casualties reported in the past 24 hours to 251 killed and 58 captured.

The allied commands in their weekly casualty summaries reported that the number of Americans killed in action last week totaled 97, a slight increase over the previous week, while South Vietnamese and enemy fatalities were the highest in two months. The summaries listed 476 government troops and 2,476 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed. Another 598 Americans were wounded.

"Enemy activity last week increased by 100 per cent compared to the previous week," said the communique from the Saigon government.

The weekly report brought the total American combat dead reported since Jan. 1, 1961, to 39,329 and the total reported for the enemy to 568,993 in that period.

Lyman Civinettes To Be Honored

Lyman High School's Junior Civinettes will be chartered tonight at a dinner honoring the club members at the House of Steak at 7:00 p.m. The club is sponsored by the Sanford Civilians.

Doing the honors will be William Seymour, Florida district governor-elect, who is a noted speaker and humorist throughout the state. Other notables present will be Don Rathwell, past district governor.

Dr. Kenneth Wells, president of the Freedoms Foundation, said in Valley Forge, Pa., that President Nixon should offer a television defense of his policies featuring Edgewood, the U.S. ambassador in South Vietnam, and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. troops in Vietnam.

Organizers of Vietnam protests in New York have invited demonstrators to Sheep Meadow in Central Park, to lie in the grass and release more than 39,000 black balloons, one for each American killed in Vietnam. Several thousand white balloons will be released, an estimate of those to die in the past year.

Three Cool Gunmen Steal $1.37 Million

By BOB MONROE, Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "It was a most professional job," said the police official heading the investigation of the $1.37 million Wells Fargo armored car hold-up by three gunmen—the second largest cash robbery in U.S. history. "They were very cool."

Wednesday during daylight theft of Aqueduct Race Track receipts was nearly foiled by an unidentified assassin who became suspicious when she peered out her window and saw three men not in uniform transferring money bags to a car.

Her call to police brought patrol cars to the scene minutes after the hold-up. The three Wells Fargo guards handcuffed inside their truck.

The cash haul surpassed the $1,212,218 taken in the 1960 U.S. mail truck in Plymouth, Mass., on Aug. 12, 1962.

Robbers got $7 million in cash in a train robbery in Britain in August 1963.

Americans Say 'Si' to Spanish Accents

By VIVIAN BROWN

Do you need a little Spanish chest in which to store your doubloons or treasure jewelry?

Of would the seniora prefer a hanging lamp for her "casa"? These and other Mediterranean accessories were at the New York lamp and home furnishings show, where a suit of armor would set you back only $360. At that price, you might even find one that fits and that may be the main idea.

In some ways, the show resembled the scene of a 14th century European flea market, after the defeat of the Spanish Armada.

There were swords, breastplates, helmets, gemstones, heraldic plaques and military plaques that glorified soldiers of swashbuckling days. Three-foot silver and gold wall plaques of Pizarro and Don Sencho were shining attractions at one booth.

At another, five feet tall Spanish knights and halberdiers stood on pedestals. Some figures were mural; others were plastic coated to simulate bronze and other metals.

Lethal looking decorative accessories such as cannons and lances made it difficult to determine where decorative left off and home protection began.

It wasn't only the hard cold military line that was being romanticized. Floor lamps for the rickshaw set were spectacular.

An elegantly-dressed girl of Chinese ancestry and a man, both carrying lanterns, stood side by side. They were certainly starting the most sophisticated jewel trade.

To refresh leftover sandwiches, but only if they're not toast. Cut into quarters for appetizers. The moment hors d'oeuvres.

Guests presented Mrs. Boone with gifts and played games appropriate to the occasion.

Attending were Drena Par-Oakley and Jean Lester.

Appointments on the refreshment table followed the traditional theme of pink and blue. A white lace cloth covered the table which was centered with arrangements of pink, white and blue mums. An exquisite, be-guiling stork arose from a cloud of white, pink and blue net.

The color theme was carried in the refreshments with a beautiful sheet cake of pink and blue booties a sting on a white blazer's of cake.

Family Returns From Europe

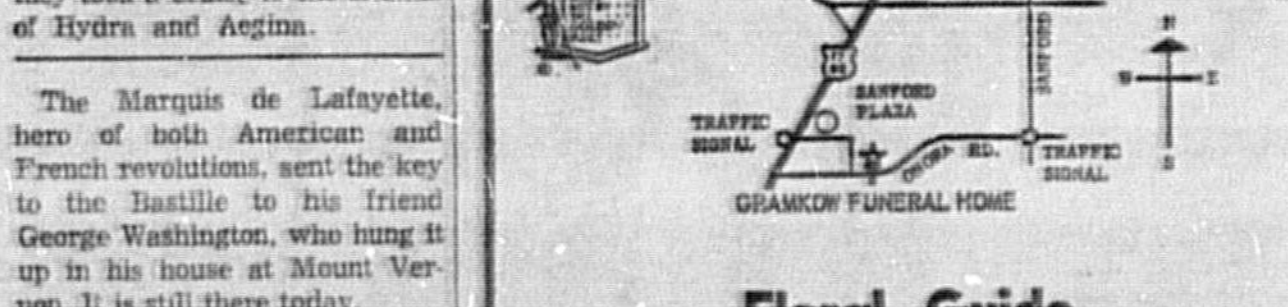

By LIZ BAKER

Mr. and Mrs. August L. Boni and children, Brenda, Danny and Lin, returned from a tour of Europe last week. The family of five returned to their home in Chulista, Fla., after a trip that was most enjoyable.

Mr. Boni says the children learned one beautiful lesson from the trip: "There's no place like home."

During their 11-day trip the family visited in Italy, Austria and Greece. In Italy they toured the city of Rome and found the Vatican to be most beautiful. During their tour of Austria they visited with relatives in Datas and from there they went to Greece where a tour of Ancient Athens led them to view the old Cemetery and the Museum. To highlight their trip they took a cruise to the islands of Hydra and Aegina.

The Marquis de Lafayette, hero of both American and French revolutions, sent the key to the Bastille to his friend George Washington, who hung it up in his house at Mount Vernon. It is still there today.

Appliance Selling

NEPTUNE, N.J. (AP) — A new program that will take high school and vocational school graduates and give them an opportunity to earn an above-average income at an early age through on-the-job training has been announced by Murray Connors, president of the Atlantic Appliance Co. here.

"This is the unique age," says Connors, "and if we're going to keep growing, we have to be creative, original and fast-moving." The on-the-job training concept is a revolutionary step forward in the appliance industry and Connors hopes that as trends will be followed by many companies.

Average pay for a beginning salesman can be as much as $12,000 he points out, although "a typical work week is as long as 52 hours. As the Atlantic salesman are paid on a commission-only basis, the progress of the company becomes a personal matter to them," concluded Connors.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Rudy works for a large company, and as you know, there is a speaking order in all companies. The chairman of the board is appalled by the vice presidents, the vice presidents are appalled by the department heads, the department heads are appalled by the buyers, and so on down the line.

Walt, who works for Rudy's company has a party, they have an orchestra and dancing. Rudy is a very good dancer, but I never get to dance with him. He spends the entire evening dancing with his boss's wife, so the boss will be free to dance with all the cute young things. Rudy says I am not to complain because this is "business etiquette," which is a part of his job.

New I'm all for Rudy making it a girl who has been made "single" ever since the death of her husband two years ago. The boss lost his wife about a year ago, and these two have been very chummy ever since. They've even taken out-of-town trips together. Just the married folks, and have recently announced to the surprise of no one that they are "engaged" to be married.

A large wedding is planned and I have heard that

Jacoby On Bridge

Today's hand was sent to us by Leon Levinson, who has been playing in Mississippi and Alabama bridge tournaments as long as we have, which means he played in the first one.

He didn't show us the East and West hands, but the bidding of diamonds toward dummy's hand. He won the heart suit with a club lead but West opened the 10 of hearts and Leon had a chance to make his slam.

The normal play would be to draw trumps and lead the jack of diamonds toward dummy's hand. This would represent a 50-50 chance but Leon tried a different line. He won the heart in dummy and led the seven of diamonds at trick two. His reasoning was that West was the marked with the diamond ace and the play of a diamond on the king would not work. He asked us what we thought of his play.

Our answer is that it pays to know your opponents. Since he was sure that West would have had it, then there was no reason to lead toward the king.

His choice lay between leading this play and that of leading a low club at trick two in the hope that West would win the trick and not lead a diamond suit. That play would not have worked if West had not succeeded. It did work and we see why Mr. Levinson, after 40 years of play, is still a dangerous opponent.

DEAR POLLY: I read a portion of about one cup of black to two gallons of water. You may have to experiment a bit to get just the effect you like. Place water in a large enough container so it will be covered. The wood usually floats, so I weigh it down with a rock. After turning the piece so that all sides will be wet. Leave it in the solution overnight and even longer if you wish. The soaking does not produce the effect you want. Dry thoroughly in the sun. Good luck and good drifting.

TWO YOUNG MEN NAMED TO BOARD of the Seminole Mutual Concert Association are Bruce Moyer, chosen to represent the high school students of the county, and Ted Drayway, Jr., who will represent his peers at Seminole Junior College. (Don Vincent Photo)

Two Students Elected As Concert Directors

The Seminole Mutual Concert Association has elected college and high school students to represent the young people of the county on the association's board of directors. Bruce Moyer, a Seminole High School student, and Ted Drayway, Jr., Seminole Junior College, received similar letters this morning from MICA President Kay Bartholomew outlining what the organization hopes to accomplish by their appointment. The letter stated that the students should be able to advise the board on a course of action to capture the interest of their peers and to offer suggestions on how to attract students to concerts as a natural extension of their education as well as for entertainment. Specifically, the two students would serve on a talent advisory committee that could possibly obtain an attraction of special interest to the young people of the county. Bruce, a senior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brown, of Lake Alamy. He is the youngest man who was selected as one of 7 chemistry students in the United States to participate in the 10th student science training program at Colorado College during his junior year. He is the president of the Marching Seminoles Band, the secretary of the Future Teachers Association and vice president of the National Honor Society Chapter at his school. He is also the recipient of an award in American history. He is a straight A student. Last summer he was chosen as a Boys' State representative and was selected to attend a science symposium at the University of Florida. Ted, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howell T. Drayway Sr., Winter Park, is a sophomore at SJC. He is a violinist with the Central Symphony Orchestra and is the SJC representative of Alliance Française, an organization for French speaking adults and students. Ted attends SJC on a work-study program. In addition to serving as president of the Student Teachers Organization, he is a student member of the Modern Language Association.

Raincoats For Sheep

SYDNEY (AP) — The latest for the well-dressed Australian sheep to wear after shearing is a clear plastic raincoat. They come in two grades: this one at 10 Australian cents (11 US cents) each, and thick ones for 10 cents (10 US cents). It's reckoned they will raise the temperature of the air around the sheep by 15 degrees, and will last a fortnight. Seven sheep in a thousand die from the cold after shearing in Australia, and that's nearly a million sheep. But despite that, it's not a financial proposition for the average sheep rancher. The value of the sheep just works out at about 4 US cents a head of those shorn, or about one-fourth the price of the thick raincoats.

Kasey The Gourmet Has Companion

By F. T. MACFARLANE
Associated Press Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Kasey, the gourmet alligator, is not alone out there in the vast open spaces between the rocket launch pads of Merritt Island and the Kennedy Space Center. There is wildlife in abundance, mostly birds and small animals. And, you should see those marshmallows, since he doesn't come up and beg for them. He'll eat just about anything. The N.A.S.A. headquarters cafeteria. "I went to mid 37 and got an alligator that was in the way just last week," said Jerome Carroll, 31-year-old assistant manager of the Merritt Island National Wildlife Refuge. "He was very aggressive, about four feet long." Carroll said. "I put him in the 'board' quarters (with Kasey)." Carroll is a man with an eye for beauty in nature, but he has never been for over a year. The refuge, established in August 1963, includes most of the space center on Merritt Island. It is all closed, however, after Apollo 12 lifts off.

War Effort Unity Urged By Muskie

By FRED VAN PELT
ORLANDO — While imparting the thought that he is a "middle-of-the-roader," U. S. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie (D-Maine) told 800 Democrats at a $50-a-plate fund raising dinner last night that now is the time to unite in the common cause of saving humanity. "What is being said in the streets, what is being done in the streets, cannot be ignored," said the 1968 vice presidential nominee. "We may not agree with the young people's methods of presenting their views, but it very well could be that they may have the answer to our problems." In other words, the views of everyone should be jelled into a common thought rather than searching for differences. "It is this unhealthy preoccupation," Senator (Continued on Page 1B, Col. 5)

And Away We Go...

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY (AP) — America's Apollo 13 astronauts rode their command ship Yankee Clipper into earth orbit through a lightning storm today to start America's second moonlanding expedition despite heavy rains that for a while threatened delay. Charles "Pete" Conrad Jr., 39, Richard F. Gordon Jr., 40, and Alan L. Bean, 37, thundered away from Cape Kennedy at 11:23 a.m. EST on a Saturn 5 super-rocket that blasted the heavens and survived a possible lightning hit that momentarily disrupted communications. "I think we got hit by lightning," Conrad called just after mission controllers reported a serious loss of data from the fleeting spacecraft. Conversation between the ground and the spacecraft indicated lightning might have affected the instrument measuring unit which contains the rocket's guidance system. However, it did not prevent the astronauts from achieving orbit about 117 miles high, the first plateau on a trip to the moon. Their goal is a pinpoint landing in the lunar Ocean of Storms where they will spend 7 1/2 hours walking the surface for man's first detailed study of another planet. President and Mrs. Nixon were among thousands who braved a heavy downpour to watch the departure of the 36-story rocket. Nixon, bareheaded in the heavy rain, watched the launch from a viewing site 1/4 mile from the rocket pad. He became the first U.S. president to watch a manned space launch. It was the worst weather in history for an American manned flight. Observers saw two lightning bolts flash shortly after launch and the astronauts reported so many alarm lights aboard that they were unable to read them all. (Continued on Page 1B)

Chamber Changes Its Name

The Seminole Chamber of Commerce last night changed its name to the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce during the third quarterly directors meeting at the Sanford Civic Center. The directors voted the name change after a special survey committee report was read by John Y. Mercer, committee chairman, which listed four recommendations for consideration by the directors. These include: "1. We recommend that the organization be restructured, that new by laws be adopted, that it be called the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce. We would suggest that a strong retail merchants division be incorporated as a regular arm of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce." "2. We recommend that a dues increase be instituted for all members with the mid-year amount being raised and that all other dues be on some sliding scale to be determined. This, of course, would necessitate further study by the chamber. In addition, we recommend that we explore to the fullest, those out-of-town business firms which do a large dollar amount of business in the Sanford area and that a special committee be appointed to put the finger on them for membership." "3. We recommend that the chamber approach the City of Sanford for additional financial assistance to replace the funds withdrawn by the Seminole County Board of Commissioners." "4. We further recommend that budget expenditures be reduced in line with the projected amounts of income, which, of course, will depend upon the membership drive and the amount of additional financial assistance from the City of Sanford." Members of the committee making the recommendations included: William Boatner, Scott Burns, Randall Glase, Howard Hodges, Walter Glaw, Vincent Roberts, Garnett White and Mercer. Preceding the business session, the directors board a debate by Senators William Gumbert and Kenneth Plante on a one-house legislature versus a two-house governing body. Gumbert took position favoring the one-chamber body, while Plante and Plante opposed his change.

Sanford Approves Straw Ballot

All commissioners seemed to agree that public reply to these questions would lead to a solving of the present zo problems. The commission also emphasized that voters replies would be used to give the commission a direction and would indicate approval of expenditures for placing the three priorities into operation. In discussing the proposed bus system for the city, the apparent feeling was a reluctance to subsidize the measure until a legal opinion from City Attorney William Hutchinson was available. Commissioner J. H. Crapps asked where the $12,000 to subsidize the transit firm could be found since it is not budgeted. Commissioner W. Vincent Roberts admitted there is a need for some form of public transportation but wondered if city could not do the job instead of subsidizing a private firm. Mayor Lee P. Moore said he was reluctant to approve spending $1,000 a month until a survey is made of people to determine how many would ride buses if they were available. Moore said he had seen nothing resembling a head count on the matter, and the discussion ended. The Sanford Transit Company, Inc., was sold, effective tomorrow, according to the present owner Charles Collier. New owner will be Tom Barbour, owner and operator of the Yellow Cab Company of West Palm Beach. Local manager will be John Payne. (Photo of Payne on Page 1B).

Nov. 22 'D-Day'

By ANN HILEY
Proposed rezoning of property on SR 434 failed to garner enough votes last night at a rezoning meeting held prior to the regular Longwood City Council session. The matter will be brought up again at a special meeting on Nov. 22. North Orlando Mayor Clifford Jordan failed to gain support for his proposal that Longwood lease jail facilities to the Village of North Orlando for $1 a day per prisoner with North Orlando assuming responsibilities. It was brought to the attention of the council by City Attorney S. J. Davis Jr. that the city charter makes no provision for appointing a zoning board, so one will have to be created. A group of citizens is presently active in this regard. Mayor Kenneth Brown recommended that the city attorney attend meetings of the zoning board, adding, "If you're not there, I won't be." Council chairman E. E. Williamson said the board should bring requests to the regular council meetings for legal advice as the attorney is paid to attend council meetings and zoning meetings. Jay Hicks, Longwood resident, representing the Lyman Boatner Club, asked the council to help Lyman obtain a stadium by declaring Nov. 22 as "D-Day" (honoring deeds to the field would be sold) and the resolution was granted. Council assured Rev. Jack Lindsay of its co-operation when he requested rezoning of land to be used as a youth shelter. There will be no continuation of bus service in Longwood as there was not enough patronage by city residents when the plan was tried. A bid of $30,000 has been received from Brown Steel Contractor for a water tank. No action will be taken until Dec. 5 special meeting. Bids are being advertised for a new police car. New bids will be advertised for the paving of Lake and Wheeler Streets as those received were in excess of the allotted amount. A rally for candidates for city council will be held Nov. 25 in the city park at 7:30 p.m. sponsored by the Longwood Chamber of Commerce. There are nine candidates for 13 seats.
