THE Water's fine

Last summer she screamed when we took her near the ocean. Now she loves to splash around under her parents' watchful eye. One day she'll be swimming out past the breakers and riding in on a wave.

How does one explain this emerging courage? It is a combination of growth, training and confidence. And no two alone are sufficient — it takes all three.

These three have also their spiritual counterparts. From the day religious education commences, a child begins to show evidence of spiritual growth. This is followed by an aptitude for learning the simple but profound truths of Christian belief and practice. Ultimately we see evidence of a deep and enduring confidence in God — the magnificent quality we call Faith. Then moral courage, true character, emerges in the lives of our sons and daughters.

A vast spiritual ocean touches every shore of life. And those who once venture into the surf are never again content just to loll on the beach.

Man Jailed In Kidnap

A Sanford Naval Air Station man is being held on charges of aggravated assault and kidnaping following his arrest Friday afternoon after a prolonged investigation by area police.

The man, identified by police as Alan Dexter Burycki, 21, of Heavy Attack Wing 3, is being held in the county jail pending his court appearance.

Police said he forced a Sanford Atlantic National Bank bookkeeper, Miss Barbara Miller of Lake Mary, to drive him toward Jacksonville, only to change his mind when the car reached the junction of Interstate 4 and Highway 46.

The woman told police she had left the bank Thursday afternoon and was at the municipal parking lot off Hood Avenue when the airman confronted her and ordered her to drive to Jacksonville.

Miss Miller refused and Burycki pulled a knife, the bank employe said, and held it against her throat. He then got in the front seat and forced his captive to drive the car away.

The victim said she convinced Burycki she could not continue the trip to Jacksonville and he left the car as it neared Interstate 4.

She said she turned around and headed back to Sanford and noticed Burycki walking, also back toward the city. City, county, Florida Highway Patrol members and the constable's office were notified.

A trooper said he spotted the man at the lakefront where he entered a green automobile and disappeared inside the city limits.

Shortly after 6 p.m., about an hour after the episode started, City Patrolman Thomas Deppen said he saw the suspect enter another car, one bearing a Navy sticker on the windshield. A check of the sticker and the car showed it belonged to Burycki, police said.

The information was given to all area police authorities and the next day, Friday, Burycki was picked up and identified by the victim.

Did you know that until a week ago if you were able to get an ice cream cone in Washington, D. C., it was a "bootleg item"? Yep, in 1921 the District passed a law prohibiting the sale of solid milk products in any container smaller than one-half pint.

But now President Johnson has signed a bill to make it all legal, even though for Eskimo pies, cones and the like the law really was never enforced. Why was the statute on the books, you ask? Because the Health Department decided that the filling of the little "jiggers" of cream for the coffee was unsanitary as it was done in the lunch counters and restaurants. So, you now can buy, legally, that is, an ice cream cone when you go to visit Congressman Sidney Herlong or any other of your buddies in "The District." Feel better now?

Oh yes, and did you know that the cone for ice cream was invented in 1904 by a Syrian, W. M. Hamwi, who used it in his concession stand at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in St. Louis?

Speaking of strolling up the Downtown Shopping Center (as a good many of our Clockwinders have been doing), have you seen the paint job being done on the Downtown Cleaners office on Palmette? "Right purty, eh?" There will be others "sleeking up" their shops, too, ah betcha.

Counties in Florida whose school systems maintain certain criteria concerning food services can obtain a "high standard supplement" from the State. The supplement amounts to one cent per Type A lunch which includes either milk or a high-strength fruit juice.

Seminole County qualifies for the supplement. "It amounts," said Supt. R. T. Milwee, "to about $1,000 per month."

Don't let anyone tell you Confederate money isn't any good. You can get the face value of $1 and $2 bills, says Bill Durr, numismatist of Winter Park. $10's, $20's, and bigger denominations won't sell though.

The most valuable coin you can find is an 1850 Flying Eagle one cent piece. It's worth from $1,000 to $2,500.

The minting of money is about the biggest profit-making business of which we have heard recently. It only costs about 17 cents to make a hundred pennies; about 25 cents to make a 100 dimes, and only about 13 cents to make a silver dollar!

Did you know that the American Numismatic Association is the oldest permanently chartered non-profit organization in the United States? It was formed in 1892 and granted a Congressional charter in 1911.

National Demo Committee OKs Robert Petree

The Democratic National Committee has confirmed the appointment of Seminole County attorney, Robert G. Petree, as 1964 state campaign director and coordinator for all Florida.

Petree's duties will be organizational as well as administrative. His principal responsibility will be the state wide coordination of Democratic campaign efforts of the Young Democratic Clubs of Florida with the County Democratic Executive Committees and all the supporting Democratic organizations throughout the state.

Petree, 30 years old, and a relative newcomer to Florida has already run up a long list of party offices to his credit. In the past three years, he has been twice designated Outstanding District Vice President of the Young Democratic Clubs of Florida. This year, the National Democratic Party honored him as one of 10 outstanding young Democrats in the country. He is now serving his second term as president of the Orange County Young Democrats. Petree is also director of the Teen Democrats of Florida, a Democratic youth organization he helped organize. He has served as an advisory member of the Orange County Democratic Executive Committee for the past two years. In the recent primaries, Petree was a campaign manager for Elliott Roosevelt in his race for the Democratic National Committee's post.

Before coming to Florida, Petree was a personal campaign staff member of Governors Avril Harriman and Adlai Stevenson.

Two Defectors Go In Hiding In Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — Two Soviet musicians who defected to the West in Tokyo so they could play jazz in the United States flew here today and were immediately taken into hiding by American intelligence agents.

"These two persons will be afforded facilities for resting from their 9,000-mile flight," a U. S. Embassy spokesman told reporters.

Agents of the U. S. Army Counter Intelligence Corps (CIC) met Boris Midney, 27, a tenor saxophone player, and Igor Berukhitis, 31, a drummer, aboard the airliner that brought them from Tokyo.

The musicians were hustled into a waiting U. S. military sedan and sped to Rhein-Main air base.

By the time newsmen got to the air base, the musicians had vanished. Air Force officials professed not to know they had even arrived there.

It was assumed the "facilities for resting" referred to by the American spokesman were at Camp King, the U. S. intelligence center at Oberusel in the Taunus Mountains, a few miles north of Frankfurt.

Khanh Gets Free Hand In South Viet Nam's War

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI) — Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh had himself elected president Sunday by South Viet Nam's military junta and assumed near-dictatorial power to pursue the U. S. - supported war against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas. Today the government announced that all cabinet members, civilian and military, had submitted their resignations to Khanh, while remaining on the job at his pleasure.

This gave Khanh a free hand to weed out ministers suspected of neutralist leanings when he forms his new "war cabinet" within 30 days. Khanh, who is 36 years old, vacated the premiership to step up to the presidency. The premiership was abolished. Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh known as "Big Minh" who had been figurehead chief of state since Khanh ousted him from actual power last Jan. 30, was shunted aside to an "advisory" job.

Gen. Minh had not actually been president, but merely "chief of state." Khanh thus became the first president of South Viet Nam since the over-throw and death of Ngo Dinh Diem last Nov. 1-2. Khanh also retained the tities of chairman of the 62-man revolutionary council military junta and commander-in-chief of the armed forces.

He had already declared a state of emergency, during the Gulf of Tonkin crisis two weeks ago, when he said the country was in danger of invasion from the North. After Sunday's election, the only take on his power is that the junta must approve his decrees. But most of the junta-men owe their jobs to him.

Sen. Byrd Lets The Apples Fly

BERRYVILLE, Va. (UPI) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., in a speech with no surprises, rapped federal spending and the U. S. Supreme Court at his 42nd annual apple orchard picnic.

Byrd, 77, was silent on his presidential choice for November.

The mentor of the Virginia Democratic Party climbed atop an apple truck Saturday following a paper plate meal of barbecued chicken and baked beans, and gave his 4,000 guests a "Byrd's eye view" of Washington.

He called for an end to federal "spending for non-essentials."

He said economic "brain-trusters" in Washington "sound like they are trying to tie a lot of holes together with a piece of string."

Byrd, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said current federal fiscal policy "seems to be for the present generation to pay the debts of the past generation by issuing bonds for the next generations to pay."

As to the U. S. Supreme Court, Byrd said "Monday's are always big days for federal usurpation of power" because that's decision day for the court which has become "notorious" for tampering with the constitution.

"I suppose when they get through with the Constitution, they'll start on the Ten Commandments," he said.

Commies Learn Lesson

It is still a mystery why hopelessly outclassed North Viet Nam chose to take on the U.S. Navy.

Of the many explanations that have been offered, one is that North Viet Nam incited the blow against itself at this time in order to forestall a later series of sustained attacks on its hitherto privileged territory.

There have been rumblings from both the United States and South Viet Nam about carrying the war across the border into the north. The thinking is that North Viet Nam hoped to arouse world fears of the beginnings of World War III and thus force the United States into an international conference before it could carry out any military plans.

If this theory has plausibility, it suggests that North Viet Nam can place only limited reliance on the backing of Red China, and that it is Red China which is the real "paper tiger," afraid of any serious confrontation with its enemies. For war in and against North Viet Nam would give China no alternative but humiliation or involvement in war with the United States.

Whatever the explanation, it is difficult to see what the Communists have gained from this episode. They have not won world sympathy. The United States has made it clear it will not be intimidated. North Viet Nam has lost many ships and much of its naval support facilities.

As for a conference, President Johnson has stated that if all the participants in the 1954 Geneva Conference—which established the nations of North and South Viet Nam out of old French Indochina—lived up to their agreements, there would be no need for U.S. military presence in Southeast Asia, no need for a new international conference.

Now, after the PT boat attacks, if a meeting is what the Communists want, it will be at our leisure.

Nearly 27 years ago, the U.S. gunboat Panay was shelled and sunk by the Japanese on the Yangtze River in China. There was not, and could not be, any retaliation from a virtually unarmed America. There was not, and could not be, any moral pressure put on militaristic Japan by the pious League of Nations, which the United States had chosen not to join.

One wonders what course history might have taken had the United States been strong enough to reply in kind to this instance of unprovoked aggression, as well as others that occurred in the '30s, or if the League had been the strong, respected body which its heir, the United Nations, is today.

But it is not difficult to imagine what tomorrow's history would be like had the United States not responded with measured force to the actions of the North Vietnamese.

"Aggression unchallenged is aggression unleashed," said the President.

That is the lesson we learned from the Panay. That is the lesson it is to be hoped the Communists learned in the Gulf of Tonkin.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Blahla Democratic gains achieved in U.S. suburbs in 1960 with the late John F. Kennedy as presidential nominee would be wiped out this year if many white suburbanites decide Sen. Barry Goldwater may somehow help them slow or block Negroes seeking homes in their areas.

Conversations with suburban folk disclose that among some there is great resistance to the idea of Negro entry into the suburbs. Others say they won't mind, but occasionally the reality strikes them differently than the mere prospect.

A suburban dweller in Chicago's North side told a friend from his area: "I'm tired of all this talk. I wish a Negro would move onto my block next week and we'd be done with the matter."

His friend quietly replied: "A Negro just did move onto my street a short time ago."

The first man, confronted by the fact of change, greeted the response with stunned surprise: "Did he really?"

Negro leaders, housing specialists and others are deeply concerned at hostile attitudes among countless suburban whites. They believe that the Negro's desperate housing dilemma will not begin to be solved until his dispersal into the suburbs becomes a truly substantial fact.

To the extent that dispersal is blocked, the rising numbers of urban Negroes tend to push out in inevitable waves or segments of the older housing in the city proper. It is these waves which city ethnic groups fight with their "backlash."

For business leaders who comprise the urban power structure, the pulsing growth steadily greater. In some instances, if they do not soon throw their weight toward wider dispersal of their central city Negro populations, they will find their cities largely Negro in a few decades—and only the suburbs substantially white.

Thus the de facto segregation of the northern cities—a condition no community leader can publicly espouse but some of them privately approve—could work against some of the larger economic objectives of the power structure by creating a massive social imbalance in the cities.

Advocates of broader area dispersal for Negroes welcome, as a solid frame, the open occupancy laws which now govern some kinds of private housing in 18 states and more than 80 U.S. cities. Naturally, they were also grateful for the late John Kennedy's anti-bias housing order of November 1962.

Yet, even though they view with distress the prospect that one such law may be beaten down in a popular referendum this fall in California, they do not see those statutes as much more than a starting point.

Experience in many states suggests that all too few Negroes make use of these laws. Evictions by real estate people are frequently subtle and ingenious, and enforcement of the laws is lax.

Housing experts here say that a prime need is for a more receptive climate for the Negro in the suburbs. Only with that, they argue, will men in the housing industry drop their guard and begin general voluntary compliance with anti-bias laws.

Some suburban communities find "fair housing" groups springing up in an effort to provide a better climate. But more often than not these are spurred by a majority of the townfolk.

Another big barrier to Negro housing advance into the suburbs is economic. While government figures indicate that Negro incomes are rising steadily, that many more families can afford decent housing today than a decade or two ago, families tend to be larger, and savings far skimpy.

Nevertheless, it is clear from official statistics that many Negro families could indeed pay for good suburban housing, new or old, if the opportunity to buy were real. Many in the suburbs who fear the granting of that chance may try to express their concern at the polls in November.

Phil Newsom Says . . .

India's Role In Danger

UPI Foreign News Analyst
 Even under the late Jawaharlal Nehru, India's vast internal problems and the snail-like pace of her economic development were cause for concern for her future.

The fact this his successor, frail, 69-year-old Lal Bahadur Shastri, was a man virtually unknown to and unknowing of the world outside India could only add to the apprehension. And this apprehension was compounded when after only 17 days in office Shastri, too, fell ill, victim of what has been called a mild heart attack.

The attack bedded Shastri for most of a month and remains a source of the greatest worry.

Facing Shastri when he returned to preside over a meeting of his cabinet was another problem for India which Shastri has declared its "most formidable."

It is India's continuing inability to feed a population which already totals more than 600 million and is increasing by 10 million a year.

The state of Shastri's health and the food shortage, according to observers in India, together make up the greatest threat to Indian stability.

On the one side are the Indian Reds aiding and abetting food riots.

On the other are ambitious political leaders both inside and out of Shastri's ruling Congress party waiting to seize any opportunity that might arise as result of a prime minister too ill to rule.

At the moment an Indian delegation is in Washington hoping to negotiate for a similar deal for 20 million bushels of grain.

He has placed key men with a seeming readiness to get things done in foreign, food and agriculture and economic posts and he has shown himself willing to delegate authority.

India reached a record high production of 81 million tons of food grains in 1961, and has not equalled it since.

In 1960, the United States signed an agreement with India to supply 17 million tons of grain over a four-year period.

It involved $1.3 billion as compared to $250 million from Russia for last year's U. S. sale of four million tons of wheat. The Russians were required to pay in gold as compared to the rupees paid by India.

At the moment an Indian delegation is in Washington hoping to negotiate for a similar deal for 20 million bushels of grain.

The Lighter Side

United Press International
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — The male ego, which in recent years has taken a terrific beating, has just been dealt another heavy blow.

This one comes from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It reports that pre-fried bacon will soon be on the market.

"Canned bacon was used in military rations during World War II, but was not well received by the troops," but its department said in what may be the understatement of the year.

The reason was that mildly cured bacon soured in the can. And if it was cured enough to prevent spoiling, it was too salty to eat.

These shortcomings have now been eliminated and three large meat packers will soon start production of bacon that not only is canned but pre-fried.

"It needs only to be heated and served," the department said.

The shattering impact that this will have upon the men of America can hardly be over-estimated.

Bacon is the only thing the average man can cook. Many of us have spent years learning to fry bacon properly.

Some of us have elevated bacon-frying into the realm of fine art.

And now, with one swift cruel stroke, we are told that our skills are no longer needed. A man's bacon-frying ability has suddenly become as useless as his vermouth appendix. Which is saying a lot.

Pre-fried bacon undoubtedly will be a "convenience," as the department noted, but its true significance runs much deeper than that. I fear it may be the final step in the subjugation of the male sex to the female of the species.

Women already have gained equality or superiority in most other fields. But bacon-frying has remained a male stronghold.

It is well known that women are structurally unable to fry bacon without it being either too crisp or underdone. Just as nature assigned the child-bearing function to woman, it gave the bacon-frying function to man.

As long as man is the acknowledged master of the house—at least as far as bacon-frying is concerned—the man-woman relationship can strike a workable, if precarious, balance.

But once pre-fried bacon becomes available, man's usefulness, except for certain incidental activities, will be ended.

How can man survive this latest jolt to his pride? The answer lies in the development of new skills. We must all learn to fry sausage.

Worry Clinic

Donna's naughtiness puzzles her parents but they actually caused it. For they inflicted terrible cruelty on this child, yet they didn't even know they were doing so. By all means send for the "Parents' Test" below and give children a break!

CASE T-449: Donna B., aged 4, has a new baby sister.

"But, Dr. Crane," her worried mother began, "it is Donna who causes us the most trouble."

"For she has become almost unmanageable. In fact, she goes out of her way to violate rules."

"If her daddy warns her not to do something, then Donna will deliberately disobey, even though she knows he will give her a spanking."

"What makes a child act so stubborn? It seems stupid to me for her to break rules when she realizes in advance that she will be punished for so doing."

Provocative Naughtiness
 Donna's behavior may seem stupid to her mother.

But to Donna it is the only weapon she can use to get her daddy and mother to pay attention to her.

For Donna is simply jealous of the new baby.

It was foisted upon her without proper warning. Her parents never told her in advance nor enlisted her eager anticipation of the new baby.

Donna had ruled the roost as an absolute monarch until her mother returned from a few days at the hospital.

Alas, Donna's domination of the family spotlight was then at an end, for Mother brought home an intruder or interloper in the form of a new baby.

It usurped the throne, as it were, and commanded the chief attention of both Donna's daddy and mother.

What to do? Donna felt much like any adult prima donna who has long monopolized the spotlight on the stage but who, without any warning, suddenly finds herself demoted to a minor role in the chorus!

Such an adult actress would doubtless throw many a temper tantrum.

And that's exactly what Donna has done.

She wants her parents to hold her on their lap.

But they are preoccupied with the new baby.

So Donna indulges in what we psychologists call "provocative naughtiness."

She deliberately disobeys and breaks their rules just in order to capture their interest.

Many a love-starved youngster will even risk a spanking rather than be ignored.

For if she is spanked, Donna knows at least her daddy will hold her across his lap, so she does receive some physical contact, though it may sting and make her cry.

"Oddly enough," Donna's mother added, "even though we spank her severely, she seldom cries!"

For Donna seeks the spankings in order to reassure herself that her parents haven't disowned her completely.

Actually, this is a very tragic and pathetic situation when you understand the outlook of 4-year-old Donna. Her badness is purposive!

So send for my 200-point "Tests for Good Parents," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20c.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Dodd LBJ's Co-Pilot?

WASHINGTON D. C. — "Dodd is my co-pilot," was the derisive quip some two years ago when Moses Tabor, the West's best African, attempted to come to this country for some speech-making and was stiff-armed by the State Department. But now Tabor is the Congo prime minister, and there's an implicit boom to make his American sponsor, Senator Tom Dodd (D., Conn.), co-pilot on the Democratic ticket, as running mate with President Johnson.

There isn't any single incident that has put the storky, white-crested New Englander into orbit. It's Dodd's whole record in House and Senate, as well as a political pedigree that looks better every day with the approach of next week's Democratic convention. Dodd has taken conspicuous positions on just about every controversial issue of the 1950's and 60's and he nearly always has been proved right by the events of history.

Besides, he is the one Northern Democrat who anticipated or complemented Senator Goldwater's anti-Communist positions at home and abroad. Dodd would cancel nearly every advantage of Congressman Hill Miller, Goldwater's running mate.

Both are Eastern, both are Catholic, both are orators, both helped prosecute the Nazi war criminals, both are anti-Red extremists and both have attractive young families.

In addition, Dodd would give the President the chance to make an early start at founding a Johnson Administration, without any Kennedy's, without any peace-mongers and tired Liberal blood that runs in the veins of Hubert Humphrey and Adlai Stevenson.

In Dodd, the President would get a teammate who has been so strong for internal security that we might see a mad rush by State Department security risks to scurry down the wharves and jump into the Potomac.

I wouldn't be surprised if a computer would show Tom Dodd to have more of the top attributes for the national ticket than any Democrat in town. His Civil Rights record is pluperfect, and he shoots in the upper 90's on all domestic ratings by the Americans For Democratic Action. But he proves that a Liberal can be a popular anti-Communist.

Dodd called Castro a Red when Fidel was a two-party Robin Hood. He opposed the innocent-looking Antarctic Treaty and Khrushchev's visit. He fingered Sukarno and all the other Afro-Asian neutrals as enemies of the West, voted for the confirmation of Lewis Strauss, blasted all aid to Poland and Yugoslavia, spoke three times against the Wheat Deal with Russia, tried to get William Wieland out of the State Department and to keep Otto Otepka in. Dodd's one defection from the Hard Line was to vote for the Moscow Treaty on the Nuclear Test Ban.

What will the Democrats be worrying about in the autumn campaign? If it's, "crime in the streets," Dodd had a bill to prevent mail-order gun sales long before the Dallas tragedy. If it's juvenile delinquency, he has been at war for years against TV violence programs and the drug traffic. If it's race riots by either race, he has sulphurous opinions, privately but frequently expressed, against governors, mayors and police chiefs who can't keep order in their communities. He's given me his one-word prescription for the indispensable ingredient of political leadership: "Nerve!"

All of this makes Dodd a Johnsonian "can-do" man. A Johnson-Dodd ticket would be a dramatic shift into conservative territory.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband told me about a silly dream he had last week. He dreamed that this friend of ours came to our house with no clothes on. She just walked in naked and sat down in the parlor. I was upstairs at the time. She told my husband that I had told her to come over with no clothes on. My husband came running upstairs and said to me, "Why did you tell her to come here naked?" And that was the end of the dream.

My husband thought this was very funny. But the more I thought about it, the less funny I thought it was. Why should my husband be dreaming about another woman with no clothes on? I discussed it with a friend of mine who is known for her good sense and she said I shouldn't worry because if my husband had had any out-of-the-way thoughts about this woman he never would have told me the dream. I remain—

UNCONVINCED

DEAR UNCONVINCED: Your friend is wise. Believe her.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with Jerome for three years. I date others, but Jerome is the man I want to marry. He says he loves me, but he only proposes to me when he is out with the boys and has had a few drinks. Then he calls me up in the middle of the night and asks me to marry him. He doesn't drink at all when he's with me. How can I get him to ask me to marry him when he is sober?

WANTS JEROME

DEAR WANTS: You probably can't. And even if you could, he sounds like the type who'd have to get half-plastered before he could get the nerve to go through with it. Marriage must be lived in the cold, clear, sober light of reality. Promises that come out of bottles are usually the first to go down the drain. Scratch Jerome.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were intrigued with your suggestions on how to keep a neighbor's chickens out of one's yard. My husband wants to know if you have any suggestions on how to keep our neighbor's ducks from fouling up our horses' watering trough.

A letter from Denver reads: "My opponents rattled off six diamond tricks against my three no-trump contract in less time than it takes to write about it. I had no trouble with the rest of the tricks, but we could have made an easy game in hearts. Should my partner have bid three hearts over my two no-trump? Or is the book that told me to bid two no-trump wrong? My hand is a perfect two no-trump bid, isn't it?"

The answer to his first question is that his partner's rebid to three no-trump was eminently correct.

The answer to his second question is that to the best of my knowledge and belief no book on bridge has ever recommended a two no-trump re-

Thinking Out Loud

By Julian Stenstrom
Herald Sports Editor

There may not have been much of Fall in the air today but the sound was there this afternoon when football workouts got underway at a number of Seminole County schools campuses.

Jim Pigott, Dick Williams and Jim McCoy got things humming at Seminole High today. Richard Copeland greeted his Lyman High charges at Longwood and Arthur Scott put out the welcome mat for what undoubtedly will be the finest ball club in Oviedo High's brief grid history.

All are optimistic about the chances for this season's gridiron campaign.

There might be one exception — at Longwood. Copeland, in his second year at the helm of the Greyhounds of Lyman, will take his club into the strong Orange Belt Conference. The competition will be rough.

Sanford, on the other hand, will be entering the strong Metro Conference—a hoop comprised of seven Orange County high schools and Sanford.

Each team in the Metro will do grid battle with the other seven. Aside from the seven league contests, Seminole will meet Titusville, Lyman and DeLand in non-conference games.

Right now Lyman is an unknown quantity. Sanford should be almost if not as strong as last season. They will miss some of the talent lost through graduation from last year's high successful eleven which captured 10 of the 11 games played.

However, Coach Jim Pigott is confident that returning lettermen, all well experienced and for the most part much bigger than they were last season, will make up for the graduation losses.

Out Oviedo way Scott and his crew are planning to make hay while the sun shines. Back for another season is Jim Courier, the sensational Lion quarterback who is probably the finest all around athlete to grace county schools since Seminole became an entity back in 1912.

And with Courier, Scott has all the horses for Oviedo to go through its best season. He has only one problem and that's depth. If he can get through the season without any serious injuries—the kind that would eliminate a key man from one or several games—the Lions should have a top year.

But that's about as far as the Lions can look. They lost only one top gridders from last year's impressive squad. After this season, though, Scott will have to start right from the beginning. He will lose practically his entire team by the 1965 graduation route.

That was the picture this afternoon. We found out one thing—the only thing that's sure: The ball is still oval shaped. It can bounce in any direction. And the success or failure of an entire gridiron season can be affected by which way it goes.

Fitzgerald And Tillis Hurl No Hit Engagement

Danny Tillis and Eddie Fitzgerald teamed up Friday night to throw a no-hit, no-run pitching performance at the North Orlando club of the Seminole Summer League.

Hurling for Lake Mary, Tillis ebbed until he was relieved in the sixth by Fitzgerald, who pitched last season for Seminole High.

Tillis, also of Seminole, took over the catching duties when he left the mound. Meanwhile, Lake Mary picked up single runs in the first, second and fifth to win a 3-0 decision in the first games played in the new league.

Stottlemyre Is 'Cream' Of Yankees' Annual Harvest

Mel Halts Birds With Five Hits; Mets Rock Phils

By George C. Langford
UPI Sports Writer

The New York Yankee farm has harvested its annual rookie "find" in towering Melvin Stottlemyre, a blond, 22-year-old righthanded pitcher from Mabton, Wash.

Two weeks ago, Stottlemyre was putting the finishing touches on a 13-3 won-lost record and 1.42 run average at Richmond in the International League. He had never been to New York and had seen only one big league game.

Today he is the Yankee stopper and a personification of the Yankee tradition. He has won his first two major league starts, come within one out of pitching two complete games and personally stopped the Yankees' slide from contention in the American League pennant race, after ace starter Whitey Ford was forced to retire to the bullpen with hip miseries.

Stottlemyre, who beat the second-place White Sox in his debut last Wednesday, allowed the league-leading Baltimore Orioles five hits Sunday on route to a 9-1 victory which cut the Orioles' lead to 2 games over Chicago and 2½ over New York.

A misjudged line drive cost the Orioles Sunday's game. It was hit by pinchhitter Elston Howard and eluded right fielder Sam Bowens for a two-run double in the seventh inning. The Orioles had taken a 1-0 lead into the seventh but starter Milt Pappas was forced to leave the game with a stiff shoulder and the Yankees jumped on his replacement, Steve Barber. Brooks Robinson hit his fifth homer in six days for the Orioles' tally.

In other American League games, Minnesota ripped Cleveland 12-3, Washington topped Los Angeles 4-1, Chicago shaded Boston 2-1 and Detroit stopped Kansas City 11-2.

In the NL, Milwaukee defeated San Francisco twice, 5-4 and 10-4; New York shocked Philadelphia 12-4, Pittsburgh won the second game of a doubleheader from Chicago 7-4 after losing 6-4; Los Angeles split with St. Louis, winning the opener 8-0 and dropping the nightcap 4-0, and Cincinnati walloped Houston, 8-3.

'Oh Say Can You See' -- How Much One Little Fellow Wished He Could

By Milton Richman
NEW YORK (UPI) — When the organist at Shea Stadium struck up the National Anthem . . . Oh say can you see . . . oh, how one trembling little boy wished he could.

Ten-year-old Aaron Tauber has been blind from the day he was born but he still was the happiest kid in the land Sunday because he was able to sit on the New York Mets' bench before the game and chat with his idol, Casey Stengel.

Casey moved everyone else away in the dugout so he could give all his attention to the frail-looking, well-mannered and incredibly perceptive youngster sitting alongside him.

"It hurt me very much when the Yankees let you go," he went on. "I didn't think it was fair at all, just because you didn't win the World Series with Pittsburgh."

The Hurricanes, according to Clark, lost about a dozen kids from the 1963 squad but the mentor is under the conviction that he will have plenty of ninth grade material this year to make up for the losses.

Last season the Hurricanes dropped only two games, both to the highly touted Sanford Junior High Braves.

Early in the season, South Seminole's varsity was racked by injuries and eighthgraders were utilized to fill the gaps. This gave them the experience they needed to make this year's eleven what K hoped to be a powerful one.

The club is slated to play six games but Clark advised that as yet all the dates are not definitely set. He has games scheduled with Sanford's Junior High Braves, the St. Cloud High Jayvees, Oviedo High's Lion Cubs and a contest with Mary Help of Christian Boys School of Tampa.

Three of the 1964s will be away and the remaining three will be played at home. Clark said that as usual the Hurricanes will use the Lyman field in Longwood as its home base. Workouts will be held daily at the school campus in Casselberry.

Finally, it was time to go, and the boy's father helped him up the dugout steps. On their way back to the stands, they met outfielder Joe Christopher.

"If I get a hit today," he told Aaron, "it will be for you."

Florida Football

Gators Have Five Experienced Ends

Editor's Note — This is the first in a series of articles on the University of Florida's football Gators for the 1964 gridiron campaign.

GAINESVILLE — Last season anybody who faintly resembled a football player had an excellent chance to see action at end for the University of Florida.

This year all candidates had better be ready for a spirited battle for position and playing time, in the opinion of Gator Head Coach Hay Graves.

"We had only one boy (Russ Brown) who had even played a minute at this position a year ago," says Graves. "As a consequence many young boys were thrown to the lions early and learned in the process."

The 1964 Gators start out with five veterans at end, all of whom are juniors. Heading the list is Barry Brown, a 5-3, 217 pounder with ability and an eagerness for contact.

Offensively, Gator coaches can't help but believe Charles Casey of Atlanta, Ga., 6-2, 194 and fast, will develop into one of Florida's most outstanding flankers.

"Casey has all the moves, great hands and speed which most defensive backs can't match," Graves adds. "He caught nine passes for 180 yards last year and we expect him to do much better this time."

Rugged Lynn Matthews of Tampa is a 205-yeunder who excels defensively, but has also come up with some big plays on offense for the Gators. His sensational TD reception tied Mississippi State last year and his fumble recovery for a TD beat Georgia.

Another tough veteran is Fort Lauderdale's Gary Thomas, best remembered for a key fumble which broke up an Alabama drive last Fall in the 10-6 Gator upset victory.

Lake City's Randy Jackson, at 6-6, is a most capable pass receiver, perhaps the best blocking end on the squad and a boy to keep your eyes on this Fall.

Other veterans are present in juniors Paul Ewaldsen (Savannah, Ga.), Lee Langley (Jacksonville) and converted quarterback Kay Stephenson of Pensacola.

Sophomores might have a difficult time cracking this corps, but given the best chances of doing so are ace receiver Chip Hoye of Jacksonville Beach, defensive specialists Don Barrett (Vero Beach) and Neal Sneed (Fort Lauderdale).

Nixon Says Florida Can Go Either Way

MIAMI (UPI) — Former Vice President Richard Nixon says President Johnson is one of the biggest fence-hoppers in political history.

Nixon, here for a weekend rest, charged Sunday that President Johnson has changed his political views a number of times since he was first elected to Congress.

"He came to Congress as a Roosevelt New Dealer. He became a conservative in 1946. When Harry Truman won the presidency in 1948 Johnson changed to a liberal and stayed there until 1952," Nixon said.

"Then, during the Eisenhower years he swung back to a more moderate position," Nixon said.

The former vice president said Johnson "went farther to the right in 1960 when he was opposing the late John F. Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"But today he has switched again and is an all-out liberal," Nixon said.

Nixon predicted foreign policy, big government and civil rights will be the big issues in the November election.

He said both candidates will try to keep civil rights out of the campaign because of potential violence.

"But it will affect votes even though the candidates will not be debating it," he said.

Florida, Nixon said, is still undecided and will be a major battleground in the campaign.

"Either side can win in Florida," he said. Nixon added he will spend at least one full day campaigning actively in Florida, probably concentrating on the key areas such as Orlando, St. Petersburg and Jacksonville.

California Backs Freedom Delegates

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—If it gets a chance, California's 164-vote delegation probably will vote to seat the dissident Mississippi "Freedom Party" at next week's Democratic National Convention.

In a decision that some observers felt could have a major effect on Democratic support in the South, the state Central Committee gave this instruction to its delegation Sunday:

"Take all appropriate action to deny seating of delegates from the illegally selected so-called Democratic party delegates of the state of Mississippi."

"Seat the delegates from the Freedom Democratic party of Mississippi."

The advice came in a resolution adopted by the 900-member Central Committee, policy-making body for California's more than 42 million Democrats. Most delegation members also belong to the Central Committee.

It charged that the traditional Mississippi delegation was "undemocratically constituted because it discriminates against large numbers of citizens and excludes Negroes."

But it said the freedom party was "open to all citizens regardless of race, color or national origin." The party is predominantly Negro.

The nearly unanimous approval came despite a request by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who heads the state's delegation to the Atlantic City convention, that California not take a stand. He favored waiting until the convention.

Lake Mary C Of C Schedules First Meeting For Sept. 3

By Frances Wester

The Board of Directors of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce, who met at the home of the chairman, Donald Jackson, on Broadmore Drive, last week, announced that regular meetings of the Chamber will assume next month.

The first meeting will be held in the Lake Mary Fire Department building, on Thursday, Sept. 3, at 8 p. m. A schedule of business that should be of concern to all residents of the community has been set up for presentation, discussion, and action.

The board hopes that members will want to work toward having a building of their own in the future and will vote to set up a Building Fund for this purpose.

Jim Jones and Cracker Donaldson headed the committee in charge of moving and disposing of the Chamber property from the old Chamber of Commerce building. They reported that the piano was given to the First Baptist Church of Lake Mary. The gas stove, dishes, glasses, kitchen equipment and cupboard were given to the Methodist Children's Home at Enterprise. These will be used also to help out in the school situation since the Enterprise school burned down and classes will have to meet in the Home.

Otis Sjoblom and Ralph Abell were named to serve on a committee to work with the Sanford Jaycees in setting up house numbers for the Lake Mary area. Maps already have been obtained from the Zoning Commission to work with in determining numbers for the houses.

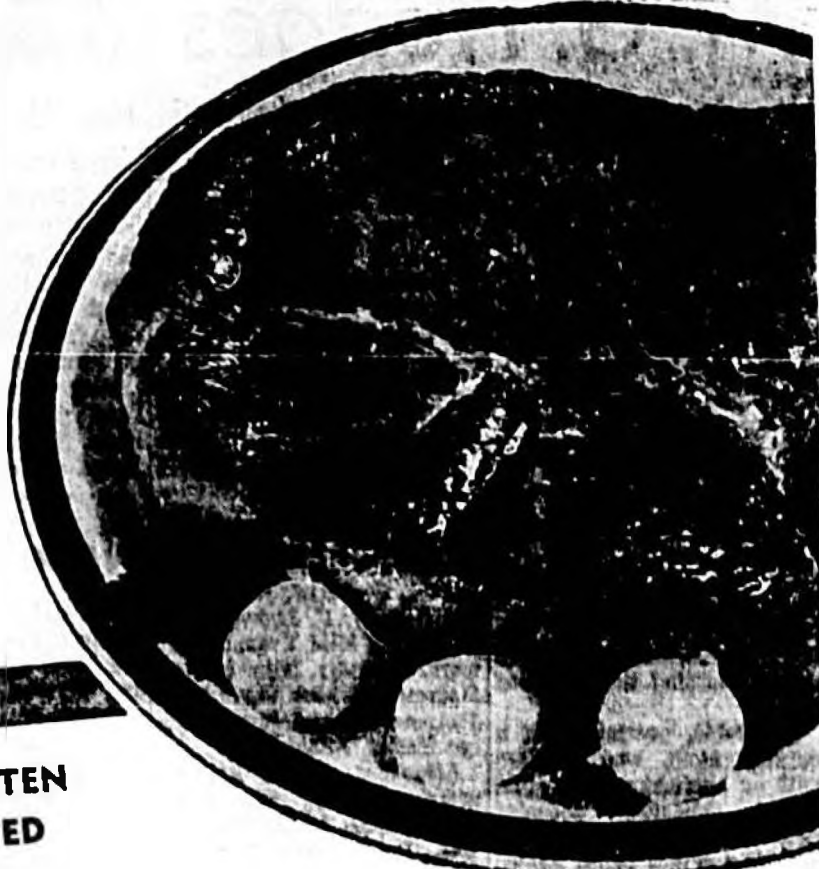

The Right of Way Committee, composed of Jim Daughtrey, Donald Jackson and Jim Jones, reported that they had been inactive during the summer but planned to go out Sunday to contact the people.

The Board appointed a committee composed of Daughtrey, W. C. Hopkins and Jackson to represent Lake Mary and work with the Regional Long Range Planning Commission, as suggested by Robert Doyle when he addressed the Chamber at the last meeting. They have secured an invitation to attend the joint meeting that will be held in the Court House this Friday. The Board feels that this is a very important factor for the community because of the planned interchange on Interstate 4 and the linking of Lake Mary Boulevard.

The treasurer report was given and is still in the black. Support funds for the Boy Scout Troop have been paid for the summer.

The idea of having family dues of $3 for husband and wife, instead of $2 for each membership, was suggested and will be brought before the members at the Sept. 3 meeting.

Miss Ludwig Bride Of M. G. Hodges

Miss Judith Ann Ludwig, daughter of William Aubin Ludwig of Sanford, and Marshall Glynn Hodges, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Hodges also of this city, were united in holy matrimony on Saturday, August 3, 1964 at 8 p. m. at the First Presbyterian Church of Sanford with the Rev. Grover C. Sewell performing the impressive candle-light double ring ceremony.

The church was a profusion of potted palms with pedestal baskets containing large mums. Two seven branched wrought iron candelabra holding glowing white tapers were placed at either side of the altar. The kneeling rail was covered in white satin and pew bouquets marked the pews.

Mrs. George Touhy, organist, presented the traditional nuptial music with Miss Patty Glenn Johnson, soprano, singing "The God of Love My Shepherd Is," "Abide in Me," "Wedding Benediction."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a formal gown of peau de soie and re-embroidered Alencon lace. The fitted bodice featured a bateau neckline with bracelet length sleeves, accented by cascading lace appliques covering the entire gown front. The floor length bell-shaped skirt was fashioned with a tailored Dior bow at the back, to which the sweeping chapel length Watteau train was attached. Her imported veil of illusion fell from a matching forward headpiece of lace-appliqued petals, and her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls belonging to her late mother. The bridal bouquet was white roses and tube roses arranged in the form of a crescent.

Miss Barbara Bradley attended the bride as maid of honor, and was gowned in yellow peau de soie with the fitted bodice styled with a coop neckline and short sleeves. The petal shaped overskirt was attached to the street length skirt with a large flat tailored bow in the front. Her headpiece was a matching bow, and she carried an arm bouquet of yellow and white daisies.

MRS. MARSHALL GLYNN HODGES

Attending the bride as bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Johnson and Miss Carolyn Martin of Atlanta, who were gowned identical to the maid of honor, and they carried nosegays of yellow daisies.

Johnny Wheelchel served the groom as best man and ushers were John Mann, Russ Pearson, Alex McKibbin and Charles Fox.

Mrs. M. G. Hodges chose for her sons wedding a pale mint green sheath, featuring a draped neckline. Her accessories were matching and her corsage was of pink carnations.

Immediately following the wedding, the reception was held at Fellowship Hall with festal baskets of white mums adorning the reception area.

One table, overlaid with a cutwork cloth, was centered with an arrangement of white mums delicately accented with touches of yellow. The sparkling yellow punch floated a heart-shaped ice mold centered with a yellow and white floral nosegay. Dainty slipper mints were decorated with yellow roses.

The bride's table held the traditional wedding cake was cut and was accented by an antique epergne containing white tapers entwined with blossoms and showered with tiny satin streamers.

Assisting and serving at the reception were Mrs. Jim Robson, Mrs. Ed McCall, Mrs. Roy Wall, Mrs. H. B. McCall, Mrs. W. F. Ludwig, Mrs. D. C. Ludwig and Mrs. Jimmy Jones.

Flourishing hostesses were

Miss Betsy Williams, Mrs. Alex McKibbin, Miss Susan McCall, Mrs. Sidney Monroe and Miss Jean Robson.

For her going away outfit the lovely bride was attired in a stunning moss green suit with bone blouse and matching accessories and a cocoa brown straw hat.

Value Of Pre-School Orientation Programs Under Study

By Dottie Austin
City Editor

A pilot study to determine the value of pre-school orientation programs for first-graders is being conducted this summer in two schools in Seminole County.

At the Westside School in Sanford, Mrs. Martha Beard, first grade teacher, is working one group, while at the South Seminole Elementary School, Mrs. Mary Dunn is carrying out the same program.

The program study is one which has been requested by first grade teachers and principals, to determine whether a few weeks of orientation, during the summer preceding their entry into the first grade, will be helpful to both students and teachers alike.

There are two classes of 15 to 20 students at each of the schools, none of whom have had any private kindergarten training. They meet for two hours a day, five days a week, from 8 to 10 a. m. and from 10:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m.

In school, the youngsters learn quite a few things while they play with crayons, paints, blocks, sing songs, listen to stories and play games.

They learn to listen, to take direction, to remember "what comes next", demonstrating in abstract ways to the teacher their readiness for reading, writing and numbers.

The pre-school orientation teacher, observing the children's reactions, attitudes, abilities and understanding makes notes on each child which will be turned over to the child's first grade teacher and also to evaluation teams which will be studying the results of the pilot study.

Only limited funds and teaching units are available

"How much, if any, of this program we may be able to carry out in the future remains to be seen. It depends on the number of summer teaching units available to us and how valuable the first grade teachers find the observations that have been made," she noted.

A Herald reporter also observed the children who are in school at the Westside-Grammer School, and photographed them as they carried on the play-work suggested to them by their teacher, Mrs. Beard.

As the children built block-houses, colored with crayons, sang along with a record, drew pictures in finger paints, Mrs. Beard noted many things about their reactions, cooperation, attitude and comprehension.

Mrs. Beard has told the children the story of the Three Bears, the Three Billy Goats

Gruff and the Three Little Pigs, accompanying her story with figures and cutouts placed on a flannel graph board. (Flannel figures on a flannel board stick where placed).

Very quickly the children learn to come up and tell the story using the figures themselves, as they relate, "and then what happened?"

"This way we can spot problems, note adjustments needed by the child, areas in which

WHAT'S YOUR CHOICE? Paint's blocks, graphs, crayons, puzzles all have meaning to teachers, as pre-school first graders express themselves in various media. Pupils are unaware that their creations enable the teacher to judge their manual dexterity, correlation, group adjustment, and many other abstract qualities as she observes what they do with the materials put at their disposal. (Herald Photo)

TWO, THREE, FOUR green pears join the ducks, birds, apples and bunnies on the flannel-graph board, as Jeannie Kiser places them all in a neat row, counting as she goes.

HOLDING HIS MOUTH just right, Wayne Gager balances a block on the structure he has engineered. That last one proved to be just too much, though, for a moment after the photo was taken, it all came tumbling down.

FINISHING TOUCHES to a swept-winged jet are put in place by Jeffrey Wall, who finds that it's amazing what you can do with fingers and paints. (Herald Photo)

ACL Enlarges Sanford Base

The Atlantic Coast Line today moved into Sanford six new families who have been added to the railroad's Seacoast Trucking Division.

Division Superintendent LeRoy Anderson said that prior to today the ACL had operated a modified base here in Sanford. With the addition of six drivers it definitely will become a full-fledged base.

Anderson said the Seacoast operation handles less than carload merchandise traffic. "We've now taken this traffic off the rails and put it on the trucks to afford customers more efficient and faster service," he said.

You've seen those forlorn dogs foraging for food after they've been discarded by unwanted adults. You've probably had a tinge of conscience about them, too. Now, Sanfordites plan to do something about it. They'll meet Saturday morning at 10 at Rose and Wilks Restaurant to map the initial step in forming a humane society. Top officials of the Florida Federation of Humane Societies will be on hand to give a hand. All interested in this venture are asked to drop in for a minute or two so the group can begin the project.

Capt. Chandler W. Swanson, commanding officer of the Sanford Naval Air Station is slated to speak to Kiwanians Wednesday in honor of Aviation Week.

The board of directors of the Westside Volunteer Fire Department will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Lake Monroe Community Building. All members are reminded of the importance of this meeting as further steps to secure needed equipment and vehicles will be planned.

A "Ladies Night Special" is on tap tonight for members of the local Lions Club when they meet at Lake Monroe Inn. Dinner is to be served at 7:30. The principal speaker will be John G. Korman, foreign service officer with the State Department in Washington. He and his family have just returned from Manila where he served with the political section of the American Embassy.

Interested in the history and development of the St. Johns River? A book telling of the discovery has been reprinted this year, more than 400 years after its first publication. Written by Jean Ribault, it's entitled "The Whole and True Discovery of Terra Florida" and tells of Ribault and his men entering what is now the St. Johns River on May 1, 1562, and naming it the River of May. The reprinting was done by the University of Florida Press in a series of 12 rare books of Florida history, published in cooperation with the Florida Quadracentennial Commission.

Capt. Joe Tully, former HAWKING commander here, who was relieved by Capt. James Mayo, will take over command of the USS Neosho-AO-43 at Norfolk, Va., Wednesday. He will relieve Capt. Archibald T. Nicholson Jr. Some Sanford folks have received engraved invitations to attend the ceremonies.

The Seminole County School Board recently advertised for bids on a tractor with mower and loader attachments. John Deere bid $6,916.50, Valley Tractor bid $4,022.68, Hood Tractor bid $4,706.20 and International $3,984.91. Interesting is the fact that nearly $3,000 separated the low and high bids. The board wisely referred the matter to administrative officials to check on quality and specifications.

Two of the rarest coins in existence are the 1913 nickel and an 1804 silver dollar. The 1913 Denver mint nickel is worth from $18 to $30 today.

The first American silver money was half-dimes and dimes, made from Martha Washington's table silver in 1792. In 1793 they began to make pennies, and in 1794 half dollars and silver dollars. How can you identify a counterfeit coin? It's not easy, for they are very clever. Specific gravity tests, drugists scale and X-ray and tests that can be made.

Port Feasibility Study On 'Go' With $9,000 Contract Signed

HEAVY CONSTRUCTION EQUIPMENT and huge dump trucks are engaged in the paving of the new driving range at Seminole High School. The range, approximately the size of a football field, will enable an instructor to teach a large number of students at the same time. The instructor will use radios to direct as many as seven drivers on the range at one time while under the former method only one driver could be taught.

Work Expected To Be Finished In Early 1965

By Harry I. Johnson
Managing Editor

A feasibility study of the proposed Sanford Port facilities will begin soon. A contract authorizing the analysis was signed this morning by Karlisle Housholder, president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

The contract is with the firm of Lockwood Green Engineers Inc. of Spartanburg, S. C. and involved a fee of $9,000 for the project.

The work is estimated to take from four to six months which could mean a reply would be forthcoming by the start of 1965.

The engineers will analyze all facets of the proposed port facility, ranging from the physical layout to the economic potential of the location.

This is the first concrete step to be taken in bringing the operation into reality. Previously, the Chamber and subcommittees have discussed the proposal at great length in an effort to determine whether such an operation would be practical.

All information gathered by the groups pointed to a "positive success" for the project.

The port facilities would be located, subject to further opinions and suggestions of the engineering firm, west of Jesse Hay in Greenville. He set bond at $25,000 for Bigham and $10,000 for the woman. Bigham was jailed at Greenville and Miss LeFevre at Anderson.

THERE'LL BE A LOT OF THIS going on for the rest of this week and next week as Seminole County's school principals, assistant principals, guidance counselors and teacher prep for the opening of schools Aug. 31. ## Contract Signed For GENESYS

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Cabinet awarded $1.2 million on building contracts today under the new higher education bond issue including work at the University of Florida and the GENESYS program.

Deals were also accepted for 20 acre parcels of land in Daytona Beach and Orlando as sites for facilities of the Graduate Engineering Education System (GENESYS) in those cities.

A contract totaling $723,400 went to Billmore Construction Co. for television communication construction at the main GENESYS facility at Cape Kennedy and at the Orlando and Daytona Beach centers.

W. W. Gay Mechanical Contractors Inc. got a $308,600 contract for construction work at the University of Florida College of Education. Joel Sainer, Bradenton, was awarded a $179,765 contract for work at the Gulf Coast Experiment Station.

It was the last meeting of the Cabinet before the Democratic National Convention. Most of the state officials were expected to attend the session next week in Atlantic City, N. J. and would be away from the capital.

The Cabinet received from the State Merit System Council the biennial pay survey on which is based proposed pay raises for thousands of state employees. Director Gerald Howell said there was no indication of what the raises sparked by the survey would total.

Cabinet Favorable To East Central Loan

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The cabinet gave a favorable reception but no commitment today to a request for a $50,000 loan to the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council.

Sitting as trustees of the internal improvement fund, the cabinet told its staff to draw up an agreement, including a suggested interest payment, for action Sept. 1.

The trustees said the loan will have to be weighed alongside an expected application from Southwest Florida Water Management District for a $100,000 state loan.

Trustees director William Kidd said the 11 fund current has $1.1 million (m) cash with which to meet commitments of $2.7 million (m).

He has urged the trustees not to overlook the funds to a point where valuable securities will have to be sold to meet the obligations.

Johnson Invites Demo Governors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson said today he had invited all 34 Democratic governors to the White House Saturday.

The purpose of the meeting, he said, is to discuss the impact on the various states of economic improvements, the space and defense programs, and other items of federal-state interest.

Johnson told reporters that when Republican governors were in Washington some time ago, he invited them to the White House, too, but "unfortunately, they were unable to come."

Brunette On Hood Of Car Gets Desired Results

Police Unravel Wierd Kidnaping Case

SPARTANBURG, S. C. (UPI)—Grady Lee Steen, 26, drove his automobile frantically through Spartanburg Monday with a brunette dressed in a nightgown riding on the hood and falling at the windshield with a rear view mirror.

Started police stopped the car, naturally, to investigate and thereby unfolded the strange case of the kidnaped photograph record distributor, a case so wild and zany that at one time victim and alleged abductors were all under arrest.

"It is a weird tale," said policeman J. G. Tate, one of the arresting officers.

Steen, who works for a photograph record distributing firm, was the alleged victim although police found it difficult to believe when first they stopped his car and 21-year-old Joyce Kay LeFevre crawled down from the hood and snatched Steen.

"She was down and clawing at him in a hurry," said Tate. "We pulled her off and put her in the patrol car but she would not tell us a thing."

Officers arrested the woman and then went to a motel and arrested her companion, Stacy Lavern Bigham, 25, a textile worker.

The two, both from Spartanburg, N. C., were turned over to the FBI, which charged them with kidnaping Steen, also of Spartanburg.

The police temporarily arrested Steen until they could check out his bizarre account of the case.

Steen said he and a date, Patsy Queen, were sitting in his car at a drive-in hamburger place in Kannapolis Sunday night when a car occupied by Bigham and Miss LeFevre drove up.

Steen said the woman got out and held a pistol on him and his date, ordering the girl to leave the car. He said the woman made him drive down a street where they switched to a car driven by Bigham.

Tate said Steen told him that he had previously dated Miss LeFevre.

They changed to a rented car in Charlotte, Steen said, and drove to Spartanburg where they checked into a motel at 1 a. m. Steen said the pair took turns holding a pistol on him, one sleeping while the other watched.

Steen said they threatened to kill him if he didn't take $5,000 from his checking account and give it to them. He said he gave them all he had — a $100 paycheck.

Finally, Steen said, both fell asleep and he sneaked out to the car. He got in and locked the doors as Miss LeFevre bolted out of the room. She banged on the doors, he said, and then hopped on the hood.

Steen said he drove into downtown Spartanburg with Miss LeFevre—clad only in her nightgown—hanging on the windshield with a side view mirror she had tipped away.

Police said Bigham was carrying a .25-caliber automatic when arrested.

The couple was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Jesse Hay in Greenville. He set bond at $25,000 for Bigham and $10,000 for the woman. Bigham was jailed at Greenville and Miss LeFevre at Anderson.

Keating To Run; May Get RFK As Opponent

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N. Y., after almost five weeks of hesitation, announced today he would run for a new six-year term in the Senate independently of GOP presidential nominee Barry M. Goldwater.

The announcement made him a central figure in a contest that may be second only to the presidential race in national interest.

His Democratic opponent almost surely will be Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

If the Keating-Kennedy race comes off it probably will be second only to the presidential contest between President Johnson and Sen. Barry M. Goldwater in drawing national attention in November. Kennedy is expected to announce later this week that he is in the running for the Democratic senatorial nomination in New York.

Keating broke with the national ticket after Goldwater was nominated at the Republican National Convention in San Francisco last month. Among the issues which prompted the split with Goldwater was the fight over the civil rights bill. Keating supported the measure and Goldwater opposed it.

Keating's decision brought him under attack from many state Republicans, including Clare Booth Luce, former Connecticut congresswoman and U. S. ambassador to Italy.

G. C. Cortright of Rolling Fork, Miss., said today that he and his college, Ben C. Callon of Natchez, would remain in Washington "available for consultation." But he said they would not participate in the platform hearings in any way because of the conditions set by Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey.

Fly Boys Can't Get Off Ground

MIAMI (UPI)—Three teenage boys got the urge to fly Monday but the best they could do was bounce along the runway of a small airstrip for 800 yards.

The short joy ride ended with the arrests of the trio, two 16-year-olds and a 13-year-old.

"If you watch someone doing something for a long time, you figure you can do it, too," commented one.

The teen-agers went to the airstrip, picked out a plane, and climbed in.

The most experienced, who had two hours' flying time (as a passenger) took the pilot's seat.

He taxied out to the end of the runway all right, but when he gunned the motor the plane veered off the concrete, narrowly missed a canal, and bounced along for 800 yards before stopping 30 feet short from the administration building.

The boys were taken to Youth Hall.

Barry TV Bill: $4.5 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI) — They also believe Goldwater has some of the same personal charm that won votes for the late President John F. Kennedy and that he can project it on television screens in suburban living rooms.

Goldwater's heavy use of television will not begin immediately after formal launching of his campaign, aides said, although there has been some talk of televising his kickoff speech Sept. 3 at Prescott, Ariz.

Use of television speeches, film clips and spot announcements will increase gradually in his campaign to peak just before election day.
