CAPITAL IS IN MOURNING FOR JAMES W. GOOD

State Funeral To Be Accorded Cabinet Member Who Died After Game Fight

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—The Capital was in mourning today for James W. Good, of Iowa.

Tomorrow, state services will be held in the East Room of the White House for the secretary of war, who died last evening after a valiant, but vain fight against the ravages of peritonitis which followed an appendicitis operation.

All the honors that official and diplomatic Washington can pay will be bestowed upon the dead cabinet officer.

Burial will be in the family plot at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on Friday.

Good's death had been a foregone conclusion for hours. Although he fought desperately, the attending physicians lost all hope Sunday night, and from then on the end was only a matter of hours. He died peacefully, for he had been in a state of complete coma for some time.

It was at the suggestion of President and Mrs. Hoover that Good will be accorded a state funeral. Immediately upon receipt of the flash of his death, they notified Walter Reed Hospital to advise Mrs. Good and to suggest that services be conducted in the East Room. Funeral notification has gone out over the signature of Secretary of State Blinn to the highest officials, diplomatic corps, congress, and the Supreme Court.

Acting Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley has taken charge of arrangements. A full military escort will accompany the body to the White House, and later to the station. The Senate and the House each will appoint committees of seven members to act as honor escort on the journey home. Flags on all government buildings were at half-staff.

Mrs. Good was holding up fairly well under the strain. She had known that death was certain and the shock thus had been lessened. Her two sons will accompany her back to Iowa.

Good was taken to the hospital a week ago today, operation disclosed that he was suffering from acute, gangrenous, perforating appendicitis. The appendix was located so far down in the pelvic region that it required an hour and a half for an operation which usually requires only 15 minutes, and because of its rupture a local peritonitis prevailed at the time.

Speculation Is Rife As To Successor Of Secretary J.W. Good

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(INS)—There was widespread speculation in the Capital today over the successor that President Hoover will name to succeed Secretary of War James W. Good, who died last night.

It is the first cabinet vacancy of the Hoover administration, and comes within the first year of the new administration.

Invariably, the name of Col. William J. Donovan, former assistant attorney general, was widely discussed, for Donovan was accounted a certain cabinet choice in the early days of the cabinet speculation before inauguration.

For a reason never fully explained, Mr. Hoover passed over the brilliant New Yorker and formed his cabinet without him. Donovan was offered the governorship of the Philippines, which has since gone to Dwight W. Davis of Missouri, but refused.

President Hoover's failure to appoint Col. Donovan, one of his closest campaign advisers, to a cabinet post was a severe disappointment to the Colonel's friends, many of whom felt that, in view of the nature of the war campaign, a Catholic should have been included in the President's official family.

Defeated Candidate May Start Another Mexican Revolution

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 18.—(INS)—A formal declaration that he was elected President of Mexico in Sunday's election, which his friends interpret as an indication that he will launch a revolution if necessary, to seat himself in the national palace, was issued today by Jose Vasconcelos, a right-electronist candidate in the recent campaign. Vasconcelos' statement, issued from Guaymas, Sonora, where he is now stopping, was in the face of the Mexican supreme court's action in supporting the claim of Pascual Ortiz Rubio, national revolutionary party candidate, that Ortiz Rubio had been elected. Styling himself the "president-elect of the Republic of Mexico," Vasconcelos declared: "I am the president-elect of Mexico. I expect that the national congress will ratify my election."

SLIGHT TREMORS RATTLE WINDOWS IN NEW ENGLAND

Broken China, Pottery Constitutes About Only Damage Done

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Broken china and pottery and smashed lighting fixtures constituted the only damage done by the series of light earthquake tremors which shook the eastern part of the United States and Canada, a check-up revealed today.

The shocks were felt throughout New England and Eastern Canada and reported in the metropolitan district for an hour starting at 3:31 P. M. yesterday. The center of disturbance, according to Dr. J. J. Lynch, director of the seismological laboratory of Fordham University, was about 200 miles north of New York.

The quakes, according to belief in scientific circles here, probably originated in the St. Lawrence Valley, source of many previous shocks and the origin of the severe quake which shook New England and Eastern Canada on Feb. 28, 1925.

While weather bureau officials in New York were disinclined to connect the two events, an almost equally high tide ran along the coast at the time the tremors were in progress. Thousands of dollars in damage was done at maritime points near New York by the tides, while floods were reported at Winthrop, Mass., when the breakers crashed over the sea-wall.

The shock was felt all the way from Halifax, N. S., to New York. Several skyscrapers in this city, according to reports, were felt to sway slightly, but no damage was reported.

While the main tremors ceased an hour after they began, intermittent shocks were felt through out last evening, out from no quarter were reports of extensive damage received.

Funeral For Cates Child Will Be Held During Afternoon

As a result of an auto accident occurring Sunday morning on Orange Avenue in Orlando, William Cates, Jr., 15 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cates, formerly of Sanford, died within a few hours, after being rushed to the Orange General Hospital, at which he was taken today. Mrs. Cates, who was also taken to the hospital for medical attention, was reported as considerably improved today.

Following a coroner's inquest held yesterday under Justice of the Peace H. H. Cox, Stephen Burkman, driver of the car which he said to have run into Mr. Cates' auto, was being held today under a $2,500 bond.

Mr. Cates left Sanford about six weeks ago for Orlando, where he was employed with the plant board graduation work, after having lived here for the past five or six years. He was formerly associated with Lawrence Kent, who is the proprietor of a lunch stand on West First Street.

It was announced today that the funeral services will be held this afternoon at the Lave View Cemetery with the Rev. Mortimer Glover officiating.

LOBBY PROBEIS CONTINUED IN SUGAR TRADING

Agreement Revealed Whereby 2 Concerns Joined To Work For Favorable Tariffs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—The story of an agreement whereby two branches of the sugar producing industry joined to work for the enactment of legislation favorable to each was laid before the Senate lobby committee this afternoon.

Dr. William R. Catchart, technician for the Corn Products Refining Company of New York, told the committee that in return for his organization's support of a high sugar tariff, the Domestic Sugar Producers' Association in 1928 agreed to support efforts of the Corn Products Company to bring about repeal of restrictions on the use of corn sugar.

Catchart declared that both organizations "were on the same side of the fence" when asked by Senator Caraway (D) of Arkansas, and committee chairman at the transaction wasn't "swapping promises", and he added "I saw nothing dishonorable in the matter."

"I think, doctor," Senator Walsh (D) of Montana, said, "that the best that can be said about it is that you aren't worse than a great many others."

Catchart said the agreement came as the result of a letter from Rep. Cole (D) of Iowa, to the domestic sugar association. He wrote that a representative of the sugar association came to his office and confirmed his opinion "that the corn sugar men would be glad to cooperate with them in protecting all their contributors against tariff." After this letter Catchart went out, representative of both organizations, met in Kansas City and framed the agreement.

"If you approve of that method of getting legislation," Caraway asked.

"I don't know that I have any feeling of having done anything dishonorable," said the witness.

"Did you tell Rep. Cole of your deal?"

"Yes. He brought me together. 'Did you tell Senator Caraway?' Caraway (D) of Kansas was the representative with Cole of the legislation desired by the Corn Products Company.

"We told him the sugar association was on our side."

Time and again Caraway questioned the witness for answers which went with long explanations.

"You see, Senator, you've got me in a hole," the witness replied once, drawing a laugh from a group of senators and the usually serious Walsh.

"How much did your organization give the sugar association in consideration?" Caraway asked.

"Nothing as a consideration," said the witness.

"Would you be surprised to find that your organization put up $8,400?"

"I'm not particularly interested."

Catchart was finally excused to make way for John H. Carroll, Washington attorney for the Cane Company, sugar producers.

Church Banquet To Not Interfere With Night Gridiron Tilt

Those who plan on attending the annual banquet of the combined men's clubs of the Protestant churches Friday night will be able to witness the night football game, which is scheduled to take place on the same evening also, it was announced today by W. M. Haynes, a member of the committee which is arranging the program for the banquet.

According to Mr. Haynes the banquet is slated to start promptly at 7 o'clock which will allow plenty of time before the game.

Dr. Ludd M. Spivey, president of Southern College in Lakeland, will be the principal speaker of the evening, at which time the committee is planning on entertaining approximately 150 guests.

Each year the committeeman further stated, the members of the various clubs of the churches plan this afternoon at the Lave View Cemetery with the Rev. Mortimer Glover officiating.

ENRIGHT STATES HE CAN IDENTIFY GAMBLER-KILLER

Says It Is Of Common Knowledge Within Political Circle

PARIS, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Declaring his conviction that the man who killed Arnold Rothstein, gambler, was a New York politician, Richard Enright, former New York City police commissioner, advised the international audience at the French Embassy in Washington today that he could identify the man.

In an extensive interview by International News Service today, the former New York City police chief declared that he had a list of names of men who were charged with murdering the world leader.

Enright recently told her a list of names of men who were charged with murdering the world leader. He said he could identify the man who killed Rothstein.

"I don't know that I have any feeling of having done anything dishonorable," said the witness.

"Did you tell Rep. Cole of your deal?"

Adolphe Menjou Operated Upon For Appendicitis Following Attack

PARIS, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Adolphe Menjou, famous motion picture star, was operated upon here today for appendicitis. The operation took place at the American Hospital, where Menjou was rushed early this morning following a sudden attack.

Dr. Bove, physician who performed the operation, told International News Service that no complications had developed and that the patient was doing satisfactorily.

Menjou's wife, the former Kathryn Carver, also well known on the silver screen, was at her husband's bedside.

The attack came with alarming suddenness, as Menjou had given no previous indication of illness. He was taken immediately to the

Representative From Illinois Is Indicted When Trunks Leak; Has Been Rated Dry

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Another prohibition scandal, involving a dry congressman and some baggage that leaked, broke out in Washington today when the District of Columbia grand jury returned indictments against Rep. Edward Everett Denison (R) of Illinois, and his secretary, John Layne, charging violation of the Volstead Act.

Denison is one of the veteran Republicans in Congress, having represented the 25th Illinois district for some 15 years. He is serving his eighth consecutive term and is being a dry. He was one of those who voted for the famous Jones Act, which increased the penalties for liquor law violation to a maximum of $5,000 and 10 years in prison.

The volume upon which the indictment was returned yet forth that last January, almost a year ago, a suitcase arrived from New York by express at Union Station, address of the Layne, in care of Mr. E. Denison, 111 House Office Building. It was leaking badly, and the odor of the leakage was such that the prohibition authorities were notified.

Agents went to the station and took charge of the suitcase and its contents. In pursuing their investigation, the agents discovered that a suitcase also had been a part of the shipment, and that the suitcase had been delivered to the address, which is Rep. Denison's office in the Office Building.

Notre Dame, Pittsburgh And Tennessee Continue To Maintain Leadership

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service
Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Inter-collegiate football was beginning to run down the stretch today, with the "wise" only a few games ahead, and any man with a couple of eyes and the ambition to see both of them simultaneously can pick a winner at a glance. This, as a matter of fact, seems to be the abiding problem. There are too many winners. It is a simple matter to pick the leaders. They are Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, Purdue, Tennessee, California, Tulane, Texas Christian, Utah and possibly St. Mary's, Detroit, Southern Methodist and a few others. It only begins to get difficult when you try to distinguish one from the other with the idea of arriving at some degree of relative strength.

After its 13 to 12 victory over Southern California on Saturday, nobody can claim any national title without first consulting Notre Dame. Yet the latter isn't even undisputed champion of the state of Indiana. For Purdue was as impressive as ever before in winning the Big Ten championship by beating Iowa, 7 to 0, and if it lasts throughout next Saturday, its status will be beyond the question of debate.

Frankly, Purdue should finish its season undefeated. So should a Pittsburgh team that was great enough to run up 21 points on an arch rival in the first period and finally give Carnegie Tech, its worst beating of recent years, 21 to 12. It isn't likely, either, that anybody is going to stop Tennessee, Tulane, California or Utah. The Notre Dame situation isn't fool-proof yet, with the Army and Northwestern coming up, and undoubtedly Texas Christian won't begin making plans for Spring practice before it gets through with Southern Methodist. The rest of them may go wrong. But they probably won't.

It, therefore, seems probable that at least a half dozen teams will do what the taxi driver did on the day he didn't beat the railroad train to the crossing. They will run a dead heat, too.

Speaking of deaths, two of them died on Saturday when Cornell finished last behind Dartmouth by 18 to 14 and Texas lost to the Christians by 15 to 12. This pair of Southwest leaders went crazy early in the game but the Christians went the craziest and won. They were the first team to score on Texas this year, leaving only St. Mary's with an unscathed lead line, so far as I know. The latter beat California's southern branch by 21 to 0. As for Cornell, it was eliminated from the national sweepstakes when its quarterback elected to gamble with a pass in his own territory with five minutes to play. That automatically made Cornell the worst team on the field.

Notre Dame's split second victory over U. S. C. was a repetition of their 1926 game, as far as the score went. But, as far as

O. P. Stone, town marshal of Oviedo, is said to have passed the bank shortly after 2:30 o'clock and at that time observed nothing which could have aroused his suspicions. The explosion, of sufficient intensity to have been heard in Sanford 18 miles away occurred at 2:29 o'clock and within five or 10 minutes practically everyone in Oviedo was on the scene, but the would-be safecrackers had fled.

Sheriff McClelland and a number of his deputies soon arrived and began an investigation. Sheriff Karel of Orange county, Chief Pope and Lieutenant Blwinn of the Oviedo, police department, and Chief Williams of Sanford, assisted in the hunt for clues. A finger print expert from Oviedo was on hand early Sunday morning and made a number of photographs. Monday morning, however, nothing had been discovered, it was said, which might lead to any arrests.

Temporary quarters for the Bank of Oviedo have been opened in the Swope-Lesette building, while the damaged structure is being reconstructed. Two deputies from the Sheriff's office will remain on guard day and night until normal conditions have been restored.

The Bank of Oviedo was organized in 1912 with M. M. Smith, who died recently, as its first president. B. G. Smith, said to be no relation to the other Smith, was elected president of the bank one year after its organization and has served in that capacity continuously ever since.

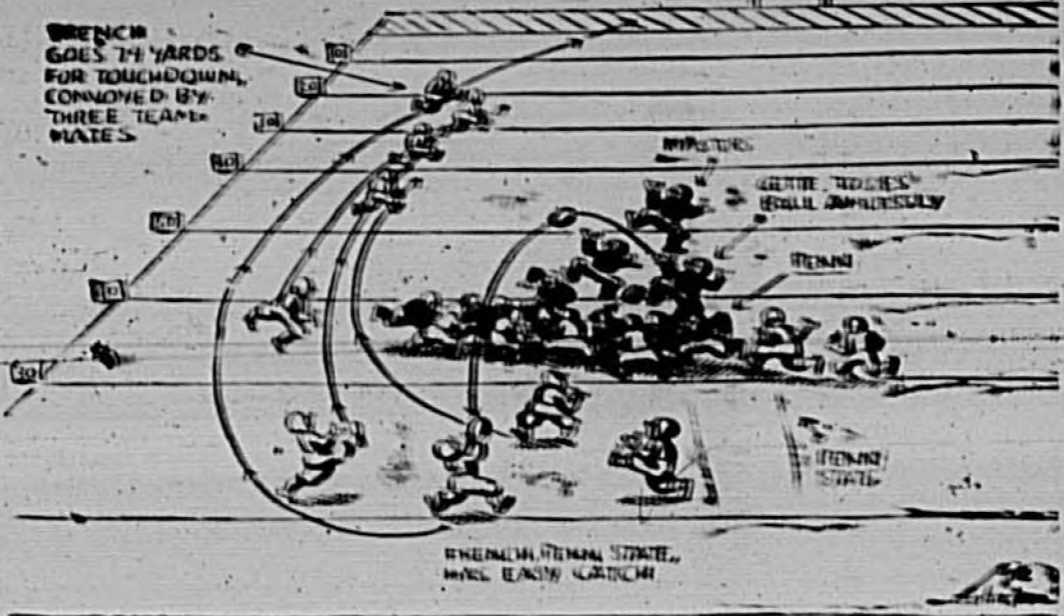

THREE OF THE PITTSBURGH PANTHERS' HIGH-POWERED BACKFIELD

The Pittsburgh Panthers, now on their way to the National football title, carry no one-man backfield, although in Toby Cansu they boast one of the best ball carriers of the year. Cansu has been assisted ably in every game by Parkinson (left), Laker (center) and Williams (right) in keeping the colors of the Panthers aloft. Man for man, it is one of the best behind-the-line quarters in the country.

Freak Football Plays

By Will R. Johnston

It took the Penn-Penn State opportunity. The stars was set in this high school game last Saturday to produce the worst break of this Penn State season. Warren Gatte of Penn, who may have suffered a fractured vertebra, was the unfortunate instigator of the situation.

ing an sheer grit and instinct. Masters was back and Harry Warren snatched the ball to Gette. No. 3 back, for a luck. Gette, the youthful fullback, is not a forward passer he is a receiver or punter. Suffering from his cruel injury, the dumb boy executed a most quillandish play. Instead of carrying the ball as usual, he unexpectedly heaved the pigskin aimlessly into the air. The ball floated over the rushline and, as Penn receivers had gone through to receive a pass, it was easy prey to any one of the Nittany backs.

Cooper French flashy State back, was one of these. Cooper is the brother of the famous Walter French, who was transferred to West Point to become an officer and halfback, and who now is on the Philadelphia Athletics roster as utility outfielder.

Cooper French took the dizzy leave from your Gette and running to the left, conveyed by half of the State team, began a rapid cruise down the side line for 79 yards to a touchdown, without having an enemy hand placed on him.

Unprepared to defend against an interception, the Quakers, off balance with amazement at Gette's queer toss, were caught flat-footed. The freak play ruined Penn's golden opportunity and put the game on ice for the Penn State Lions.

CONTESTANTS IN HERALD CONTEST HAVE EASY TIME

Little And Morrison Win Theater Tickets By Grid Prophecies

Football fans who entered The Herald's "pick the winner contest" last week were either very lucky or very smart, for out of the 81 entries, seven were right in 12 games, 12 participants guessed correctly on 11 contests and 23 raved 10 winners. This despite the fact that there were two tie games played among the teams selected for the contest.

Since the first two contestants, turning in the greatest number of correct guesses win two tickets each to the Milane Theater. Homer Little and William Morrison will be the guests this week of Mr. J. L. Marenzeller at his very creditable performance "The Hollywood Revue."

Little made a very easy error in picking Minnesota to beat Michigan which has been anything but a convincing team this year regardless of its victory over Harvard. He also slipped on Georgetown and Virginia, picking these teams to defeat West Virginia and Washington and Lee, the games ending in ties.

Morrison went wrong on Southern California, seeing it to tie Notre Dame. And like Little he guessed poorly on Georgetown and Virginia.

LOCAL DIAMOND BALL TEAM WINS FROM ORLANDO

Cantwell Leads Hitting In 20 To 11 Victory Of Home Boys

By E. H. CULLUM

Before a crowd estimated at over 1000 people, the Sanford team defeated the Orlando office diamond ball team Saturday night 20 to 11.

The Orlando boys were first to at and got off to a good start, securing 5 runs. On the other hand Sanford's half of the first inning, they could not solve Beecher's slants, Cotter and Bender both striking out and Rive topped out.

In the second inning Rawson atled down, and the postoffice boys went out in one two three order. In Sanford's half of this inning, Hogan, first man up, struck out. Miles and Rawson walked, Cantwell secured a three bagger, scoring both Miles and Rawson. Anderson struck out. Beecher, Palmer and Cotter walked, scoring in Cantwell for the third fore. Bender again struck out to end the agony. In the third inning Sanford added 6 more, and to make the game absolutely sure scored 9 more in the 5th and 2 in the 6th, whereas the postoffice team secured only 2 additional runs in the 4th and 4 in the 6th. Beecher in both the second and third innings was very much of form walking a total of eight times in this inning. He was relieved in the 4th by Lilley, who also was very wild, especially in the 5th inning.

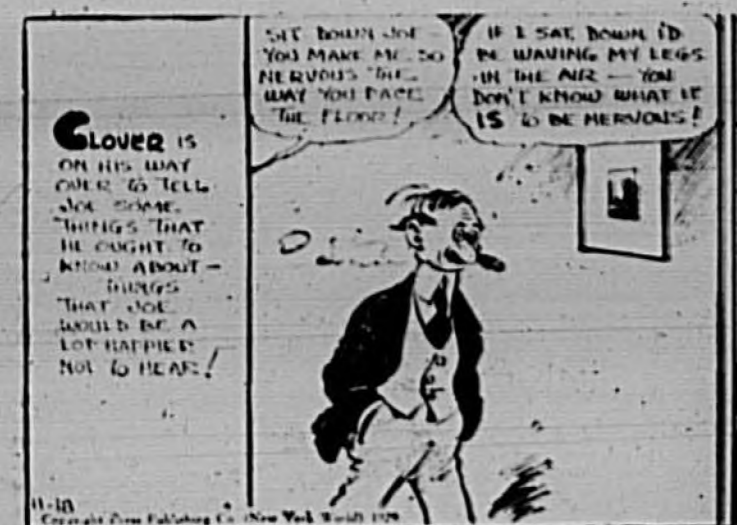

Cantwell was the heavy hitter for Sanford, securing four hits out of four times up, two triples a double and a home run, his slick work alone being responsible for seven of Sanford's runs.

TOMATO

Sweeping is splendid exercise but it is so tiresome and filthy and gets on one's nerves day after day. Well, what woman wants to sweep any how when one cleaning by electricity will do a better job than the broom or roller can ever do. A little touch here and there with an Electric Vacuum Cleaner every other day each week will keep your home immaculately clean. Now, aren't those three broomless days each week worth three cents, the price of a small fresh tomato. Of course they are and besides there is no dust to inhale. Save a day the electric way!

THE PUBLIC RECOGNITION
 —Jesus, when he was baptized went up straightway out of the water; and, lo, the heavens were opened, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove, and lighting upon him: And a voice from heaven, saying, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.—Matthew 3:16, 17.

PRAYERS—An praise to Thee, Eternal Lord, clothed in a garb of flesh and blood.

In the Princeton game, the Yale bulldog was toothless, but apparently it was not toothless.

Now, what we can't understand is why D. J. signifier's position was so turning against O. P.'s brother, H. W.

When they start blowing up bank buildings, it shows they are not much worried about the law. Remember, it might be your building next time.

Fire broke out on the fourteenth floor of the Stock Exchange building in New York City last Saturday. Unable to rise any other way, stocks nearly went up in smoke.

When a piece of copy in a newspaper office is marked "must," that means it has to run in the next issue or "else,"—Times-Union. And sometimes it is hung on the hook in the back and stays there until it gets "musty."

A common failing of all great men is, when they have said something by publication which results in their being criticized, to resort to the mother-and-son-and-old-almi that they have been in-quoted. Nine times out of ten when a man says he has been misquoted he is merely trying to hedge.

If Yale beats Harvard on Saturday, it will place Florida in the middle position of having beaten the team which beat the team which beat the team, which beat Florida. And you can believe it or not, just as you choose, for Florida beat Georgia, and Georgia beat Yale, and Yale will have beaten Harvard, which beat Florida.

The Saguma Orange Festival at Maitland last week has been a complete success. It has been thirty-five and forty thousand persons are said to have packed the city's streets, during the first day of the celebration. Sanford should have a rivalry for the year, and no one could sneer if it is more than the merchants themselves.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company may have a hundred-story building if present plans materialize. And if a hundred-story building, why not a two hundred-story structure? The addition of every big business man is to outdo all others. They will not stop at a hundred stories, but will go on building, ever higher and higher. We wonder when the limit will prove to be, and how?

Ruth Bryan Owen, the fourth district, famous representative at Washington, will again have charge of the sale of Christmas seals throughout Florida. "We can in a mere estimate," she said recently, "the economic saving to Florida of 500 lives in a single year but the greatest gain is inestimable; that of increased human happiness." Fight tuberculosis by buying Christmas seals.

What appeared to be an infant of five was reported the other day to be hatched not far from Orlando. This is the first fruit fly infestation reported in several months, and while the incrim indicates great progress in the campaign of eradication, the recent discovery emphasizes the absolute necessity for continued vigilance, and energetic campaigning if Florida is to be completely freed from the dread pest. There must be no compromise. It is a matter of life and death. On with the fight!

At The Victoria Cross Dinner

You probably read in the newspapers last week something of the great dinner given just before Armistice Day in honor of the 321 wearers of the Victoria Cross. You read that this highly honorary order is restricted to only a few of Britain's bravest warriors, and that its membership includes chauffeurs, farmers, even street cleaners, as well as lords of high estate. But you did not read, in all probability, the tactful and yet thrilling speech which the Prince of Wales delivered. So here, at least, is part of it. We wish we could print it all.

"There are those of us here on whom the Sovereign has conferred the most honorable Order of the Bath, the most exalted Order of the Star of India or the most distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George. Tonight I speak of—if I may call it so—the most enviable Order of the Victoria Cross, the most democratic and at the same time the most exclusive of all orders of chivalry. It is recruited from that very limited circle of men who see what is needed to be done, and do it at once at their own peril, and having done it, shut up like an oyster."

"I have spoken in my time at a number of public dinners and have proposed toasts on almost every subject under the sun. Tonight I speak with considerable embarrassment. It is not our national habit to invite men to dine to tell them how brave they are."

"I will assume that whatever 'small deed of arms' as the knights of old used to call it, stands to the credit of each one of you, you committed—perpetrated—it from the motives of self preservation or because you happened to notice that someone on the staff was watching and admiring you."

"I suggest this because every V. C. that I have ever talked to always dishes up some explanation of this sort to account for his peculiar conduct, whether by land or sea, by air or under ground. I need not say that I would be proud to be of this company."

A New Diplomacy

Premier Ramsay MacDonald's visit to the United States has set a precedent in diplomatic efforts which should meet with unstinted favor among peoples who have therefore looked upon diplomacy as a game of underhand and crafty maneuvers. The renowned Scotman came to the United States in the interest of naval reduction and his conversations with President Hoover upon the subject were frank and open that they impressed everyone with the idea that here at last was a sincere endeavor to come to some understanding.

How different this picture is from the usual meetings of diplomats with all the secrecy, the suspicion and distrust which often charged the atmosphere so tensely that the true purpose of the parleys was forgotten. What a contrast to the diplomacy of Metetrnich, Cavour, Richelieu, Bismark, names synonymous with cunning in diplomacy, the destiny of nations. These men could not have emulated the Hoover-Macdonald drama because their tactics were based on subtleties and shrewdness calculated to conceal their real intentions. Their game called for clandestine meetings, sly glances, shrouded telegrams and mysterious activities.

It is a source of great satisfaction to know that this sort of chicanery has been supplanted by the type of diplomacy which everyone can understand and which is not concealed behind slight-of-hand operations or high sounding verbiage. The avices of England or America may not be reduced by one anchor chain but the example for man-to-man discussion of the problems confronting the two nations has established a new conception of how to avoid the misunderstandings which have been so disastrous in the past.

TELLING THE WORLD

COURTESY OF THE SENATE—Senator Winch—The Nebraska bill is a good one. I hope it will pass. I am a member of the Nebraska delegation. I am a member of the Nebraska delegation. I am a member of the Nebraska delegation.

PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES—The Senate will now come to order. (Swings nine-pound mallet on his desk.)

SENATOR GRATZ—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

SENATOR MITCH—I object.

SENATOR GRATZ—Will the big boob from Minnesota kindly close his trap?

SENATOR MITCH—To whom does the cock-eyed boozie from Arizona refer?

SENATOR GRATZ—The wind-bag from Minnesota knows well whom I mean.

SENATOR MITCH—I hope the pig-squop from Arizona implies nothing personal.

PRESIDENT—The two big booms from the Middle West will kindly come to order.

SENATOR GRATZ—Mr. President, I was in order till the waltz-mugger from Minnesota stuck his nose into this debate. What I wanted to state to this assembly is that every Senator who objects to a 40 per cent duty on dextrahydrochloride is not only a half-baked simpleton, but a dirty tramp and a bum.

SENATOR FLOOP—I second the motion.

SENATOR WINCH—Mr. President, the pig-faced devil from Michigan is talking through his hat. He is not only an apostle of bunkum, but he has a vacuum in his conk. In addition to that, he is a curly witch.

SENATOR FLOOP—I demand a recount. The fat head from Nebraska has his mouth full of prunes, as usual.

SENATOR WINCH—Whose mouth is full of prunes?

SENATOR FLOOP—The imbecile from Nebraska heard me. He knows whose mouth is full of prunes.

SENATOR WINCH—I rise to a point of order.

SENATOR FLOOP—This hop-

The World's Window

Idea which seem quite new are often several centuries old. Which of them concern the United States of America, of which I am a citizen, I do not know. But I do know that under a little different form or of the freedom of the seas, it is after now very much on the international carpet, someone else also thought of that. The originator of the freedom of the seas was that precursor of Woodrow Wilson, the man who also launched the thesis of a League of Nations, Hugo de Groot, of Grod-lus, Grotius, who is one of the greatest spirits of all time was a Hollander. For political reasons, opposing to the rise of the Orange family in the Dutch Republic, he was imprisoned, but escaped to France and later served that country as Ambassador to Sweden. In 1609 he wrote a work named "Mare Liberum," in which he defended the theory of the freedom of the seas. This theory was not at all liked in England, which was at that time battling Holland intermittently for supremacy on the oceans and in the Indies. An English philosopher received the order from the British Admiralty to refute the thesis of Grotius. The "Mare Clausum," of Selden was the answer to Grotius' "Mare Liberum." Selden set out to prove that the seas were Britain's domain. His work was published by order of King Charles I. and printed at the expense of the State. The book was later solemnly deposited in the archives of the Admiralty and whenever British maritime power was menaced or the Empire's colonial claims disputed, "Mare Clausum" was open to find an argument. By all appearances, however, it's Grotius's thesis that will win out in the end, three centuries after the great Hollander's death.

Village farmers in rural France are not all converted yet to modern hygienic methods. In fact some of the back country concession shops are rather reminiscent of the Middle Ages. They have a long way to go before they begin to resemble our New York emporiums with gleaming sterilizers, spotless whiteness and their air of surgical clinics. The patients, however, are somewhat backward. It should be added, however, in a little Normandy village, not far from Lisieux, where the home of an eighteenth century little Gothic church temple, led us to investigate early this summer, we were told by the host at the inn that the shakermaker was also the barber. The barber, however, was carried on only on Sundays. The good man's wife does the soaping. Prices are modest, very modest even. There is a double tariff. The first price is ten cents, half a franc, two cents American money. For this amount you get shaved "à la cordon," that is to say the barber introduces a spoon in your mouth, in order to stretch your line while he operates. The other price, really quite democratic, you will admit, is thirty centimes, one cent and a half in American coin, you'd say. For this money, none but the best, you get, shaved "no paine." That is to say, instead of the spoon, the "boomerang" barber-shed, has thrust in the customer's mouth.

At a banquet in London, which was a sort of festive reunion for the British officers who participated in the conquest of German East Africa during the war, the German General who was defeated in those regions was the guest of honor. The French papers call this an incident showing again the incomprehensible partiality of Englishmen in general. Still they should not forget how these two comprehensible things work out. Like that German General, whose name is Herr von Lettow Vorsock, Gen. Smuts also came armed with arms against the British Empire. Yet, afterwards, he was Commissioner in Chief of British troops in Africa, member of the Imperial Cabinet, vic editor of the Government of Geneva, Prime Minister of a British Dominion. That is what Britons mean by a one-time bitter enemy. The real condition of the south African Dutch, the most stubborn race on earth, and the country's elevation to a British Dominion remain for all time one of the greatest achievements of British liberalism. In the present instance, the British officers showed they harbor no rancor. They are sportsmen, who appreciate the valor of an opponent, but are willing to shake hands with him the moment the scrap is over. It's better than brooding over revenge or allowing the other fellow to brood.

It is planned eventually to extend a highway from Florham to Flagler Beach, thus making a short route from Lake City to both the East Coast, and averting the long distance around by Jacksonville. —Palatka Times Herald.

Who Will Win The Free Gold?

"Time and tide wait for no man" and The Sanford Herald's Steamship Tour Campaign will soon be history. Actually there remain only ten working days in which to secure votes, four days in the second period and six days in the final week. The spectacular competition will come to a close on November 30. This week contestants will not only be striving towards the cherished grand capital award by securing votes but will be helping themselves to ERBE GOLD as well. $50 in gold, divided into three prizes, will be awarded the workers securing the greatest number of votes this week.

Only 4 Second Period Days Left

Votes offered for subscriptions will decrease again after Saturday night—the second period has only four more days to go... think of it, just four short days in which to gain a lead in the major prize race and win free gold as well! Truly the opportunity is remarkable—work will win—courage makes a winner—the time is short, be a "sticker" and determine to do your best work between now and Saturday night.

The Sunday School classes of the first and second year junior class of the First Methodist Church were entertained by Mrs. E. K. Kipp and Mrs. Walter Edelfeld with a Thanksgiving party on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edelfeld on West First Street.

After various games and contests were enjoyed prizes were awarded to Antoinette Hayes, Edith Simelary, Wilma Squires and Euphonia Stansland. Refreshments consisting of ice cream topped with imitation ships representing the "Mayflower" and individual cakes shaped as heart-roses adorned with paper turkeys were served by the hostesses.

Those present were: Miss Helen Chapman, Martha Telford, Wilma Squires, Louise Johnson, Hazel Miller, Mildred Hodges, Helen Shoemaker, Mary Wad, Estelle, Jean Hamill, Patrice Bandy, Antoinette Hayes, Ann Jones, Mary Lou Taylor, Julia Lawson, Edith Simelary, Annie Laura Miller, Dossa Stansland, Sadie Williams and Euphonia Stansland.

Evening Bridge Club Honored On Tuesday

Honoring the members of the Evening Bridge Club Mrs. R. A. Newman entertained with a bridge party on Tuesday evening at her home in Rose Court, Mrs. Hawkins, Council, who expects to leave next week for Greenville, N. C. to make her home. She was an honored guest and received from the hostess a novelty kitchen set as a memento of the occasion.

During the course of the evening several progressions of bridge were enjoyed at the conclusion of which, high score prize, for the ladies, a set of Pyrex rankins, went to Mrs. Samuel Palston, while high score prize for the men, a carton of cigarettes, was presented to J. B. Woodruff.

At the supper hour refreshments were served by the hostess. Vases and bowls of radiance roses and ferns were used to decorate the party rooms. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Thrasher, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Palston, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Housholder, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Woodruff, Mrs. Hawkins, Council and R. A. Newman.

Welfare Group Will Meet On Wednesday

At the monthly business meeting of the Welfare Department of the Woman's Club which will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the brief business discussion and the parliamentary drill by Mrs. J. C. Gibbs, will be followed by a talk by Mrs. W. M. Scott on her European trip. Mrs. Scott sketched a very few of her impressions abroad at the opening meeting of the Garden Club in October. While not confining herself to garden topics in Europe it is of interest to know that Mrs. Scott paid special attention to plants and planting and in view of the fact that Florida gives welcome conditions to so many varieties of garden materials, her observations are likely to have a practical application.

"Hollywood Revue" Is Hailed As Singular Picture Achievement

Micro-Goldwyn-Mayer, from first to last, has done a wonderful job with its musical extravaganza, "The Hollywood Revue," which came to the Milane Theatre last Sunday night. It has shown a what talking films can do, and if they have reached this stage of perfection already, what next?

Not one star, but dozens—ranging in conjure with in the motion picture world, pass in review before the audience, each with a song, dance or skill, each with his or her proper balance; each, often with a background of gorgeous girls in gorgeous settings, brilliantly illuminated with color and sound.

Twenty songs! As many dances. Large ensemble, mark this super-musical production as the great parade of stars goes by with Marion Davies in male impersonation in a ballet number, "Tommy Atkins on Parade", in which she sings and dances; Norma Shearer and John Gilbert in a modern "Romeo and Juliet" number; Bessie Love in song and dance; Conrad Nagel with song and sparkling dialogue; Anita Page as beautiful as ever; Joan Crawford in a hitting song and dance act; Buster Keaton in one of his best screen laughs; Karl Dane and George K. Arthur; William Haines in one of his famous comedy skits, and also Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy; "The Gypsy King," the maestro of the instrument which gave him his name; Gus Edwards—Marie Dressler, famous comedienne with Polly Moran in another; The Albertina Rasch ballet; the Brox-

why smokers graduate to

CAMELS—

The phrase "I've Graduated to Camels" originated with a Camel smoker. It expresses the experience of millions who through Camels have learned to know real smoking pleasure.

As taste in smoking develops, it naturally leads toward better quality. New smokers may not be critical but when they once experience the true mildness and surpassing fragrance of the Camel blend, they realize that here is a real superiority. It is for smokers of such discernment that Camels are made... for them the choicest tobaccos are selected... and this quality is maintained for the millions who know genuine smoking pleasure.

At 4 P. M. and 5 P. M. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of this week and also on Saturday at 9, 10, and 11 A. M. fifteen members of the University faculty will be on the air from WRUF, Gainesville giving an outline of courses and other necessary information.

Courses in the following subjects will be offered: Educational Psychology, Elementary Spanish, Child and Adolescent Psychology, Journalistic Writing, School Curriculum, Business Law, Health Education, Principles of Economics, Introduction to Literature, General Psychology, Course in Education and History of Literature. This announcement is of particular interest to teachers desiring to extend their certificates or to students, whose college education has been interrupted, desiring to keep up their studies. For further information consult high school principal.

The voices of the artists on the air Saturday night in the Grand Opera selections from both New York and Chicago herald the dawn of a yet greater day for radio. These operas as well as the Philadelphia Symphony broadcasts are taken as examples of the trend radio programs of the future will take and are confirmed by the appearance of Madame Schumann Heick over WEAF in a program presented by the Christmas Club last Sunday night.

The Chicago Civic Opera will present "Romeo and Juliet" next Saturday night at 10 o'clock (E. S. Time) and the next broadcast of the Puccini operas will come Saturday Dec. 21, at 7 o'clock (E. S. Time).

The thirteenth annual roll call of the American Red Cross which has been conducted over the National Broadcast network during the last 10 days was concluded this afternoon by a talk on "The Thirteenth Annual Roll Call" by Francis H. Sisson, president of Guaranty Trust Co. of New York over WEAF at 1:00 o'clock.

Lovers of John McCormack will welcome the announcement of his return to the air. McCormack, after an absence of almost three years.

The U. S. Playing Card Co. will first game of the season over NBC from New York this afternoon, at 1:30 P. M. This weekly and will be followed by a summary of the game in the Jacksonville Times-Union the following morning.

Anna and Andy have been accused of keeping the kids up too late, at least NBC says that's why they are coming on now at 7 P. M. (Eastern Standard Time), every night except Sunday.

Guy Fraser Harrison's orchestra from Rochester, N. Y. will present a special program on Wednesday night, Nov. 20.

In celebration of its tenth anniversary as a broadcast station WDKA, which announces it will be the primary station of the sound presented at 10-hour program.

Music to fit any mood, the following for your approval!

"Tom" Saunders and his "Night Hawks" from Chicago, at 6:45 P. M. Bill Hamilton and his orchestra from Charlotte at 9:00 P. M. Harry Price from WJW at Cincinnati at 9:00; George White and his Victor Recording boys with Fanny Jones, from the Hoffman Gate at Orlando, at 9:00 and 10:00 P. M. and Equinox Pictures at Raleigh every night at 8:00 P. M.

Calvin Henderson, a 24 year old baritone of Los Angeles, who has been blind from birth, was a constant in the concert program of the National Radio Audit in held in San Francisco yesterday. He reports of his vocal attainment, and he will be sent to New York, Dec. 15 as a national equalizer to share in the $25,000 cash award provided by the Walter Kent Foundation. Eminent musical critics were enthralled by the blind singer's performance.

Experiments and the study of acoustics have produced the simple but effective "E-Z" sound control package, available in the right place is superior to any other sound control device on the market. The simplicity of one operation is a real convenience. It can be used in any room and an other 15 feet away from the music. It's a fact, a light, easy, and simple and the result is what is known as "E-Z" music.

John Gutierrez, freshman class full candidate at the University of Florida, was awarded the privilege of working out with the Boston Braves last summer. John came from Boston, and looks like a great prospect.

GAINEVILLE, Nov. 10.—The University of Florida will conduct a "University of the Air" over the State and University Radio station WRUF, with the organization of classes to mark the opening week of the innovation, Nov. 18-21.

Twelve courses for college credit are being offered, and the first four days of each week, lectures will be broadcast between 4 and 6 o'clock. On Friday afternoon a single hour, 4 until 5, and on Saturday morning, three hours, from 9 until 12 o'clock, complete twelve hours, which WRUF will devote each week to special education via the air.

The plan is to be carried on for twenty-four weeks.

Class secretaries are being appointed by local high school principals and under their supervision will be the various committees. This week will mark the first study groups.

COMFORTS

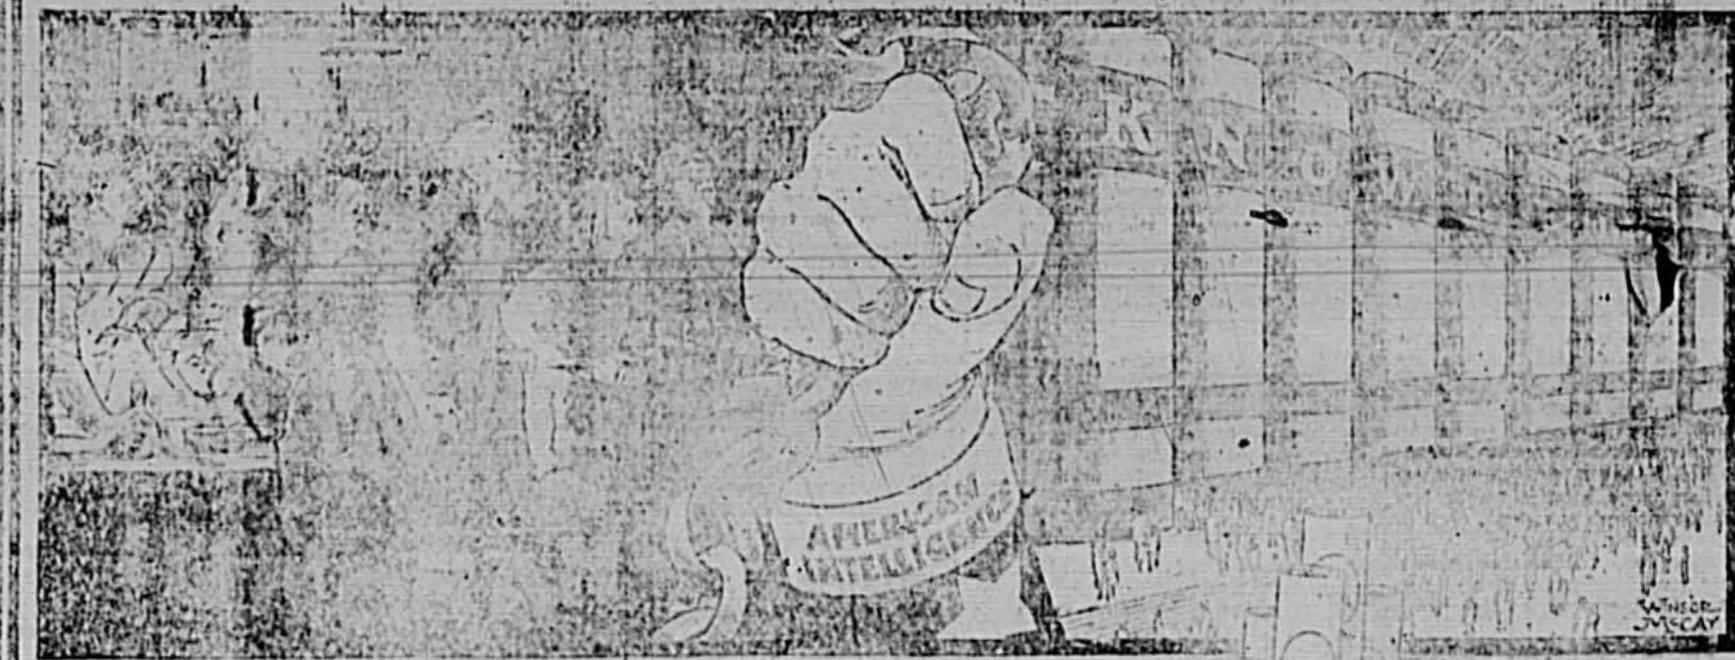

You own an automobile. It's warm to today... you hop into your car and spend gallons of gasoline and wear and tear on your car hunting for a cool spot and don't think anything about the cost. You can do it, but you don't have to. For the insignificant price of a single gallon of gasoline, twenty-five cents, you can keep cool right in your own home seventy-two hours or three days of twenty-four hours each. Electricity and a ten inch Electric Fan will do it. By comparison you will admit electricity is costless comfort.

Prejudice Thrives Where Ignorance Hives!

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE beckons all to cultivate knowledge. Tyranny, intolerance and poverty wither as schools grow in this great land of opportunity.

"toasting did it"—
Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The fine tobacco—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 200°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

SAYS HER HEAD HURT ALL NIGHT

Georgia Lady Was Thin, Pale, Suffering, When She Began To Take Cardul

Valdosta, Ga.—Mrs. P. A. Mitchell, 818 West Magnolia Street, this city, says: "About five years ago, my health wasn't good. I was pale and thin. I had a tired feeling—about as tired when I would get up as when I went to bed. "I found I was getting weaker instead of stronger. Lots of nights I would have headache all night, and when I would get up in the morning (when I was able to get up), my eyes would look hollow and I would be very pale. "I knew that I must do something. "My mother told me she believed Cardul would help me. I was willing to try it. I felt much better by the time I had taken one bottle. Hence then, when I needed a tonic, I would take Cardul. "Many other women have reported that they began taking Cardul on their mothers' advice. For this medicine has been in use so long its real worth is known by several generations of women. "Get a bottle, today. "CARDUL Helps Women to Health. "The dried black-draught should also be used in connection with Cardul as a laxative."
