Then and this is a most in portant part of the Hull plan the U.S. representatives insist on this provision; that both countries share the privilege of the reduced tariffs with any other country not discriminating com-mercially against them. This is called the "most favored nation" policy. Before the war, Germany was the only country with which the U.S. refused to sign a reciprocal agreement. The Nazis insisted on "bilateral" agreements under which commerce between the two countries would balance. This was their famous barter sys-tem, under wifich Chechosiavakia got aspirin tablets in return for

Opposition to the pacts since 1934 has not stock particularly to party lines, but cather has reflected sectional and industrial interests. Dairy farmers, for instance, have assailed the Canadian agreement because it per-mits Canadian dury products to enter the country at lower tariffs. Western copper miners have written their Congressmen denouncing the agreement with Chile, a big copper producer. Manganese producers tagged the Brazilian agreement "a $2,500,000 gift to the steel industry."

To all critica Secretary Hull's steadfast reply has been that cut-throat commercial competition leads to economic fouds, eventu-

That last communication from Gen. Douglas MacArthur, hero of Batsan and now Allied commander in the Southwest Pacific, was certainly a humdinger, both militaries in the Post Office in the New Guinea sector and general cleaning up of that area—and gosh, how he told it! The General's language is as grand as his strategy.

"The outstanding military lesson of this campaign," he reports, "was the continuous, calculated application of air power inherent in the potentialifies of avery component of the air forces, employed in the most intimate tactical and logistical union with ground troops." When the non-military reader has digested that, he may be ready to swallow the elucidation that 'the effect of this modern instrumentality was sharply accentuated by the geographical limitations of this theater," and so on.

But farther along, the ordinary reader begins to see day light. The General and his stout-hearted troops have licked the tar out of those tough Japa, killed 15,000 of them and made a grand start toward the cleaning of the Pacific. And since "God moves in a mysterious way, his street in Chicago and Pacific. And since "God moves in a mysterious way, his wonders to perform," it may be that the imperturbable and polysyllabic General did it with his vocabulary as much as anything.

So let the logistics fall where they may. In the scintillating lexicon of MacArthur there is no such word as fail. He wouldn't stoop to use a word that short. On with the war! And damned be he who first cries that the achievement thus far is adequate for the exigencies of this cataclysmic era.

Lost And Found

People lose too many things on trains. They dash off leaving false teeth, umbrellas, suitcases, jewelry, bables, thousand dollar bills, books, rubbers, cameras, sweaters, it is seen to see the seminole High School and in 1935 from Stetaon University. finder if valuable, otherwise destroyed. Children are usually collected within an hour.

If you've left something behind, say the officials, don't assume it's gone forever. Call the railway office. If they've got it, and the chances are that they have, it is safe and you can reclaim it. Most people travelling on trains are honest, and even if they weren't, they are usually too busy honest, and even if they weren't, they are usually too busy have, here's to every the safe and the chances are that they have, it is safe and you can reclaim it. Most people travelling on trains are honest, and even if they weren't, they are usually too busy honest, and even if they weren't, they are usually too busy things or losing them—to bother about anybody else's belongings,

One of the entertaining points about such losses is the great number of single gloves left in banks and postoffices. People lay down the right glove to endorse a check or open a letter, and then rush off on the next errand. They come right back for their car keys when they have laid them down, but they forget where the glove passed out of the picture. The bank probably has it.

Don't despair. Everything de somewhere. But hang on next time. -

And here's an address you'll all be interested in it is that of Jack Gillon. It is the cast of Jack Gillon.

What is a racing stable to do with its horses when the tracks have closed, perhaps for the duration? That is the hard problem facing the Florida owners of thoroughbreds, now that transportation is sounding the knell of the famous Florida races. It costs five dollars a day to support a thoroughbred in the style to which he is accustomed. And it seems like profanation to turn, a line racing horse over to commercial use.

Racing is only one sport whose immediate future is highly unsatured. Even that solid American institution, baseball, is joffering.

The wildcate strikes in the anthracite coal fields was significant in that it was the first resolt against union leadership them within the tranks. It gave the advocates of restrictive labor legislation the powerful argument that union members are demanding legislative protection from dictatorial union bosses.

In the past, legislation to force unions to accept a grayater measure of legal responsibility was introduced by solons whose records were not exactly pro-labor. The lineup on the measure sponsored by Rep. Howard Smith (1) Va.) found Southern conservatives soltilly behind it.

This lineup permitted labor, publicosts to raise the cry that gowerful employer interests were on the march to erase all labor's gains since 1932. Administration pressure buried the restrictive stalytes in Senate committee.

TAKE A LOOK AT YOUR LIVING ROOM

DO IT NOW! Wouldn't the morale of the entire family be lifted if you had this 2 piece club style suite? It's comfortable, durable, and, beautiful. It will make everybody happy on evenings at home, and it will make everybody proud when guests come. We have it in a rich Burgundy, leaf green, dusty blue, and blege with a gay rosy flower pattern with either-blonde maple or upholstered arms,

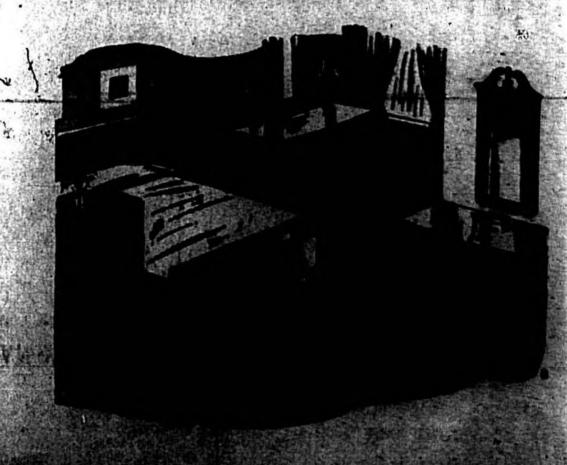

In rich glowing salin smooth Honduras mahogany with fine bras drawer pulls and the golden wheat motif over the mirror. This suit is cludes bed, double deck chest, large dresser, and dressing table. If you want your bed room to be more than just another room—then this for you!

IF YOU ARE LUCKY — enough to have a dining room with the size and dignity to offer an appropriate background for this 9 piece blonde maple beauty of a modern suite, then-, DON'T MISS IT!

The table is sixty inches long, 72 inches when extended. "Dinner At Eight" might easily happen with places laid for twelve at this table. Say what you will in favor of buffet parties, there's a subtle chemistry of fellowship that draws the guests seated around a candle lit dinner table together. The china cabinet is 38 inches wide, and a perfect place to show off your grandmother's fine old Spade and Dresden. The heautifully grained mellow wood of the 66 inch Credenza buffet will make a lovely setting for your silver service. The royal blue upholstery of the arm chair and five side chairs is durable and effective. These pieces have fine construction, dramatic appeal, and besuty.

Reverend Tolle Explains Club's Community Duty

Historating his talk with an interesting collection ranging from tree branches to a hangman's noose, Rev. Joe Tolle addressed the Rotary Club in regular meeting today at the Mayfair Hotel on The Rotarian and His Responsibility to the Rising Generation. "In getting young people to live the right kind of lives, you don't have to emasculate them," the Rev Tolle and "You don't have to deprive them of a full life live to deprive them of a full life live while we do learn through experiences with a substance and the substances of the while we do learn through experence, we can also learn through against British artillery

Rev Tolle was introduced by H. J. Lehman who had charge of the program and who said that if you can enjoy religion like the liaptists, propagate it like the Catholics, he proud of it like the Episcopalisms, prove it like the Proshyterians, experience it like the Congregationalists and pay for it like the Methodists, you'll have some religion.
